Chapter 491 Evelyn's Transformation

Secret Passage, the Black Maple Tree.

Edward is sitting on a tree branch of the Black Maple Tree while looking up to the sky, he saw the moon is already turning golden yellow brightly signing the start of the Wolf Moon.

Despite being above the secret passageway, he can still hear the growling sounds.

Gistella and Evelyn are still inside the secret passageway and their growls are very loud and powerful that the growling sounds even penetrate the ground, Edward fears that someone might hear their growls so he's keeping a lookout.

The moment they finally finished turning completely, he will check on them.

"Never in my wildest dream that I will babysit two Werewolves that are turning for the first time. If I told my younger self during the military about this, he'll probably hate me, right?", Edward utters to himself with a forced smile.

Although he has accepted this situation, it's still ironic when he thought about him.

For years he has battled against the Supernaturals with the military and survived, but now one of his comrades turned into a Werewolf and turned others into Werewolves.

While he was thinking to himself, Edward suddenly saw the murky water underneath lit up.

At first, only a part of the murky water starts to light up with a bright white light. But that white light becomes even brighter and brighter by the second. It didn't take long before the entire murky water turned into bright white water and this white light is coming from below.

Upon seeing this, Edward pluck one of the black leaves before the secret passage opened again.

Just as he thought the bright white light comes from the secret passage which means it's coming either from Evelyn or Gistella. Edward tries to cover his eyes from the bright white light that surprised him.

Opening his eyes is impossible with the bright white light that envelopes the entire place.

Even the trees around the place started to get seeped by the bright white light, a huge part of the forest got shone by the bright white light that should be clouded with the darkness of the night.

After a moment, the bright light finally receded.

Seeing that the bright light is gone, Edward jumped down from the tree branch into the secret passageway. He raises his gaze and saw Gistella is still chained like before but when he shifted his eyes to Evelyn his eyes widen in shock.

Unlike what he saw earlier, Evelyn is drastically different.

Today should be the Wolf Moon where any Werewolf will become berserk, and in Rex and the others' context, they will turn into their Werewolf form. Edward anticipated that.

He anticipated that both Gistella and Evelyn are going to turn into their Werewolf form.

Gistella turned as he just expected becoming monstrous with sharp fangs and brown furs, her yellow sharp eyes that gave off a glint of animalistic being. It fitted perfectly to the definition of a Werewolf form.

But on the other hand, Evelyn doesn't even turn remotely similar to Gistella.

Just a moment before she's slowly turning into an actual Werewolf form, now there's not even a sight of that is happening to her.

Evelyn who is still chained by the chains retained her human form but with drastic changes. Her blazing red hair was now dominated by a silky white color with a hint of purple, and her clothes also changed into a pure white dress that looks to be carved by the moon goddess herself.

While looking at her, Edward saw her eyelids tremble a bit.

Soon Evelyn open her eyes exposing her beautiful violet eyes that are mesmerizing and simply gorgeous, her eyes then slowly shifted to Edward who is standing still like a statue seeing this sight.

Every move that Evelyn made left sparkling purple dust like snow falling to the ground.

For someone that hasn't really other parts of the Supernatural except for the pain and terror they bring, the sight of what Evelyn turned into is very refreshing to see.

Out of all that Edward thought could happen, this one is something he didn't expect at all.

After another blink, a purple crescent moon appears on Evelyn's forehead alongside two small horns poking out of her head. The horns look like Rex's but smaller, they only poked out shyly from her head.

"E-Evelyn...?", Edward mutters in utter shock.

Hearing this, Evelyn looks down to see her new appearance feeling a bit surprised too. She then raises her gaze to see Edward again and said, "Can you unchain me, Edward?"

"A-Are you sure you're fine?", Edward replied still feeling hesitant.

But just as he said that,

Growl!

Clang! Clang!

Edward looks at Gistella and finds her trying to break free from the Chains of Anti-Werewolf, her body is already covered with bronze scales that increase her power even more. Her sheer aura now is devastatingly powerful making Edward feels like an ant.

Judging from her aura alone, Gistella should already reach the mid-seventh rank or higher.

"I'm fine and I think I can help Gistella calm down, just unchain me and let me try", Evelyn said with her sweet voice that has some charm in it, but Edward is still unsure.

Edward inspects Evelyn to try and see if she really did retain her sanity.

Although it's a bit unclear whether she really did retain her sanity, her violet eyes show the absolute charm of calmness, her eyes alone show that she doesn't have any hostility or bloodlust that any Werewolf has during a full moon.

With that, Edward finally unchained her by channeling the energy of the chains with his hands.

Since the Chains of Anti-Werewolf are linked to him, he's the only one that can unchain Evelyn and Gistella. The chains then make a clanking sound as the lock is twisted before falling to the ground.

Evelyn rubs her wrists before her eyes look at the struggling Gistella.

But after walking a couple of steps nearing Gistella, Edward finds something is off with Evelyn.

Unconsciously he already readies himself if somehow Evelyn will try and attack him, and just as he thought he saw Evelyn turns her body towards him in a blink of an eye, "Haah!"

Edward jumped away hearing Evelyn yelled at him.

Bead of cold sweat can be seen falling down the side of his sweat, he looks at Evelyn and finds her covering her mouth while chuckling lightly, "Wait... you're just messing with me?", Edward asks realizing that Evelyn is just scaring him.

"Don't worry, I'm perfectly fine there's no need to be so tense", Evelyn replied with a wink.

This makes Edward stands up straight again with a sigh, he never thought that Evelyn can even try to joke around in this kind of situation. He almost got a heart attack from that.

After chuckling a little, Evelyn stands in front of Gistella.

Gistella growls at her menacingly while baring her strong aura showing her hostility towards Evelyn.

But that act of intimidation doesn't work for Evelyn at all, she stretches her hand to embrace Gistella's face which makes Edward frown in concern, "I don't think you should do that"

"She looks like she was about to bite your hand off", he added.

Hearing this, Evelyn shakes her head as her hand is almost touching Gistella's face.

Aside from worrying that Gistella might just bite Evelyn's hand off, Edward finds that Evelyn's sharp fingernails are red in color which looks out of place from her white and purple appearance.

The purple aura gathers on Evelyn's hand as she embraces Gistella's face.

Edward's heart is beating like a drum as he watches this while readying himself to help if Gistella decided to bite Evelyn's hand, but what he expected never came true. Instead, Gistella's eyes slowly soften as the bronze scales around her body slowly got pulled back by her.

What's happening right now confused Edward, he doesn't understand any of this at all.

"You can unchain her now, she needs to hunt the prey that Rex marked", Evelyn suddenly said glancing over her shoulder to see Edward, her hand still embracing Gistella's face.

Although a bit hesitant, Gistella is clearly not as hostile as before.

Doing the same thing as before, Edward channels the energy of the chains and they soon fall to the ground freeing Gistella to do whatever she wants. If she decided to attack Edward right now he won't be able to hold her back for long.

"I'll trust you on this one", Edward said with a hint of worry in his tone.

Thud!

Gistella slowly rises up towering over Evelyn and Edward easily, her daggering yellow eyes sharply glancing at Edward making him gulp harshly. She's way stronger than Edward, so it's natural to feel pressured by her.

But Gistella then glanced back at Evelyn with curious eyes.

"Just go and hunt the deathless Undead and don't harm any humans", Evelyn said.

Hearing the instruction from Evelyn, Gistella in her werewolf form can be seen nodding her head a little before she looks up and jumps. She got out of the secret passageway before she looks around the place.

Evelyn and Edward soon follow after her as they jumped out of the secret passageway.

They saw Gistella sniffing the air a couple of times trying to track the deathless Undead that she needs to hunt, and after finding one she glanced to her left before dashing into the forest with a speed that is way faster than she usually has.

Looking at this, Edward then asks, "Aren't you supposed to hunt too?"

"I don't know... the feeling of needing to hunt disappears, I guess I don't have to", Evelyn replied while shrugging her shoulders, she seems to not be affected by the Wolf Moon anymore.

But while hearing her reply, Edward can't help but look at the new Evelyn.

Although she still looks to be in her human form, she's clearly not since there are the small horns, the glowing purple crescent moon, the red fingernails, and her aura that dictates her not a human.

Edward thought for a moment and remembered a being amongst the Werewolf ranks.

Luna Werewolf...

"How do you know that you can calm Gistella down? This is your first time transforming", Edward asks curiously, he still doesn't get as to how Evelyn seems to be calm about this transformation.

Hearing this, Evelyn then said, "Instinct, like I did to calm Rex down when he's in a berserk state"

Evelyn then looks at the far horizon, she's attracted by something in the opposite direction of where Gistella has run off to, "Kyran and Adhara are near, they should be here any moment now"

"As for Rex... he seems to be moving somewhere", she added with a frown.

Meanwhile, a mile away from Edward and Evelyn's location.

Gistella is running on all four like an animal with her muscular body that has a curve of a womanly Werewolf, the chest and stomach parts are not covered with brown fur but instead cream-colored skin which further shows that she's a female Werewolf.

While galloping with her eyes fixed in front, she then saw a particular tree bigger than the others.

From the normal human eyes, since the big tree is about 600 feet away or even more they won't see an Undead with a decayed body sitting on a tree branch above the tree.

It seems to be eating a mutated animal, a pretty weak one at that.

Since the Undead marked by Rex all are deathless, they're just slightly stronger than a normal human thus they can only hunt rank one or two mutated animals. It's sad how this Undead has fallen from grace substantially.

Back during the attack on Eqosa City, it's a proud fifth-rank Undead brimming with death energy.

Now that is all only something of the past, it can only kill first or second-rank mutated animals with the current strength it has. Very, very weak.

Gistella can see this Undead for a mile away through the dense forest.

It doesn't take very long before Gistella to near the big tree where the Undead is eating the mutated animal, strength started coursing on her limbs before she leapt while baring her claws intending to kill.

Without even the Undead able to react, Gistella's claws cut it into pieces.

Green substance stained Gistella's claws after killing the Undead with one swipe, there is no resistance put up by the Undead as it got killed instantly without even knowing how it died.

After killing the Undead, Gistella then moved on to the next target without stopping.

There are four Undead that is hiding inside the forest near the secret passageway, no matter where they are hiding Gistella can find them easily. It's because of the black sheep mark.

Even though the Undead is hiding in a very well-hidden place, they got easily tracked.

It's a night of terror for the deathless Undead that thought they manage to flee and survive the ordeal of the Eqosa City attack but turns out they only live for the Silverstar Pack to hunt them.

Meanwhile, on the other side of the place.

A group of eight people can be seen walking beside a forest that is emitting purple gas here and there, if Rex is here then he will instantly recognize the forest as the Everpurple Conifer Forest.

Out of the eight people, five of them are holding melee weapons.

While the other three is holding ranged weapon including modern guns and a bow, they all wear the same sets of armor with a glowing blue on their chests that take a shape of the earth. Everyone will know what those crests are just from a glance.

The only thing differentiating these people are that the ones holding ranged weapons have a grey robe attached to their helmets making them look like a nun.

All of them are wearing helmets that hide their faces, they seem to be an elite force.

Leading this group of people is a man judging from his wide frame holding a sword that is blitzing with blue lightning, his aura is overbearing showing that he's an Awakened expert. The man leads the group while looking at a watch that portrayed a holographic map with three red dots.

"One of the possible entry points is around this forest, get ready for combat", the man said.

Hearing this, the other of the group nodded their heads.

One of them that is readying a bow in his hand asks, "Vampires, Werewolves, and Undead are not stealthy ones, they shouldn't be able to infiltrate the cities on our side. Why does the commander send us here anyway?"

"The cities around the second base got infiltrated by the Supernaturals causing chaos everywhere, the commander fears that somehow the same thing will happen in our side"

"It's better to be safe than sorry, we're at war anyway", the leader replied sternly.

But just as they were walking with their weapons ready at hand, one of them holding a mace glance to the side and saw what seems to be an Undead running towards them, "Leader! An Undead!"

"What?! There are still more Undead here?!", the leader exclaimed while glancing to the side.

At the far end of their vision they can see an Undead emerges out of nowhere and sprinting towards them, the leader frowns when he sensed something amiss.

"That Undead is emitting no death energy, did it get purified?"

The remarks from one of them make the leader frown.

Soon the leader becomes even more alert seeing the terrified expression on the Undead's face, but before he or the others can comment on that they all went into their battle stance seeing a Werewolf suddenly clawing the Undead ripping its head easily.

"It's a Werewolf..."

"How did it come from that direction, there are at least seven platoons stationed here"

"Why did it attack the Undead?"

Hearing this, the leader is also confused as he saw the Werewolf butchered the Undead relentlessly. They're on the same side so it's weird to find the Werewolf killing the Undead.

From the aura of the Werewolf, the group's bodies tensed.

They can feel the wave of terrifying aura coming from that Werewolf, it's at least as powerful as the leader himself which is troubling to know. But not long after killing the Undead, the Werewolf straightens its back.

Its yellow eyes glanced around before landing on the group in white armor.

"Get ready, it seems what the commander feared is true. The same thing is happening to our side, and we're going to prevent that Werewolf from nearing any cities..."

Chapter 492 Meeting A Platoon Of Cessation Knight

Gistella came out of the forest and with one powerful leap clawed the Undead's head gruesomely, the head got sliced into three pieces because of getting slashed by her super sharp claws.

She then kept clawing the Undead that is clearly dead in a fit of anger.

The deathless Undead's blood decorates her claws while she kept clawing and stabbing, what's left of that deathless Undead is nothing but a very disfigured corpse that doesn't resemble anything of what its appearance was.

After venting her anger to the deathless Undead, Gistella sensed something.

Straightening her body like an arrow bearing her towering and muscular figure, she looks to her front with her sharp yellow eyes. Her vision is clouded with red clouds because of the anger she's feeling, but it didn't hinder her vision.

It's more like an amplifier of focus rather than a hindrance.

Gistella saw a group of eight soldiers standing just beside the Everpurple Conifer Forest, they are all emitting powerful auras while they ready their weapons and get into their battle stances.

Looking at this, a wave of anger instills her with madness.

Roar!!

A powerful roar escaped Gistella's mouth as she bares her aura to the fullest extent.

Even from afar, she can see the group of eight's bodies tensed from hearing her roar alone. This shows that the group of eight is wary of her. But before Gistella can do anything, she saw two of the soldiers in the group of eight pointing their guns toward her.

The guns they are holding are grey and white matching their armors.

When the two soldiers pull the triggers, bullets start to rain down on Gistella as each one of them makes a powerful banging sound. The glistening bullets show that they're not just regular bullets.

From the red and blue energy imbued on each bullet, they're definitely enhanced by mana.

Gistella with her insane reflex manages to run sideways before the first bullet even reaches her, the bullet enhanced with red mana exploded upon hitting the ground while the bullets with blue mana exploded with ice.

Without a doubt getting hit by one of those will be painful.

