

Chapter 1087

The butler asked again with uncertainty, "Young Master, do you really want to inform the people of the Lowell family now? It's midnight now. Besides, the old master has already fallen asleep. I'm afraid it isn't appropriate for you to disturb him at this time."

However, out of the butler's expectations...

Seamus faintly glanced at the main entrance of the Lowell family and said directly in a serious tone, "Yes! Immediately notify all the persons in charge of the Lowell family, including the ones outside, to come back as soon as possible. I'll invite the old master now."

Seamus' expression was very serious, unlike he was joking.

The butler's heart started to tremble. He had never seen such a serious expression on his young master's face.

It was as if something big was going to happen.

"Young Master, did something happen?" the butler asked again in shock.

As Seamus walked to the small courtyard behind the hall, he replied, "Don't ask so many questions. Hurry up! Our time is running out!"

With that said, Seamus had already passed through the hall and came to the entrance of the backyard.

The backyard was the center of the entire Lowell family's manor!

Here, a team of heavily armed combatants was guarding the front and back.

If not a matter of great importance, the members of the Lowell family would generally not enter the backyard, let alone disturb the old master.

The old man's bad temper was taboo for the entire Lowell family.

If things went wrong, the old man would kill.

At this moment, Seamus came to the front door of the backyard, took a deep breath, and adjusted his suit. He changed his slippers and whispered to the two heavily armed combatants at the door.

The two combatants looked at each other before giving way and led Seamus to the inner hall of the backyard.

Along the way was a cobbled path that was a typical courtyard structure.

Who would expect that in the entire western-style manor, there was also a courtyard layout?

They went through the outer hall and entered the middle hall.

The butler of the middle hall, also the old man's personal guard, was an old man in his 60s with white sideburns. He was sitting on the futon in the hall in meditation.

In the middle hall, the memorial plaques of the deceased Lowell family members were placed.

Seamus came to the entrance of the middle hall and naturally knelt on the futon. After bowing to the memorial plaques, he respectfully said to the old man who was meditating on the side, "Mr. Gunn, I want to see the old master. Please announce my visit."

The old man had his eyes closed in meditation. After a long while, he opened his eyes slightly and said coldly, "The master has already fallen asleep. If it's not a matter of importance, don't disturb the master. Go back."

After that, the old man continued to close his eyes and ignored the person kneeling behind him even though he was the most outstanding talent from the Lowell family's younger generation and the most hopeful person to inherit the position as the family's head.

This was because in the eyes of this old man, Old Master Lowell was heaven.

Other people were not worth his attention.

Moreover, this old man was not an ordinary person. He was an honored guest of the Lowell family, a personal friend of Old Master Lowell throughout his entire life. His existence served as both a friend and a servant.

"Mr. Gunn, it's a huge matter. It's over for the Hull family and this is our chance!" Seamus hurriedly said, eyes full of tension.

In front of Mr. Gunn, Seamus needed to be extremely respectful.

Mr. Gunn opened his eyes as the chaotic depths within them shone with brilliance.

With a look of surprise on his face, he turned his head to look at Seamus and asked solemnly, "Is what you said true? That's the Hull family. Who dares to attack them?"

Seamus bowed respectfully and said one name, "Philip, Philip Clarke."

Boom!

Hearing that, Mr. Gunn stood up straight and said to Seamus, "Wait here. I'll go in and report."

Without further ado, Mr. Gunn turned around and entered the inner hall.

Seamus respectfully waited outside.

Chapter 1088

Mr. Gunn walked through the middle hall to the inner courtyard, took off his shoes, and walked to the soft couch in the inner hall. He knelt and said softly to the old man in a white shirt lying on the soft couch, "Master, Seamus requests for a meeting. He has something important to report."

After a while, the old man on the soft couch got up with the help of the maid. He arched his back and lifted his head that was full of silver hair. His face had also aged, looking very weak and old.

It was the old master of the Lowell family, Knox Lowell!

Knox was nearly 80 years old!

He had maintained this half-dead look for more than ten years, deceiving many opponents and defeating many rivals.

There were rumors from the outside world.

They said that the old master of the Lowell family was the undead Napoleon Bonaparte who silently killed many commercial opponents!

However, no one knew that the status of the Lowell family today was dependent on one person.

Without that person's aid, the Lowell family would always have been a second-rate family.

Cough.

Old Master Lowell coughed a few times with his head lowered. Rolling his eyes, he looked at Mr. Gunn who was kneeling in front of him and asked weakly, "Seamus? It's already so late. Why is he disturbing my rest?"

There was a slight dissatisfaction in his tone.

Mr. Gunn respectfully said in a hurry, "Seamus said that the Hull family is about to go down the deep end. Someone is going to deal with the Hull family."

Instantly, the domineering spirit that was dormant in the body of the old man was immediately liberated!

He stood up abruptly, straightened his back, and with cold eyes, he stared closely at Mr. Gunn closely. He asked, "Who wants to deal with the Hull family?"

"The Clarke family," Mr. Gunn replied.

The Clarke family?

After hearing this answer, Old Master Lowell was stunned for a long time. Then, the light in his eyes blazed bigger and brighter. Finally, it turned into a raging flame as he said, "Call everyone in the Lowell family immediately for the first family meeting!"

"Master, Seamus is already arranging it," Mr. Gunn said.

Old Master Lowell had just walked to Mr. Gunn's side. He was surprised and relieved when he heard this. He laughed and said, "Great! As expected of my grandson! He can inherit the Lowell family!"

Hearing the words, Mr. Gunn shuddered and immediately knelt while saying, "Master is wise."

Instantly, all the servants in the inner hall fell to their knees.

Why were they shocked?

It was because just now, Old Master Lowell had appointed the heir to the Lowell family, Seamus Lowell!

Immediately afterward, Mr. Gunn followed Old Master Lowell out of the inner hall and into the middle hall.

“My dear grandson, is your news reliable?”

Old Master Lowell had changed his previous decadence. He was now full of the spirit of a king who was ready to go.

When Seamus saw the old man coming out, he immediately bowed and respectfully said, “Grandpa, I just rushed back from Young Master Clarke's side. He personally told me that he wants to take action against the Hull family. As far as I know, Flint Hull, the heir to the Hull subsidiary, wanted to make a move against Young Master Clarke's wife and sister-in-law by hiring others. For this reason, Young Master Clarke was furious and told me that the Lowell family must cut off all ties with the Hull family.”

“Yes, of course we must do it!” Old Master Lowell declared decisively without any hesitation.

