Chapter 611 Brigitta's Warning

"Everybody stand down until further instruction! Quickly takes cover too!"

Realizing that the people heading in the Ruined Vampire Stronghold direction were none other than Rex's group, Brigitta commanded the military men and Awakened to keep their weapons down and lay low for a bit.

Despite still feeling that it was a bit unbelievable, she was not taking any chances.

Out of the people here, there are only a couple of them that can sustain an outburst of energy from a ninth-rank realm entity, only the eighth-rank realm Awakened and above can sustain it. Brigitta doesn't want any more casualties after reading the letter she gets from Denzel.

Upon hearing the instruction, everyone instantly went to hiding without any question.

Slowly glowing and sparkling wind gathers around Brigitta's lower body before she slowly got lifted off of the wall, she flew above the Ruined Vampire Stronghold before she points her palm and chanted, "Ultimate Spell, Protection of Zephys..."

Instantly after she chanted that, a gust of wind swirls and engulfs the entire stronghold.

From the outside, all that can be seen through was nothing but the wind that keeps on circling around chaotically almost like a dome of a tornado. Not even a glimpse of the Ruined Vampire Stronghold can be seen from outside, 'With this, they should be safe if something really did happen...'

Brigitta then trains her glowing green eyes forward as her blonde hair flutters by the wind.

Looking at the five approaching figures that are sticking tightly to each other, she slowly heads over them before descending from the sky. Even though she knows that Rex is a killer, his reasoning is justified, heck she would've done the same thing.

Even though the news of a million dead hurt her, she already got her orders.

Out of everything she is, she was not the one taking the hard decisions here. Sebrof was the one taking on that role. If Sebrof told her to stand down then he must've already thought it through, and Brigitta will not act on impulse knowing that.

Swoosh!

Just like a fairy beloved by the wind, Brigitta landed on the ground elegantly.

Upon seeing that someone is blocking their way, Rex and the others stopped a distance away from Brigitta while wearing unfriendly expressions. Since they just left a rigorous battle, they are still burning on the inside, especially Rex.

~

A moment before, Kyran disappears into the darkness intending to leave.

But right before he left he suddenly sensed something thrown on the side near Zero's corpse, he wanted to look at the item but his entire body is giving him danger signals. Kyran went stiff but he finds the energy coming from the item felt familiar.

'It feels like Adhara's energy...'

Knowing that it will be trouble if used against them, Kyran decided to retrieve the item.

Without Edward, Giana, and even Sebrof realizing, Kyran maneuvered around them and approaches the item lying on the ground. None of them sensed him due to their chaotic senses right now after fighting a devastating battle against Rex.

Kyran didn't try to touch the item and instead control his dark element to grab a hold of the item.

Holding his breath, fearing that he might get injured, the dark element grabs the item.

Upon feeling that the dark element managed to grab the item without hurting him, Kyran smiled in relief before he finally left the place, heading over to Rex that clearly went over to where his parents' corpses lie.

Kyran's dark element proves to be perfect in this situation as nobody realized what he has done.

On the other side of the place, Rex stopped a distance away from the corpses.

Despite the urge of wanting to kill everyone in the entire vicinity still blazing inside of him, he realized that he has killed so many people already, blood already decorated wherever his eyes gazes onto. So he decided to stop, for now.

But even then, Giana and Sebrof still need to pay the price. They definitely will, but not now.

Rex would need to do something first before killing both of them, it will be his very first step into a new path. Now that he doesn't want to have any connection with either the Supernatural or Humanity, he would need to prepare himself to step into the abyss.

Until he has done the deeds, he would not kill Sebrof and Giana.

Aside from that, Rex also feels uncomfortable leaving his parent's corpses sprawling on the ground.

Since they were killed in cold blood by the hands of an Awakened that was fancied as the heroes or saviors of humanity, Rex doesn't want his parent's corpses to be left in the cold. Out of everything that happened, they need to be buried as soon as possible.

Letting them be like that would be him disrespecting his own parent, and he doesn't want that.

Just like having his heart broken all over again, his steps become heavy as he approaches his mother's corpse which is lying on the ground beautifully, especially with the slight smile on her face. It was beautiful but wrong at the same time.

With all the power he had within him that puts him at the very top of power.

Even with the insurmountable amount of power that makes him one of the ninth-rank realm entities in the current era, Rex's arms trembled as he lifted his mother's corpse. It feels very heavy, he handled her corpse with great care.

