Chapter 151 Sandra Is Provoked

“Quincy, I’m Kingston’s fiancée. I’m also your boss. Is this your attitude towards me?”

“I only have one boss, Mr. Irwin. He doesn’t like to be disturbed at work. Ms. Hardin, what if you go over and annoy him? It’s for your good not to let you go.”

“You...”

Sandra was provoked.

She slammed the door and her chest was heaving.

She paced back and forth in the room. Her mind was in turmoil.

Kingston also dealt with his matters and walked towards the upstairs lounge.

He was a little hot and winded. His mouth was dry.

Right at this moment, a weak voice came from a room.

“I see. Mr. Hamm, thank you for your concern. Don’t worry. Everything is fine.”

“Is the studio going well? Don’t be too busy. Take care of yourself.”

Krista reminded Lance.

Lance quit his job as a teacher because of her.

Therefore, Krista cared about him very much when they chatted. She hoped that she could make amends.

“It’s getting late, Mr. Hamm. You should rest early.”

Krista also felt sleepy and yawned.

“Yes, you should also rest early. Good night.”

Lance’s voice sounded gentle.

Krista hung up the phone and prepared to wash up her clothes. When she turned around, she was suddenly caught in an embrace.

She bumped her nose into that man's chest. She couldn't help but frown.

"It hurts!"

"Are you on the phone with Lance?"

"Kingston? How did you get in?"

She was a little surprised. Did she forget to lock the door? She was too careless!

"Answer me."

He said word by word. His voice was husky and carried a hint of anger. But Krista did not notice it.

"Is anything the matter? Can't I call Mr. Hamm?" She frowned, feeling that he was a little strange.

Hearing this, Kingston lost his mind.

He was lost in lust.

He approached Krista and forced her to a corner, his arms against the wall.

Krista was trapped by Kingston and couldn't do anything.

Kingston's eyes were red, and they were filled with lust. He went crazy.

Krista was reflected in his eyes, like a flatboat that could be shattered by the tide at any moment.

She panicked.

Her hands pressed against his chest, but she couldn't stop him from approaching.

"Kingston, calm down!"

Kingston heard her voice and regained his rationality. He seemed to realize something.

He wanted to distance himself. At this moment, Krista's phone rang.

It was Lance.

Krista wanted to answer the phone, but Kingston grabbed her wrist and pressed her into his arms.

Before Krista could speak a word, Kingston kissed her on her lips.

He crazily kissed her. He was out of control.

His rationality vanished.

“No...”

Krista struggled to make a sound. She felt desperate.

Why was it so?

She was thrown on the bed the next second.

She reacted and covered her stomach.

Was the child alright?

Kingston pressed down on her, tore her clothes, and kissed her lips.

He was like a traveler, tired, depressed, and lonely. It seemed that he suddenly found an outlet. He wanted to give vent to all those feelings.

Chapter 152 How Are Things Going between You?

Her body was warm. Her light fragrant smell enveloped him. It even smelt somewhat familiar.

He grabbed her arm and felt the delicate skin beneath her palm.

This feeling was also familiar.

He was a little absent-minded. He remembered that night.

He remembered Sandra.

He couldn't let her down.

He frowned and his eyes were filled with pain.

He tried to struggle against his lust.

At this point, Krista used all her strength to push him away. She wanted to leave as soon as possible.

However, when she got out of bed, she accidentally sprained her foot and felt a sharp pain.

She wanted to stand up again, but her ankle hurt so badly. She couldn't use any strength.

She lay on the ground and moved very slowly.

Her target was the door.

She wanted to leave here.

"Are you afraid of me?"

Kingston's voice was extremely hoarse.

"Don't come over. You would marry Sandra. I also have been with Lance."

That night was a mistake. She didn't regret it. But if time flew back, she would never do it again.

"You don't have to wait for graduation. You could be with him now, right?"

"Yes. We have been together. Don't touch me. Stop, please!"

"What if I don't stop?"

His eyes were as dark as ink. No one knew what he was thinking. It seemed that he was suppressing his emotions.

He wanted to stop before.

But the more she mentioned Lance, the angrier he became.

