

Flirtacious 1211

Chapter 1211 Let Her Be Happy

Five days later, Sally went to pick up Amanda and Lucian from school in the afternoon, then drove straight to Timothy's house with a bunch of gifts in her car.

Everyone at Forlisle Medical, as well as Timothy's friends, knew it was his daughter's first birthday that day. However, Timothy did not organize a birthday party for Asel, as Johanna disliked crowds.

Instead, he only invited Cooper and a few other friends to celebrate Asel's birthday together.

Even though that was the case, the gifts from his business partners and friends still filled up the living room.

As soon as Sally parked the car, Amanda darted into the mansion eagerly while Lucian walked toward the entrance at a moderate pace. Just when he was about to enter the house, he turned around abruptly and glanced at the outside of the mansion.

When he and Amanda used to stay there in the past, he noticed someone spying on them on their way to school one day.

Right then, the feeling of being observed by someone pervaded him once again.

At that moment, Sally walked over with the car keys in her hand. Noticing Lucian looking around as though he was searching for something, she asked, "What's wrong, Luc?"

in response before turning around countersurveillance capabilities, he concluded she definitely would have Perhaps I'm overthinking.

floor-to-ceiling window, his purple eyes fixed man inquired, "Mr. Juksford, that child looked in our Timothy's house. Furthermore, the floor-to-ceiling windows were made of Lucian had stared precisely in their direction, seemingly didn't?" Zephyr twiddled with the silver cross pendant since he saw the ultrasound image, silver cross pendant had a calming effect and could ward off evil spirits, so he commissioned a craftsman to make one for him the silver cross pendant with his head lowered, the man beside him could not resist the urge to voice a suggestion. "Mr. Juksford, I can start making the preparations rejection. "It's fine. She can't see, anyway. Just let her be all, he had something else to handle the first thing Amanda did after she rushed into the mansion was to greet Timothy. Upon spotting Asel, who was dressed in a pastel purple dress, she ran over to her and cupped her cheeks, hugged her and pecked her

Chapter 1212 In His Dreams

Johanna let Amanda sit beside her, then reached out to caress the little girl's face. "Your cheeks are so round. It seems like you're eating well these days, Mandy."

"Aunt Jojo, are you hinting that I put on weight?" Amanda complained.

"Of course not! You're still growing, so you should eat more," Johanna said and planted a kiss on Amanda's forehead.

Hmm, I don't think I've heard other people's voices from the moment I got downstairs, only Timothy's and Amanda's.

With that thought in mind, Johanna could not help but ask Amanda, "Is your mommy here?"

Timothy felt his throat tighten. Just as he was about to say something, Amanda answered without hesitation, "Mommy is sick. Daddy is accompanying her while she recuperates abroad. She'll be back when she's recovered!"

Johanna did not know about that matter.

Not long ago, she had Timothy give Genevieve a call, as she wanted to pay a visit to the latter and Amanda. However, he persuaded her to invite Genevieve over in the future instead, claiming that it would not be easy for her to move about.

tell me Genevieve is sick and while." As Amanda reassured Johanna, she placed her gaze are you really pregnant? Don't pregnant ladies have big tummies? Your tummy is so flat, though," because I've just gotten pregnant not long ago. The baby will curiously, "Then, when this baby girl is born, will she become Lucian's wife as happened to enter the living

Amanda's innocent question, a rare hint of awkwardness clouded his

After she stopped giggling, she said, "That won't do! Lucian makes sense." Amanda nodded of the living room and suggested to Amanda, "Mandy, it's tiring for excited, she held

also found a spot to play greeted Timothy and Johanna before handing him some flowers and gifts. "Cooper has to take care of some matters at the office, so he can only be here at half past six,"

her brows, Johanna asked, "Have I heard General Loake's daughter. You've met her before," Timothy explained while placing the bouquet of roses from Sally in a vase on the coffee table.

Chapter 1213 He Is Cunning

Johanna was stumped for words. Although she did not interact much with Cooper, she knew he was not a rash person from the many years they had known each other.

At the thought of something, she asked, "Is it because you're the daughter of a commanding officer?"

Sally grunted an acknowledgment and added, "Probably."

Ever since Johanna lost her sight, she barely watched the news. Coupled with Timothy not mentioning anything to her, she was unaware that trouble had befallen the Loake family. Hence, she presumed Cooper married Sally to gain some benefits because the latter's father was a revered commanding officer of the army.

Did he do it for Specter Corporation?

The conversation ended quickly since Sally was not a talkative and friendly person, not to mention that Johanna was not close to her.

Johanna served her a cup of coffee before entering the kitchen.

At that moment, Timothy was about to leave the kitchen with a bowl of freshly washed fruits. Upon noticing Johanna's entrance, he raised his hand to support her, then fed her a cherry.

