Chapter 38 I Don't Like to Repeat Myself

Krista hesitated.

Quincy said first, "Sir, I'll go back first. I know what to say if Ms. Hardin asks me."

Quincy ran away as fast as a rabbit, afraid that he would disturb them if he stayed longer.

Kingston was still stooping down to wait for her. His clothes were wet.

She had no choice but to get on his back. With her on his back, he got up and strode forward.

She held an umbrella in both hands for them.

His back was so strong and warm that she instantly stopped feeling cold.

The heavy rain spattered on the umbrella, as if it was playing a symphony.

Apart from that night, this should be the most intimate moment between them, right?

Neither of them spoke. He had walked with her on his back for an hour. She was worried that her weight might have tired him out. Along the way, she had advised to walk on her own several times but he refused.

They soon arrived at the apartment building. He put her down.

His clothes were soaked through.

It was raining harder and harder.

"I wanna go upstairs to change my clothes."

"There ... there are no clothes for you to change at my home."

"The nearby mall is open. I'll go buy some."

"That's not the point ..."

She was a little nervous.

She'd moved away a long time ago.

Kingston frowned when her eyes dodged his.

She must be hiding something from him.

Therefore, he grabbed her wrist and forcefully pulled her upstairs.

The first floor was a shop, and the second floor was a residence. They were connected so it was convenient for its owner to rent or live in.

Standing in front of the door, Kingston gestured for her to unlock the door.

She had no key and she didn't know the password for the combination lock.

Just when she was embarrassed, the door was open from the inside.

Siobhan chatted and laughed with her boyfriend. Just as she was about to take out the garbage, she saw her and Kingston at the door. She was startled.

"What's going on?"

Kingston narrowed his eyes menacingly.

It was the house he gave her but why did someone else live inside?

Was it the last time he didn't handle it properly?

"Mr. Irwin, leave it out, okay?"

"No, tell me."

"Nothing."

She said stubbornly.

She kept her mouth shut so Kingston looked at Siobhan and said, "Tell me."

Seeing Kingston made Siobhan's hair stand on end. Kingston was not a kind person. He was heartless and decisive. In the business world, everyone knew his name.

"Krista gave it to us of her own free will. If you don't believe me, just ask her. We didn't steal it or rob it."

"Of her own free will?" He looked at Krista with his eyebrows raised, His voice was deep and hoarse with anger.

"Yes, of my free will. Don't disturb them. I'm leaving."

She hurriedly turned around to leave here but Kingston grabbed her.

"If you have difficulty, tell me. Although we are divorced, I will not refuse to help you. If that is inconvenient, ask your grandma or mother for help."

"Nothing inconvenient about it. The Comptons is in financial trouble. That's grandfather's lifetime's effort. Even if I don't like Comptons, I can't let grandfather's effort go in vain. Are you satisfied now?"

In fact, to save her grandfather's effort was only one of the reasons. The main reason was that Zaniyah had threatened her with her child.

However, she didn't want Kingston to know about the child.

"I'll give you another property."

"No, thanks. I know you don't care about these things, but the Brennans do. Even after mom's divorce, I'm still a Bernnan. I can't hold on to any property unless I graduate and leave City D. Thank you for your kindness. I have a place to live now. You really don't need to worry."

"Where do you live? I'll see you off."

"No, thanks, it's not far. I can go back myself."

"I don't like to repeat myself, Krista."

He called her full name seriously. She felt stressed and instantly shut up.

Chapter 39 Kingston Stayed Overnight

Krista could only take him back to her apartment.

The neighborhood had been built for a long time. The surveillance system was broken, and there were no guards at the entrance.

She lived on the fifth floor. But there was no elevator, so they had to take the stairs.

Climbing up to the fifth floor, they were already out of breath.

She happened to have a suit of men's clothes in her closet. She handed it to him and said, "It's not as good as your own clothes but it's better than wearing a wet one."

HMC

Kingston looked at the man's boxers and narrowed his eyes.

How could a girl like her have a men's boxers?

She felt his burning gaze and her cheeks blushed with embarrassment. She hurriedly explained to him in case there was a misunderstanding.

