

One Pack?

Tamara's POV

I still do not know if I can believe the vampires or even if I can believe Dean. What are they all up to? Dean is trying to get me on my back to join him. And he thinks that I will become his Luna. He is making a big mistake because I will not go and live at the Red River Pack. It will only be because we all have to communicate without the humans and hunters picking up on our communication. I know that Gazelle is correct that we need another communication method and cannot use cell phones or two-way radios. Mind link is the best way for us to communicate, but it does not mean I will have to go and stay with Dean and his Pack. I will have to explain this to my Pack, as they are not fans of the Red River Pack. I am not looking forward to having this talk with you with my Pack. Miriam will also have to protect the Red River Pack, and she is unhappy about that.

Miriam was part of the meeting that took place in the opening in the middle of the woods. She knows exactly what is going to happen now. And she has already started to protect the Red River Pack against her will. We are on our way back to our camp together with Gazelle. We will meet again tomorrow night when the vampire can also be there and think of a plan for attacking the lab and getting rid of the humans, hunters, and Leon. The vampires will go and scout out the lab tonight. They will take some pictures so that we can see how what is going on there at night. We all have cell phones, so we can do it on cell phones and not use cell phones to send images to each other. Instead, we would meet at our secret meeting place every night, now protected by Miriam's magic. There is no other way for us to communicate with the vampires. We know humans have equipment that can trace cell phones or other electric devices.

"Do you believe the vampires this time? I am not so sure that I can believe them, and I am sure that they want something else in that lab. And that is why the humans and hunters are waiting for them to attack. I think they are outnumbered and want to use us to help them attack the humans and hunters. Did you know that vampires are powerful, but original vampires are even stronger? Maybe you can not put pick up on their lies because they are too strong and will not allow you to look into their cold hearts," I say to Gazelle.

"They were telling the truth, but there was something else that they were hiding from us. I did not want to say anything in front of them or accuse them of not telling us the whole truth. You know that gypsies and vampires are never friends. It is not because we fear vampires but because we do not like how they have to live off blood. To us, blood is sacred and is the soul of an animal. We think that the foul creatures should never have existed. The sun god curses them. But there is nothing we can do about it now. They are part of our world, and we must live with them. But if we can kill all the originals, all of the vampires in the world will die. If you kill a vampire, it's all bloodline dies. So we must go after these stupid vampires after we get rid of the humans and hunters. It is a shame that there is not much we can do about killing them. Unless we behead them or take out their hearts. But to get so close to them is almost impossible. There are only a few stakes in this world that can kill them. I am sure they know where the stakes are. Maybe that is what they are looking for in the lab. They did say that a hunter killed the sister and that they think that hunters have a weapon that can kill him. So I think those weapons may be stakes that could take them out," Gazelle says.

"So what you are saying is that we need to get to that lab before they do so that we can get those weapons that can kill them. And kill them before they can get out of this area. We can read the whole world of vampires, and the world will be safe from the bloodsucker. I think it is a great idea. But on the other hand, we must find out why the original vampires are no longer killing humans. Even normal vampires do not kill humans anymore. They go and live in the cities, and they drink blood from blood banks. I know a lot of them, and they are not that bad. So do we kill all of them just because of one or two evil vampires?" I ask.

"I know vampires do not feed on humans anymore, but they are still foul creatures. Almost all vampires do not feed on humans anymore. But every species have its evil elements. Besides, if we kill all the vampires in the world, will there still be a need werewolf? Well, the Moon God has called you back, and you are here to protect us and humans from the vampires. We cannot give all of them, and we will have to give them a chance to prove themselves. Maybe this war against humans and hunters is just what we need to stand together as creatures," Gazelle says. At last, we reach the Pack, and Miriam is still not talking to me.

" Maria, I know you're angry with me for asking you to protect the Red River Pack. We need them now, and I would never have asked you to do that if we did not need them. I will not return to the Red River and will never force you to join them again. But I am asking you to join them for the time being until we can figure out what is happening at this laboratory and why. And why humans and hunters are often us," I tell her before we enter the Packhouse.

