Chapter 371 White Lightning And Red Souls

ROAAR!!

BLITZ!!

A flash of lightning zipped past Rex's vision hitting Intuma which is charging at him like a raging bull, the lightning knocked Intuma back even though Intuma is on its guard.

The white lightning surprises Intuma since it was not expecting to get attacked like this.

After knocking Intuma back, the white lightning materializes into a hulking figure as big as Intuma that is growling menacingly exposing its sharp teeth.

Rex looked at this figure before a smile crept onto his face, 'Just about time'

'Delta...'

The white lightning turns out to be Delta who is supposed to just finish evolving, her appearance change so much that Rex almost hardly recognizes her.

If he was to meet Delta now in the wild, he might not realize that it is her.

ROAR!!

Delta's roar was long and powerful making the surroundings tremble, all eyes are cast onto her no matter if it was the Undead army, the descendants, or even the black hands.

All of their attention was pulled to Delta, she was a magnificent sight to see.

Now that Delta has finished evolving, she looks way more menacing than she is before.

She is now way bigger than her previous self standing almost as tall as Intuma, her white fur becomes denser almost making her look like an oversized arctic wolf.

The black stripes on her body make her look similar to a tiger.

Her claws and fangs are longer and thicker making them look more terrifying than before. Delta's eyes also turn silvery in color, with a shade of red color around the area on her paw and mouth.

Not to mention the bones sticking out of her front legs and shoulders.

It's certainly due to the fact that Rex also gives him the Gebbo's Bone Essence,

Rex finds it surprising that Delta becomes this terrifying, he then scans Delta before he realized that Delta becomes way stronger, 'Peak sixth rank, that's more than expected', Rex thought.

<Delta - Silverstar Wolf>

Race: Stalwart Lightning Wolf

Power: Sixth Rank(Peak) - Hallowed Lightning

Mental: 351

Strength: 695

Agility: 881

Endurance: 722 (+100)

Intelligence: 410

Upon looking at Delta's stats, Rex found that her stats surpass the strong Undead's stats that he fought against before even though their stats are amplified by the surrounding death energy.

Delta surpassed their stats, not by much, but she still surpasses their stats!

But without any amplification of power from the surrounding death energy, Delta surpasses their stats by a notch which shows she not only become way more powerful than before but her power also puts her in the middle tier of a peak sixth rank realm.

She even got some points in intelligence stats thanks to the Hallowed Lightning.

Rex steps forward lightly before he stops beside Delta who is still growling menacingly at Intuma, he then taps the side of Delta's head making her silver eyes glance at Rex.

With a smile, Rex then asks lightly, "Are you ready?"

Hearing this, Delta growls lightly responding to Rex's question which makes Rex's smile wider.

Both of them are looking at each other with a meaningful look before their gazes went to Intuma who stepped back unconsciously, worried about the arrival of Delta.

Rex and Delta then quirk up a smile sending chills to Intuma,

But this time it's not a chill of anger, but chills of worry or even fear instead.

"Let's kill this deadbeat of an Undead", Rex said as his body started blitzing with black lightning.

Delta on the side also follows the same as her body sparks with white lightning, the two different lightning subtly collide with each other before suddenly.

BLITZ!!

Two different streaks of lightning headed towards Intuma,

White and black lightning intertwine with each other like a coiling snake, both of the lightning were so fast that it takes a fraction of a second to appear beside Intuma.

ROAR!

Intuma roared powerfully while readying itself to block the two incoming streaks of lightning, but its vision suddenly fazes as the two streaks of lightning collided with him.

BAM!

"Raarghh!", Intuma grunted as its body got flung back.

Rex and Delta didn't stop as they started attacking Intuma from all sides, their movements are lightning-fast and this overwhelmed Intuma who is having a hard time blocking all the attacks.

From the viewer's point of view,

A white and black streak of lightning intertwine with each other attacking Intuma relentlessly.

Just a couple of seconds into the fight, Intuma's body started to be filled with wounds as its power started to dwindle by the second.

Rex kept swinging his swords without pausing,

While Delta uses her strengthened claws to rip chunks of Intuma's rotten flesh, black blood started to be spilled into the surroundings as Intuma is unable to keep up with their speed.

Although Intuma has perfect vision, fighting two lightning-fast opponents is too much.

Even with its reaction speed that is as good as Rex and added with its rich battle experience, Intuma's body was just too slow to deal with two nimble and fast opponents.

The Undead who are looking at Intuma being overwhelmed started to tremble,

Seeing that their leader who is also the strongest amongst them gets slashed down slowly, the unwavering fear grips the Undead who has a bit of intelligence in their heads.

They realize that their company is doomed with their leader on the way to its death.

Some surviving liches and other higher-ranked Undead started fleeing silently, while the zombies and ghouls that have little to no intelligence covered their tracks by keeping on the fight.

Crack!

Delta bites Intuma's shoulder powerfully, a cracking sound can be heard as Intuma's sturdy bones crack under Delta's jaw strength.

Intuma wails in pain as it can feel its own body losing strength,

With a twist of Delta's head, Intuma's huge body got flung into the air like a sack of meat.

Rex then appeared out of nowhere with both swords ready, black lightning and red force crackles on his swords before he swung them with all his might.

Looking at this, Intuma widens its eyes and conjures a protection spell around its body.

BOOM!

The powerful swing slammed Intuma to the ground as the ground trembled, and the protection spell that Intuma just chanted got destroyed easily.

It can't handle Rex's powerful swing as its body got crashed to the ground.

'Let's try the new skill I got', Rex thought as he activate the new skill which he received from merging Whiro's necklace of fear and Amulet of Sorrow.

Rex points his hand as glows with a red wicked aura, "Decimation Fervor!"

SWOOSH!

Upon using the skill, Rex saw hundreds of red souls coming from all around him and started to charge at Intuma who is already lying on the ground weakly with a broken body.

Its bodies are astral with hardly any noticeable feature, they look more like bodiless ghosts.

The red souls clawed Intuma fiercely forcing a painful roar out of Intuma's mouth.

<Calculating Intuma's Malovelent Souls...>

<11% souls retrieved!>

<10% threshold has been reached. Intuma is suffering from immense mental pain, all attacks directed at Intuma will be enhanced by 11%>

Reading the system notification, Rex was quite surprised.

The wicked aura skill from Whiro's necklace of fear only grants him an enhanced fearsome aura, and he doesn't know what the new skill malefic from Amulet of Sorrow can do.

Since he instantly merges the two skills together, Rex still doesn't know until now.

That is why seeing the system's notifications greatly intrigued Rex, but he puts that aside for now as he kicks the air using red force to propel him at Intuma.

Rex saw that the red souls went inside Intuma's body,

Intuma then started to wail on the ground while clawing its own head as if being possessed, Intuma didn't even put on its guard as Rex was about to stab him.

With both swords at hand, Rex stabbed them right on Intuma's chest.

He didn't wait for Intuma to regain consciousness as he gave Intuma a decisive attack.

Shatter!

<Killed a peak sixth rank Supernatural, Obtained 33,000,000 Exp>

Rex's thrust unconsciously lands directly on Intuma's deathcore killing it instantly, he nodded his head when the system's notification appear giving him quite a hefty amount of exp.

After killing Intuma, the rest of the Undead are easy pickings.

Twenty minutes later,

"Good job Delta", Rex praised while patting Delta's head.

While patting Delta's head, Rex glanced at Intuma's corpse, 'What were those red souls? That's really ominous', he thought with a frown.

The red souls look bizarre and they all bore somekind of hatred for Intuma.

Rex can tell because of how the red souls roar at Intuma who is wailing on the ground before he struck Intuma dead, it's clear the red souls resent Intuma.

But he then decided to check the skill description later,

Rex walks back alongside Delta to the descendants and black hands,

Evelyn and the others look at Rex in awe but Rex realized that their gazes are directed to Delta, and he couldn't blame them since Delta is very different than before.

She even manages to reach the peak sixth rank, her presence alone is heavy.

"Congratulation Rex, it seems your Zeragon Pet has evolved successfully", Dray said from the side with a wide smile congratulating Rex.

The others also soon follow making Rex wave his hand

Liliya then approaches Delta hesitantly before she glances at Rex and asks, "She's gorgeous, will she bite if I pat her too?"

"Go right ahead, she knows you so it's fine", Rex replied.

Seeing the others react normally without mentioning the red souls appearing out of nowhere, Rex frowned as he thought, 'Did they not see that?'

But then Rex's attention was pulled to Dray's back as he asks, "How are the others?"

Upon hearing this, Dray looks back to the place where Morana and the other healer are tending to the wounded descendants and black hands using their spells.

Some of the black hands are also injured badly,

When Rex said badly he means really bad, some of them lost a couple of limbs and have their skins corroded with death energy.

Fighting thousands of Undead is still a heavy task,

Rex didn't expect this to go so badly, he looks around and finds that everyone is tired not excluding himself who exert more energy to take down Intuma.

Even Gistella is looking tired standing on the side,

'That fight must've exhausted them all, it's an army of Undead against a handful of us so it's to be expected', Rex thought with a sigh.

Just looking at this scene makes Rex realizes the ridiculousness of the mission,

The UWO told the descendants and the SCO to take out five companies of Undead consisting of thousands of Undead, it was more like 1 person against 500 Undead.

But Rex is thankful nevertheless since he found none of them died,

Even the weakest of his team survived, the woman only has a few injuries around her body.

Rex then approaches Morana who is tending the wounded and saw that her spell is working slowly, it's clear that her mana is exhausted since the death energy is also fighting back.

He also found Evelyn leaning weakly by the side, the fight takes a huge chunk of her stamina.

The descendants and the SCO are not like him who has the regenerative ability and super stamina, they need at least a day or two before taking out the next company.

Especially since Rex knows what leads the next company of Undead,

Although Rex doesn't want to admit it, the next company will be even harder to deal with compared to Intuma's company.

'I don't think this team can survive fighting the next Undead company', Rex thought.

He then looks at the far end to his side where the forest lies before he frowns, 'Should we wait for Gerrard's team? No... their team might be in a similar state'

With that, Rex told the descendants and the SCO team to rest for now.

"Should we go back to the city? The other company might just come here and attack us", Dray said in worry, the company that Seve found is not far from here.

There might be a chance that they will attack the vulnerable descendants and black hands.

But hearing this, Rex shakes his head determinedly, "You don't have to worry about that, they won't come here so just rest here"

Dray was skeptical for a moment but he eventually nodded his head.

"I'm going to be there for a moment, call me if something happened", Rex points at a huge rock on his left before he walks away with a frown on his face.

Gistella saw this as she also follows Rex to the side.

Just from Rex's expression alone, Dray can see that something is in Rex's mind.

After about six hours after the fight against Intuma's company, the descendants and black hands are resting as the wounded fall asleep.

The better ones keep an eye for any wandering Undead,

While they are resting from the fight they had, Rex is sitting on a huge rock unmoving while looking in the direction where another city lies.

It's the place where Seve found the other Undead company,

Rex is looking at the city with a thinking mind before he glances at Gistella who is sitting beside the rock below, "How powerful is the leader again?"

"She's a mid-sixth rank, master...", Gistella replied.

Hearing this, Rex dwells inside his head again trying to find a way to meddle through this situation without having any casualties.

Although the leader is a mid-sixth rank, that is not the main problem.

Gistella confirms that the leader of the next company of Undead is a mid-sixth rank Rusalka that is adept in trap spells, but what concerns Rex more is the presence beside the Rusalka.

'They are turtling since they have a Rusalka and an Enchanter', Rex thought.

The presence standing beside the Rusalka is an Enchanter, a being that is revered by all of the Supernatural thanks to their wide range of buff spells.

An Enchanter is essential during the war, and they are also the most guarded.

From the information he got, Rex concluded that the Enchanter is staying with the Rusalka just to buy time until the reinforcement arrives.

The buff spell from the Enchanter and the trap spells from the Rusalka is a deadly combination.

Rex glanced to the Eqosa City direction that still can be seen from here up on a hill before he thought, 'They're planning to attack Eqosa City with the Werewolf reinforcement, having an enchanter will surely seal the destruction of Eqosa City'

'We need to do something', he looks down with a sigh trying to think of a solution.

Another hour passed as Rex meditate on the huge rock,

Gistella is also recovering her mana but she suddenly opens her eyes when she senses that Rex moved, she looks up at Rex before she saw Rex standing with wide eyes.

"What's wrong master?", she asks in confusion.

But Rex didn't answer her as his eyes kept getting wider, an evil smirk then appears on Rex's face before he jumped down landing beside Gistella.

Gistella is looking at Rex in confusion,

The evil smile on Rex's face is evident as he just thought of a nasty plan that is plausible and has a high chance to work, "Let's go back to the others"

"I'll kill that Enchanter this night myself", he added grinning mischievously.

Chapter 372 Phonecalls

"I'll kill that Enchanter this night myself", Rex said while grinning mischievously.

Upon hearing this, Gistella was confused as to the sudden change in Rex's vibe from gloomy to horrifyingly cheerful in a snap.

The grin on Rex's face didn't fade as they walks back to the descendants,

Rex went back to the others with wide strides making Dray who is sitting on the ground jolt up, the surrounding place is a badland so there's almost nothing except for rocks.

This is why Intuma's company spotted them easily earlier.

Nothing can act as their cover thanks to the very bad terrain that looks like a dead plain with hardly anything around, dead trees are the only thing besides rocks around here.

Dray stands up before he approaches Rex,

Seeing the grin on Rex's face can't help but make Dray think that Rex just thought of a plan, the gloomy vibe around him vanishes instantly.

Rex then glances at Liliya and Velten before signaling them both to come here.

While standing in front of the three, Rex then asks while looking at the resting wounded, "How many able people that can still move around freely?"

"My team is still completely fine except for two people", Velten replied.

Liliya glance at her team before she added, "About three, we got hit hard by the liches"

"Six Awakened can still go including me, the rest can hardly move with the injuries they sustained", Dray added in turn with a helpless sigh.

Although none of them died, the aftermath is gruesome leaving only a handful.

Hearing this, Rex nodded his head since this much is enough for the plan that he just thought of, "Pick half of them to go around this place to search for the Undead that manages to flee"

"I can feel their presence still hiding around here, so they shouldn't be too far", he added.

The sudden instruction makes the three frown since the ones that flee the battlefield are the stronger ones, it'll be difficult to catch them all, especially with the condition they are in.

While Dray and Velten can only frown after hearing Rex's instructions,

Liliya who also thought the same thing as them speaks their mind, "The ones that manage to run are all at least fifth rank and above, it'll be hard to find and kill them"

"I'm not asking you to kill the Undead", Rex suddenly replied.

This makes the three look at Rex in confusion before he added, "I want you to capture them"

"Capture them? That is more difficult than killing them", Liliya rebutted upon hearing this, capturing the Undead is a harder thing to do than killing them on the spot.

Dray also nodded his head in agreement from the side, "They won't just let themselves be captured, it's practically almost impossible to catch them with the state we're currently in"

While the three of them are complaining, Rex shook his head.

"I'm not asking for much, just about twenty or thirty of them will be fine. The three of you will stick together, and I'll also try to capture some myself", Rex said shrugging his shoulders.

After a moment of persuading the three, they finally agreed.

It's due to the fact that Rex told them to group up and capture the Undead one by one.

Rex also told the three of them to meet back here before the sun goes down just like before, but they can go back earlier if they manage to catch enough Undead.

Aside from that, Rex also emphasize that he didn't need too many.

'It'll be hard to restrain many of them at one go, about thirty is probably enough right?', Rex thought rubbing his chin in thought.

But he eventually decided that it was enough,

While Rex was about to mount Delta, his eyes were suddenly attracted to Evelyn who is sitting amidst the wounded Awakened and black hands.

She glances at Rex questioningly making Rex sigh,

Rex approaches Evelyn who is looking at him with a demanding look before he said, "We're going to capture the Undead that manages to flee, you stay here and rest"

"Why do you need to capture them? What are you planning?", Evelyn asks with a frown.

