Chapter 1361 What Have You Gained

"The doctor said things will get better after this period," Jerry said, holding his hand in his palm. His eyes were dark, making it impossible to discern any emotions.

Albert shook his head, "I don't want to stay up any longer."

He looked at Jerry with gradually increasing guilt in his eyes and said in a low voice, "I'm sorry, I let you down by not keeping my word,..."

"No," Jerry said, "You've been very kind to me, and I remember it all."

Albert felt a growing sense of unease, his thin, bony hand tightly gripping Jerry's. "I once swore in the Pann family ancestral hall that as long as I live, I will not let the Pann family fall apart. Jerry, you are a descendant of the Pann family, and the son I value the most. In the future, the entire Pann family business will be handed over to you. You must ensure the Pann family legacy continues forever."

The legacy established by their ancestors is meant to be passed down from generation to generation, allowing the Pann family to flourish.

After a moment of silence, Jerry said, "All right."

"Swear to me."

Genevieve Orsi's PR team couldn't get in touch with Jerry, and his assistant Joash wasn't in the private room at the time either, so they had no idea what was going on. Several responses without evidence were simply not convincing to the netizens.

So, after Genevieve received the message, she immediately got a phone call from Charlotte.

Charlotte was watching the news while telling Genevieve about what happened in the private room. She didn't expect that a producer wanted to invite Jerry to work on their next film with their company, but someone secretly recorded it and posted the misleading video clip online.

Those people are in the same circle as Brody, and there are only a few people in the private room. There's no way they wouldn't know who secretly recorded the video.

These capitalists really have a way with manipulating celebrities.

After Genevieve learned about the situation, she relayed the information to the PR team.

Two minutes later, she called Charlotte again, "There's no evidence to prove that Mr. Lohan sexually harassed you. The public won't buy it, and there are many people keeping an eye on Jerry."

Those envious people in the entertainment industry, upon seeing a certain actor climb to the top, can't help but wish to ruthlessly trample them into the mud.

Although Genevieve is the boss of the company and has to prioritize profits, she believes that Jerry's actions were not wrong. If it were her, she would have smashed more than just one wine bottle on Brody's head.

Genevieve said, "I'll go to the hospital later to visit Mr. Lohan."

"Who says there's no evidence?" Charlotte picked up the collar from the bedside table, her fingers brushing against the beautiful shell pendant. "Let me handle this."

Charlotte took out her phone, opened a video, and turned the screen toward Brody.

After watching the video for a moment, Brody's expression changed.

Charlotte smirked provocatively at him, "If your friend can secretly film, do you think I can't? Moreover, I've been recording since I entered the private room, including the part where you were playing with the peach..."

"So what if you have a video? If you have the guts, go ahead and release it!" Brody didn't feel threatened at all.

He shamelessly said, "Which man hasn't made a dirty joke at the dinner table? Besides, when I said you're like a juicy peach, I was complimenting you. If this video gets out, you're the only one who'll be embarrassed."

Charlotte sneered, "If someone your age isn't embarrassed, why should I be afraid?"

"For others, they might feel ashamed if people know they've been sexually harassed and wouldn't dare to speak up. But not me. Everyone in the circle knows how often my boyfriend changes."

She waved her phone, "There's also a video of you touching my thigh, didn't you look closely? If I hand this video over to the police, you'll be charged with sexual harassment for sure. How would your son feel about that? Would he be embarrassed?"

Brody was so angry that he stared at Charlotte, unable to utter a single word for a long time.

Brody was taken aback, as if he hadn't quite processed it yet.

Charlotte calmly said, "I know your company has tax issues. You look so upset; I guess the penalty must be quite heavy, right? I assume the funds on the books might not be enough to cover the fine."

Trinity Entertainment needs money to pay fines, so they will sell various variety show copyrights they hold to raise funds.

"Why should I sell it to you?" Brody, a businessman, knew that the copyright for the variety show "Adam's Garden" was worth a fortune, a veritable goldmine.

Unless he's out of his mind, he would never sell the copyright to Charlotte.

"Feel free to harass me," Charlotte said gently, looking at Brody. "Tax issues plus sexual harassment, do you think that's serious?"

"Mr. Lohan, the world doesn't revolve around you."

“Sell me the copyright for 'Adam's Garden' now, and I can offer you a good price. I'll also delete that video,” he said.

“Anyway, we've already had a falling out, so I won't be afraid to confront you in the future. The real question is whether or not I'll get to see your glorious moments again.”

As Charlotte predicted, Trinity Entertainment soon became a trending topic due to tax issues. Everyone was discussing whether Trinity Entertainment would go bankrupt due to paying fines, and if “Adam's Garden” could still be watched.

No one talks about Jerry's violent behavior anymore.

Charlotte sat in the car, going over her several negotiations with Brody and the generous results she had obtained. Her heart couldn't calm down for a long time.

She's truly freaking amazing!

Charlotte called Genevieve with a sweet tone, "Genevieve, where are you? I just closed a big deal! Let's go shopping and have a spa day!"

"How can you be just like Camilla?" Genevieve was utterly disgusted. She couldn't even stand Camilla's whiny voice to begin with.

"Comparing me to her is like belittling me, isn't it?"

Charlotte grumbled a bit, then said with a smile, "Thank goodness Genevieve, you just sent me a message reminding me, otherwise I wouldn't have thought of poaching the director and screenwriter."

From the very beginning, she focused on the copyright of "Adam's Garden," but overlooked the fact that the core of variety show creation lies in the scriptwriting.

"Let's bring them here to have fun on the weekend when we have time," Armand said, handing her the pottery album. "Take a look and decide what kind of teacups and vases you want."

