Chapter 241 I Want To Marry You

When Kingston came in, Krista did not dare say a word.

He did not leave after putting the things down but walked towards her.

She swallowed her saliva and continued to retreat in fear.

“I ... I’m sorry. I didn’t do it on purpose. I don’t need you to save me. I won’t die. You were the one who locked me up. That’s why I came up with this idea. Don’t blame me.”

“Ouch.”

She tripped over the carpet and fell backward.

Fortunately, Kingston reacted quickly, grabbed her with his right hand, and held her tightly in his arms.

Krista kept struggling. But even if Kingston only used one arm, she couldn’t beat him.

Being held by him, she felt nervous and a little scared.

She seemed to resist intimate contact with him from the bottom of her heart.

She thought it was because of Lance. She was going to marry Lance, so it was improper to be held by another man. Even if she didn’t want to, she felt sorry for Lance.

She struggled but failed to get free. She was so angry that she stomped heavily on Kingston's foot.

She stomped so heavily, but Kingston seemed not to feel it and still held her.

His big hand moved from her waist to the back of her head.

The next second, Kingston kissed Krista.

She widened her eyes and looked at him incredulously.

She was so shocked that she didn't react.

When she recovered from shocks, it was too late for her to react.

Kingston didn't let her go.

It was a long kiss.

She felt humiliated.

She thought that he was crazy.

He was a crazy man.

She didn't know why he wanted her.

Four years ago, he proposed the divorce. But he said that he wanted to marry her now.

It was unreasonable. She couldn't understand him.

She felt angrier and hated him more. She directly bit him heavily.

She could smell the blood in his mouth.

Kingston felt pain and frowned. He froze for a while.

Just when Krista thought that she could escape, Kingston became crazier and continued his kiss as if he could not feel the pain.

There was more blood in his mouth.

In the end, Krista couldn't breathe and she flushed, so Kingston let go of her soft lips.

The moment he let her go, Krista immediately broke free and left him far away.

Her mouth was red and swollen because of his kiss.

She covered her mouth and stared at him.

She didn't cry but said angrily, "Kingston, what do you want?"

Kingston ignored her anger and wiped the corner of his mouth.

The pain in his tongue kept reminding him that he could not lose her again. If he lost her again, he would feel a hundred times more painful than this.

His thin lips were light pink, beautiful, and charming. Now they were stained with scarlet blood.

His cold aura added a bit of charm to it. He looked like the devil from hell.

He looked up with his dark eyes,

“I said I want to marry you.”

“It will never happen! I won’t marry you even if I die.”

“If you die, I promise that Aracely and her parents will die immediately after you.”

“You...”

Krista felt hopeless. It was worse than being suffocated by the sea.

Chapter 242 It Is Your Destiny and Doom

“Kingston, I don’t love you. Please let me go. You are good and rich. I am sure that you can have whatever you want. Just let me go. Haven’t we been doing well for the past four years?”

“Doing well?”

Kingston narrowed his eyes and wore a cold face.

His eyes seemed to be covered in ice.

In the past four years, he seemed to have lived a good life, but he felt sad and empty inside.

He didn’t feel happy at all.

He gave a smile and said, “Krista, you have to marry me. That’s your destiny and doom. I will not lose you again.”

“Stay here and don’t think about running away. Those servants made a mistake before. If they don’t take good care of you, they will die.”

After that, Kingston left without looking back.

After he left, Krista recovered from shocks and fell to the ground.

Her clothes were wet because of fear.

Kingston ... was terrifying.

Krista sat on the ground and planned to take a bath. She was cold from head to toe. She wanted to warm her body with hot water.

She suddenly saw a very nice snack box on the table. She went forward and opened it. Inside were all kinds of animal-shaped pastries. They looked very appetizing.

If it was in the past, she would have been very happy. But now...

She rushed to the balcony and saw Kingston walking downstairs. He was about to go out.