Although the wounds on her body have already been healed by Morana, she is still exhausted thanks to the Pneuma Spell that she just cast before.

Even Rex himself can only do ether blink so much,

The Pneuma Spell is a very powerful spell that contains a mix of mana and spiritual energy, it's taxing to use especially for those who are not used to using the spell.

Hearing this, Rex smiles mysteriously as he replied, "I won't go into the details"

"But all you need to know is that if this plan works, you guys don't need to fight the other company of Undead", Rex added making Evelyn even more curious about his plan.

When she was about to persuade Rex to tell her the plan,

Rex beats her to it as he glances at Evelyn, "You need some explaining to do", he said.

"Explaining? What kind of explanation do you wa-", Evelyn mutters but then she suddenly realized as her words stop mid-track.

Her expression makes Rex smirk as he added, "That spell earlier, that's sound magic isn't it?"

Evelyn can only smile back mysteriously mocking Rex's reluctance to tell her about the plan, she then replied with a teasing look, "All you need to know is that it's a secret", she replied before giving Rex a teasing wink.

'This woman...!', Rex thought feeling a bit annoyed since Evelyn used his line on himself.

After sighing, Rex finally turns to his back-mounted Delta before he glances at Gistella, "You go with the other team and protect them, I don't want anything to happen to them do you understand?"

"Yes master, I'll protect them with my life", Gistella replied, bowing her body slightly.

Hearing this, Rex was caught off guard.

He looks at Gistella and finds that she's serious about what she said, Rex then can't help but say, "Just do your utmost best, don't throw your life easily"

After saying that, Rex signals to Dray, Velten, and Liliya before they all move out.

~

Meanwhile, Faraday University.

Rex's room,

After the accident last night where a sniper takes action even though they are on the university ground, Edward and Kyran become alert.

They told Adhara about last night's attack as she too becomes alert,

Edward already told them that it's unlikely for the sniper to come from the Atkins Family since the Atkins Family doesn't have anyone like that, but it's not fixed since they might hire someone.

But still, no one mad enough will accept an assassination inside the university ground.

Kyan also explains that the sniper seems to not be an Awakened, he told Adhara and Edward that there's no sign of mana coming from the sniper's body.

Even when the sniper uses the red energy to escape, Kyran can feel that it's not mana.

Then again, the sniper's target is not to assassinate but rather to kidnap Ryze which makes the three of them confused as to who the identity of the sniper is.

Because of having Rex's parents and Adhara's father as a guest,

Mrs. Greene and Robert slept in Rex's room, and Adhara's father sleep in the empty room.

Adhara let Rex's parents sleep in the master bedroom while she went to sleep in Rosie's room, while Edward sleeps on the sofa since he doesn't have any choice.

Sleeping with Adhara's father is out of the option because turns out he's a heavy snorer.

He decided to just stay here in Rex's room, sticking together will be better until Rex got back.

The sun is already up in the sky as Adhara steps out of her room with the two daggers that Rex gives her in her hands, her workout outfit shows that she was about to train.

Upon passing the guest room, she found Edward playing with his phone.

"Edward, What are you doing?", she asks making Edward turns his head to her.

Hearing this, Edward turns his attention back to his phone again before he shows the screen to Adhara, "Look! The UWO and the SCO's meeting has been officially announced"

"Really? When is the official date?", Adhara mutters taking Edward's phone.

Adhara scans through the news and finds that there's no fixed date yet, but the UWO has officially announced that they will be allying with the SCO to fight the Supernatural strongholds.

The people have a positive view of this, they all support the alliance between the UWO and SCO.

After reading through the news, Adhara gives back the phone to Edward before she leans her cheek on the sofa Edward is sitting on and asks, "Do you want to spar with me?"

"Oh? Are you feeling confident to actually challenge me again?", Edward replied teasingly.

This makes Adhara pouted, she has to admit that even though in terms of Awakened power they both are in the same realm, Edward's skills in close combat are still way above her.

She spars with Edward a couple of times while Rex is gone, but she ended up in defeat still.

"This time, we can use our elements during the spar", Adhara said with a grin.

Hearing this, Edward sighs as he knows what Adhara is planning, "Do you really want to beat me that much? Rex will certainly be disappointed"

"Shut up!", Adhara rebutted making Edward chuckle.

But when Adhara was about to ask again, the sound of a door opening and closing can be heard making Adhara poke her head to see the hallway.

"Father? Are you going out?", Adhara asks as she saw her father coming out of the room.

Russ glanced at Adhara and Edward briefly before he scratch his head and said while still walking towards the entrance of the room, "I feel like a prisoner in here, I'm going out to smoke"

Adhara glance at Edward with a meaningful look before he instantly knows what she means,

"Let me accompany you, sir! I also want to get some fresh air", Edward stands up from his seat.

Seeing this, Russ waves his hand, "Suit yourself"

The both of them leave the room leaving Adhara alone, she sighs when she finds that there is no one else that she can ask to spar with.

Adhara wanted to ask Kyran but he seems to be in a bad mood.

Kyran is in grumpy mode since he got back from the hospital, Adhara even notice that he sometimes sneaks out but she didn't remind him or anything.

It's just useless to forbid Kyran from doing anything, she decided to just leave him be for now.

As long as he didn't leave the university building, Adhara is okay with it.

Without having no other choice, Adhara decided to just go train in the training ground alone intending to try the daggers that Rex give again.

Even though it's still early,

The training ground is already packed with students training, all of them are training hard trying to get stronger showing that they're quite dedicated.

Adhara even finds some regular faces here, she got motivated upon seeing this.

The golden orb above Adhara attracted the students' attention since it shows that Adhara is one of the top-ranker, she was just below Rex and above Kevin who is number three in the university.

If he wanted to, Edward can take the third rank from Kevin.

With the black fire that he had from getting influenced by Kyran's darkness, his element should match or be even stronger than Kevin's dark fire.

But it seems Edward is not interested in rankings,

"Is that the daggers that she used before?"

"Yeah! I think so, will she burn another room to a crisp this time again?"

"I think that daggers are a high-rank equipment, for Adhara to not be able to control the daggers shows that the daggers are at least sixth rank or above"

The students around started gossiping as Adhara walks past them.

Adhara heard all of this which makes her cover her face in embarrassment, the last time she used the daggers she accidentally exploded the entire quiet room leaving it in maintenance ever since.

Her purple fire went havoc every time she tries to activate the dagger,

Even though all of her attention went to controlling the daggers as she imbued them with purple fire slowly, she never last for more than ten seconds before the purple fire went chaotic.

Adhara was about to head to a quiet room that she usually uses,

But the room is still under maintenance which makes her go to the room beside it, she was about to enter the quiet room before suddenly someone called her from the back.

"Adhara!", a manly voice called out from the back.

Hearing this, Adhara turns around and finds a guy approaching him.

Adhara squints her eyes while she looks at the guy since she finds the guy's face is familiar, even the guy's smell is familiar signing that she definitely has met this guy before.

The guy stops in front of Adhara with a smile and said, "Do you remember me?"

"Have we met before? You look familiar", Adhara replied bluntly.

Upon hearing this, the guy felt hurt but he was not complaining as he said, "My name's Brock, I'm also a part of Ochyra University's team back when you and Rex participate in the tournament in Faraday University"

"Oh, right...", Adhara mutters with an awkward smile.

Although Brock already told her who he is, Adhara still can't remember him.

With a wry smile, Brock then scratches his head before he asks, "Sorry if I interrupt you, I just wanted to ask if you see Rex anywhere. I wanted to meet him before I go back"

"Rex? I'm sorry, he's not in the university currently", Adhara replied lightly.

Meanwhile, just beside the university's entrance.

Edward and Russ are smoking near the entrance as they enjoy the sunlight.

Although Edward looks calm, he's actually really alert since they're outside of the university ground even though the entrance of the university is just by them.

The attack from before shows that the sniper is willing to go to extreme lengths.

Both of them talk about the military since that is what they have in common, they're chatting while looking at the busy street filled with cars and motorcycles passing by.

While they both are talking and smoking calmly,

There comes a point where they both just enjoyed smoking in silence, but after exhaling deeply a frown suddenly appears on Edward's face, 'Wait a minute...', he thought.

'Now that I thought about it, Where is Ari?', he thought in confusion.

Although the sniper attack suddenly from afar which is very hard to track if not for Kyran, Ari is nowhere to be seen even after Kyran confronted the sniper.

He was supposed to be always on the lookout in the university,

'I also didn't find the two Awakened that are supposed to guard Rex's parents' house', Edward thought again, Edward frowned while thinking this.

Back when he went to Rex's parents' house,

Edward didn't pay much attention but now that he thought about it, he didn't meet with the two Awakened from the Reed Family that are supposed to guard the house.

But while he's thinking, his phone suddenly rings.

"I'm going to answer this for a moment", Edward said to Russ after throwing his cigarette to the ground before stepping on it.

Russ nodded his head nonchalantly,

Edward then walks a bit to the side and answers the phone, "Zelene? Why are you calling me this time? Did you miss me already?"

"Uncle? What's wrong with him?", Edward asks with a frown.

Zelene on the other side said something which makes Edward starts to frown again, he then immediately replied, "Okay, I'll check on uncle when I have the time"

After saying that, Edward turns off his phone before he went back to Russ.

But his phone suddenly rings again,

This time, Edward looks at the caller before he slides the answer button, "Linda? Is there something wrong?", he asks.

"Right now? Can you tell president Vargas about this?"

"Okay that's fine, just send them here"

"Don't worry, I'll be careful. At least help us reach for Rex when he got back"

After saying that, Edward puts his phone down before heading back to Russ.

Russ glanced at Edward and saw there was an urgency in his expression, Edward then said, "Sir, let's go back inside after you're done smoking"

Chapter 373 The Daggers Problem

Faraday University, Training Ground.

"Woah!"

"They're completely even, I was not expecting this"

"I know that he's strong since he even manages to match Kevin but to actually fight Adhara and stand his ground... It shouldn't be possible"

The crowd of students is circling an arena where two people are currently fighting.

Adhara is moving her body nimbly as she dodges and counter-attacks the Awakened in front of him, she looks like she's dancing with two daggers in her hands.

With how much she uses daggers, her movements are not stiff anymore.

Every step and tilt of her body is decisive and has meaning behind it, she already thought of the next attack as she moves around the arena.

It's clear that fighting Edward gave her some insights,

'Edward's move is very efficient, every part of his body moves just enough to block any attacks. I can't land any hits on him, maybe that's why he's nicknamed the turtle', Adhara thought.

While fighting inside the arena, she's thinking about the spar she had with Edward.

Not only Edward's fighting style is way above her league, but even when she tries something new Edward already anticipated her new attack.

It's almost as if he can read her mind,

But the more she fights with Edward, the more Adhara realized that it's not that he can read her mind but Edward is always thinking ahead.

He thinks of what possible attack his opponents might do after this.

Adhara now is trying to incorporate that insight into her fighting style, she kept trying to figure out her opponent's next move after she attacks.

CLANG!

The daggers she's using right now are not the two daggers that Rex gave, she only uses normal daggers that are provided in the training ground.

Brock is the one fighting her right now,

He's using battle gloves as he manages to block Adhara's attack, but a smile is plastered on his face as he kept exchanging blows with Adhara.

The fight excites him so much that he can't cover his smile,

"You're quite good, I didn't expect you to get stronger this fast", Adhara said with a smile.

Hearing this, Brock also smiles back as he replied, "I worked very hard after you guys left to reach where I am today, but it seems I need to work harder"

BAM!

Adhara kicks Brock but he manages to block it with his arms,

The kick pushes Brock a couple of feet away creating space between them, but when he raises he suddenly saw Adhara in her battle stance as her expression turns serious.

"Let's keep this interesting", she said as her daggers blazed with purple fire.

SWOOSH!

The purple fire coated Adhara's daggers as the surrounding temperature rise, the students around her can feel the blazing purple fire even from outside of the arena.

Brock smiles wryly upon seeing this, he tenses his muscle when Adhara dashes toward him.

CLANG!!

A powerful shockwave of purple fire splashes to the surrounding, Brock manages to block Adhara's attack by also activating his elemental aura.

The battle gloves that he wears glow with a silvery aura and they manage to block the attack.

"I thought we're not using spells", Brock said after blocking Adhara's attack.

Adhara smiles in reply as she said while putting more mana into the daggers making them blaze more brightly than before, "I didn't use any"

Upon the denser mana in the daggers,

The fiery daggers slowly penetrate Brock's silvery aura that coated his battle gloves, Brock notices this as he intends to back away.

But Adhara spins her body as she kept attacking Brock relentlessly,

Every swing of her arms is followed by another attack, she didn't only use her daggers but also all of her limbs giving Brock no time to recover.

It's like her attacks are in rhyme with each other,

The students watching this fight were mesmerized as they saw how Adhara attacks Brock without a pause pushing him back, but they also notice that Brock is holding on to his own.

With the relentless attack, any others will succumb easily.

Brock kept blocking and counter-attacking each of Adhara's attacks, only a handful of Adhara's attacks such as her kicks and punch manage to land solid hits.

But every time she swings her daggers, Brock manages to block it.

It's clear that Brock emphasizes blocking the deadlier attack, although some of Adhara's attacks landed on his body he still knows the priorities.

He also landed quite a bit of hit on Adhara, this shows his power just from that.

'He's solid, even better than Kyran probably', Adhara thought.

Clang!

Adhara's eyes flash as she dashes forward again, she appears on Brock's left with both of her daggers ready to slash in a horizontal manner.

But Brock manages to block this attack easily with his battle gloves,

BAM!

Then suddenly, a kick reaches Brock's jaw snapping his head to the right catching him off guard.

Seeing that she landed a solid hit that seems to daze Brock, Adhara smiles as she successfully predicted Brock's movement and follows up another attack.

The satisfied smile can be seen on her face as she keep raining attacks,

CLANG!

BAM!

Brock raises his arms blocking Adhara's daggers from above, he then flicks his arms which pushes Adhara on the air back before she landed forty feet away.

Even after successfully pushing Adhara back, Brock is not in a good state.

He looks at his battle gloves and finds the metal plate on the gloves is already dented, they're on the brink of shattering from Adhara's relentless attack.

Aside from that, he's also feeling dizzy from the kick that landed on his jaw.

Adhara also notice this, she saw the bad condition Brock is in as she said, "You're quite good but let's end this"

BOOM!

The ground cracked as Adhara's eyes burned with purple fire, her aura blasted to the surroundings as it cracks the ground beneath her feet.

All of the students can feel the amount of mana gathers onto her body,

It's almost unbelievable that she's still a peak fifth rank, even some of the students believed that Adhara is equivalent to a sixth rank just from mana alone.

"If you say it like that, I can't help but get excited"

BOOM!

Brock also didn't lose out as the silvery aura blasted from his body, he was smiling excitedly while looking at Adhara who is engulfed in purple flames.

Although his mana is not as much as Adhara, he still doesn't lose out.

'He's an early fifth rank but has this much mana? He must've trained hard', Adhara thought while tensing her muscles as she looks at Brock.

Both of them gathers mana crazily onto their weapons,

The purple fire even turns the entire daggers that Adhara is holding into purple, it's supposed to be metallic but now the daggers turn purple thanks to the ridiculous mana Adhara gathers.

But when Adhara's eyes glister intending to finish the fight,

Shatter!

Her movement stops when a shattering sound can be heard, she glances at the daggers in her hands and found that the blade shatters from the concentrated mana.

Just when the students were on their edges, Adhara's daggers shatter.

"A pity, I was just about to give it all I have", Brock suddenly said as he retracts back his aura.

Adhara who just snapped out of her daze glanced at Brock, her face started to redden in embarrassment before she said, "You would've lost if we clash"

"I know", Brock said with a smile.

A moment later,

Brock and Adhara walk side by side as they leave the arena

The student moves aside as they look at them in awe, their fight is spectacular even though they didn't use any spells whatsoever.

