Chapter 116 New Anesthetic

In the absence of anesthetics, cutting open the wound would be extremely painful. Normal people simply couldn't bear it,

When the sharp scalpel cut through his flesh, blue veins stood out on Kingston's temples.

Quincy was so anxious that he circled around and grasped his hair irritably, "Sir ... Where are the anesthetics? Don't you have any with you?"

"I'm from a small clinic at the foot of the mountain. The conditions are too poor. I brought everything | can. I really don't have any anesthetics!" ;

Quincy roared, "Then are there any folk recipes for pain relief in this village?"

"No..."

The doctor was scared, his hands trembling, which deepened Kingston's wound.

"Don't tremble! Hurry up and pull out the wolfs teeth."

Krista watched from the side, crying.

He must be in pain!

She wished she could bear it for him.

"I'm sorry, Kingston."

It was all her fault. If it wasn't for her, he wouldn't be injured.

He didn't have to save her.

"Don't cry."

He was clearly in a lot of pain, but Krista was still crying on the side.

Sandra had cried countless times in front of him, but he didn't feel anything special.

However, when he saw Krista crying, he felt sad. He didn't want her to cry.

She choked out, "You must be in pain, right?"

"No." He said with difficulty and his voice was hoarse.

He could endure the pain.

He had suffered injuries of this degree more than once.

"How can you not be in pain! You shed so much blood. Your wounds are so deep. Why did you come over? It's obviously none of your business..."

Krista was chattering away, and she kept blaming herself. Kingston really couldn't bear it.

At this moment, he only wanted to stop her.

Without any hesitation, he suddenly hooked his hand around her neck and kissed her thin and dry lips.

In that instant, all he could feel was the softness of her lips and the fragrance of her body

Apart from that, he felt nothing.

He couldn't help but kiss her more fiercely.

Krista was stunned. She wanted to push him away, but his body was covered in wounds. She did not dare to move.

She could only let this happen.

The doctor also took this opportunity to quickly pull out the wolf's teeth.

When the wolf's teeth were pulled out, blood was pumping out of his wound, but Kingston did not move at all.

The doctor was a little surprised and said, "Is this a new type of anesthetic? You can go on kissing. I'll quickly disinfect and bandage the rest of the wounds to avoid infection!"

The doctor quickly began to treat the rest of the wound.

This kiss was long and gentle...

She felt as if a century had passed.

Because of the doctor's words, she didn't dare to move and allowed Kingston to kiss her.

In the end, all the wounds had been treated. The bleeding stopped temporarily and he must return to City D as soon as possible.

Only then did Kingston let go of her lips and looked at her deeply.

Why did he know that he shouldn't be like this, but he still couldn't control himself?

She was so attractive to him.

He wiped her lips with her fingers and said, "Krista, what kind of magic do you have?"

Before Krista could reply, he fainted.

Because of excessive loss of blood and the pain of the wound, he couldn't hold on any longer.

After fainting, Kingston had a fever.

The helicopter was also ready. The flight time was about an hour. They must make sure that physical cooling and IVs were not interrupted, along with anti-inflammatory drugs.

If one of them was interrupted, then Kingston would be in danger.

Quincy thought that no one was more suitable for nursing than Krista!

Chapter 117 1 Won't Die

After getting on the plane, Krista didn't dare to close her eyes. She kept changing towels and smearing alcohol on his armpits and neck to cool him down.

Kingston had been put on a drip, and Krista took care of him. She must ensure that anti-inflammatory drugs and IVs were not interrupted.

Finally, the helicopter landed steadily on the rooftop of the hospital of City D. Kingston was stretchered into the ward by doctors. This night was definitely the most torturous and unforgettable night of her life!

Her mind was filled with intense unease!

Everyone felt that Kingston was a giant, standing at the top of the pyramid. He was invincible and had no weaknesses. He supported the Irwin family and the Irwin Group by himself.

But in her eyes, he was just an ordinary person.

He was a man of flesh and blood! He had his own emotions.