Her heart was filled with hatred. She threw the pastries to him, smashing right at his feet.

Those pastries were torn into pieces and looked extremely ugly.

Kingston stopped and looked up at Krista on the second floor.

seg

He took a deep look, ignored her, and strode away.

As he turned around, his face was pale and his throat was filled with blood, but he didn't show it to Krista.

When he got in the car, he coughed for a while.

Quincy saw this scene and knew that Kingston was ill.

“Mr. Irwin!” Quincy hurriedly cried out.

Kingston kept coughing.

He gradually became calm. He spread his hand and his palm was wet. He didn't know whether the blood was from his tongue or his lungs.

Quincy looked at Kingston worriedly. In the past four years, Kingston had been physically and mentally exhausted, and his liver functions had deteriorated. He had been taking the medicine to control it.

Even the doctor was surprised about Kingston's strong will. Other patients probably couldn't endure the great pain.

But Kingston acted as if nothing had happened.

“Mr. Irwin, the doctor said that you have to take care of yourself, or...”

“I know. It's different now. I will take good care of myself. Don't worry. I want to live a long life more than anyone else.”

Kingston wanted to live a long life because of Krista.

Phelan City.

Lance hadn't heard from Krista for two days. He was very worried and kept calling her, but no one answered.

Lance contacted Aracely, but she seemed to lie to him. She told him that Krista's phone was broken and Krista didn't contact him because she was busy with her family's affair.

On the first day, Lance believed Aracely's words.

But the second day, he still couldn't contact Krista. He thought that things didn't seem so simple.

He repeatedly asked Aracely to let Krista answer the phone, but Aracely stammered and couldn't give him a reasonable explanation.

"Where's Krista?" he questioned.

"... I'm sorry, Lance. Krista has been caught by Kingston for two days."

Chapter 243 Things That You Don't Want To

Happen Have Happened

"What? Why didn't you tell me in the first place? Why?"

"I'm sorry. I'm sorry..."

Aracely sobbed. She was selfish. She hoped that her parents would be safe.

She could only say sorry to Lance.

Lance didn't want to waste his time. He hung up the phone and got someone to book the earliest flight to City D. Just as he was about to leave, Ryan suddenly appeared at the door and blocked his way.

“Where do you want to go?”

“I am going to find Krista.”

“You can't leave now.”

Ryan stood in front of Lance. Lance was so angry that he grabbed Ryan's collar tightly, “What are you talking about?”

Ryan met Lance's furious eyes and calmly said, “I said, you can't leave now. The contract with the royal family has not been completely set. You, the person in charge, can't leave. They think highly of you, so you have to stay here.”

“At the very least, you need to stay for another ten days.”

“It's not happening. Do you know what will happen in the next ten days? What will that bastard Kingston do to Krista? My biggest fear is to let him know that Krista is alive. You want me to ignore it? That's impossible!”

“Lance, calm down. Your mother has always disliked Krista and stopped you from getting married. She will say yes after you can establish a long and stable cooperation with the royal family. You know that it is hard to deal with matters between your mother and your wife. Your protection and love for Krista will make your mother angry. Do you want Krista and your mother not to get along?”

“Ten days. After that, I won’t care what you want to do. If you miss this opportunity because of Krista and anger the royal family, your mother will be angry with Krista. You are impulsive and you are not helping her, but harming her.”

“And it’s too late for you to go now. Krista has already been taken away by Kingston. Maybe things that you don’t want to happen have happened. She was taken away two days ago, so what does it matter if you leave ten days later?”

Lance was angry.

He was angry about Ryan’s words. He hated Ryan by saying “Maybe things that you don’t want to happen have happened”.

And he hated Ryan’s words “She was taken away two days ago, so what does it matter if you leave ten days later?”

He couldn’t bear it any longer and heavily punched at Ryan, smashing his handsome face.

