

Fire 1527

Chapter 1527

Kisa's eyes widened.

"Jensen?" Peter managed a faint smile.

"Yeah, surprising, right? Turns out Jensen's been awake for a while now. Mia betrayed you because of him. After all, David is his father. His voice was laced with mixed emotions as he spoke. But Kisa had no energy to dig deeper or feel resentment toward Jensen.

Her concern was immediate: "Are they okay?"

Peter looked down, chuckled sadly, and finally stood up, speaking softly.

"You should focus on yourself first."

As he turned to leave, Kisa asked quickly, "Why did you bring me here?"

Peter replied, "If you want to keep your unborn child safe, stay here quietly."

And with that, he was gone.

Though Kisa was baffled by Peter's actions, her main worry was for Gilbert and Madalyn's safety.

and Madalyn in the end, had shown his wondered why Jensen had pretended to be body remained weak, especially her arms, which had been badly injured by the explosion's daily,

mind, her physical condition forced her to around, both incredibly younger brother who

with friendly residents and a tranquil, natural burdens, it would have been

Kisa used Jolina's phone to call

Davian, too, but to no

the Kooper family and the explosion, but it was as if everything had been a dream that vanished without from their

and two months passed

life bloomed anew, and breeze seemed injuries had mostly healed, leaving only day, Kisa gently touched her growing belly, thinking about then, a flash of light caught her eye—Jolina was holding a her voice trembling, "Where did