"When did you like Lance?"

He approached Krista. Krista kept crawling backward.

Her eyes were filled with panic.

She was afraid of him.

"Why do you ask this?"

"Answer me."

He crouched down and grabbed her ankle. She couldn't move instantly.

He forcefully pulled her back.

He pressed her on the bed and said in a hoarse voice, "I order you to answer me!"

"You liked Lance before we got divorced. You want to divorce me because of him, right?"

"Our marriage prevented you from being with your lover, right?"

He wanted to know when she fell in love with Lance.

Was it before he slept with Sandra?

Was she the one who betrayed their marriage first?

He didn't know why he cared about this so much.

The die was cast.

However, he couldn't help but ask.

He wanted to know.

"I..."

She stammered. After all, she didn't get together with Lance.

"How are things going between you? What happened the night you were together?"

"Did he kiss you?"

His finger gently covered her lips. He just kissed her. It was slightly swollen and looked very attractive.

He knew the softness of her lips. Did Lance kiss it before?

He felt he was crazy.

He didn't know what he was doing.

What he was doing now was immoral.

But it wasn't against his heart.

Reason let him stop.

But he wanted to follow his heart.

"I don't understand what you're saying!" Krista shouted angrily.

"Did you sleep with him?"

"Kingston, do you think you have the right to ask this? Did you sleep with Sandra?"

She said angrily.

If he didn't sleep with her, where did their child come from?

He cheated first. Why did he act like she had committed a heinous crime?

Chapter 153 It Is Not My Own Accord

"It was not my own accord."

His eyes were deep. He didn't want to talk about that night. It was because of his respect for Sandra. He didn't want Krista to know how awkward he was that night either.

"I was also involuntary."

She looked at him with red eyes.

In this world, how could everything go well? Most people couldn't master their fate.

Kingston narrowed his eyes slightly.

He didn't say a word, his expression complicated.

"Let go of me. Kingston, remember your identity. Please respect yourself."

Before she could finish her sentence, Kingston bent down and kissed her.

His lust grew stronger.

The surge of lust almost devoured him.

He was going to hell.

He wanted to drag Krista to hell.

Let the consequences go to hell.

Let the responsibility go to hell.

At this moment, he only wanted Krista.

He tore up Krista's clothes.

Krista protected her stomach tightly.

Wearing loose clothes, she could hide her swollen belly.

But now that her clothes were all torn off. Kingston could see her swollen belly.

Sandra was also pregnant. Kingston knew what this meant.

Sandra was thin and small and her swollen belly was obvious.

There was no doubt that she was pregnant.

Kingston was stunned.

The lust in his eyes was replaced by shock.

"Are you pregnant?"

His eyes were deep. He looked terrifying.

He clenched his fists and the veins on the back of his hand jumped violently.

Krista's heart was about to jump out of her throat.

She hid it for so long, but he finally knew it.

She remembered Vivian's words. Her younger brother was in their hands.

She couldn't let Kingston know this child was his!

"Kingston, we're divorced! What I do has nothing to do with you! Let me go!"

She shouted angrily.

"Whose child is it? Tell me!"

"It's..." She gritted her teeth. She couldn't think of a better man than Lance. "It's Lance's!"

Sure enough.

Anger completely drowned him, and he didn't have the slightest bit of reason.

He was like a wild beast that would tear her apart.

His movements were also extremely rude and tyrannical.

"No, no!"

She looked flustered and terrified.

"Please, Kingston, please let me go. Do you remember that you owe me a request? I ask you to let me and my child go."

She shouted.

She moderated Brittany and Nataly's relationship. He promised that he owed her a favor.

He was Kingston. He would keep his word.

"Please, Kingston. I have never begged you. I beg you this time."

Her tears kept falling and wet her hair.

She cried and begged him to let her go again and again.

Kingston was shocked by her cry.

He smashed heavily onto the bed board.

Some sharp wood chips pierced into his skin.

The sharp pain calmed him down.

However, he felt more pain in his heart. It hurt like the dense needles stabbed him in his heart.

She had Lance's child.

Why was he in so much pain?

"You..."

Chapter 154 What Am I Living For?

