

Flirtacious 621

Chapter 623 Dance For You

"Who are you to me? What makes you think you can tell me what to do?" Genevieve pushed Bruce backward with her finger. She could feel his chiseled chest through his clothing.

"Drive the car to the garage of my place," Genevieve ordered with a cold expression.

Bruce acted as though he didn't hear her. With a grim expression, he got out of the car, dragged Genevieve into the elevator, and brought her into his condominium.

Genevieve watched him close the door and fumed, "Bruce, I'm sober this time around. I don't want to be taken advantage of. How dare you bring me back to your place?"

She went to open the door, but Bruce blocked her. "Get lost," she demanded.

"Bruce, I have a temper, okay?" Genevieve narrowed her eyes and asked, "Do you want to ruin your career in the entertainment industry?"

Bruce stared at her and asked softly, "Ms. Rachford, have I done anything wrong to get you mad?"

"I'm not mad!"

"If you're not, why are you being so aggressive when you talk to me?" Bruce tried to make his point by saying, "I've been thinking about the conversation we had in the hot spring resort. I really don't know what I had said that got you mad."

Even after the filming had been wrapped up and he had returned, he still had no idea what Genevieve was angry about.

will you? I'll change," Bruce answered, "I'm angry because you're so indecisive. How could you still think about Coco after what she has done to you? When she went to Lightspring two weeks ago, she stayed at the same hotel as you. She went film crew the whole time. I didn't even know she was staying in the hotel I was staying in. If you don't believe me, ask Joash. He was with how sincere his words were. "How about the woman on your her for when he found out that Genevieve had been angry because of the wallpaper he used moved all the applications to the bottom to reveal the woman on the wallpaper of his

at it and thought the looks like me..." She then pointed at the wallpaper and stared blankly at Bruce. "Or minor facial surgery, so she looked similar it would be more reasonable if he

Bruce leaned toward her and said, "I took a picture was taken aback, and she that she could feel his breath on her lips. "You could see what's on my home screen although I'm using a privacy screen protector? You to me. It's getting hot in here." When Genevieve was facing Bruce, her usual haughtiness dared to watch striptease just now, why would you mind how near we are to each

Chapter 624 Spend Time With You

While they were on the way back, Jane kept glancing at Cooper. Seeing that he kept silent, she didn't dare to utter a word as well.

She kept her head lowered and followed Cooper in when they arrived home.

Cooper threw his jacket onto the couch and went to pour a glass of warm water for Jane. "You are not in good health. Don't go to those stuffy places too often."

"I'll never go there again." Jane took the glass of water and nodded obediently. "The show wasn't even that nice."

Cooper flashed a half-smile and answered, "It wasn't nice? Why were you blushing, then?"

Jane felt guilty, and she didn't even dare to swallow the water in her mouth. Cooper leaned in and kissed her domineeringly as if he was punishing her.

Jane's limbs were going weak, but fortunately for her, she had the couch to lean on. Otherwise, she would've fallen to the ground.

Suddenly, Cooper's phone rang.

He let go of Jane and took his phone from the couch. After he answered his phone, his expression changed slightly. He then went to the study to continue his phone call.

Jane touched her lips, and she could still feel the warmth left behind by Cooper. At that moment, she could not help but desire more of his kisses.

However, she remembered what Jermaine had said to her in the hospital a couple of days ago. As long as she could be healthy, she wasn't afraid of anything else. However, she could die if the surgery failed.

She felt regretful that

Jane lowered her gaze and stared at her glass of water for a long while before switching off the main switch in the house.

The next instant, the house fell into complete darkness.

finished his phone call. When the house went dark, he was stunned for a few seconds. After that, he used the flashlight on his phone and went to the living room to look for Jane.

"Jane?"

"I'm here." Jane had switched on the flashlight and said, "I don't know

"Did the main switch trip?" Cooper asked.

"I checked. That's not the case." Jane grabbed Cooper's arm to stop him from checking the main switch.