The news of Kingston's injury was blocked, otherwise, it would cause unrest in City D.

Many people hoped that Kingston would fall, then the Irwin family would be leaderless. Because of Kingston, the Irwin family was the number one aristocratic family in City D.

His name represented absolute status and power.

Quincy did not tell anyone, including Brittany and Nataly, for fear that they would be too worried.

Kingston had a high fever all night. Krista didn't heave a sigh of relief until Kingston's fever was gone.

In the end, she could not hold on any longer and lay weakly on the bed. She clenched his hand tightly and fell asleep.

She didn't sleep well!

In her dream, Kingston was covered in blood and surrounded by a pack of wolves.

She watched from afar, constantly shouting and waving her arms, but the pack of wolves simply didn't look at her.

She could not help Kingston, nor could she go to him.

She could only watch helplessly as Kingston was devoured by wolves.

"No..."

She woke up in a cold sweat.

However, when she opened her eyes, she didn't see Kingston. He wasn't on the bed and the room was empty.

Krista was very nervous. She was terrified when she thought of that dream.

She stumbled out of the ward and asked people if they saw Kingston.

But people didn't know what she was talking about.

No one answered her question. Krista was so anxious that she was about to shed tears. Just as she was about to go downstairs to look for Kingston, a deep and hoarse voice suddenly came from behind her.

"Krista, I'm here."

She immediately turned around and saw him weakly leaning against the wall.

Krista ran over and hugged him tightly.

"Where have you been? Do you know how scared I am when I can't find you? I..."

She didn't continue.

He said in a gentle voice, "What are you afraid of? Are you afraid of me dying?"

"You won't die."

"I just went to the next room for a meeting."

When he woke up, he saw her sleeping. It happened that he had something urgent to deal with. He was afraid of waking her up, so he went to a room.

He didn't expect to scare her.

"You're injured, yet you're still in a meeting? Are you mad?"

She was anxious.

"I won't die." He said word by word.

He was well aware of his responsibility. Anyone could have the right to die, but he didn't.

Moreover, he had promised her that he would not die.

When Krista heard this, she was sad and her heart ached for him.

She supported him and said, "Go back to your room and have a rest. Are you thirsty or hungry? I'll get you something to eat."

Her voice was gentle.

Kingston had no strength, and Krista supported him with all her strength.

She sent him back to the ward.

He had not eaten since he woke up, so she immediately borrowed the hospital's kitchen to make a liquid diet.

However, Kingston's shoulder was injured, he could not move his right hand at all, and he fractured his left hand.

Chapter 118 Vivian's Here

"How about I call a nurse to help you?"

"Why don't you help me?"

Kingston slightly frowned.

"If you don't mind, I can feed you."

She whispered.

She was very careful, blowing the porridge until it wasn't hot before passing it to him.

When Quincy came into the ward, he saw this scene. He wanted to go out but was stopped by Krista.

"Quincy, have all the missing children and women been saved?"

"Yes, we have tracked down all the strongholds and captured all the traffickers in one go. We have rescued quite a few people. The police station just found me and gave us a lot of banners made by parents."

"Was it an accident this time?"

Kingston asked.

"It should be an accident. The traffickers saw Ms. Compton alone. She happened to be in a remote place, so they directly kidnapped her."

Hearing this, Krista frowned slightly and her face became serious.

He asked, "What are you thinking?"

"It doesn't seem like that. When I got out of the car, I clearly heard the trafficker say that someone told him to kidnap me. They kidnapped me on purpose, but I don't know who is behind them."

"Perhaps I have misheard."

She hurriedly said. Anyway, those traffickers had been captured, and Kingston had also lost a lot of financial and material resources.

At that time, she was very scared. Perhaps she had misheard. She didn't want to trouble Kingston again.

They had divorced, and he had done his utmost to do so.

However, Kingston took it to heart and winked at Quincy. Quincy immediately understood and left.

At this moment, Sandra was pacing back and forth in the room.

They always caused her trouble.

She didn't know if they can handle it cleanly. If they left a trail of clues, would policemen find out that she was the instigator?