They can probably hurt a seventh rank Supernaturals with enough bullets, but none of the bullets manage to hit Gistella. Her swift and animalistic movements make it hard to shoot her.

Not one of the bullets manages to land on her brownish furs.

Another one that is holding a bow has already pulled the string and charging an immense amount of mana while aiming at Gistella, the humanoid spirit behind him has also already materialized taking the same stance at the man.

The man then closes one of his eyes to get a better aim, a surge of energy gathers on the tip of the arrow, and when he finds the perfect timing to shoot he lets the arrow loose.

"Great Spell! Keen Lightning Arrow!"

Swoosh!

Lightning is crackling on the arrow as it flew after a booming sound resounded.

The lightning arrow is quite fast, way faster than even the bullets that are fired at Gistllea. In just a fraction of a second, it reaches Gistella that is still running from the bullets raining on her.

Gistella sensed this very fast attack heading toward her.

Almost like her body moved on its own by reflex and following her instinct, Gistella twisted her torso before jumping in the nick of time. She arched her body even more just enough to make the lightning arrow miss her waist by a hair's length.

Boom!

Dozens of trees got destroyed by the lightning arrow that missed Gistella.

But as if the man already expected the first one to miss, another arrow already arrived in front of Gistella's eyes giving not even a moment for her body to react even with her insane reflex.

She only manages to cross her arms in front of her to block the arrow.

Boom!

"Bullseye! Even for a Werewolf, it won't be able to come out of that unscathed", the man that fires the arrow said giving himself a pat on the back for his impeccable aim.

The leader on the other hand lower his stance and said, "Follow me, we're going to finish this"

Under the leader's command, the five soldiers wearing white armor including the leader dash towards Gistella which is still clouded with smoke from the arrow's explosion. They are moving in sync with each other creating an arrow formation.

Despite the distance separating them, the five soldiers reached Gistella in a blink of an eye.

Each of their bodies is covered with their own elemental aura added with spirit energy showing that all of them are at least sixth rank Awakened, the leader is the first one to strike.

After jumping to the sky, the leader swings down his sword covered with lightning.

The leader's body is covered with a green hue but the sword is cracking with lightning, it shows that he's a Wind Elementalist but the sword is a piece of battle equipment created by a Lightning Elementalist.

Just as the leader swung down, the sword suddenly hits a solid object powerfully.

Clang!

Upon feeling the hardness of the object he strikes that stopped his swinging momentum entirely, the leader looks up and finds Gistella looking at him and her body is covered with a bluish barrier.

This surprised the leader, there was not even a crack in the barrier.

Since the barrier should be hit by the powerful spell from the man with a bow, it should be able to weaken the barrier and at least crack under his attack. But no, that didn't happen at all.

But while the leader is surprised, the other four are already about to strike too.

Gistella didn't stay idle and roared while simultaneously pushing the bluish barrier wider, the barrier easily push the five soldiers including the leader that pushes them back before she instantly turns around and dash into the forest.

"Let's go after it! It's going to be bad if it reaches Eqosa City!", the leader shouted.

All of the group of soldiers wearing white armors dashes into the forest to pursue Gistella including the ones aside from the melee soldiers, they all move swiftly amplified by their respective mana.

With the dense forest as her cover, Gistella moved very quickly.

Although this is the first time she has turned into her Werewolf form, every act and movement she did is like her body already recognize it and is able to utilize it efficiently. She doesn't just sprint on all four on the ground, but she also used the terrain to her advantage to dodge the bullets and arrows that are still firing at her.

No matter if she needs to grab a tree trunk to change direction quickly, or even jump from one tree to another, everything she did is so efficient that it's horrifying.

The soldiers on her back were aghast seeing this,

"How the hell is it able to dodge everything, and even if it gets hit there is still the barrier covering it"

"It's certainly not a regular Werewolf, maybe an Alpha?"

"No way, an Alpha wouldn't be in our territory alone... Or does it luring us into an ambush?"

While listening to the other soldiers discussing the Werewolf that is clearly very powerful, the leader frowns as he fixated his eyes on the running Gistella that is getting further away. His eyes then flash before he said, "Let's get serious, it's nearing Eqosa City"

Gistella grabs a tree branch and swings her body forward,

She then immediately sprinted trying to lose the group of soldiers knowing that she has strict orders from Rex and also Evelyn to not harm humans, and if she stays with the soldiers she will definitely hurt them out of the Wolf Moon's anger.

Out of nowhere, Gistella looks to her front sensing familiar scents in front of her.

Just as she got distracted for a split second, something hits her right on her side sending her flying away and breaking many trees. She looks at her blue barrier and finds a crack in it.

But she didn't have the time to idle around as she roll backward dodging a green figure.

Growl!

Gistella growled angrily before her eyes landed on a green jaguar twice the size of her body, its body is made of spirit energy and wind mana and it also growled at her back.

From the looks of it, this jaguar is certainly a spirit shadow.

Soon the sound of footsteps approaching can be heard before the soldiers appeared, they all are very persistent despite Gistella showing clearly that she doesn't want to fight. But of course, for these soldiers her being here is a threat on its own.

While looking at the soldiers, Gistella's eyes turn bloodshot.

The lust for killing these soldiers is getting stronger for each second she spent around them, she's clearly struggling to hold herself back but she can't flee the soldiers especially since the leader is a seventh rank Awakened.

Probably in the mid realm since his spirit shadow can crack Gistella's barrier like that.

Upon seeing Gistella in front of them, one of the soldiers then said seeing the leader stepping forward, "Be careful sir, today is a full moon and we're fighting against a Werewolf"

Ignoring the warning, the leader stepped forward with the lightning sword in his hand.

"You've made a grave mistake for coming here, monster! Surrender your life and I will make your death swift and painless, if you don't then you will severely regret your decision", the leader said while pointing his lightning sword at Gistella.

The green jaguar is standing behind the leader while growling menacingly.

But instead of doing what the leader said, Gistella grabs her head before shaking it trying to suppress the immense bloodlust she's currently feeling. She's on the verge of a breakdown.

Each limb and organ underneath the white armor, she started fantasizing about them.

Gistella's claws are even starting to throb asking or even begging for her to tear the soldiers in front of her, but on the other hand, the command from the Alpha and also Evelyn is engraved in her mind.

Both sides are conflicted against each other, and Gistella suffers because of it.

Seeing that Gistella is not about to surrender quietly, the leader gets into his battle position with a raging gust of wind slowly enveloping his entire body. He holds the lightning sword with both hands intending to kill with a strike.

Crack!

The ground underneath his feet started to crack from the sheer pressure of the gust of wind.

Other soldiers on the leader's back shake their heads seeing the raging wind coming from the leader's body that even makes the entire trees around them wave left and right, they all know what the leader was about to do.

"He's back at it again, boasting his Pneuma Spell to our faces"

"It's good to have a leader with a Pneuma Spell though... I feel safer"

"Even though that Werewolf doesn't seem to be normal and clearly struggling from the full moon, it won't be able to get out of this one"

As the other soldiers talked in the back, the leader's eyes glow green brightly.

The green jaguar also roared powerfully amplifying spirit energy that is slowly gathering to the lightning sword, it came to a point where the sword turns green completely from the wind mana and also the spirit energy.

Lightning is still crackling around the green sword adding the penetration power of the sword.

While this is all happening Gistella is still holding her head trying to fight back the two conflicting sides, and this makes the leader scoff seeing her like that. The leader then holds the hilt of the sword tighter before dashing forward.

"Pneuma Spell! Seething Jaguar Slash!"

Just when the leader swings down intending to decapitate Gistella, out of nowhere his eyes dilated.

There's a black shadow that heads towards him faster than the trajectory of his sword, the leader realized that it's some kind of black spear and it clashes with his green sword creating powerful friction between two different energies.

Seeing the sizzling dark energy covering the black spear, the leader widens his eyes.

After a power struggle between his green sword and the black spear, the leader realized that he was getting pushed back by the black spear until finally, their collision exploded.

A shockwave exploded before the leader got pushed away and landed in front of the others.

"What happened? How did you get pushed back?"

"There's no way that Werewolf can block your attack, right?"

Hearing what the others are saying, it's clear that they didn't see the black spear.

The black spear is so fast that the other soldiers didn't see it coming, the leader started to frown as he mutters, "No... it's not the Werewolf. There's a Dark Elementalist..."

Just as he said that two figures expose themselves from the darkness.

Upon seeing the two figures that are also towering the same, the leader and the other soldiers can't help but sucked in a cold breath seeing that these two figures are also Werewolves. Their auras also show that they're not in any way weaker than Gistella.

In fact, the leader is wary the most seeing the Werewolf with azure furs holding a black spear.

Without a doubt, the Azure Werewolf is definitely Kyran. Feeling the dark mana from him, one question flashes past the leader and the other soldiers' minds, 'How did a Werewolf become a Dark Elementalist...?'

Kyran walk past Gistella with a devious grin,

On his back, Adhara who is also in her Werewolf form then said, "Restrain yourself Kyran, don't k-"

"I know, I know, I won't do anything like that just as the Alpha instructed. But beating them half-dead is not restricted right? I want to warm up a little...", Kyran replied nonchalantly.

Hearing this, the soldiers frowns.

Although they're a bit pissed from how Kyran addressed them so lightly, they all can't even feel Kyran's presence despite him standing in front of them. It's like he's not real.

It's like standing in front of a shadow of the darkness, Kyran's presence screams terror.

Just from his presence alone, the soldiers find a newfound fragment they never knew existed. A newfound fragment of the emotion they call fear.

Chapter 493 Alpha's Desire

Clang!

Kyran slammed the black spear on his side while looking at the group of Cessation Knights with a wide grin, his eyes flashed with a hint of excitement and his body is even slightly trembling.

It's been quite a while since he actually fought with someone, and now he had the chance to.

A sizzling black aura is slowly rising from Kyran's entire body hiding the presence that made no one from the group of Cessation Knights can even sense him, not even the leader. Fighting a being that can't be sensed is very horrifying on its own.

Imagine fighting someone but you can't tell where is their exact location.

Fighting someone like Kyran who has no presence at all, the Cessation Knights needs to rely on their vision and keep track of Kyran's movement. But even then, the potential weakness ceased to exist since Kyran can blend into the darkness.

Without a doubt, he's a master of stabbing on the back, a naturally gifted assassin born to kill.

"They don't look like they're affected by the full moon... this is really bad, leader", the man holding a bow said while keeping his eyes on Kyran and the others, it's clear from how Kyran conversate that he's not in bloodlust.

In fact, he's quite calm for a Werewolf under the full moon which is surprising.

Hearing this, the leader also frowns as he also finds this a bit odd. Gistella is hard enough but now two other Werewolves join the frame, "I know, contact the other platoons to call them here", the leader whispers very light.

But even with the whispering voice, the man heard what the leader said.

Nudging a Cessation Knight holding a machine gun on the furthest back, the man holding a bow then whispers to him too, "Quickly send our coordinates to the others"

While the man with a bow is saying that, the leader keeps Kyran's attention on him.

"You must be their Alpha, a shaman on top of that too. I advised you to retract back your pack and leave our territory before we're forced to take a drastic measure"

"There are six other platoons here, consider this a warning for you"

The leader said while squinting his eyes with his boiling aura of a seventh rank Awakened in full display, with the glowing green sword he's giving an act of intimidation that has zero effect on Kyran.

Rex has a sheer frightening aura way more than the leader of the Cessation Knight.

Kyran has seen the outmost suppressing aura during Rex's berserk state in the Vampire territory, something like this is a child's play for him. It only riled up his battle instinct further.

Hearing this, Kyran then smiles, "Didn't you guys hear what I said earlier?"

"Our Alpha told us to not kill any human for a purpose that you don't need to know, my friend here is having trouble with the full moon so she will accidentally kill you if she fights"

"As for me... I'm perfectly fine, so I can just cripple all of you", Kyran said brutally.

Although the Cessation Knights are already expected a confrontation with Kyran that is clearly showing his hostility to them, they have never been this much disrespected by a Werewolf. It's baffling how Kyran is so confident despite their numbers and power.

But the leader didn't reply as he was too stunned by what Kyran said.

It's not about Kyran's confidence, but he was stunned knowing that this clearly powerful Werewolf is not the Alpha despite having no presence and emitting such a horrifying bloodlust.

Just as he was thinking, the leader suddenly realized the black spear is gone.

Kyran is giving the leader a wide gruesome smile seeing that the leader finally realized his black spear is gone, pointing at the Cessation Knights' back Kyran then said, "Did you really think I wouldn't know you're stalling for a time...?"

Upon hearing this, the Cessation Knights look back before their eyes widen.

The man with a bow was the one stunned the most because the Cessation Knight on his back is already pinned on the ground by a black spear that pierced his chest without anyone noticing.

Dark energy is coiling around the Cessation Knight's mouth that makes no sound come from his mouth despite trying desperately to try and notify the others that he's attacked, but Kyran's dark element can even devour sound.

Soon the Cessation Knight's wound turns black before he passed out not long after.

It strikes a jolt of electricity that made them all frozen in place.

"W-When did he attack... I didn't even sense the black spear", the man with a bow mutters silently.

A maniac chuckles escape Kyran's mouth as he finds the Cessation Knight's stiff body funny, he finds it very fun to see the fear slowly gripping their hearts from not realizing that Kyran has just launched an attack while they were discussing without them noticing.

Soon the black spear piercing the man dissipated before coming back to Kyran's side.

"YOU FILTHY WEREWOLF! I WILL KILL YOU!!"

"RAARRGH!"

The leader saw one of his men get injured, his anger slowly besting up inside of him like an erupting volcano. Charging his body with immense spirit energy and wind mana, he charges forward followed by the other four melees Cessation Knights.

Each of their steps makes their armors make a steely sound showing how heavy they are.

But seeing the charging four Cessation Knights, Kyran did the same thing and imbued his black spear with spirit energy and dark mana again, "Pneuma Spell, Piercing Black!"

Swoosh!

Upon seeing this, the leader widens his eyes, "How can he use Pneuma Spell that easily?!"

Just like how the leader did before, Pneuma Spell usually needs a bit of preparation before it can finally be cast. It's because of the difficulty of merging the elemental mana and spirit energy, that it demands a high level of control.

But Kyran makes it look so easy as if he just cast a regular spell he used for the hundredth time.

With a movement that is organized and in sync showing their experience on the battlefield, the four Cessation Knights stacked their shoulders together while preparing to receive the black spear.

"Alliance Technique, Shield of Four Strength!"

Each one of the five Cessation Knights chanted before their mana merged and created a shield.

The shield is like a combination of multiple elemental mana even though it's contradicting, the technique they used creates a neutral ground for each mana allowing them to merge.

Boom!

Upon colliding with the black spear, the five Cessation Knights got pushed back a little.

Kyran throws the black spear and uses his piercing black pneuma spell but in the end, just when the black spear was about to leave his hand, he intently uses his fingers to spin the black spear.

The spear becomes a drill adding the penetration power of the Pneuma Spell.