"Why didn't you use that daggers?", Brock suddenly asks.

His eyes are looking at the beautiful daggers that Adhara is holding right now, just from a glance Brock can tell these daggers are powerful, he can instantly tell.

Hearing this, Adhara looks at the daggers before she sighs, "I still can't control it"

"You can't control it...?", Brock mumbles in surprise.

But then Adhara can't help but asks, "Your battle gloves..."

"Are you trying to copy Rex or something? Just from the looks of them, I can tell that it's almost similar to Rex's battle gloves' design", she added.

Brock turns his head away with a reddened face as he replied, "It must be your imagination"

The both of them then part as Adhara intends to train some more,

Brock told Adhara that he will be going back to Ochyra University and asked if she and Rex can visit sometimes, she parted ways with Brock right after that.

Inside one of the quiet rooms,

Adhara closes her eyes as she steadies her breathing after the spar against Brock, she was now holding both of the daggers in her hands in the middle of the room.

Since she knows what happened if she imbued mana too fast before,

This time, Adhara slowly imbued fire mana to both of the daggers after her breathing is steady.

Swoosh...

A subtle breeze of purple fire started to spark from the daggers, Adhara is putting all of her focus on the daggers trying to control the mana imbued in the daggers.

Opening her eyes, Adhara can see the daggers slowly blazing in purple flame.

The dagger's rune in Adhara's left hand started to glow with a purple hue amplifying the purple flame greatly, she then turns her eyes to the right trying to activate the rune slowly.

But just right when the rune on the dagger in her right-hand sparks a bit,

SWOOSH!

The purple flame went out of control as the daggers turn purple in color, even the handle of the daggers turn scorching hot that even making Adhara let go.

"How did that happen? I'm burned?", Adhara mutters in disbelief.

From all her times being a Fire Elementalist, not once has she ever been burned by her own fire which shouldn't have happened in the first place.

This is something that she didn't expect, "Let me try it again"

SWOOSH!

SWOOSH!

Adhara kept trying but she fails at the exact time as last time,

Everytime the rune on the right dagger glows even for a bit, the violet flame that she possesses started going out of control as if it's gotten injected by steroids.

BOOM!

"Arghh!", Adhara grunted as she got slammed to the wall behind her.

She fall to the ground kneeling on four with heavy breaths, it's been hours that she tries to at least control the daggers longer but it seems it's futile.

There's no progress even when she tried her best,

"I'll ask Rex about this later", Adhara sigh as she takes the daggers with a complicated look and left the training ground dejectedly.

Now Adhara is heading back to her room,

'I can't train to use these daggers that easily', Adhara thought with a sigh.

But she then looks at the daggers with a frown, 'Maybe I'm just not strong enough...'

After walking through the university's hallway while greeting the students that greeted her first, Adhara arrives at the room and finds Edward is already back.

"Where is my father?", Adhara asks.

Hearing this, Edward then replied nonchalantly, "He's in his room"

"What about Rex's parents? Where are they?", Adhara asks after realizing that she didn't see Rex's parents this day.

Edward stands up from the sofa before he replied, "Mrs. Greene is in the kitchen with the maids, Robert just got out to look around the university accompanied by a lecturer"

"And... Where are you going?", Adhara asks seeing that Edward is preparing to leave.

Without even stopping, Edward walks towards the door while saying, "I'm going to check on someone, it won't take long. I'll be back"

"Are you leaving the university? Right now?", Adhara asks in concern.

The attack just happened this night, there's no guarantee that he might not get ambushed again by the sniper when he walks out of the university.

"It's unlikely for the sniper to attack again", Edward replied.

But Adhara stopped him and said again, "What about the Atkins Family?"

"They will not know where I'm going, relax, I'm going to be careful okay? Why are you so worried about me anyway?", Edward said making Adhara reluctantly let go.

Adhara then added, "If something happens, Rex will obviously blame me"

"Nothing will happen don't worry, I'll be back in a few hours", Edward finally said as he left the room leaving Adhara alone again.

Just when she was about to check on Kyran,

"Adhara! Come here and taste the coconut milk-braised chicken that I made", Mrs. Greene suddenly shouted from the kitchen stopping Adhara who is in front of Kyran's room.

Hearing this, Adhara then glances at Mrs. Greene, "I'm coming!"

Meanwhile, Inside Kyran's room.

"You know who attacked us didn't you?", Kyran suddenly said while playing with a lump ball of darkness in his hand, he throws the ball and catches it while glancing at Ryze.

Ryze who is sitting by the bed widens his eyes, "I- I don't know"

"You're awfully quiet even after knowing a killer is coming after you, am I just supposed to leave you be when I know you're hiding something?", Kyran added while eyeing Ryze.

Under Kyran's gaze, Ryze can only lower his gaze to the ground.

With a trembling voice, Ryze then said meekly, "L-let's wait for Rex..."

"Wait for Rex? I'm going to deal with this before Rex comes back. Did that sniper really think he can just leave unscathed after doing that to us?", Kyran mutters angrily.

He then looks out the window and mutters, "I'm going to take his arms at least"

"No...I'm going to kill that sniper before Rex comes back"

Hearing this, Ryze suddenly glance at Kyran with a surprised look, "K-Kill him? Isn't that too a bit too much? W-We should wait for Rex"

"You're saying that it's okay for him to kill us but not the other way around?", Kyran replied sharply.

His body started to get coated by dark mana as he glare at Ryze sharply, even his eyes glowed with a dark light making Ryze's body trembles, "I- I didn't mean it like that"

Kyran then scoffed, "Huh! It's obvious that you know the sniper",

"If you don't tell me who that sniper is, I'm going to rip his throat in front of you", Kyran added while smiling evilly exposing his fangs that are slowly growing sharper.

~

Meanwhile,

RAARGH!

Rex just kicks a fat Zombie sending it crashing away, he deliberately pulls his kick so as to not kill the fat zombie because he needs to capture it.

After sending the fat Zombie crashing away, Rex finds that the fat Zombie can't move its body.

Although Rex said to capture the Undead that manages to flee, the state they're currently brought it doesn't matter as long as they're still alive.

With that, Rex carries the fat Zombie and dashes away.

In a place not far from where Rex captures the fat Zombie, Delta can be seen guarding about 18 Undead that has already had their bones broken by Rex.

Not one of them can move their bodies, even their regenerative ability was blocked.

The white lightning that Delta possesses was powerful enough to suppress the Undead, and with that, the Undead can't do anything except succumb to Rex's mercy.

"19 Undead, the others should get the rest", Rex mutters after counting the Undead.

He then proceed to tie the Undead that he captured together using a rope that he bought from the system before he linked them to Delta.

"It'll be dark soon, let's go", Rex said after mounting Delta.

With a kick from Rex's heel Delta dashes away while drawing the captured Undead behind her, they dash through the dead plain like a white ghost.

Not one mutated animal can be seen near them,

Delta's aura alone gives them imminent fear as she's a peak sixth rank mutated animal right now, only a handful of mutated animals are stronger than her.

In this place, there might not be one mutated animal that reaches the sixth rank.

While Delta is galloping like a gust of wind, Rex glance in the city direction where the next company of Undead lies, "I'm going to enjoy killing my first Enchanter", he mutters excitedly as a smirk appeared on his face.

'After this, the mission is finished. I can go to the Vampire territory then', Rex thought.

The thought of killing Ana Delarosa makes his body boils, he can't wait to play with that Vampire before he kills her brutally for kidnapping Rosie like that.

But this makes Rex looks to the sky as he wonders, 'I hope she can hold on there...'

Chapter 374 Drunk

After leaving the room, Edward instantly heads to the entrance of the university.

Just before he heads to the entrance, he didn't forget to stop by his room.

He changed wore a brown hoody jacket and a black hat to cover his face, the daggers are sheathed on his waist but are covered by the hoody jacket.

The sun is still up and the university's hallway is crowded with students that just finished their class, Edward walks passed them putting his hands in his pockets.

Edward glances around warily before he heads to the university's entrance,

None of the students greets him as he fast walk to exit the university ground, he then ordered a taxi before he got in and left while still keeping on his guard.

Although he looks nonchalant about what Adhara said earlier,

He knows how dangerous this endeavor might be with Rex still on the mission, this will give a perfect opportunity for Wesley Atkins to make his move knowing that Rex is not around.

'If I were them, I'll definitely use this opportunity to strike', Edward thought with a frown.

The real problem for the Atkins Family is Rex, he is stronger than Wesley's right hand, Hans.

Wesley Atkins can't make a move personally but his underlings can't compare to Rex, they need to surround Rex with numbers even to hope of taking Rex down.

Edward knows this perfectly, that is why Rex's absence is crucial.

Along the way, Edward's body is tense as he kept looking back to see if someone is following him even though he had already made sure of it before getting inside the taxi.

"Why are you so nervous young man? You're making me uneasy", the taxi driver suddenly said.

Hearing this, Edward glanced to the front realizing that his aura is very tense right now which makes the vibe inside the taxi tense too, "I'm sorry, Sir. Please don't mind me", he replied.

The taxi driver smiles politely as he stepped on the gas,

A moment later, the taxi arrives near the only mall in sector 3E which is a six-story building that is even bigger than the biggest soccer stadium.

Since this place is the only mall in sector 3E, it's definitely crowded.

"Just stop right here", Edward said while pointing near the entrance of the mall.

The taxi driver nodded his head and after the taxi stop, Edward pays the taxi driver and walks out after pulling his hood down to avoid his face being seen by anyone.

Normal citizens can be seen filling the place as they seek entertainment.

Edward looks around before he nodded his head, he then walks inside the mall alongside the people here as he made way to the mall.

But when the people headed to the mall lobby, Edward didn't.

He makes a turn near the lobby and head to another entrance on the side, the mall has multiple entrances, and Edward head to the left one.

While putting his hands on his pocket, Edward walks out of the mall ground.

Edward looks out of place with his brown hoody jacket and his hands in his pockets, but in truth, he's putting his hands in his pocket so that he can reach for his daggers faster.

That just shows how alert he currently is right now,

After going through the other entrance, Edward head to a bus station that is located just beside the entrance before he takes the bus there.

Another moment passed as Edward got out of the bus,

Edward is now in a different part of sector 3E which looks more ordinary than the rest, the advanced technology that sector 3E was known for diminished in this part.

Only broken holograms and broken gadgets can be seen scattered around here.

Buildings that have their paint scraped due to being neglected, a few stores that can hardly be called a store since the shop sign is blinking due to electricity problems, and even a couple of gangs of people can be seen around here.

It looks like a mafia city filled with criminals, but the gangs aren't people like that.

Just from looking at the gangs of people across the road, Edward can tell that they're not criminals as they make groups to fill their hollow lives.

They only drink and smoke together, and they don't look like they've harmed anyone.

Just minding their own business,

The notorious sector 3E known as the most technologically advanced sector of Ratmawati City has this kind of place too, it almost looks like an ordinary slum of a city.

If not for the people here wearing gadgets that can summon holograms,

This part of sector 3E will look just like any part of Ratmawati City, in fact maybe even worst since the place looks neglected compared to other parts.

After leaving the bus, Edward power walks along the street.

He went to a nearby store before he buys a couple of snacks and beers,

Seeing the cashier receptionist that looks skinny and frail, Edward glanced at the hotdog on the display counter before he said, "I want to buy the hotdog too"

"That'll be $11.30 sir", the receptionist said with a slightly tired tone.

Edward pays for the goods that he bought but when the receptionist wanted to give Edward the hotdog, he declines and said, "That's for you"

"What...?", the receptionist mumbles in confusion.

But he soon realizes what Edward means before he instantly bowed, "Thank you, Sir!", this makes Edward smile as he bids his goodbye.

He left the store with a plastic bag in his hand and resumed his walk,

Edward takes a left after meeting an intersection, he then walks a couple more minutes before he raises his gaze to meet a decent house complex across the road.

There is a sign in front of the housing complex that is guarded by a security guard,

'AppositeFlux Townhouse', was written on the sign.

Based on the looks of the housing complex, it looks more appropriate than the beaten-up buildings around the place that looks dirty and shabby.

Looking at his side warily, Edward head to the housing complex.

"Good evening Damar", Edward greeted the security guard that is guarding the housing complex, he's a middle-aged man with a bloated belly from all the junk food he eats.

Hearing this, the security guard glances at Edward before he smiles, "Oh, Edward!"

"Are you visiting the old man? I saw him looking down earlier", Damar added with a concerned look, and this made Edward even more worried.

Edward smiles and gives a couple of beers and said, "Yeah, I'll be going inside then"

After saying that, Edward proceed to walk into the housing complex and greeted the people there that saw him with a polite smile.

Since the houses here are not many, Edward knows the people living here.

Edward then stopped not long after, in front of a humble house.

The house looks ordinary yet comfortable at the same time, the garage is an open one and there was only a motorcycle parked there as he made way to the door.

Knock! Knock!

Edward knocks on the door gently, it doesn't take long for the door to open.

The door opened slowly revealing a teen girl wearing baggy clothes and short pants, the black with a shade of pink hair shows that she's Zelene.

"Brother! I thought you're going to make time to come here?", Zelene exclaimed.

Hearing this, Edward smiles as he brought the plastic bag that he bought from the store earlier in front of Zelene's face, "I brought you some snacks! I know uncle can be hard for you sometimes"

After saying that, Edward enters the house followed by Zelene.

Zelene's eyes are starry as she looks inside the plastic bag drooling slightly, the snacks there entice her but she then shakes her head, "Seriously, Aren't you busy?"

"I can't concentrate knowing that uncle is not okay", Edward replied with a sigh.

The inside of the house is pretty old-school style and looks humble, weapons can be seen inside the house on a display ranging from small guns to snipers.

Edward glance around the place as he asks, "Where is he?"

"He's upstairs caging himself in his room, I tried to bring him food but he didn't even answer me. It's so unlike him to be this upset from something", Zelene added with a grumpy sigh.

Hearing this, Edward smiles, "Wait here", he said before going upstairs.

Edward's steps make thudding sounds as he made way upstairs, he then stopped in front of a room at the end of the hallway before he knocks it gently, "Uncle, It's me, Edward"

Immediately after that, "Edward?!", a muffled voice can be heard.

The hurried footsteps can also be heard as the door makes a clicking sound, Edward then steps back as the door opened revealing the old man with a wry smile on his face.

"What are you doing here? Aren't you busy?", the old man asks with a smile.

But without even answering, Edward looks at the old man up and down as he studies the old man's appearance that looks shabby.

The white T-shirt that he's wearing is shriveled making him look untidied, his face is sunken with puffy eyes, and although the old man tries to hide it Edward can see that he has a runny nose which makes Edward sigh.

Upon walking closer, Edward can even smell the stench of alcohol on the old man.

"Let's get inside first", Edward said as he walks past the old man.

Inside the room is filled with handgun holsters made of leather scattered around, the old man's room is also his working place but Edward's eyes fall to the alcohol on the table.

From the looks of it, the old man tries to hide the bottle behind a sewing machine,

But Edward catches this instantly as he instantly realizes that something happened to the old man, it's not his usual self to drink alcohol like this.

After closing the door, Edward glance at the old man, "Be honest, What is this for?"

Edward is holding the alcohol that is already half-emptied, the alcohol scent coming from the old man also shows that the old man has been drinking.

"It's nothing, I don't think you would come here just from that", the old man said.

But Edward's eyes kept looking at the old man but even still, the old man is refusing to come out with the truth as Edward sits on a leather sofa beside him, "You're going to tell me now"

"Or I will sit here all day until you tell me the truth", Edward added.

Hearing this, the old man sigh as he takes the alcohol from Edward's hand and put it on his desk before sitting on the edge of his bed, "The contract got terminated"

"Contract? You mean the contract with t-",

Before Edward can finish, the old man intervenes hurriedly, "Yes, Yes, the contract with the military. They just terminated it this day"

"Why? Is there any reason for this?", Edward asks in confusion.