He restored calm, and his eyes was dark and deep, without any light in it.

He stood up by the bed.

His face looks chiseled as his jaw tightened.

His entire face clouded over with anger, as if he just came from the hell.

She curled up in fear and dragged the quilt over her naked body.

She looked at him, trembling with fear.

She didn't know what will happen next.

Kingston gave her a meaningful look.

This look was terribly complicated."

Kingston turned and left. Only when the door was closed did she release herself.

She held herself tightly and couldn't help crying loudly.

Not long after Kingston came out, Quincy found him.

"Sir?"

Quincy looked at him in surprise. It's the first time he's seen Kingston like this.

He lowered his head in deep desperation, as if he had suffered a great setback.

His hand was still bleeding.

"Sir, you got hurt? Who did it?"

“Why are you here?”

He asked indifferently.

“Ms. Hardin said that she had a stomachache. Concerning that it’s about the child, I have no choice but to disturb you. I went to the conference room but you weren’t there...”

“I’ll sleep alone tonight and let her have a good rest.”

“Sir...”

Quincy wanted to say something but he finally held himself in.

‘What exactly had him gone through?’

After Sandra heard the message passing by Quincy, she was fumed with anger.

The opportunity that she had been looking forward had just slipped away.

Where was Kingston?!

She was so anxious that she couldn’t let another woman get in her way.

When Quincy went to Kingston’s residence, he was a little worried.

He knocked on the door and no one answered. After realizing that the door was unlocked, he pushed and walked in.

There was no light in the room, the curtains were drawn, and the moonlight upon the sea shone in.

He saw Kingston standing alone in front of the window, his figure appeared lonely.

He had never seen Kingston like this before.

He had always suppressed his preferences, never being himself, and always behaved in a proper manner.

In business, he was aggressive and confident.

But in life.

He was the only son of the Irwin family.

He had no right to get sick, to reveal a preference, or to show his willfulness.

He never took a wrong step, because he knew that he bore a lot of duties.

His daily life was tedious, but he braced himself every day.

But this time, he felt that the previous Kingston had died.

The current one ... Was slowly sinking.

Kingston noticed someone behind him and asked indifferently, "Quincy, amla boring person?"

"Sir..."

"You told me that Sandra is different from what I thought, and how unusual Krista is. I know all that but I can't make even one mistake. I always go against my will because of my responsibility."

"Life comes only once. If I am unhappy in my whole life, what am I living for?"

"Sir...What happened?"

"Nothing much. I just suddenly realized something."

He closed his eyes heavily and confronted his inner heart for the first time.

He loves Krista.

After the divorce, he couldn't help falling in love with her.

Even if the rules and responsibilities kept reminding him not to do anything wrong.

Reason kept him away from Krista.

However, there was an inner voice that kept reminding him.

To get close to her

To love her.

To have her.

It's just that some of the mistakes were there from the beginning.

He was destined not to get Krista, both of them had their own lives.

However, he couldn't convince himself to accept the fate.

Chapter 155 Escape Overnight

Quincy felt that Kingston had changed.

But as for what had changed, he could not say for a moment.

"Drink?"

Suddenly, Kingston said with a deep and hoarse voice, as if he wanted to vent something.

Quincy did not refuse.

Soon, the waiter brought over some wine. Kingston drank one cup after another. The wound on his hand had not been treated and had already scabbed. It was very shocking.

Quincy didn't dare to speak and drank with him.

However, the more Kingston wanted to get drunk, the sober he became.

He wanted to numb himself with alcohol, but the result was not satisfactory.

"What kind of wine is this?"

He was suddenly enraged and swept the wine bottles off the table.

The bottles shattered on the ground, making a crisp sound.

Quincy was shocked and wanted to say something, but his intuition told him not to interrupt.

Now Kingston was crushed and in a mess.

"Why can't I even get drunk...?"

He closed his eyes painfully with his jaw tightened.

“Quincy, clean it up and go out.”

“Sir, are you alright?”

“I’m fine.”

He pinched his eyebrows and frowned.

Kingston, who had never lost his composure and always remembered his identity, was in a total mess today.