Because of the penetration and sheer power of the Pneuma Spell, the five Cessation Knights kept getting pushed back under its power. Even though Kyran doesn't have a seventh rank level of mana but his spirit energy is way denser than these Cessation Knights.

It's because of his dark spirit that surpassed the 5000 years mark, a very powerful spirit.

Using Kyran's spirit, Shurbaa's energy, the gap between Kyran's power and also the leader lessens heavily. He even manages to overpower the leader's Pneuma Spell just from his superior spirit.

After a crack appeared on the shield, the leader roared adding more mana to the shield.

Clang!

Soon the black spear got successfully parried spinning up into the air, this brought a smile to the Cessation Knights' faces but just when they were about to close in the distance they suddenly saw Kyran is already up in the air holding the black spear.

There's a brutal smile on his face, "Pneuma Spell, Piercing Black!"

Swoosh!

Unlike their expectation, not only does Kyran can use a Pneuma Spell rather easily he also can do it multiple times without stopping showing the level of control and spirit energy he possesses.

Clang!

Another piercing black hit the shield once again making the crack bigger.

Kyran did it a couple of times without stopping giving no time for the five Cessation Knights to do anything except for defending, the shield has already cracked everywhere. It will shatter with just one more piercing black.

But when Kyran was about to use his Pneuma Spell once more, he saw an arrow flying toward him.

The man with a bow already fires a powerful arrow covered in lightning, it blitzes so fast that the man believes that Kyran wouldn't be able to dodge that. He should be forced to block it giving enough time for the other five Cessation Knights to do something.

"Good, he'll definitely be paralyzed for a moment", the man mutters.

Another Cessation Knight beside the man also started firing his machine gun relentlessly.

Unlike the expectations in their minds, Kyran's body moves even faster as he throws the piercing black at the five Cessation Knights and immediately grabs the incoming arrow.

He then blended into the darkness dodging the bullets before reappearing on the ground.

Seeing that Kyran is holding the lightning arrow using his bare hand without even a hint of pain in his eyes, the man shuddered in absolute fear, "You think this level of lightning can paralyze me?"

"What...", the man utters in shock, he only lightly whispers to himself but Kyran heard it.

This alone shows how sensitive Kyran's senses are to the point of sheer terrifying, his whisper before to the Cessation Knight that got pierced in the chest is a normal whispering level of voice.

But right now his voice is very light, not even close to the first one.

Even if someone is standing right in front of him and also leans his ear to the man's mouth, they still wouldn't be able to decipher what he mutters for himself.

Kyran on the other hand despite standing a hundred feet away can hear it perfectly.

With one swift motion, Kyran snaps the lightning arrow into two before facing the man with a bow, "If you think this lightning can hurt me, then you'll be surprised what real lightning looks like..."

Just as he said that the shield made by the Cessation Knights behind him shatters.

There are already so many cracks decorating the shield that even the leader can't give enough mana into the shield to block the last piercing black, and after the barrier shatter it exploded sending the five Cessation Knights flying away wailing in pain.

Crash!

Boom!

Looking at this scene, the man holding a bow gulps harshly.

From the start, he already knows the situation is very bad as even his gut is telling him that it will not end well, but since the leader decided to charge then he doesn't have any other choice.

Just as he blinks his eyes, he feels a sharp sting on his cheek.

The same goes for the Cessation Knight beside him holding a machine gun, they both touch their cheeks in reflex and find the helmet they are wearing torn and their cheeks got scratched.

It was Kyran's doing, of course.

His mana level might not be equivalent to a seventh rank Awakened, but right at this moment, the Wolf Moon is shining brightly in the sky amplifying his physical prowess to the seventh rank realm.

p Someone like the man with a bow in front of him can't follow Kyran's movement.

Kyran points his index finger cloaked with dark mana towards the man with a bow and the Cessation Knight holding a machine gun, and in the next moment, they all fall to their knees from the gruesome pain they're feeling.

"AARGHH!!"

"What's happening to me?! RARRGH!!"

Both of them felt the cut on their cheeks starting to get more painful by the second.

Using his dark element, Kyran is able to manipulate the pain he inflicted on whoever is wounded by him and also below the seventh rank realm. This is an innate ability of the dark element, something like a pain amplified.

Through the gap in their torn helmets, one can see the cut wound on their cheeks becomes black.

Veins around the cut started to turn black and it's spreading like a disease, it's very painful to even see the process much less actually feeling it like those two are currently feeling right now.

The other Cessation Knight immediately passed out from the pain.

While the man kept gritting his teeth trying to fight the pain and it's clear he can only manage against the pain, but this alone shows the willpower the man has.

After crippling the ranged Cessation Knights, Kyran glanced over his shoulder.

The explosion from before turns out it's more devastating than he actually thought, the different properties of the elemental mana inside the shield make the explosion very powerful. It's a double-edged defensive spell.

On one hand, it becomes very sturdy since it can withstand multiple Pneuma Spells from Kyran.

But on the other, if the shield is destroyed then this powerful explosion happened wounding the Cessation Knights inside of it in the process. Four of the Cessation Knight got hurt badly, only the leader can be seen kneeling.

The leader opens his helmet before he spits blood on the ground, he's clearly hurt.

Kyran walked passed the leader heading to where Adhara brought Gistella away to help her calm down, he sensed the leader grabbing the sword before he said without stopping, "Don't worry, we will not attack Eqosa City"

"None of your men has died, so you can trust my words", he added.

Hearing this, the leader stops on his track as he was about to attack Kyran again. He looks at Kyran's body which is slowly disappearing into the darkness from his legs before slowly moving up.

Before Kyran can leave, the leader then asked hurriedly, "What do your Alpha really want?"

"Killing the Supernaturals, you may not believe it but we're on humanity's side. We're here to deal with the full moon, nothing more and nothing less", Kyran replied glancing back with a smirk.

After saying that, his body disappears into nothingness.

The platoon of Cessation Knights got absolutely wrecked by Kyran who is enhanced by the Wolf Moon, they have no chance. It's very hard to fight Kyran, and Rex helps him to reach that state so he knows in his mind how powerful Kyran really is.

Looking at the disappearing Kyran, the leader then glanced around.

Just like what Kyran said, the other Cessation Knights are not dead but only heavily wounded, "This got confusing really fast, just what kind of Werewolves are they?"

"Since when Werewolves are this civil..."

Chapter 494 No Regret And Odd Movement

Slash!

"This is it... This is what I really wanted..."

Kyran is currently dashing through the forest hunting for the deathless Undead, with the black sheep mark all of them can be found rather easily as their scents are evident.

The time-consuming process is going to the deathless Undeads that are separated.

Sometimes two or three of them are near while sometimes they need to travel for literal miles just to reach the next one only to kill them in the blink of an eye, they're very weak without death energy and with that, they can't defend against the Silverstar Pack Werewolves.

In a couple of minutes of traveling through the forest, Kyran's eyes sparkled alongside Gistella's.

Both of them saw a deathless Undead hiding inside a hole that seems to be newly made for it to hide, the scent of the black sheep mark brought them here and the deathless Undead's hiding spot becomes useless.

Flexing their black steel claws, Kyran penetrates through the ground using his claws.

The deathless Undead that seems to be a lich from how its body consists of skeletons and glowing red eyes in its hollow eye sockets, Kyran grabs the lich by the neck before throwing it outside.

With one swift movement, Gistella bite off the lich's head and crushed its deathcore.

Just like a terrifyingly efficient hunting machine, Gistella and Kyran obliterate the deathless Undead that doesn't even have a strand of death energy. Nothing can stop their hunting rampage.

Even Adhara need to only watch them from the back with Evelyn beside her.

Before going after Gistella that seems to be attacked by a group of Awakened, she already saw Evelyn's transformation that made her look exponentially more gorgeous than before. It's clear that she's the real Luna of the Silverstar Pack.

Adhara is only the female Alpha, she can still mate with Rex but it's different.

In a wild Werewolf pack, the Female Alpha can bear the Alpha's child but she acts mainly as a fighting force just below the Alpha, while the Luna specifically has the sole purpose of mating.

Obviously, Adhara is jealous of Evelyn who is chosen as the real Alpha's mate.

But it's something that can't be controlled by her directly, even Rex told her that he's not the one choosing the Luna it all came naturally or because of some factor that made Evelyn the perfect fit.

"Why are you looking at me? Are you jealous?", Evelyn asks from the side.

Her now white gorgeous hair and also her white beautiful dress flutters from the wind as they're still following Gistella and Kyran, this snaps Adhara from her daze before she turns her head forward, "Not really, I'm the Alpha's first mate so I'm not jealous at all"

"In fact, I'll let you get close with Rex. He seems to need it", she added.

Upon hearing this, Evelyn can't help but widen her eyes in surprise.

She doesn't expect Adhara who is always overly jealous becomes accepting like this, it's something of a shock for her, "Really? You're not going to be angry if Rex did something with me?"

Although what comes from Evelyn's mouth irritates her inside, she still kept a neutral face.

"You're the luna, that is your job. I don't care what you do with Rex, just help him ease his mind in this current time", Adhara replied hiding the pain she's feeling, but it's for the better good.

Rex can be seen devastated by Rosie's death, he blames himself for it.

That kind of feeling is detrimental in a situation such as theirs, Rex needs to always be sharp since they are a pack of Werewolves living in the territory of humans. One blunder might cost all of their lives, and the purpose of the pack will then be lost.

Helping humanity against the Supernatural will be lost, and that's more important to protect.

Something like her jealousy of Rex being close with Evelyn is way less than the doom of the entire humanity, she needs to be level-headed and accept what's good for them right now.

Evelyn can be seen thinking for a moment before she said, "I understand, but..."

"Talking as a woman to woman, I just want to say that don't regret this. You said it yourself that it's important to help Rex's feeling right now", she added with a serious expression.

Looking at this, Adhara bit her lower lips before she finally nodded her head.

Both of them seem to come in agreement regarding their relationship with the Alpha as there is nothing to be gained from fighting over it and with that Evelyn finally gets the green light without any repercussion to get closer with Rex.

Just as they went silent following Kyrna and Gistella that are in front of them, Evelyn frowned.

Adhara saw this frown on Evelyn's face and realized that she was troubled by something, so Adhara can't help but asks, "What are you worried about? You don't need to think about me, I und-"

"That's not it, I'm just thinking..."

"Didn't Rex tell us that he's going to chain himself somewhere?", Evelyn asks in concern.

Hearing this, Adhara nodded her head since she remembered exactly that Rex takes out a couple of things that he says will help restrain himself, "Yeah, he bought chains that can even suppress a ninth rank Supernatural. Why do you..."

When she was about to ask why Evelyn is talking about this, Adhara suddenly stopped mid-sentence.

Unconsciously they both stopped in their tracks before they look back in a direction, both of them clearly sensed the same thing judging from the concerned look in their eyes.

Both of them tilt their heads in confusion, "Then why does he seem to be moving..."

Meanwhile, Kyran and Gistella kept moving like a shadow in the night heading to the next deathless Undead. This is the 9th one out of all the 19th deathless Undead they're hunting under this full moon.

Duncan's wife is already hidden in a safe place unconscious until they get back.

The barrier surrounding her is a strong one and none of the mutated animals here can do anything to break it, so she's safe even though she's unconscious somewhere in the forest.

Both of them didn't realize that Adhara and Evelyn are left behind.

Kyran and Gistella are too focused on hunting the deathless Undead marked by the black sheep symbol, Gistella is filled with the thirst of the Wolf Moon while Kyran is simply thirsting over spilling blood himself without any effect of the Wolf Moon.

He's an Azure High Werewolf, he's immune to most full moons except his birth moon.

Their hunt is relentless without even pausing for even a second before dashing to another one after killing one, Kyran is the most excited out of all of them even though he should be fine.

Gistella who is currently influenced by the Wolf Moon the most is not even as excited as Kyran.

Kyran is simply bloodthirsty and wanted to kill the deathless Undead without mercy, it's simply brutal and he is very much like the brutality he can inflict without restraining himself.

"Origin please help this lost lamb! I don't want to enter the Nirvanaworld!"

"Please! Don't kill me!"

Upon seeing the arrival of both Kyran and Gistella that are emitting bloodthirsty the deathless Undead finds to be suffocating, the deathless Undead started to plead for mercy.

Most of the deathless Undead are afraid of death which is why they are hiding.

Their plan is to hide long enough for the other Undeads to attack the city again and asks for the High Undeadlord to revive their deathcore that has been cleansed from death energy, it's their only hope in reaching their heaven, Netherworld.

If they die right now then they will enter the Nirvanaworld, the hell of all Undead beings.

So seeing the bringer of death in front of its eyes makes the deathless Undead shudder in fear, Kyran and Gistella are looking at the deathless Undead with their savage eyes.

Nothing stopping them from killing the deathless Undead right here right now.

But Kyran has other plans as he suddenly said, "Don't worry, I will not kill you instantly... I'll give you a one-minute headstart starting now for you to try and survive"

"You better start running, the time is ticking...", he added.

Hearing this, the deathless Undead didn't say anything anymore and just turns around and started running with all its might trying to flee as fast as possible from Kyran and Gistella. The sliver of hope fueled the deathless Undead with the will to survive.

While looking at the running deathless Undead from the back, Kyran started laughing maniacally.

Looking at the deathless Undead running with all its might despite no death energy is very amusing for him, the deathless Undead doesn't know that no matter where it runs Kyran and Gistella will still find it effortlessly.

Gistella is also growling on the side, she wanted to chase after the deathless Undead.

But Kyran stopped her before he said, "Just let it run for a minute, we'll tear that deathless Undead apart swiftly but for now let's give it some hope before we'll quickly turn that into fear..."

One minute later,

The deathless Undead is still running with all its might trying to flee Kyran and Gistella.

An Undead without death energy is basically a walking skeleton with nothing for them to use to protect themselves, even the simplest spell that an Undead can use they still can't use it.

With no death energy, an Undead is basically useless.

Even though it has already given its all in order to flee Kyran and Gistella, the deathless Undead looks back and finds two shadows already dashing from left to right wiping the hope of surviving from its mind.

Despite all of its effort, Kyran and Gistella easily caught up to the deathless Undead.

Realizing that the deathless Undead has no chance of escaping from the start, the deathless Undead started praying to the origin while still running. But soon two streaks of shadow dashes from its left and right.

Kyran and Adhara flexed their claws before clawing the deathless Undead.

Under their claws the deathless Undead's body didn't even put up a bit of resistance, its body got cut into clean-cut pieces including its deathcore as the deathless Undead died instantly.

With that, the two of them continue their hunt under the moonlight of the Wolf Moon.

Meanwhile, Silverstar Mansion in Sector 2.

Tandu has just finished his brief meditation and went out of the training ground, he looks around and finds nothing suspicious is happening but he still kept a sharp eye.

With the incident of the Hester Family infiltrator, Tandu becomes even more alert.

