

Flirtacious 1261

Chapter 1261 Let Me Show You

Cooper slammed the glass of water onto the table, and his expression grew even colder.

Genevieve could tell Cooper wasn't in a good mood, so she stopped conversing with Armand and sat aside, quietly peeling the orange.

Armand sprayed the wounds on Cooper's face and asked, "Sally didn't appear?"

"She did." Cooper recalled what Sally had said in the hospital's parking lot and was dispirited. "You came up with such a trashy idea. I shouldn't have listened to you."

Armand replied, "If she really doesn't like you, she wouldn't have fallen into your trap. So, did you guys argue?"

The housekeeper handed Cooper a glass of iced whiskey, which he quickly took a huge sip. The burning alcohol placated Cooper's frustration, and he uttered in a low and deep voice, "She wants a home, which is something I can't give her."

Genevieve had no inkling of what Armand made Cooper do. She got curious after listening to their conversation and scooted over to Armand's side, wanting to know the whole story.

"Mando, what are you guys talking about?" She fed Armand one of the freshly peeled orange slices.

Armand told her the ins and outs without hiding anything.

was stunned for a long

Sally and Cooper were together, she could vaguely sense

Sally to do so much for Cooper and even her child resentment she likes you a lot, but she's afraid of the oath. Therefore, she used the excuse of

"I know that. I tried my best persuading seen through his ploy and would

Genevieve just returned, Cooper wanted got up and corner, Armand bent down to eat the orange

it?" Genevieve

join the border troops, came from a military background. With her father being a commanding officer, it was easy for her to return to the think she's made up his mind this time since she's said such harsh words to Coop. I'm afraid she won't return," he frustration. "If she really leaves, that already

Chapter 1262 Give Him A Chance

Sally peered through the peephole and noticed a woman standing outside the door with a lunchbox. The woman didn't ring the doorbell, but her voice traveled clearly through the door.

"Ms. Loake, I know you're inside. Please open the door."

After a brief moment of hesitation, Sally opened the door and looked at Genevieve, who was clad in a coat. "How did you know I was here?"

Genevieve smiled. "The most dangerous place is sometimes the safest."

She walked past Sally into the house and opened the lunchbox she brought with her. "Coop told me you like scones. Let's have breakfast together."

Sally pursed her lips slightly. Then, she walked over to sit across from Genevieve.

Genevieve pushed the box of scones toward her before taking a few sips of the hot soy milk and eating a steamed bun.

None of them said a word as they both took their time savoring the food.

hands with a wet tissue. She then head was lowered as she munched on her he frequently visits the city. His eyes were severely injured as a result of an accidental explosion, and he was admitted to the hospital. I met him at the hospital, but I didn't how Armand mistook Marilyn for her, the events that happened in was given to me by a close friend. I wanted to take it back from Marilyn, so I pledged an oath, swearing that I will never tell anyone about how Armand got the wrong person. Now that I think about it, I only did it because I don't want to admit I'm to

"I know you don't believe in superstitious things. You obviously love Coop.

eating and time on her phone before placing it back into tried to stop her. "Give me another three minutes.

tracks and followed Genevieve into a few times before this,

she watched Genevieve take a fire destroyed everything in the Sutton residence.

Chapter 1263 Will Not Be Waiting For You

Genevieve walked over and wrapped her arms around Sally's shoulders. "Even though he single-handedly destroyed the Rachford family, I know he made many sacrifices for me and the Rachford family. Since then, I've forgiven him."

She then added, "Because I consider him as my real brother, I hope someone will be by his side and not let him spend the rest of his life in suffering and pain. You should know if my brother genuinely loves you or not."

Sally didn't respond as she closed the photo album and returned it to Genevieve.

Genevieve understood her intention and let out a sigh.

She then placed the photo album back on the shelf and said, "Let's go. I'll send you to the airport. Don't worry, I'm not going to tell him where you're heading to."

Genevieve decided to respect Sally's decision.

Carrying her suitcase, Sally followed Genevieve downstairs and got into the latter's car.

Watching the scenery outside the window whizzing past her, there was somehow a hint of confusion in her gaze. However, it gradually disappeared, leaving a firm and resolute look in her eyes.

With a low voice, Sally said, "Bring me to the war grave."

from the city, and it would take almost an hour to get there. Genevieve parked her car in the parking lot outside of veteran headstones, and came to a of a man. The man's gaze was as sharp as an eagle, and his eyes were filled with passion, vigor, and an intimidating aura

the photo, a cold breeze blew past and messed up her in her eyes. Blinking the die in front of her, she felt as if her entire world had collapsed, and she had been living her life in despair and that someone who had been by her side for over twenty period, she was hell-bent on avenging Ethan's death. She intended to take her own life and reunite with Ethan after accomplishing her goal, for she couldn't bear to live a lonely life without

Cooper, who was just as in his eyes, she knew he had also lost people dear to him. They took comfort began to distinguish found her cold heart melting and began she no longer see the man in the photo clearly. "I can't be Cooper,

as a man placed a bouquet of wool flowers in

Chapter 1264 Admit That You Love Me

The receptionist stared at the woman for a few seconds in a daze until she noticed Cooper approaching. She then kicked her colleague, who was equally as dumbfounded, and greeted him politely, "Mr. Sutton."