Ryan was hurt and there was blood in his mouth, which showed how heavy Lance’s fist was.

But Ryan looked like nothing had happened, He casually wiped the blood from the corner of his mouth and looked at Lance with raised eyebrows.

“Am I wrong? Lance?”

Lance clenched his fists and said angrily, “It won’t happen! Krista won’t do that!”

“I believe that Krista won’t, but the person she’s with is Kingston! I know that no matter what Krista becomes, you won’t dislike her. What’s the difference between bringing her back now and bringing her back ten days later? And she’s in City D, Kingston’s territory. You don’t have a perfect plan. How can you take her away?”

complete plan before you go. You are good at everything, but when it comes to Krista, you are not calm and easily get things wrong. You will ruin things someday because of Krista.”

“Shut up! If it weren’t for her, I would never have returned. I don’t care about anything in the Lamb family.”

Lance said angrily.

What was most painful to Lance was that he knew that Krista was suffering, but he could not save her.

Chapter 244 Hold Kingston

Lance had to admit that Ryan was right. If he went like this, Kingston wouldn’t let go of Krista.

Kingston was able to take her away at the airport. He did it on purpose.

Lance had to be fully prepared. The first and most important thing was to gain the support of the royal family so as to strengthen the Lamb family.

Kingston's took the greatest effort in the overseas market, and his largest branch was in Phelan City.

Lance determined that he would make Kingston pay the price!

Krista was like a walking corpse in the room.

She had walked everywhere in the villa and found that there was no chance to escape.

The workers came over and removed all the pipes that could be climbed outside. As soon as she went out to the courtyard, others would be alert, follow her, and watch her closely. They were afraid that she would run away again.

Krista was a little discouraged. She also realized that she did not see Kingston's son.

She remembered that Sandra had given birth to a boy.

"I have a question. Where is Kingston's son?" Krista asked a servant.

"He's with Mr. Irwin's parents."

Kingston's parents lived with Kingston's son. Krista thought that Kingston, with such a bad temper, was hard to raise a good child.

She explored the entire villa except for three places.

She didn't go to the top of the attic, Kingston's bedroom, and study.

She could freely go anywhere in the villa.

She stood in front of the bedroom and stopped.

She was not curious at all, but she held the doorknob and gently twisted it.

Inside, it was so dark.

It was huge and not lively at all.

It was in black, white, and gray.

The curtains were drawn down in the day. It wasn't like a place for people but for ghosts.

It was not messy at all but clean. There were no housecoats in the wardrobe. Most of them were suits.

It was minimalism.

It was!

Krista suddenly felt that Kingston was boring. He had not changed in this respect. He was always like this.

A boring person.

She heard the sound of a car horn downstairs. Kingston returned.

Her heart trembled. She wanted to leave, but she stopped.

She glanced at the knife in the fruit plate.

She wondered that she could threaten him to let her out when he was unprepared.

She seemed to have no other way now.

She gritted her teeth and grabbed the knife with trembling hands.

She didn't want to kill anyone. She didn't even want to hurt anyone. She only hoped that Kingston would let her go.

They had divorced. They had done well in the past four years when they didn't meet each other.

She didn't know why Kingston insisted on marrying her.

But she wouldn't do anything to let Lance down.

Thinking of Lance, she was determined and had firm eyes.

She hid behind the door and planned to hold Kingston once he was in.

Kingston walked into the house, took off his clothes, and asked, "Where is she?"

"Ms. Compton is in your bedroom."

He raised his eyebrows slightly when hearing this. He wondered that maybe Krista wanted to talk to him.

He went straight upstairs and saw that the bedroom door was ajar. He did not knock and went into the room directly.

He was happy when thinking that he was about to see Krista.

Unexpectedly, a cold knife was pressed against his back.

Krista wanted to put the knife in front of his neck as she thought that it was a stronger threat. But she was not tall enough!

She was 1.6 meters and Kingston was about 1.87 meters. He was much taller than her.