"I think it's just a random blackout. The power should be back soon."

Luckily for her, Cooper didn't insist on checking the main switch. "Have a shower in the bedroom, against him, she said, "I'm not sleepy. I time, she would act coquettishly with him after dinner. Hence, Cooper was used to it, and he didn't think too much of it.

flashlights on their phones weren't enough to light up the place. When one was unable to see, other senses in the body

He diverted his attention by asking, "It's Christmas tomorrow. How would you like to spend it?"

"Anything is fine with me as long as I can spend it with you." Jane rested her head on Cooper's chest and listened to his

At the same time, they could hear a faint Christmas song coming from outside their house.

Jane then suddenly asked, "Have you gotten

Chapter 625 Remember To Miss Me

Cooper had been through a lot, and he wasn't a young man anymore. However, Jane's words made his heart flutter, and he felt like a teenager once more. In fact, he felt as though a girl he had a crush on had just confessed her feelings to him.

Although he liked her a lot, he couldn't find the words to express his feelings.

Cooper hugged Jane tightly and leaned his head on her shoulder. After letting out a sigh, he said, "How lucky I am to have been loved by you."

"I feel the same way." She flashed a faint smile while looking at the platinum ring on her finger.

She then wrapped her arms around his neck and kissed him.

Cooper was tightening his arms around her waist before he eventually let her go. In a hoarse voice, he said, "Go take a shower."

Jane shook her head and pressed her cheek against his. "I want to be with you."

"Be good, okay? We've talked about this."

"I haven't given you your Christmas present." She looked at him with her bright eyes and asked, "Don't you want your Christmas present?"

Cooper knew exactly what she meant, but he ended up pulling her arms away from his shoulders.

Jane seemed disappointed. "Are

"Why would I be afraid?" Cooper asked. "It's just that I

Back then, for revenge, he had tried to destroy Genevieve, and later, he had been regretting his actions and trying his best to make it up to the Rachford family.

Since Cooper had given Jane the last ounce of love he could afford to give, he didn't want to hurt her.

I'm not even worthy of her.

his cheek. "You're the person I love the most. How could you possibly taint me? Since it's such a kissed his lips again and smiled. "The show I watched in the dance hall was rather sensual. Who knows? I Cooper suddenly frowned when he heard that. Right then, he was getting slightly jealous.

"You don't want it? Fine." Seeing how Cooper had not answered her in a while, Jane let go of him and backed away. "Let's just pretend as if I've never Cooper quickly pulled her back into his embrace. "You've already said them, though. How am I supposed to pretend like it never happened?"

He then lowered his head and kissed her passionately.

that night, Jane made sure Cooper was asleep before she cautiously moved his arm away from her waist. She put on her nightgown, took his phone, and went to the study.

Since she knew the

She checked his messages and saw a text someone had sent to him a few hours ago. Her expression turned solemn.

that night, when she saw Cooper going to the study to talk on the phone, she knew something was wrong. However, she didn't know things were so dire.

turned on the laptop on the desk and was busy working on it till dawn. It was only after the sun had risen that she closed the email tab and turned off the laptop.

When she went back to the bedroom and saw Cooper fast asleep, she went

Chapter 626 Do It Again

When Genevieve woke up the next morning, she opened her eyes and saw Bruce looking at her with his arm supporting his head.

How long has he been staring at me?

She then remembered how she had been seduced by the sexy man in front of her. Awkwardness and embarrassment surged in her right away. After locking eyes with Bruce for three seconds, she pulled the blanket over her head.

Bruce pulled the blanket down and chuckled softly. "Ms. Rachford, you were the one who took advantage of me. What are you scared of?"

"I'm cold," Genevieve answered calmly. However, her ears had turned red. "Since the sun is up, you should leave, no?"

"Ms. Rachford, we're at my place."

Genevieve froze momentarily before asking in bewilderment, "Didn't you say this place belongs to your friend? Will he kill you if he found out what we've done in his bedroom?"