"If a girl lives alone, she has to be more vigilant. Normally, I will hang the boxer on my balcony to make people believe that there is a man in this apartment. It's safer for me to live here alone."

"Why don't you go back to your dormitory?"

"I used to live in a villa. I'm afraid that I might not get along with my roommate, so I rent this apartment." She made up an excuse to him.

She went to the bathroom to change her clothes. When she came out, Kingston had already put on the clean clothes.

The rain outside was getting heavier. If he wanted to go back, he could only walk back the same way they came.

However, it was already six o'clock in the evening. It was already pitch-black outside. Lightning flashed and thunder roared, making it very terrifying.

The weather forecast showed that typhoon hit the strongest tonight. It was recommended that everyone stayed inside.

Many trees in the green belt had been blown down.

Kingston could only stay overnight.

It was a one-bedroom apartment. There was no wall between the bed and sofa. Only the bathroom was a private place.

She was small and fit in the sofa, so she let him sleep in bed.

“Well, how will you explain it to Ms. Hardin if you stay here tonight?”

“It’s my own business. You don’t need to worry about it.”

“I only have some instant noodles at home. Do you want some?”

“Anything would be great.”

He was not a fussy eater.

She prepared two bowls of instant noodles and gobbled them down. She was really hungry.

He ate slowly and elegantly, as if he was not eating instant noodles, but noble western cuisine.

“Have you tried this before?”

“No.”

“Do you think it tastes awful?”

“It’s not very delicious, but I can eat that. You should try not to eat these things. It’s junk food.”

She was thin and ate these junk food all the time. How can she stay healthy?

“I will remit the money to you every month. You can spend the money whatever you like.”

“No need, we have already been divorced.”

“Even if we are divorced, you are still a benefactor of the Irwin family. You don’t want Brittany to know about your situation, do you?”

“Alright then.”

She could only take the money.

After dinner, she changed the beddings and made his bed. Then, she took the quilt to the sofa.

“I’ll sleep on the sofa.”

As a man, he naturally had to be nice to girls.

“No need. I could just fit in the sofa. You can sleep in bed. You can go back tomorrow when the weather is good.”

Without giving him any chance, she laid down on the sofa and closed her eyes.

He did not say anything else and laid on her bed with the lights off.

There was a faint fragrance on the bed, and it smelled very comfortable. However, at this moment, he did not feel sleepy at all. So he just laid there with his hands under his head.

Her mind was filled with the scene of carrying her on his back this afternoon.

The little girl was lying on his back. He had never been so cautious before. He was afraid that he would throw her off, as if he was carrying a rare treasure on his back.

She was very light, but his heart was heavy.

Every step he took was steady and forceful, and his arms were tightly holding her petite body.

She grabbed the umbrella with her arms to resist the wind and rain, being afraid that he might get wet.

Beside his ears was her breathing.

Even her breathing was sweet.

Just as he was recalling what happened in this afternoon, a loud noise suddenly sounded in the dark.

Chapter 40 | Eventually Find You

Kingston's heart trembled. He immediately turned on the light and saw Krista fall off the sofa.

Krista opened eyes in a daze and climbed up the sofa. Then she curled into a ball and went to sleep, as if nothing had happened.

Staring at this thin and fragile girl, Kingston's eyes were filled with pity.

He rose from the bed, lifted her up tenderly and then put her on the bed.

He had intended to sleep on the sofa. But Krista was rolling on the bed and on the verge of falling, he quickly stopped it.

When she was about to fall, he was so nervous with heart pounding in his chest.

This girl slept in such a bad manner.

Kingston had to lie beside Krista with arms around her body lest she would fall.

Obviously, she was exhausted and even such a movement couldn't wake her up. She curled up in his arms and was sound asleep.

Her little hands were still on his stomach, clutching his clothes tightly.

His heart instantly softened.

Right at this moment, the phone rang. It was from Sandra.

Kingston hung up and sent her a message.

"It's not convenient to answer it now."

"Where are you? I need you now. Could you please come back quickly? It's raining heavily outside. What kind of business is so important that you went out for it in such a bad weather?"

"I'll come back tomorrow. Promise me to go to bed."

Then he put down the phone, without answering Sandra's question directly.