Chapter 245 Kill You

“Don’t move around, or I will kill you.”

Kingston didn’t move as required.

He didn’t seem to be afraid at all, and he even chuckled, “We haven’t seen each other for four years, but you have become a lot more capable and bolder.”

“Stop talking nonsense!” Krista was somewhat embarrassed, pushing his body to let him out.

They went downstairs. Quincy had yet to leave when he saw the shiny fruit knife. He immediately rushed forward but was stopped by Krista. “Don’t come over, or I’ll kill you! All of you, get out of the way, don’t ... come over. Prepare a car for me! Give me the car keys, I need to leave.”

“You have gone through all the trouble just to leave?”

Kingston said with a smile.

“I can’t be here. I have no relation with you!”

“Whether we are related or not, it doesn’t depend on you.”

“Cut the crap. Your life is in my hands now. Don’t be too arrogant. Otherwise ... I will...”

Krista began to stutter. After all, this was the first time she had done such a thing, and she was very uncertain

Kingston was not afraid at all. He wore a faint smile, with ridiculing eyes which Krista felt unable to understand.

This knife was very sharp and had pierced through Kingston’s clothes. He should have felt pain.

Krista was not joking, she wanted to leave!

“What do you want?”

“I ... Will die with you. I have already died once. Do you think I will be afraid?”

“Really? Then I should see how bold you have become after these four years.”

“What do you mean?”

Krista stunned.

In the blink of an eye, Kingston suddenly turned around and faced the dagger.

Before Krista knew it, Kingston suddenly held her hand, driving the knife to move up continuously.

Finally, it was slowly approaching his chest.

“What are you doing?”

Krista was frightened and stared at him with her eyes widely open.

The most terrifying thing was that Kingston was still holding her hand and continued to send the knife into his chest.

If she hadn't resisted with all her might, the knife would have stabbed him.

“Kingston, are you crazy! Do you want to die?”

“Don't worry. If you are afraid that you will be sued after I die, I will let Quincy be the witness. My death has nothing to do with you.”

“No...” She was rattled.

“Didn't you say that you wanted to kill me?”

He asked word by word.

When Krista heard this, she almost cried.

She only wanted to leave here and never wanted to kill Kingston.

Krista used all her strength to shake off his hand and the knife slammed to the ground.

She retreated with her face pale and her entire body drenching in sweat.

Finally, Krista stumbled and fell to the ground, still in shock.

Kingston bent down and picked up the knife. She looked at Kingston in fear and said, “Don’t ... kill yourself!”

“Don’t worry, I won’t do such stupid something. Even if you kill me, I won’t let you go.”

“You’re being irrational!” Krista got up from the ground angrily and quickly returned to her room.

“Sir, are you alright?”

Quincy stepped forward, looking at Kingston with concern.

Kingston’s chest was cut, and the wound was not deep, but the bleeding blood was still frightening.

Kingston waved his hand and said, “I’m fine. You can go back first.”

“Sir, Ms. Compton is no longer the same as before. She was pointing a knife at you. She is too dangerous.”

Chapter 246 Crying

“Alright, that’s enough. What’s the situation in Phelan City? Lance should have received the news.”

Quincy sighed and replied, “It seems that they have got into trouble. Otherwise, Ms. Compton would not have come back alone. It seems that Krista wants to cooperate with the royal family.”

“It appears that Lance doesn’t really care about her.”

Kingston was satisfied with the answer.

“But in reality, once Lance succeeds, the branch in Phelan City will be in danger.”

Kingston had lost her before, and only then did he know that these possessions did not matter.

Kingston just did not expect that Lance actually did not understand it.

Since that’s the case, Kingston shouldn’t be blamed for getting Krista.

Kingston simply treated the wound, and at about seven o’clock the dinner was ready, and Kingston went upstairs to call Krista to have dinner.

er.