She was worried that everything that she had managed with great difficulty in City D would end in failure,

At this moment, her phone rang.

It was a phone call from Vivian.

"How dare you phone me? You even can't do such a small thing well. You are simply a good-for nothing."

Vivian was angry when she was scolded. However, because Vivian would have to rely on Sandra later, she endured it.

"Sandra, it is not the time to be angry with me. I'm already in City D. I'd like to make an appointment with you."

"You actually dare to come to City D!"

Sandra was shocked.

"Don't worry. I secretly came here by sea. I won't be noticed."

When Sandra heard this, she had no choice but to agree on a meeting place. She disguised herself and went out to see Vivian quickly.

"How dare you come to see me?"

"I know that they screw up, but I'm sure that this time there will be no evidence left behind. The traffickers will commit suicide in prison and not drag you down with them."

"Then why are you here?"

"You haven't married Kingston until now. Daddy was anxious, so he asked me to help you."

"Ask you to help me?"

A look of disgust came over Sandra's face.

"As far as I know, Kingston should be in the hospital now."

"How do you know?"

"The trafficker passed the news to my suitor in time. Kingston was attacked by a pack of wolves and should be seriously injured now. Kingston is the only son of the Irwins. He is the backbone of the Irwin Group. If the news gets out, there will be unrest outside, Brittany and Nataly must be anxious."

"You want me to release the news?"

Vivian gave a chortle, "Don't worry, I won't implicate you. I'll have those traffickers release the news and let everyone know about Kingston's courageous deeds. Sandra, as Kingston's girlfriend, you go to the hospital and took care of him. It's right and proper. You can also take advantage of this opportunity to see Brittany and Nataly, then let them force Kingston to marry you!"

"It's the best of both worlds!")

Chapter 119 Sandra Came to the Hospital

When Sandra heard this, a smile gradually appeared on her face.

'Looks like Vivian is useful. At the very least, her method is pretty good!

“Then what should we do now?”

“You just need to wait quietly for the news to be released, then you can head straight to the hospital.”.

After waiting for about fifteen minutes, they saw that the news spread like wildfire on the Internet.

Sandra immediately set off, while Vivian stayed downstairs in the hospital and did not leave, waiting for news of Sandra’s victory.

“Mr. Irwin, our public relations department failed in suppressing the news.”

Quincy frowned and his face was serious. The news spread like wildfire.

It was said that a few traffickers had spilled the beans during the interrogation, and the news immediately spread.

“Then what should we do? your grandma and mother must have known.”

That was what she was worried about.

Kingston said, “Whatever will be, will be.” As soon as he finished speaking, urgent footsteps came from outside. A woman rushed in and pushed Krista away, pouncing on the bed.

“Kingston!”

Sandra looked at him with tears in her eyes.

Her fingers trembled and she stroked the place he was bandaging. She even wanted to raise the quilt and look at the wounds on the rest of his body, but Kingston immediately stopped her.

He frowned and said, “Krista is still here.”

“So what? We’re getting married soon. Besides, I’m pregnant with our baby. I’ve seen your body.”

Hearing this, Kingston was unable to refute it for a moment.

He didn’t know why, but he really didn’t want to have physical contact with Sandra.

‘Am I frigid?’

All of the passion that night seemed to have vanished into thin air.

“Kingston, I heard that you were attacked by wolves to save Ms. Compton, right?”

“It was just an accident.”

“An accident? If you can’t come back, what should I do?” Sandra cried and her eyes turned red. She glared at Krista and said angrily, “It’s all your fault. Ever since Kingston came back and met you, something bad has always happened!”

“How long are you going to drag Kingston down? You two have divorced, and each of you has his own life. Why are you pestering Kingston?”

Sandra grabbed Krista’s clothes and pushed Krista desperately.

“Sandra, what are you doing?”

Kingston was anxious. He was about to get up, but the wound was affected. The originally sewn wound instantly split open and blood poured from his wound again.

Kingston coughed.

“Kingston.”

At that moment, Krista was worried.

