Chapter 137 Ryan Lamb

Lance frowned slightly. If he showed her medical records to the public, he could explain it clearly.

However, Krista was pregnant, which couldn't be exposed. Otherwise, the consequence would be worse.

"Don't worry, I'll try my best to solve it."

Lance pursed his lips with some resistance.

Must he ask that person for help?

So far, it was the best solution.

"Mr. Hamm, can I leave now? Are there many people outside?"

"This is a high-end residential area. Security is fine. No one can come in. Wait a moment, we will be able to leave soon."

Lance turned around and had a phone call.

After a while, Lance took Krista to the underground garage.

There was a luxury car with flashing lights.

"Lance!"

Wearing punk clothes, a man with earrings got out of the car. He was good-looking.

He said hello to Lance excitedly.

Lance was disgusted and frowned fiercely.

He opened the door and let Krista sit in the back.

Krista noticed that there was a glass shield between the front and rear seats.

"These windows are all one-way glass. People outside can't see anything inside. It's safe to sit in the back."

People would know Lance's car. It was difficult to drive it. So he must ask someone for help.

"Hello, look at me! Hello, cutie. My name is Ryan Lamb. You can call me Ryan!"

"Don't be disgusting. Drive away."

"Lance, I'm so sad!"

"Are you Mr. Hamm's good friend?"

Krista was curious.

Ryan was about to say yes, but Lance answered coldly.

"No."

Ryan was grieved. But soon he smiled playfully, "Alright, let's leave here. There's some food in the back. Help yourself."

Then Ryan drove away.

Seeing a lot of reporters standing at the gate, Krista was scared.

"Mr. Hamm, where are we going now?" She asked nervously.

"Just now, I helped check the place you live. There are also many people. I'm afraid you cannot go back. Lance has booked a hidden hotel. You can stay there temporarily. It's safer."

"In these two days, you don't have to worry about anything. Lance will deal with it."

Krista nodded.

Soon, she was sent to a luxurious family-style hotel. The landlady was very kind, making Krista feel at home.

Lance was about to take a taxi to leave when Ryan stopped him.

"Let me drive you back."

"Don't bother."

Lance replied indifferently.

Ryan felt a little helpless, "Get in the car, you can't handle this matter yourself. You don't have to get angry with me. Just do it for your sweetheart."

Ryan was smart. Lance was unwilling to ask him for help, and hoped they could never contact with each other.

But today, Lance had contacted Ryan, just for solving this matter as soon as possible.

It was obvious that Lance cared about Krista very much.

On the way here, Ryan had found that Krista was Lance's student. The relationship between teacher and student was trendy

Lance hesitated before getting in.

Looking at Lance awkwardly through the rear-view mirror, Ryan wanted to say something, but Lance spoke.

"You know that I don't like what you say. So shut up."

"Oh—"

Ryan sighed in disappointment. And they fell silent.

Chapter 138 Voluntary Separation

In the hospital

Sandra came with Kingston. She saw the news and cried out astonishingly.

"What's wrong?"

Kingston just finished the group's affairs. He had never been interested in the gossip news online, so he didn't know what had happened.

Sandra hurriedly handed Kingston the phone. A black title caught his sight, then he frowned and felt unpleasant.

He knew that Kristal liked Lance.

However, Kristal was always a conservative and shy girl in his mind. Lance and her love should have proceeded more slowly due to many scruples caused by the relationship between teachers and students.

But he never expected that their romance blossomed so fast that Kristal and Lance had been living together.

Perhaps, he didn't notice that they had been in love for a long time.

His heart sank and the thought nearly took his breath away.

Sandra grasped the opportunity and overstated.

"Lance is a design major. They must have a lot of common topics to talk about. So, it is not surprising at all that they're in love. Besides, Ms. Compton is a college student now. People online make a big fuss about the love between teachers and students. I think they're perfect!"

"Kingston, how nice! Both Ms. Compton and you find true love. You don't have to feel guilty about her anymore. She's very happy now, isn't she?"

"I'm busy. Please get out."

Sandra noticed that he was in a bad mood but not angry.

Now, it was enough to make him completely disgust with Kristal.

Sandra left with a self-satisfied grin.

She asked Vivian to seek media exaggeration to make it out of control.

This matter also startled the president and other senior managers. They even held a meeting to deal with it.

"It is alright that others do that, why Mr. Hamm?" The president felt awkward.

If so, they would just be expelled from the university together, but no one dared to do that because of Lance's special status.

"So it is. Just turn a blind eye. Getting married to teachers during the university in this age is normal. It happened before in D University."

"So it is. Just pretend nothing has happened."

"But the journalists outside obviously insist on this matter and even the TV station is reporting. It has affected our university a lot..."

Just as everyone was worried, Lance knocked at the door and entered unexpectedly.

“Sorry to interrupt your meeting. I know that all of you worry about my trouble. I have a solution.”

“What can you do?”

“I will quit my job voluntarily, but the university need to prove that I quitted last semester. It is because I haven’t finished my open courses that I’m obliged to work for the university. We terminated the contract a month ago.”

“Do you really need to leave, Mr. Hamm? It’s not a big deal... There is someone should be expelled but not you. Many design majors like your class.”

“She can’t be expelled from the university!”

Lance suddenly spoke more harshly, and they immediately shut up.

“Please issue the proof that we are not in love with each other.”

The president nodded and gave him the proof soon. He dated it the end of June.

Then Lance posted the certificate of resignation which showed that he had left his job by the end of June. The reason why he was still teaching at D University was that he was invited by the university. He worked for free willingly.

He didn’t sign any service contracts. He only taught for free.

As for the matter with Kristal, he took her home just because she wasn’t feeling well.

Due to his post, things finally calmed down a little.

