First-class Son-in-law By Drunk Alone Chapter 15

Chapter 15

“How could you push my mom? That’s too much!”

Rain’s expression turned dark as she rebuked the nurse.

“Me? Too much? If you want me to be nice, pay the outstanding hospitalization fees. You’re just the family of a trash who doesn’t have enough money to pay the hospitalization fees, and you’re shameless enough to say that I went overboard? Bah!” The nurse did not back down in the slightest. Her face was full of mockery.

“W-What did you say? Who told you that I can’t pay the hospital? I’m telling you, apologize to my mom right now!” Rain was so furious that she trembled.

“You want me to apologize to you poor peasants? Hah! If you can pay the outstanding 120,000 dollars, forget apologizing, I’ll even slap myself for you.” The nurse had a scornful look on her face.

“Alright. Remember what you said!” Rain’s face was cold.

“Sure. I’ll remember it. In fact, all the people in the room are my witnesses. We have a self-service payment machine right in the corridor. Go and pay!” The nurse scoffed.

Rain glared at the nurse before taking out her phone and calling the finance department of the company. “Jade, transfer 150,000 dollars from the company account into my personal account.”

With that said, Rain hung up and glared at the nurse coldly before saying, “Someone like you is not worthy of being a medical professional.”

“Hahaha! Don’t be in such a hurry to say I’m not worthy just yet. We’ll talk after your ‘150,000 dollars’ is transferred into your account. We wouldn’t want you to embarrass yourself.” The nurse clearly did not believe that Rain could fork out 150,000 dollars. If she had been able to, she would not have delayed the payment for so long.

At that moment, the middle-aged woman came to Rain’s side with hope on her face and asked softly, “Rain, do you really have the money?”

“Don’t worry, Mom. We got a new investor and solved our capital problem,” Rain comforted her.

Once she heard this, the middle-aged woman was elated.

She started yelling at the nurse. “You b*tch! You’re just someone who looks down on others! How could you shove me just now?!”

“Just you wait. The moment my daughter gets the money, I’m going to tear you to shreds!”

Rain frowned. Clearly, she was displeased with her mother causing a scene by yelling at the nurse. Hence, she tugged at her mother’s sleeve. “Don’t do that, Mom. She might be crass, but we can’t do the same.”

“No way. She drops by every day to mock me. My patience ran dry a long time ago. I have to take revenge today!” her mother said. She had no plans to back down.

Ring!

At that moment, Rain’s phone rang.

When she saw the caller’s ID, she quickly picked it up. “What’s wrong, Jade? Have you transferred the money?”

“Ms. Forest, all of our money has been deducted by the bank!” Jade answered with clear anxiousness in her voice.

“What? It was all deducted? How is that possible? We had ten million dollars in the company account, and we only owed the bank five million! Why did they deduct the other five million as well?” Rain could not believe it.

“I called the bank just now, and they said that the five million they just deducted from our account was to return the five million dollars Rising Sun Corporation gave us,” Jade said.

Rain’s face turned red from rage.

Cyrus Welton had set her up again.

Rain’s mind went blank after she realized it.

She could no longer remain standing and fell backward.

Her mother quickly came to support her and asked worriedly, “What’s wrong, Rain? What happened?”

Rain could not hold back her tears anymore. They slid down her face. “Mom, I’m sorry. I’ve let you down again.”

“What’s going on? Rain, tell me!” Her mother became even more anxious.

“Hahaha! Why don’t you keep on with your act?”

“This is hilarious. You’re clearly a bunch of poor peasants who have neither money nor power, and you came here to act cool?”

“Looks like you won’t be able to pay the hospitalization fees today. Look forward to collecting your daughter’s corpse later.” The nurse started cackling hatefully.

“How could you curse my daughter, you b*tch! I’m going to fight you!” Rain’s mother’s eyes turned bloodshot when she heard this, and she lunged at the nurse.

“Oh? You’re attacking me, a medical personnel? Guards! Someone’s trying to attack me!” the nurse shouted at the door without any fear in her voice.

The moment she finished, a few tall and built men came into the ward aggressively.

The one leading the group was a built man wearing sunglasses. Right after he came in, he shouted, “Which of you is the idiot that wants to attack medical personnel?”

Rain's mother was stunned when she saw them, and she lost her courage.

Apparently, due to the frequent cases of people assaulting medical personnel over the past few years, the hospitals across the country decided to hire security guards to prevent such events.

The men, who came in, were the security guards in charge of protecting the medical personnel on this floor.

"It's these two! Not only did they not pay the hospitalization fees, they even hit me!

"Hill, you have to teach them a lesson." The nurse pointed at Rain and her mother as she spoke fiercely.

Hill's fierce eyes shone with an aggressive glare. "You refused to pay and even hit a nurse? Hmph! Kneel down and apologize to the nurse!"

Rain's mother refused to take this insult and retorted. "Why should we be the ones apologizing?! She's the one who yelled at us first!"

"Why should you? Heh. Because this is our territory!

"Enough talk, woman. Kneel down, or we won't go easy on you!" Hill sneered and closed in.

Rain's mother's face turned pale, and she began moving backward. "W-What are you doing..."

"Kneel!" Hill shouted again.

His loud voice was deafening, and it terrified Rain's mother so much that her knees buckled, and she fell to the floor.

At that moment, someone shouted, "Don't yell at my mother!"

Then, Rain ran over to stand in front of Hill to protect her mother with her frail body.

Hill was stunned, then looked Rain up and down with lust-filled eyes. "Whoa... I didn't notice just how pretty you were at first."

Rain felt uncomfortable under his gaze and took an involuntary step back.

Then, she shouted, "We didn't attack any medical personnel. I'm warning, don't do anything stupid, or I'm calling the police."

Hill grinned and cackled. "Hahaha! Sure! You can easily prove that you weren't attacking medical personnel by paying your outstanding medical bills. If you pay up, I'll leave immediately.

"Otherwise... Heh. Why don't you have some fun with me?"

"You're shameless!" Rain trembled from rage and swung her palm at Hill's face, but Hill easily caught her hand.

"I was trying to be nice, you know? How could you trample on my kindness like that?"

"You called me shameless? I'll show you shameless, then!"

After saying that, he reached out to grope Rain's body with a perverse expression.

"Let me go! Let go!" Rain was terrified and struggled with all her might.

But she was just a delicate woman. How could she possibly win against a man built like a bear? No matter how hard she tried, she just could not break free.

When she saw Hill's dark and ugly hand get closer to her, Rain's face filled with despair, and she closed her eyes in humiliation.