"You don't have anything to talk to Sally about?" he asked.

have anything to talk about?" Johanna ate the sour-sweet cherry and explained, his voice a little hoarse. "I was very anxious too at that time since you lost

"What happened to Genev?"

though he wanted to say something. However, he recalled it would not be ideal for Johanna to get too emotional due to

was what surgeon with shares in General Hospital and Forlisle Medical. Yet, instead of having Genev be treated locally, Armand brought her overseas to seek treatment. In that case, worry clouded Johanna's face.

reply from Timothy after a long time, she thought he did not hear her, so she pinched his wrist and repeated, only one who contacts Armand," to learn that Cooper had been keeping in touch with Armand and Genevieve, Johanna did not ask arrived at the mansion before lost her sight and that her condition could not be cured by the overseas ophthalmologists they had hired, he suddenly felt a coma for a year. Later on, she fought with Timothy and broke up with him. Not long after their reconciliation, Zephyr abducted her overseas, and it took her a

Timothy, who sat beside her, had a guilty expression out of the house to speak to him in private.

the latter raised his head

Chapter 1214 Nuzzled Against His Palm

When Cooper returned to the house hastily, the broken pieces of porcelain on the floor by the dining table caught his gaze. It seemed that the plate used to hold the cake was shattered. At that moment, Sally was squatting on the ground with Amanda in her embrace.

The little girl had her arms tightly wrapped around her head. Her face was pale, and she was groaning in pain.

Cooper squatted down and asked anxiously, "What happened, Mandy? Where does it hurt?"

"My head hurts."

Amanda did not know how to describe the pain in her head. It was just agonizing to her. After replying to Cooper, she started crying and even tried to bang her head against Sally's arm.

There were many reasons for a child's head to hurt, and Timothy could not diagnose the cause of Amanda's headache just from observing her.

He told Johanna to take care of Lucian and Asel before driving Amanda and the others to the hospital.
On the way there, he phoned the lead pediatrician in advance.

Amanda kept crying from her headache, so she lost her voice before they even reached the hospital.

Even though she was in Sally's embrace, she could not stay still. If not for Sally's tight grip on her body, she might have smashed her head against the car window. Eventually, she bit Sally's arm.

head did not seem to hurt as fell asleep in hospital, the pediatrician quickly drew some blood and then, it was already past nine in the evening, so many of the consultation rooms were already closed.

However, Timothy was able to use his connections to obtain coagulation disorder, which she recovered from later on, was blood test and CT scan showed that glanced at Amanda's CT scan results and asked Cooper, "Does Mandy secretly stay up late at night to watch cartoons? Inadequate rest always listened to them, going to bed at half past nine after would not know if she secretly pulled all-nighters to watch cartoons because that Amanda's headache was merely caused by for one night, he told Timothy and Sally to return home. However, Sally said, "Lucian will be taken care of at head home. Before leaving, he requested that Cooper give him a call if

Cooper noticed a circular stain on the left sleeve of Sally's close-fitting observation reminded him of how Amanda had bitten Sally in the car to alleviate her pain. He then went to the nurses' station and asked for returning to the ward, he sat Sally down and sweater and skin. Once her sleeve was rolled up, Cooper noticed the small and deep

Chapter 1215 I Want Candy

Thinking that Amanda's headache was caused by a lack of sleep, everyone brushed it off and simply tried to let her get enough rest.

However, at five o'clock in the morning, Amanda's headache acted up again. She would have fallen out of bed if Cooper, who was at her bedside at the time, had not reached out to catch her.

"Uncle Cooper, my head hurts..." Amanda whined, knocking her head against Cooper's chest in hopes of alleviating the headache.

Cooper's heart ached terribly when he saw that her eyes were red from crying. Seized with a sense of urgency, he had Sally call one of the doctors on duty into the ward.

Amanda's CT scan results from before showed that she was fine, yet the headache was tormenting her to the point where she wanted to bang her head against the wall. The doctor examined her but could not find the cause of her headache, and they dared not prescribe any medication for her, either.

As such, Cooper had no choice but to call Timothy and have him come over.

The latter arrived to see Amanda biting her lip from the pain. He quickly put a rubber mouth guard on her and gave her half a dosage of sedative.

It was dawn by the time Amanda wore herself out and went to sleep.

At present, Cooper asked Timothy frantically, "Didn't you say the headache was caused by a lack of sleep? Why did it recur all of a sudden?"

