

Chapter 376

"It's not strong. You can take a sip of it. I promise that you can have a good sleep after drinking it."

"But I can not drink much..."

"It's fine to have a glass of wine."

"You ... Are you trying to lie to me?"

"Then do as you please."

Kingston did not continue and sipped lightly.

They did not expect that Luck also came here.

"Krista, Kingston, why are you both not sleeping?" Luck asked.

"Why are you here?" Krista replied.

"Aracely called you but couldn't get through, so she called me."

Luck handed the phone over, looking like he had just woken up.

The call had not hung up.

Krista immediately picked up the call and had a quick chat.

Aracely was very worried that Krista would be bullied by Kingston for living here. Knowing that Krista was all right, Aracely felt a lot more relieved.

"By the way ... did Mr. Hamm contact you?" Aracely asked cautiously.

"It's been so long, and there's not a single phone call or text message from Lance. Maybe he was too embarrassed to look for me after all so many things have happened between us."

"Sigh..."

Aracely heaved a great sigh and said, "I have met Lance once, and he looked a lot more haggard. He looked at me and seemed to have something to say to me, but he stopped. Lance asked me about you and knew that you were staying at Kingston's place provisionally. Hearing this, he fell into silence for a long time. If it was in the past, he would have immediately come here to take you away, but now ... he has become someone else's husband."

"But Lance promised me that he would definitely be able to break up with Catherine in half a year, then he will marry you. Moreover, he told me that he did not have sex with Catherine again because his love belongs to you. Lance hopes that you can give him a chance. He is afraid that you will fall in love with Kingston..."

"I understand. I will give Lance half a year and please tell Lance that he doesn't owe me anything. If I had not been locked up, he would not have made such a big sacrifice. I only hope that he can be safe and let him take good care of himself."

"Alright, I'm relieved that you two have each other in your hearts. I'm going to deal with my work. There are still so many things waiting for me."

Krista nodded, hung up the phone, and returned to the pavilion to find that Luck was also drinking.

After drinking a few glasses of wine, Luck still looked good on his face. It seemed that he was born to be a good drinker.

"Krista, this is delicious."

Luck never drank before, but this time he found that wine was a good thing. It was sweet and could make him feel warm after drinking it.

With Luck here, Krista thought she could ask Luck to send her back after she got drunk.

Luck will protect her, and he will also keep an eye on Kingston!

"Then I'll have a drink too. Luck, send me back to my room later."

"OK, OK."

Luck agreed immediately.

Krista felt relieved and began to enjoy the wine. After drinking a cup, she couldn't help but admit that Kingston's wine was very nice. It's obvious that Kingston still had some wine after last time.

Krista thought that next time she must try to find out where the wine cellar was so that she could send all Kingston's wine to Mr. Ortiz to show her filial respect to him.

Krista felt OK at the beginning, but after drinking for a while, she started to get drunk and felt dizzy.

She heard that drinking red wine properly was good for our appearance as well as our health.

Krista thought that she would never suffer from insomnia again.

"Good ... good wine..."

After saying that, Krista lay on the stone table and fell unconscious.

Seeing this, Luck immediately got up and was about to carry Krista away, but he did not expect Kingston to act more quickly and carried Krista in his arms.

"Kingston..."

"From now on, you must get used to this. If you ruin my plan again, I will let you move out and see Krista only once a week."

"Oh, please don't."

"Then do as you're told."

"But I can't lie."

"Well, from now on, you will."

After saying that, Kingston carried Krista away. This time, he did not go to the guest bedroom but directly took her to his room. This can not be considered a breach of the agreement, right?

Send Gift

Comments