If Bruce were to bring a girl into my house to do such a thing, I would definitely kill him.

Bruce couldn't help but laugh. "If we both keep our mouths shut, how would he ever find out? Perhaps we should do this at your house next time, Ms. Rachford."

Genevieve was stunned. "Next time? You want to do this again?"

"Yes," Bruce admitted frankly. He then leaned over to kiss Genevieve and uttered, "Ms. Rachford, do you find me not attractive enough, or do you think I don't have enough stamina?"

"Okay. Please stop talking." Genevieve was done listening to what he had to say.

Bruce is too good at acting. When I first met him, he looked extremely innocent. However, he's actually very good at flirting. I bet he was just pretending to dislike women. He just wanted me to feel bad for him so that I could fall into his trap and sleep with him.

Bruce saw how Genevieve's expression was changing, and he found that amusing.

I bet her mind is a mess now. Although she's already a mother of two, she's still as cute as she was four years ago.

Bruce smiled and asked, "Do you want me to carry you to the

Before Genevieve could answer, Bruce carried her to the bathroom. He then took a towel and laid

Genevieve saw the familiar gesture and asked, "Who are you?"

Bruce's gaze darkened.

Genevieve's hand and asked, "Why do you ask, Ms. Rachford? Do I remind you of someone?"

"Why did you lay a towel on the washbasin?"

the washbasin could be chilly. That's why I laid down the towel." There was a hint of amusement in Bruce's eyes.

Genevieve had her head lowered, so she didn't see his gaze. She merely acknowledged his answer and "What would you like to have for breakfast?" Bruce asked.

"Agljo olio."

to leave the bathroom. Before he left, he said, "The ladies' clothes in the walk-in closet are all bought for you. You can wear whatever you want."

Chapter 627 You Should Not Hug Me Like This

"Don't know." After two long months, Genevieve, who finally had her craving satisfied, was enjoying the meal prepared by Bruce.

She looked up and glanced at Bruce. "What about you?"

"I want to accompany you." Bruce, with his dark eyes, stared at Genevieve unabashedly.

Genevieve almost choked on her food, and her face flushed red because of the intense coughing.

She retrieved two tissues to wipe her mouth and replied, "We're not in a relationship, and I don't need you to accompany me. Whatever resources that you need, just let me know, and I will do my best to secure them for you."

Bruce answered, "If you refuse my company, then it's not right for me to accept anything from you." He continued, "Ms. Rachford, you can treat me as a dispensable tool just like Charlotte."

Shocked, she glared at Bruce. "A-Are you crazy?"

"No, I'm not. I just want to be there for you, yet at the same time, I do not want to pressure you." Bruce put up a straight face. "The moment I become useless to you, then I'll leave."

Every second mattered, and all Bruce wanted was to be by her side, be it for a day or an hour.

Genevieve fell silent as she finished up the breakfast. Then, she went back to her room to change.

When she came out of the room, Bruce passed her handbag to her.

From the moment they finished breakfast until they left, they did not utter a single word to each other. Only after exiting the building did Genevieve notice the

While on her way back, she recalled that Bruce was the one driving last night too.

And the keys were not in her handbag.

for a few seconds before abruptly pulling out her phone and sending a message to Bruce: I left my car keys. Please drive my car over here.

Bruce did not reply, but after three minutes, her car pulled out of the garage.

Genevieve opened the door to the passenger seat and got in. However, instead of getting seated, she unhurriedly

With his hand around her waist, Bruce looked up and kissed her back.

After a passionate kiss, Genevieve got on her seat and said with sparkling lips, "Let's go somewhere remote and fun."

"Sure." Bruce flashed a faint smile.

After thirty minutes, they arrived at an outdoor ice-skating rink.

Because of the heavy snow last night, the roads and the trees were covered in snow, blending into the scenic view surrounding the ice-skating rink.

and given that it was Christmas, only a few were at the ice-skating rink.

impatiently looked toward Bruce. "I did say to bring us somewhere remote. But why did you choose this place? I know how to ski, but not how to ice-skate."