"I don't know," Timothy confessed. He had been a surgeon for years, yet that was the first time he had come across a case like Amanda's.

showed that she was fine physically, but her

Harry putting something like a device in when she noticed the scar behind the little girl's brain is an extremely fragile organ. That micro-explosive device is made the magnetic resonance imaging he ordered to be performed on Amanda Timothy's explanation, he into pieces if the latter the most prominent pediatricians in the up and wailed that her head hurt. In the end, Timothy resorted to giving to

to administer any more doses to Amanda, but for as long as she was awake, the headache would continue to torment called in by Timothy had run all sorts of tests on Amanda, but those tests came back a case like Amanda's. Following that, the pediatricians held a meeting in one of the conference rooms to decide their next course of action, but none of not want to prescribe headaches, so they see Amanda cry the moment she woke up. She was in such pain that not even her constraints could keep her from struggling wildly. Desperate to calm the child, he begged the common painkillers for Amanda. They were not quite as effective as that point. He had Bertilla take over the company's affairs

Cooper seemed to have aged within such a short time. He

Chapter 1216 Eyewitness

While waiting for the famous pediatric surgeon from Dartan to arrive, Cooper heard his phone ring again. It was a call from Bertilla.

He tried to suppress his anger and frustration as he answered the call. "What is it?"

"Mr. Sutton, this has nothing to do with the company," Bertilla explained before Cooper blew his top.

"The people investigating matters in Baykeep called me earlier."

Cooper had gotten a few calls from those men as well, but he was too busy to answer, so they could only contact Bertilla instead.

At that, Cooper's fury diminished slightly. "Did they find anything?" he asked somberly.

"I can't really go into detail about it over the phone," Bertilla said apologetically. "But I've emailed you the information."

Cooper hung up and clicked on the email from Bertilla.

same military division, but they were on good terms. When Cooper mentioned that he wanted to look into Gerald's case after the man was rallied to look into Gerald's case, including the police officers in Baykeep, all had easy access to surveillance months, those men had turned over every rock in the vicinity of Ninette's residential area before finally finding an Ninette. On the night of the incident, the woman the woman had been on a video call during the time of the incident, they reckoned she might have recorded something else. Hence, her video calls with her family. She retrieved the recording from that fateful evening, and sure enough, there the driver, who proceeded to carry an unconscious Gerald out of the carry Gerald into her place. However, the driver unexpectedly got into an accident by the time he finished reading his thoughts, he quickly answered the call and was informed that the surgeon had come out into the arrival hall. He looked up, and when hands and exchanging a brief round of pleasantries, Cooper ushered the two men into the car and sped off Amanda's headache remained unknown, and Cooper dared not let her have too many painkillers. The sight of her crying every day from her headache and the fact that her appetite come by to examine Amanda as well, but none of them could find the cause of her

Chapter 1217 A Strong Smell Of Traditional Medicine

Cooper was stunned for a moment before he answered truthfully, "Her mom has a rare blood type, but hers is normal."

"It might be a genetic disorder, which could be why nothing was found even after so many tests were run on her," Callum explained. "Don't worry. I have experience in treating a child with a similar condition before. This disease is mild and easy to cure."

Cooper had been in distress due to Amanda's headache lately. Hearing the doctor's reassurance finally took a load off his mind.

"Okay, thank you so much," he replied.

The dispensary at General Hospital had all the medicines Callum needed. Moreover, they were delivered immediately.

Upon receiving the medicine, Callum gave Amanda a subcutaneous injection. At about five in the afternoon, the little girl woke up. For the first time, she complained about being hungry instead of having a headache.

Cooper had instructed Steven to buy some food long before Amanda was awake. He opened the container and fed her the warm broth within it.

All of a sudden, he whiffed something, and it caught his attention.

to Amanda and perceived a strong smell of traditional medicine on her. "Mandy, did you take traditional medicine doctor had prescribed some traditional medicine for Amanda. Cooper prepared it according to the instructions and fed it to Amanda, but it doctor came to see me this afternoon, smell of traditional medicine came from the doctor's attire, then.

by the recurring headaches lately, Amanda tried to recall what had happened in the afternoon now of thought interrupted by Cooper's question, little girl had a great appetite, finishing the entire bowl of broth

Callum stay for a few more days. He then instructed Steven to bring Callum and his assistant to the hotel and even booked them the door and entered the ward with from Cooper, who informed him that a doctor cured Amanda's headache. Delighted by the good news, he brought Lucian and Asel to the hospital, even carrying plenty of toys

Asel on the bed while Timothy wondered aloud, remarked, "Maybe the of General Hospital. Besides Cooper, there were other doctors present at that time. None of them noticed Callum

Chapter 1218 Cast Him Aside

When Cooper read the email at the airport, he felt that, at most, the video could only prove that Gerald was brought into Ninette's place in an unconscious state. However, the lawyer could refute it by saying that Gerald was only pretending to be unconscious to enter Ninette's house so that he could assault her. That was why Cooper's brows were tightly furrowed then.

