Chapter 261 It Was My Fault

Krista knew Kingston couldn't hear her whisper.

Even if he could, Kingston probably wouldn't take it seriously.

She sighed helplessly, stretched a bit, and walked to the sofa.

The sofa was soft and cozy, large enough for Krista to sleep on it.

She didn't notice Kingston's subtle expression.

Krista quickly fell asleep. At midnight, she felt like peeing.

She got up grumpily and walked into the bathroom.

Kingston's room was built as similarly as hers, so Krista got familiar with the facilities here.

After that, she returned to sleep.

But this time, she didn't go back to her sofa.

She unconsciously went to bed, lifted the quilt, put her body through it, and moved closer to Kingston,

The night was cold, but they didn't open the heater. A quilt could make it through.

But Krista's hands and feet were easily freezing.

She held Kingston tight as if she had found a warm stove.

And then she found a comfortable position and fell asleep.

Kingston saw this and found it both funny and annoying.

He was thinking about how to carry Krista onto the bed without waking her up. But at this time, he could save up some of his energy.

It just happened naturally.

Kingston looped his arms around Krista's waist.

He didn't get a lot of sleep in the past two days. Jack had a high fever all the time, so he had to do physical cooling and watch

Jack's infusion bag.

When Jack was feeling better, he had to take care of his daily life.

Jack was shy, so he seldom spoke.

Other than calling "Grandpa" and "Grandma," most of the time, he remained silent.

When he woke up, he said to Kingston, "Dad, it's painful."

It made Kingston happy because his son finally talked to him. The progress he made, as a result, was well worth the effort.

For the first time, Kingston felt that he had gotten closer with his son.

But he didn't forget about Krista. When the doctor said Jack was almost recovered, he quickly went back home,

He loved Jack, and the truth was that Jack was his family

But Krista wasn't.

If he didn't invest time in her, she might fly away.

Jack would always be his son.

But Krista wouldn't always be his wife.

Before he left the hospital, Kingston promised Jack that he would come back soon.

It was in the early morning the next day.

Krista enjoyed a very sound sleep last night.

But when she woke up, she was dumbfounded.

'Why does Kingston sleep next to me?'" she thought.

Krista tried to recall what happened last night, but her memory was fuzzy. She vaguely remembered that she went to the toilet in the middle of the night and nimbly went back to bed. She forgot it was Kingston's room.

So, it was her fault and had nothing to do with Kingston.

'Oh my goodness!' Krista cursed herself.

She wanted to lift the quilt and escape, but suddenly a long arm locked her. Kingston flipped over and climbed on her.

She was startled because she didn't expect Kingston to wake up.

But soon, Krista found his eyes closed. She was relieved that Kingston was still in a deep sleep.

Just as she wanted to get off the bed, suddenly Kingston pulled her to his chest.

Krista was up the creek without a paddle. “You’ve really screwed up!” she thought.

Kingston might accuse her of getting onto his bed without permission.

She tried it again but failed. Kingston locked her tight into his arms.

Chapter 262 Morning Exercise

At this moment, Kingston suddenly made a sound, as if he was about to wake up.

‘What can I do?’ Krista cried in her mind.

She was anxious and tried to figure out what to do.

After a while, Kingston woke up and pretended to look at Krista in surprise.

“Krista, why are you on my bed?” He asked.

Krista closed her eyes and didn’t respond, pretending to sleep.

“Krista?”

Kingston deliberately called her name more seriously with displeasure.

Just then, Krista moved.

She threw back the covers with her eyes closed and staggered around the room. After that, she fell on the sofa and covered herself with the quilt under Kingston's gaze.

She did all these smoothly without a pause.

A few minutes later, Krista stretched lazily and opened her eyes.

"I slept well!" She said.

Then, she sat up, pretending to have just seen Kingston get up.

"You're awake! What time is it now?" She asked.

Kingston tried to hold his smile. 'Was she pretending to be sleepwalking just now?'

'What was she thinking about?' He wondered in his mind.

"Do you remember where you slept last night?" He then asked her.

"I slept on the sofa after you had fallen asleep. Did you do anything to me?"

She crossed her arms in front of her chest and looked at him warily as if he had done something to her.

Kingston couldn't help but laugh.

"What are you laughing at?"

She felt a little guilty, so she asked without confidence.

“Nothing. I just thought that you’re too confident in yourself. If I wanted to do something to you, I would have done it already, you know.”

Krista breathed a sigh of relief. He seemed to believe her words that she was just sleepwalking.

Otherwise, she didn’t know how to explain it.

“You imprisoned me but didn’t do anything to me. You fed me every day and even bought me new clothes and bags. However, you’re wasting time and money. If you let me go, then...”

Before Krista could finish her sentence, Kingston interrupted her.

“You’re right. I spent a lot in your high-quality food, drink, clothes, bags, makeup, and so on.”

“You can have meat if you raise a pig, but I can give you nothing. I don’t think I’m worth it!” Krista said.