Upon looking at her, Rex's breath becomes heavy again as the anger resurfaced.

But he has already made his decision and the only thing he needed to do right now is get out of humanity's territory, he can't stand being inside here. Rex feels very tight around his chest the longer he stayed here.

Glancing over to Robert's corpse, Rex paused as he looks back at his mother's corpse again.

Upon seeing this from the back, Adhara instantly knows what Rex was thinking and instantly heads over to Robert's corpse and carries it carefully. It's clear to her that Rex doesn't want to put their corpses inside the inventory of the system.

The inventory is used to put varieties of items or objects, and his parent's corpses are not items.

Rex refrains from putting them in the inventory because of that, and it seems Adhara catches on quickly as she turns to look at Rex and said, "Let me carry him. Don't worry, I'll handle him with care just like if I'm carrying my own father's corpse"

Despite his broken state, Rex nodded his head in affirmation.

"Are you two sure you would follow me? If you do then there won't be any path back", Rex asks.

Although he was looking at the destruction he caused in front of him while saying this, Adhara and Kyran know that this question is meant for them. Flunra and Gistella are Supernaturals, they have no other choice but to follow Rex.

Upon hearing this, Kyran and Adhara nodded their heads with a smile.

"What else are we going to do? We've been through so much and we would definitely follow you no matter what your decision is", Adhara replied lightly, there was not even a thought of leaving Rex despite what he did.

In fact, she wanted him to be like this, humanity is just not worth it in her opinion.

Following Adhara's statement, Kyran also nodded his head and added, "Just like we all said, we're family. We're going to go through anything together, even if that means leaving humanity"

Listening to their answers with a blank expression, Rex then nodded his head.

But when he was about to signal for them to leave, Kyran suddenly vanishes and reappear behind him and grab his arm. Rex glanced at him but saw Kyran leaning to his ear, "I got something from Zero's corpse, but I think it's better for you to hold on to it. Don't look at it though"

Upon hearing this Rex frowns, he nodded his head before he holds out his hand.

Immediately after that Kyran takes out something from the darkness that made Rex's eyes widen, he's not looking at it but he knows exactly what it is. Knowing that the others are on his back, he immediately puts the item into the inventory.

Rex glanced back at Kyran before he said, "You did good, it's good that you take this with you"

Since he puts the item into the inventory after seeing a glimpse of it very quickly, the others at the back didn't realize the item. The only thing they felt was a cold breeze that gave them goosebumps, that's it.

With that out of the way, Rex leads them to head out of humanity's territory.

~

Back to the present,

Brigitta landed right in front of Rex and the others with her glowing green eyes gazing at them, she kept her eyes trained forward for a couple of uncomfortable seconds. What catches her eyes the most was the two corpses Rex and Adhara are carrying.

From that alone she knows that the letter was true, those corpses should be Rex's parents.

Since the entire ordeal is still pressuring him, Rex's patience thinned quicker as he said with a warning tone, "Nice spell... but those people inside that wind dome, do you really think they would be safe from me in a couple of seconds if you keep on standing in our way?"

"Move or you'll end up in a worse state than Giana and Sebrof..."

Upon hearing this, Brigitta clicks her tongue as she got ignited by that remarks.

Calming herself down with a deep breath, Brigitta then replied, trying her best to hide the anger in her tone, "Don't misunderstand my intention, I'm not here trying to block you from leaving. In fact, I was told to not block your way and let you go"

"I'm just here to warn you...", she added and paused,

Rex tilted his head to the side a little upon hearing this, he exposes his nasty expression anticipating the worst, "Warn me? I don't need to hear your empty threats. Do you really think you can take me on when Giana and Sebrof failed to do so?"

"Tell me one good reason why I shouldn't attack you and kill everyone right now"

Clenching both of her fists tightly, Brigitta looks down for a couple of seconds before she lifted her face to look at Rex once more, "Because the Supernaturals are planning something outside, you've helped Humanity a great bunch so I'm warning you out of the kindness of my heart. It's up to you to heed my warning or not"

After saying that, Brigitta turns around and flew away back to the stronghold.

But Rex on the other hand paused, he now realizes that the Supernaturals must sense his fight earlier with Sebrof and Giana. It's catastrophic and he refuses to believe that the Supernaturals are not going to do anything knowing that fight.

Despite wanting to ask Brigitta about the Supernaturals, his ego wouldn't let him.

