

Found Pregnant After Divorce by Emiissmx Chapter 14

Chapter 14 Malicious Speculation

"What do you mean?"

"That was the situation at that time. I was standing in your position. The tip of the scissors was pointing at me from beginning to end. Even if one was injured, I would most likely to be the victim."

"You mean she purposely changed position and stabbed herself?" He asked coldly.

"I won't maliciously speculate on anyone, but I also don't want others to do the same to me!"

That was why she was here.

"If you suspect that I stole the scissors and stabbed her, you can ask everyone in the old mansion."

"They are all your Grandma's people. Do you think I will believe them?"

"Even so, you still don't want to believe me?"

She had done so much and even not hesitated to hurt herself, but he actually thought that she intentionally hurt Sandra.

At that moment, for some reason, Krista felt very uncomfortable in her heart.

She didn't know why, but she didn't want Kingston to misunderstand her.

She hadn't caused him any trouble for a year, and their divorce was quick. Even if she was pregnant, it was her business, and it had nothing to do with him.

If he really found a girl he liked, she would sincerely bless him.

She truly did not wish to fall out with him.

However, everything she had done was in vain.

"That's right. It doesn't matter to me whether you believe me or not. It doesn't matter if you misunderstand me or not. We won't have any contact in the future. Just treat me as the murderer."

She threw the scissors on the ground with disappointment. There was still her blood on it.

She covered her wounds and turned to leave.

Kingston looked at her leaving disappointedly and frowned fiercely. His voice was slightly hoarse.

“Have a doctor treat your wound.”

“No need.”

She said without turning her head.

He stood on the balcony on the second floor and watched her stumble away. The petite woman disappeared at the end of the road.

Only when he couldn't see her did he retract his gaze, and he felt suffocating as if he was pressed down by a boulder.

Should he trust Krista?

This year, although she was sent by Brittany, she behaved herself was not annoying at all.

If Krista didn't want to get divorced, she could just use Brittany as an intimidation, and she didn't need to get a divorce certificate and complain in front of Brittany.

However, if Krista didn't do it on purpose, how would she explain it?

Accident?

Or was it done by Sandra?

Kingston bent down and picked up the scissors, which were stained with her blood.

It hadn't dried up and was still warm.

For the first time, he looked at the woman on the bed with a complicated expression.

This was the girl he had been looking for three months.

Sandra was pregnant with his baby, and he was determined to give her a title.

Perhaps, it was just an accident.

He shouldn't have maliciously speculated on anyone!

Halfway through Krista's journey, Wyatt's car came over, and even Brittany. "Grandma..."

Krista called out and she could no longer hold on.

Brittany got out of the car and caught Krista. Her heart ached so much and she helped her into the car. "How can you get yourself like this?"

She covered Krista's arm in heartache, her eyes slightly moist.

All these years, she had always seen Krista as her own granddaughter, Unfortunately, she was old and in poor health, and she couldn't worry too much. Otherwise, she would definitely take good care of this girl.

"Wyatt, drive to his place. I will ask him for an explanation. He actually hurt Krista because of a bitch!"

Brittany was furious.

"No!" Krista immediately stopped her. She was anxious to ask Wyatt to go back and tore the wound. Blood oozed out again, and she gasped in pain.

"Grandma, don't. There's nothing to say about this. We've divorced."

"With me here, this marriage can't be broken as you wish!"

Brittany was serious.