As long as Kingston lets her go, she would be as happy as a little pig.

Please! Krista begged in mind.

Kingston said seriously, “I have to do something to you. Otherwise, I would lose both you and money, wouldn’t I?”

“What do you mean?” Krista was nervous.

“Just literal meaning. You also feel guilty fed by me, so you want to remind me that I should do something to you, right?”

Wearing dark blue pajamas, with his clean and short hair fixed, Kingston got up.

In the morning light, his handsome face and perfect jawline, as well as his tall and slender body made him look like an angel from heaven. He was so perfect.

He came to Krista's side barefoot and hugged her in his arms. Before she recovered from the shock, she was pressed by him against the sofa.

“Let's do some morning exercise, shall we?”

He raised his eyebrows and said.

Just then did she realize that it was morning!

She was stunned for a moment and then looked at Kingston's legs to see if there was anything special in the morning.

She regretted it at once.

She just felt so shameless after a glance.

Then, she immediately covered her face and said, “You got me wrong. I mean it's better to drive me out as soon as possible. How much did I owe you? I can pay you back!”

Chapter 263 Wait for a chance to Call for Help

“Kingston, can we just have a talk?”

Krista was so scared that her body trembled and her voice quavered.

Kingston smiled. He wouldn't do anything to her.

If he forced her this time, she would hate him even more. It would do him no good.

Suddenly, she frowned when she felt a slap on her forehead.

“Go brush your teeth and wash your face. Later, go downstairs for breakfast. Be a good girl.” Kingston said.

The last few words were full of indulgence.

She was a little dazed. When she opened her eyes again, she only saw Kingston’s strong back. She suddenly felt a little disappointed.

After going back to her room, she covered her chest with her hands.

‘Why does my heart beat so fast?’ She wondered.

Krista did a good job last night, so Kingston kept his promise that she could go out with Aracely.

Thus, Krista asked Aracely to hang out together today.

She knew that Kingston would ask someone to keep an eye on her, but she never expected that he would come in person.

After getting in the car, she was surprised at Kingston who was sitting inside.

“Kingston, are you going my way?” Krista asked with a fluke.

“I will be with you today. I’ll drive the car and pay for you. Also, I will help you carry things.”

“This is not good. How can I bother you?” Krista asked.

“You’re right. Then you drive and pay by yourself. I also want to buy something.” Kingston said.

“You can drive now. I’ve been already seated.”

Krista immediately interrupted him and sat at the back obediently.

‘What a joke!

‘What Kingston would buy must be extremely expensive. It might be tens of thousands or even tens of millions yuan.

“How can I pay for him?” Krista thought.

The money she earned was just a drop in the bucket for Kingston.

Krista couldn’t talk with Aracely about how to escape because Kingston was here. Thus, as soon as they arrived at the shopping mall, she asked Aracely to go to the toilet with her.

“Aracely, I want to run away. Help me.” Krista said to her.

“I think it’s impossible. Last time, he could find you at the airport. This time, it’s even more difficult to run away.”

“Then what should I do?” Krista frowned and wanted to borrow Aracely’s phone, only to find that her phone had been taken away by Kingston

“He has done a good job. I can’t even call Mr. Hamm!” Krista said angrily, “I won’t run away then. I just need to borrow a phone to call Mr. Hamm.”

“Alright, let’s wait for someone to come in,” Aracely said.

After a while, several people came in. However, when they heard that Krista was going to make an international call, they refused to lend her the phone. Some even suspected her to be a fraud.

Since Krista had been in the toilet for too long, Kingston got angry.

“If you don’t come out, I’ll tear down the toilet.” He said to them.

As a result, they had to go out.

The two of them pretended to go shopping, then went to the toilet together again.

Eventually, someone was willing to lend them a phone. Krista called Lance immediately.

“Hello.”

When Krista heard this familiar voice, she almost cried tears of joy. She was just like a person who had been floating in the sea for a long time and suddenly saw a rescue team.

Just as she was going to speak, a charming female voice came from the other end of the phone.

“Darling, who are you talking to? The celebration party is about to start. Everyone is waiting for you.”

Chapter 264 Go Shopping

“I got a call.”

“Who’s on the phone? Whatever! Just try to be a part of this party! It took me a lot of effort to have your dad’s permission. Look how big it is! Do you know how many big shots here?”

The woman snatched his phone and pulled Lance in.

Lance’s right eye was constantly twitching for no reason.

It was an unknown caller.

‘If Krista wants to call me, she would use Aracely’s phone.’ Lance thought.

So, he took it as a spam phone call.

Lance had decided to look for Krista after tonight’s party.

So, he should get over the party first.

When Krista spiritlessly tried again, Lance had got off the phone.

At that moment, she was dead inside.

Her face turned pale.

Aracely was disappointed because she heard everything clearly.

‘What the heck Lance is doing?’ she thought.

“Krista, are you alright?”