Just from a glance at his expression, Adhara saw through him easily as she stepped to the side and gives Robert's corpse to Kyran. Stepping to Rex's side, she holds his hand for a moment and said, "It's okay, let me ask her. If the Supernaturals are trying to do something, we need to know and prepare to fight them"

Nodding his head, Adhara then heads over to Brigitta that is above the wind dome.

Flunra also follows after her as he knows more about the Supernaturals compared to anyone here. If the Supernaturals are trying something, then he can help decipher what are they planning so he needed to come.

Upon nearing the wind dome, Adhara and Flunra gaze up at Brigitta.

"Why are you still here, go on. Get out of our territory", Brigitta said sternly with her sharp gaze.

Knowing that Brigitta was hurt by Rex's taunt earlier, Adhara sighs before she replied, "We want to know how you know the Supernaturals are planning something, the sooner you tell us the sooner we leave your territory"

Brigitta scoffed before she points to the side, over the Great Barricade.

Wanting to check what was she pointing at, Adhara went to her Werewolf form before both of them started climbing the Great Barricade. It takes them a moment to claw their way through to the top of the Great Barricade but they eventually got there.

Arriving at the top, both of them look over to the other side before they frown.

Nothing seems out of the ordinary based on a glance, but before they can ask Brigitta already open a little bit of the tornado covering the stronghold and instructed the military men to fire the missile launcher once again. Adhara and Flunra watch the missiles travel through the sky.

But after about a mile away, all of the missiles exploded as if they hits something.

Upon seeing the throbbing barrier that spans very wide, Flunra can't help but frown and so does Adhara that also saw this happening. It's clear that the normal scenery of the forest on the other side was nothing but a facade.

"All of the Supernaturals retreated a moment ago, I think they're expecting all of you to come out"

Chapter 612 Your Demise Has Arrived!

Brigitta told both of them what she thought about the situation outside.

Out of her career as an Awakened that has experienced many kinds of fights, she learned that the Supernaturals rarely retreated if not for knowing that they will lose too much of their forces and the instance of them doing that can be counted on one hand.

Unlike humans, the Supernaturals have always been involved in a battle to the death.

Negotiations or parley was always present since the dawn of modern human times, it will prevent them from having to lose too much and avoid a bloodied war. But for Supernaturals, their fight has always been the survival of their race.

Due to that, Supernaturals have always been loyal and listened to their leaders without a question.

Seeing that the entire Supernaturals that are keeping a lookout of the Ruined Vampire Stronghold retreat in an orderly manner, then the leaders must tell them that. In addition to that, the weird barrier is already enough reason that they are plotting something.

Although there's a chance that they're preparing to reclaim the stronghold, Brigitta doubts that.

With the catastrophic fight that she even felt all the way from the Great Barricade, it's clear that the Supernaturals have already sensed it too, and wanted to do something. If they wanted to attack humanity then they could've gone through the Demon Stronghold.

But they aren't going there which means they're waiting for Rex due to some unknown reasons.

Gazing at the miles-wide invisible barrier that becomes visible for a brief moment due to the missiles exploding, Adhara frowned as there was no doubt that the Supernaturals are onto something. It's dangerous to go out blindly especially knowing that the possibility of a trap is very high.

On the other side, Flunra squinted his eyes while exerting his senses beyond the usual limit.

Looking at the visible ripples created by the exploding missiles on the invisible barrier, Flunra can vaguely notice some clue about the perpetrator of this weird barrier, "I don't think the barrier is only made by one energy, there are at least two casters that combined their power together to create this. Both of them are very strong, possibly two Kings"

"Two Kings? Then how can we go through them?", Adhara asks in concern, they can't take that on.

Since it was sunny with the sun above their heads, Flunra can't gather much moonlight energy through his ancient runes. But he still has one ancient rune that is perfect for this moment, it also doesn't need much moonlight energy.

Cutting his palm and staining the tip of his index fingernail with blood, he created an ancient rune.

While this is all happening Brigitta is watching from the side with her eyes fixated on Adhara who is now in her white Werewolf form, she has never seen a Werewolf like Adhara. More than that, she also never saw an actual human turning into a Supernatural.

Back during the Demonic Cities, the human-turned-demon is already in its demon form.

Looking exactly at the process of Adhara turning into her Werewolf form is still quite a shock for Brigitta, but in the next second, the ancient rune Flunra draws started to glow slowly. It takes about ten seconds before enough energy was gathered.