Cooper merely hummed in response. Following that, he stopped in his tracks and added something redundant, "This is my wife."

Both receptionists hurriedly greeted Sally, "Good day to you, Mrs. Sutton."

They waited until Cooper led Sally to the elevator before straightening their backs and whispering to each other in excitement.

"Mrs. Sutton is so beautiful! She's so domineering and gorgeous all at once!"

"It was rumored that Mr. Sutton was in a bad mood recently because he had a fight with his wife. Now, I believe what they say."

Meanwhile, Bertilla was informed by the receptionist that Cooper had arrived at the office and that he was not alone.

Apart from Sally, he couldn't think of any other woman who fitted the receptionist's description of a "domineering and gorgeous" woman. Hence, he went to the elevator to wait for them.

Once Cooper and Sally emerged from the elevator, Bertilla greeted them with a smile. "Good morning, Mr. and Mrs. Sutton."

and afternoon tea today. Order whatever you'd other staff can have their meals for free

"All right." Bertilla nodded.

fingers of the couple before him, Bertilla sighed in amazement. Love is told, he knew long ago there was about Sally's departure and even take his anger out on them. Now it seemed to him that Cooper and Sally had merely gotten into a lovers' quarrel asked someone to prepare some fruits and snacks in the lounge area of the CEO's office. He even attentively said

Sally swept a glance over the table and was speechless to see the various kinds of fruits and snacks laid for a few hours! Is there really a need to prepare so

Cooper called out to him while removing his coat. "Go downstairs to the finance department and give the staff monetary gifts from my

all of the

"Yes."

the staff. The perks are too good to be true. Are you and curved into a smile.

something important. "Instruct the purchasing department to order two sets of wedding favors. One set is to be distributed to all the employees in the company, while the

Sally did not hold a grand wedding celebration, they had already registered their marriage early on. It was fitting for them

Chapter 1265 You Are The Most Important

Cooper said, "All I did was introduce them to my newly-wedded wife and gave them monetary gifts. How is this making it public? Since I've chosen you, I will accept whatever difficulties your father may impose on me. It's easy for me to enter politics as I have connections, but unfortunately, I can't." He planted a kiss on the woman's cheek. "I don't feel at ease handing over Specter Corporation to anyone."

He received all of Genevieve's assets, including Specter Corporation, and now was responsible for protecting them.

Cooper didn't want Sally to overthink, so he quickly reassured her by saying, "Sal, I'm not comparing you with Specter Corporation. You're the most important thing in my heart."

Sally wrapped her arms around his neck and asked with a faint smile, "How important am I?"

Cooper didn't say anything. Instead, he gently removed Sally's hand from his neck and slid it underneath his sweater, pressing her warm palm against his chest."

Sally could feel the beating of his heart through the palm of her hand, and the look in her eyes softened a little.

Cooper asked, "Can you feel it?"

Sally raised her head and kissed him before pulling her hand out of his sweater, saying in a warm voice, "Go to work."

Cooper did have a lot on his plate, so he sat down at the desk and got to work.

employees of Specter Corporation received monetary gifts and wedding favors, they quickly realized that their throughout the whole company before partners in Jadeborough immediately called Cooper for dinner in the evening, Genevieve said emotionally, "Cooper, you're so fast! You just went to the cemetery this morning to get Sally and were already sending out wedding favors in excellent job. I think it's time you be praising me?" Genevieve poured Cooper some coffee and snorted. "If I hadn't gone to visit Sally in the morning, you wouldn't have had the reason to buy those wedding favors and send to you." Cooper smiled. "But you because I have enough money doesn't mean that I took a seat beside Sally. "Sally, how long and spent over seven years in the military academy. You won't be able to bear that hardship." It was not Sally's intention to belittle Genevieve. She merely wanted to emphasize that their

with a silver spoon in her mouth. She was delicate like a flower not afraid of a little pain, I can teach you some boxing techniques and combat skills. Once you've mastered them, you'll be able to fight average bodyguards to a pain," Genevieve said obstacles and incidents. Most of the time, she was persecuted and could only succumb not

she didn't want to be his burden. The last thing she wanted was to be

Chapter 1266 You Can Only Think About Me

After Cooper lost the ring that day, he had asked the housekeeper to search the entire living room but to no avail.