She didn't open the door, but Kingston seemed to have a thousand ways to deal with her.

“If you don't open the door, I will tear it down. If you wake up at midnight, maybe you will see me standing outside the door. I don't mind. I am here to peep at you sleeping, and I am free to enter and leave your room.”

“You are such a shameless, despicable, and filthy person.”

Krista angrily opened the door and cursed at Kingston.

Kingston crossed his arms around his chest and looked at her calmly with a smile.

Kingston thought that Krista was so cute even though she was scolding him.

If it was possible, he really wanted to pinch her little face.

It was chubby, pink, and tender.

His lack of response made Krista disappointed.

It was as if she had mustered all his strength and punched heavily, but the fist landed on cotton, soft and uncomfortable.

Krista was so angry that she went out directly, fearing that if she didn't eat, the door would be gone.

The dishes on the table were all her favorite food, which surprised her a little.

However, she had no appetite at all now.

Kingston ate slowly.

Kingston did not talk, his temperament was cold and distant.

He looked like a cold and elegant gentleman.

But in fact, he was an unscrupulous and black-hearted guy.

“What can I do to let me go?” Krista continued to ask, unwilling to give up.

“Perhaps when you marry me and give birth to my children, I can consider it.”

“Scram!”

Krista had nothing else to say to him.

She held onto her rice bowl, feeling extremely grieved.

What the hell was this?

After avoiding Kingston for four years, why did she still encounter him?

Krista was really scared and wanted to leave.

Why didn't Mr. Hamm come to find her yet? She wondered what Aracely is doing.

When she thought of all this, Krista started crying.

She had been here for so long, but she hadn't cried in such a presumptuous manner.

Therefore, since she couldn't hold it in any longer, her tears began to drop violently.

Seeing her crying, Kingston immediately rattled, his entire heart in chaos.

“What happened to you?” he immediately came forward.

“It's none of your business. If you have the guts, lock me up for the rest of your life! I hate you! You are the worst person! When I married you, you didn't care about me and lived happily abroad! After that, you divorced me as soon as you came back. You brought the bad woman back and Brittany died after knowing it.”

“In the past, Brittany's greatest wish was for us to be together. It was you who refused it. Now that Brittany has passed away and I have almost died, why are you not willing to let me go? You're the last person I want to see in my life! Every time I come back, I carefully avoid you because I hate you. I don't want to see you even once.”

Chapter 247 She Is Ill

She spoke out all she had suffered.

She did not notice that Kingston's face turned pale and cold. He silently clenched his fists, struggling with a painful look.

“Are these all her private thoughts?” he thought.

He was indeed heinous before.

“Still, I don’t want to let you go. I like sweet candy, and that will never change until the last day of my life. We should pursue what we love with all our strength. It’s not wise to suppress our emotions,” he said.

“I don’t understand what you said. All I know is that I am not happy at all. Can you let me go? Please!” she begged.

There was one thing that she had long forgotten, but Kingston still remembered it. It was Krista who had encouraged him to ignore others’ opinions and go for what he liked.

“That will never happen!” he shouted.

“You...” she muttered.

She cried even harder. Her eyes looked swollen, and her voice sounded hoarse.

Kingston held her tightly regardless of her strong resistance. Even if she kept struggling, she still could not free herself from his hold. In the end, she was so angry that she bit Kingston’s shoulder.

His blood ran into her mouth.

Kingston, however, sat motionlessly.

He was not afraid of the pain.

She cried even harder. Her eyes looked swollen, and her voice sounded hoarse.

“Are you done with the crying? Be good and eat something!”

She didn't answer him.

She kept silent.

“What the hell is in his mind? How could I have an appetite after crying for such a long time?” she thought.

“Are you not hungry? Or do you want me to take the meal here and feed you?” he asked.

Since she didn't answer him, Kingston raised his eyebrows. He then came back with a bowl and a spoon.