Although he still doesn't feel what he was doing right now is real, he has already slapped himself a couple of times and found that this is real. Leaving the rigorous and straining military, living in sector 2 comfortably where only the elites live, and also becoming an Awakened.

Everything seems to be like a dream, but it's definitely real.

Rex is the one that made all of this possible, probably a month ago he already accepted that he will die in a war somewhere against the Supernatural and only be remembered by a few.

But this is a life worth living, the feeling of gaining power is intoxicating.

While walking around the front yard of the mansion intending to head towards the back yard to check on Ryze, Tandu suddenly saw Aldo and Christine talking to an Awakened on the side.

"Are they slacking off again instead of keeping a watch?", Tandu mutters with a tired exhale.

Tandu walks towards the three of them sitting on the side just beside the luxurious parked cars, he then stopped on their backs while crossing his arms in front of him before he clears his throat.

Hearing this, the three of them stood up in sync.

"Since when do the guards are allowed to chat during guard duty?", he said.

With their straight posture trained for years in the military, Aldo then replied with a troubled look, "We're still on guard sir! Don't worry!", he said out loud attracting the gazes of other Awakened guards.

Upon hearing this, Tandu shakes his head with a clenched jaw, "What did you say?"

"Since when has a guard duty been allowed to talk, even though we're not in the military you should still act appropriately, or I'll tell lady Gistella about this", he added threateningly.

Aldo can't help but become pale upon hearing Gistella's name.

But the Awakened talking to them then intervenes with a wry smile, "It's actually my fault sir Tandu, I made them talk with me. I apologize for disturbing the discipline around here..."

"Why is it only your fault? They're the ones that talked to you too", Tandu asks.

The Awakened that is called Arga scratches the back of his head while looking down, he then finally said, "It's just that my friend Mila is missing for a couple of days now, she's also a part of the Awakened guard here. I can't contact her and she's not in her usual place"

"I'm just worried something might've happened to her", he added.

Hearing this, there's no change in Tandu's expression as he replied, "She probably deserted her station, someone that's not worth being searched for. Go back to your station and do your job"

Although Arga has been a guard here since Rex moved here, Tandu is still in charge.

The Awakened guards here know the relationship of Tandu and the other Disaster Squad members with the head family, Rex Silverstar. So this automatically makes him the top of command.

Without saying another word, Arga went back to his station.

Tandu glares at Christine and Aldo too before they both also went back to their stations.

While looking at them going back to their stations, Tandu can't help but shakes his head, "Something might've happened to her? Don't make me laugh, what can kill her in this safe of a place?", he mutters before heading into the mansion.

The next day,

Rex feels the sunlight penetrating his eyelids, he slowly opens his eyes and is greeted by the sun.

Looking at the bright sun shining brightly in the sky, Rex sighs as the Wolf Moon is finally over. Some things happened that night, and the Countess's appearance is the major one, 'So she wants me to kill the Dark Prince huh... that means I have to beat Arnulf and that damn Ruston too'

After shaking his head, Rex looks around before a frown appeared on his face.

'Wait... where am I?', Rex thought in confusion.

The surroundings feel different, and the two tombstones of his birth parents are nowhere to be seen. But soon Rex's eyes widen in realization as the sound of chattering can be heard, 'People? T-This is not Dupok City...'

Chapter 495 Impeachment Of The King Side

'This is not Dupok City...'

Rex stood up in surprise upon hearing the sound of people chattering, he looks around and finds himself on a roof of a building. The bustling sound of people can be heard below.

He then looks at his arms and finds that the chains he bought are not there.

Just this alone shows that he really did somehow break free from the Chains of Sanctifying Downfall and went to this city, he looks around and finds the city is not that great. The walls surrounding the city are only thirsty and feel tall.

It's way less than Ratmawati City or even level one or two cities, this is probably a level three city.

While looking around with a hint of crisis striking his heart, Rex then tries to ask Devo who should know what happened to him, 'Devo, how did I get here? Did I go berserk again?'

...

But soon Rex realized that he's currently suppressing Devo, and it's hard for Devo to talk.

Right after he lifted the suppression off of Devo, a voice then suddenly rang inside his head, "I don't really know what happened. Just like what you told me, I protect the place to prevent others like that boy to discover you again"

"While I was watching the people near the place, you suddenly pulled me back and suppress me without even saying anything"

Hearing this, Rex can't help but looks down with a frown, "That's not me..."

"Wait, even if you're suppressed shouldn't you be able to hear what's on my mind? Suppression only makes it harder for you to talk, but you're still in my head", he added in confusion, it's weird for Devo to not know what happened to Rex.

Devo went silent for a moment, but soon he replied also in confusion, "I-I don't know..."

Finding that even Devo doesn't know what happened to him last night, Rex hasn't quit yet as he asks the system next, 'System, show me the notification log...'

'If I went berserk, the system should at least say something', he thought.

Whenever he transformed or even when something weird happened to him, the system always notify him through notifications no matter what it is. But when Rex checked the notification log there are none out of the ordinary.

Rex finds nothing weird, everything looks normal.

The last notifications are when the Countess of the Dark Luniric is wanting to give him her blessing, that is all. Not one notification can be seen after that, completely empty.

Although there's not one piece of evidence, Rex knows that something definitely happened.

Why would he end up here if nothing really happened, he even realized that he's naked. The system should always automatically change his clothes whenever he transforms, but somehow he ends up naked like this without anything on.

One and the only reason for this state is that he ripped it off, but why would he do that?

Rex got so many questions inside his head and each one of the questions is trying to discover the worst, it feels like he's slowly losing himself but that shouldn't be possible.

After calming himself down, Rex finally realized that there are a couple of figures on his side.

The figures are all wearing a black robe that covers their heads all the way to below their waists, but they all are lying on the ground stiffly. Four figures are lying on the ground to be exact, and Rex got beat by his curiosity and approached the figures.

Kneeling beside the figures, Rex turned one of the figures before his eyes squinted in shock.

'This is not a human... Vampires? No, this is a Succubus', he thought in surprise.

Just after he turned one of the figures lying on the ground he finds that the figure is a Succubus, its pale pinkish and voluptuous skin and small wings show clearly that this is not a human but a Supernatural instead.

But Rex finds the Succubus is dead, there's a hole in the middle of its chest.

p The hole is not a clean one but rather a messy one that looks to be pierced by claws, 'Did I do this...?', Rex thought with a frown, the wound might just be inflicted by his Werewolf form claws.

In fact, there's no doubt that it's done by him.

"So I really did go berserk, but where did these Succubuses come from? Are they trying to attack the city from within by hiding behind these robes?", Rex mutters, the other robed figures are also Succubus but one of them is an Incubus.

Rex should be still in Dupok City, and Dupok City is near the Demon Stronghold, not the Vampire stronghold. So it makes sense for a Succubus to be here.

Upon taking one of the robes, he finds that it's a piece of battle equipment.

Rex finds the robes similar to the design of the Astral Blanket in terms of functionality. While the Astral Blanket has the ability to make the presence whoever wore it becomes lighter and even puts the one that wore it in an astral form, this robe seems to have the ability to prevent demonic energy from leaking out.

It definitely has the function to infiltrate a human city, there's no doubt about it.

After briefly thinking about these Succubuses, without a doubt they are definitely Succubuses sent by the Demon Stronghold to cause as much havoc in the cities near the stronghold.

With the access they have obtained into the human territory, it's rather easy for them to infiltrate.

Despite humanity fighting back against the Supernatural for more than a dozen years now, their Awakened numbers are still lacking heavily. There's no way Cessation Knights and Awakened from the 25 Golden Crest Families alone can cover the entirety of the human territory.

This is taken advantage of by the Supernatural by sending these Succubuses.

It's been a while since Rex read the progress of the war and everything that is happening to him, so he's not really updated, 'I need Kyran to talk about the report sent by the Reed Family'

But just as he thought of that,

<Sudden Quest Completed!>

<All pack members Evolution Progress has been increased by 30%>

<The user's pack member, Gistella has evolved into High Werewolf Fiend!>

<Adhara is awaiting the approval of the user for their bloodline evolution!>

<Obtained Pack-related Skill Upgrade Ticket>

Since the Wolf Moon has already passed the others should finish hunting the deathless Undead and also Duncan's wife, the completion of the sudden quest shows that they're successful.

Aside from that, Rex's eyes landed on the third notification from the system.

'I'm surprised that Adhara manage to reach the next evolution first before Kyran, if she's the same then she should get the evolution path similar to mine since we both started as regular High Werewolf', Rex thought.

But as for Gistella, she reached the high Werewolf bloodline.

Gistella should now be able to turn into her Werewolf form or even alter parts of her body into her Werewolf form, it needs some training but she'll get the hang of it in no time just like Rex, Adhara, and Kyran did.

Rex puts every corpse of the Succubuses into his inventory for Gistella to devour.

Just as he did that the door leading downstairs on the side jolted open revealing a middle-aged man, his eyes widen upon seeing Rex before turning back into fierce ones.

"Oh... I'm sorry for sleeping here last night, I will leave straight away", Rex said with a forced smile.

Since Rex already sensed the man approaching the door long before the man opens the door, he already puts on clothes that he bought from the shop so he will not be mistaken as a homeless pervert that sleeps naked wherever he likes.

Ignoring Rex's remarks, the middle-aged man then suddenly ran at him angrily.

This caught Rex off guard as he didn't expect the man would be so angry at him, he halted the middle-aged man's movement by his chest and said, "I will leave right away, I'm sorry"

But just as he said that Rex finds that the man's eyes are flickering with purple light.

Rex finds this to be odd since the middle-aged man is clearly a normal human, there's no mana that can be sensed from his body so he's definitely a regular citizen of this city.

With one swift movement, Rex hits the back of the middle-aged man's head.

The middle-aged man passed out easily, but it still requires a huge effort since his strength is literally monstrous for a normal human. Rex needs to hit the middle-aged man very lightly, but even with that, it's still too much strength.

Using the system, Rex scans the middle-aged man.

<Scanning...>

<Demonic energy is present inside the target, this energy is focused on the brain. Overpowering it with the user's element will free the target from mind control>

Reading this turns out the middle-aged man is under mind control.

Following the system's instruction, Rex overpowers the demonic energy using his sky-black lightning. It's rather easy to cleanse the Demonic energy showing that his strength is way stronger than the ones that cast this mind control.

With how the middle-aged man's eyes flickered with a purple light, it's definitely the Succubus' doings.

After cleansing the mind control, Rex then stands up and looks at the city's scenery.

'If this man is mind controlled by the Succubus that I killed, then there must be others out there as well. Let's help them first before going back', Rex thought, but he then remembered the mystery that happened last night.

Rex doesn't like mystery, he hated it.

But soon he can only sigh since he can't find any clue of what happened last night except for these Succubuses' corpse, 'I don't know what happened last night, but thankfully no people are hurt. Only Supernaturals...'

With that, Rex then dashes away searching for other people that got mind controlled.

~

Meanwhile, Supernatural Territory.

The Scarlet Banes Kingdom,

Inside the Werewolf territory near a mountain peak that is quite deserted, there's a Werewolf sitting on a bone throne inside a hut that is savoring what seems to be a leg of a mutated animal that is already half-done.

Despite the huge hut that this Werewolf is sitting in, the other huts around this one are few.

There are only seven huts around the main hut with only about eight to ten Werewolves walking around, their condition is not that good judging from how frail their bodies are for a Werewolf.

Instead of muscular and menacing bodies, these Werewolves are thin.

Even though they're still way bigger than a normal human, they are still small for a Werewolf.

Brak!

"Bring me more food! Tell to that disgrace of a King that treating us like this is not respectable, the Origin will damn him for letting us rot like this!", the Werewolf inside the main hut slam the table and shouted.

From the ice blue S-shape rune on its shoulder, this Werewolf should belong to a family.

Although the condition of its pack is very bad judging from how small his pack members' bodies are, this Werewolf is still brimming with the air of an Alpha and also its body is screaming with power.

Despite everything, this Werewolf's body seems to burst with powerful energy.

The two fragile Werewolves in front of him jolted before they cowers away fearing that their Alpha will make them his food instead, it sometimes happens.

Smacking his lips in displeasure, the Alpha leans back on his bone throne.

Not long after he's relaxing while waiting for his beta to bring him more food, there's a towering Werewolf with a T-shaped rune on his shoulder entering the main hut. This didn't surprise the Alpha as he already sensed this Werewolf.

If Rex were here then he will instantly recognize the Werewolf that just entered as Ruston.

"How the Iceclaw Pride Pack has fallen from grace, I never thought that someone as stingy as you would be willing to be exiled like this, Ian...", Ruston said with a hint of mock in his voice.

Hearing this, the Alpha called Ian sneered, "What are you doing here Ruston?"

"Are you here to see how my pack is doing? Well, bare in mind that even though my pack's condition is rough, I'm the one that manages to sleep with her"

"Not you, that just shows which one of us is the real Alpha right?", Ian mocked back.

From the exchange of the two, there seems to be a history between the two. Ruston even has a dark expression upon hearing what Ian said, but he kept his calm and just puts on the stoic look back onto his face.

Ruston then walks closer to Ian sitting on the throne and said, "Are you satisfied with this?"

"I consider you to be my rival, but you're going to disappoint me if you just going to stay here exiled by King Baralt. I want to see at least you try to fight him", he added.

Glaring at Ruston angrily, Ian then grabs the table in front of him and flips it over.

Surprisingly Ian is even more towering than Ruston, there's at least two inches difference between their heights. The blue aura surrounding Ian is terrifying as he glare at Ruston, "King Baralt is accepted by the Super Moon, how can I think of fighting him?!"

"Who said you can fight him...?", Ruston replied with a smirk.

This turned Ian's eyes bloodshot before he roared right in front of Ruston's face angrily.

ROAR!

Upon hearing the roar, Ian's Beta came running into the main hut before they saw their Alpha is looking at Ruston with killing intent. But there's no fear or panic in Ruston's eyes.

"Let me finish first, Ian..."

"King Baralt is strong, you can't possibly fight him and win. So why don't you ask someone that can fight him, someone, that has influence and also has the potential to take down King Baralt?", Ruston asks hinting at something.

This makes Ian frown, "Who can possibly do that? Only a Prince can hope to..."

Just from looking at Ruston's eyes alone, Ian can read it clearly as his eyes widen in surprise. Before he can even comment another Werewolf walks into the main hut, but this one made Ian widen his eyes in shock since he didn't sense this Werewolf.

Not only that, he instantly recognizes this Werewolf from a glance, "Arnulf?!! You're awake?!"

"I've become quite a celebrity, everyone seems to know me", Arnulf said with a slight chuckle, he stands beside Ruston before stepping right in front of Ian and staring right in his eyes.

Ian unconsciously gulps harshly, that is because Arnulf is even bigger than himself.

"W-What can I help you with A-Arnulf?", Ian asks stutteringly.

The air of an Alpha that he boasts before is long gone because of Arnulf's arrival, this just shows that Arnulf's presence alone brings a heavy weight to Werewolves that know him. A Werewolf that survived the Radical Era.