Upon hearing this, the old man grinds his teeth feeling a bit angry from Edward's question, "NO! The handgun holsters that I made are always top quality, they even praised me for helping the military out which is why they offer the contract in the first place"

"But now, they suddenly terminated the contract one-sidedly without any reason. It just doesn't make sense, how could they do this without a legitimate reason"

Edward listens to the old man with calm eyes,

The old man has been making handgun holsters for a military division for a couple of months now, he was paid quite dearly for the handgun holsters that he made.

It was the joy of his life, he's really happy thanks to that.

Before the contract with the military, the old man also made handgun holsters but he's not doing quite well, but the contract turns his life upside down which made him happy.

Now that the contract has been terminated one-sidedly, it's obvious that he will be devastated.

Edward sigh as he shakes his head, "Why are you still working despite your age, I can handle our family financial matter and you can just rest and spend quality time with Zelene"

"But you suddenly started declining my help for a while now"

The old man looks down to the ground with a complicated look, he can't state directly into Edward's eyes as he mutters silently, "It's my fault..."

"What did you say?", Edward asks in confusion.

This makes the old man raises his teary gaze as he looks at Edward with immense guilt, he then said, "It's my fault that I've put you into the military"

"My inability to support you before forced me to sign you to join the military"

"Now that you're back from the military, I can see that I made the wrong choice by putting you into the military. You tried to hide it... but I saw, I realized that you're scarred from the times you spent there", the old man continues as tears fall from his eyes.

The old man clenched his hands on his lap as he looks down again, "You even almost died there"

"If not for your friend Rex and Kyle, you probably won't be here talking to me right now. But even when you're still alive, I can tell you're not enjoying life as you used to be"

"That's why...I thought that I'll repay what I couldn't do before to Zelene. You seem to care for her, she even resembles you. So I thought it's my chance to do what I couldn't do"

"I want you to enjoy the privilege you have right now, and let me handle Zelene to live a normal life. But I fail to do that again right now... I'm pathetic"

Hearing the old man's pent up frustration,

Edward is looking at the old man in disbelief, he then asks, "Where is this coming from?"

The old man then wiped the tears that are flowing down his cheek as he made his way back to his desk, he then takes out a piece of paper from the drawer and gives it to Edward.

With a confused look, Edward reads the paper before his eyes widen.

"I just found that paper lying around, you must've dropped it when you visit us", the old man said making Edward clench the paper in his hand.

The paper turns out to be the receipt from his visit to Dr. Velma Zeitler, his psychiatrist.

So turns out this came from the old man seeing the receipt,

Although Edward never told anyone, he's still going to Dr. Velma Zeitler just to do the therapy and also restock the medicine that helps him calm down.

For the old man to actually find this, it didn't cross his mind at all.

"You hid it well from me, but now I know that what I did is a mistake", the old man mutters softly.

With trembling shoulders, the old man then went to his knees in front of Edward as he pleaded filled with tears, "Forgive me, I shouldn't have put you into the military. It's my fault"

Edward's expression darkened as the old man kept pleading for his forgiveness.

There is a single tear that falls from Edward's eyes but he quickly wiped it, he then holds the old man by his shoulder,

"You did what you can to support me, and I never even once thought of anything except grateful to you. I didn't resent you for sending me to the military, you did the right thing", Edward said.

"If it weren't for you, I wouldn't meet such great friends. You made the right choice"

"This is not your fault, so don't blame yourself too much because it's the only thing you can do in that current situation"

This makes the old man trembling body stop as he looks up slowly with his teary eyes.

He saw that Edward is smiling at him gently as he continues, "Knowing that you're very concerned about me has already proven enough, you have already done enough"

After saying that, Edward helps the old man to stand back up.

While looking at the old man with eyes filled with unspeakable emotion, Edward then said, "Just let me help you, I can't stand you looking like this. You're one of the most precious people in my life, and I never want to see you sad"

Right after he said that the old man widen his eyes as he immediately hugs Edward.

The tears that he hold back burst at once, he started crying while holding Edward's body tightly as his heart is relieved hearing the words coming from Edward's mouth.

Edward hugs back as he taps the old man's back lightly,

After the old man collected himself, they then part as the old man said, "You turn up into a great man with a big heart... thank you"

Hearing this, Edward replies with a smile but then suddenly, "Huh?"

Edward suddenly glance at the door with a frown, the old man saw the sudden change in expression as he asks, "What's wrong?"

"Sshh...", Edward signals for the old man to be quiet.

But when Edward was about to creep closer to the door, "AAAHH!!", a high-pitched scream suddenly came out of nowhere making both Edward and the old man tense their bodies.

Soon they realizes the owner of the voice, "ZELENE!!"

Chapter 375 Interrogation And Blue Apple

"ZELENE!!", Edward shouted upon realizing the owner of the screaming voice.

BRAK!

The door bursts open as Edward dashes outside of the room already coated with dark flames, he immediately went downstairs to where Zelene was supposed to be.

'Did someone manage to follow me?!', Edward exclaimed inside his head.

He went through all that trouble just to make sure no one is following him even though he already checked that there shouldn't be anyone following him, but it didn't hurt to be more careful which is why he takes many side routes and crowded places.

But now hearing Zelene screams, he started to sweat fearing what might happen.

After dashing downstairs with all of his might, Edward stopped when he saw six people are already standing in the guest room wearing black uniforms.

Their faces are hidden behind a mask which shows that they have bad intentions.

Only their eyes can be seen through their masks, they all have a hostile aura, especially the one that is sitting on the sofa.

"Zelene!", Edward called out seeing Zelene is being held by one of the people.

Zelene is struggling to break free wanting to run to Edward but she's nothing compared to the person holding her, she's not strong enough to make the person let go.

Edward looks at the six people and finds that they all have hidden their aura.

It's almost as if they look just like a normal person, but Edward knows that the six people in front of him are all Awakened and a pretty strong one at that too.

Especially the one sitting on the sofa who seems to be the leader,

"Let her go, I'll do anything you say just let her go!", Edward said to the leader, he can see the horrified look on Zelene's expression which pained his heart.

Hearing this, the one sitting on the sofa chuckles, "Why would I do that?", he said.

Not long after, the old man also came downstairs and widen his eyes when he saw the six people in the guest room while holding Zelene hostage.

Edward puts his arm in front of the old man when he saw the old man was about to step forward.

"What do you want from me?", Edward asks with a stiff expression, he was too careless since he was not attacked by anyone when bringing Rex's and Adhara's parents to the university.

It's clear that the six people are targeting him, 'They must've been from the 25 families'

"Several things but one of them is a payback for what he did of course", the leader then laid back on the sofa as he replied calmly.

Edward then mutters in confusion, "Payback?"

From all, he remembered he never messed with anyone that might just bite him from the back, so he squints his eyes as he realized that the people in front of him are aiming for Rex.

Edward looks at the leader and saw the familiarity in his eyes, "Stop hiding behind your mask"

"Hans..."

Hearing this, the leader laid back on the sofa in amusement as he stretches his hand to take off his mask exposing his face which makes Edward's expression darken.

It really is Hans from the Atkins Family, his eyes are the ones that sold off the mask.

"Aren't you happy to see me? How's the present I gave you, did you like it?", Hans said with a wide grin, he spreads his arms to the side comfortably showing off his control of the situation.

But this makes Edward frown, 'Did they follow me here?'

'That doesn't make sense, if they follow me here then they can just ambush me whenever but they decided to strike here. But doesn't that mean they're waiting for me here?!', he thought.

While squinting his eyes as he makes eye contact with Hans,

"That is not much of a present", Edward replied.

Edward then realizes something as he widens his eyes, "You... You're the ones that terminated the contract", he said in realization.

Upon hearing this, the grin on Hans' expression went wider.

This alone is enough of an answer as Edward confirms that it is their doings, they did something that made the military terminate the contract with the old man.

It's bait to lure him here as they lie in wait for the perfect moment like now.

'How did they know about uncle and Zelene? They only come to the university once, and when I visit them I'm very, very careful. They shouldn't be able to get near the university, just how did they manage to find out about this?', Edward thought with a frown.

But his train of thought was stopped by Hans,

"You see, at first we're aiming for Kyran since he's usually all alone but he becomes very hard to track. But then I suddenly find out about this little family of yours, and I thought why not?", Hans said slowly exposing his nasty grin.

The tension inside the room is at its highest as the other people are eyeing Edward from the side.

All of them have their hands on their weapons, they're ready if Edward wanted to test them which makes Edward erase the thought of retaliating right now.

If he did something wrong, Zelene and the old man will be the ones in danger the most.

After saying that, Hans' expression then turns serious as he asks, "Now, you're going to answer all of my questions truthfully if you don't want something bad happens to this cute girl over here"

"Just asks me anything, I'll answer them all", Edward replied with a frown.

He then added, "Let her go and take me with you, I'll tell you everything you wanted to know"

Hearing this, Hans chuckles evilly while looking at Edward in ridicule.

"You're in no position to make demands, just answer my questions. And do keep in mind that if you're lying she dies, if I thought that you're lying she dies, and if I feel like it, she also dies"

"Do you understand?", Hans said fiercely.

Edward nodded his head firmly before Hans finally asks, "First of all, How did the people around Rex become strong faster than normal?"

"He finds a treasure trove in the Supernatural territory", Edward replied instantly.

Upon hearing Edward's firm answer makes Hans smiles in amusement, he then looks at Edward mockingly as he asks, "Is that lies that I hear?"

Hans then glances at the person holding Zelene,

The person nodded his head as he takes out a sword and puts it on Zelene's neck, this made Edward widen his eyes as he shouted, "It's the truth! I'm not lying I swear!"

"Alright, I'll believe you, now for the second question. Which Supernatural is he working with?"

Edward widens his eyes upon hearing this, he looks at Hans in shock as he added, "Do you really think we wouldn't know? The connection Rex has with a Supernatural?"

"A Supernatural visits him directly, and Kyran's sudden rise in power? Do you really think we're dumb to not connect the dots?"

"Is it the Vampire? I heard he got chased by Royal Vampires before", he added.

The words that came out of Hans' mouth makes Edward relieved a bit since they still assumed it wrong, but Edward kept his expression calm as he said, "I-I don't know..."

"Oh? You don't know?", Hans said as he signals to the person beside him.

Zelene's neck got cut by the sword as she screamed, "BROTHER!!!"

"ALRIGHT! I'll tell you!", Edward shouted seeing Zelene's neck start to bleed, the sword is so sharp that even just by touching Zelene's neck she instantly got cut.

With an amused smile, Hans signals for Edward to continue.

"It's not a Supernatural, he has a connection with the SCO and has the vision to make the UWO and SCO band together. But he knows that the UWO will not accept easily if they know Rex has a connection with the SCO, they will feel like Rex is tasked by the SCO if the UWO knows about this", Edward explained with one single breath.

But the answer makes Hans' body go stiff as he didn't believe the answer.

Looking at Hans' expression that went stiff, Edward then thought, 'It's better for Rex to be known to have connections with the SCO rather than the Supernatural, this will turn better if I play it right'

Since the 25 Golden Crest Families don't know that Rex is the one who initiated the alliance.

This excuse is plausible since the SCO has bizarre means to make a normal human stronger, which can help explain how Rex makes the people around him stronger.

"You're lying! I don't believe this!", Hans shouted in disbelief.

While gritting his teeth, Hans stands up from the sofa and walks toward Edward before he grasps Edward's hand forcefully expecting something.

Edward looks at Hans weirdly and find a cold feeling in his hand,

He looks down at his hand that is being grasped by Hans and saw that there's a silver thing in Hans' hand, just from the look of it Edward knows that it's silver.

But it won't work on him since he's not a Supernatural.

"But how?! Then what about the Supernatural that visits him at Faraday University? The royal vampires?!", Hans asks again, he was still denying what Edward just said.

Now since Hans is the one that got shook, Edward smiles, "Just like you know..."

"Rex has a very terrifying talent, not even a year since he become an Awakened and now he already matches those who trained for more than ten years. Since he saved numerous cities from Supernatural, the Supernatural finds his existence-threatening and sent an assassin to kill him", Edward explains with a mocking smile.

Edward then looks at Hans who is in disbelief and added, "He's not as bad as you think huh?"

"SHUT UP!", Hans shouted angrily.

After hearing what Edward said, Hans turns around and rub his face roughly as the turn of events was not what he expected from this meeting.

Thanks to Edward's quick thinking,

It seems Hans is starting to doubt the findings that he had, the explanation of Rex having a connection with the SCO and trying to hide it makes sense.

The UWO will fear that the alliance is the SCO's plan if they know about Rex's connection.

This is why Rex hides the fact that he has a connection with the SCO in the hope the UWO will ally with the SCO to fight against the Supernatural, and this also explains why the people around him get stronger faster.

Edward puts all the credit to the SCO, not that Rex mind if he knew though.

As for the Supernatural, it's just an easy answer.

Rex has made it easy for Edward to answer the questions since he's very powerful, of course, the Supernatural sending assassin to the rising powerhouse might just happen.

It's an undeniable fact,

Rex being an existence befitting to threaten the Supernatural, even now he's leading the 25 Golden Crest Family's descendants against the Undead.

It's clear that everything they doubted was for nothing,

This makes Hans grit his teeth in anger before finally stomping the ground as he approaches Edward, his eyes then turn bloodthirsty as he said, "As I said earlier this is also a payback"

"Kill her!", Hans suddenly said making Edward widen his eyes.

Upon hearing this, the old man shouted beside Edward as he tries to save Zelene but he got flicked by Hans sending him crashing away.

Edward glared at Hans in anger, "You?! I told you the truth and answer them honestly!"

"You're not in the position to make a demand"

BAM!

CRACK!

"ARGHH!!", Edward shouted as he got kicked by Hans as his left leg got bent in an unnatural way, he was caught off guard as he falls to the ground weakly.

Seeing this, Zelene screams hysterically, "BROTHER!!"

After breaking Edward's leg, Hans started stomping at him angrily.

He was letting off his anger since the situation didn't work as he had expected, he also bore hatred for Rex for breaking his leg in the hotel before embarrassing him.

Looking at this, the person holding Zelene then said, "What are you doing Hans?"

"This is not what we agreed on, we only agree to interrogate Edward to find out how Rex makes the others powerful!", the person added before grabbing Hans' shoulder.

With still rough breathing, Hans then commanded, "I told you to kill the girl!"

"No... this is not our part of our deal", the person said as he lets Zelene go, she immediately runs to Edward who is getting stomped by Hans.

Zelene is hugging Edward's body but this makes Hans smiles brutally,

"Me and my men are not a part of this, we'll retreat from here", the person that lets go of Zelene said as he signal for the two other people to leave the place.

Three people clad in black uniforms left the house silently,

Hans scoffed after he saw the three left before his eyes landed on Zelene, "Then I'll kill her myself, don't resent me, little girl. Just blame your brother here for messing with us"

After saying that, Hans unsheathed his sword slowly and a metallic sound can be heard.

The sound can clearly indicate the sharpness of the sword, even when Hans waves the sword Zelene can hear a whistling sound coming from it.

But when Hans was about to slash Zelene,

CRASH!

Hans jolted when a crashing sound suddenly can be heard as a shadow flew past him before crashing to the wall in front of him, he looks at the figure and realizes that it was one of the three that left before.

Seeing this, Hans looks back in confusion, "What the hell?"

CLANG!

BAM!

The sound of fighting can be heard from outside making Hans frown, he signals for the other two people to check outside but then suddenly he jumped away.

Hans felt a threatening aura that he felt from his back,

Upon looking at his back, Hans found Edward is slowly standing as his broken leg makes a cracking sound and got healed completely.

The dark fire aura around him started to become more intense giving a pressuring sensation.

Although Hans was shocked by the sudden increase in power, his eyes then landed on a blue apple in Edward's hand that gives off intense mana.

"Blue apple?", Hans mutters in confusion.

He looks at Edward who is slowly raising his gaze,

After both of them made eye contact, Hans widen his eyes when he saw Edward's eyes blazing with dark fire as the surrounding mana got sucked into his body.