“Aracely, do you think I find the wrong person? I shouldn’t have called him, right? He’s busy. I shouldn’t bother him or push him when he’s in the middle of something.”

“It’s my fault. I shouldn’t have done that... Well, forget it. Aracely, come on! Let’s take a stroll and find something good to fill the stomach. It’s on me.”

She forced a pitiful smile.

Aracely felt heart-wrenching when she saw Krista.

Krista pretended to be fine and even patted Kingston’s shoulder.

She said generously, “You said you wanted to buy something. What is it? I will buy it for you if I can afford it.”

Kingston frowned slightly. Knowing she was in a bad mood, he did not refuse.

When Krista walked away, Kingston stopped Aracely.

“What did you do?”

Aracely stammered for fear that Kingston would not allow her to come if he found out what had happened.

Kingston said coldly, “Well, I understand. She must call Lance for help after being grounded for so long.”

“Mr. Irwin ... I’m sorry...”

“You say one thing and then do another. I know better than you about Krista’s pain. She likes keeping things to herself. I want you to make her happy, not painful than she already is.”

“If you can’t do it, then I don’t see the points of the Ortiz Family’s existence.”

“Mr. Irwin, I’m sorry! It’s my fault. Please don’t get my family involved.”

“Be careful with your words. Don’t mention Lance in front of Krista again.”

“I understand.”

Aracely wouldn’t mention Lance again even if Kingston didn’t warn her.

This time, she was on Kingston’s side.

Krista didn’t buy anything because Kingston gave the best things to her. She just wanted to go shopping and spend money like water, so she bought many things for Aracely.

She asked what Kingston liked. He hesitated for a moment and said, “A Car is every man’s lover.”

“Oh? Do you want a big one or a small one?”

Kingston glanced at her and didn’t speak.

Krista knew nothing about cars.

“Well... A car is out of my reach. Can you change to something I can afford?”

“How much do you have?”

“You ... What do you want?”

Krista became nervous: “Not very much ... about 83 grand...”

“83 grand?”

Kingston raised his eyebrows, but soon he relaxed the muscles.

Chapter 265 My Brother Can't Have a Wife

It must have been hard for her to save 500,000. He would spend all of it today. He couldn't let her give this money to another man

He took Krista to the Rolex.

“I can't afford this.”

“I happened to have my eyes on a watch. It's just 490,000. You can still keep a little.”

“I won't buy it!”

She clutched her pocket tightly. She was indeed angry and only wanted to vent it.

But wasn't 490,000 too much? It was better to let her drown in anger!

“Krista, you said that you could afford it. Why are you going back on your word now? Do you remember what you said this morning? I paid for your food and drink. If you don't pay it back, I will hold you hostage.”

Krista clenched her teeth, wanting to give Kingston a bite.

He was as cunning as a fox who was always scheming against her!

She didn't dare to get tough with Kingston. It's not worth losing her virginity because of that.

Although Lance had overdone it, she could not disgrace him because of this.

"You are so greedy. You have so much money, yet you still spend mine. How shameless."

She angrily threw the card over. "No password."

When she saw Kingston pay with it, she felt a great pain.

"Kingston, don't you think that spending a woman's money is shameful?"

The assistant's hand that was holding the card trembled slightly as she glanced at Kingston.

What brought Kingston here today?

According to her words, Kingston spent her money. What was the relationship between them?

"It's not shameful to spend my woman's money. Instead, I feel proud."

"After all, you only spent it for me, right?"

Kingston raised his eyebrows and squeezed a smile from the corners of his eyes. The smile was like a spring breeze, making the salesgirl unable to take her eyes off him. What kind of beauty was this? He was so handsome!

“Don’t talk nonsense! I am not your woman.”

She was anxious.

“You will be in the future,” he said with certainty.

Then he said to the salesgirl, “Swipe the card. It doesn’t have a password.”

“Alright, Mr. Irwin. Please wait a moment.”

The salesgirl looked at Krista enviously. What kind of good luck did she have to be able to hook up with Kingston!

When Kingston had spent almost all the money in her card, she felt that it was the end of the world.

She seemed to hear the sound of her heart breaking into pieces.

After leaving the Rolex, Krista was drooping her head, frustrated and unable to raise interest in anything.

Aracely couldn’t stand it and looked at her worriedly. “Krista, are you alright?” “My brother...can’t have a wife now.”

She almost cried out.

Kingston didn’t know whether to laugh or cry.

“Your brother can have a wife with such little money?”

“You know nothing. Do you think everyone is like you, so rich? I really regret that. You spent all my money. You should pay it back. I’m so angry...”

“Really?” He faintly interrupted. His voice turned cold, “I was also angry that you called Lance for help in the bathroom.”

“You told him?” She immediately looked at Aracely. Aracely was scared and shook her head with force.

“He...he guessed it himself. I didn't say anything.”

Krista felt guilty and didn't dare to say anything else.