Exposing a devious grin, Arnulf then said, "I heard you hated King Baralt? Why don't you help us?"

"We've got the Dark Prince on our side..."

Chapter 496 State Of The War

After the Wolf Moon is over and every feeling brought by the full moon is gone, Kyran went back to Ratmawati City bringing with him Duncan's wife that is being carried by him unconscious.

Duncan of course asks about what happened to his wife but she's simply unconscious.

Kyran didn't tell him anything aside from she's not harmed in any way and it's all Rex's instruction, just mentioning Rex's name alone is enough to make Duncan ask no further. Everything about Rex is mysterious, and he is better off not knowing too much.

If he knows too much then who knows, he may be hunted for that information.

Rex is revered and also hated amongst the 25 Golden Crest Families, he's an anomaly amongst the rank but his power and mysteriousness make the other families wary of him.

Each one of them knows that messing with an anomaly will have a huge amount of risk.

Because of the endearing image that Rex instills to the other 25 Golden Rank Families by killing Wesley Atkins through obscene and unknown methods, the other families are not willing to risk their families just to annoy Rex further.

After dropping Duncan's wife back, Kyran went straight to the mansion.

Upon reaching the mansion all of the Awakened guards bowed a little in respect of Kyran, he then got inside the mansion and saw Edward already sitting in the guest room with what seemed to be a representative from the UWO.

Kyran arrived just in time for the representative was about to leave,

Last night after taking care of Gistella and Evelyn for a moment, Edward went back because the mansion can't be left alone and Ryze needs him to suppress the dragon's soul inside of him.

Edward becomes Rex's substitute every time someone wanted to see him.

"Good day to you sir Edward, and I hope the Silverstar Family can fulfill the quota before the due time. If you have anything to ask, please feel free to call me", the UWO representative said politely.

After saying that, the UWO representative went out of the mansion with a slight nod to Kyran.

Looking back at Edward that is reading the papers in front of him, Kyran sits on the sofa opposite him and asks, "Did it go as expected? You don't seem to be that troubled"

"I manage to lessen the quota by 30%, but it's still too much for us", Edward mutters with a frown.

But upon hearing this, Kyran stood back up intending to go to his room. While walking away, Kyran then said, "Rex plans to ask the Hester Family about that matter, but he doesn't want to sit in front of the Hester Family in a losing game"

"He wants to be on equal grounds or else he will be taken advantage of", he added.

Hearing this, Edward glance at Kyran with still a frown on his face, "Equal ground? Did the Hester Family do something to us?", he asks while putting down the papers in his hands.

"A messenger was sent here a couple of days ago, he managed to infiltrate our mansion"

"We're also coming to meet with the Hester Family in order to ask for a favor, there's no point talking to the Hester Family about this if we don't know or have anything about them", Kyran replied.

Edward nodded his head in agreement, "I see...", negotiating without power is a losing game.

There's no point in negotiating in that kind of setting.

"But how can we find something regarding the Hester Family? They are the second rank family in the 25 Golden Crest, surely it's going to be hard to approach them let alone find something that matters about them", Edward said, his way is thinking is logical.

Fighting the Atkins Family is already hard enough, but the Hester Family is not just the top ten families. They are one of the top 3 families, there's a huge jump between them.

Kyran then turns his body around to face Edward before he said, "That's where I come in..."

"If I really wanted to, no one can sense my presence, not even Wesley can sense me. Rex even gave me the Astral Blanket, and with this, even a ninth rank Awakened will probably not sense me"

"Whoever the head of the Hester Family is, he or she won't know when I'm standing in front of them"

After saying that, Kyran disappears from Edward's vision.

Edward knows that amongst the other people that are close with Rex, he's currently the weakest since he just broke through to the sixth rank. Kyran is arguably the second strong, and he's a nightmare incarnate since his presence is very light.

Just like he said, added with the Astral Blanket he's practically invisible to the eye.

If Kyran decided to slit Edward's throat right now then he definitely can do it, and that alone can give a chill to anyone knowing that they can die without them seeing the attacker.

With the disappearance of Kyran, Edward leans back on the sofa.

'I want to meet with Zelene and Uncle, these days are very exhausting. But It's probably best for me to train the Disaster Squad further as an Awakened, I can also try and breakthrough to the next realm. What do you think?'

[Don't meet those two, let's just train. We're too weak right now, it's better to train!]

[At this moment, you can't even bring out my power properly. Go train right now!]

'Alright, alright, there's no need to shout', Edward stood up from the sofa with a heavy sigh, he then head out of the mansion intending to go to the training ground.

Meanwhile,

Rex right now is blending into the crowd while keeping his eyes on the surroundings.

The city he's in right now is currently very packed with people walking around left and right doing their daily lives as normal regular humans, many of them seems to be working as a miner judging from their outfit and pickaxe in their hands.

'It seems this city's main source of business is mining elemental stones...', Rex thought.

But soon Rex shakes his head and focuses on the task at hand, he's now hunting for people that got their minds controlled by the Succubusses that he killed. Well, his berserk self kills to be exact.

With his very sharp senses, he can feel a subtle demonic aura from all sides of the city.

Since the succubus' use somekind of spell to mind control the humans here, their source of energy is demonic energy so it should be relatively easy for Rex to find them.

As long as he knows what the energy feels like, he can practically search for anything.

Rex glance to the side feeling four people with subtle demonic energy in them, he then heads in that direction without a rush lest he attracts a crowd in this little to no Awakened city. With steady steps, he walks leisurely with his eyes fixated on a woman.

Just as he was following the woman, he suddenly saw a group of people gathered in a circle.

They seem to be crowding something and more people started to get attracted to this crowd, even Rex's interest got piqued but he can smell blood. If Rex were to guess, they should be crowding a crime scene with dead bodies.

'Damn succubus, they are already on the move?', Rex thought gritting his teeth.

Without wasting any more time, Rex picks up his pace and follows the woman with subtle demonic energy. But he intends to follow her silently in case there are places that even he can't sense.

Swoosh!

Rex dashed away turning into a blur seeing the woman takes a turn,

"Oh my god, who could've done these things...?"

"Is there a killer on the loose?"

"Are there Supernaturals in the city?"

Many people of the city exclaimed while looking at the sight in front of them, they are looking at seven dead bodies inside a trashbin that are mutilated and some of them has their flesh torn.

It's the work of the devil, there are no sane people that can do this.

Soon the city guards came running into the scene trying to disperse the crowd, one of them that looks to be the leader of the city guards approached the trash bin with a frown. Even the scent of dead bodies can be smelled from afar.

Using a glove, the man then takes the mutilated bodies from the trash bin.

One thing that stands out from the dead mutilated bodies is that their wounds are not symmetrical, it's like an animal has killed them. So the chances of Supernaturals inside the city become high, and even the man knows it.

But to not create panic, the man turns back and said to another city guard, "Make a perimeter..."

"I think there are Supernaturals inside the city, but don't panic. Just tell the people to stay inside their houses at night and do not come out", he added.

Hearing this, the city guard gulps but still he nodded his head.

While this is all happening, Rex is following the woman that walks into a flat on the side of the street. It's quite a big flat but rather on the corner of the city, Rex can feel demonic entities inside the flat and this confirms that there is more Succubus in this city.

Rex didn't idle around and immediately went to work, he's currently on top of a building.

But now that he thought about it, Rex has absolutely no spell or skill that is low-key enough to not attract attention, 'Let's just do it the old fashion way, the fourth floor has the thickest demonic energy...'

After determining where the most demonic energy is located, strength gathers in his legs.

He fixated his eyes on the window on the fourth floor,

Rex's eyes glisten fiercely before he dashes into the window like a streak of shadow that can't even be seen by the citizen walking by, it's very fast that only the subtle sound of the window shattering can be heard.

Upon reaching inside the flat, Rex looks around and finds himself in a dim-lit room.

With only using his senses which are very powerful as a prince of Werewolf, Rex saw four people inside of the room and one entity that is clearly not human judging from the horns sticking out of its head.

Taking out the Silver Eye from the system's inventory, Rex stabbed the succubus that is still shocked from his arrival. His movement is too quick, the Succubus didn't even react to his attack.

Just with a thrust, the Silver Eye pierced the Succubus' mouth.

Rex saw the surprised look in the Succubus' eyes as he pushes down the sword slashing her mouth down, the Succubus' body got split into two from its mouth all the way down.

With the silver doing its work, the Succubus is unable to heal from the wound and died.

<Killed an early fifth rank Supernatural, Obtained 500,000 Exp>

After killing the Succubus in just under a second, Rex swiftly moves around the room and knocks the other people in the room unconscious. The dim-lit room is not a hindrance to a Werewolf's eyes.

Because of the Succubus that mind controlled them, the people here have their eyes flickering with purple demonic energy showing that they're already in the grasp of the Succubus.

So Rex decided to knock them out by hitting them on the back of their heads.

It's almost too easy for him to take down the room that takes only a couple of seconds, sometimes Rex forgot that he's that strong compared to lesser Supernaturals. All he fights are high-ranked Supernatural.

Vampire Royal Families, Emissary of the Dark Prince, 25 Golden Crest Families.

Not one of them can be classified as normal or average in terms of power, they all have the power in the upper echelon so fighting a fifth-rank Succubus like this is too easy.

Straightening his back, Rex felt other auras throughout the flat so he went to work.

In just a couple of minutes, the entire flat consisting of six floors got cleaned up by Rex. Each of the mind-controlled people and Succubuses got either knocked unconscious or killed. Succubus that many fears are butchered like helpless babies.

Rex is now inside a room where a bunch of naked people is lying unconscious on the ground, most of their souls got sucked by the Succubus but thankfully Rex arrives in time.

Just like in the myth, Succubus can suck souls through an intimate act.

There are two things that are wrong with the myth compared to the real Succubus, one is that either Incubus or Succubus can prey on whatever they are as long as they have a soul, and the second is that not all Succubus or Incubus has devilish features that can tempt anyone.

Lower-ranked Succubus or Incubus looks more like a monster, the stronger they are the more beautiful they are. The ones Rex killed are already human-like but still have their monstrosity.

From what Rex saw, there are at least a dozen people died.

Out of all the fifty people inside the flat that got abducted by the Succubus, a dozen people died. If Rex didn't decide to help the city then these fifty people or even more will definitely die.

Rex's eyes then shifted from the unconscious people to the glowing purple orb in the middle.

Each floor has a Succubus controlling the people but on the fourth floor turns out he missed a room that is well hidden, and inside the room is this place with the purple orb in the middle guarded by an early sixth-rank Succubus.

Slowly approaching the purple orb, Rex touched the purple orb and scans it.

<Scanning...>

<Mass Hypno Orb - Active>

It's a magical item that can explode and create a mind wave that will attack the mind of those who are hit by the wave and put them in a state of hypnosis, the range of the explosion varies depending on the collected souls but at max, it reaches 10 miles. No one under the sixth rank can sustain the hypnosis and is able to explode after sufficient souls are collected.

Collected Souls 619/2000

Upon seeing this, Rex widens his eyes in surprise before that surprise turned into anger.

'619 souls?! They already killed that much?!', Rex exclaimed inside his head, he was absent from the news of the war with the Supernaturals because of the families he faced but this is not good at all.

The Supernatural strongholds are obviously working if they manage to gather this much.

Rex looks down with a dark expression, the system already told him that the people will be okay after they get back their consciousness. So Rex only puts the purple orb into his inventory before leaving the flat.

Upon exiting the flat, he looks up to the bright sky with a grim expression.

'Should I just volunteer to Sebrof to fight in the war...?', he thought, but if he were to do that then he will be surrendering his freedom. To make matters worst, only he knows what he can do best.

If Sebrof assigns him to a bad place, he will not feel fulfilled until he changed the tide of the war.

Prof. K will also not going to be happy if he did that,

Just as he was deliberating what to do inside his head, a beggar suddenly bumped into him.

Since he's still pissed from the souls the Succubus manage to gather, his expression is very fierce. But seeing the beggar, his expression softens but the beggar's body suddenly turns stiff.

While pointing at Rex's face, the beggar widens his eyes in fear.

"Y-You..."

Rex looks at the beggar in confusion since the beggar seems to know him, but out of nowhere the beggar suddenly shouted while pointing at his face, "Werewolf!! Help!! There's a Werewolf!!"

"Eh...?"

Chapter 497 One-Eyed Black Wolf

"Eh...?", Rex was rooted in his spot upon hearing what the beggar shouted.

Not only does what the beggar said surprised him, but the beggar shouted it with absolute certainty as if he really did see him turn into a Werewolf. It made his heart skip a beat.

"He's a Werewolf!! He's a Werewolf!"

Without stopping, the beggar kept pointing at Rex while shouting the same thing.

Rex looks around and finds the people walking by starting to steal glances at him, they are even starting to back away from Rex which makes him even more confused, 'There's no way they believe what this guy said, right..'

But seeing their expressions, he started to have a second thought.

Without letting this go on for any longer since he's famous and well-known which would be trouble if someone recognize him, Rex covers the man's mouth, "Why are you shouting that?", he whispers.

The beggar didn't reply and just kept shouting the same thing even though muffled.

It's starting to annoy Rex since more people are looking at them the longer this beggar kept ranting, he then is forced to grab the beggar and disappear from the place.

Rex brought the beggar onto another rooftop to avoid people, he let go of the beggar gently.

After Rex let go, the beggar crawls back in utter fear until his back is against the wall.

"Don't eat me! Don't eat me!"

"Help, someone!"

"Werewolf, a WEREWOLF!"

Upon hearing the beggar keep shouting non-stop Rex rolls his eyes as he's very much annoyed by this guy, he then bought a rune from the shop and engraved it on the rooftop's wall. It creates a bubble that is soundproof.

"Why are you shouting nonsense? What part of me looks like a Werewolf to you?"

"No! Help me! There's a Werewolf!", the beggar didn't even bother answering testing the patience that Rex never knew turns out to be short, it's like talking to a fixed robot and it's very annoying.

Rex shakes his head before he finally asks, 'System, is there a way to make him forget about me?'

<Do the user want to buy Flask of Amnesia for 2,000 Gold?"

'Yes...', he immediately replies before he takes out the Flask of Amnesia from the inventory, a crystal clear elixir appears in his hand which made the beggar widen his eyes in shock.

The beggar points at the elixir and shouts, "S-Supernatural magic! Supernatural magic!"

"It's not Supernatural magic, now drink this and we're going to act this has never happened", Rex said while slowly approaching the beggar with the elixir in his hand, but this in turn made the beggar stand up and started running around the rooftop.

While looking at the running beggar, Rex feels really annoyed that turns into anger.

Rex's eyes turn from his natural color into red color for a brief moment that startled the beggar, but with a small dash, he manages to reach beside the beggar before grabbing his face.

Opening the elixir, he then forced the beggar to drink the elixir.

After the beggar can't do anything except swallow the elixir content, Rex lets go of the beggar as he falls to the ground feeling his eyes droopy and sleepy. It's the elixir taking effect.