"Don't worry about it. I'll teach you." Bruce held onto her hand and walked toward down beside Genevieve and helped her put them on. After that, he helped her up. "Try taking two steps."

Genevieve did as he asked but nearly fell to the ground. Quickly, she hugged Bruce as though her life depended on it.

"We're in public, so you should not hug me like this,

Genevieve looked up and shot him a stare.

Chapter 628 Is My Kiss Worth That Little

"Ha! Is my kiss worth that little?" Genevieve pouted as she voiced, "One kiss, and you'll need to get me ten of those!"

"All right." Bruce bent over and flashed his cheek at her.

"Are you that confident?" Genevieve refused to believe that Bruce could do it. She had tried switching the claw machines multiple times but couldn't get anything out of them.

Betting that Bruce would humiliate himself, she kissed him on the cheek.

"Which one do you want?" asked Bruce.

After knowing which doll Genevieve wanted, Bruce slotted in the coin and started controlling the joystick. Effortlessly, he got hold of the doll that she wanted.

Genevieve was dumbfounded. She walked up to the adjacent claw machine and said, "This one too."

Bruce effortlessly got that one too.

Genevieve refused to believe that Bruce would continue to be that lucky. "You got them effortlessly because I have been pouring the coins into these machines. I've made it easier for you. Let us try the machines over there!"

"Sure." Bruce smiled and followed her closely behind.

Even after switching machines, Bruce could get Genevieve all the dolls she wanted.

Shortly after, Genevieve had a handful of dolls of different

This time, Genevieve had to accept it. "It appears that you're not only good at

Bruce let out a soft chuckle and teased her, "Don't you think I'm much better in bed?"

Her face blushed red; Genevieve gritted her teeth and stomped on the ground before leaving.

Bruce carried the dolls and followed her with a smile on his face.

an event was happening outside the mall. For every entry, the competition participants were guaranteed to win a prize.

A crowd gathered below the stage, and many of them were taking videos with their phones.

Initially, Genevieve did not want to join in, but when the emcee mentioned the prize for first place, she halted.

Staring at the emcee, she told Bruce, "My son likes that Lego set a lot. It's a limited edition set that's in collaboration with Transformers. He could not get it from the website when it first hit

Genevieve wanted to get it as a gift for Lucian, albeit at a

Knowing that Lucian wanted the Lego set, Bruce was determined to get it for him. He eagerly passed "Don't go." Genevieve tried to stop him. "Given your popularity, I'll be doomed if someone recognizes you."

"That'll be great. Then I can

Genevieve

to guess the song's name and sing the complete lyrics. The judges would give their scores, and the Participants swarmed to the registration area, forming a long line at the side of the stage.

Chapter 629 Nightmares At Night

After reaching home, Bruce took out the tray and washed the food before having a barbecue at the table with Genevieve.

He was the one who grilled the food, while Genevieve enjoyed the barbecued food to her heart's content.

When Genevieve looked out the floor-to-ceiling windows in the living room and saw that it was snowing again, an urge to play in the snow appeared in her mind. Immediately, she put on her down jacket and dragged Bruce down the stairs.

The lights of the artificial lake not far from the house illuminated the path as the snow blanketed the land. There was no one in sight at all.

Genevieve then grabbed a pile of snow from the ground and rolled it into a ball. Then, she turned around and threw it at Bruce. When she saw the snow covering his face, she began chuckling.

"So now you're throwing snow at me, huh?" the man asked in feigned anger. He then rolled a snowball and threw it at Genevieve as well.

The two of them began having a snowball fight by the artificial lake. Genevieve hit Bruce with the snowballs every time, but when it was Bruce's turn to throw snowballs at her, she would swiftly hide away before hurling another snowball at him.

Excluding her time with her children, Genevieve had never been that happy for a long time.