BOOM!

The scale of the mana makes Hans step back in surprise, "This...This is not a fifth rank Awakened power, How is this possible?!"

"He's reaching all the way to the sixth rank realm!"

Chapter 376 The Fire Turtle Vs The Hurricane Snake

BOOM!

Powerful dark fire mana blasted from Edward's body as he push Zelene to his back, his eyes are burning in anger as he stood up straight with a brutal expression on his face.

Edward's aura is rising by the second making Hans stepped back in surprise,

"He's reaching all the way to the sixth rank realm!", Hans exclaimed as he readies his sword, the situation turns for the worst as the grin full of confidence from before vanished.

Seeing his stiff stance shows that Hans was not in control of the situation anymore.

Shing!

Edward unsheathed his daggers as the dark fire started to spread to both of his daggers, "You lay your dirty finger on my family!"

"You went back from your own words"

"And you even insulted Rex!"

The aura started to become chaotic as Edward gritted his teeth in anger, his muscles started to bulge as he looks at Hans menacingly, "Congratulation, you just sealed your death!"

A terrifying momentary silence covers arrive as they both lock eyes.

BOOM!

Edward suddenly dashes forward faster than Hans' eyeballs to see, he suddenly already arrives in front of Hans as he swings both of his daggers with all his might.

CRASH!

"What?!", Hans exclaimed when he saw Edward suddenly already attacked him.

The powerful swing from Edward's daggers burning with dark fire pushed him back as the both of them crashes outside of the house, Hans is currently looking at Edward in disbelief as he was surprised by Edward's raw strength.

With the addition of the blue apple that Edward just ate, it's clear his power has risen.

For him to actually push Hans back shows that his power reached the peak of the sixth rank power, the rise in power shocks Hans so much as Edward's eyes burn with dark fire.

"RAARGHH!"

CLANG!

Edward puts more power knocking Hans' entire body as he spins in the air.

Hans suddenly saw his vision start spinning, his body is spinning in the air by Edward's raw strength that almost as if he's an Awakened juiced with steroids.

Dark fire mana gathers on Edward's arms as he chanted, "Fire Titan Art! Colossal Punch!"

BOOM!

"HUAKHH!", Hans spat a mouthful of blood as he got punched right on his stomach.

The dark fire mana concentrated on the tip of Edward's fist, and it explodes after making contact with Hans' stomach sending him crashing away.

His body broke the trees in the surroundings as he crashes into the park not far from here.

After punching Hans powerfully, Edward glance around and find that the people living here can already be seen running toward the entrance in fear.

Edward then dashes again towards the park intending to finish Hans off,

"Kuahk!", Hans spat a mouthful of blood again as he kneels on all four, the punch from Edward penetrate through the wind barrier that he created in the nick of time.

It was very powerful as if he's fighting a real peak sixth rank Awakened, "Impossible..."

"What kind of mutated fruit is that, to actually raise his power by an entire realm! He didn't even have a spirit, this should be impossible!", Hans mutters in disbelief.

Before the situation escalated like this, Hans didn't think much of Edward.

Fighting a peak the fifth rank Awakened whilst he himself is a sixth rank Awakened is supposed to be child's play, there's no comparison between the two.

With the spirit energy, a sixth rank Awakened can obliterate a fifth rank Awakened.

Fifth rank Awakened's elemental prowess is only enhanced by a rune they made, the sixth rank on the other hand is strengthened by a spirit on top of the rune they made which is way denser and more powerful than a rune.

But now, Hans is in a state of disbelief.

He got hurt this much from a fifth rank Awakened punch, his mind is scattered right now.

BAM!

Edward landed right in front of him making Hans looks up in horror, the dark fire coated around his body and daggers glistening sharply makes Edward look horrifying.

The chaotic mana around him is splashing fire to the surrounding like an erupting volcano.

"Don't get cocky you bastard, this is not over!!", Hans shouted as a snake spirit materializes behind him, the wind mana on his body sends a shockwave cutting the trees in half.

With glowing green eyes, Hans then chanted, "Elementalist Domain, Whirling Tornado!"

SWOOSH!

Out of nowhere, the surrounding wind started to spin creating a tornado that engulfs Edward who is inside of the tornado unmoving from his spot.

Despite the powerful gush of wind, Edward didn't get lifted from his spot.

Seeing this, Hans gritted his teeth as he becomes one with the tornado turning into a gust of wind while hawking at Edward fiercely.

His entire body merges with the wind, and his movements seem to be faster too.

Edward stands on his spot with his body blazing with dark fire before Hans suddenly appeared from the back, the sword in his hand glows as he smirks evilly.

SLASH!

Hans slashed his sword with a wide grin seeing that Edward can't react to his movement.

But then suddenly, "Fire Titan Art, Unbreakable Body!"

CLANG!

Right after Edward chants that, his body suddenly becomes glossy as the dark fire got engraved inside his skin increasing his skin toughness by a mile.

Hans widen his eyes when he saw the sword didn't manage to penetrate Edward.

"Is that all you got? Hans the Snake...", Edward mumbles as he turns his head to the side, the mocking look on Edward's face makes Hans grit his teeth in anger.

His face turns red in anger as he shouted, "Don't underestimate me!!"

"Great Spell, Hurricane Wind Bladestorm!", Hans chanted as his body disappear and reappear while attacking Edward from all sides, the sword in his hand is glowing green fiercely.

He was moving akin to a snake slithering around the tornado,

But even with its fast movement trying to take down its prey, Hans' sword only creates a spark as it made contact with Edward's body.

Wind Elementalist has high penetration attribute, but that doesn't work right now.

Hans desperately attacks Edward from all angles but Edward's body is as solid as a rock, nothing manages to penetrate or even cut his skin, 'How is this possible?! My strike is not strong enough?'

"It's my turn now...", Edward mutters as his dark fire becomes violent.

The dark fire didn't increase the temperature in the surroundings instead, it's almost as if the fire is terrifying cold and it feels and looks unnatural.

After saying that, a fire titan appeared behind Edward's body.

The fire titan is black now thanks to Edward's element and this fire titan is not a spirit, but it's a materialization of the art that Edward is currently using.

With a darkened look, Edward concentrated his fire mana before bursting it into the surrounding.

ROAR!!

SWOOSH!

"What?!", Hans exclaimed when suddenly black flames burst from Edward's body, the black flame splashes the surrounding before suddenly,

WHOOSH!

Hans widens his eyes when the black flames become even more powerful than before,

Looking at the surprised look on Hans' expression, Edward then said with a mocking smirk, "You forget that I'm a Fire Elementalist, this wind of yours is just fuel for my fire"

After hearing Edward's words, Hans wanted to leave the tornado but it was too late.

"ARGHH!!", Hans shouted feeling his body getting burned by the dark fire tornado, with the last bit of strength he uses his wind element to propel himself out of the dark fire tornado.

The wind mana gathers on his hand powerfully,

He then punches the air in front of him pushing his body outside of the tornado, he crashed and rolled on the ground a couple of times after managing to break free.

It almost didn't work from how powerful the suction of the dark fire tornado is,

Hans manages to escape the dark fire tornado, he then glances at his right arm and finds that his right arm got turned into black charcoal ash.

It's non-existent right now,

"Just where did things go wrong, How did he possess such a powerful mutated fruit?", Hans mutters as he looks at his non-existent right arm in disbelief.

Even his sword got lost inside the dark fire tornado, he didn't have any weapon right now.

SWOOSH!

The dark fire tornado dissipated as Edward walks out leisurely,

Hans starts to back away slowly as Edward makes his way to him, with the blue apple taking effect Hans can't do anything to Edward that seems to be invincible in the sixth rank realm.

It's clear from the exchange, Edward didn't even need to defend Hans' blade.

A terrifying gap existed between the two of them thanks to the blue apple, and the advantages of Fire Elementalist against Wind Elementalist do Edward a favor here too.

'Is the effect wearing off? I can feel the energy stirring inside me', Edward thought.

As powerful as the blue apple effect was, there is certainly a time limit and Edward can feel the time limit for the boost in power is nearing the end.

With a serious look, Edward then ducks his battle stance lower.

The stance that he's in with two daggers in his hands is airtight and looks sturdy, "Let's end this, I've had enough of you", he said making Hans sweat bullets.

BOOM!

Dark fire swirls around his body, it coils around Edward's body creating a spiral.

If Rex were here he will instantly know this stance of his, this is the stance when Edward is using the most powerful spell in his arsenal that he got to see at Lountain City once.

Edward's eyes spark fiercely as his muscle tensed, "Fire Titan Art, Colossal Tear!!"

SWOOSH!

With the last remaining time of the boost from the blue apple, Edward dashes forward turning into a dark fiery arrow that turns everything the fire touches into black ash.

The same fire titan materializes again as the dark fire coats Edward's entire body.

Just from the mana coming from this spell and the intensity of the dark flame around Edward's body, Hans is sure that he will not survive his attack.

It takes but a blink of an eye as Edward arrives in front of Hans,

But Edward's eyes suddenly saw a green crystal that Hans is holding, he then shakes his head as he thrust both of his daggers powerfully right at the same time Hans crushed the green crystal.

BAM!!

A powerful shockwave exploded from the collision cracking the ground beneath them.

Edward was thrusting forward with all his might but he suddenly frown when he feel some resistance from the other side, the wind mana covering Hans' body is very sturdy.

It was even more powerful than Edward's dark fire as their collision exploded.

BOOM!

The explosion blasted Edward away as he hits a couple of trees, he also destroyed a statue of an Awakened hero and also crashed into a house nearby before he finally stop 300 feet away.

"Krggh!", Edward grunted as he support his body up.

With the smoke covering his vision, he can't see anything as he struggles to stand up.

'Where is he?', Edward thought darting his eyes left and right, he then dashes forward to search for Hans but he's nowhere to be seen.

The place where they both collided is right by his side,

But there's no sign of Hans, and he's certainly not dead because Edward knows that weird wind barrier that collided with his colossal tear managed to protect Hans.

'He escaped...!', Edward thought as he falls to his knees.

The blue apple boosting effect starts to wear off as his strength slowly decreases to the point he becomes weaker than a peak fifth rank, it's the after effect of the blue apple.

He will be weakened for a while thanks to overexerting his body due to the blue apple.

While Edward is steadying his breathing, an ominous feeling suddenly appears on his back making Edward looks back, "You're dead now!"

On his back, Edward widen his eyes when he saw Hans is already near him.

The fierce glint in his eyes is obvious as Hans intends to kill Edward, he stretches his hand forward trying to grab Edward's throat, 'I can't dodge this!', Edward exclaimed in his thought.

But then suddenly,

BAM!

A man suddenly appears from the side before kicking Hans right on his face, the kick sends Hans screeching in a straight line on the ground and it looks very painful.

Edward glanced at the man and frowned since he didn't recognize him,

Hans touches his teeth and finds some of them are missing because of the kick, he then glances in Edward's direction and found a man standing beside him.

Knowing that there's a powerful figure helping Edward, Hans gritted his teeth.

His body then turns into a gust of wind as he escapes the place, the man that saved Edward didn't pursue him as he straightens his body.

Before Edward can even say something, another crashing sound can be heard.

The crashing sound came from the left as Edward saw a figure clad in black just like the ones inside the house getting chased by two other guys.

It seems the figure is hurt judging from the wounds and his tattered clothes.

Edward and the figure's eyes made eye contact for a second, but without paying Edward any mind the wind mana gathers on the figure's feet as he dashes away leaving the place.

'Isn't that...', Edward thought with a frown.

But before he can think of the figure that past him before, chattering can be heard from the side as Edward glance to his right.

"Shit! He got away!"

"What are you doing, we're tasked to capture the leader! How can you be so reckless to punch him like that, he's a Wind Elementalist for christ's sake. The book told us to never end a fight against Wind Elementalist with that kind of attack, you should've used your sword!"

"Alright, Alright, I get it!"

"The king will be pissed if he knows we fail, damn it! You have to take the blame!"

"Why me? We're a team right?"

Edward heard a bunch of chattering as two guys clad in normal clothes walks side by side, they look to be around his age but Edward frowned when he doesn't feel any mana from them.

The man on his side also didn't have any mana, but he's certainly strong.

'Who are they? They're not an Awakened', Edward thought in confusion.

The two guys suddenly saw Edward kneeling on the side beside the man as their eyes widen, both of them approach Edward, "Thank god you're okay!"

"At least we did something right"

Seeing the look of concern in their expression makes Edward tilts his head in confusion, he then asks, "Who are you guys?"

"Us? We're a black hand", one of them replied.

After saying that, the one that replied then rubs his nose as his face reddened in embarrassment, "It feels good to say that, I can't believe we can step into the light!"

"Stop with your embarrassing act, you're making me look bad!"

The two guys are bickering with each other but the man beside Edward is silent.

While looking at the three, Edward then thought, 'Black hand? They're from the SCO? But why are they here, did they also follow me?'

"Man, you shouldn't disappear in the mall like that"

"We're late because you somehow disappear, you could've died!", one of the guys said.

Hearing this, Edward becomes even more confused since the two guys seem to be following him also, "I'm sorry, but why are you guys here?"

"You didn't know? Rex asks the organization to watch over you guys..."

~

Meanwhile, a city near Eqosa City.

An Undead sitting inside a dim-lighted room can be seen meditating calmly, the moonlight penetrates through from the window on its side as the only source of light.

The Undead wore a very dark blue robe that covers its entire body.

On the side of the Undead, there's a levitating wooden staff with a dark blue orb on its tip that is emitting a horrifying amount of death energy.

Aside from that, the dark blue horn sprouting on the Undead forehead also emits weird energy.

While this Undead is meditating in its own room, the door to the room is opened slowly as an astral female Undead with red hair came inside the room.

This Undead is levitating in the air as she made way into the room,

"Yolgos, What are we going to do with the humans? Their act can't be forgiven, we must attack them right now to show them our supremacy!", the astral Undead said.

It then added, "The Origins will bless us! We must sacrifice their lives!!"

Hearing this, the meditating blue-robed Undead glance at the astral Undead.

The blue-robed Undead then stands up from its seat and said, "Don't be hasty, the humans even manage to kill Durrant's company and it seems we're the last one. So we're going to remain here patiently for the reinforcement"

"But their act is unforgivable! How could the-", before the astral Undead can finish,

Yolgos glared at the astral Undead making her shut her mouth, it then said, "Be patient, we only need to buy time for the Werewolf's reinforcement, they are obviously trying to lure us out of the city to ambush us. Even if they killed Durrant, they know they won't be able to enter this place"

After saying that, a skeleton suddenly rushes inside the room.

"Great Yolgos, There's a Werewolf at the south gate", the skeleton said.

Hearing this, Yolgos glanced at the levitating Undead with a meaningful look, "You see? The reinforcement has come, we can massacre them now..."

Chapter 377 Disrespecting The Undead

"You see? The reinforcement has come, we can massacre them now...", Yolgos said as he made his way to exit the room, there was a smile on his face.

On the north gate of the city,

"Why are we doing this? Isn't this the same as taunting the Undead further?", Velten asks as he pulls a dozen of chained Undead that already have all of their bones broken.

These Undead are at their mercy, and they're dragged around like a sack of trash.

Hearing this, Dray also shakes his head as he looks back to the chained Undead that is also pulled by him, "Won't the Undead attack us if we provoke them too much? We're not ready"

"It'll be a disaster if they attacked us right now", he added.

Liliya then added from the side, "Rex said that it won't happen, they're stalling for time waiting for the reinforcement. Just trust in Rex, I can't tell you why but he's always reliable"

Both Dray and Velten sigh as they still feel uneasy,

Seeing the three are talking about Rex, Evelyn who is also amongst them then said, "Don't worry, he will not send us to kill ourselves. Rex definitely has a plan in mind"

"Having you with us is a bit comforting at least", Velten suddenly said.