Quincy quickly cleaned up the mess on the ground, then he closed the door and left.

He was worried and thought again and again before finally deciding to see Krista.

Krista opened the door and was surprised to see Quincy.

“What’s wrong, Quincy?”

“Ms. Compton, Mr. Irwin is not well. Can you go and see him?”

When she heard this, her eyes flickered.

Quincy noticed that. He slightly frowned. Could it be that Krista had something to do with it?

“Mr. Irwin’s hand is injured. Do you know?” He asked.

“Did he bandage it?”

“What’s wrong with you?”

“Nothing... nothing...”

Her voice trembled, “I can’t help him. You should go to Sandra.”

She slammed the door shut.

Quincy frowned outside the door.

Krista was very scared that Kingston would get her in trouble.

She didn’t know how to deal with Sandra. She had promised Vivian that she wouldn’t let Kingston know about the child, but now he had already known that.

She was afraid that one day the lie would be exposed. Then her brother would be gone, as well as her child.

She was scared!

Krista told Wyatt that she was not feeling well and wanted to go back to the shore.

Wyatt was also very worried when he saw that her face was pale and her body was trembling.

"I'll arrange a speedboat to send you away immediately. I'm going to call the city hospital and arrange for you..."

"No need, Wyatt. Right now I just want to leave this place."

She said in a broken voice.

Wyatt did not stop her, "I will explain to Brittany."

"Thank you, Wyatt. Please take care of Brittany."

Krista left with Aracely.

"What should I do... What should I do..."

She was bewildered and nervously grabbed Aracely's hand.

"Krista, don't be so scared now. Vivian won't do anything to your brother. As long as you insist that this child isn't Kingston's, it won't affect them in the slightest."

"Besides, you said that this child was Mr. Hamm's. You were cheating on him. He is also in the wrong!"

"I must tell Mr. Hamm about this. After all, it relates to his reputation."

"Re... really? Won't Vivian bully my brother? Won't Kingston do anything to the child? But at that time, there was something very complicated in his eyes. Did he want me to abort my child?"

"No, you're too nervous. Don't scare yourself."

Aracely patted her back to relax her.

The two relatives she cared about the most were both in danger. No wonder she was so scared and uneasy.

However, Aracely did not understand why Kingston was so angry.

Even if the child was not his, how could Kingston be so angry?

He cheated Krista first.

Kingston's reaction was somewhat confusing.

They soon got ashore and Aracely drove to her house.

Krista fell asleep in the back seat of the car. When they arrived, Aracely woke her up and found that her body was hot.

Was she sick?

Aracely touched Krista's forehead. It was so hot.

Her heart trembled and hurriedly drove to the hospital.

At this moment, Krista's phone rang. It was Lance.

He had been calling Krista tonight, but Krista didn't answer. He was a little worried.

At first, Kingston didn't let her take it. Afterward, her mind was in a mess and she didn't know how to explain to Lance, so she didn't answer the phone.

Aracely answered.

"Krista, are you alright? I'm worried about you."

"Mr. Hamm, this is Aracely."

"Is Krista with you?"

"We are in the city now. Krista has a bad fever. I'm taking her to the hospital."

"What? I'll be right there."

"OK. See you at the hospital."

Krista had a high fever because of the fear. Moreover, her body was weak because of pregnancy. She was now hospitalized.

Fortunately, it was not a big issue and wouldn't affect her baby and her.

"How could this be?"

Lance frowned.

Aracely didn't hide anything. She told Lance all about their marriage and divorce. But she didn't tell him that Krista liked Kingston.

She hoped that Krista could be with Lance.

"He's angry? Why was he angry? Didn't he cheat first and leave Krista in City D for a year? Krista suffered so much because of his indifference!"

"Krista said that this child is mine. I admit that. I'm willing to take care of Krista and this child."

"Mr. Hamm, do you not mind this child?"

"Love what you love. Have you heard of it?"

He said softly, sitting by the bed and guarding Krista.

The cruise ship arrived at the island the next morning, Kingston discovered that Krista had disappeared. After further questioning, he was told that Krista had left in a speedboat overnight.

He frowned when he heard the news.