It didn't take long before the beggar falls unconscious while Rex sighs in annoyance.

"To think that I need to really hold myself back because of this beggar... let's just get out of here, there is no Succubus left here", Rex utters to himself while looking at the unconscious beggar.

But just as he was about to take him down and leave, Rex felt two auras approaching him.

Rex instantly recognizes both auras as Adhara and Evelyn since their scents can be smelled even from here, "They must be worried since I moved from Dupok City..."

With that, he grabbed the unconscious beggar before he suddenly stopped.

<The target's body is malnutrition and very weak even amongst normal humans, Flask of Amnesia effect will be deadly to the target and may result in death>

Since the system can scan whatever Rex touched, this notification makes him stop.

Although Rex doesn't really know what the beggar saw him do during his berserk state, it's a good idea to just make the beggar forget whatever it is to not cause future problems. So he needs to make the beggar forget, 'Is there any other item to make him amnesia?'

<Flask of Amnesia is the lowest rank mind alteration elixir, there are no lower-ranked elixir that it>

Reading this, Rex finally gave up, 'Forget it, just buy the antidote for the Flask of Amnesia. He's just a civilian so I can't really kill him like that', he thought.

Rex gave the beggar the antidote before he left him in an alley.

It's risky to let the beggar remember whatever he saw but there's no way of erasing it, killing him is not an option as Rex doesn't want to do that for something selfish.

Upon leaving the beggar, Rex then went in the direction of Adhara and Evelyn.

About ten minutes later,

Since Rex is heading to Evelyn and Adhara who are also heading to him, they met in the middle relatively fast. One thing that Rex immediately notices is the smell coming from Evelyn.

It's more fragrant and also stronger than usual, something he didn't expect.

Adhara saw Rex's eyes instantly land on Evelyn, she briefly glances at Evelyn before she sighs, "During the Wolf Moon, Evelyn didn't change into her Werewolf form but rather a different form"

"She's a Luna, that's probably why. Did you notice her changes too?", she added.

Hearing this, Rex unconsciously nodded his head while still looking at Evelyn that is somehow emitting a rigorous amount of scent that is very alluring. What he's feeling is different from what Adhara's feeling when looking at Evelyn.

For Rex, she's like an aphrodisiac multiplied by ten.

As for Adhara on the other hand, Evelyn is not emitting the alluring scent but a comforting one.

Maybe it's because the Luna's job is to be the Alpha's bride which made her presence emits an alluring scent for Rex and Rex alone, and it's clearly working since Rex is very distracted.

Under Rex's gaze, Evelyn can't help but shyly looks away.

Rex's eyes are burning with passion while looking at Evelyn as if he was about to ravish her.

But soon Rex snapped out of his daze as his body feel a bit tired from last night, "She definitely changed. I'm really tired from last night, let me rest...", he said before sitting down on the grass.

The three of them are currently beside a huge lake that has beautiful sparkling blue water.

Dense trees are surrounding the entire lake, and the flowers and green lush grass decorate the lake creating a beautiful scenery. It's very weird for there is no one here despite the city Rex was in before bustling with people.

It took just a glance before Rex know why there are no people here,

Since the three of them at minimum have sixth-rank power, they're practically invincible in this place but there are some fifth-rank mutated animals here that will pounce at anyone that's stupid enough to set a foot here.

Beauty is often deceiving, and behind the beautiful lake lies many rampant mutated animals.

Rex sits down on the grass before he soon laid on his back, the air here is refreshing and he intends to take a power nap here before going back to Ratmawati City.

"What happened last night? Why are you here?", Adhara asks while sitting on his side.

While closing his eyes shut, Rex then replied, "I don't really know but I think I went berserk, but thankfully I didn't hurt any people except for killing a bunch of Succubus"

"I was about to ask that too...", Adhara suddenly said.

This prompted Rex to open his eyes and looks to his side, he finds Adhara glancing at Evelyn before she finally said, "When we were heading to you, we met a bunch of disfigured Succubus' corpses. There are at least about a hundred of them, and it seems they are about to launch an attack"

"Huh... then it should be me. My other side seems to have the same goal as me", Rex replied.

It's just been happening these past few days ever since the Invincible Apparation awakened, Rex feels that as long as his other self didn't kill humans then he doesn't mind albeit he prefers not to have his other self.

Rex comes in at the right time to the city that he was in before.

From what Adhara said and what he knows, about a hundred Succubus are already ready to attack the city hiding in the forest with the Succubuses inside collecting souls that already reached 619.

Although Rex doesn't know what they are planning exactly, he can roughly guess the impact.

If somehow these Succubuses are successful in taking over the city using the orb they are cultivating, then there's no one that knows the entire city is taken over. The Succubuses outside are reinforcement if there's a powerful Awakened inside the city.

Just thinking about it makes Rex's heart clenched, it will be disastrous.

Imagine the entire city got mind controlled by the Succubuses, and when other people or even Awakened that are tasked to protect the city came they didn't know they are surrounded.

A huge win for the Succubus if they manage to do that, but Rex came in just at the right time.

"The state of the war is getting out of control with the Strongholds standing strong, I'll try to handle the matters with the Hester Family and Sebrot quickly. We need to do something and get rid of the Supernatural Strongholds", Rex mutters decisively.

With the power he currently has, making a change in the war is within his grasp.

Merging the UWO and the SCO is already done and soon the effect will be evident, so now he will support the SCO and UWO from the shadow to help them tilt the war.

Or at least take down the strongholds that are very detrimental to humanity.

Thinking about the Succubus corpses that he killed, Rex suddenly got an idea, "Both of you go and secure the corpses of the Succubus, we're going to need it to stabilize Ryze's condition"

"No, just let me take care of it", Adhara replied suddenly.

Although it's a bit weird seeing that Adhara wanted to take care of it herself, Rex is too tired as he just waved his hand without thinking much before Adhara dashes away into the forest.

Rex closes his eyes once more trying to rest for a moment,

It's not usual for Rex to be this tired, but he just went berserk and meet the Countess of the Dark Luniric that rattled his head from trying to scan her using the system. So it didn't come without a reason, last night is very eventful.

Evelyn who looks at Rex from the side and saw the tiredness on his face decided to approach him.

Despite his eyes being closed, Rex can feel Evelyn approaching him before she gently lifts his head up and laid his head on her thigh for comfort. He didn't ask for it, but he can't deny that it feels really comfortable.

Just like a squishy pillow but this one is way better, one hundred times better.

"Evelyn... wake me up in like half an hour", Rex mutters lightly.

Hearing this, Evelyn didn't reply and just nodded her head before looking at the beautiful scenery. Mutated fishes that are the sizes of an adult hand are splashing the water, and the flower petals that are floating above the water create a beautiful picture.

Some may call this a paradise on earth, and currently, that is what Evelyn is thinking.

It's a beautiful scene alright but what she's most happy about is the person laying on her lap, the only man that can make her heart flutters from way back before during the Faraday University tournament all the way to here.

Recently just when she turned into Werewolf, this feeling is amplified and this alone brings joy.

'If your past doesn't haunt you the way it did, I wonder what kind of man you are right now...'

~

Supernatural Territory, Scarlet Banes Kingdom.

The King's Castle,

Silence... the insides of the throne room are covered with the goddess of silence with the heavy upbringing coming from King Baralt sitting on his throne with 8 Werewolves kneeling in front of him slightly shivering in fear.

They are all Alphas of the top pack in the kingdom, the strongest Alpha there is.

Amongst the 8 Alpha Werewolves, three of them are wearing golden armor-clad with a majestic brown fur cloak attached to their armor. Those three are obviously stronger than the rest.

If Rex were here, he will instantly know that they are in the upper echelon of the eight-rank realm.

But there's one Werewolf that doesn't wear armor like the 11 Alphas, this one is wearing a robe and is standing beside King Baralt acting just like his right hand or advisor.

"Do you have news for me? Why did all of you ask for me?", King Baralt suddenly said.

His baritone overbearing voice reverberated inside the throne room like the whispers of death, this question along makes most of the Alphas shudder. One of the Alphas clad in golden armor then said, "I've received the news from the Undead, as we know three Alphas are wounded from the failure in attacking Eqosa City. They got ambushed just after they got out of the secret passage"

Glancing at King Baralt slightly, the Alpha then said, "The Undeads told me that it was the Werewolf in the human territory that plan this, he's the reason for our failure..."

Although the Alpha wanted to be loud and clear when stating the facts, he's a bit worried when bringing up the matter regarding the Werewolf in the human territory.

But seeing King Baralt didn't get angry, the Alpha continues.

"One Enchanter has been lost as this Werewolf deceived the Undead acting as if he was a part of our reinforcement, and that Werewolf should also be the one that discovered the secret passage"

King Baralt covers his face using his hand which makes the other gulp harshly.

Just after seeing that, one of the golden armored Werewolf then immediately said, "We're gathered here to ask for your forgiveness for failing you, please punish us as you see fit"

After saying that, the throne room went silent again.

Since King Baralt has reigned the Scarlet Banes Kingdom with dominance and terror, they all expected to be punished heavily by him. But to their surprise, King Baralt lifted his head and finally said, "I accept your apologies, but make sure not to disappoint me again"

Upon hearing this, the Alphas look at each other in confusion.

They all have the same thought coursing past their minds, "That's it...?"

"All of you are dismissed", King Baralt added before the Alphas bowed and left the throne room.

Even after exiting the throne room, they are all still confused as to what just happened. Something like this has never happened. King Baralt is not this forgiving, in fact, he's very ruthless.

The throne room is empty again, only King Baralt and his advisor.

It was all silent for almost ten minutes straight with the advisor standing beside King Baralt patiently, soon King Baralt opens his mouth, "Today is the third time I dreamt about it..."

"I dreamt of the one-eyed black wolf, he's occasionally peeking at me"

"From the darkness..."

"But today I didn't only see one one-eyed black wolf, I see two of them staring at me sitting on the throne"

King Baralt unconsciously clenched his fists with a hint of worry on his face, it's not a king-like behavior. He then glances at the advisor on the side and asks, "Hallac... you know what the one-eyed black wolf right?"

"I know... the Oust Wolf, the wolf that clawed one of his eyes to become more focus"

"It's the wolf that represents the will to sacrifice anything to gain what he wants, removing one of his eyes symbolizes its determined and unwavering will. Staring right in front of you means someone close, but peeking from the darkness means the opposite"

"As for the numbers...", Hallac stops before glancing at King Baralt's troubled look.

Hearing what Hallac said, King Baralt's expression turns even more concerned. He then gazes at the throne room door blankly before he mutters softly, "They are aiming at my throne..."

Chapter 498 Swearing To Himself

Adhara went back into the forest to gather the corpses of the Succubuses just as Rex instructed, she doesn't know what he will do with the corpses to help Ryze but it doesn't matter.

For as long as they are together, Rex did the job with unknown methods.

Despite the unknown methods he never fails to finish the task he's tackling, so if he said that he needed the Succubus' corpses to help Ryze then he should have a method to cure Ryze from the heavenly dragon's possession.

Since it's an easy task just gathering the corpses together, Adhara can manage alone.

Although it's what she seems to be portraying she has some other things in mind, 'Surely with the current Evelyn, Rex will be able to relax more if he's with her. Giving them some space will be good for him...', she thought determinedly.

But the slight sting in her chest doesn't go away even though she's already determined.

Just before Adhara and Evelyn have just made an agreement that Rex needs both of their support mentally so he can keep being sharp and not distracted, that is their agreement but her mind is still trying to alter her resolve using various self-justification.

Deep down she wanted Rex for herself but she knows that's not possible now.

While dashing through the forest scaring many mutated animals residing here in the process, Adhara suddenly turns her head to the right feeling a light surge of energy.

Her danger sense is ringing madly but she can feel the energy is not heading towards her.

The sudden light surge of energy blasted out of nowhere making her stop in her tracks, it should be very far but managed to even reach here showing just how powerful this surge of energy is.

Adhara's interest is piqued, she follows the energy direction slowly.

Passing trees by trees following the path, her eyes then saw an open space at the end of her vision.

Upon reaching the light at the end of the forest, Adhara finds herself out of the forest and meets an open place that is not that big. In front of her lies a sharp cliff with another part of the forest underneath the cliff.

With slow and steady steps, Adhara went to the edge of the cliff while looking at her front.

In the far distance, Adhara can see a couple of shockwaves from different energies decorating the scenery and sky. Some are shockwaves of mana and some are shockwaves of Supernaturals energies, the power from the shockwaves even reaches here.

From how small the shockwaves are, it should be at least one or two dozen miles away.

The sight makes Adhara widen her eyes as if she just saw the most shocking scene in her life, with her Werewolf eyes she can perceive the shockwaves clearly and can even see the far-off figures.

She can clearly see two sides fighting a colony of ants against another.

Adhara finds they're fighting in front of a huge castle that is burning with red color, she didn't need anyone telling her before she realized what or who that castle belongs to, "Rex definitely needs to see this...", she mutters to herself before dashing back inside the forest.

Meanwhile,

It's only been ten minutes and Evelyn suddenly feels some movement on her lap.

Throughout these ten minutes of letting Rex take a nap, this is the third time Rex's body twitched or even tensed with a clear frown on his sleeping face. It's like he was dreaming and the frown on his face shows that it's not a pleasant dream.

Evelyn finds it heart-breaking seeing him like this, terrorized even in his sleep. Adhara must've seen him like this numerous times since she's sleeping in the same bed as Rex.

But just as she combed Rex's hair back gently with her fingers, Evelyn saw Rex's eyelids move.

Rex's eyes can be seen moving underneath his eyelids showing that he's about to wake up, and soon enough he opened his eyes and blinked a couple of times before meeting with Evelyn's tender gaze looking down on him.

Despite feeling a little bit gloomy, Evelyn puts on a sweet smile.

"You can sleep some more, it's not half an hour yet", she said while still gently stroking Rex's head.

That sweet smile on Evelyn's face didn't last long when she saw Rex's eyes are red, and it was not the red eyes one can find after sleeping. When Rex blinked again, his eyes turns back to the normal natural color.

Seeing this, Evelyn started to doubt whether she has seen it wrong.

Rex slowly sits down before covering his face as if he's feeling a bit dizzy, "Are you okay, Rex? Maybe you need to sleep a bit more, we don't need to be in a hurry", Evelyn said concernedly.

"I'm alright...", Rex replied shortly.

After replying with a clear voice, Rex stood up before he stretches his body.

Evelyn also stood up seeing Rex is already awake, but then he glance in the direction of the city he was in earlier, "Wait for the Female Alpha here, I forgot to get something from the city", Rex said without even turning to look at Evelyn.

Rex faces his back towards Evelyn which looks a bit odd,

She tries to poke her head from the back trying to get his attention, "Should I come with you?"

"No, It will not take long. Stay here, Luna...", he replied before he lower his stance a bit.