The remarks from Velten make Evelyn frown, she then looks at Velten with a confused look and asks, "What do you mean by that? Why is it comforting?"

"Well by having Rex send you here, he's at least confident with his plan", Velten replied.

But this makes Evelyn frown even harder, even Dray's attention got pulled to Velten as they both look at Velten still in confusion, Velten then added seeing they're still confused, "You know... You and Rex seem close, he even stops to say some things to you before searching for the Undead"

"W-What...?", Evelyn mumbles as her face started to redden.

Liliya then glance at Evelyn, "I overheard the descendants talking, they said you also sleep in the same house as Rex earlier. If that's not close then what is?", she said with a laugh.

"Well, he does have soft spots for women but yours must be different", Liliya added.

Hearing this, Evelyn looks away in embarrassment.

'Is that really what it seems to the others?', she thought with her face as red as a tomato.

The four of them are not the only ones heading to the city where the Undead company lies, they're also accompanied by Delta and Gistella who are following them from the back in silence.

Rex sent them as a precaution if something went out of expectation,

With Delta's peak sixth rank power, and also Gistella's protection spells equivalent to a mid-sixth rank the four of them are at ease since at the very worst outcome they can just flee.

Their lives shouldn't be in danger,

Slowly but surely, the six of them inch closer to the city where the company of Undead lies.

Although they already decided to just trust Rex and do as they were told, Velten, and Dray can't help but become nervous as they got closer to the city.

It is also due to the fact that they're the ones pulling the chained Undead.

Just in front of them, they can already see the tall entrance of the city which is guarded by the Undead.

The Undead on the wall glance down when they saw six figures approaching from the darkness of the night, but their eyes landed on the chained and dragged Undead behind them.

One of the Liches above the walls was shocked when it saw the chained Undead.

It was a bizarre scene that makes the Lich grip the edge of the wall angrily, the Undead they brought had all of their body bent in an unnatural direction.

They didn't feel any pain and it's proven from their silence despite their bent bodies.

But because of their broken body, none of the Undead can do anything except be dragged in front of the entrance of the city helplessly.

Since they fought the other company of Undead, the six of them realized that this lich on the wall is an Elder Lich judging from its bigger figure, a sixth rank at that.

Velten and Dray tossed the chained Undead to their front roughly,

"Greetings, we've come here with a present for the great Enchanter that is hiding inside this wall. Would you mind calling the Enchanter for us?", Dray said loudly.

Hearing this, the elder lich on the wall points at Dray angrily, "What is the meaning of this human!"

"We already annihilate the other companies, and you guys are the last company. So I'm going to give you a humble proposal!", Velten said from the side.

The lich glance at Velten as he continues, "If the Enchanter surrenders itself to us, you all are free to leave! We will not harm you"

"You human fool! As if your pity taunt will do anything!", the lich replied mockingly.

But upon hearing this, Dray and Velten already expected as much as they both take out a vial with white liquid inside of it emitting intense holy mana.

Seeing this, the elder lich steps back in aghast,

"As long as the Enchanter didn't come out...", Dray said as he opens the vial, the white liquid shakes inside the vial before he pour the content on the chained Undead, but this time the Undead started to wail in pain.

They all felt their entire world burning from a touch of the white liquid,

Under the Undeads on the wall gaze, the death energy emitted from the chained Undead started to dissipate slowly as their death energy got engulfed by the energy coming from the white liquid.

Velten also does the same as Dray added, "We'll kill these deathless energy Undeads!"

"HUMANS!! HOW DARE YOU!!!", the elder lich shouted as the death energy coming from its body exploded chaotically, its red eyes emitting intense killing intent.

The elder lich's red eyes are glaring at Dray and the others angrily,

Looking at the reaction from the elder lich as if it was trying to devour Dray and Velten with its eyes, both of them look at each other before looking back at the others.

"It really did piss them off, How did Rex know this...", Liliya mutters in surprise.

A moment ago,

"You want us to kill the Undead after we apply this vial to them?", Dray asks as he looks at the white vial in his hand, the vial emits holy energy but he still didn't get it.

Hearing this, Rex then said, "Yes, I want you to make them as angry as they can"

"Be my distraction while I sneak inside the city to kill the Enchanter, just stall for time and wait for my signal", Rex added while folding his arms in front of him.

But then Liliya then asks, "But why do we have to use this elixir?"

"It's somekind of belief in the Undead race. After they die, they also have the concept of heaven and hell but their heaven is called the Netherworld, a place with abundant death energy"

"That elixir will purify the Undead from death energy, and their belief stated that Undead that dies without even a glimpse of death energy will not be able to enter or even see the Netherworld and instead will enter the Nirvanaworld, their hell"

"It's the most disrespectful thing we can do to an Undead...", Rex explained.

Back to the present,

"HUMANS!! HOW DARE YOU!!", the elder lich shouted in anger as it can't believe what Velten and Dray has done, the chained Undead got cleansed by their death energy completely.

Not a single strand of death energy was left,

After the angry roar, an astral Undead suddenly emerges on the elder lich's side.

Seeing the astral Undead, the elder lich bowed its body with burning anger still as the astral Undead asks, "What is going on here?"

"The humans are in front of the gate...", the elder lich replied.

Hearing this, the astral Undead glances its piercing eyes towards Dray and the others before its eyes land on the chained Undead making it widen its eyes in shock.

But the shock instantly turns into anger as an immense bloodlust filled the area,

"In the name of the origins, I'LL SKIN YOU ALL ALIVE!!", the astral Undead roared while glaring at Dray and the others, it intends to jump down to attack but the elder lich stopped it from the side.

The astral Undead glanced at the elder lich fiercely as it said, "You can't..."

"Great Yolgos has ordered us to not leave this city for whatever reasons, we must ask the Great Yolgos first before confronting these heathens of humans", the elder lich added.

Hearing this, the astral Undead exhales roughly while still glaring.

But Dray then suddenly intervenes in their chat, "You better hurry... or these purified Undeads here will say goodbye to the Netherworld"

SLASH!

One of the purified Undead's heads got cut off cleanly by Dray's sword,

Its head rolled on the ground while still in shock realizing that it will not enter the Netherworld, the Undead's eyes are still opened wide making the astral Undead grinds its teeth angrily.

~

Yolgos walked slowly as the wooden staff went to its hand, he uses the wooden staff like a cane.

After exiting the room, Yolgos then followed the skeleton that just reported to him before as they arrives at the field of the stadium they were currently in.

In the middle of the field, there were about two or three hundred captured humans.

They all are shivering in fear as the army of Undead surrounds them from all sides, many hungry eyes are looking at them from everywhere like a pack of hungry hyenas.

Even the seats around the stadium are filled with Undead that are eyeing them.

The saliva drooling out of these Undead shows their intent to devour the captured humans, but they seem to restrain themselves as Yolgos walks to the middle.

"Nethuq, bring these humans to the south gate", Yolgos commanded.

Yolgos then glance at the captured humans and added with an evil smile, "The Werewolves are surely hungry from their travel, these humans can fill the emptiness of their bellies"

The captured humans' expressions turn pale in fright,

No one would be happy if they heard that they will be given food for the Werewolves, the hulking creature of the night is the most savage than the other Supernatural.

It's not a peaceful death to be eaten alive by the Werewolves.

Hearing this, the astral Undead then nodded her head as she signals to the other Undead to bring these captured humans to the south gate as commanded.

Yolgos follow the skeleton with the captured humans on his back,

They all make haste, especially Nethuq who is still angry about what Dray and the others did, she can't wait to tear and ripped Dray and the others apart.

It's still evident from just looking at Nethuq's face,

All of the captured humans are chained by somekind of a magical blue chain, it restrains and drains them of the little power they have left.

Some of the elderly even fall a couple of times because of these blue chains.

But the Colossus Undead knock the elderly up forcing the elderly to keep walking, their expression is that of a dead one as they try to keep on walking desperately.

There's a strand of mana linking the chains with Yolgos,

By the looks of it, the blue chain is connected to Yolgos' blue horn somehow.

Exiting the stadium,

Yolgos was greeted by the scenery of countless Undead scattered around this death city,

Many of the Undead are scattered on the abandoned street slamming their weapons on the ground at the sight of Yolgos, some are also can be seen in the abandoned buildings.

This city is filled with Undead to the brim, it has become a city of Undead.

Yolgos quirk up a smile as he bathes in the praises from the Undead cheering for him, he then makes way through the street heading to the south gate.

Just from this alone, one can know the high standing of Yolgos.

With a bit of haste to greet the Werewolf reinforcement properly, Yolgos and the chained humans arrived at the south gate and saw a single Werewolf standing calmly.

Upon seeing the Werewolf, Yolgos frown, "Where are the others?"

"Great Enchanter, the reinforcement is intercepted and we need your help. Follow me quick, we're at a standstill against the humans, and with your power, we will win easily", the Werewolf replied in a hurry.

Hearing this, the skeleton exclaimed, "Ambushed?! How?!"

"Great Yolgos, What are we going to do? It will be bad if the reinforcement got defeated, we'll be stranded here alone!", the skeleton added while looking at Yolgos.

Nethuq also added from the side, "You need to help them!"

"Without the Werewolf reinforcement, we can't kill those daring humans! The Origins will damn us if that were to happen, they stained our glorious race!", she added.

While they all are expressing their thoughts,

Yolgos is looking at the Werewolf in front of him as he squints his eyes,

The Werewolf in front of him is not muscular and monstrous but instead quite lean, its presence is also faint making Yolgos frown, "If that were the case, Why did they send you here alone?"

"An Omega like you is too slow, a Beta should at least be the messenger", he added.

Hearing this, the Werewolf bowed its head meekly as it said, "I'm sorry but the urgency forces the Alpha to send me, the betas are needed to fight the humans"

After hearing this, Yolgos finally sigh, "Alright then, it can't be helped"

"You all will watch the humans in the north gate, make sure they didn't realize that I'm not inside the city so they won't attack while I'm gone", Yolgos commanded.

He then glance at Nethuq, "You're in charge while I'm gone"

Nethuq nodded her head before Yolgos looks back at the Omega Werewolf, "You look tired, should eat one of the humans to recover your strength. We need to hurry back"

Hearing this, the Omega Werewolf glance at the captured humans.

Although it's brief, there's a slight change in the Omega Werewolf's expression but he then replied hastily, "There's no time, let's just go right now"

"Suit yourself, lead the way hurry", Yolgos said signaling to start moving.

The Omega Werewolf then turns around as it replied, "Yes, Great Yolgos!"

But before the Omega Werewolf dashes away to lead Yolgos to the battle, there's an evil smirk creeping onto its expression before the Omega Werewolf dashes away followed by Yolgos.

Chapter 378 The Last Strand Of Mercy

The Omega Werewolf dashes through the dark night leading Yolgos who is following close behind him, it was eerily silent this night without any sounds of mutated animals at all.

It's almost as if it's a calm before the storm,

Yolgos followed the Omega Werewolf for almost ten minutes, while they were dashing through the night Yolgos then asks, "How did the reinforcement got attacked?"

"It seems the humans figured out our plan", the Omega Werewolf said.

Hearing this, Yolgos frown as he asks, "It shouldn't be possible, the route should be safe since we also went through the same route. The humans' Cessation Knight has no idea of that route"

The Omega Werewolf glance back at Yolgos briefly before it replied, "Then I have no idea too"

After briefly chatting, both of them continue their travel.

It's already more than fifteen minutes and they already traveled more than three dozen miles, Yolgos is starting to get impatient eyeing the Omega Werewolf from the back.

"How much further?", Yolgos asks.

The Omega Werewolf then replied briefly, "Just a little bit more, it's not too far from here"

Yolgos nodded his head before he suddenly asks the Omega Werewolf, "Which family did you come from? and on whose pack are you a part of?"

"Teinar Family, I'm adopted by Jarvald but Jarvald is no more so I'm sent here", the Werewolf replied.

Hearing this, Yolgos suddenly stopped on his track making the Omega Werewolf looks back in confusion, "You're not from the reinforcement are you?", he asks with a darkened look.

The question makes the Omega Werewolf suddenly smirks, "Why did you say that?"

"Teinar family? You don't even have their rune crest, and aside from that, the Teinar Family is not a part of the reinforcement. Who are you and why did you bring me here?", Yolgos asks warily.

Although he didn't think of anything at first, now he becomes suspicious.

No matter how dire, an Omega also shouldn't be the ones sent to become a messenger as they are used as a shield for the Alphas from deadly spells or attacks.

It's their job to become a sacrificial shield for the Alphas,

This is why the pack of Werewolves always revolve around the Betas, they will be tasked and act as the main force of a Werewolf pack in every situation possible.

They also ranked second in terms of strength just below the Alpha,

"You realized it sooner than expected, well it doesn't matter we're far enough already", the Werewolf said as he turns towards Yolgog exposing its wide smirk.

Seeing this, Yolgog puts the staff in front of him cautiously,

The blue energy coming from the orb started to surround him as Yolgog felt threatened.

But then suddenly under Yolgog eyes, there are two horns suddenly appearing on the Werewolf's head making his eyes widen in utter shock, "W-What?!", Yolgog exclaimed.

PSSH!!

The Werewolf's aura then started to rise by the second,

Its faint aura before becomes domineering as it slowly reaches the peak of the sixth rank, and before Yolgog can even collect himself from the sudden transformation.

The Werewolf's aura already broke through the seventh rank mark,

"Prince?! Since when did the Werewolf Prince Awaken?!", Yolgog shouted in horror, the being in front of him is a being that is in even higher standing than an Enchanter.

Just like King Solomon when he realized it,

Yolgog also realized the heavy bearing of a Werewolf Prince, this being is not something that an Enchanter like himself can compare to.

As an Enchanter, their spells are needed in war.

But Prince of Werewolf on the other hand has an innate ability to strengthen the Werewolves around him, and this makes its presence alone in the same boat as an Enchanter.

Not to mention they also have other abilities from their bloodline,

In short, Prince of Werewolf is not something that Yolgog expected to meet in this kind of place.

The Omega Werewolf turns out to be Rex who disguised himself as an Omega and also hide his presence to make it seem plausible, this is the plan that he thought of.

Although the Supernatural has found a way to turn humans into their kinds,

Supernatural itself definitely didn't expect the other way around where a Supernatural working for the humans, this alone is not even King Lax'rad will expect.

Only the Vampires and the Demons can foresee Rex's plan,

Since the Vampires and the Demons know that Rex can shapeshift from a human form to his Werewolf form, they will definitely be on guard against such tactics.

But since it's the Undead, they have no clue.

Rex already thought of it well when he made the plan,

If the Vampires are putting a bounty on his head when his presence is impactful to the Werewolves, it's clear that they are keeping the information from the Werewolf race.

The demons know about Rex's presence,

Rex assumed that although they're ceasing war with each other, it's clear that the demons also have the same thought as the Vampires to refrain from telling the Werewolf race.

They don't want the Werewolf to grow too strong,

Because of that, Rex assumed the Undead didn't know about his existence.

From the expression Yolgog is making right now, it seems what he assumed is true.

Rex also told Dray and the others to become a diversion,

With Dray and the others pressuring the Undead to make a move, this adds fuel for the Enchanter, Yolgog to take the bait from Rex.

Even though Rex can do this alone,

The pressure coming from Dray and the others will put the Undead's attention to killing them, and thus the thought of the Werewolf reinforcement arriving will greatly influence them.

Not one of them will expect that the Werewolf coming to them is Rex,

Yolgog falls into the plot smoothly just like Rex has planned, and this can't help but bloom an evil smile on Rex's face as he unleashes his aura.

BOOM!

A shockwave of mythical energy went past Yolgog making his spine shiver,

Red force, black lightning, added with the moonlight energy amplify Rex's power to a terrifying level that sent Yolgog to the pit of despair.

Although Enchanter is a referred being,

Their power itself is not that great as they only focus on defensive and buff spells, and in this case, Yolgog is already doomed since he made the decision to follow Rex.

But Yolgog then shakes his head, "Why are you doing this?! We're from the same side!"