"What are you doing?", Adhara asks curiously, she was a bit fascinated by these ancient runes.

Upon hearing this Flunra kept channeling the rune while he answered, "It's called the Neutral Rune, the very first rune that needed to be learned back in my era. It converts any energy into neutral energy, and upon making contact with the energy it can also turn into that said energy"

Although Adhara was still confused about it, Flunra only added, "You'll see in a bit..."

Just as enough moonlight energy converted into neutral energy, Flunra punch the rune that is carved in the space in front of him before shooting a small beam of grey energy. It travels decently fast, heading to the invisible barrier.

Swoosh!

The three of them watches the beam fly away before it shattered upon hitting the barrier.

Despite happening for a very brief moment Adhara caught the neutral energy splashes and turns into red and black for a few seconds, she frowned and recognize the red energy, "One is Blood Energy, but I don't know what the other one is"

"Death energy, the other one is death energy used by the Undead", Flunra replied with a frown.

From that exchange alone they now know that the caster of the weird barrier is the Vampire and the Undead, both are an expert in using spells compared to the other races that lean more toward physical power like the Shapeshifters and Werewolves.

Upon doing that, Flunra and Adhara saw many figures come out of the weird barrier.

Since they now know that the caster of the barrier is the Vampire and the Undead, they frown once again seeing the Supernatural that came out of the barrier was not Vampires or Undead. In fact, none of them are Vampires or Undead.

What came out of the weird barrier were Werewolves, Demons, and Succubuses.

These Supernaturals came out of the weird barrier and just stood a step away from the weird barrier with a gap of about 10 feet from each other, and these Supernaturals spans miles wide. One Supernatural can be seen every 10 feet.

Even with them trying to decipher what they were doing, they really can't think of anything.

But there's a huge chance that these Supernaturals are aiming at Rex for some reason, there's no other explanation aside from that. It's too much of a coincidence for the Supernaturals to do this when Rex was about to leave humanity's territory.

"Let me check just if there's any path to avoid them", Flunra said before he dashed away.

Upon seeing Flunra dashing away, spriting through the wall of the Great Barricade, Rex gave his mother's corpse to Gistella before he jumped onto the wall. It took him one powerful leap to reach the top of the Great Barricade walls which is a feat of its own.

Landing on the wall, Rex then glanced at Adhara and asks, "What's going on?"

Knowing that they need to make a plan if they are going to leave humanity's territory and survive, Adhara decided to explain everything to Rex starting from what Brigitta said earlier and the tests done by Flunra that concludes the Vampire and the Undead are the ones creating this weird barrier.

Rex looks to the front and saw Supernaturals lining up near the weird barrier acting as a lookout.

But while he was looking at these Supernaturals that are clad in battle armor, anticipating a fight, the Whiro Necklace of Fear reacted as he saw a bleak aura coming out of every single Supernatural that lined up neatly.

"They're scared of something...", Rex mutters lightly which piqued Adhara's attention.

Since most of the Supernaturals that are lined up are wearing battle helmets, she can't see what kind of expression these Supernaturals are wearing. Even with her ability to see an emotional aura, these Supernaturals are emitting a grey aura which means uncertain.

It's hard for her to decipher that the grey aura means that they're fearful.

Upon hearing this Adhara frowned and asks, "What are they scared of? Are they scared of you?"

"No, I don't think so. But there was no doubt that they were scared of something, I can see it clearly", Rex replied while trying to look around, searching for their source of fear to no avail. Flunra didn't take long to come back, checking the weird barrier.

Looking at Rex who is already on the wall, he then said, "I don't think we can avoid them"

"If we want to leave humanity's territory and dwell inside the Supernatural territory, we need to go through them. I don't see any other way except to fight, but there's a chance that the Kings are beyond that weird barrier waiting for you", he added, sharing his side of the situation.

Rex's expression darkens as the Supernaturals are slowly getting on his nerves.

With his parents hasn't buried yet he can't stay here for long and create a plan to go through this problem, but going in blindly would've been too dangerous even for him since his body is tolled and his Banished Dark Moon King Mark is deactivated.

From all the way the journey to here, he was trying to talk with the Countess but got no reply.

Even when he was trying to ask the Kaiser about this, there was no answer. It's like they purposefully left him in the dark and expect him to deal with it himself, but then again he can't argue with them since they are the ones giving him power.