Was this fleeing?

"Sir, the city hospital has Ms. Compton's latest hospitalization record. She seems to have a high fever."

"Is she sick?"

"Perhaps she caught a cold when she left."

Kingston's heart trembled.

He got up, took his coat, and asked Quincy to prepare the speedboat.

"Where are you going?"

"The hospital."

The speedboat was arranged very quickly. When he was about to leave, a loud shout came from behind him.

"Stop."

Nataly looked at him angrily.

"Where are you going? Your grandmother is still celebrating her eightieth birthday."

"Her birthday is yesterday. It's over. I have to go to the city to deal with something."

"I hear your conversation with Quincy. You want to find Krista, right? You can't vacillate between these two women anymore. Sandra is your fiancée. Krista also has her boyfriend. Why are you still going?"

"She is now a member of the Irwin family. She is my younger sister. Can't I go see my sister?"

After that, Kingston left without turning back.

"Come back, Kingston!"

Nataly was anxious, but no matter how she shouted, Kingston did not look back.

Sandra looked all over the island and did not see Kingston. She felt a little suspicious.

She asked Nataly.

"He's back in the group. You know, he doesn't care about anything when he was busy." "Really? This is such an important day. What if Brittany gets angry?"

"It's fine. Don't worry about it. Pay more attention to your body. I'll accompany you."

Nataly felt a little guilty, so she was exceptionally gentle.

Sandra was not surprised by this answer. Kingston was indeed such a person.

Although she did not win Kingston's heart, it was good that Nataly stood by her.

In the hospital.

Lance and the doctor were talking in the corridor, afraid of disturbing Krista.

“Doctor, her fever has gone. Why hasn’t she woken up?”

“It depends on people’s physique. Don’t worry too much. It’s because that her body is weak. After all, she is pregnant.”

“Then I’ll wait.”

Even after hearing the doctor’s words, he was still uneasy.

At this moment, the elevator door opened and Kingston walked out.

Their gaze met, and the air seemed to be frozen.

“Kingston?”

Lance frowned. He didn’t understand why he came here. If it wasn’t for him, Krista wouldn’t be in the hospital.

“What are you doing here?”

“Why can’t I come? I’m her ex-husband, and now I’m her brother.”

Kingston narrowed his eyes and said unkindly.

He looked at Lance coldly with some displeasure.

His fist was hidden in his sleeve, and he couldn’t help but clench it tightly.

“You...”

Lance could say nothing.

It was inappropriate for him to see her as her ex-husband. But Krista was also his sister.

“Move over.”

He stepped forward and said coldly.

“No, I won’t let you near Krista! I’m her boyfriend. I could take care of her!”

“Is the child yours?”

“It’s mine. I will take responsibility and won’t cheat her forever. I hope you could stay away from Krista and not hurt her again!”

Lance straightened his back and looked at Kingston without any fear.

His aura was far less formidable than Kingston's. Kingston had experienced countless tricks and schemes in the business. The ordinary people couldn't compare to him.

Lance's life was very peaceful and smooth. He was an outstanding person in the design world and seldom encountered setbacks.

But even so, Lance did not yield a step at all.

"You have no right to accuse me. Don't be too arrogant. Krista is my sister. You want to marry her, but my family may not be willing to marry her to you."

"What do you mean?"

Lance frowned tightly and was a little angry.

"Couldn't Krista decide her marriage?"

"Yes. She has to get my permission if she wants to do something. Other people do not qualify!"

After saying that, he ignored Lance and entered the ward.

Lance wanted to stop him, but Kingston did not look back. He said indifferently, "Quincy, if you let others in, you can resign now."

Before he could finish speaking, Quincy hurriedly stopped Lance.

Facing Quincy, Lance could do nothing.

Aracely couldn't stand him and blocked the door with her body. This upset Kingston.

"You dare stop me?" He asked coldly.

Chapter 158 He Regretted It

This was the first time Aracely had felt Kingston's terrifying aura at close range. He wasn't so terrifying before. Kingston was so terrifying now and looked like a trapped beast.

"Krista doesn't want to see you now."

