

The First Heir Chapter 3059 - 3060

Chapter 3059

Philip shook his head helplessly, glanced at Fennel, and said, "What do you think?"

Fennel shrugged and said, "They're here for you. We'll go to our rooms first."

After saying that, Fennel turned around and went into the dormitory with 17 and the others.

Seeing their blatant disregard for them, the bald man scowled and shouted coldly, "Kid, you're very cocky, huh? I asked you a question!"

Philip looked at the man, raised his hand, clenched his fist, craned his neck, and said, "If you want to fight, just go ahead. I have other things to do."

"Damn it! You're too arrogant!"

"This is Cochly Mountain. How dare a newbie like you talk to Evan like this?"

"Boys, let's go! Let's show him who's in charge here!"

With that said, these five people attacked Philip from five different directions!

The bald man threw a punch with a flaming fist. He was a disciple with the fire attribute. The others had the ice attribute, the wind attribute, and the earth attribute respectively with various means of attack.

Indeed, if ordinary people were besieged by five of them, they would definitely be dead. However, they were facing Philip.

Philip shook his head helplessly. He could tell the strength of these five people. The strongest person was the bald man in the middle stage of the fifth zone. In front of others, he was quite strong indeed.

However, now...

Philip moved. His figure disappeared from the spot, and when he reappeared, he was already standing behind the bald man.

Bang!

Philip raised his arm and hit the back of the bald man with an elbow.

Boom!

In an instant, the bald man was thrown to the ground and cracked open a deep pit. He was taken down in one move.

The remaining four were dumbfounded at this scene. It was too fast. No one saw clearly how Philip made his move, and Evan was already defeated. They gasped, swallowed hard, and looked at each other.

“Do you want to continue?” Philip turned around and looked at them coldly.

They looked at each other, roared, and rushed at Philip with their ultimate killing moves.

“Crystal Spike!”

“Earth Missile!”

“Wind Blade!”

“Water Cannon!”

In an instant, these four people unleashed their energy and the power of rules to launch the most ferocious attacks on Philip. However, Philip looked at them indifferently, clenched his fists, stomped on the ground, and jumped into the air!

Boom!

With one punch, a chimera soared into the air with a roar and sent the four people flying.

They rolled to the ground, their bodies charred black as white smoke spewed from their mouths. Their hair was singed. Four people went down in one move. This was Philip’s current strength.

Philip shook his head helplessly at the five people on the ground. He looked sideways at the guys in the distance who were watching the excitement with a chill in the corners of his eyes. Then, he walked to the bald man who was struggling to climb out of the pit and stomped on his back heavily. The guy howled in pain.

“Commander Greene told me not to mess with others, but that doesn’t mean I won’t take action. Next time, get your coffins ready. Get lost!” Philip shouted angrily.

The bald man immediately got up, glared at Philip with resentment in his eyes, and said angrily, “Just you wait! This place is not as simple as you think. One day, you’ll kneel on the ground and beg for mercy!”

Chapter 3060

With that threat, the bald man ran away.

Philip's expression darkened. He glanced at the people watching the fun in the distance and shouted coldly, "Anyone else wants to try?"

Those people snorted, turned around, and went on with their own business.

Philip stood for a while before turning around and entering the dormitory. Fennel and the others were already resting on the beds, while 17 was polishing her scimitar.

"How was it?" Fennel asked while lying on the bed with his head pillowed in his arms.

Philip sat on his bed and said, "I tested them. They're so-so..."

"Who do you think sent them?" Fennel got up and asked.

Philip thought for a while and said, "We just arrived and didn't really run into anyone. Either Commander Greene wants to test our strength, or the group of people who tried to kill us earlier want to spread the rumors on purpose."

"Are you referring to Reynold?" Fennel asked with a frown.

"Bingo!" Philip nodded, got up, and said, "Do you still remember the location of the stargate?"

Fennel shook his head and said, "Not really. When I first came in, I discovered that everything here has changed, including the strength of the defense and the garrison point. I'm not entirely sure if I can even find the entrance, but I can give it a try."

Philip pondered and said, "Okay, let's try to find the location of the stargate tonight."

Fennel was startled and said, "Are you crazy? You want to find the location of the stargate just like this?"

Philip frowned and said, "I can't help feeling that the atmosphere here is weird. I want to get to the bottom of it. Besides, since the Lovelace family lured me to Cochly Mountain on purpose, their aim is for me to approach the stargate. Once I do so, the Lovelace family will definitely show up."

Fennel frowned and said, "But isn't it a little hasty for you to do this? We don't even understand the basic situation here or the division of forces. If they find out, it'll be difficult for us to justify our actions..."

"Commander Greene's reminder was also quite obvious. He was warning us not to cross the line."

Philip looked at Fennel and said, "If you have any concerns, you don't have to go. I can go alone. You can draw me a map."

Fennel's eyes darkened as he said, "You know I don't mean that. We need to plan this out carefully."

Philip sighed and said, "We don't have much time left..."

Hearing this, Fennel thought about it and said, "Okay, I'll go with you tonight."

Back to the five marquises. At this moment, they had brought Janike back to the vicinity of the stargate.

Janike looked at the ancient and deep passage shrouded in the distance and the dark stargate that seemed to have existed since ancient times.

She pouted and said, "Grandpas, can I still go out and look for Philip?"

Marquis Fulmore smiled, stroked Janike's head dotingly, and said, "Of course, you can. Go on now..."

When Janike heard this, she smiled and walked toward the stargate.