Now that he looks back at the Supernaturals once again, he realized they are very bold.

Although they were clearly setting up a trap in order to aim for him, they don't even try to hide the fact that the weird barrier is a trap set for him. It's like they knew that Rex would need to leave humanity's territory without a doubt.

But then out of nowhere, a notification from the system appeared.

<Sudden Quest!>

<Survive the Inevitable Trap!>

The user wanted to leave humanity's territory ever since the user's parents were killed by other Awakened, but the user meets an obstacle that prevents the user to leave humanity's territory once and for all. Survive and go through the trap set by the Supernaturals!

Quest Reward: 300,000,000,000 Exp, 1,000,000 Gold, King of Kings Passive Skill.

Upon reading this notification from the system, Rex's eyes were fixated on the word 'Inevitable' which implies that whatever he does, he would not be able to escape the trap set by the Supernaturals.

Knowing that he needs a plan, Rex decided to gather more information.

With nothing but a chant he creates an illusion of himself made of lunar light, he then commanded the illusion to at the very least go through the weird barrier and check inside. The four of them including Brigitta watch the illusion dash straight to the barrier quickly.

It didn't take long for it to reach the weird barrier.

Many Supernaturals try to stop the illusion as they are engaged in a fight, but the illusion proves to be stronger and more agile as it managed to slip past them and went inside the weird barrier with one powerful dash.

Crash!

But instantly after that, the illusion shattered and was sent back to Rex.

Rex then frowns upon receiving the information he got from the illusion, 'How could there be three of them inside? It seems they are trying to kill me very much, but why are they doing this? I just injured two ninth-rank realms Awakened, shouldn't they thank me for that?'

Out of everything, he never expected that there are three ninth-rank Supernatural inside.

Although the illusion only got inside briefly he can feel three ninth-rank Supernatural, one from the Demon race, one is King Baralt, and the last one from the Succubus race. It was surprising that three of them gathered here just to wait for him.

From the top of his head, he can't find any reason why they're this desperate in trying to kill him.

'Just what are they afraid of? or are they just trying to pay me back for what I did to the Vampire Stronghold?', many questions popped inside his head that he didn't have the answer to, and this made Rex silent on his spot.

The others are waiting for his instruction patiently, Adhara and Flunra also don't have an answer.

Rex went silent for a couple of minutes before he glanced at Brigitta at the side, his eyes shows resoluteness after that brief ponder, "Three ninth-rank realms Supernatural are gathered here for me, Demon, Succubus, and Werewolf Kings are here. My advice for you is to attack the Demon Stronghold right now"

Even though it sounded like he still cares for humanity, he wasn't.

Since there is no other choice except to fight his way through this trap set by the Supernatural, Rex needed somekind of distraction so the Supernaturals are not going to be focusing too much on him which will increase his winning probability.

"What are you going to do?", Brigitta asked, surprised by the sudden advice.

Looking at the Supernaturals and the weird barrier at the far distance, Rex summoned his Amuerus Katana in response to the question, "I'm going to carve a path through them of course, if they wanted to fight then I'll give them hell"

But just as he said that Rex's eyes widened when he feels something wrapping around his ankle.

Upon looking down to his right ankle, Rex saw a blue flaming chain wrapping around his ankle. Training his eyes back to the front, he saw a black demon coming out of the weird barrier with the blue chains in its hands.

Not only that, but the energy coming from that black demon is definitely in the ninth-rank realm.

Everyone paused for a second realizing that there was a blue flaming chain wrapping around Rex's ankle, but in the next second the black demon roared from quite a distance away while pulling the blue flaming chain, "Royal Black Werewolf! Your demise has arrived!"

"No! Rex!", Adhara shouted when she saw Rex get pulled off of the Great Barricade's wall.

Chapter 613 Be Prepared To Be Killed!

Crash!

Rex was caught off guard by the blue flaming chains that went through the wall and surprise him from below, the heat coming from the chains is hot enough that it can melt the wall easily. It was the heat straight from hell, equivalent to a ninth-rank realm aura.

With one pull from the blue flaming chains, he falls down from the wall of the stronghold.

From the side Adhara tries to stretch her arm out intending to reach out for him but fell short, she didn't manage to catch Rex's arm as he falls from the stronghold's wall. But he didn't just let himself be pulled down by the blue flaming chains.

Turning his hands into claws, Rex stabbed the wall to stop him from falling down.

