

First-class Son-in-law By Drunk Alone Chapter 10

First-class Son-in-law By Drunk Alone Chapter 10

Chapter 10

Suddenly, two cold drops of tears landed on Henry's chest, and he froze.

His originally glazed over eyes regained clarity.

Perhaps it was due to her instinctual fear, but Rain's beautiful, fair face was already covered in tears, and it was a worrying sight.

In an instant, Henry felt as if his heart was pierced through by something. He felt an unprecedented sense of pain.

His mind immediately cleared up.

"Damn it! Henry Gian, how could you want to do that sort of thing to your savior?! That's no different from Cyrus Welton attempting to take advantage of her when she's in trouble!" Henry felt incredible remorse.

Fortunately, they had not taken that final step.

He sighed in relief at that.

He quickly got up and started dressing himself up.

But, to his surprise, Rain embraced him again.

He bit down on his tongue. Pain flared, and it instantly chased away all primal desires. Then, with two fingers, he swiftly pressed down gently on the center of Rain's scalp.

Clearly, Cyrus had given a lot of drugs to Rain. He had to get rid of them as soon as possible. Otherwise, her body would be severely damaged.

Fortunately, poisonous drugs were nothing to Henry, who was the Heavenly King and the strongest fighter within the country.

He extended a palm, and, surprisingly, gold light started encircling it.

Then, Henry pushed his shining palm gently on Rain's smooth belly.

Soon, the gold light sank into her body.

.....

Half an hour later, Rain opened her eyes and saw Henry's well-defined face.

"You're awake." Henry smiled at her.

She was first stunned. Then, she looked at him while feeling lost.

Suddenly, she remembered something. Her expression changed drastically, and she immediately examined herself.

Soon, Rain noticed that she was fully dressed, and her body was not aching in strange places.

"You... W-What happened just now?"

She might have felt relieved, but shock and puzzlement were prominent on her face.

She could clearly remember that they had done something as intimate as hugging just now.

"You were drugged. That's why you did those things," Henry answered calmly.

"What? Drugged? Cyrus Welton, you b*stard!"

Rain soon realized something, and her face became twisted with surprise and rage.

"Don't worry. I've already gotten rid of the drug's effects." Henry remained calm.

Rain's expression changed a little, and she stared at Henry a little skeptically. "While I was drugged, did you..."

He shook his head and answered coolly, "I'm not keen on taking advantage of someone who's drugged."

She was stunned, then became bemused.

That was true. If Henry had wanted to do unspeakable things to her just now, he could have.

"What on earth do you want, Henry?"

Rain stared at Henry with a complicated expression.

"I want you to truly accept me," Henry said slowly.

Rain was stunned again.

Clearly, she did not expect Henry to give such an answer.

"Why? Are you really that naive that you think I'd love you just because you gave me ten million dollars? Do you actually think it's possible?" Rain demanded coldly.

"It's alright. I'm patient and determined enough to believe that time will prove to you that I'm worthy." Henry's face was full of unprecedented determination.

Rain trembled, especially when she saw Henry's clear eyes. They held no tainted desires within them.

She could clearly tell that Henry was not lying.

"Tell me the reason." Rain kept her eyes trained on Henry.

But Henry fell silent at this moment.

After a long while, he said airily, "I owe you this one."

"You owe me?"

Rain frowned. She was even more puzzled now than before.

“You’ll understand someday.

“Also, I didn’t sign the contract to sleep with you. I just want to stay by your side.” Henry stared deeply into Rain’s eyes.

Rain froze up a little while a fierce war raged in her heart.

When she saw the incredibly serious expression on Henry’s face, she felt touched. “I might not know why you want to stay by my side, but I’ll reinstate one thing: I, Rain Forest, have always kept my promises.

“Since you gave up on that particular clause, in exchange, I can get into a contractual marriage with you.

“Of course, I’d advise you to think about this with a clear head. Since this is a contractual marriage, it means that you can only stay by my side.”

Henry obviously did not expect Rain to make such a decision, and his eyes immediately brightened.

The contractual marriage was exactly what he wanted.

If they got one, he could finally stay beside the woman who saved his life six years ago and protect her.

“Don’t worry. Before you truly accept me, I swear I won’t hold any impure thoughts toward you,” Henry said earnestly.