Krista glared at him angrily and quickly lowered her head to eat. After finishing the meal, she went upstairs.

Kingston shook his head and smiled helplessly. However, no one knew the bitterness in his heart.

He subconsciously touched his shoulder. The bloodstains had dried, but they glued the clothes with the wounds. It would be very painful when he took off his clothes.

He had lost her once four years ago. Therefore, he didn't want that to happen again.

No matter how reluctant she was, he would keep her by his side.

He would get whatever he liked, let alone her beloved woman?

Krista felt dizzy when she returned to her room after the meal.

Kingston secretly added something to the meal.

After finishing his job, Kingston immediately went to her room.

The moment he got on the bed, he noticed that something was wrong with Krista. Her body was burning hot, and her little face was also red.

“She is ill!” he thought.

Kingston immediately called for a doctor. Burning and delirious, she started to say some garbled words.

“I want to go home, go home... Grandma! I miss you so much.

“My child! Where is my child?”

“I hate you, I...”

“Mr. Hamm, save me! Please!”

“Kingston, let me go! Let me go...” she bumbled.

Krista didn't know what she was saying. She felt herself as if drowning in the water, hopeless to get ashore.

Listening to her crying and shouting, Kingston had a feeling that his heart seemed to be squeezed ferociously by an invisible hand.

He held her hand tightly and urged the doctor, “Hurry up! She’s in great pain now.”

The doctor kept wiping the sweat off his forehead when he was giving Krista an IV.

The doctor prepared a decoction for her, but she couldn’t swallow it down. When the doctor was anxious but unable to do anything, Kingston took a mouthful of the decoction without any hesitation. Then he dripped the decoction into her mouth from his mouth.

The doctor had done all he needed, but it was impossible to cure the illness immediately.

Kingston could only wait until the fever subsided.

He understood it took time for the medicine to work in people, but still, he couldn’t help being nervous.

“Why is she still burning? It’s been a while. Are you sure the medicine will work? Look! She is still talking in her sleep!” Kingston said.

“Mr. Irwin, don’t be so nervous! We need to wait for a few moments,” the doctor said.

Chapter 248 I’ve Been Waiting for You

“Alright, I’ll wait a little longer. If she doesn’t get better, you should be to blame.”

Kingston asked the doctor to leave. He waited beside the bed, taking care of her.

The servants wanted to do the work themselves, but he stopped them.

When she was thirsty, he fed her water constantly.

When she was afraid, he held her hand tight.

Gradually, she sweated less and her forehead was no longer as hot. He felt relieved.

It was already one o'clock in the morning, he was so tired that his face turned blue, but he was still waiting beside the bed.

Suddenly, Krista opened her eyes.

“Are you awake?”

* He was overjoyed. “I’m going to get the doctor over here. Don’t move.”

He was about to stand up and leave, but a hot hand grasped his wrist unexpectedly.

She had little strength, yet it made him stop.

“Kingston...

As she called his name, his heart lurched.

“Don’t go, will you? Stay here with me.”

At this moment, Krista completely forgot what had happened in the past four years which made her heartbroken. She only remembered that she was in love with Kingston.

Krista loved him very much.

She loved him so much that she made compromises and even sacrificed herself in the end.

She had a severe headache. It seemed as if many people were singing and it was quite noisy.

She didn't know where she was now and what time it was. The only thing she noticed was that the man in front of her was very familiar.

Now, she was experiencing the deepest sensitivity and vulnerability. Besides, she was in great need of the one she loved.

“Are you sure...?”

He thought that when Krista woke up, she would definitely make a scene and reject him taking care of her.

Unexpectedly, she herself made the request.

“Don't go. I'm so scared ... Don't leave me, will you?”

She begged pitifully, looking at him with her attractive blinking eyes. Her misty eyes were like the eyes of a little animal in the jungle. He couldn't refuse her.

He didn't ask the doctor to come, not wanting anyone to disturb their private time together.