After that, he continued, “For our Lowell family, this is a God-sent opportunity. With Young Master Clarke making the move, the Hull family is doomed for sure. This is a reminder to us and also facilitation.”

It was also at this moment that the butler sent someone to report. “Old Master, all the persons in charge of the Lowell family who could make it have already arrived.”

“Good!”

Old Master Lowell stood with his hands behind his back, his face full of excitement. He stepped directly out of the middle hall and walked to the main hall.

Seamus and Mr. Gunn followed closely behind.

Back to Philip's side.

At this moment, he was in the hospital with Wynn who was undergoing antenatal treatment.

Fortunately, nothing happened this time. It was just a little fright.

Looking at Wynn who was fast asleep on the bed, Philip slowly walked out of the ward and took out his mobile phone. He dialed a number and said coldly, "I'm going to take action against the Hull family in the country. You need to help me give a warning to the Hull Chamber of Commerce. Whoever dares to intervene in this matter will answer to Philip Clarke and the Clarke family of Arcadia Island!"

Chapter 1089

The person on the other end of the phone was wearing loose black clothes and standing in the corner of the alley in the middle of the night smoking a cigarette.

A little scarlet light could be seen between his fingers.

"Okay, got it."

After that, the man hung up the phone before looking at the dim sky and crescent moon.

The Hull family, Hull Chamber of Commerce.

Alas, another oblivious existence insisted on provoking the young master.

Half a day later, in a high-rise building that was more than 600 feet high in a country abroad.

This building belonged to one company, the Hull Chamber of Commerce.

At this moment, a man in a cyan suit and sunglasses stepped out of a black Mercedes-Benz on the street.

He raised his head and glanced at the building in front of him with a faint sneer at the corner of his mouth.

Then, he took off his sunglasses, put them in his chest pocket, and walked toward the door with long strides.

The dormant chill made the foreign people all around look sideways at him.

At the main entrance, two tall and sturdy foreign bodyguards saw the unfamiliar man coming from the stairs at the door. With raised eyes full of disdain, they stepped forward and yelled.

Their tone was domineering and forceful.

In their eyes, foreigners were inferior.

However...

The man in the cyan suit turned a deaf ear to their warnings and rushed to the front with his fists raised!

Biff, bang!

Without knowing what happened, the two bodyguards were sent flying!

Boom!

The two of them crashed into the auto-sensor glass door behind them!

The entire glass door shattered into pieces!

The two bodyguards passed out instantly, blood still gushing from their noses and mouths.

Overbearing!

Then, the man in the cyan suit went straight through the main entrance and entered the hall.

At the same time in the hall, the bodyguards guarding the safety of the building in every corner received the news through their headsets. Simultaneously, all of them stared coldly at the man standing at the door.

For a while, a dozen bodyguards in black suits all clenched their fists and rushed to the man in the cyan suit.

However, the man in the cyan suit just glanced around indifferently while observing the automatically rotating cameras on the surrounding walls and corners. He pointed the middle finger at them.

Thereafter, the melee was about to start!

The man in the cyan suit just stood in the hall, facing a group of fierce bodyguards without fear.

Following that, the more shocking scenes were directly recorded by the cameras.

In a certain surveillance room, the security guards watching the footage looked at the screen and were immediately shocked!

On the screen, the man in the cyan suit was like the devil. Anyone who got close would be sent flying by him!

Moreover, he also showed a variety of astute skills and killer moves!

In less than a minute, all the bodyguards in the hall were wiped out!

The man in the cyan suit glanced at the dozen or so bodyguards in black suits lying around. He brushed off his suit lightly, then stepped onto the elevator.

However, the elevator stopped on the second floor.

The man in the cyan suit was very helpless as he sighed and muttered to himself, "Am I supposed to fight my way up to the top floor?"

Sure enough, the elevator doors opened just then.

The promenade outside was already full of bodyguards in black suits.

There were many faces before him.

The bodyguards were also holding riot sticks and various short daggers in their hands.

The man in the cyan suit was helpless. He twisted his neck and flexed his muscles.

"Charge!"

"Kill him!"

With a roar, the bodyguards in the corridor lifted their weapons and rushed into the elevator.

The elevator doors closed!

Bang, thud!

Inside the elevator, various shocking noises sounded.

After a while, the elevator doors opened.

Several figures, who were almost half-dead, were leaning against the elevator door while covered in blood before falling to the ground.

In the elevator, the man in the cyan suit was still standing steady like a mountain.

It was just that the look in his eyes at the moment had become more serious.

There were a few drops of bright red blood on the collar of his white shirt.

Immediately afterward, he took the initiative to step over the few people who had fallen on the ground and walked quickly with flying steps. Holding a long dagger in both hands, he flew across the wall and leaped up suddenly, raising the double daggers over his head and kicking the bodyguards in front of him with both feet. At the same time, he fell into the crowd like a meteor. The double daggers also fiercely pierced through the shoulders of two bodyguards!

His movements were chic and elegant.

Everything happened fluidly and gracefully.

Chapter 1090

In the surveillance room, the next scenes were broadcasted live.

The man with the presence of a devil fought his way up the Hull Chamber of Commerce floor by floor!

Yes!

Floor by floor!

Almost every floor was filled with more than a dozen bodyguards on close lookout.

However, these people, under the hands of the man in the cyan suit, were like sandcastles that fell quickly.

Everywhere he went ended in destruction!

The whole monitoring room was in a mess with the personnel yelling into the walkie-talkie, mobilizing manpower!

Half an hour later.

A man in a cyan suit that was covered in blood stood in the elevator.

The stench of blood filled the entire elevator!

Several half-dead bodyguards were sprawled on the ground.

He raised his eyebrows and glanced at the blood-stained elevator buttons and indicator lights.

Ding!

The elevator stopped on the last floor.

Clang!

The elevator doors opened.

At first sight, the entire corridor was filled with human heads!

Overwhelming!

All the remaining power of the Hull Chamber of Commerce was mobilized on the top floor at this moment.

Looking at the sight, the 200-yard-long corridor leading to the golden door was full of people!

Moreover, they held ferocious weapons in their hands!

The man in the cyan suit was very helpless. He took out his cell phone, dialed a number, and said lightly, "Young Master, if I wipe out the entire Hull Chamber of Commerce by accident, what happens then?"

He was angry.

On the other side of the phone, Philip was playing with Mila on the lawn. Casually, he said, "You can figure it out by yourself. I'll definitely wipe the Hull family from this world. As for the Hull Chamber of Commerce, leave it to the Lowell family to clean up."

