Chapter 29. Iron Ore, Cement, Divine Power Imprint.

At the time when the entire Fox Tribe integrated, Lin Yan had something to do.

The totem poles of the other fifteen Fox tribes were gathered together and consumed by Lin Yan.

But since the other fifteen Fox tribes were forced into the Black Fox tribe's beliefs, the totem poles didn't store that much faith.

After all, in the depths of their hearts, they were truly unwilling in their prayers.

It wasn't the same as their faithfulness in Lin Yan.

After they were moved out of the barren lands, they were given a lush land when they entered the Miracle Wasteland. In addition to that, they also received Divine beans!

The key to obtaining their trust was not oppressing them like the Black Fox tribe.

Because of what he did, all of them were extremely loyal to the great pillar of flame!

With the totems of the fifteen Fox clan tribes, Lin Yan had obtained over 300,000 points of Faith and over 300 Evolution Points.

After burning the totem poles of the fifteen Fox clan tribes, Lin Yan still had another thing he needed to do.

It was to perform a Divine Power Imprint!

By using Divine force, he could leave a mark on the potato's genetic level.

The difference between potatoes and other crops was that the seeds of potatoes were the potatoes themselves.

Even if Lin Yan destroys all the potatoes in the forest, but as long as someone manages to obtain even a single potato, they would be able to steal Lin Yan's "God-given item" and plant it on a large scale.

After all, there was no need to study how to plant this crop. If one potato was kept for a long time, it could sprout by itself.

This was why Lin Yan thought of another way to prevent this.

He first spent more than 500,000 Points of Faith and exchanged them for five points of Divine Power.

After doing so, Lin Yan then used his Divine Power Imprint to change the genes of some potatoes. These potatoes would be used as special breeding seeds for the Divine Hall.

Before Lin Yan transmigrated, it would be extremely difficult to impossible for him to do such a thing. However, the amount of Divine Power he exchanged by using the Virtual Godhead was enough to do this.

After planting the new potatoes given by Lin Fan, they would only be able to reproduce for two seasons and could not be kept for an endless cycle.

Through this method, Lin Yan could control the main potato seed in his Divine Hall.

The Fox girl, Qing Ling, also chose some devout believers to plant the new potatoes.

Before he would proceed, he had to eat all of the potatoes that didn't have a Divine power imprint.

After doing so, he then imprinted on a potato seed without any problems.

The potatoes grown from this seed were the new authentic Divine Beans.

Right now, since the power composition of the Fox Clan wasn't complicated. No one else had noticed the strangeness of Lin Yan's old potatoes. At most, they would be able to complete the reformation of the potato crops in half a month.

Qing Ling had already told Lin Yan the location of the iron and coal mines, with this information, a large number of Black Fox warriors had been sent there.

Although the number of energy points obtained by burning coal was a bit more than what could be earned by burning trees, it was still limited.

Since Lin Yan's current energy points weren't particularly lacking, he decided to let the Fox Clan use these coal mines.

The land in the Miracle Wasteland was relatively flat, because of that, the Fox Clan sent people to make some changes. And so, they built a road.

Once this was done, a large number of wooden wheel carts were used in the transportation of Iron and Coal.

After Lin Yan finished 'improving' the new potatoes, he decided to bestow another gift to the Fox Clan.

It was a material that could be used in the construction of many things. It was cement.

Concrete still didn't exist in this world.

The technical difficulty during the creation of cement wasn't very high. The main problem with cement production was that the calcination required a high temperature.

In order to maintain a high temperature of over a thousand degrees, a large amount of fuel and resources would normally have to be used.

If coal wasn't burned in a proper closed environment, it wouldn't be able to reach a certain temperature.

But to Lin Yan, this sort of thing wasn't a problem.

A temperature of over a thousand degrees was as easy as breathing.

Chapter 30. Knights are Coming to Scout the Mountains.

As Lin Yan was about to make concrete, a group of people from the Misty Mountain Range finally passed through the forest.