Crack!

"Rrgghh!", Rex groaned as he tries to fight back the pulling force of the blue flaming chains, he looked down at the blue flaming chains but his eyes caught the ground beneath him cracked with blue lava flowing out.

It was no doubt that it was the Blue Demon's doing, there was no one else.

Even though he was still a good 600 feet above the ground, holding onto the wall with his claws, the heat coming from the blue lava already waves and burns his entire body. It feels like he was being cooked like an animal.

Although he was still strong enough to fight the pulling force, the stronghold's wall was not.

Crumbling under the power struggle between two ninth-rank realm entities, Rex got pulled down by the blue flaming chains into the crack of blue lava. But before he was plunged into the blue lava, he already turned back into his Werewolf form once again.

Psshhh!

Growl!

Rex growled as he can feel his skin melting, his knee-down was submerged in blue lava.

Just like being plunged into a combination of quicksand and mud, Rex finds it hard to pull himself out of the blue lava since there's nothing to hold onto. Not stopping at that, two other chains burst from the ground and wrapped around both of his wrists.

Under the grip of the blue flaming chains and blue lava, Rex was trapped in his spot.

Lifting his head up to gaze forward he saw the blue ninth-rank demon alongside what seemed to be another demon but this one should be a female, the pink aura surrounding this demon is comparable to the blue demon.

Rex can't mistake this female demon, the sudden sensation of pain shows exactly what she is.

A succubus, must be the Queen of the Succubus.

Both of them are looking at Rex with their overbearing presence that emits a huge amount of killing intent, he can understand why the blue demon wants him but he has only messed with the succubus one time.

Even though he killed a decent amount of succubus and incubus, they shouldn't be the case.

Most of the succubus he killed before only have below sixth-rank realm power, it's not a reason enough for the Queen of the Succubus, Queen Catsha to be having this much killing intent towards him.

Just as he inspected the two, his eyes dilated seeing the invisible barrier starting to move.

Rex didn't actually see the invisible barrier moving but more like he sensed the invisible barrier moving towards him and also moving very fast. Crossing both of his arms in front of him, he feels the air suddenly change before he slowly lowered his arms.

Swoosh!

Immediately as his eyes opened, he was greeted by a very shocking scene.

What was nothing but desolate land has turned completely into the embodiment of the deepest floor of hell itself, lava and fire encompass everything his eyes see. It spans miles and even scorches the trees that mark the start of the Supernatural territory.

Turns out the inside of the invisible barrier hides this hellish place that has been prepared.

Not only the two ninth-rank realm demons but thousands upon thousands of Supernaturals followed behind them, there are many types of them starting from the blue demons, red demons, succubus, incubus, and even Werewolves.

Each one of them is clad in battle armor showing that they were here for nothing but to fight.

Most of the Werewolves are wearing the same ring that protected them from the volcanic terrain, and they are also covered with a subtle kingly moonlight energy belonging to the Super Moon. Rex squinted his eyes as he can feel his kingly moonlight energy resonate with the unknown kingly moonlight energy.

But soon enough a figure leaped to the sky and landed in front of the army of Supernaturals.

Boom!

Landing on one knee the figure slowly stands up while exposing its entire body, the bluish thick furs covering its entire body from top to bottom, the humongous body two times the size of Rex himself, and the glowing King Mark on its forehead shows that this figure is no doubt a Werewolf.

Another King of Werewolf, beloved by the Super Moon. King Baralt.

King Baralt gazes forward with his ferocious blue eyes that were filled with authority, he was wearing royal-plated armor with the Werewolf crest the shape of baring fangs on the chest plate. But he grabbed the armor with his claws before ripping them off of his body.

Upon stripping his armor, King Baralt's body which is filled with scars is exposed clearly.

Muscle on top of muscle filled the inside of his body, battle scars from the countless battles he has already gone through covered every corner of his body, and his ferocious mouth filled with ferocious fangs is trembling in anger.

Opening up his arms to the side whilst exposing his torso, King Baralt roared powerfully.

ROAR!!

Following that thunderous roar was his kingly energy that exploded, creating a shockwave that literally peel the ground destructively. It went on further until it hits Rex but was blocked by the kingly moonlight energy from his King Mark.

Resonating with his roar, the Werewolves behind also howled in response.

With the sheer numbers they had, their howls coupled with King Baralt's roars quake the ground.