Genevieve flipped through a few pages and suddenly said, "Why don't we just do it ourselves, DIY style?"

Genevieve, besides occasionally helping her two children with their handicraft homework, had never really done any handiwork herself. However, when she brought back her own DIY vase and put flowers in it, it was truly a feast for the eyes.

She said she would do it, and immediately asked Potter to teach her.

Potter handed Genevieve two aprons and led them to the pottery wheel near the floor-to-ceiling window. He carefully explained each step to them as they went along.

Including the moisture content of the clay, how to shape the clay on the potter's wheel, and how to set the form...

Genevieve was struggling to digest all the theoretical knowledge. She nudged the man beside her with her elbow and asked, "Jerry, have you learned it all?"

"What is Jerry?" Armand had already gotten used to her occasionally giving him new nicknames.

Genevieve laughed and said, "Jerry is a character from a cartoon that your daughter often watches. Whenever he encounters a problem, he just scratches his head and immediately comes up with a solution."

Genevieve's gaze lingered on Scarlett's chest for two seconds before shifting away. "Even though we're not work partners outside of work hours, I'd still prefer if you called me Mrs. Faulkner."

"Then I'll call you Mrs. Faulkner," Scarlett said with a laugh, quickly changing the subject to ask Genevieve if they both enjoyed DIY.

Scarlett had recently joined Genevieve Orsi Productions and was still a newcomer in the entertainment industry. Her character development plan had not yet been finalized by the company, so she had quite a bit of free time during this period.

She found out about a nice pottery shop on a certain app and decided to go there to DIY a couple of mugs as gifts.

Perhaps Scarlett and Armand have known each other since they were young, as she didn't consider herself an outsider at all. She sat next to them and joined in their conversation.

However, she only chatted with Genevieve, as Armand was busy working and didn't even glance at her.

"Mr. Faulkner is so thoughtful," Scarlett chuckled confidently, "It seems this mug is definitely meant for Mrs. Faulkner."

She turned her head again and said to Genevieve, "Out of the dozen or so children in the Faulkner family, he's the one who speaks the least and always seems like he doesn't want to interact with anyone. It seems that marriage can indeed change a person's character."

"I see Mando hasn't changed much; he's still a man of few words and doesn't like to socialize, right?" Genevieve hinted.

Armand pushed the small table aside and gently touched the bruise on Genevieve's leg. “Does it hurt?”

“It doesn't hurt anymore.” It was painful when I first bumped into it, but the pain has subsided now.

Potter noticed that something was off and came over to ask what happened. Genevieve simply said she accidentally bumped into the table corner. Armand handed two mugs to the pottery artist, asking him to bake them.

There were no medicines in the store, so Armand went to a pharmacy not far from the pottery shop to buy a spray.

It was just a minor bump, but seeing how worried the man was, even going to buy a spray for it, Genevieve couldn't help but laugh and cry at the same time. Her heart was filled with sweetness, and she couldn't help but wish to spend her entire life with him like this.

Genevieve said, “This month, I've either cut my hand with a knife or hurt my leg while walking. It seems like I'm having a streak of bad luck.”

“After Mercury retrograde ends, my financial luck will probably improve!”

Hearing her baseless reasoning, Armand couldn't help but smile. After spraying the medicine for Genevieve, he put away the spray.

Although she didn't bleed this time, it still made Armand very nervous.

Armand wiped the dirt off Genevieve's hands with a damp towel and whispered softly, “Love, even a mild coagulation disorder can't be cured. You may be able to stop the bleeding once or twice, but there might be a time when the blood just won't stop flowing...”

"Who allowed you to mock Lucian?" Genevieve, being fair, reasoned with her daughter.

"Usually, it's fine for you to play around with Lucian, but falling down the stairs really hurts. Lucian's leg is fractured and he's in pain, yet you still mock him. Do you think what you're doing is right?"

Amanda just thinks that Lucian is clumsy, that's all.

They were used to fooling around, but now that Mommy said it like that, she felt that she had gone too far.

Amanda moved closer and hugged Lucian, "I'm sorry, Lucian. You're not dumb. You're the smartest and most handsome brother in my eyes! To make it up to you, I'll make crème brûlée for you tonight, okay?"

Lucian thought of the dark dessert she made, and the corner of his mouth twitched, "No need."

Genevieve saw the two little ones being affectionate again and raised her eyebrows, saying to Armand, "It seems I have quite a talent for being a mother for the first time; I've been quite successful in raising the children."

Armand glanced at her and said, "Weren't you the one who laughed at Lucian first in the hospital?"

Genevieve couldn't help but feel heartbroken when she saw her son's pitiful state.

The two were chatting in the kitchen when they heard Rosa's voice from outside, “Mrs. Faulkner, there's a Ms. Benson here to see you.”

Genevieve looked puzzled for a few seconds before following Armand out of the kitchen. She saw Charlotte in the living room, distributing the toys she had brought to the two little ones.

There were also two men in uniforms who carried several wooden crates into the living room.

Lucian's eyes lit up when he saw the symbol on the wooden crate. He hopped over to it on one foot and exclaimed, “Is this an Optimus Prime inside? Wow, it's even the limited edition TES-03 two-meter-long Optimus Prime!”

“Do you like it?” Charlotte asked with a beaming smile.

After breaking his leg, Lucian had been listless and moping around. But now, he was so excited that he almost jumped up, nodding non-stop, “I love it! Thank you, Madam Benson.”

Charlotte tapped on the wooden box and corrected, “I'm not married yet.”

“Thank you, Ms. Benson!” Lucian immediately corrected himself.