These people were wearing bright silver armor and in their hands were large swords. Even at a single glance, anyone could tell that they weren't normal people.

Yes, these were all Knights!

Moreover, they were strong Knights!

One of the Knights took off his helmet, revealing a rather old face.

“The fire has finally extinguished!” He exclaimed.

The armor he was wearing wasn't the same as the others. He was not donning a silver armor but a light golden one.

In the human countries, especially in the human kingdom to the east of The Misty Mountain Range, a knight with light gold armor meant that it was a knight of a Divine Hall!

“Milord, look.”

At this moment, another knight pointed to the side.

When the pale gold armored knight looked over, his expression froze.

The place where they stood was no longer the Misty Woods.

Under their feet was ash.

After the heavy rain a few days ago, it had washed away by quite a bit. However, despite that, the ground was still littered with the color black and gray.

This wasn't the most crucial point.

The most important thing in front of them was that the section of the forest which wasn't burned, was lined up in a very organized way, even at a glance, anyone could see the border.

The boundary between the two was a very straight line!

This was extremely frightening!

What kind of fire could burn like this?

Could it be that these flames had eyes? They only burned a single side and not the other.

What was scary was that the other side was burned to nothingness!

This kind of phenomenon completely puzzled the Knights.

“Record the situation here.” The golden armored knight said.

“Yes, milord.”

One of the other Knights took out a pen and paper. He immediately started jotting down something.

“Let’s keep going, this fire is extremely strange. Unfortunately, it didn’t burn the entire Misty Mountain Range. Otherwise, we would have been able to attack the Orcish Countries. It seems like this fire isn’t that simple. No wonder the Imperial Family sent a team of flying birds to scout the fire last time.” The golden armored knight continued.

At first, they simply thought it was just an ordinary fire.

However, what they had just witnessed now was completely beyond their understanding.

In this era, things that exceeded one’s knowledge only meant one thing.

An existence that caused this phenomenon was far stronger than them.

Or perhaps this meant something else...

On the Continent of the Gods, there were only three words that could explain things that mortals couldn’t understand.

A God’s Miracle!

Although these Knights weren’t weak, they were still within the realm of mortals.

After all, they were just a slightly stronger mortal in the eyes of a God.

Normally, only after becoming a Rank 6 Magus or a Rank 6 Grand Knight would they be able to break away from the dominion of mortals.

After surveying the area a bit more, the group of Knights proceeded with their investigation.

However, now, their mood had become much more serious.

Not long after, they arrived at an area with many withered bones on the ground.

A land filled with bones.

A third of this area was destroyed by Lin Yan’s Heavenly Punishment.

However, two-thirds of this place was still alright. The result was what the Knights were seeing right now...

“There are so many bones here... Is this the expeditionary army that our kingdom sent into the Misty Woods ten years ago?” A knight questioned with doubt in his voice.

“Yes, this should probably be it.” Another knight squatted down and looked at the broken bone path.

“Milord, come over here and look at this.” At this moment, a knight who was exploring the path of his predecessors suddenly exclaimed.

The golden armored knight quickly walked over.

“Milord, be careful!” The knight quickly alerted him.

Because of the sense of urgency in the knight’s voice, the golden armored knight stopped walking.

In front of him, he saw the deep footprints left on the ground by the knight who called him.

For some reason, there was smoke emitting from the footprint.

The vicinity of the footprints was completely different from the other areas.

The piece of land was charred black.

The golden armored knight squatted down, grabbed a handful of earth from within, and brought it before his eyes.

“It’s rock ash. It’s a bit like volcanic ash. It was left after the rocks were burned.” He quickly analyzed.

“Milord, why is there rock ash here? The ground’s extremely hot. If it wasn’t for my boots, I would have been burned!” One of the Knights fearfully said.

The golden armored knight drew his sword and suddenly stabbed it into the ground.

He then drew his sword out. The tip of the sword was stained with red lava.

The golden armored knight’s expression slowly changed.

The other Knights didn’t know what he was thinking, but they saw that his expression became increasingly grave.