He actually planned to take Sally to the jewelry store tomorrow to pick a new one. However, to his surprise, the lost wedding ring was found by Amanda.

Cooper looked at the wedding ring that was once missing and bent over to kiss Amanda on the forehead. "Thank you for finding it, Mandy."

He was about to put the wedding ring on Sally's finger, but Amanda's little hand was resting on the back of Sally's hand.

"Wait! You have to ask Aunt Sally if she is willing to marry you. Uncle Cooper, how can you put the ring on Aunt Sally's finger while sitting there? You should kneel on one knee and propose properly. You're not romantic at all," Amanda commented in her angelically sweet voice.

Cooper was never one for romance. Back then, he married Sally because of their collaboration. He bought a ring and helped her put it on right away without getting down on one knee to propose.

If he hadn't been reminded by Amanda this time, he might have done the same thing all over again.

Thus, Cooper got up from the couch and knelt before Sally on one knee. A smile lit up his eyes as he said, "Miss Sally, would you do me the honor of becoming my wife and let me take care of you for the rest of my life?"

Feeling overwhelmed by the people surrounding them, Sally was at a loss for words. Hence, she simply hummed and extended her hand.

ring finger and bent over over to embrace Sally, crooning, "Aunt Sally, please give Sally chuckled in response.

by the side, knew that Amanda was looking forward to having more playmates in the family.

eyes,

children went to bed to the bedroom early. She had just shut the curtains with the remote control when surprisingly, Armand returned thought you were enjoying quality time with his wife. Why would he need me to be around?" Armand walked to the bedside table and lit the Genevieve, "Do you want snorted softly after hearing Armand. "Does it matter? You're going to Armand headed to the walk-in closet and grabbed a night dress with spaghetti straps from the before the sink, carefully removing her makeup. Her palm-sized face was covered towel off the shelf and soaked that married couples should keep things mysterious to keep the relationship interesting. If we see each other naked every day, we might get tired of each other and result

did you heard that

Chapter 1267 The Only One

When Armand did not budge, Genevieve proceeded to help him take his shirt off. "Lift your arms so I can get this sweater off, and don't you dare suggest we take our baths separately again. Do you understand?"

He bent over and lifted his arms obligingly. "Weren't you the one who suggested it in the first place?" he asked, chuckling in amusement.

She glared at him.

Armand was tall and lean to begin with, and the sweater hung from his frame like a designer piece.

He was getting more attractive as he aged, his demeanor more composed and refined.

Physique-wise, his workout and training regime had accorded him muscles in all the right places. He looked trimmed and strong without coming off as exaggeratedly muscular.

Genevieve especially loved seeing him in suits.

Now that he had his shirt off, she could appreciate his well-defined chest, and she was obsessed with the sensation of his muscles coiling under his smooth skin.

She caressed his chest with her fingertips for a while longer, then planted a tentative kiss on his collarbone. "I'd take a bite out of you if I could."

Genevieve's waist, switching places with her. He placed a soft towel over the leaned backward and wrapped an arm around his neck, grumbling, thought it might be less taxing snorted. "Don't make yourself sound so noble. You and I both know that she affectionately caressed his cheek with her features. Whenever he looked at her, it was her, he was never aloof or on with a chuckle, "Who would have thought that our charming an exasperated look from Armand. "Must you and bald patches, like a bunch of middle-aged geezers. You're the fairest of them all, and I'm lucky to have married a hot husband like cold from being left of it, then added more hot water. After making sure the temperature was just right, he slowly eased Genevieve into

of the tub and said

"Coming right up."

out a few bottles of liquor and fruit cordial from the fridge, cherries as well and brought them to the upstairs bedroom along with

Chapter 1268 Unknown Number

Genevieve turned around and gave him an incredulous look. "How would you know what I was worried about if I didn't tell you?"

"I've been your husband for years now. Don't you think there might be something wrong with our relationship if I didn't know what you were worrying about?" he countered wryly, laughing as he toweled her hair.

"Say, do you think Coop can be cured?" she probed.

Armand explained, "I've let the doctors review Cooper's yearly health report, but as for how long the treatment would take, it really depends on the doctor's skills."

Hearing this, Genevieve instantly knew that there was still hope for Cooper.

She let Armand carry her out of the bathtub, and while she was in his arms, she leaned forward to give him kisses. "Cooper has plenty of money, so go ahead and get him the best specialists to treat him."

Armand hummed in response. "I want him to have his own family, too, or he'd just keep fussing over you."

"You know I still have three uncles and a handful of cousins in the Zeigler family who spoil me, right? You'll have a hard time managing your jealousy if you take everything so personally," she pointed out blithely.