"Don't misunderstand me, although I'm a Werewolf I'm not on your side", Rex replied slowly making Yolgog steps back as he felt an immense killing intent coming from Rex.

The clear confusion is also evident on Yolgog face, "Y-You're on the Humans' side?!"

Without even answering, Rex's eyes suddenly spark with black lightning,

SWOOSH!

Rex turns into a streak of lightning as his claws blaze, the red flash coming from Rex's eyes stunned Yolgog in his spot, "Claw of Tormentor"

SLASH!

Yolgos can hardly react to Rex's movement due to the disparity of their strength, but the blue horn sticking out of the middle of his forehead suddenly glows.

CLANG!

A blue barrier appears out of nowhere blocking Rex's attack,

But upon realizing that Rex suddenly appeared in front of him, Yolgos' body glows with a blue aura as he dashes away trying to go back to the city of Undead before.

Looking at this, Rex grins exposing his sharp fangs.

The ground beneath Yolgos suddenly turns black before a black lightning tentacle gripped its legs, Yolgos looks down in surprise as he got caught by the black lightning tentacles.

Rex already scans Yolgos the moment he lays his eyes on Yolgos,

Aside from the weak stats, Yolgos has a ridiculously high intelligence that even surpasses Gistella which shows that his spells are quite powerful.

But all of them are mainly buff and defensive, nothing can threaten Rex.

Right after that, Rex suddenly arrives beside him with the same blazing claws.

CLANG!

Another clanging sound can be heard as Rex's claws collided with the blue barrier surrounding Yolgos that is coming from the blue horn, it's quite sturdy even though Yolgos doesn't even have a peak sixth rank power.

CLANG!

CLANG!

Rex kept attacking the blue barrier repeatedly,

Each of his attacks is backed up with power making Yolgos' heart thump every time Rex's claws collide, his feet even started to get embedded in the ground because of Rex's attacks.

"You're a prince! Why are you on the humans' side!", Yolgos shouted desperately.

Rex didn't intend to answer Yolgos as he incorporate red force into his claws, the hostile energy coming from the red force prickles the blue barrier as Rex puts more strength.

CRACK!

The blue barrier cracked under Rex's might, "Enchanter? Nothing special at all"

Shatter!

With the Claw of Tormentor skill that corroded the blue barrier and also hostile energy from the red force that seems to stab the blue barrier repeatedly, the blue barrier at last shatters.

Rex then grabbed the blue horn and twist it,

Crack!

"AARGGHH!!", Yolgos screams hysterically after getting his blue horn snapped.

The blue energy around his body started to become chaotic as it slowly disintegrates into nothingness, he touches his horn in disbelief, "No...!", he mutters silently.

Realizing that his blue horn broke, Yolgog falls to his knees weakly.

The black lightning tentacles wrapped around its body pinning him in its place as Rex walks slowly, every step that he made his entire being bigger in Yolgog's eyes.

A bleak aura started to cover Yolgog's body as Rex stopped in front of him,

"Kill me already, I'm nothing without my ho Yolgog said lightly, he didn't give any resistance and just surrender himself to Rex's mercy.

Upon hearing this, Rex then said, "You don't have to tell me about that"

"But before we get into that...", Rex added before he takes out the same vial that Dray and Velten took out before as an evil grin appears on his face.

Looking at the white vial, Yolgog widens its eyes, "No... Please just kill me..."

With just the holy energy coming from the white vial, Yolgog instantly realizes what the white vial is for as he started to beg Rex to just kill him instantly.

But even so, Rex has no empathy for Yolgog as he pours the white liquid on Yolgog.

The burning sensation makes Yolgog try to break free like a madman, he just surrenders to Rex a moment ago but now he's struggling crazily using every inch of power that he has.

It come to the point that even one of the black lightning tentacles snapped,

"Hoo... You're quite persistent for a dying Undead", Rex said with an amused smile, Yolgog struggles to break free got even crazier as he saw the death energy starting to dissipate.

While he's struggling, Rex watches from the side with the same evil smile.

"Please! Kill me now!! Hurry!", Yolgog shouted as he saw almost all of his death energy is already purified, and this makes him plead more but fall on deaf ears.

Rex then replied, "You Undead dare to disrespect the humans"

"Now you have the audacity to ask for mercy? I'm sorry, my last strand of mercy for you filthy Undead is already gone', he added while watching Yolgog's misery.

After a moment, all of the death energy already got purified.

Rex then raises Yolgog's gaze who already turns lifeless knowing that he won't be able to enter the Netherworld, he's a bit satisfied upon seeing Yolgog's lifeless gaze.

Nodding his head, Rex then uses his claws and stabs them into Yolgog's chest.

Even after getting his chest pierced, Yolgog didn't even react as Rex grabbed the deathcore in its chest before crushing it in one blow.

He did this while keeping Yolgog's gaze on him mercilessly,

<Killed a Mid Sixth Rank Supernatural, Obtained 20,000,000 Exp>

<Enchanter First Kill Achievement has been completed!>

<Obtained an additional 1,000,000,000 Exp, and Aegis Enchanter Horn>

<Level Up!>

<Obtained 3 Attributable Stats>

Reading the system notification, a smile crept on Rex's face as the exp from the achievement manage to raise his level.

He also got an item from the achievement,

After reading the item's description, the smile on Rex's face becomes even wider as he glances back in the Undead city's direction, 'This is perfect for Gistella', he thought excitedly.

With Yolgos the Enchanter dead, the Undead city is only guarded by a mid-sixth rank.

Rusalka is an astral Undead with powerful trap spells, but during the night Rex can hardly be affected by the spells from a mid-sixth rank.

He then looks up like a dark cloud appears in the sky,

Rumble!

The sky started to rumble, and a spear suddenly appeared in Rex's hand out of thin air as he chanted, "Ether Blink!"

BOOM!

A thick black lightning bolt strikes down from the dark cloud right at Rex's body.

After the lightning blot disappears, Rex's body also disappears alongside the lightning bolt leaving the place empty again as if nothing has ever happened there.

Meanwhile, In the city of Undead.

CRACK!

BOOM!!!

"What the hell is that?!", Nethuq exclaimed as she rushes outside, she was back in the room where Yolgos is meditating and suddenly heard a booming sound coming from the field.

Fearing that it might be the humans, Nethuq hurriedly ran to the field.

Upon arriving at the field, Nethuq saw all of the Undead's eyes attracted to the middle of the field as they all started to shiver in fear.

Looking at this, Nethuq also glances at the field.

But her eyes also soon widen when she saw that there was a Werewolf in the middle of the field.

The mighty horns sticking out of this Werewolf's head and the aura that makes their legs want to kneel show that this Werewolf is a prince, but the shocking part is not over yet.

Just right beside the Werewolf is a black spear,

BAM!

With just a swing of the Werewolf's arm, the spear got planted on the ground beside it.

Nethuq's eyes then glance at the tip of the spear where an Undead's head is impaled, she steps back in fear as she mumbles in horror, "G-Great Yolgog?!!"

Chapter 379 Terrifying Trait

Rex arrived at the Undead city as he slammed the black spear beside him,

The black spear is only a fourth rank equipment he bought from the shop, but it's enough to give the Undead the display he wanted them to have.

BAM!

Lightning shockwave exploded to the surroundings pushing the Undead back a bit.

All of the Undead started to shiver in fear as they saw the scene,

On the tip of the black spear, Rex planted on his side is an Undead head, they all recognize the Undead head that was impaled on the black spear,

Realizing the ones that are getting impaled were the Enchanter,

The Undead step back unconsciously as their morale got pummeled to the ground, even the Rusalka, Nethuq is also trembling as she saw Yolgog's head on the spear.

Rex deliberately does this since the Undeads are also done this to the human corpses.

"Great Yolgog!"

"How did this happen?! It's impossible!"

"Oh Origin, Save us!"

Many of the Undead started to doubt the scene they're looking which is surreal to them even until now, they can't believe that the Great Yolgog died not long after leaving the city.

Now, Rex is still in his Werewolf form glaring at the Undead.

His entire body is radiating a terrifying amount of battle power by just standing there, and Nethuq realizes that the situation is very bad as the other Undead lost their will to fight.

The ones with high intelligence at least,

Yolgog, their leader and also an Enchanter died and the proof is right there to see.

After scanning through the crowd of Undead that is emitting a bleak aura so intense that it blocks his vision, Rex's eyes then landed on an astral Undead at the end of the field.

Upon realizing that Rex is staring at her, Nethuq steps back unconsciously.

Not only that Rex killed Yolgog just a moment after leaving the city showing that it was a one-sided fight, her eyes then darted to Yolgog's carcass and finds it also devoid of death energy.

Nethuq feels this clearly, her heart suddenly got clenched when a smirk appears on Rex's face.

Meanwhile, in front of the north gate of the city,

CRACK!

BOOM!

Dray and the others suddenly look up to the sky when they suddenly saw a thick black lightning bolt descend from the sky,

After that, the sound of battle can be heard from inside the city.

Liliya look up to the wall and find the Undead's attention that should be directed to them went to their backs, "That must be Rex's signal!! Did he succeed that fast?!"

"It's not even an hour yet, is that really possible?", Velten asks in surprise.

Hearing this, Dray also looks at the deathless Undead in front of him and realizes that they just killed about seven of them which shows that it hasn't been that long.

But no matter how surprising it is, the black lightning is clearly Rex's spell.

Without waiting for the others to snap out of their surprise, Delta and Gistella instantly jumped to the wall and killed the Undead there easily.

They started to head to the battle sound direction,

Evelyn then immediately unsheathed her sword after looking at the two who has already broken into the city, she then glances at the others and said, "Let's go! We need to help!"

Liliya then marked the others before the four of them dashed following Delta and Gistella's trail.

After jumping through the city wall, the four of them saw that the battle sound came from the big stadium near the middle of the city.

It was quite far from the north wall, at least a couple of miles away.

Gistella and Delta are also heading in that direction,

Seeing this, Evelyn also heads to the stadium direction first intending to catch up to the two.

But when she jumped down from the city wall, the ground that she was about to land on suddenly glows with death energy making her eyes widen.

"Watch out!", Dray shouted as he uses his wind to knock Evelyn to the side.

BOOM!

The ground that lit up in death energy exploded surprising Evelyn who thankfully manage to avoid that with Dray's help, she then landed on the side as she looks around with a frown.

Dray and the others also landed beside her as they looks around with a frown.

"This place is filled with traps, how can we know where to step if the traps can't be detected with mana?", Dray mumbles feeling troubled.

But then, "What's that white glowing little orbs on the ground?", Velten points.

Hearing this, the others glance to the ground and find that there are many white glowing little orbs on the ground heading in the stadium direction, "It's that woman's spell I think"

"She left us a trail to follow", Liliya added as they follow the trails.

After following the trails, the four of them didn't land on any traps as they made their way towards the stadium where the battle is still going.

While they're following the trails,

The four of them can't help but suck in a cold breath as they saw the massacre done by Gistella and Delta, Undead corpses are scattered around as far as their eyes can see.

None of the Undeads pose a threat to Delta and Gistella's combination,

Wherever the trails lead them, only a handful of Undead is left for the four of them to take care which comes from the abandoned buildings in their surroundings.

Aside from that, all of the Undead is already been killed by Delta and Gistella.

Since the city wall and the huge stadium is quite far, it takes a moment for the four of them to reach the stadium near the middle of the city while battling the Undead.

Arriving at the stadium, Dray and the others can still hear the sound of fighting.

Many Undeads are also jumping to the wall of the stadium as they dash inside the stadium, it's clear that the fight is still going on inside the stadium.

Dozens if not hundreds of Undead leaped to the stadium from the surrounding.

These Undeads also saw them arriving at the stadium as they attacked them wildly, but it's not a problem for the four of them since the ones attacking are lower rank Undead.

It can be dealt with easily,

"We need to hurry!", Evelyn said while fending off the Undead but then suddenly, her body stops when she suddenly saw dozens of Undead coming out of the stadium entrance.

They all are running desperately, and Evelyn notice that they're all fifth rank and above.

Seeing this, the four of them was confused as to what is happening since some Undead is dashing inside while these fifth rank and above Undead are running away.

It's clear that the Undead is in chaos right now,

Velten then commented from the side as he can't believe what he was seeing, "The higher rank Undead are running away? This is just too much"

"Don't let them escape!", Liliya shouted as she dashes at the Undead.

The four of them handled the Undead that are trying to run away, they find it hard to deal with these intelligent Undeads but not because they were too strong for them.

But because these Undeads didn't care about them,

They kept running even though Dray and the others are attacking them, this makes it even harder to kill them as they didn't put any attention and just focus on running.

Even an elder lich they saw from earlier is running madly,

None of its overbearing fronts can be seen, the only thing left was the fearful expression on its face that only think about escaping the place.

While they're cleaning the escaping Undead,

The lightning bolts keep striking down from the sky to the stadium, its power can be felt from outside as the sky spat lightning bolts endlessly making the others pick up their pace.

After cleaning the escaping Undead, the four dashes into the stadium.

They all run into the stadium and instantly meet the huge soccer field in the middle, but their eyes widen when they saw the scene in front of them.

In the middle of the field is one man fighting against hundreds of Undead,

From the black lightning and red force that was sent from each attack this man make, it's obvious that this man in the middle of the field is Rex.

Rex is fighting hundreds of Undead relentlessly,

Now, Rex is not in his Werewolf form but in his human form instead.

His eyes are glowing with immense killing intent as he hacks every Undead that attacked him, the domineering presence of his as he blitzes through the crowd of Undead surprises them.

But that's not what catches their eyes the most,

The thing that catches their attention the most is the scenery of the soccer field,

Aside from Zombies, Skeletons, and other Undeads fighting with Rex,

The four of them also saw that the entirety of the soccer field is filled with Undead carcasses, the carcasses are so many that they started to pile up covering the green ground of the soccer field.

It came to the point that the scene terrifies even them,

Rex kept killing the Undead without mercy, he was swinging his swords left and right with his body filled with dark blood from the Undeads that fall under his swords.

"Does he ever get tired...?", Velten mutters in shock.

Even Dray who is watching this scene unfold gulped harshly seeing the piles of carcasses that makes his skin crawls, Rex is very horrifying right now.

The scene brings back a memory from the time when they were in the Supernatural territory for Liliya.

Liliya can still somewhat remember the time when Rex is fighting against the Dark Monkeys, she also was shocked back then to see Rex's relentless and cold-fighting style which is very gruesome to even look at.

She also knows that Rex is gifted with regenerative ability,

This alone makes Rex's endurance the most terrifying trait of his, fighting an enemy that doesn't seem to get tired is certainly demoralizing even for the low intelligent Undead.

Aside from Rex fighting,

Delta is also biting through the seats of the stadium chomping on any Undead that gets in her way, she's a peak sixth rank mutated beast now and these Undeads are not her match.

While Gistella is standing by the side while looking at the scene in silence.

The four of them soon realize that they're a bit too late,

It makes the four of them smile wryly when they realize that Rex obliterates the entire company on his own in such a short amount of time, it's probably not even half an hour since this started.

"He's just unbelievable, no wonder even my father revered him", Dray mutters in awe.

While they're watching from the side,

Many Undeads are jumping at him like an endless tide of ants, they all are rushing at Rex even though many Undead before them died with just a swing of Rex's arms.

The system's notification rings every time Rex's sword stabs an Undead.

Since the day the system suddenly appears in his life, this day is probably the most notifications Rex has ever received in one day.

SLASH!

The silver sword and the Amuerus Katana cuts the Undead like butter,

With his terrifying reflex and sense as a Werewolf, not one of the Undead manage to land a hit on him but got killed by him instead.

But then suddenly,

Clang!

Rex glance to the side as an Undead knock his silver sword from his hand.

This is the first time an Undead manages to land a hit on him which shows that even with the endurance of a Werewolf, fighting thousands of Undead is still taxing.