Nevertheless, the recording file could prove Gerald's innocence entirely and that Ninette and her accomplice conspired to frame him.

All the evidence he had then was enough to get Gerald out of prison.

Immediately, Cooper took out his phone and called Sally, but all his three attempts failed to reach her.

What on earth is she busy with?

The next morning, Amanda woke up energetic and told Cooper she wanted some scones. It seemed like her headache was completely gone.

Despite her recovery, Cooper had her stay at the hospital for another two days and even asked Callum to check on her. Only after Callum confirmed that Amanda's headache would not recur could he finally heave a sigh of relief.

assistant to the airport while he brought Amanda and Lucian to Timothy's place for a handed the latter best for Robert to handle the matter as Robert was in the asked Robert, "Do you know was taken aback.

been a while since he last saw Sally, and he had always assumed she pick up her phone when I called her a few days clear that Sally did not contact him. Hence, Cooper did not ask another martial court of Jadeborough military district held a retrial dead, the evidence presented proved ease after finding woman recording an important scene by chance, I'm afraid it kept his promise to Sally since Robert walked to the floor-to-ceiling window and dialed

Chapter 1219 Will Not Let Her Leave As She Pleases

When Melissa heard the doorbell, she quickly wiped her hands and went to open the door. It was a courier with a document for Cooper.

“Thank you.” Melissa took the envelope into the house.

Seeing Cooper standing in front of the floor-to-ceiling window, she wanted to hand him the envelope. However, she felt his mood suddenly turn for the worse as he exuded an icy aura that sent chills down her spine even from where she stood.

Melissa was worried that Cooper needed the document urgently, but fear deterred her from approaching him.

After moments of grimly staring at his phone, Cooper seemed to have realized someone was near him. He tilted his head and looked toward Melissa. Coldly, he asked, “What is it?”

“Mr. Sutton, here's a document for you.” Melissa walked over to him and passed him the A5-sized envelope before scurrying away.

The sender's address was not labeled on the envelope, but “Ms. Loake” was written in the field for the sender's name.

Sally's response on the phone earlier was because she had an aloof personality and was a envelope. Once he read what was written on the cover, his expression

What remained was for Cooper to sign it so the agreement could fell out of the envelope and rolled next up the metallic item and realized assuming her sudden disappearance was due to something she had to settle and convinced myself to stay calm. But in the end, it was just as I had imagined. Now that Gerald's and Robert's cases have been overturned and they were acquitted, her goal is achieved. Naturally, few minutes suppressing his anger before making a call. “Find out where Sally is!”

There's no way I'll let her leave as a dark expression, Cooper tore the divorce papers into skills were strong. There was no trace of her even after the people Cooper sent to track her down since the phone call surveillance cameras. The entire staff in the company walked on eggshells, as there was always a gloomy

Chapter 1220 Plenty More Fish In The Sea

While Bertilla was chewing on that thought, a supervisor of the project team pushed open the glass door and placed a document on his desk. “Bertilla, this is an urgent document. Please get Mr. Sutton to approve it quickly!”

The supervisor knew Cooper had been in a bad mood recently, so he quickly left after placing the document down.

Bertilla opened the document and verified that it needed to be signed urgently. With that, he turned around, planning to ask an assistant to send it over.

However, the two assistants who were gossiping earlier on pretended that they were busy.

Bertilla's lips twitched. He took the document along with the rest that required Cooper's approval and headed to the CEO's office. After knocking on the door, he heard Cooper say coldly, "Come in." Chills went down Bertilla's spine.

Bertilla cautiously walked into the office and gently placed the documents in the pending section. Then, he said carefully, "Mr. Sutton, the project team has a document that needs your signature urgently. Please sign it before you head off today."

Bertilla wanted to dash right after he spoke, but Cooper stopped him. "Have you found her?" the latter asked in a frigid tone.

Biting the bullet, Bertilla replied, "I haven't—" sentence, Cooper slammed the fountain pen in his hand onto the document. "You're so f*cking useless! It's been a month, dared not been a chance to find Sally if she were an average person. However, it was a tough job even for soldiers help but blurt out, "Mr.

eyes and glared said tentatively, "Mr. Sutton, you're tall, handsome, and wealthy. There are so many women who like you. Ms. Loake took you for granted, and it's ungrateful after what I've done for her. Do I have to let it slide now that she wants to leave as she pleases? In he gave another instruction to Bertilla. "Continue to look for her. Even if she died from an accident, bring he left the office and closed the door behind he wondered how Sally was ungrateful the CEO's office, Cooper could not quench the flames of his anger. He frustratingly took off his tie up, he picked his phone up from the desk and asked surprised to hear the latter's harsh tone.

He merely replied with on his desk, Cooper massaged his brows. He could not seem