However, before she could get close, Sandra had rushed to Kingston.

Sandra hugged Kingston tightly and called for the doctor.

Doctors came over and instantly pushed Krista to the outside.

She wanted to step forward but didn’t move.

She and Kingston were separated by many people and glanced at each other from afar.

Both of them had complicated expressions in their eyes.

Krista knew that she didn’t need to be here anymore.

She lowered her head and turned to leave.

Kingston wanted to call her name and let her stay here, but he couldn’t help but cough violently and spit out a mouthful of blood.

His face was deathly pale, and the doctor hurriedly took measures

Very quickly, Kingston's grandma and mother hurried over, and their eyes turned red.

In front of them, Sandra behaved like a good daughter-in-law, taking care of Kingston and talking to doctors, looking gentle.

Brittany didn't like Sandra, but Nataly was satisfied with Sandra. After all, Sandra was pregnant with Kingston's child.

"You're pregnant. You have to take care of yourself. Nurses will take care of Kingston."

When Sandra heard this, she immediately knelt on the ground.

"Madam, please let me return to the villa and take good care of Kingston!"

Chapter 120 Force Brittany to Agree Kingston Marries Her

After Sandra finished speaking, she looked up at Brittany.

Brittany pulled a long face.

"Ms. Brittany, I know you dislike me. You don't know my background. You think I'm a bad girl. However, I love Kingston. I'm pregnant now. You want to separate us and pair him off with his ex wife. I almost miscarried several times. My child is also your great-grandson! Do you really not care about him?"

"Don't threaten me with your child. Krista can also give birth to a child! Her child is my great grandson!"

"You don't approve of Kingston marrying me, do you?"

"Yes! I don't like you at all!"

Brittany did not hide her dislike for Sandra.

Sandra was completely different from Nataly back then. Brittany had experienced many things and had seen countless women of all kinds. Many women wanted to marry into a rich family by all means.

Nataly's eyes were clear, and she didn't threaten Brittany with a child. When Nataly first met Brent, she did not know that he was the successor of the Irwin family.

If a mother really loved her child deeply, she would not bear to threaten others with the child in her belly,

Nataly didn't do that back then.

That was why Brittany disliked Sandra. Although Sandra was young, she was scheming.

Kingston hadn't met many women since he was young. He was calm and wise, but he was fooled by a woman.

She would never let Sandra marry Kingston.

When Sandra heard this, she said, "Since you don't agree, then I don't want to live."

With that, she gathered all her strength and hit the wall beside her.

This time, Sandra burned her bridges and really used all of her strength. Either she died here, or she got the glory and wealth.

Nataly had been staring at Sandra, and seeing that Sandra wanted to hit the wall, she was anxious.

Nataly hurriedly held Sandra back. Even so, Sandra still hit the wall and blood oozed out her forehead.

Sandra was a little dizzy, and she covered her belly with one hand.

"Ms. Brittany, I will marry no one but Kingston. If you don't let him marry me, I might as well die..."

"Are you forcing me to agree that Kingston marries you?"

"I hope that you can accept my child!"

"Alright, stop talking. Doctor, hurry up and save her!"

The doctor quickly rushed over and took Sandra away.

"Mom, I know that you don't like Sandra, just like you don't approve of Brent marrying me back then. But now, Brent and I are married for many years and still love each other. Krista is indeed a good girl, but Sandra is not bad either. You can make a decision after getting along with her."

"You'll make them sad. Mom, even if you don't care what Kingston thinks, don't you really care about the baby in her belly? I don't want to lose my grandson! Please allow her to marry into our family. Brent and Krista have been divorced! Mom!"

Nataly pleaded, her eyes red.

Nataly embarrassed Brittany and Brittany pulled a long face.

Brittany still didn't agree Kingston married Sandra, so Nataly left in disappointment.

The relationship between them had eased. However, the rift between them deepened because of Sandra.

As soon as Nataly left, Brittany staggered. She almost fell down. Fortunately, Wyatt was supporting her..

"Are you alright?"