After hanging up the phone, the eyes of the man in the cyan suit burst with a brilliant light. His whole body also radiated with unprecedented fierce killing intent!

"Ah! Charge!"

Instantly, a steady stream of bodyguards rushed toward the elevator's entrance.

However, one after another, the figures were blown away as if one was scattering beans in the air.

Some were thrown against the wall above their heads while some were kicked away. Several of them would be knocked down at once!

The scene was explosive!

It was comparable to a Hollywood mega-blockbuster!

Ten minutes later, the man in a cyan suit had already taken off his suit. Wearing a white blood-stained shirt, he stood in front of the golden door.

He clenched his fists, his eyes full of chills.

At this moment, he was the devil himself.

Behind him, the 200-yard-long corridor was full of bodyguards groaning in pain.

The golden doors opened.

In the huge chairman's office of several thousand square feet, there was a middle-aged man standing in front of the large French window with his hands behind his back. He was a burly figure in a gray suit, and he asked without looking back, "Is it done? Did you find out who made the move against the Hull Chamber of Commerce?"

"The Clarke family, Philip Clarke."

Behind him, a cold voice replied.

Instantly, the middle-aged man twisted his eyebrows and turned around abruptly. When he saw that the man at the door was not one of his own, he was completely shocked, his pupils full of surprise and fear!

"Who are you?"

The one asking was the biggest boss of the Hull Chamber of Commerce and the head of the Hull family's headquarters, Yeager Hull!

He was flustered at this moment!

Chapter 1091

Could it be that all the bodyguards outside had been dealt with?!

How was that possible?!

Was this guy a demon?

Yeager Hull was panicked and horrified!

He knew exactly how many bodyguards there were in the entire Hull Chamber of Commerce Building!

However, even under such tight security, the other party still fought his way up and was unharmed!

What terrifying skills!

Fennel Leigh smiled faintly, walked directly to the wine rack, and took a few sips of a bottle of red wine. Then, he sat on the sofa and took out a cigarette. Upon lighting it, he started puffing away.

Yeager was very nervous at the moment. He was standing behind the desk, quietly placing his hands under the drawer. He was ready to pull out the Desert Eagle from the compartment at any time.

"My friend, since you can make your way here, it means you have some abilities. Why don't you join my forces? I'll pay you 50 million a year."

Yeager said with a faint smile on his face.

50 million!

This price was no loss!

At least, Yeager believed that the man in front of him was worth the price!

His skills were fearsome!

However, Fennel only smiled faintly and said, "Boss Hull, you expect me to follow you for 50 million? Isn't it too little?"

Yeager's face trembled. He then gritted his teeth and said, "200 million! How about that?"

Fennel was silent. He got up, flicked the cigarette butt directly into the trash can, and said, "Sorry, Boss Hull, I'm here today on the young master's orders. The Hull Chamber of Commerce is not to interfere in the affairs of the domestic Hull family. In other words, the young master is about to attack the domestic Hull family. If the Hull headquarters intervene in the subsidiary's affairs, there will only be one result waiting for you—destruction in the hands of the young master."

He said it all in a flat tone.

After that, the atmosphere in the chairman's office fell silent.

Yeager's expression condensed, and in an instant, he drew the Desert Eagle from the drawer. He aimed it at Fennel and said coldly, "Which young master dares to take action against the Hull family? Does he think the Hull family is a pushover that can be crushed so easily?"

Yeager was very angry!

How dare they warn the Hull Chamber of Commerce?!

Was the young master behind this a great person?

Hateful!

No matter what, the Hull Chamber of Commerce was a large multinational enterprise!

It was the first time that Yeager Hull heard someone dared to attack the Hull Chamber of Commerce!

To his surprise, even though he was aiming his gun at Fennel, the man still smiled faintly and said, "Didn't I tell you just now? The Clarke family."

The Clarke family?

Yeager was startled and quickly recalled that none of the people he had come into contact with recently had the surname Clarke.

However, in Yeager's heart, he had thought of something.

The Clarke family of Arcadia Island.

However, why would such a big family take action against the small Hull Chamber of Commerce?

To the outside world, the Hull Chamber of Commerce was a great existence.

However, in front of that behemoth, it was really an ant.

Yeager looked at Fennel in confusion and asked tentatively, "The Clarke family you mentioned..."

“Yes, it's the one you're thinking of.”

A faint smile appeared at the corner of Fennel's mouth.

Boom!

Hearing those words, Yeager's heart trembled. The Desert Eagle in his hand was also unsteady!

How could this be?

How was this possible?

What exactly did the Hull family in Orienta do to actually provoke the Clarke family of Arcadia Island?!

Were they morons?

F*ck!

Yeager was furious, and at the same time, he was extremely intimidated!

After that, the Desert Eagle in Yeager's hand fell on the floor helplessly. With a face full of horror, he looked at the man in front of him and lowered his proud head to ask, “I have no idea how the Hull subsidiary offended Young Master Clarke. I'm willing to make up for it. I just ask that the esteemed Young Master Clarke have mercy on the Hull subsidiary.”

Chapter 1092

Fennel scoffed, shook his head, and said, “No way. The young master of the Hull subsidiary kidnapped Young Master Clarke's wife and sister-in-law. Even the stupid woman Vinci Hull vowed to fight against Young Master Clarke. In my opinion, the current Hull subsidiary is trying its best to deal with the young master. Do you think that under such a situation, the young master can let them off?”

Rumble!

A bolt of lightning struck Yeager's heart!

He would never have thought that the damned Flint Hull would provoke Philip's wife!

Was that not akin to courting death?

"This... Is there no other way?"

Yeager was completely daunted. The only thought in his mind now was how to rescue this.

However, Fennel's answer to him was still so brief and powerful. "If you want to survive, don't intervene. Otherwise, same treatment."

Crack!

This sentence struck Yeager's heartstrings.

In an instant, he seemed to be drained of all energy as his eyes became blank.

Following that...

With a thud, Yeager Hull, the chairman of the Hull Chamber of Commerce and the big boss, unexpectedly knelt in front of Fennel as he begged bitterly. "Please grant me permission to speak to Young Master Clarke."

Fennel looked at Yeager in front of him, thought about it, and took out his mobile phone to toss it to him. He said, "You only have one chance."

Yeager immediately picked up the phone respectfully, put it to his ear, and said in fear, “Young Master Clarke, this is Yeager Hull.”

At this moment, Philip was just about to go out. Theo’s people were both inside and outside the villa.