After showing his dominance as a Werewolf that has also been accepted by a Full Moon, King Baralt looks at the trapped Rex before he pointed forward, "We meet at last, Royal Black Werewolf! Today is the day I show the Origin that he's mistaken!!"

"We thanked you, Werewolf Prince. But your existence is too dangerous...", Queen Catsha added.

Rubbing her plump lips with her demonic claws, Queen Catsha gazes at Rex with a playful grin before she continues, "It's the end of the line for you, little stray Werewolf. If I'd known you earlier, I would've wanted to have you for myself, but it's too late now"

Upon hearing this, Rex cracks a nasty grin while scanning the armies gathered before him.

"Did you prepare all of this for me...? Such an honor for me to be ambushed by three powerful figures such as the three of you, and also an army of thousands of Supernatural. I see that you've taken me quite seriously", he said without a hint of fear at all.

Even without the Dual King Mark, he still doesn't feel any fear of this kind of sight.

Maybe due to the fact that he has already lost so many of the people that he loved, his feeling has already turned numb. Instead of giving him fear, this kind of sight makes him exhilarated as a smile appeared on his face, embracing the army of Supernaturals prepared to kill him.

But then the blue demon, Azzen then added, "Surrender your life, don't make this hard on yourself"

"I can feel the sorrow inside of you, you now have nothing to fight for and have been exiled by the humans. Your heart is empty and alone, it's best for you to do as our demand so that your misery in this world end", he added, proposing a peaceful death.

Unlike what he had expected, Rex started laughing out loud like a lunatic.

Rex's eyes then bulged upon hearing this and his smile turns into a maniacal one, he was exhausted completely but the sight of these Supernaturals fueled him with power. With his increasing power, the blue flaming chains started to make steely sounds.

Sensing the increasing power, Azzen moved quickly and threw a black spear straight at Rex.

SWOOSH!

It was an attack just like before, Rex and the others has met with Azzen before and he was struggling to stop this particular attack. But now with the power coursing inside of him, Rex should fare much better than before.

With the power of his King Mark, his current self would definitely be able to deflect this attack.

As the blue fire twirls like a hurricane around the spear and was about to reach him, a couple of shadows dashed from above before a huge barrier composed of different kinds of energies appeared and blocks the spear.

KABOOM!

Upon the spear's impact, a powerful shockwave was created cracking the barrier instantly.

Despite the combination of different energies that are composing the barrier, the spear thrown by a ninth-rank realm demon like Azzen almost obliterates it instantly. This made Azzen lift his chin in confidence, knowing that his spear will go through.

Out of nowhere, his armor was grabbed as he was pulled to the side.

King Baralt's feral eyes gaze right into Azzen's blue fiery eyes with a fit of obvious anger, he clenched his teeth strongly before he said in a harsh tone, "I told you before that Rex is mine to kill, you demons are supposed to watch from the side as I battled him!!"

"It's better to end it fast, letting him get angrier will just be a foolish move", Azzen replied calmly.

Adding to their conversation from the side, Queen Catsha covers her mouth and chuckled sweetly looking at King Baralt's childish behavior, "We've battled Werewolves for thousands of years, King Baralt. It's a golden rule to not give a chance to a Werewolf and let it become angry"

Gritting his teeth strongly, King Baralt pushed Azzen back roughly.

"That's right, but you forgot that I'm also a Werewolf. Even if he becomes angry and gets stronger, I also can do the same", King Baralt said with a gruesome smile, but then suddenly a wave of energy hits them which caught them by surprise.

The three of them looked back to the side and finds Azzen's spear being pushed back.

Upon seeing this Azzen was a little bit surprised as that throw is one of his favorite attacks and it's very powerful, so looking at it being pushed back makes him frown a little. But in the next second, the spear got flung away to the side as the barrier expanded.

CLANG!

With the spear out of the way and the wave of energy receded, the three saw a couple of figures.

Even though Rex's legs are still trapped by the lava pool and his hands are wrapped by two blue flaming chains, the spear got sent crashing away before dispersing back into demonic energy. Turns out there are a couple of figures standing in front of him.

Out of the four figures, three of them are Werewolves while one of them is human.

Adhara, Gistella, Flunra, and Kyran didn't just stay idle in the safety of the barrier covering the Great Barricade, the four of them jumped down from the stronghold's wall to aid their Alpha who is engulfed by the invisible weird barrier.

From the outside of the invisible barrier, they can't see what's happening.