Suddenly, from outside came a crash of thunder. Krista quivered and murmured, "It wasn't me who broke it. I didn't do anything wrong. Please don't punish me by kneeling, please."

Her voice was small, as if she was humbly praying

Hearing it, his heart ached with pity for her.

Kingston gently patted her back with his big hands to calm her down.

Krista seemed to feel that and then gradually calmed down.

This night, she slept in an extremely sound and relieved way and she had never had the same feeling before.

She felt the cold a lot when asleep and her hands and feet were cold even in summer. However, this time she felt warm all over and slept comfortably.

The next day, it stopped raining and the sun came out.

Krista slept with great satisfaction and stretched lazily with narrowed eyes. As a result ... she touched someone's body.

She was stunned for a moment and then immediately opened her eyes, only to see a perfect and handsome face.

She was so surprised to find herself lying in Kingston's embrace, with her head resting on his arm.

But wasn't she sleeping on the sofa last night?

Did she climb up the bed when sleepwalking at midnight?

She would never expect it was Kingston who lifted her up on the bed.

She just wanted to go back to the sofa hurriedly before Kingston woke up.

Krista was easing herself out of bed and was about to make it. Suddenly Kingston's arms stretched out and were wrapped around her waist. He locked her tightly in his arms and gently rested his chin on her head.

Krista was stiff and very nervous.

That morning, she woke up in the same way.

Kingston hugged her tightly from behind.

But at that time, Krista was too scared and only wanted to escape him, not willing to confront him.

It turned out that she had made the right choice. If she had told him everything, they would have fallen into an awkward situation.

Now they were getting along quite naturally.

Krista moved Kingston's hands away and wanted to get up. But suddenly, he hugged her tightly again.

His exceptionally hoarse and deep voice came to her.

Kingston opened his eyes and found himself not in a foreign hotel, but...in a familiar room.

Then he realized it was a dream.

Chapter 41 I'm Not into You

When their eyes met, the air seemed to freeze. Krista blinked her innocent big eyes and broke the silence first. "I ... I'm sorry ... I don't know how I climbed into the bed. I didn't do it on purpose. Perhaps ... I am used to sleeping on the bed, and not sleeping on the sofa. I didn't mean to offend you. Look, you're still wearing your clothes. It proves I didn't do anything inappropriate. Nothing happened between us..." she stammered. She was afraid that Kingston would think that she had climbed into the bed with a purpose. (This novel will be daily updated at) She crawled out of the bed, nervous and embarrassed, her face flushed red, as if all the blood in her body had rushed to her head. The blush spread all the way to the back of her ear and her neck. She lowered her head, not daring to meet his unfathomable eyes. Kingston was surprised that she misunderstood. = Last night, he carried her to bed. He intended to leave when she was sound asleep, but she seemed to have a special magic power. Staying by her side, he gradually felt sleepy and couldn't help but hug her and sleep together with her. He slept very comfortably. Ever since the other night, he hadn't slept so well. It was a dreamless night until the moment she got out of the bed. At that time countless fragments about them replayed in his mind. He coughed lightly. He couldn't tell her that he had carried her to bed. When Krista heard him cough, she thought that he was very dissatisfied, and trembled from fright. "It really wasn't intentional. Believe me ... If I had feelings for you, I would have done it a long time ago, right? I wouldn't have divorced you, would I? "To be honest, we're not a good match. I'm only nineteen years old, and you're thirty. I'm a full eleven years younger! (This novel will be daily updated at)I've thought about it carefully and think we're too different. You have a regular life and are rigid, too serious, meticulous, and fierce-looking. You're not my type at all. "Rest assured. I'm not into you. Even when we share the bed, I won't do anything to you even if you strip naked. Trust me!" Her eyes were filled with sincerity. She wished she could use every method she had to prove that she was not attracted to him. It was just an accident that they slept on the same bed last night. She hoped he wouldn't take it seriously or get angry. She couldn't bear Kingston's anger. He had been in a good mood. After all, he had a good night's sleep. But now, he had a gloomy expression with a frown. First she said he was too old. Then she said that he was too rigid, too fierce, and that even if he stripped naked in front of her, she wouldn't be charmed. Was she humiliating him? Countless women dreamed of climbing into his bed. She, however, felt all sorts of disgust after sleeping on the same bed with him. Was he so embarrassing? He got up and approached her.