He said, “I know. Hurry up and say what you need to. I don’t have much time.”

“Young Master Clarke, I’d like to ask for your mercy on behalf of the Hull subsidiary. I can give you whatever you want,” Yeager said, his tone full of respect.

It was because he knew very clearly that at this moment, he was an ant.

This was a fool’s errand.

Philip got into the Maybach and said with a faint smile, “You’re quite sentimental and loyal. It’s simple. I want the lives of the Hull siblings. Can you give those?”

Instantly, the line went quiet.

Yeager was startled.

After a long period of time, he hesitated and said, “Young Master Clarke, can you change the terms?”

However, what waited for him was Philip’s cold words, “Yeager Hull, I don’t want to waste any time with you. Either don’t intervene in the domestic affairs of the Hull family or hold a funeral for the Hull siblings.”

After that, Philip hung up.

Then, he said to Theo beside him, "Let's go and meet the Hull family."

One by one, a fleet of black Mercedes-Benz drove out of Longford Park. Half an hour later, they drove out of Riverdale and headed straight for the Hull family's home base.

Hull family of Riverton.

The huge manor of the Hull family had the typical construction of a large courtyard.

At the moment, Hull Manor was full of people.

They were all the heads of the Hull subsidiary.

"What happened? The patriarch suddenly summoned all of us here."

"Not sure. Did something happen to the business?"

"Let's wait. The patriarch will be out soon. Be patient."

This group of people talked quietly below.

All of them received short notices and were summoned back.

Since last night, the entire Hull Manor was on strict security.

After a while, an upright figure walked in from the back hall with large strides and sat on the main chair.

Everyone got up and greeted the middle-aged man, "Patriarch."

The family head of the Hull subsidiary, Colin Hull.

He was Yeager Hull's younger stepbrother from different mothers.

At this moment, he sat down with a cold face and said directly, "I called everyone over today to tell you all that someone is going to take action against the Hull subsidiary. Moreover, half an hour ago, the Lowell family broke off all cooperation with us and also issued an annulment of marriage. We need to discuss the next steps."

Chapter 1093

As soon as Colin's words came out, the entire hall went deadly silent!

It was a long while before anyone reacted, and all kinds of remarks suddenly broke out.

Everyone had an unbelievable look and expression on their face.

"Patriarch, is what you said true? The Lowell family broke all cooperation with us?"

"What is the meaning of this? Abandoning us after squeezing us dry? Do they even put the Hull family in their eyes?"

"Damn it! The Lowell family deserves to die! How dare they annul the marriage?! This is treachery! They will be condemned!"

For a while, everyone vented their dissatisfaction and anger.

Everyone neglected Colin's first sentence—someone was about to deal with the Hull family.

It was because in their opinion, no one would dare to attack the Hull family at all.

Therefore, they naturally ignored this sentence.

Was that a joke? Attack the Hull family? Were they tired of living?

However, some keen people did exist among them.

It was because they noticed that the look on Patriarch Colin's face was very unpleasant and the Lowell family broke all cooperation with the Hull family, even going as far as to annul the marriage, which happened after receiving news that someone was going to deal with the Hull family.

In other words, it was because someone wanted to deal with the Hull family that the Lowell family made such a decision.

For the Lowell family to make such a judgment also showed that the strength of the opponent was not easy to deal with.

As a result, to avoid any trouble, the Lowell family could not wait to cut off all cooperation with the Hull family!

This was a big deal!

"Patriarch, who wants to make a move against us?" someone asked suspiciously.

At this point, the discussion around lessened.

Of course, there were sneers at that person's cowardice.

"Kieran, what do you mean by this? Do you really think that someone dares to attack the Hull family, or that someone can actually do so?"

A man in his 40s or 50s, sitting in the hall, said so mockingly.

Immediately afterward, another middle-aged man beside him taunted, "I'm afraid he's scared. Such a fuss over a small thing like this. The first thing we need to do now is to figure out why the Lowell family broke all cooperation and even the marriage contract with Vinci. This is a big deal. If it spreads out, outsiders will think that a member from the Hull family has done something unforgivable toward the Lowell family."

Kieran immediately waved his hand, snorted coldly, and said, "You're the ones with no brains. Don't you understand what the patriarch said? It's precisely because someone wants to attack the Hull family that the Lowell family can't wait to break all cooperation with us!"

After he said this, the entire hall quickly became quiet.

Everyone's eyes were focused on the patriarch, Colin Hull, who was sitting on the main chair.

How could this be?

However, after going through the facts in their minds and then looking at Colin's expression, they realized it must not be too far from the truth.

"Patriarch, what's the matter. Is it really as Kieran said? Is the Lowell family breaking the cooperation and marriage contract because someone is going to attack the Hull family?"

Everyone asked in a rush.

Colin sighed, very reluctant to accept it. However, it had already reached a critical juncture.

He admitted it, saying, "Kieran is right. According to the news from the Lowell family, they're breaking all cooperation with the Hull subsidiary this time, including the marriage contract with Vinci, precisely because of the person who's about to deal with the Hull family."

Boom!

Colin's words hit everyone's hearts, making everyone stunned and dumbfounded!

They would never have thought that the huge Lowell family would cower from the people who were trying to attack the Hull subsidiary in the dark!

To the extent that they did not hesitate to cut off all cooperation with the Hull family!

Could it be that the person who was about to attack the Hull family had a powerful and deep background?

"Haha! Presumptuous! The Lowell family has degenerated and they're nothing but scaredy-cats now! Who in this world dares to attack the Hull family? Who can shake our position in this country?"

At this moment, someone stood up and laughed with eyes full of arrogance.

Many people followed suit, all of them pompous and conceited.

It was because the Hull family was too massive that it cultivated such audacious attitudes.

However, Colin got up and shook his head. After a long silence, he said, "This matter is not that simple. This time, the Hull subsidiary will encounter the biggest crisis of the century. Everyone must be prepared for the worst family destruction."

This sentence directly solidified the atmosphere in the main hall!

Chapter 1094

Everyone could not believe that this sentence was uttered by Colin Hull, the head of the Hull subsidiary, a fearless existence!

The biggest crisis of the century.

Total family destruction!

How could this be?

However, following that...

At the entrance of the hall, a group of Hull family disciples dressed in black martial arts uniforms walked in carrying a stretcher.

On the stretcher, it was Second Master Sven Hull. He was wearing a breathing mask and looked extremely weak.

At this moment, the Hull family's persons in charge were shocked when they saw the appearance of Sven!