For some reason, Rain found that she was no longer as averse to and disgusted by Henry’s presence anymore.

Of course, she still did not like him.

“One more thing, Henry. Even though you’re the company’s largest shareholder, we need professionals in our field. I hope that you won’t interfere too much in the company’s operations,” Rain said airily.

“Don’t worry. I won’t stick my nose into any of the company’s operations. It’s still yours. No one can change that,” Henry answered.

Suddenly, he remembered what Andrew said before.

Hence, he said to Rain as a warning, “By the way, think back a little. I believe there’s a mole in the company based on how you ended up in a cash flow trap.

“If my guess is correct, Andrew is certainly involved in this.”

To Henry’s surprise, Rain just nodded and said, “Yeah. I’ve guessed as much while on my way back.

“But Andrew isn’t the only one involved. Lily is too, because both of them have been tirelessly persuading me to work with Cyrus Welton.”

“Lily? That damned woman!”

When Henry heard her name again, his expression immediately turned dark.

When Rain saw this, she only shook her head in resignation. “Let’s go. Even though you won’t be involved in the company’s management and operations, we still have to tell the employees about your current status.”

Once she said this, they both walked out of Rain’s office.

The employees outside were surrounding Andrew and buttering him up.

Rain’s appearance immediately made them move away.

After all, Rain was still the general manager of the company.

Rain did not beat around the bush. She pointed at Henry and went straight to the point by saying, “Since you’re all here, I’ll make the announcement right now. Henry Gian is the new boss of Brilliant Designs.”

Silence.

After Rain finished speaking, the office sank into such pindrop silence that everyone could hear their own breathing.

However, this silence only lasted for a moment. Soon, disbelieving cries shattered it.

“Our new boss... is Henry?”

“That can’t be true. You’ve got to be joking, Ms. Forest.”

“How could a poor piece of trash like Henry become the company’s new boss?”

“This is such a ridiculous joke...”

In the face of the skeptical questions, Rain continued speaking with no expression on her face. “Looks like all of you can’t believe what I said, so allow me to tell you what happened in simple terms.

“You should all know that the company ran into some financial problems lately, and we were in urgent need of five million dollars as turnover for our capital.

“Just now, Mr. Gian transferred ten million dollars into our company’s account.

“Hence, not only has our company avoided the severe consequence of being seized and investigated by the bank, but also got five million dollars left that can help us become even more flexible.

“Therefore, I have signed a shares transfer agreement with Mr. Gian in which I transferred 51% of Brilliant Designs’ shares to him.

“Because of that, Mr. Gian is now the largest shareholder of Eastlake’s Brilliant Designs. He’s also our new boss and chairman.”

The employees were shocked, surprised, and baffled.

For a moment, their expressions twisted into an interesting mix of emotions.

They knew just what sort of person Rain was and that she would not lie to them when it came to something like this.

Hence, it had to be true that Henry was now the Brilliant Designs' boss.

When they remembered how wantonly they had mocked him just now, all of their faces turned pale. They were terrified.

Suddenly, someone started clapping and cheering in the crowd. "Why are you guys still standing around doing nothing? We have to give Mr. Gian a warm welcome!"

The moment he spoke, everyone remembered what they should do and immediately started buttering up Henry.

"Welcome to the company, Mr. Gian. I believe that the company will gain further success under your guidance."

"Of course it will. Think of who Mr. Gian is! He can definitely make the company expand so quickly that no one will be able to stop us."

"You're so great, amazing, and cool Mr. Gian!"

There were two people who did not share the other employees' reverent looks.

Not only did they not congratulate Henry, they were even glaring at him and Rain hatefully.

They were no one else but Lily and Andrew.

"Shut up! Have you all left your brains back at home? Open your eyes wide and take a look!

"How can a stupid security guard have ten million dollars? Everyone will laugh at us if we tell them about it!" Andrew was so angry that he started stomping and shouting.

Lily instantly echoed his words. "That's right! His monthly salary is only 3,200 dollars!

"If he could fork out ten million dollars, why would I divorce him?! In any case, even if I had a gun pointed at my head, I'd still refuse to believe that this piece of trash has ten million dollars."

Clearly, even now, Lily and Andrew did not believe the truth.