She was frightened and retreated step by step. This was bad. He was really angry. (This novel will be daily updated at)The woman he loved was Sandra, but she recklessly climbed into his bed. He must hate her now. What should she do? Panicky, she accidentally kicked the coffee table and fell backwards. The fall would be hard and painful. Seeing this, Kingston caught her by the waist and pulled her into his arms without hesitation. When she crashed into his arms, he lost his balance and both of them fell to the floor. Chapter 42 You Talk Too Much Today

She reacted as if she had been electrocuted and quickly left him.

"I didn't expect it. Do you believe me?"

She stuttered and almost bit her tongue.

Kingston's face was still dark as he stood up.

He looked at the sun. It rained heavily yesterday and the sun shone brightly today.

He ignored Krista and went to the bathroom to change his clothes before leaving.

The door closed, and she didn't come back to her senses.

Was this settled?

She exhaled and was relieved

Kingston called Quincy to pick him up. After getting in the car, he closed his eyes and frowned.

Finally, he pulled off his tie, unbuttoned his shirt, and lowered the window.

The cold wind blew in and he calmed down a lot.

"Is there something irritable bothering you?"

Hearing this, Kingston narrowed his eyes slightly.

Something irritable?

When he touched her lips, his mind was filled with desire.

He had a strong desire when he was drugged that night. After that, even when he met Sandra, he never had any evil thoughts.

He didn't dare to stay, so he hurriedly changed his clothes and came out, afraid that if he stayed any longer, he would lose himself.

"Quincy, do you think I'm rational?"

"You've always been a rational and calm person, but..."

He hesitated.

"Go on."

"That night you spent great power to find Ms. Hardin and insist on marrying her. I can't understand it. Ms. Hardin was innocent, but Ms. Compton was also innocent."

"Although you have no feelings, Ms. Compton didn't do anything wrong. She has done so many things for the family and eased the relationship between your mother and grandmother. But what awaits her is a divorce. This is not fair."

"Sandra is pregnant with my child. I must marry her."

"What about Ms. Compton?"

Quincy was a little unreconciled.

Quincy and Krista were not familiar with each other, and he had always listened to Kingston. But this time, he felt a pity for her.

Kingston's heart thumped more quickly. He was unable to calm down for a long time as if a wave had struck him.

Actually, he didn't feel anything when he divorced Krista.

However, they gradually understood each other better every time they met each other.

He knew her stubbornness, her helplessness, and her generosity.

But there was no use.

They were divorced, and Sandra was pregnant with his child. He could not leave Sandra alone.

Krista was his ex-wife, and that was all.

“In the future, I will care her much.”

“But...”

“Quincy, you said too much today.”

He said indifferently, with an undetectable coldness in his tone.

Quincy knew that he was angry and stopped speaking,

Quincy had explained to Sandra. He said that he had an important client that he had to meet, and he usually valued his work very much. Nothing could stop him, so Sandra believed him.

Kingston didn't want her to be angry because of Krista.

In the future, he wouldn't have any connection with her.

The weather improved and the classes resumed.

Aracely also came back.

She went to the airport as soon as the school was over.

Chapter 43 This Woman Looks Familiar

Aracely wore a pitch-black leather skirt, the Martin boots, and walked like a breeze.

When she saw Krista, she gave her a warm hug.

“Why are you so thin?”

"Are you praising me?"

"Of course not. I'm worried about you."

Aracely was a little angry.

Krista only smiled and did not respond.

She has been so thin since she was a child, perhaps because she couldn't get enough nutrition.

It was because of this that she did not look like a pregnant woman

Her stomach was flat although she had been pregnant for three and a half months.

She went to the hospital herself. Everything was fine with the fetus, which relieved her.

She was worried about the baby's growth.

Aracely took her to eat hot pot.

Krista used to only eat butter pot, but this time she ordered the two-flavor hot pot and didn't eat a single mouthful of spicy food.

"You don't like spicy food anymore?" Aracely frowned,

"No, it's just that my skin was allergic before, and now I can't eat spicy food." She hurriedly explained.