"Second Master, this is?"

Everyone was dumbfounded and in disbelief. The dying man on the stretcher was the second master of the Hull subsidiary!

A powerful hero!

An infamous existence!

Now...

What in the hell happened?

Everyone was flabbergasted!

Colin walked up to Sven and looked at the man who was still weak with the breathing mask. He clenched his fists and said with a grim face, "Sven was seriously injured and almost lost his life. The one who's going to attack the Hull family is the same person behind Sven's current state."

Hearing this, everyone was shocked!

How could this be?

Who the hell was this person? Was he going to fight the Hull family to the end?

Even Second Master Sven almost lost his life!

"Damn it! Who is so bold and dares to do this to the second master?"

"We must avenge him! That person must be tired of living!"

Some people were angry and could not understand the current situation at all.

However, most people were silent.

Colin's eyes were red, and after he sent the second master away, he stood with his hands behind his back. There was a sullen expression on his face as he said, "This time, Sven was seriously injured while Flint suffered some broken bones again. Including Vinci's marriage annulment, it was all because of the same person. And this person is the same Philip Clarke who crippled Flint the first time. He's one of the 108 defenders Sullivan mentioned back then. Do you have the confidence to deal with this person?"

Everyone fell silent.

One of the 108 defenders of the country... They were prestigious and famous across the borders!

The chief coach, Reed Williams, was the youngest grand marshal in the history of this country!

Who would dare to take action against them?

Last time, the Hull family had refrained themselves.

This time, the opponent made another move, forcing the Hull family into the corner!

Was he trying to kill them all?

“Colin, are we going to just wait and die?” someone asked angrily.

After a brief silence, Colin said, “I’ll contact the headquarters. This matter cannot be resolved by the strength of the subsidiary alone.”

Everyone held their breath and watched as Colin took out his mobile phone to dial a number.

With the help of the Hull family from abroad, this matter should be resolved easily.

Thinking like this, everyone also breathed a sigh of relief in advance.

However...

Chapter 1095

The call was connected.

Everyone held their breath and listened carefully to Colin's conversation with their ears perked.

“Brother, there’s something I need to report to you. Someone wants to take action against the Hull family in Orienta, and because of this incident, the Lowell family has broken all cooperation with us. They even annulled the marriage contract with Vinci, and Sven was almost killed by the other party.

According to our investigations, the other party's background isn't small. The Hull subsidiary may not be able to withstand it, so..."

Colin said a lot in one breath.

However, before he finished talking, a loud roar came from the other end of the line!

Yeager was on his knees in the huge office at the moment, and Fennel was still sitting calmly on the sofa in front of him.

He only glanced at Fennel furtively before yelling into the phone in a frenzy, "Colin, how dare you call me at this time?! If it weren't for your son and daughter's 'good deeds', how would you have gotten into such big trouble? Now, they've arrived at the headquarters to warn me that if we dare to intervene in your domestic affairs, even the Hull Chamber of Commerce will be sanctioned!"

Upon hearing the roars, Colin and the others on the other end of the phone were taken aback for a while!

"Yeager, what's the situation? The other party has gone to your place?"

Colin refused to believe it. It was too exaggerated.

How much time had passed for the other party to go to the headquarters to give a warning?

Were they really trying to destroy the Hull family in this country?

"You caused this trouble so deal with it! Colin Hull, until now, you don't even know who you've provoked. You still have the face to approach me for help? For this matter, the Hull Chamber of Commerce will not provide any help! Don't drag us into muddy waters!"

Yeager shouted violently, his eyes flashing with anger.

This damned Colin!

Did he even bother to find out who the other party was?

How dare he call for help?!

Yeager knew full well the influence of the Clarke family. In the face of such strength, his huge Hull Chamber of Commerce was nothing but a dandelion, ready to scatter in the wind at any time.

Therefore, for the Hull Chamber of Commerce and for the headquarters of the Hull family, he had to make such a decision!

He was drawing a clear line with the domestic Hull family!

Colin was not stupid, and he could naturally understand the meaning of Yeager's words.

He would never have thought that Hull Chamber of Commerce's reaction to the other party's little warning would be so huge!

Did he really receive a warning, or was it more likely that he did not want to help the domestic Hull family so that he could take this opportunity to make use of others to get rid of the Hull subsidiary?

"Yeager Hull, what are you saying? Don't we belong to the same Hull family? No matter how powerful the other party is, could they do anything to the Hull Chamber of Commerce?"

In the main hall, Colin was furious and asked directly.

By his side, more than a dozen persons in charge of the Hull family's subsidiary were all looking cold and indignant at the moment.

“I knew that the people from the headquarters looked down on the subsidiary. I didn't expect that at this time, they'd actually strike while we're down!”

“This damned Yeager Hull! He's cutting off our escape route!”

“Colin, stop begging him! We can solve this on our own!”

For a while, everyone was furious.

Colin waved his hand and roared into the phone, “Yeager Hull, since you chose to do this, I hereby announce that from today, the Hull family subsidiary will be divided from the headquarters and be ruled separately! You can continue to be the boss of the Hull Chamber of Commerce but you'll have nothing to do with the subsidiary!”

Crack!

After speaking, Colin directly smashed the phone in anger!

Then, he stood in the main hall with his hands behind his back. His eyes flashed as he looked at each person in charge of the Hull subsidiary in the audience.

After a while, Colin said, “Everyone heard that. The headquarters will not intervene in this matter. We need to rely on our own strength. This crisis, as I said just now, is the biggest crisis our Hull family has had to face in a century. All of you must proceed with caution!”

“Understood!”

“We will do whatever it takes to protect the Hull subsidiary!”

“Since the other party wants to fight us until the end, what should we fear? We'll just fight them head-on!”

Many people raised their arms and shouted at this moment.

Some of them had scorching eyes while some had a sense of martyrdom. Others possessed a heroic spirit to fight against heaven with their lives!

However, none of them thought that the incident this time was entirely the fault of the Hull family.

Chapter 1096

Colin glanced at everyone before declaring, "Great! Since everyone agrees, the Hull subsidiary will stand together and fight till the end!"

"Fight till the end!"

"Fight till the end!"

Starting from this day, the Hull subsidiary was under martial law and all members of the Hull family outside were urgently transferred back!

Although all their businesses were not closed, they maintained a low-key operation.

However, anyone could tell that the Hull family was preparing for battle.

The outside world was surging with undercurrents.

Many big families in Riverton also heard of this incident and deduced from the clues that someone was going to attack the Hull family.