Upon seeing this, Evelyn then said trying to stop him, "What did you forget? Let me tag along if it's not goi-", before she can even finish, Rex disappeared in the next second heading to the city he was in earlier.

He doesn't even let Evelyn finish and just dashes away.

Evelyn slowly puts down her stretched arm stiffly, she was confused as to what thing Rex forget that made him instantly go back to the city right after waking up.

But her eyes then soon landed on her palm,

The purple dot on the white wolf head symbol on her palm is glowing subtly with purple light.

In reflex after witnessing the glowing purple dot, Evelyn looks back at where Rex has just run off to before in the next second she dashes to catch after him, 'I know that something is weird about him. It's not even night yet, so why does the symbol glow?', she thought with a frown.

Although she only had the wolf head symbol for a couple of days, she already know what it was for.

Somehow the white wolf head is connected with Rex and it always glows whenever Rex went berserk, but it's not even night so it doesn't make sense for him to go berserk in the middle of the day like this.

Evelyn went after Rex to the city not far from where they were,

With the link created between each of the Silverstar Pack members on their own and also with Rex makes it possible for them to find each other, even without that Evelyn can follow Rex's scent.

Just about five minutes later, Evelyn saw the city at the end of her vision.

There are guards guarding the gate of the city armed with modern armor and weapons, but Evelyn ignores them jumped over the wall without any of the guards realizing it.

She landed softly beside a house and no one saw her jump over the city's wall.

After landing on the wall, Evelyn finds that there are many people that are walking along the street and there are no cars around. Only carriages like in medieval times were pulled by mutated horses.

From this alone shows that this city is probably cut off from the UWO.

But the UWO is probably will reach this city eventually with the alliance between the SCO and UWO made, if the city survived long enough then it will thrive with the help of the UWO.

Evelyn looks around the street before she saw a silhouette dashing swiftly.

Not one of the passersby saw this silhouette dashing past them except noticing the weird wind that was created from this silhouette dash, this silhouette is Rex and he seems to be heading to a place without any hint of hesitation.

It's like he already memorized the map of the city, but from his behavior, Evelyn notices one thing.

'What is the scent he's following? If it's a scent then it shouldn't be an item that he forgot, is it a Succubus that he forgot to kill?', Evelyn guessed inside her head.

Evelyn follows after him before she finally saw Rex going inside an alley.

Activating her elemental auras, she then dashed into the alley where Rex got in.

Swish!

Upon arriving at the alley with one swift movement, Evelyn's eyes dilated seeing the scene in front of him. Rex has his hands turned into claws and they are now bloodied from someone's blood.

She shifted her eyes down and saw a man lying on the ground with his neck sliced.

From the messy look and the haggard clothes the man is wearing, he should be a beggar.

Rex slowly looks over his shoulders exposing his red eyes that made Evelyn's expression turns grim, she then said with a stone-cold tone, "You're not Rex, are you...?"

Growl...!

A heavy trembling growl escapes Rex's mouth as he slowly turns around.

Just seeing the eyes that exclude something animalistic and inhuman shows that the one that is standing in front of her right now is not Rex, but the other part of him that somehow can take control despite it's not the full moon or even night.

Out of nowhere, fueled with the purple energy from the white wolf head symbol.

Evelyn's eyes sudden flashes with a purple light that blinded Rex for a moment, it was like instinct and she then closed in the distance before Rex can even recover from the flash.

It's like being hit by a wave that clouded his vision and mind, Rex finds it hard to move.

With the succession of catching Rex off guard with the flash of purple light coming from her eyes, Evelyn manage to reach Rex's front before she grabbed his head with the hand that has the white wolf head symbol on the palm.

Swoosh!

Since during the full moon before where Rex actually went berserk,

Evelyn becomes aware that the white wolf head symbol on her palm can be used in such situations, her movement is natural as the purple energy slowly envelops Rex's body like a mist.

Rex growled trying to break free while looking at Evelyn right in her eyes.

Under the purple energy that seems to suppress this animal side of him, Rex falls to his knees while Evelyn's hand is still touching his forehead and does not let go. But Evelyn's eyes widen finding Rex suddenly hugging her body.

With him on both knees, his head only reaches Evelyn's upper stomach area.

'Oh, no!', Evelyn started to sweat seeing Rex manage to hug her body, she was fearful of him crushing her body by bear-hugging her. With Rex's strength, crushing her will be easy.

But out of her expectation, Rex only hugs her gently while the purple energy does its work.

This was not expected as Evelyn looks down at Rex, she saw him looking at her with eyes that albeit still animalistic contains a hint of sadness, pleadings, and even straight-on pamperedness. She was not in the least expected something like this.

Rex should be taken over by his other side which contains his rage and berserks.

For this side to show other emotions such as this is surprising, to say the least. And after a moment, those eyes that are looking at Evelyn are slowly engulfed by the purple energy.

Shading the entire eyes purple and soon the purple energy dissipated again.

"E-Evelyn...?", Rex mutters realizing that he's on his knees while hugging Evelyn's body, he looks around and finds that he's back in the city. From what he remembers, he should not be here.

After looking around, Rex then stands up slowly while still in confusion.

Glancing at Evelyn that is looking at him with a troubled look, Rex then said, "I remember sleeping beside the lake on your lap, how did we get here?", he looks at Evelyn asking for an answer.

Seeing this, it becomes evident that Rex seems to have two personalities.

As much as she wants to believe that the other one is just somekind of a berserk state meaning that Rex is just fueled with anger and his Werewolf side thus unable to communicate or think properly, the eyes that she saw earlier show that the other Rex is not just a berserk state.

But instead, it's a full-on personality that has anger and hates amplified.

"I think you have a problem with your other side, he keeps coming out. You suddenly wake up and head to the city before killing that man", Evelyn said while pointing at the dead beggar.

Rex looks to his back and finds the beggar he finds earlier dead.

While looking at the dead beggar, Rex turns to Evelyn while pointing at himself, "Did I do that? Did I kill that man?", he asks with absolute doubt, he already decided to let that man go.

Evelyn nodded her head firmly making Rex looks down troubled.

'Did the other me thinks that it'll be too risky to let the beggar live...?', Rex thought while anger slowly rises from within, he grinds his teeth angrily while clenching his fists. It's become more rampant and he will not let this go on.

Rex then swore to himself that he will remove this other part of him.

No matter what he will definitely erase this other part of him, and without a doubt this all happens because of the awakening of the Invincible Apparation. That is where this is all starts.

'Starting this day, I assure you that you're not going to be able to take control ever again!'

Chapter 499 A Fight On The Demon Stronghold

'I know you can hear me... when I say never, I mean truly never', Rex thought inside his head.

Since whoever his other side was is also inside of him, it's almost certain that just like Devo this other side of him can also read or hear his mind. It pisses him off when he troubles himself to give an antidote for the man just to be killed later.

Not only that, the beggar is just an innocent citizen and that made it way worse.

Evelyn saw the furious look on Rex's face that clearly shows that he was angry, she also curses herself a bit for not realizing sooner that it was not Rex when he called her not by her actual name.

Back when Rex woke up, he called Adhara the Female Alpha, and Evelyn Luna.

From that alone, she should've immediately stopped him knowing that Rex never called her that. But she only finds it odd instead which leads to the other Rex killing this innocent beggar.

Rex clicks his tongue in displeasure before storing the beggar's corpse in the inventory.

'I'll give him a proper burial somewhere, I'm sorry', he thought while storing the corpse in the inventory, he then stands back up before walking past Evelyn still feeling a bit guilty.

While walking past her, Rex then said, "Let's just go, Adhara must be waiting"

Both of them exit the city once again without anyone noticing, not even the city guards noticed them jump over the wall before sprinting back into the forest. It's scary to think that if a similar Supernatural manage to get here, then they can do the same as Rex.

They can just go inside the city easily and started massacring the city.

Probably the Succubuses also did the same thing and no one has a clue that their city has been hijacked by Succubuses, and even after Rex basically saved the city none of them are aware.

In just a moment, Rex and Evelyn went to the side of the lake again and find Adhara there.

Rex can already smell the corpses of the supposed Succubus that he killed, the scents are not far as it seems Adhara gathered the corpses somewhere near but not on the side of the lake.

"Rex...", Adhara stood up instantly while giving Rex a troubled look.

Seeing this makes Rex looks at her in confusion, "What's wrong? Why are you putting such a face?"

"I think you need to see something, follow me", she said and without waiting for Rex to reply she already turns around and started dashing away, from her expression it should be a serious matter.

Without questioning her, Rex and Evelyn followed after her.

It doesn't take long before the three of them came out of the forest and meet a very high cliff, Rex walks to the edge of the cliff and looks down. The cliff seems to be a slope down that is a pretty long fall.

Any normal humans will find themselves rolling on the slope to death, even Awakened might succumb to this cliff too since the fall is pretty steep and long.

But his focus was not fixated on the slope for too long,

Rex saw the huge sparks of energies that can be felt even from here, the thunderous boom and powerful shockwaves can be seen from afar making the void trembled. It should be a huge battle against two sides, but from this far away he can only see silhouettes.

Focusing his eyes on the fight, he is finally able to decipher the two opposing sides.

One side is clearly wearing white armor and Rex deducted them as the Cessation Knights while the other one should be Supernaturals, there are no other enemies to fight except for Supernaturals.

While looking at this fight from dozens of miles away, Rex saw the burning castle.

'That should be the Demon Stronghold, does the Cessation Knights intend to take out the stronghold...?', Rex thought while squinting his eyes in confusion. With his super sight, Rex saw at least four or five battalions of Cessation Knights advancing to the Demong Stronghold.

Surrounding these battalions are countless military men raining fire on the Supernaturals, the military outnumbered the Cessation Knights 10 to 1. It's like seeing a sea of people charging forward.

Dupok City is on the other side of Ratmawati City, far away from Eqosa City.

This city he was in earlier is near Dupok City and this side of the human territory is closer to the Demon Stronghold compared to the Vampire Stronghold, which is why the attacks here don't come from Vampires, Undead, or even Werewolves.

But Demons, Succubus, and Shapeshifters should dominate the attacks here instead.

Although he knows that the Demons tricked humanity and created two Strongholds as their entry point to humans' territory, this is the first time Rex has seen in person the Demon Stronghold.

Demonic fires cover the stronghold and the entirety of the stronghold is black in color.

In response to the attack, the Demon Stronghold summons three demon hives.

Just like the name, the demon hives pour out thousands of demons followed by what seems to be soldiers from the Succubus race flying in the sky raining down attacks. It's a bloodbath.

Rex finds it odd that the Cessation Knights attacked the demon stronghold frontally.

Although humans should still have the most population even amongst the Supernatural races, our Awakened are few only one in a thousand people is an Awakened. Fighting smartly is something that we need to adapt, but this is a straight-on brawl.

With his experience in the military, this rarely happens. In fact, the military never issued such orders.

Seeing that they're fighting vigorously and frontally, Rex's expression turns grim, "They're desperate... ", Rex thinks out loud attracting Evelyn and Adhara's attention.

'But why are they so desperate in taking down the Demon Stronghold?', he thought in confusion.

Yes, with the Demon Stronghold the cities nearby will not be safe anymore despite the Cessation Knights creating a perimeter around the Demon Stronghold. It doesn't make sense.

They can just reinforce each city, there's no need to resort to this tactic.

While he was thinking inside his head, Adhara pointed at the Demon Stronghold and finds demonic red energy slowly protruding from the ground and starting to cover the walls, "Look, I think something is happening with the wall!", she shouted.

Rex saw this red energy climbing up the stronghold wall slowly, 'A barrier...? So that's why...'

Upon looking at the demonic energy slowly covering the wall of the stronghold, without a doubt the fight that is breaking out is because of that barrier.

If the barrier is finished, then the stronghold will basically be fixed.

Humanity's side needs immense firepower just to take down the stronghold and this will in turn brings heavy casualties that will keep stacking while the Supernaturals will sustain fewer casualties thanks to the barrier.

That is probably why the Cessation Knight is desperate to stop the barrier from completion.

"So many people died from just that...", Adhara mutters silently.

Even Evelyn who is also looking at the fierce battle can't help but feel a shiver on her spine, she's seeing it from afar but each blast from the Supernaturals killed many military men. They are only normal people, so each attack is deadly for them.

In just a few moments, the deaths are countless. Thousands fall.

Rex watches this with a heavy heart, 'System, is there anything that I can do to take down that barrier the Demons are making?', he asks while watching the fight.

No matter the situation, he needs to prepare for the worst outcome.

<Touching the barrier is required to give alternatives to destroy the barrier>

'In general, can you explain to me what possibilities to take down the demon barrier?', Rex asks once again hoping to at least know the alternative to propose it to the UWO or SCO if he deemed it needed for humanity's survival.

<Information costs 10,000 Gold, does the user wants to continue?>

Rex then replied without any hesitation, 'Yes'

<Purchase complete!>

<Destroying a barrier requires different finesse, barriers made of formation can be destroyed by destroying the core runes, barriers made by a spell can be destroyed by a combination of ingredients, and all barriers can be overpowered with higher-rank energy>

<But if it's made by Archdemons or higher-ranked demons then killing them or breaking the link between them are also alternatives to destroy the barrier>

Upon seeing the notifications, Rex read them carefully to digest the information.

The first notification shows the general way of destroying a barrier, and the second notification explains how exactly to destroy a barrier made of an Archdemon or even the King of Demons.

Judging by the energy that the barrier emits that can be felt even from here, it's certainly the latter.

Without a moment of doubt, Rex believed that the barrier is made by an Archdemon or even higher-ranked demons. The energy coming from the barrier is ridiculous and he only has ever felt energies stronger than the demon barrier from Denzel or Giana, a ninth-rank Awakened.

This shows that whoever made the barrier should be near the ninth-rank realm, or even in the early ninth-rank realm. A very powerful demon and most likely an Archdemon.

Looking away from the fight, Rex then said, "Evelyn... can you gather information for me?"

"Information of what or who? Just tell me and my men will definitely find out everything you need to know, except for the Macias Family of course", she replied seriously.

Any true human will definitely have their souls riled up to think of a way to help the war.

Since most of the war between the humans whether the military's fight or even the Awakened's fight, the UWO has watered down the scene to only show the good side of the war. None of this bloodbath will be shown.

Even the fight that the humans lost will not be broadcasted, only released in a form of an article.

The ones that truly know the brutality of the wars are probably the low-level city that can see something like this happening from up close, they are the ones that know what went through.

None of the citizens under the shield and cover of Ratmawati City know this.

Rex then said with a stern expression, he intends to create as much havoc in the Supernatural territory so the strongholds will be weakened, "Find out about the Hester Family, I'll need to finish the matters with them quickly"

"I already sent Kyran to infiltrate them, but I also need the general information about them"

Hearing what Rex requested, Evelyn nodded her head.

After saying that to Evelyn, Rex intends to resume their journey back but his eyes suddenly caught a silhouette on top of the Demon Stronghold's wall emitting a tormenting sharp blue aura. It should be a high-rank demon.