"Oh. Why did you and Kingston divorce?"

"As you said, he loved another woman abroad."

It was Aracely who told her this news.

Aracely was not surprised by this result. After all, Krista also wanted to divorce, and now it was a perfect match. Moreover, Kingston paid quite a few divorce fees. Every month, Krista received one million!

She was going to get rich by divorce.

After dinner, they went to the shopping mall to take a stroll and dissipate.

She saw Kingston and Sandra.

She quickly pulled Aracely away.

“Kingston? Who’s that woman?”

“Don’t you know her? It’s the woman he loves.”

“No, she’s not what I saw abroad.”

Aracely took out her phone.

Krista knew the woman in the photo. It was her who wanted to drug Kingston that night.

“This is his business partner.”

“Then I was wrong. I’ve seen that woman several times. But I’ve never seen this before.”

“It doesn’t matter. He does have someone he likes abroad and came back to divorce for her. Forget it, let’s not talk about her anymore. Let’s go somewhere else.”

“This woman ... I seem to be familiar with her, as if I have seen her before in Phelan City.”

She looked at Sandra and felt that she had an impression, but she couldn’t remember where she had seen her before.

“She used to live in Phelan City. You may met her by chance.”

“I don’t know. Forget it, let’s go.”

Aracely could not remember and could only give up.

However, she felt that it shouldn’t be a coincidence. She would have no impression of her if it was coincidence.

She seemed to have seen Sandra more than once or twice. She seemed to have appeared near the university town.

She didn’t continue to think about it and went somewhere else.

The next day, Aracely came back to school.

She was the most outstanding student in the Finance Department. She had completed her college credits at the age of nineteen. Now, she was recommended for a master’s degree.

Her back caused a sensation in the school, and there were many people chasing her.

However, Aracely didn't like any of them and only stayed with Krista every day.

Krista also had quite a few admirers. Aracely and Krista's styles were very different.

Aracely was like a rose with sharp thorns and hot fire.

Krista looked like a cold beauty, like a jasmine flower after the rain, with water droplets on it. The fragrance of the flowers was clear and cold.

She was quiet and gentle.

They walked in the campus together. This beautiful scenery attracted everyone.

"Are you working in your professor's studio?"

"Yes."

"Didn't you say that Kingston would pay you divorce fee?"

Chapter 44 My Opponent Is Mr. Hamm

"But I still want to live on my own. I don't want to spend his money. Earning money is not easy, Besides, a man's money should be used by his beloved woman. What if I use it?"

"Krista, why did we become friends? Why are you so kind? You've spent a year of your youth, and you deserve the divorce fee. Also, does Kingston need this little money? Are there any need for you to consider him?"

Aracely rolled her eyes in anger.

"I have a project with my mentor this afternoon. I can't accompany you anymore. You go to the library."

"I see."

The two parted ways from the cafeteria.

She was walking alone and she didn't expect that someone would suddenly rush out.

She had some impression that this man was a senior and the president of the Student Union.

“Senior?”

“I like you. Could you be my girlfriend?”

He took out a bunch of red roses.

Krista was stunned for a moment. Previously she married Kingston in secret so she always refused and said that she had a boyfriend.

Now she was single, but she didn't want to accept other people.

She hesitated and smiled, “Sorry... I have someone I like.”

“I know. You've always said that you have someone you like, but you're single. I'll graduate from school next year. Can't you give me a chance? If you don't give me a chance, how do you know I can't get into your heart?”

The senior was anxious,

Hearing this, Krista felt that his logic of thinking was so clear. She felt that what he said was right!

But...

She didn't like him.

If you don't like someone, you shouldn't play and hang around with him.

“Sorry, I like that person very much. Whether we are together or not, it will not change because I love him very much.”

Krista lied without any hesitation. In the past, she was a little guilty, but now that she had done this so many times. She casually repeated the same thing.

“Then tell me, why is he better than me? Please let me know why I lost.”

The senior was unwilling

“There is an insurmountable gap between him and me. I can't cross it. But when I graduate and have the ability, I will definitely use all my strength to rush over.”

She continued to talk nonsense, and was almost touched by herself.