It's his second fight of the day nevertheless,

Just being to still fight this hard is already a miracle in Dray and the others' perspective, it's not shocking to see Rex is already breathing heavily feeling fatigued.

But at this point, Rex is already submerged in the stupor of the battle completely.

His body moves on his own,

Slash!

Rex cuts a skeleton that manages to knock the silver sword from his hand killing it instantly, he then glances to the side and finds a zombie leaped at him before he twists his torso.

BAM!

He swings his fist powerfully as the punch penetrates through the zombie's chest,

The dark blood squirts to his face instantly after his fist penetrate through the zombie's chest, horrifying stench filled his nostrils but he's already numbed right now.

Nothing seems to faze him,

After pulling his arm back, Rex felt another Supernatural on his back as he tightened his muscles and swing another punch at it but then suddenly, "REX! IT'S ME!"

SWOOSH!!

Rex stops his punch when he suddenly heard the familiar voice,

A powerful shockwave was created from Rex's punch blowing wind to Evelyn's face, she is sweating bullets when she saw Rex suddenly turns his body to punch her.

Upon seeing Evelyn's face, Rex raises his eyebrows as he looks around.

"Is it over already?", he mumbles while looking at thousands of Undead carcasses around him.

Right after saying that, Rex's legs suddenly gave out as Evelyn catches his body and supported him, "It's over, you can rest assured now..."

"No, it's not over yet. The Rusalka is still alive", Rex said.

Hearing this, Evelyn glance at the end of the field and find the Rusalka Rex is talking about standing rooted in her place.

ROAR!

Delta suddenly appeared on Nethuq's side and swipe her claws at Nethuq,

But under the others' gaze, Delta's claws went through Nethuq's body.

Nethuq then snapped out of her horrified daze as she started flying away intending to leave, she was trying to run away for her life realizing that Rex had just taken down the entire company of Undead by himself.

"What a terrifying human!", Nethuq mutters in fear.

The sight of Rex killing all of the Undead with one swing of his arm was greatly embedded in her mind, she will not forget it for the rest of her life!

Just when she was about to pick up the pace,

BLITZ!

A white streak of lightning suddenly flashes in her vision as Delta suddenly appeared in front of her, she widens her eyes in surprise as Delta bares her fangs menacingly.

With her claws blitzing with white lightning, Delta attacks Nethuq again.

BOOM!

This time, the attack landed on her as she got sent crashing back into the field just beside Rex and the others who were also surprised to see Delta's attack landed.

Delta landed beside Nethuq as she attacks Nethuq again,

SLASH!

SLASH!

Under Delta's claw swipes, Nethuq's body started to get torn apart as she struggles to run away by slowly crawling to no avail.

She can't escape Delta's attacks,

When Delta was about to bite Nethuq's head off, Rex suddenly stopped her, "Stop! I need her alive, you can kill her later", he said.

Hearing this, Delta growls as she walks to the side.

Rex then stands up with the help of Evelyn as he walks over to Nethuq, but his steps suddenly stop as his eyes widen in surprise,

<Blood Moon Quest - Thirst has been completed!>

Chapter 380 Secret Route And Pressuring Nethuq

<Obtained Red Frenzy Passive Skill, 20,000,000 Exp, and Blood Drought Pill>

<Red Frenzy - Passive Skill>

The Blood Moon has abilities around blood and death. Upon completing the Thirst quest, the blood moon granted the user one of its crucial abilities. Red Frenzy grants the user a heightened sense of blood scent and also empowers the user when fighting beings that possess blood. If enough blood is spilled, the blood moon will grant the user with the Red Frenzy state where the user will have an endless amount of stamina.

<Blood Drought Pil>

A pill that possesses the ability to drain blood from the ones that consume it, this process will be slow and very excruciatingly painful, especially to beings that has abilities around blood. The consumer of the pill will feel a stabbing and burning sensation around their body as their blood is slowly consumed by the blood moon.

Rex looks at the notifications from the system in front of him in surprise,

Although he already planned to finish this quest by massacring the Vampire city of the Delarosa Royal Family, he didn't expect that it will get completed right now.

'It said that I have to massacre one city of Supernatural, I guess this counts', he thought.

With the completion of the thirst quest, Rex gains a passive ability that is very useful in the future when he fights many Supernatural at once, 'This is similar to that Werewolf skill', he thought.

He remembered when he was on the evolution path vision,

At that moment, he remembered seeing one of the evolution paths after high Werewolf is a Demonic Blood Werewolf which should possess a similar skill to this.

But based on his memory, the Demonic Blood Werewolf summons a sphere of blood.

This passive skill on the other hand doesn't, it's said in the description of the passive skill that he will not get tired and have endless stamina as long as enough blood is spilled.

It's clear that he won't summon a sphere of blood although it should be a similar skill.

Rex will need to test the skills out to check how much blood is enough,

Before Rex can think any further, the system gave another notification making Rex frown as he looks at the notifications,

<Blood Moon Quest - Commitment>

The bearer of the Blood Moon King Mark must have a solid ability to provide blood for the Blood Moon, but they also have to have the powerful commitment to bear the power of the Blood Moon. Collect the items listed below, and show the user's commitment to the Blood Moon King Mark power!

Blood of a Peak Seventh Rank Supernatural - 0/1

Sculpture of Replica - 0/1

Argent Debilitate Liquor - 0/1

Looking at the new quest, Rex was confused as he didn't know the items needed to be collected aside from the Blood of a Peak Seventh Rank Supernatural.

'What did it mean by commitment? Does collecting these items show my commitment?', Rex thought.

But then he suddenly let out a chuckle, 'It's not much of a commitment problem but alright, I'll find these items since it will give me the King Mark',

Since he already felt the King Mark power from the Invincible item,

Rex was feeling excited to have that power that can make him feel as if he can fight anything, it's an intoxicating power that should bring him up to the next realm or even higher!

After shaking his head, Rex then focuses back on the astral Undead in front of him.

The others are also looking at him in await as he approaches the astral Undead with the help of Evelyn, he then looks at the astral Undead who is lying on the ground weakly.

"Do you want to die peacefully or not?", Rex asks lightly.

Hearing this, Nethuq looks at Rex with drained and weak eyes.

The claw wounds around her astral body from Delta's attack are gruesome,

Even Rex is quite surprised to see that Delta's attack landed on her astral body, but the system suddenly explained from the side,

<Lighting, Light, and Dark elements have a natural power that can affect astral creatures>

Reading this, Rex nodded his head as that explains why.

Nethuq then saw a white vial in Dray's hand which makes her instantly know what Rex means, and with a weak voice she then replied, "Let me die peacefully"

"Then tell me the route you guys use to get here", Rex asks.

When he was still disguising as an Omega Werewolf before, Yolgos said something about a route that even the Cessation Knight doesn't know.

From what Yolgos said, this is the route the Werewolf reinforcement used too.

Although Gistella said that the reinforcement was supposed to arrive this day, it seems they're late which is not surprising considering this is not their territory, to begin with.

So it's understandable if they are late from the expected time,

Hearing this, Nethuq's mouth closed as she was hesitant in replying to Rex's question.

Rex then added, "Is it really worth keeping the secret of a route that will be exposed at some point either way compared to not getting in the Netherworld which will last forever?"

This makes Nethuq widen her eyes as she started to doubt herself,

With the addition from Rex, Nethuq finally caved after Rex gives her more motivation as she said, "There's a black maple tree a couple of miles southwest from the city, you pluck one of the leaves that stands out and the secret route will be opened"

Upon hearing this, Rex squints his eyes, "Are you lying?"

"I'm not, I really don't want to not be able to enter the Netherworld", Nethuq replied lightly.

Evelyn looks at Nethuq and believes that she's being honest just from her reply tone alone, it seems the others also believe that she's telling the truth.

But when Evelyn glance at Rex, he has an unreadable expression on his face.

Rex glance at the others and find that they all believe that Nethuq is telling the truth, her bearing says it all as if she's really scared of not being able to enter this Netherworld.

Then suddenly, "Dray, give me the vial", Rex suddenly said.

Hearing this, the others widened their eyes in surprise as they didn't expect Rex to be this ruthless, "Rex... I think she's telling the truth", Evelyn said.

"Can you guarantee that? I think not", Rex replied sharply.

He then glances at Dray demanding to hand over the white vial as Nethuq's expression turns horrified, "Y-You said that you will let me die peacefully!"

"I did, but I don't trust you", Rex said as Dray handed the white vial reluctantly.

Although the others believed Nethuq is telling the truth, Rex can't rely upon emotions and know that there's nothing that can verify the words that came from Nethuq's mouth.

But Velten and Liliya already expected this as they're not too disturbed by what Rex is doing.

With a stoic expression, Rex approach Nethuq intending to pour the vial on her.

This makes Nethuq tries to crawl away desperately starting to regret believing in Rex's words, she looks pitiful as she tries to crawl away with both of her hands.

But it didn't amount much as her body is tangled thanks to Delta.

Rex was about to pour the white liquid to purify the death energy from Nethuq before his hand suddenly got grabbed by someone, "Hmm?"

He glances to the side and finds Gistella grabbing his hand,

The scene caught Rex in surprise since he didn't expect Gistella to do this, she was really obedient before Rex turns her into a Werewolf.

With that, this obedient behavior of her should've got amplified after turning into a Werewolf.

But seeing her stopping his hand albeit with her trembling hand still surprises Rex, "She's telling the truth...", Gistella mutters meekly.

"Is that so?", Rex mumbles as he looks at Gistella who is avoiding his gaze.

Rex forgot about Gistella who is also a part of the Undead army not too long ago, so she must know about this secret route Yolgog speaks of.

It's probably the fatigue dawning upon him which makes him lose focus.

The others are looking at Gistella in confusion,

Only Evelyn knows that Gistella is an Undead once before Rex turned into a Werewolf, the others apart from her have no clue about this.

Gistella then added, "Please show mercy, I can verify for her. Master..."

Before saying that, Gistella went to her knees after letting go of Rex's hand as she pleaded for Rex to show Nethuq mercy since the information Nethuq gave is true and she can verify that.

"G-Gustava? Is that y-", Nethuq mumbles but before she can finish,

SLASH!

Black lightning envelopes the Amuerus Katana as Rex cuts Nethuq's head clean off, he decided to show her some mercy since Gistella vouch for her.

She also pleaded in front of the others and Rex have no choice,

Rex is also afraid that Nethuq will say something that will expose Gistella's identity as an Undead in front of the others which will be bad.

It's relieving that the others are not asking much of Gistella, and he plans to keep it that way.

After killing Nethuq with one clean swing, Rex then glance back at Gistella before he said, "If it turns out that she's lying, you will regret doing this"

The fight concluded as the last company of Undead got wiped out,

Rex rests for a couple of minutes before he proceeds to find the leftovers Undead that are hiding, he kills them all with the help of the others.

While the others are helping the captured humans,

Just like the survivors, these captured humans were praising them as they were in a desperate situation just a tad more before they got fed to the Werewolves.

Aside from that, Rex also realized that he just leveled up again.

With Undead upon Undead that he killed in the stadium, Rex manages to accumulate exp which even makes him leveled up again.

This shows just how much Undead he killed in that stadium,

The Undead here is also overall stronger than the other company, which is why the exp is more abundant here that even manages to make him level up.

After cleaning the Undead, Rex and the others went back to the descendants.

The wounded descendants and the ones that didn't come with them earlier were surprised to find that they has finished their part, it was shocking for them to hear that Rex and the others manage to destroy a company of Undead by themselves.

Little do they know, almost all of them were wiped out by Rex alone.

While Rex is resting with Gistella watching over beside him, Dray and the others are looking at Rex who is taking a nap after the gruesome fight he went through.

They still wondered until now just how did Rex manage to kill the Enchanter,

It was too fast for comfort which makes them wonder, killing an Enchanter in the mids of the Undead army is harder because of the Enchanter's spells.

But Rex did it so fast that it looks like it's not a problem for him,

One and the only explanation they can muster is that Rex manages to lure the Enchanter out, but no matter what, they can't think of how Rex lured the Enchanter out.

While the others are glancing at Rex a couple of times,

Seve on the other hand is looking at Maurice who is sitting on the ground not far from him, his eyes then glance at Rex as he squints his eyes.

After a moment, Rex woke up.

The power nap that he took freshened up his mind as he told the descendants to go to Eqosa City and wait for him there, the captured humans need to be brought back to the city.

He also told some of them to notify Tyrice in the other city to join them,

"Arent' we going to help Gerrard?", Dray asks.

Hearing this, Rex glanced to the far forest as he replied, "They should be finishing up right now, there's no need to help them with the seventh rank Undead gone"

Since Durrant's company is also dead,

None of the remaining company of Undead can threaten Gerrard who is a seventh rank Awakened, so it's not necessary to help them and better of tending the wounded in Eqosa City.

Evelyn then looks at Rex and asks, "Are you going to check on the route you're talking about?"

"Yes, the Werewolf reinforcement is still not here and they should arrive soon. I must check the route out before they arrive", he replied.

But then Evelyn frowned, "How did you find the secret route anyway?"

"The Enchanter mentioned it when it's talking about the Werewolf reinforcement", Rex replied calmly as he went to Delta and pat her head.

Seeing this, Evelyn sighs as she prepares herself to leave too.

They will be going to Eqosa City to wait for Rex to come back before reporting to the Awakened there of their triumph over the Undead, they also need to go there to go back to Ratmawati City.

Rex then mounts Delta with one leap of his,

Gistella also follows as they both mount Delta preparing to leave for the secret route.

While walking back to the descendants, Evelyn suddenly got approached by Seve as he said, "Evelyn! What are you guys talking about earlier?"

"It's about the Werewolf reinforcement, Rex found their secret route", Evelyn replied.

Hearing this, Seve was also surprised as Rex seems to manage to do anything before he suddenly asks, "Did you find out how Rex manage to kill the Enchanter so fast?"

Evelyn looks at Seve in confusion,

"You didn't come with us, so how did you know about that?", Evelyn asks with a frown.

Meanwhile, Vampire Territory.

The King's Castle,

Rosie opened her eyes weakly when she heard the sound of a door closing, she raises her gaze and finds a beautiful Vampire walking slowly.

During her time in the Vampire territory, she usually meets with Nezera.

But this time, the Vampire that enters her dungeon with steady steps is not Nezera but looks similar and younger than Nezera.

Rosie looks noticeably thinner as she's chained to the place,

Bloodstain can be seen on her mouth as she glares at the Vampire sharply, she can't do anything to break free of the chains and she doesn't even expect to be still alive this long.

The evil smirk on the Vampire's face makes her look intimidating,

If Rex were here, he will instantly realize that this Vampire is Calidora.

Calidora approaches Rosie with steady steps before she grabs Rosie's chin and brings her gaze higher, "You must be the Chosen One, your blood reek sweetness", she said.

"What do you want?", Rosie replied with her hoarse voice.

Hearing this, Calidora smiles as she scratches Rosie's cheek with her claws.

The blood from the cut on Rosie's cheek got smeared on Calidora's claws as she puts her claws on her tongue, she tastes the blood as she mumbles, "Very sweet, but not as good as his though"

Rosie frowned in confusion upon hearing what Calidora said,

After saying that, Calidora takes a couple of steps away from Rosie.

"I heard you have some connection with the Werewolf in the human territory, is that true?", Calidora asks while looking at Rosie intently.

Rosie glanced at Calidora with slightly widen eyes, "Rex?"

"Ah yes, that's his name. Rex...", Calidora mutters as a sweet smile appears on her face.

The sweet smile looks creepy as she's remembering the time she fights with Rex, it's intoxicating but her eyes then fall to Rosie again, "Do you want to meet him? Meet Rex?"

"What do you mean by that?", Rosie asks sharply.

From the moment Calidora enters the dungeon, she already senses trouble coming from her.

With the same sweet smile, Calidora then replied, "If you want to meet with Rex, I can help you"

"And when I mean meet, I mean to meet him in person. How about it? Are you interested?", Calidora added as her sweet smile turns terrifyingly evil in a split second.