"Did you hear? The Lowell family broke all cooperation with the Hull family and even canceled the marriage contract!"

At a party for the wealthy, many senior officials were gathered together and discussing in a low voice.

“I also heard that since yesterday, the entire Hull family manor has been placed under martial law!”

“Of course, even the members and disciples of the Hull family outside were called back. Did they meet a strong enemy?”

Everyone just heard bits and pieces of news. The specific reason remained unknown.

Right at this moment, someone exclaimed.

“It’s Seamus Lowell. The Lowell family is here!”

For a moment, everyone looked up in the direction of the main entrance.

Sure enough, a handsome man dressed in an expensive suit was walking in from the door.

“Mr. Lowell, what's going on? Did the Hull family encounter a strong enemy?”

“Young Master Lowell, I heard that your Lowell family broke all ties with the Hull family because of the warning from that powerful enemy?”

“Master Seamus, who on earth is that powerful enemy to make the Hull family so nervous?”

For a moment, everyone gathered around and asked frantically.

Seamus just smiled faintly and replied, “I'm sorry, it's not convenient to disclose, but there’s only one thing I can say. This time, the Hull family is in grave danger. I hope everyone will carefully weigh the options. If you maintain any cooperation with the Hull family, then...”

Seamus did not finish his sentence before he passed through the crowd and walked toward the inner hall.

This was the congregation hall for the affluent!

Only the most prominent and distinguished figures in Riverton could enter this congregation room!

Outside.

Everyone looked at each other when they saw Seamus entering the room.

Someone broke the silence.

This person first took out his phone, dialed his assistant's number, and said urgently, "Quick, give an order for the company to break all cooperation with the Hull family. Don't ask why, just do it! Cancel all contracts!"

Following that...

Everyone reacted as well. They took out their phones and started calling their company as well as family members.

For a while, there was complete pandemonium in the entire hall!

Also at this time, in the courtyard of Hull family manor.

All the persons in charge of the Hull family subsidiary were present, and their faces were full of anger at this moment.

Chapter 1097

Just a few minutes ago, more than a dozen companies and families called to announce that they would be breaking off their cooperation with the Hull family!

They were kicking them while they were down!

If this continued, all the contracts with the Hull family would be terminated! Before the Hull family even started fighting against the other party, they would already be severely damaged. They would have to face bankruptcy and liquidation of assets!

Too ruthless!

Colin sat on the main chair with a gloomy face, his right hand tightly clasping the armrest before he smacked it in anger!

He got up, his eyes looking as cold as ice. His body was full of murderous intent as he said angrily, "Damn that Seamus Lowell! He deliberately spread the news and wants to trample the Hull family under his feet! This must be under the instigation of that old fogey!"

Colin was very angry. People would abandon the ship at the first sign of trouble.

The Lowell family had declared their stance very clearly.

Colin knew exactly what they were thinking.

All of them wanted to crush the Hull subsidiary and divide the loot like a cake.

*F*ck the Lowell family! At this juncture, he actually did such a heartless thing!"

"Patriarch, the Lowell family wants to take the opportunity to swallow our Hull family."

“Colin, what should we do next? Up till now, we haven't even figured out the background of this Philip Clarke who is going up against us and we've already suffered heavy damages. Can we really withstand it?”

When this question was asked, everyone was silent.

Yes.

Even before they knew the identity of the opponent, the Hull subsidiary was already about to face bankruptcy and liquidation of assets!

Too brutal!

This method was simply unheard of!

Of course, a major factor was also due to the help from the Lowell family!

Colin's face was very ugly. He walked back and forth in the hall with his hands on his back. After a while, he said, “Declare bankruptcy and liquidation to the outside world. We'll try our best to restore our capital. As long as we overcome this difficulty, our Hull family has a chance to make a comeback!”

Everyone was shocked.

Unexpectedly, only a short time had passed but the family head actually chose to declare bankruptcy?

“Patriarch, do we really need to do this?”

“That's right. If we do this, won't it appear that the Hull family is backing down and announcing to the entire world that the Hull family is almost finished?”

“Colin, please reconsider this.”

For a while, everyone tried persuading the patriarch.

However, Colin waved his hand and said with a chill in his eyes, "Just do as I say. I'll leave immediately, go to the lord's side, and ask the lord's help to take action. Everyone wants the Hull family dead, but can they do so? Do they really think that Colin Hull has no trump card?"

At this moment, Colin was full of chills. His eyes were dormant with malice, and the murderous intent in them was all revealed!

The lord!

Hearing this, everyone trembled!

Colin was actually going to contact the lord.

Immediately, everyone breathed a sigh of relief. They were not as nervous as before.

Since the head of the family was going to approach that big figure for help, the Hull family was basically safe.

Nevertheless, the price would be great.

However, as long as the Hull subsidiary survived, no matter how great the price, it would be worth it.

Half an hour later, the Hull family declared bankruptcy and liquidation of assets!

For a while, Riverton went into an uproar over this news!

No one expected that only after half a day, the local giant enterprise would actually announce bankruptcy and liquidation of assets to try and restore their capital!

The news that appeared like surging waves caused an upheaval in Riverton!

Chapter 1098

“Have you heard? Is it the end of the road for the Hull family?”

“Alas, who expected the former giant family to suddenly declare bankruptcy today?”

“Who’s taking action against the Hull family with such domineering methods?”

The entire Riverton, as long as they were a member of the upper class, discussed the Hull family’s affairs wherever they went.

At the same time, in the largest hotel suite in Riverton. Philip stood in front of the French windows with his hands in his pockets, looking across the river that overlooked the entire city of Riverton.

Sure enough, it was a fertile land with a bustling economy.

It was surrounded by high-rise buildings.

It had been a day since Philip arrived in Riverton.

On this day, he had been taking Theo and the others to stroll around Riverton.

Wherever he went, everything belonged to the Hull family.

He was making preparations.

Was it true that the huge Hull family of Riverton reached this stage entirely on their own?

It should not be.

The rumors spread by Seamus last time were actually made by Philip.

This was Philip's ploy.

Colin had guessed it wrong.

After a while, the suite door was pushed open.

Theo walked in first and respectfully said to Philip, "Mr. Clarke, Knox Lowell is here."

Philip nodded faintly, turned around, and saw an old man leaning on crutches walking in with trembling steps. He was naturally followed by Seamus behind him.

"Young Master Clarke, how do you do?"

Knox bowed, full of respect.

If outsiders found out that the all-powerful Knox Lowell, an existence that could rock the heavens, was being so respectful to a junior at this moment, it would definitely cause an uproar!