"I understand. So my opponent is Mr. Hamm. I can't compare to him."

"Mr. Hamm?" She was stunned. She only fabricated a person. The senior actually helped her think of a suitable candidate.

"Isn't that so?"

"Yes, it's Mr. Hamm!"

"But so many people like him, and you are only one of them!"

"I don't care. Thank you very much for liking me. I also hope that one day, I will bravely pursue what I love like you. However, we really don't have any chance. Don't waste your time on me."

HY

Hearing this, the senior drooped his head and left in a daze.

She didn't know that there was a person standing across the small bamboo forest.

The headmaster showed Kingston around the school.

Kingston took part in charity activities, sponsored poor college students, and built a school building.

He was invited here this time to attend the centennial celebration of the school.

Once he entered the small bamboo forest, he stopped walking.

He saw Krista through the cracks.

Chapter 45 Take Her Home

She had someone she liked?

She was obstructed due to his status?

She would rush over once she graduated?

She always liked her teacher.

No wonder she went to Lance's studio as an intern.

No wonder she said he was too old and she would not be interested in him although he appeared naked in front of her. (This novel will be daily updated at) It was because that her heart belonged to Lance.

He narrowed his eyes, his chest burning with unknown anger.

The headmaster was confused, "Mr. Irwin, are you alright?" ||

He restrained his mind, "Continue."

"I plan to build a teaching building in this open space. It will be named after your name."

The headmaster continued to speak, his tone filled with excitement and cadence, but Kingston didn't listen.

Her mind was filled with Krista's words, and his gloomy minds were unable to disperse.

Krista didn't know that there was a big shot standing behind her.

Lance heard Krista's words just now, and he smiled implicitly. This girl seemed to be the student who got Kingston's order. He didn't expect that she secretly liked him.

This girl was pretty good.

Krista never thought that such nonsense would cause such a big misunderstanding.

A week later, the studio held a celebration banquet.

Lance had already received the deposit from the Irwin Group. (This novel will be daily updated at) There was ten million and he need make two high-quality suits.

Inside the five-star hotel room, everyone's faces were filled with smiles.

Everyone raised their glasses and toasted the great hero.

In the past, she could have had a few drinks.

But now she was pregnant, she didn't drink.

She drank several mouthfuls of drinks in lieu of wine.

Keely was about to raise her glass and drink with Lance, but Lance got up and walked towards Krista.

Her movements stiffened and she returned to her seat embarrassedly. Her hands under the table tightly clenched.

Lance drove at night, so he didn't drink.

Krista was flattered when he came.

She had attended Lance's public class and had benefited a lot. She admired him in her heart.

He was a good teacher and a renowned designer who could go abroad and design clothes for the British royal family.

He achieved such accomplishments at the age of twenty-eight and he was an idol in the hearts of countless people.

"I lack an assistant. Could you help me?(This novel will be daily updated at) I need you to hand over the details of this order in the future."

"Me?" She shook her head repeatedly, not wanting to see Kingston again.

"This is a big customer. Are you willing to give it to someone else?"

Hearing this, she hesitated.

Kingston was very generous. If he still had orders in the future, then she could also earn some money.

Although she really didn't want to hand over, she was really short of money. She needed so much money until the baby was born.

She wore a lot of clothes and the clothes were looser, so others could not find that she was pregnant.

She could hide it for a few more months.

She nodded and finally gave in to the money.

After dinner, everyone scattered and said goodbye to Lance.

The few of them shared a car.

There was one last seat, but Krista and Keely were both outside.

It costs at least fifty to take a taxi back from here.

Keely's family was not well off, so she was very frugal. (This novel will be daily updated at) Taking advantage of Krista's lack of attention, she slipped into the car.

Krista stood outside as the autumn wind blew and she sneezed.

She had to take a taxi back alone.

While Keely was feeling proud, Lance patted Krista's shoulder.

"I could take you back. It's not safe for you to take a taxi alone."

"Really? Thank you!"

She said gratefully and got into Lance's car.

Keely was so angry that her teeth itched when she saw this scene.

If she had known earlier, she would have stayed and could be alone with Mr. Hamm.

She must think of a way to shoo her away!