Just from looking at this demon alone, Evelyn and Adhara feel their hearts got clenched tightly.

The blue aura coming from this demon is still very haunting despite the distance, and Evelyn and Adhara can't even begin to imagine what it will feel like up close.

Rex saw this charcoal black demon holding a spear with its tip blazing with blue fire.

Something about this charcoal black demon makes every danger sense in Rex's entire body ring in danger, and it came from the blue rune in the middle of its chest. Aside from that, Rex also feels the aura this demon emitted is familiar, "This one feels like the Vulvazith Demons I fought..."

Back during his fight in Beah City, Rex fought against the winged-blue demons.

Upon scanning them, Rex finds that their race is a Vulvazith Demon. This black charcoal demon should also be a Vulvazith demon but way stronger than those demons that he fought.

Soon another two figures appeared on the black charcoal demons' sides.

The aura they are bearing shows that they're also high-rank demons, at least nearing the power of the black charcoal demon that is standing mightily above the stronghold's wall.

"I think those are the Archdemons...", Adhara mutters from the side.

Rex glanced at her and nodded his head as he too guessed that those demons are Archdemons, but soon Evelyn's voice seeped into their ears. Her voice is a bit shaky as if she's quivering, "Is it just me... or does that demon looking at us...?"

Hearing this, Rex looks back at the stronghold before he sucked in a cold breath.

'It can't be... we're separated by dozens of miles, how could it sense us when we didn't even activate our auras', he thought in surprise, but the demon is clearly looking in their direction.

There's no doubt about it, those blue eyes are looking straight at Rex's eyes.

An imminent bone-chilling cold can be felt slowly crawling up their spines finding that the black charcoal demons are also looking at them, not stopping at that, the black charcoal demon slowly raises its arm and points its spear at them.

Rex and the others step back unconsciously as they saw the black charcoal demon smirking.

Even seeing the black charcoal demon's presence alone is already terrifying, and now the black charcoal demon suddenly turns its attention to them as if it can feel it's being watched.

"I-I think we need to go...", Adhara mutters while slowly backing away.

Despite the distance between them, that powerful black charcoal demon can probably approach them in a short amount of time. It's better to leave the place and not wait for it to do something.

But when Rex and the others were about to leave, Rex's eyes dilated.

His eyes slowly widen when he saw the spear with its tip burning with blue fire suddenly disappear from the black charcoal demon's hand, Rex then saw a dot heading towards him swiftly.

Soon his eyes widen when he realized what the black dot was, It was the spear!

Chapter 500 Ninth Rank Demon Attack

Rex's eyes were stretched open wide upon realizing the spear burning with blue fire is heading toward him like a bullet, it was so fast that despite the distance between them the spear is getting bigger by the second.

It travels miles in just a couple of seconds, this just shows how fast and powerful the charcoal demon is, even Adhara and Evelyn are stunned in their places.

The spear is still far away but the demonic energy cloaking it is utterly gruesome.

Splashes of blue demon energy start to dye the surrounding void around the flying spear creating a spiral of hurricane strong enough to completely obliterate anything on its path, without a doubt this spear can pierce literally anything.

Not stopping at that, the two other Archdemons pointed their fingers at Rex.

Just like what the black charcoal demon did, these Archdemons also fire a demonic bullet out of their fingers following just behind the burning spear. The spear alone is strong enough but coupled with the two demonic bullets Rex has no chance.

Maybe his other self that can somehow activate the King Mark can, but he can't block this.

When the three attacks are heading toward him like ferocious beasts that wanted to devour him, there's a small figure that can be seen flying to the sky with big blazing wings of flame.

The ridiculous amount of energy coming from this figure burns the entire sky.

Everything that should've been blue turns to red because of the burning wings, this is a level of power that is still way beyond Rex right now. Judging from the figure that has red burning lines all over his body, the figure should be no way less than eighth rank Awakened.

But the energy is familiar and after a moment Rex remembered who that figure is, he has met him.

Denzel Rogers is the man that has worked with Giana.

Rex realized that the man that is flapping its wide blazing wings turned out to be a ninth rank Awakened, Denzel flaps his wings in order to intercept the spear and two demonic bullets from the black charcoal demon and the two other Archdemons.

Upon getting closer to impact, Denzel's body burns by the second reaching a terrifying temperature.

Even the void around him started to sizzle from the heat his body emitted making his body blurry, and the heat reaches o where Rex and the others are standing showing the full might of ninth-rank Awakened.

'Why does he look to be giving it his all just to block the attack?', Rex thought in confusion.

As the pillar of humanity, the god-like being that is revered in any section of the human territory, Denzel with the power of a ninth rank Awakened should be able to block the attack easily.

He's a ninth rank Awakened after all, but his expression says otherwise.

Denzel arrived in front of the three attacks from the Archdemons and readies himself, he clenched his jaw so hard while slowly turning his blazing wings into two blazing arms. Everything fire mana in miles radius got sucked into these blazing arms.

Slowly but surely, the blazing arms cover his entire body just like a resting bird.

The condensation of a mix of mana, spirit energy, and also other energies that Rex is not really familiar with creates devastatingly powerful blazing arms, something of an eye opener.

If someone told Rex that there's nothing that can break those blazing arms, he will trust it.

But despite gathering a ridiculous amount of power to intercept the three attacks, there are no signs of confidence in Denzel's expression. He kept gathering more power to the best he can, and after ten a second the three attacks arrived.

KABOOM!

A ground-shattering explosion was created upon the collision between the two sides.

Even the entire battlefield rattled as many of them got blown away or even has their limbs burnt into a crisp because of the heat of the shockwave, it's even more powerful than a nuke!

Rex and the others can also feel the impact as they got pushed back by the wind alone.

The cliff they are on even starting to shake because of the powerful wind, Adhara turns her right hand into claws and stabs it to the ground before grabbing Evelyn with her other hand. It's just that strong.

While Rex on the other hand only needs to lower his stance to resist the wind from the shockwave.

Covering his face with the exception of his eyes with his arm, Rex kept looking at the point of impact hoping that Denzel is able to resist the attacks that are heading toward him.

Just as they thought the wind is over, a delayed shockwave hits them.

Swoosh!

Since it came out of nowhere, Adhara was caught in surprise as her grip slipped.

This makes her and Evelyn roll back into the forest a couple of times from the momentum of the shockwave, even trees that got in their way broke before they finally stopped after managing to take a hold of a rock embedded firmly in the ground.

As the two of them rolled back, Rex once again widen his eyes seeing his front.

Denzel with his powerful blazing arms that is powerful enough to dye the entire sky literal miles in radius manages to block the two demonic bullets and suppress them, but the spear manages to pierce his blazing arms.

It didn't hit Denzel but the spear kept flying towards Rex without anything blocking it.

"The spear pierced it?! I need to dodge it", Rex mutters before trying to jump away, but his body refused to move as the blue demonic aura from the spear fixed him in his spot like chains.

Having no time to idle around, Rex then shouted, "Devo!"

Swish!

Devo appears beside him but he is also got suppressed by the blue demonic aura, "We can't get away, the spear will just follow us. Our only hope is to reduce its power more so we can tank it"

"Alright, there's no choice then!", Rex said before his eyes blitzed with black lightning.

With Denzel's eyes locked onto him from afar, he can't really turn into his Werewolf form or even use the Invincible item in case Denzel can see him clearly despite their distance. All he can do is use everything he got to at least survive this attack.

<Magedamia Mandarin item is recommended to increase the survivability against the attack>

<Does the user wants to buy the Magedamia Mandarin?>

'Just buy it right now!', Rex shouted hurriedly, he then takes out the Mandarin that he bought from the inventory and immediately puts the black and blue fruit into his mouth and munched on it.

Crucnh!

Flavorful tastes started to intrude on his taste buds but he didn't have the time to enjoy them.

Rex feels his entire body becomes numb from eating the Magedamia Mandarin, his sky black lightning element starting to rage within him sparking electricity to the surrounding chaotically.

It's a boost that he has never felt before, his mana expanded to a terrifying degree.

At first, his mana is already abnormal enough for a new seventh-rank Awakened. But now his mana is not in any way inferior to those higher-ranked realms Awakened above him, with this kind of potency and mana even a basic lightning spell he uses will be able to kill a fifth or even sixth rank Awakened.

Devo also feels the changes in Rex's body that is linked to his, the surging sky black lightning-filled and course throughout his entire body as they both fixated their eyes on the spear.

"Ultimate Spell..."

Rumble!

The red sky dyed by Denzel's element started to get clouded with thunderstorms.

Even though the scale of the thunderstorms is not as big or powerful as the phenomena brought by Denzel, it will shock the entire world if they knew that all of this comes from an early seventh rank Awakened.

Both Devo and Rex pointed at the sky creating a runic circle above them respectively.

Unlike before where they needed to charge as much mana into the sky first, now with the mastery over the Ultimate spell increased and also the Mandarin Rex at they gather enough mana in an instant.

After pointing at the sky, Devo and Rex pointed at the incoming spear.

CRACK!

BOOM!

Eighth dragon-like sky black lightning strikes descend down from the sky coiling and emitting a fearsome aura, they descend down in a blink of an eye heading towards the spear.

All of the black lightning strikes bite each part of the spear trying to hold it in place.

But unlike Rex and Devo's expectations the spear kept moving with only little sign of getting slow, this makes the lightning mana inside of Rex pulsate to his arms before he injects all of it into the eight dragon-like sky black lightning strikes.

It noticeably got slower but the spear had already reached right in front of him.

Just like before Devo has already moved from his spot and used his body to block the incoming spear, the restrain on his body seems to be weaker than the one restraining rex in place. Behind him, Rex already created a red force barrier that is even stronger with the Ethos.

Devo puts both of his hands in front of him trying to stop the spear,

In the first couple of seconds, he surprisingly manages to stop the spear from advancing forward, but in the next moment, his hands started cracking as his physical form crumbles.

Not long after the initial cracks, Devo's entire body shatters into spirit energy.

With Devo out of the way, the spear advances once more and clashes with the red force barrier.

For an attack to not only break a ninth-rank Awakened interception but also still enough power to pierce a powerful spirit just like Devo, it's definitely no ordinary attack that comes from a nobody.

The black charcoal demon surrounded by blue fire demonic energy should be a bigshot.

BOOM!

"Rrggghh...!!", Rex puts everything that he got into the red force that is slowly cracking under the spear, even with the addition of red force, pure brace of moonlight skill, and lunar blessing the spear still overpowers him.

Looking back, he saw Adhara and Evelyn are still in the vicinity, "Get out of here, I can't hold it any longer!", Rex shouted hurriedly.

Hearing Rex's command, both of them stood up and leaped away from the place.

Adhara and Evelyn were surprised to see that they need to jump back more seeing the ground around them are also cracking, and the entirety of the cliff started crumbling.

Without anything to step on, Rex won't be able to defend against the spear.

Just as the last ground that he can step on crumbles, Rex has already managed to conjure dozens of black lightning tentacles that he used not to grab the spear but support his feet and also his back to keep resisting the spear.

Even with all of that, he's still getting pushed back little by little.

Spear weapons are very powerful weapons that can also be used as a throwing javelin, it's a master of piercing amongst the wide variety of tools of war which is why this happened.

Despite everything, the spear can still drill into the red force barrier slowly.

Rex gritted his teeth trying everything he can as he got slowly pushed back little by little, his eyes then dilated seeing the opening crack on the red force barrier and that alone is enough to make him activate his berserker's curse skill and put his hands in front of the spear.

His hand doesn't manage to touch the spear but he can touch the compressed energy on the tip.

While this is all happening, Evelyn and Adhara watch from the side and saw the struggle between Rex and the spear that send a powerful gust of wind each second this continues.

But both of their eyes widen seeing the palm of Rex's hands getting drilled by the spear.

Slowly a hole takes form on Rex's palm that is stacked against one another, the flesh and bones got pierced gruesomely despite putting his all, 'T-This is not just an eighth rank power!', he screamed inside his head.

Just from how powerful the attack really is, there's no doubt it comes from a ninth-rank Demon.

Realizing this the doubt in Denzel's expression becomes clear as this attack is not just an eighth-rank attack but a rank that is on the same ground as him, it even manages to went past him.

The gust of wind created by the spear scrapes the surrounding ground and turns them into nothingness.

Its power is catastrophic.

While Rex desperately tries to resist the domination of the spear, he doesn't have any other choice except for turning into his Werewolf form. But just as he was about to do that, "Arggh!!", the spear manage to dig an inch into his chest.

But then suddenly, "What are you doing?!"

Out of nowhere, Adhara and Evelyn force their way in through the gust of wind.

Although they are not in anywhere near the level of power that is displayed in front of them, they are not utterly useless as they both are sixth rank Awakened with a powerful spirit.

Without replying to Rex, both of them readies themselves.

PSSHH!!

In one go, Evelyn and Adahra reach for the spear that is starting to tear their arms apart.

Baring their respective spirits on their backs and amplifying their bodies with spirit energy, Evelyn and Adhara helped Rex fight off the spear that is still spinning relentlessly.

With the addition of their strength, the spear is pushed back a little.

Veins all over their bodies are bulging with power as their bodies try to exert as much strength to the utmost limit, they can feel that with just a little bit of strength they can stop the spear's powerful momentum.

Rex suddenly got enlightenment in the midst of the desperate situation,

Aooou!!

With one clear thing in mind, Rex howls that don't sound as overbearing as he used to before out of nowhere there's a figure slowly materializing not far from him. It was Gistella.

Gistella's eyes widen when she realized what is happening in front of her.

'System! Bestow Gistella with Berserker's Curse skill!', Rex shouted inside his head.

<Checking Battle Prowess Hierarchy...>

<Gistella is ranked number 1!>

<Bestowing the Berserker's Curse skill...>

<Completed!>

Just after the rows of notifications from the system appeared, information about the Berserker's Curse skill suddenly enters Gistella's mind as she also got enlightenment in the form of a skill.

Without needing Rex to tell her what to do, Gistella already activates the berserker's skill.

A red crescent moon symbol appears on Gistella's forehead amplifying her strength by a notch, her body is also got covered with bronze scales before she dives through the gust of wind and grabs the spear too just like what Evelyn and Adhara are doing.

"RAARGHH!!"

Rex shouted giving one last push after gathering all of the power in every inch of his body.

Since they got the addition of Gistella's seventh rank power that is amplified by the Berserker's Curse and bronze scales, the spear started to get pushed back little by little until suddenly,

Clang!

The friction from the clash of energies tilts the spear before it got flung away.

SWOOSH!

Despite the power they exerted, they only manage to change the course of the spear before it flew to the back and stab the ground not far from him. All of them breathe easily again with shredded and bloodied hands.

In the midst of his heavy breaths, Rex looks up to the sky, 'So this is the difference...'

'The difference between me and a ninth rank Awakened or Supernatural, I still need to get way stronger than I currently am', he thought while clenching his fists tiredly.