"I know I am not mad at you. I am afraid you will return to Dean and become his Luna. What will happen to us? We need you more than he does. You are our Alpha, and you are our leader. You are the one that gave us confidence in ourselves and trained us to fight. What would have become of us if it was not for you? Standing at a distance, I could see Dean's love for you. I fear you will fall for him, and he will never take us into the Red River Pack. Also, I am angry at myself because I think Martin is my mate. Here is the bloody Beta of the Red River Pack. I used my magic to make him not smell me, but I could see in his eyes that he knew. I never want to be alone with him because he will be sure I am his mate if we see each other standing in front of each other. My magic will not help me much if I get too close to my mate because magic cannot stop the mate bond. Please do not tell anybody else what I just told you. They would not stop teasing me if they knew that the guy that I hated the most in school was the guy that I was in love with. You see, Martin and I were always enemies. Martin always thought he was better than me and teased and bullied me when I was in school. I was only a junior when he was a senior. But that did not stop him from teasing and bullying me. That was a long time ago, and he did ask me for forgiveness when he was older. Although he did not stop him and Dean from chasing us out of the Pack because I thought we were not good enough for the Red River Pack," Mariam says, and now I understand why she was so quiet. She was not really mad at me. She was more worried about Martin being her mate than anything else. 1

"I promise I will not say a word, but I want you to promise me one thing if you and Martin are in love, and he does not want to come to our Pack, I will not stop you from returning to the Red River Pack. I am sure he will accept you as his mate and treat you much better than he did in school. I want you to promise me that you will always protect our Pack, even if you return to the Red River Pack," I say.

"Of course, I promise to protect this Pack, and you will always be my Pack. I am not planning on returning to the Great River Pack. I only have one Alpha, and that Alpha is you, Tamara. I will help you to talk to the others. And I hope they understand that we must work with Dean and his wolves. I know they will give us a hard time, but I will try to explain that it is necessary, as we are facing a more dangerous enemy than Dean and his wolves. I think the faster we tell them, the better for us all," Mariam says. I agree but I do not look forward to talking to my wolves. I know how they feel about Dean, and I know how they feel about his wolves. I sigh as I get ready to walk into the Packhouse.

"Well, here goes nothing. We better explain to them. We need to tell them every detail of what we know, that the original vampires are around, and that we cannot trust them. Our only friends are the gypsies, and the gypsies cannot help us much as they cannot fight as we can, and they can only use magic," I say.

"Well, you don't have to convince me. You will have to convince that bunch of wolves inside there. I hope to understand and are not as rebellious as I think they will be. I can use my magic broom to hit the mall on the head if they don't want to listen to you," Miriam says as we walk into the Packhouse.

I call all the wolves through our meeting room, which is basically the kitchen where we can all sit down and drink some coffee. The wolves know I only call them to the kitchen when there is a big problem. And I look worried when they walk in. So I start telling them about the hunters and the humans we have seen and that they have a lab here. And that is why we had to move the gypsies to our Pack grounds. I suspect that gypsies already told them what they knew, but the gypsies had to move so fast that none of us had a chance to tell them why they had to come here. They only know that they have to move when Gazelles says there is danger. We also had to leave before we could talk to any of the wolves or the gypsies about what was happening.

"What are we going to do? We don't have enough wolves to fight all the humans and hunters," Mikey asks.

" Well, that is why I called you. There's another problem, and the original vampires are here as well. They say they will help us, but we do not know if we can trust them. So the only other ally we can get in this area is the Red River Pack. Before any of you say something, listen to me. We will not become one pack and will only link until the war with the humans and hunters is over. And we know that the original vampires are not around anymore or that they are not our enemies," I say.

"Let me guess. This is all Dean's idea because he wants you back. Why don't you just become his Luna and leave us?" Mikey says. I can see he is very upset.

"I will never leave you. And you know that Mikey, don't even start with me. I will not become the Luna of the Red River Pack. We will stay here, and they will remain on their ground. We will only link because we have to use mind links. After all, humans can pick up on cell phones and other electronic devices. I am doing this for you guys. Do you think I want to become Dean Smith's mate after the way he treated me? We cannot fight the hunters and the humans on our own, and we can also not allow them to use wolves to do experiments on in their lab. Did you know what our pak stands for? We stand for righteousness. Will you leave a wolf that is in distress behind?" I ask. Mikey cannot look me in the eye and looks down at his feet. He knows I am right. My wolves agree to become one pack with the Red River Pack but only for the duration of the war.