Frankly, she was hesitant. She did not want to see Bruce around, for she was afraid that she would get trapped in an ambiguous relationship with the man. Yet, at the same time, she needed not to worry about anything when she was with him, and she could be as silly as she wanted to.

Bruce always unconditionally doted on her and tolerated her. In fact, he had never lost

Genevieve was confused. She did not understand why Coco would cuckold a good man like him, but soon she

After they entered the house and just as Bruce closed the door, Genevieve leaned over to him and wrapped her arms around his neck before pulling him downward.

The two kissed.

Genevieve let her hand crawl over to the man's jacket before hurriedly pulling down his zipper to take it off him. The two of them continued holding onto each other and kissing all the way to the bedroom.

Just as Genevieve was about to turn on the lights, Bruce suddenly grabbed her hand.

Genevieve chuckled as she bit his lip. "Aren't you

Bruce carried her to the bed. "I don't want you to see me; you just need to remember that I'm giving you happiness. That's all."

He then cupped her face and gently kissed her.

After over an hour of intimate moments, Genevieve was completely drained of her strength. Bruce brought her to the bathroom to clean up.

to play with the black choker the man had on his neck. "I want to see."

never seen him take off the choker before.

"The scar is too ugly." Bruce took her hand and placed it by his lips before planting soft kisses on it. "I'm scared that you'll have nightmares at night if you see it."

He did not agree to it, and Genevieve did not insist.

After going back to the bedroom, Bruce helped Genevieve put on her nightgown. As if the scent he had was an aromatic scent that aided in sleep, she soon went to her dreamlands.

asleep, she was awakened by the sudden ringing of her phone on

Chapter 630 A Complete Breakdown

"No." Cooper shook his head.

He had been looking through the surveillance footage of when Jane left the house, and he had searched through all the footage of the places she had gone to. However, she later went somewhere without surveillance cameras, so he failed to track her down.

Furthermore, he was not close to the core members of the police force in Jadeborough, so he could not find a way to get Jane's phone activity.

Genevieve furrowed her brows. "Was there anything amiss when she left?"

"No, she only told me that she wanted to go back to Xedells," Cooper quietly said as he held his forehead. "But at that time, I somehow felt as if I could never see her again."

Yet, back then, he had thought that he was only overthinking things.

If only I took the sense of foreboding more seriously. Everything would have been fine now if I had stopped Jane and asked her to clarify things.

All of a sudden, Steven said, "Mr. Sutton, there's no need for you to hide anything from Ms. Rachford anymore so she won't think that Ms. Jane is deliberately hiding from you."

At that, Genevieve whipped her head over to Steven. "What are you hiding from me?"

"Xavier escaped from Xedells Prison a few days ago, and the police from both sides are pursuing him at the moment," Steven told Genevieve honestly.

a grudge against Mr. Sutton and Indeed, if not for Steven's confession, Genevieve would not have known about such a major incident. "The security at Xedells Prison is tight. How did Xavier escape from Moreover, Xavier would not be able to come all the way to Jadeborough from Xedells if he did not have help.

the guards weren't wary enough, or maybe a guard secretly helped him out." Still, those were only Cooper's guesses. He had no power in Xedells, so he could not find out about the details.

Cooper then said to Genevieve, "Genev, I didn't want you to worry, so I didn't

However, he had never thought that Xavier would target Jane.

After Genevieve learned that Jane might have gone to meet Xavier alone, a myriad of terrible thoughts popped into her head. Jane is in poor health too...

The few people that Cooper hired busied away for a long time, but their efforts were to no avail.

scenery outside, she suddenly thought about someone who might

"Hello?" Charlotte's voice was hoarse, and clearly, she was sleeping up until the call came through.

her a swift apology before asking her for a favor to look for help from friends who worked in the telecommunication company once Charlotte was wide awake. Genevieve had owed Genevieve a favor for setting her up with Jerry, she readily agreed to Genevieve's request.

Less than twenty minutes later, Genevieve received the information about Jane's phone activity. Instantly, she and the others hastily drove off to the location.