Philip glanced at him casually, sat on the leather sofa, and said, "Old Master Lowell, how many people have you fooled with this appearance?"

Knox did not panic when he heard the words. Instead, he smiled, straightened his body, and said, "I can't hide from your wise eyes."

Having said that, Knox's sickly guise dissipated and was replaced by a dominant intensity.

However, in front of Philip, he controlled it very well.

Seamus also respectfully said at this moment, "Young Master Clarke, I've done everything you ordered. The Hull family must be on tenterhooks right now. What can the Lowell family do for you next?"

Philip nodded, thought for a while, and said, "I need Old Master Lowell to step forward next."

When Knox heard the words, he immediately bent down and lowered his head, looking forward to it. "I await Young Master Clarke's orders."

This was a clear indication.

"Mobilize all of Lowell family's manpower to guard the various exits of Riverton and prevent all foreign forces from entering. Can this be done?" Philip asked.

When Knox heard this, he visibly trembled as his face changed slightly. With a hesitant expression, he asked, "Young Master Clarke, why do you want to do this? Doing so will inevitably arouse the vigilance and awareness of many people. The Hull family will guess that something is up. Isn't it alerting the enemy?"

Philip got up, stood with his hands behind his back, and smiled while saying, "Precisely. I want the Hull family to think that I'm relying on the Lowell family. This way, I can arrange my people. Understand?"

Knox understood Philip's meaning in an instant and nodded hurriedly. "I understand. I'll make arrangements immediately."

After that, Knox and Seamus retreated.

Philip and Theo were left in the huge suite.

Theo looked at the scenery outside the window and said, "Mr. Clarke, has it started?"

Philip's eyes flashed, and the corners of his mouth showed a faint sneer. He said, "It has started."

Chapter 1099

Looking back at Colin's side, he was entering the inner courtyard and came to Vinci's bedroom.

"Vinci, it's Dad."

Colin knocked on the door.

Soon, the door opened. Vinci's eyes were red, and she had obviously been crying.

"Dad, what's going on? What did Seamus say? Are they still going to break the engagement?"

Vinci was full of tears, looking very pitiful and aggrieved.

Colin shook his head and said, "The Lowell family is going to fight us until the end. The man named Philip Clarke has a solid background. Because of him, the Lowell family has broken off all cooperation with the Hull family. Moreover, the Hull Chamber of Commerce has also been warned by the other party. We've decided to divide and rule separately."

Upon hearing this, Vinci's eyes widened in surprise!

How could the situation develop into this?

How long had it been?

"Dad, what's the situation? The Lowell family and the Hull Chamber of Commerce really want to completely break their cooperation with the Hull subsidiary?"

Vinci felt a little panicked at this moment.

Was it because of a mistake on her end and her younger that caused this catastrophe?

Colin looked at his daughter lovingly, smiled, and comforted. "Don't worry, I have a plan. The Hull subsidiary will not fall. Even if the whole world is wrong, my daughter can't be wrong. The conflict between you, Flint, and Philip must be kept a secret in front of the elders and the persons in charge. I have a way to solve it."

Until now, Colin had not told the others that this incident was caused by his daughter and son.

It was because in his eyes, his daughter and son were everything to him.

The siblings lost their mother when they were very young, so Colin had always felt guilty toward them.

Therefore, no matter what happened, Colin had always been a doting father since they were young.

This also created their defiant characters.

However, Colin had always been able to solve those previous issues.

It was just that this time, the commotion caused was a little big.

Despite that, Colin would hold himself accountable and try his best to solve it.

Even if the Hull subsidiary would be faced with destruction, he had prepared for the worst and would send the siblings abroad.

As early as ten years ago, Colin had bought some property abroad. It was enough for the siblings to live for a few lifetimes.

“Dad!”

Vinci cried and hugged her father, sobbing. “I want to face it with you. Even if the Hull family falls, I want to be with you.”

Colin patted Vinci on the back and said with a smile, “Silly girl, it’s okay. I still have something to deal with. You should stay at home.”

After that, Colin left and went directly to a Rolls-Royce at the door.

Vinci stood at the door, watching her father leave.

Then, she immediately asked her servants to prepare a car and followed after the Rolls-Royce.

Not long after, the Rolls-Royce drove out of Riverton.

Behind, a black Mercedes-Benz followed.

About an hour later, the Rolls-Royce stopped at the door of a villa.

When Vinci watched her father's car driving in, she was puzzled.

She never knew that there was actually such a luxurious manor outside of Riverton.

Could it be that this was the big figure behind her father?

After Colin entered the manor, he went through three security checks before getting out of the car.

This was a loft in an ancient architectural pattern. It was very majestic.

There were guards right at the entrance.

Under the guards' lead, Colin entered the dressing room and changed into a long suit. He then followed the butler in front with bare feet and walked through the hall along the corridor on the left to the backyard.

In the center of this hall was a shallow pool with a fountain that was adorned with different kinds of gemstones, looking very luxurious.

Around the place, there were bronze lamps lit by candles. It was a very atmospheric setting.

They passed through a total of five corridors and nine pools with water fountains before arriving in the backyard.

This was a dim room with only nine candles and aromatic incense lit inside.

At this moment, there were already seven or eight people in the room. There were still a few vacant seats.

There were eleven seats in total.

Round table meeting.

Chapter 1100

At this time.

Colin entered the room, nodded slightly to everyone, then sat down to wait quietly.

After a while, there was no sound in the room.

Suddenly, someone said, "Colin Hull, are you unable to withstand the pressure and here to ask the lord for help?"

"Hehe, a little Philip Clarke has actually made the Hull family so miserable. It really hurts the reputation of the eleven members of the Gentleman Court." Following that, someone else mocked.

Colin sat in the lowest position. He was the last of the eleven to join and his foundation was unstable.

Compared to the other ten members, he was still far behind.

Colin could only laugh drily. On this occasion, he really could not spout nonsense.

Not long after...

A woman with a graceful figure walked in while strutting. She was wearing a sexy dress and entered from the side door.

Rachel Clarke.

Her red lips slightly parted as she said to Colin Hull, "Come with me."

Colin got up hurriedly and respectfully followed the sexy and hot Rachel, who was in front, through the side door and came to the lord's study.

It was a very low-key and luxurious study room. The surrounding walls were filled with paintings and calligraphy by literati and poets.

At the back of the room, behind the white curtain, a figure was practicing calligraphy.