He sat down and touched her forehead. Her body temperature dropped a lot and it was not as scary as before.

Krista didn't say anything and just looked at him.

She was dopey now and didn't know what to do. She felt sick and had a bad headache as if her head was about to crack.

“Why are you looking at me like that?” he asked curiously.

“Good-looking...”

She suddenly smiled sweetly and pointed a finger at him. “You're good-looking.”

When Kingston heard this, he couldn't help smiling. Being praised by her seemed to be the happiest thing.

“Do you like looking at me?”

“Yes ... but I couldn't see you in the past. You never came back.”

She mumbled and pouted.

“In the past? Where was I?”

“You worked overseas ... You were busy with the business of the branch. I didn't dare to disturb you, so I just waited every day.”

“You ... have been waiting for me?” He was a little surprised because she had never said this before.

They both seemed to be people who were not good with words and kept everything inside.

She nodded earnestly. “Let’s go visit grandma and have a meal with her tomorrow, shall we? Grandma will be very happy to see you come back...”

“Grandma...”

When mentioning grandma, she suddenly frowned. It pained her heart.

It seemed that she had lost something important.

Kingston immediately understood that the fever made her forget things and her memory returned to four years ago.

It would be great if he could turn the clock back. He would never have let her suffer.

Kingston never expected that he was the one who had made her sad.

Found Pregnant After Divorce by Emi issmx Chapter 249

Chapter 249 Don’t Touch Me

“You are sick now. Have a good rest and go to see Brittany when you get better.”

He shifted the subject because he was scared she would think about something sad.

Krista was perplexed and didn't continue.

The drug effect made her dizzy.

She was desperate to sleep, and her eyelids began to fight.

But when she eventually saw Kingston, she thought it was all a dream. If it was all a dream, she hoped she wouldn't wake up for the rest of her life.

She moved to the side and patted the area beside her. "Sleep together?"

She gave him a shy glance. Only revealing a pair of eyes under the blanket, she looked at him timidly.

'Would he think I'm shameless? she wondered.

"I'm sick. I won't do anything to you."

She quickly explained, afraid that Kingston would think that she was messing around.

Kingston was distressed by her cautious appearance. In the past, she was indeed like that.

He did not refuse, taking off his coat and sleeping next to her.

His injured arm was next to her in the quilt.

She didn't remember his arm was injured and subconsciously held his arm. Kingston immediately frowned.

Only then did she realize something was wrong.

“You're injured? Who did this?” She was a little angry.

Kingston paused for a bit before saying, “A ... furious cat. It's wild and unwilling to be locked up, causing a lot of trouble.”

“I'll help you train it. It's too disobedient.”

“Alright.”

With delight, he tapped her nose with fingertips.

Fearing that she would press down on his injured arm, Krista insisted on changing positions with him. After a while, she panted.

She sweated a lot and soon fell asleep, while the man could not fall asleep no matter what.

Her kind and charming appearance was something he hadn't seen in a long time.

It was because he hadn't valued her for a year.

He had missed these precious things.

At that moment, Krista didn't appear the same as she did when she was crying during the day. She was as obedient as a little rabbit

The softest part of his heart was touched as his huge hand caressed her head.

He hugged her from behind.

“Krista, I will never let you go for the rest of my life.”

His voice was hoarse and low, and every word he said was extremely determined. He wouldn't let anyone get in his way.

The next day, it was late in the morning.

Krista felt as if she had been gnawed on by a swarm of ants. She was uncomfortable from head to toe.

Moreover, she didn't have any strength.

She struggled to flip her body, and as a result, she bumped into a wall of flesh. She was stunned that Kingston was sleeping beside her. His exquisite and flawless face appeared to have been carved by God.

He slept on the side of the balcony, and a ray of sunlight leaked from the curtains onto his face. A layer of gold foil was applied to his face.