"It's not up to you. Brittany has a good relationship with your family. You are also her best friend. I won't hurt you. Get out of the way!"

"Don't badger her anymore. You are divorced. You have Sandra. Krista has also found someone she likes. Isn't this the best ending?"

When Kingston heard this, he frowned and his eyes narrowed slightly.

His icy gaze was so terrifying.

He didn't waste any time talking to Aracely. He grabbed her collar, pulled her aside, and easily entered.

Then he locked the door. No one outside could enter.

He entered the ward and his terrifying aura instantly subsided.

He looked not cruel anymore and gently looked at Krista.

He never regretted what he did ever since he was a child. He had always felt that he should shoulder his responsibilities, even if he had to suppress his nature.

But now, he regretted it.

Why did he leave a year ago?

Why not try to get in touch with Krista then? Since he loved her, why didn't he cherish her from the beginning? Now, he had reached a dead end.

He had no chance.

But he could no longer deceive himself now. He loved her.

He had no reason now. He only wanted Krista.

The closer he got to Krista, the heavier his legs became.

He stood in front of the bed and looked at her pale face. His heart ached fiercely.

Her hair was a little messy. He stretched out his fingers and wanted to fix her hair. But then he stopped.

He couldn't do that. He was only her brother.

He knew why Brittany brought Krista into the Irwin family. She was not only to protect Krista but also to get angry with him.

Brittany probably never knew that he was so grateful to her now. She gave him the only chance to get close to Krista.

Otherwise, how could he stand beside her?

Aracely was so anxious. She could only look from the window.

She was worried about what Kingston would do to Krista, but what was strange was that Kingston only sat by the bed and looked at Krista quietly.

His body was stiff as if he was suppressing something.

Aracely could only see his back. She didn't know what his expression was at this moment.

What happened to Kingston?

Krista had a long dream. She dreamed of the day when she got her marriage license with Kingston.

When she was very young, she knew that they were engaged. She kept telling herself that she could not fall in love with others. She could only love one person.

That person was handsome, tall, and powerful.

She waited the wedding day. When that day came, she was so happy. But there were no guests, weddings, and blessings.

There was just a car parking in front of her. The window rolled down. It was his cold face.

She got in the car and they went straight to the Civil Affairs Bureau.

She saw the staff stamp their marriage license.

They got their license and left the Civil Affairs Bureau. The sun was exceptionally dazzling.

It was already autumn, but it was still very hot. The day of the divorce was also very hot.

"A car will pick you up later."

"Am I not going with you?"

"I'm catching a plane."

"Airplane?"

She was anxious. She could only nervously grabbed his sleeve.

Chapter 159 I Don't Want You with Him

They just got married and got their marriage license.

“Where are you going?”

“A branch company has been set up abroad. Everything will start from scratch. I want to manage it.”

“It’s indeed more important. When are you coming back?”

She blinked her eyes and looked at him expectantly.

In that instant, she even thought about what she was going to cook and what clothes he was going to wear.

But the answer she got was so disappearing.

“I don’t know, maybe several years. Take good care of yourself. When you grow up, we’ll talk about the divorce.”

He gently pushed her hand away and left.

She realized that not both of them were happy when they got married at that time.

She was overjoyed, but Kingston was not happy at all.

They just got their marriage license. But divorce had been on his mind.

She always suppressed her feelings and said that she did not like him, but only she knew how much she loved him.

She loved Kingston, but Kingston didn’t know.

Everything was just her wishful thinking.

Her eyes were moist and then tears uncontrollably rolled down.

Kingston saw her tears. They were so hot as if they were dripping on his heart.

“Krista...”

He called her.

It was Kingston’s voice.

She thought that Kingston had returned. She looked at the long street, but there was nothing.

Kingston didn’t want him anymore.

Thinking of this, she felt so upset. She gradually regained consciousness and slowly opened her eyes.

His eyes were filled with tears.

She looked at the ceiling and smelled the disinfectant. Then she realized that she was in the hospital.

“My child...”

She immediately touched her belly.

The child was still here!

Before she could breathe a sigh of relief, she saw Kingston. She was so scared that she curled up and kept retreating. .