"It's not like you go back to the Zeigler residence that often. I can manage my jealousy just fine," Armand quipped.

He set her down in front of the vanity and took out a hairdryer from one of the drawers. Just as he was about to blow dry her hair, his phone rang.

his personal phone, and only less than a handful

he hurried to the nightstand

find that it was a call from an unknown

"Hello?"

line to speak. It was a low, gravelly male voice. "Armand, let's make a was toweling her hair. She saw Armand answer his phone, but she found it odd that he was remaining silent and letting the Armand hummed curtly in response,

Genevieve watched him as he approached the vanity. His expression vanished in an instant. He then did not want to make her worry, she dropped the matter and did amount of serum on the ends of it. Then, he waited until she had

as he walked

time will you

but turned off the rest of the lights in the bedroom. "A few hours. I'll have breakfast ready for to the first floor, and a moment of thought later, he pulled out his phone to call up the call, he said, "You know we're staying in the guest room to the that he wanted Sally to go somewhere with him for a bit, so Cooper assumed all this time and had yet to

Chapter 1269 Why Me

Before getting into the car, Armand turned and advised Gracie, "Just pretend you found this abandoned child while taking a walk nearby. You've never met me before, and I won't come here again."

Gracie nodded in response.

The Maybach quickly reversed out of the narrow alley as a light rain pattered on the road, washing away the tire tracks on the ground as if no car had ever passed through the path before.

Seeing that it was raining, Gracie swiftly ascended the stairs with the basket in her hand, then proceeded to open the back entrance to enter the orphanage.

She opened the outer windproof cover of the basket upon returning to the warm indoors.

The blanket within the basket was enveloping a tiny baby who was awake.

The little baby had tender-looking facial features and a pair of beautiful eyes that resembled amethysts which were filled with purity and innocence.

Taken aback, Gracie stiffened, for she didn't expect the baby to have such exceptionally pretty eyes.

she of mixed searched the basket but couldn't find anything pertaining to the any information about the baby's date of birth or

A teacher who came looking for Gracie spotted the basket on the table and asked, "Ms. Brown, did Gracie replied, making sure to maintain her composure as she smiled at the teacher.

knowing how long she had been asleep. She asked drowsily, "Lorraine, have we arrived at the General her confusion, she received no upright, but she was lying down herself up on the bed and fumbled to sit followed by the creaking of a door as someone pushed it open.

immediately realized that the person who entered the room was immediately whenever she called out to him no matter how that moment, something occurred to Johanna, and she could feel her blood go cold and her breathing growing rapid. Before she could react, the

in a soft tone. After that, the glass pressing against her lips. In response, she lifted her hand and

Chapter 1270 You Can Leave

Zephyr held Johanna's waist just in time to prevent her from falling. As he reached out, part of his hand brushed past her protruding belly through her clothes. Remembering that she was pregnant, he quickly placed his hand on her shoulder instead to steady her.

Johanna struggled to pry the man's hand off, but he wouldn't budge despite her repeated attempts. He then pushed her back onto the bed.

"You're blind and pregnant. Even if you are lucky enough to escape this place, how are you going to return?" Zephyr gently held Johanna's hands to prevent her from doing anything reckless.

"This place is located in the outskirts. You won't run into anyone within a few kilometers radius. Even if you're lucky enough to come across a car, they'll notice that you're pregnant and blind, making it very easy for them to take advantage of you."

Johanna lifted her leg and kicked him hard since she couldn't move her hand. "Do you think everyone is as wicked and shameless as you?"

Zephyr chuckled lightly upon hearing her comment. "No one has ever dared to use those words to describe me before," he said.

Johanna's anger blew out of proportion when she heard him laugh. "You're not just despicable and shameless. You're also a f*cking animal! If I were your mother, I would regret giving birth to you!"

Zephyr's casual smile slowly faded away, and his gaze turned grim as something she said hit a nerve with him.

sensed the sudden change in to leave, fine." Zephyr released his grip and took a few steps back. "Go ahead, then. Walk eighty meters east and you'll reach the door of

and groped her way to the acute hearing to distinguish where the exit was. However, the house was eerily silent, as if there was no one else besides a wall. She turned and walked in another direction but bumped found the stairwell, she almost lost her balance and fell. After steadying herself by gripping the stair's handrail, she slowly was pregnant. The baby in her brimming with tears that threatened to roll down her cheeks

Timothy

at General Hospital, where she had her first prenatal checkup, and clarified things, perhaps there wouldn't have been so many issues, and she wouldn't have behind Johanna, and when he saw her almost fall down the

he reached out to help her, Johanna had already stabilized herself and walking back toward the stairs, Zephyr asked, "Aren't you leaving?"

"Now that I'm in your hands, how can had the housekeepers and Timothy around