

The First Heir novel Chapter 1587

The First Heir – Chapter 1587

They had planned to use divestment as a threat at first, but now, it seemed that Philip was determined to let them divest.

Did he really have the ability to get 1.6 billion in funds to fill the gap after their divestment?

If this could not be done in time, Beacon would face bankruptcy and liquidation!

“Hmph, are you trying to scare me?” Martin roared and threw the agreement in his hand to the floor!

How dare Philip do this? Was he trying to scare them?

Following that, Martin looked at the several board members and shouted, “Don’t let him scare you. He’s deliberately putting up a tough front and trying to deter you!”

The board members looked at the divestment agreement in their hands and panicked a little.

What should they do? Did they really have to divest?

They looked at each other with a worried look in their eyes.

This scene fell in the eyes of Martin and Bernard. They naturally sensed that the situation was dangerous.

If they did not divest, what would they use to fight against Wynn and Beacon?

“Everyone, you mustn’t be deceived by this punk Philip. He’s just playing tricks and misleading you!” Martin was anxious now.

“My second brother usually treats you very well. At this time, we should work together! The boss behind us has already set up a new company for us and the scale is the same as Beacon. You don’t need to worry about anything at all,” Bernard echoed.

As for Philip, he sat leisurely on the side and drank tea. He said, “Hurry and come to a decision. I want to go back to bed.”

Upon seeing this, several board members glanced at each other and decided to bite the bullet. They shouted at Philip, “Hmph, stop trying to deceive us. It’s just a divestment We’ll do it!”

“That’s right! Let’s see how you’re going to get 1.6 billion worth of funds to fill the gap!”

“When the time comes, I hope you won’t come and beg us on your knees!”

After saying that, several people signed the agreement one after another.

On the side, Martin watched everything and was very happy. He started thanking everyone. Then, he turned his head, looked at Philip who was drinking tea with sullen eyes, and said mockingly, "Haha, Philip, you lost this time! Are you trying to play the empty fort strategy? This time, I'll make you lose everything!"

Philip still ignored him and continued drinking tea.

Martin clenched his fists, his face quickly changing from anger to taunting. He said, "Yes, finish your drink. This will be the last time you can have such good tea. When Beacon goes bankrupt, let's see how arrogant you can be then!"

"Martin, don't get angry at this loser. He's just acting like this because of Wynn's connections."

Bernard said in agreement. His eyes then fell on Philip, full of mocking coldness. He sneered, "Philip, you can kneel and beg us to let you go right now. After all, Wynn is our niece and you're her husband. Such family ties can't be broken just like that. As long as you persuade Wynn to give up all her shares, I personally promise to give you and Wynn ten million dollars to help you open a small business. How about that?"

When Martin heard Bernard's words, he also smiled and said, "That's right. As long as you kneel and beg us now, I'll talk to the directors and ask them not to divest. How about that?"

However...

Philip raised his eyebrows, looked at the two Johnston brothers, and asked, "Are you so confident that Beacon will definitely go bankrupt without their investment? "

"Of course, that's 1.6 billion dollars! Where are you going to get 1.6 billion in funds now?"