She escaped the needles on the back of her hand, and fresh blood flowed out.

He wanted to comfort her, but Krista said in fear, “Why are you here?”

She wanted to escape from him, so she left overnight.

Why did she see him again? Was he here to deal with himself or the child?

“Don’t you want to see me?”

“Kingston, please let me go, okay? This child has nothing to do with you. It’s my business. Please let us go, okay?”

Her voice trembled.

“Do you care about this child because the child was Lance’s?”

He lowered his eyes slightly to cover up the obscurity inside.

“Yes.” She stammered because she had no confidence.

"You are still a college student. You get pregnant before you get married and the child is your teacher's. What would outsiders think?"

"What do you want to do?"

She widened her eyes.

"I don't like Lance."

"Then?"

"I don't want you to be with him."

He said in a hoarse voice.

There was a voice in his head that kept screaming.

"Kingston, what you do is wrong. What qualifications do you have to demand Krista? You cheated on Krista in marriage, and Sandra got pregnant. Why do you separate Krista from Lance?"

"What's wrong with them? Kingston, you are selfish and crazy. This is not you!"

Such voices kept appearing in his mind.

His brain hurt as if it was going to crack..

He tried to endure it. Veins on his temples jumped violently, and cold sweat oozed out of his forehead.

He looked calm, but his heart was in a state of chaos.

Chapter 160 Be Obedient

"Why don't you want?"

She was stunned.

She didn't want to be with Lance. Lance didn't like her either. He cherished her talent and had helped her a lot.

In the future, she didn't want to drag him into endless trouble and damage his reputation.

Even if Kingston didn't say anything, she wouldn't be with Lance.

However, she didn't understand why he didn't want her with Lance.

Did Lance offend him?

"He is a teacher but he got you pregnant. He has lost his moral integrity! You are young and ignorant. You couldn't get his number."

"Also, every action you take and every word you say represent the Irwin family. The affair between you and Lance had caused an uproar. I don't want it to happen again because you're pregnant!"

"Krista, I didn't care about you in the past. Now I have to care about you."

"Lance is not that kind of person!"

She was anxious.

She always brought Lance into trouble before.

Now, even Kingston misunderstood him.

"He is a nice person. You misunderstand him. He is good to me."

Before she could finish her sentence, Kingston's cold eyes swept over, scaring her so much that the rest of her words were stuck in her throat.

"I'm not discussing with you. I'm ordering you not to be with Lance!"

"But he is the father of my child."

When Kingston heard this, he clenched his fists tightly. His fingernails were pressed hard against his skin.

He was her child's father.

His gaze fell on her belly.

She was dressed in a loose-fitting hospital uniform. He couldn't see her swollen belly at all. If he hadn't torn her clothes apart last night, he wouldn't know that she was pregnant.

He got Krista pregnant. Was this what a teacher should do?

“What are you doing?”

Looking at Kingston’s cold eyes, Krista covered her belly, “You promised me that you wouldn’t hurt my child!”

Her eyes were filled with fear.

He didn’t want her to be so afraid of him.

If she insisted on keeping the child, he would agree.

However, she couldn’t be with Lance.

She was now a member of the Irwin family, and he would take good care of her in the future.

“I won’t hurt your child, but you need to be obedient.”

“Kingston, you seem to have changed.”

He wouldn’t have been so aggressive in the past.

Right now, he was so terrifying. He looked like a ghost that came from hell.

“Answer me!”

His voice was harsh.

“OK.”

Even if Kingston didn’t stop her, she wouldn’t be with Lance.

Kingston heaved a sigh of relief when he heard her words.

It was good that she agreed.

“In the future, you are not allowed to contact him.”

“This...”

“Are there any problems? Do you want to lose your child, or do you want Lance to lose his reputation?”

“No! Don’t hurt Lance! I listen to you.”

She couldn't understand Kingston anymore.

He even threatened her. In the past, he never forced others to do anything. He never lost his mind.

But now...

Without seeing him for a night, he became a stranger.

He asked the doctor to transfer Krista to the VIP ward on the top floor. He arranged the best doctor for her, and he wouldn't let anyone else come in, especially Lance.