Lance expected it to subside, but things started to get worse soon.

Some media online aggressively questioned the relationship between him and Kristal.

Chapter 139 Make a Decision Without Permission

With so many students, wasn’t there anything wrong with them? Why was Krista the only one who received preferential treatment?

Living together alone, it was difficult to explain.

Even though Lance repeatedly admitted that nothing happened, no one believed it.

Netizens thought that a lot of ambiguous things had happened to them.

[Mr. Hamm, do you like Krista?]

[You like this student, aren't you?]

[If you don't like her, it must be Krista who is shameless and wants to seduce you.]

Lance saw these public comments.

He was silent for a long time and decided to record a video.

"For my own reasons, it has attracted a lot of media attention. I originally didn't want to announce my relationship, but now everyone is paying much attention. Let me explain it."

"Krista and I are currently dating. It happened after I resign. There was no so-called seduction of teachers to get credits. I am just a guest professor. Her credits have nothing to do with me."

"Please stop blaming. We are just in a normal and free relationship. There seems to be no law that doesn't allow the girlfriend to stay at her boyfriend's house, right? I hope that you will stop blaming her on the Internet. I was the one who pursue and fall in love to Krista first. She did nothing wrong. She was just liked."

After this video was released, many people on social media are talking about it.

At first, they were all criticizing and slandering, but after the video was released, everyone was happy.

Lance's words were extremely affectionate, with his strong determination to protect his girl.

Especially the last sentence.

"I was the one who pursue and fall in love to Krista first. She did nothing wrong. She was just liked."

It was Lance who took the initiative in everything, and Krista was not wrong.

The public opinion instantly changed. Countless people were jealous of Krista for having such a good boyfriend.

Krista hid in the hotel and was at a loss when reading the news.

Actually, she understood that Mr. Hamm was trying to protect her.

'I can't do anything about it. There's no way to explain why they live together. No matter how to explain, will anyone believe me?'

'Rather than constantly explaining, it would be better to admit that we were in love, so everything made sense.'

However, what she cared more was that Mr. Hamm had resigned.

Although the date of public employment separation certificate was June, she felt that it was written before recording the video and he left school for her.

She was blaming herself.

In a short day, Krista had experienced from being scolded by countless people at the beginning, acknowledged and even blessed in the end.

Netizens became less aggressive. In addition, the university explained it. The disturbance had gradually subsided.

She was safe at that time.

Aracely was worried about her living alone and decided to take her to Aracely's house.

Along with Lance.

"Mr. Hamm..."

The moment she saw him, she was moved.

"I'm sorry, Krista." He looked at her gently and wiped away her tears. "It's my fault for making the decision without your permission," he said.

Hearing this, Krista felt even more uncomfortable.

She shook her head desperately, tears rolling down her cheeks.

She knew that Lance only had good intentions.

However, he paid a lot.

"Sorry, it's my fault..."

She had a lump in her throat.

Chapter 140 Does Mr. Hamm Like Krista?

"I wanted to resign long ago. My studio is taking off. I should focus on my own career. Giving classes took up too much time."

"So, you don't need to feel sorry. But shall we claim to be boyfriend and girlfriend?"

Lance asked cautiously.

He didn't know when he started to be afraid of losing Krista.

Since Lance knew that Krista liked him, he became interested in her.

Krista was charming and attracted Lance to know more about her.

The more Lance knew about her, the sorrier he felt.

Krista was weak but she pretended to be strong.

She was sincere to others, but always got bullied.

Krista put up with all the suffering herself.

Then he fell in love with Krista.

Lance wanted to join Krista and share her pain. So Krista could live a more relaxed and happier life.

Krista cried so bitterly that she could not say a word. So Aracely answered instead. "Of course. You did this to protect Krista. I can't thank you enough, Mr. Hamm."

Aracely said, "Let's go back first."

Lance drove them to Aracely's home.

"Take good care of Krista." Lance said to Aracely.

"No problem."

Aracely helped Krista to the elevator and handed her the key. "You go up first. I forgot to buy something. I'll be back soon."

Krista nodded and left.

Aracely quickly ran to the entrance of the community and saw Lance's car. He hadn't left yet.

"Mr. Hamm?"

Aracely stepped forward and called him.

"I'm not a teacher anymore. Call me Lance."

"It's better to call you Mr. Hamm. Thank you for everything you did for Krista. But I still want to ask. Why did you do so much for her?"

Aracely looked straight into Lance's eyes.

She was observant, wise and shrewd.

Lance felt as if he was seen through by Aracely.

He raised his eyebrows and said, "What do you mean?"

"Do you like Krista?"

"Yes, I do.

"I can see that. If you don't like Krista, you won't try hard to help her. But do you know Krista? She seems to be innocent, but actually she worries about many things. Sometimes she can even cheat herself."

"Are you saying that she is pregnant?"

"It seems that you already know it. Krista does have a child and is going to give birth. She is actually slow in emotions. It takes Krista long to know that she likes someone. She always thinks more about others than herself. She doesn't want others to get hurt, even if she will be hurt.

"It's hard to fall in love with such a person. She won't be aware of all your effort. Krista will only regard what you've done today as a stopgap and won't think further."

Aracely was smart and saw Lance through.

Aracely was worried that Lance would be sad. After all, Krista was slow.

Aracely even found Lance better than Kingston.

It would be better if Krista's boyfriend was good at expressing himself. After all, if Krista and her boyfriend were all slow in emotion, there wouldn't be any fun.

Aracely was also worried that Lance would care about Krista's baby. If so, Lance had better give up at once. Aracely could protect Krista well herself.

If Lance didn't care and like the baby as well. Aracely would be glad to fix them up.

"I understand."

"Really?"

Did Lance know that Krista liked Kingston?