Rachel walked to the curtain with bare feet and whispered to the figure inside, "My lord, he's here."

At this moment, Colin was kneeling in the study with his head lowered. He did not dare to look up directly.

After waiting for a full 15 minutes, Colin's forehead was already drenched with sweat. Even so, he dared not wipe it off.

"Colin, what do you think of Philip Clarke?"

At this moment, a deep and majestic voice came from the back of the study.

Colin replied honestly, "My lord, I don't know the identity of this person. It's extremely difficult to find out. He must be quite extraordinary. I sincerely beseech my lord to help me and the Hull family through this difficult situation."

With that said, Colin knocked his forehead to the ground.

The figure behind the curtain said mildly, "You can't even figure out the opponent's background, yet you're seeking my help. Aren't you being too rash?"

Hearing this, Colin was stunned and trembled.

Following that...

"I'll give you two words." The figure behind the curtain spoke again.

Then, a copybook was handed out. Rachel took it and brought it to Colin.

Colin raised his hands above his head, taking the copybook with fear and trepidation. He opened it and saw two words in calligraphic script.

Arcadia Island!

Seeing these words, Colin trembled all over. He knelt on the ground limply, his eyes having lost all brilliance at this moment.

Arcadia Island!

It turned out to be Arcadia Island!

Philip was a member of the Clarke family on Arcadia Island!

It was over. Everything was too late!

Thereafter.

Colin directly knocked his forehead to the ground, prostrating to the figure behind the curtain while saying, "My lord, I implore you, you must save the Hull family! As long as you save the Hull family, my life will be yours!"

However, the elderly man behind the curtain only said coldly, "Go home. Can you resist the Clarke family of Arcadia Island?"

Colin was completely stunned as he kneeled on the ground while shaking all over!

After a long while, he banged his head on the ground three times and said, "I thank the lord for your support over the years. From today onward, Colin Hull shall withdraw from the Gentleman Court."

After that, Colin got up while looking as if he had aged dozens of years in an instant. He turned around and walked away.

“My lord, are we really not going to help?” Rachel asked.

The old man behind the curtain turned his back, looking at the paintings and calligraphy of the tiger on the wall. He said lightly, “Let her in.”

...

Back to Philip’s side.

At this moment, he was standing by the door of a Maybach. He threw the cigarette butt in his hand to the ground before putting it out with his foot.

Surrounding the Maybach were more than a dozen black Mercedes-Benzenes lined up in a row. The scene was very magnificent.

Philip raised his head and glanced at the sky where dark clouds had gathered, signifying that a storm was brewing.

“Let’s go to Hull Manor,” Philip said, his eyes bright and hot.

Chapter 1101

The Lowell family’s manor.

In the hall of the manor at this moment, all the people in charge of the Lowell family gathered.

They were talking incessantly.

On this day, Old Master Lowell had suddenly summoned all of the Lowell family members to the manor for a meeting. This was the first time in the past few years.

In recent days, news about the Hull family and Lowell family had caused major upheaval in the outside world.

All the persons in charge of the Lowell family had been very careful these two days and kept silent about these things.

After all, it was an order from Old Master Lowell himself.

Today, however, the old man had suddenly summoned everyone. Presumably, the matter must have come to fruition.

“What do you think? Are we going to war with the Hull family?”

“I don't know. The old master summoned us so suddenly. I'm afraid things are not that easy.”

“Stop guessing. You'll know everything when the old master comes out.”

Many people were chatting in the hall.

Not long after, Old Master Lowell came from the backyard.

The butler, Mr. Gunn, and Seamus followed.

“Wishing good health to the old master.”

When everyone saw Old Master Lowell coming out, they all stood up and greeted him.

They did not sit down until after Old Master Lowell sat in the main seat and motioned everyone to sit.

“Old Master, is this urgent meeting about the Hull family?” someone eagerly asked.

After that, someone chimed in as well, “Old Master, what does the situation look like? Are we really going to fight against the Hull family? This isn’t a joke. The size of the Hull family in Riverton is not small. If this continues, both parties will suffer losses.”

“Yes, Old Master, please reconsider.”

At this moment, many people were speaking out in persuasion or to put forward their own opinions and ideas.

Old Master Lowell waved his hands in the air to signal everyone to be quiet. He then coughed a few times before saying, “The reason I called for everyone today is for two things.”

For a moment, everyone quieted down.

Traces of vicissitudes could be seen in his eyes. Old Master Lowell looked at everyone and said, “The first thing. The heir to the Lowell family will be determined today.”

Uproar!

In the hall, all the people in charge of the Lowell family looked at each other and then began a lively discussion.

Those people who were hoping to inherit the Lowell family were full of energy at this moment.

The day was here!

Old Master Lowell was finally about to choose an heir.

The current head of the family, Nate Lowell who was also Seamus’ father, was sitting in the hall at the moment without saying a word. He had his eyes closed in meditation as if he already knew the outcome.

As for Nate's brothers, their faces were ugly.

Sure enough, Old Master Lowell stopped the discussion after everyone had discussed it for long enough and said, "That's enough. I know everything you want to say, but I already have a candidate for this heir. Seamus can take up the responsibility as the next head of the family. What do you think?"

As soon as his voice fell, everyone closed their mouths and looked sideways at Seamus who was standing beside him.

Although everyone had guessed that this would be the result, many people were still disappointed when Old Master Lowell announced it.

Of course, most people knew when to advance and retreat. At this moment, they stood up quickly and said to Seamus, "Congratulations. With Seamus to inherit the Lowell family, he'll surely lead us to our next glory."

"Yeah, Seamus is such a young and capable talent. He's a business prodigy and the best candidate for the next heir to the Lowell family!"

"Seamus, from now on, the Lowell family will rely on you."

Many people stood up at this moment and flattered Seamus with various compliments.

Seamus also responded one by one, replying, "Everyone, don't worry. As long as I'm around, the Lowell family will still rule the entire Riverton. We'll still be the largest family in Riverton, and no one can shake that position!"

Everyone applauded.

Immediately afterward, Old Master Lowell said, "As for the second thing, the Lowell family will officially declare war on the Hull family starting today. In this game, we're not the main force. We only need to watch and assist. There's no doubt that the Hull family will go down this time. I hope everyone can stand united. When the time comes to reel the net in, that's when the Lowell family will take over the Hull family."

Although his voice was not loud, the impact was huge.

Taking down the Hull family was an imperative decision of the Lowell family!

All the people in charge of the Lowell family looked at him in disbelief, speechless for a long while.

War was inevitable.
