

Nico Makes Some Plans

Chapter 34

Nico's POV

That fg bh, she knew she was pregnant with the heir to my pack, and she still made me reject her. I am furious with what just happened, and I want someone to punish for it. Shelby was in my office with me, and she actually looked scared, and she had better be because her stupid games resulted in my losing my precious little mate and my pup.

Oh, I will be getting both of them back, but it won't be anything soon. The worst part is Shelby still looks like Sabrina to me, and she smells like her too. I want Sabrina back so bad, and I am less attracted to Shelby because now I know for a fact that she isn't my mate, it was just a spell.

I was mad that as they were leaving, Omega Angela showed up and she and 7 other pack members in her family left my pack, because of the threat that Shelby made. So, I have lost 10 pack members, just because of Shelby, in the last 24 hours. I am furious and I am really trying to calm down, but I cannot. I need my mate to calm me, and Shelby messed that up royally for me. I look at her again and she is looking anywhere but at me. She is kind of screwed right now, her team that she used got wiped out like they were novices when they did show up. I did check her phone and Asher was 100% right in what he had said. She did call them in to kill them at the gate, and they got what they deserved.

She knew Sabrina was out there, and she wanted her killed as well, and we will go over that at a later date, as now I need Shelby's resources to get my mate back. I need a release, but I will NEVER sleep with Shelby again. I don't want to give her what she has been after the whole time. I unbuckle my pants and slide them down a little and call her over to me. Shelby gets excited as she thought that we were going to have s*x, but I let her know quickly, "You cost me my mate and my pup, until I have them back again, I will not have s*x with you. You can just suck me off every day as your punishment for all that you did to cause me to lose my mate. I will not reward you with s*x again after all you have done".

I leaned back in my chair as Shelby settled between my thighs and starts to service me. She is actually not bad, and I close my eyes and inhale Sabrina's scent and tell myself that it is Sabrina here with me. It does work and after a little while I release my load, and I am much calmer.

I decide to call Asher and tell him that I am not done with Sabrina yet, as Shelby exits my office to go get cleaned up. I get mad again quickly speaking to him and I let it escalate to where I tip my hand and I am pissed at myself for even giving them a heads up. But the worst part comes to where I heard my little mate gasp and I know that she went down as I could hear people calling out and I didn't know what happened, but when her second chance mate threatened me, I got furious again. How dare he threaten me. That is MY pup, not his. It belongs to me and Sabrina, and I will not be letting that moron raise my pup. He or she will be the next Alpha of the Golden Summit. That is their legacy and I close my eyes and think of my handsome son or my beautiful little daughter that looks like her mom.

I need to get them back here where they belong, where I can protect them. I will use every quiver in my arsenal to get her back. Shelby just f*d up enough to where she owes me big time, so I will get her to get more men, to replace those that were lost, and better men, so they don't get taken out so easily, and I will make her use her money to get my precious little mate back. I don't care how much it costs, I know that we will need about 8 to 10 men, and I also need to get a new Beta and Gamma soon. I mindlinked my head warrior and told him to get a short list of about 8 men that he thinks would be up to the task of being my next two high ranks. I will make sure tonight and tell Shelby that if she even thinks of harming my mate, I will snap her neck and then I will continue to use her money to get me up a crew to get them back myself.

I cannot believe my bad luck at me accepting the rejection from Sabrina, only for one of those fg guys present to just high tail it over to her to claim her as his mate. What shitty kind of luck was that? I wanted her. I needed her, I would never have voluntarily rejected her. Except they shot that tire out, and I knew that they were not going to leave until I rejected her. I am weaker without her. But I had to accept that rejection, or I would be dead now, for them to get the bond broken. I cannot believe how evil Shelby was for Sabrina to be feeling the pain of betrayal so badly. No wonder Jaden was so angry with me.

I have never in my life been treated so badly in all my life. Asher is going to get a little payback and then as soon as I can get a team together, say in two months' time, I will go in and get my precious little mate. That gives me plenty of time to get the pack ready for her and our pup. I will make her happy when I get her back here. She already loved me, that doesn't go away on a dime, and I hope that she still cares for me as I care for her. I did mess up, I will own it, I did screw this totally up and if I could do it all over again, I would have done as Sabrina asked and took her to Stone Moon, accepted whatever punishment that they thought I deserved, and then went to my mates room to get to mark her and sleep with her. I would have had it all if only I had listened to her when she said she had a bad feeling about me coming back here.

"I told you too stupid" Roan mindlinked me.

"I didn't think that Shelby would take it this far" I linked him back.

"Bree knew and told you, and Nala told us too, we all felt it, even you felt it, and then you had to go all "I am the Alpha, and I know best" and ignored us all. Look at what it cost you, Nico. She has her second chance mate. The Goddess gave her him immediately, you are really screwed here. You won't be able to get her back" Roan linked me back what I was too scared to admit to myself.

"She still loves me, when I get her back, she will be resistant at first, but I know that she will come back to me. I will make her love me again. She will be happy here and we will raise our pup together. It will be perfect, you will see Roan, she will be happy and give herself to me again" I linked him back.

"We will see Nico, we will see, but he wants her, and he is the same size as you, and having your mate makes you stronger, so I am not holding my breath on your plan to get her back. I think you should just let it go, you were warned, and you knew best, so you should live with the choices that you made" Roan tells me and that makes me angry.

"We are one and the same, don't tell me you don't want her back" I snapped at him in mindlink.

"I would like her back, but she is NOT ours anymore. You accepted the rejection. You f*d this up from the beginning. You should have immediately claimed her as I told you to, but instead, you listened to Shelby. Then you and Shelby made her life a living hell having s*x and the only person who ever got punished was Bree. Then her heats, and then most recently was you fg Shelby which after you were a mated pair, which gave her the most pain. So, to clarify, you and Shelby gave Bree a lot of pain, she gave you multiple chances to do right. You screwed up, quite literally, all over the place, and now you are pouting because you want her back. Sorry if I don't feel bad for you" Roan linked me back and I am almost shaking in anger, mainly mad at myself and Shelby.

I am going to kill her for this, as me losing Sabrina was all her fault with this stupid spell and I will make her pay, AFTER I get Sabrina back. My heart ached from accepting the rejection and I leaned back again to try to calm down. I guess it won't matter if I sleep with Shelby again, as now Sabrina can't feel it and I need to get my anger worked out somehow.

I entered my suite and heard the shower going, I strip off as I cross the room and enter my shower with her. Shelby is surprised and excited to see me swollen and ready to go, especially after I just told her I wouldn't anymore, but why punish myself. Sabrina isn't here, and she can't feel it anymore. She has a mate, and I bet that she is gonna let that little punk mark her too. I heard Shelby make a noise and look down to see me choking her in my anger. I apologize, but I see that she is more fearful of me now, and she should be. She created this monster, and before long I will be taking my full anger out on her, but for now, I will use her body until the she-wolf that I want is back.

I pick her up and set her against the tiles and slam into her hard and she lays her head back and moans as she does like it rough. Maybe I might keep her around, on the side for when I need to go hard, and I don't want to hurt my precious little mate. She isn't up for that rough a time, but then I have a memory of her taking just as much as I can give and that memory makes me harder and I start plunging into Shelby over and over again to get my release, I feel Shelby hit hers and I go about four more strokes before I let myself go over too.

I guess Sabrina was right. I am a fg liar. I got myself clean and wash my hair and exit the shower without saying anything else to Shelby. I am done with her, but for the time being she is a means to an end, and I will use her like she used to use me. But as soon as I get my Sabrina back, I will get rid of Shelby, because I cannot take the chance of Sabrina being hurt by her ever again.
