

For Dinner 369

Chapter 369: Ignorance is Fearlessness

If it were just the previous matter, Wyatt Kirk wouldn't be surprised.

Even if they are together now, who knows if they would break up in the future?

Who can be sure about matters of the heart?

However, Adrian Zhekova directly mentioned the position of the Zhekova Family Head's Wife.

That's no small matter.

It's not something one could casually claim to be the wife of the Zhekova Family Head!

Once it's said, it can't be taken back!

Adrian Zhekova wouldn't casually mention such an important matter.

That's the position of the Zhekova Family Head's Wife!

It's not an ordinary position!

Cindy Clarke's position in Wyatt Kirk's heart was firmly set.

Looking at Cindy, she seemed not surprised at all, calmly and composedly accepting everything.

Obviously, there was a tacit understanding between her and Adrian Zhekova, and perhaps they had already discussed this matter.

Wyatt Kirk couldn't help but feel more awe for Cindy.

Unknown to him, Cindy didn't have a clear understanding of what being the Zhekova Family Head's Wife meant.

It was the case of "Ignorance is fearless."

Indeed, she and Adrian Zhekova had a tacit understanding that they would get married.

If Adrian Zhekova were to become the Family Head, wouldn't she become the wife?

There were no issues with the logic and cause-and-effect.

That's why Cindy accepted this arrangement so easily.

"Yes! Yes, yes!" Wyatt Kirk hurriedly nodded, "I'll remember!"

"Alright, let's go. We still need to have dinner." Adrian Zhekova shook his leg, urging Wyatt Kirk to let go of his hand.

So many people were watching.

Wasn't it embarrassing?!

Wyatt Kirk breathed a sigh of relief in his heart, feeling fortunate he hadn't offended Adrian Zhekova.

Morgan Zhekova was stunned on the side.

Was Dad really that scary?

He never thought that simply telling what he had seen earlier would terrify Uncle Wyatt so much.

At least Wyatt Kirk managed to stand up.

Unlike before, even if Adrian Zhekova invited him to dine together, he wouldn't dare to now.

His heart was too traumatized at the moment, not yet recovered.

"I'll go first then." Wyatt Kirk hurriedly said.

He formally bid farewell to Adrian Zhekova, Cindy Clarke, and Morgan Zhekova, then turned and dashed away, no longer the reluctant figure secretly following behind earlier.

Watching Wyatt Kirk's retreating figure, Morgan Zhekova said with self-blame, "Cindy, should I not have said it? I scared Uncle Wyatt."

Adrian Zhekova answered for her, "You didn't lie; you just spoke the truth you saw. You didn't do anything wrong."

"His fear comes from his guilty conscience," Adrian Zhekova said, "It has nothing to do with you."

"And, you observed very carefully to notice that he was there early." Adrian Zhekova smiled, "I know that you did this because you didn't want us to suffer any losses. When facing a situation, of course, you should stand by your family members. You did a great job."

Morgan Zhekova suddenly received praise from Adrian Zhekova and felt quite shy.

She twisted her waist with her fingers and her little face turned red.

“So, that Uncle Wyatt is an example,” Adrian Zhekova said, “You should learn from his lesson and not be opportunistic in your actions.”

Morgan Zhekova blinked, “What does opportunistic mean?”

This time, Adrian Zhekova was truly stumped by the question.

Many words seem to be ingrained in one’s consciousness and slip out spontaneously.

Although he knew their meanings, he didn’t know how to explain them.

Adrian Zhekova thought for a moment and said, “It’s like what Uncle Wyatt just did, trying to use clever tricks to succeed. He only stepped forward because he saw me. But when he was exposed, he ended up embarrassed. If he hadn’t seen me and had voluntarily come forward, wouldn’t those incidents have been avoided?”