She looked at Kinston with fear, not knowing whether to sigh at his handsomeness or be surprised that he was on her bed.

She was embarrassed and angry. She thought that he was a beast.

Then she pushed him with all her strength.

She had intended to kick him down, but her power was insufficient. This small movement, though, was enough to wake him up.

Kingston had been taking care of her until the late night, which was why he had slept so soundly and hadn't gone to the group in the morning.

He opened his eyes. There was no haziness in his eyes, but only with clarity and coldness.

He was just about to touch her forehead to see if the fever had completely subsided, but he didn't expect her to keep dodging.

“Don't touch me!” She said angrily.

Chapter 250 Being Unwell

Kingston frowned slightly, thinking of how clingy she had been last night.

She had changed. He could not hide the disappointment in his eyes.

He comforted himself that it's not a big deal. There'll be plenty of time in the future.

Then he said, “Look at you, you should be all right. I'll have the doctor come in to see you. Have a good rest.”

After that, he got up.

Krista couldn't help but sigh with relief when she noticed that their garments were all intact.

She considered that if he dared to do anything to her, she would die to show her determination. Otherwise, how could she be worthy of Mr. Hamm?

Soon, the doctor arrived and exhaled a sigh of relief. He beamed with a smile. "Miss, it's great that you're alright. Otherwise, Mr. Irwin would go after me. You have no idea how hard Mr. Irwin worked last night to make sure you were taken good care of. To calm you down, he wiped your sweat away and even fed you the medicine mouth to mouth. He was unwilling to entrust you to servants."

"Mr. Irwin deserves your gratitude. He's not in good health, yet he took good care of you last night. You appear to be very important to him!"

The doctor often went in and out of the villa, so he was familiar with Kingston.

He realized that Kingston hasn't had any relationships for four years, and there have been no scandals.

This woman must be highly important to Kingston.

Krista first noticed the doctor saying that Kingston fed her medicine, and then she realized Kingston was looking after her all night.

But the most important point is that...

“Kingston...is not in good health? Why don't I remember this?”

“Kingston's body had always been in excellent condition. His healing abilities significantly exceeded that of ordinary people. Moreover, he had been working out all year. His physical fitness was excellent. If he got a cold, he'd feel better only after a good sleep

“How could he be in a bad health?”

The doctor said, “You are unaware of Mr. Irwin's body condition. He was immersed in cold water for so long that his joints were severely damaged. Furthermore, for the past four years, his daily schedule has been chaotic and his diet has been irregular. His worries have worsened disease, and his liver has been severely harmed.”

“How could it be so serious?”

She froze.

“He was immersed in the water? What happened?”

“Mr. Irwin has been searching in the sea day and night after Ms. Hardin fell into the sea. His body couldn't endure it.”

“So...it was like this...”

“Sandra, as well as me, was in the sea at that moment.”

Kingston only had Sandra in his eyes; how could he be concerned about me?”

Her nose hurt and her heart ached for some reason. She was having trouble breathing.

Forget about it. It has already been a long time. There was no reason for her to make things difficult for someone who was no longer alive. Sandra had also paid a price to be separated from her son. Krista didn't expect Kingston to save her. They didn't have such deep feelings, after all. "Mr. Irwin treats you differently." The doctor said once more.

"I was the one who forced Sandra to jump into the sea. Sandra had no choice when I exposed her crimes. So, what makes you think Kingston treats me differently? It's because he's seeking vengeance, a narrow-minded vengeance!"

The doctor was speechless.

Krista couldn't think of any other reason why Kingston would imprison her and force her to marry him.

He said that the things that happened four years ago had passed, but he was petty and could not forget those things.

It was a blatant act of vengeance.

Krista rested for a few days before slowly regaining her strength. Her health was already poor. Even though she recovered the sickness made her feel considerably weaker.

The doctor said that she became ill because the cold wind passed through her as she slept at night, as well as because she was psychologically and physically exhausted,