But knowing that Rex was in trouble with three ninth-rank realms Supernatural inside the invisible energy, they didn't even hesitate to jump down after entrusted Rex's parent corpses on the wall under the watch of Brigitta.

With the situation going on, it's unlikely for Brigitta to do anything to the corpses.

Exerting every ounce of their strength they managed to block an attack from Azzen, it was mostly thanks to Flunra that helped immensely using his ancient rune. But the others also contributed just the same, not wanting Rex to feel alone.

"If you want to kill our Alpha, then you have to go through us"

Standing in the very front of the others, Adhara declared bearing her full energy completely.

Even King Baralt was surprised to see that he was a little bit influenced by her energy, the Proxy of the White Omicron. Since Flunra and the others were taken down by Rex in their fight before, none of them managed to report back to King Baralt about Adhara's race.

Now that he saw it first-hand, King Baralt frowned as she will influence the other Werewolves.

Following Adhara's lead, the others also stand in front of Rex, their eyes are unfearful even with the massive armies that look like a colony of ants in their eyes. It was so massive that they should've felt horrified, but they were not.

With Rex on their backs, they know that somehow they will go through this.

It was the trust they had in Rex.

Upon seeing this Rex was stunned for a couple of seconds, forgetting the fact that he still has the others with him. Out of nowhere, red kingly energy gathered to his King Mark amplifying his power before the blue flaming chains snapped.

Clang!

Rex then burst with power before he jumps out of the lava pool and lands beside Adhara.

Just for a second Rex looks at Adhara and gets a nod from her, it made his heart feel at ease for a moment before he looks back at the army of Supernaturals, "Humans... Supernaturals... I don't know why but everyone wants to kill me now. But don't think that this is going to be a walk in the park"

"If you want to kill someone, then you have to be prepared to be killed. And trust me, even if I go down I'm taking many of you down with me...", Rex added before his thick killing intent flowed out that sent a shiver straight at the hearts of his enemies.

Chapter 614 War In Hell (1)

Rex declared overbearingly with his eyes fixated on the three ninth-rank realm entities leading the army of Supernaturals, his statement is straight-on and vivid to these powerful entities. It made their eyebrows knitted together, as they can feel that the statement was not an empty threat.

Circulating his kingly energy, the King Mark on Rex's forehead glows even more intensely.

With his murderous eyes looking straight at the army of death that has gathered to kill him, Rex feels his throat start to burn as he looks up to the sky that has been covered by hellish flames filled with demonic energy.

Slowly his horns also glow red before he opens his mouth and howls at the top of his lungs.

Aooouuu!!

A powerful shockwave of energy expanded for miles, it was an act of intimidation showing that he was not afraid of the army that has been gathered before him. Responding to the howl, the others are also forced into their Werewolf form as they resonate their howls with Rex's.

Kyran and Gistella turned into their Werewolf form, with the exception of Flunra.

Back when Rex turned Flunra into a Werewolf he decided the punishment for Flunra was to not be able to turn into his Werewolf form, and because of that, he kept Flunra's race still in the half-Werewolf. Adjusting through the system, he finds that he can do that now.

Out of everyone, he was the only one that stayed the same. But he still howled like the others.

Rex doesn't just howl to show that he was determined to fight against this abomination, he also activates the Silverstar Howl skill to increase the others' powers. It will make them stronger which will be life and death in the face of extreme danger like this.

Looking back at the army of Supernaturals, Rex frowned, trying to hide his concern.

Despite him managing to make the three ninth-rank realm entities to be wary of him judging from their expression right now, he knows that he's not in the best shape to fight since he just fought against Sebrof and Giana.

Even though he really wanted to tear them apart, he needs to be rational.

The sudden quest stated that he needs to only survive this inevitable trap prepared by the Supernaturals, and he wanted to do exactly that. Being confident is good but the difference between it and being foolish is nothing but a thin string.

But then out of nowhere, he heard a thudding sound from the side.

Glancing to the side he finds Kyran falls on both knees while his entire body started steaming with black and blue energy, this caught Rex in surprise until notifications from the system appeared in his vision.

<Kyran Cervantess is asking permission to evolve!>

<Does the user wants to begin Kyran's Evolution Progress?>

Upon reading the notifications, Rex was surprised that Kyran is ready for evolution at the worst time. With the fight seconds away from breaking, it's going to be hard for them to protect Kyran while he's evolving.

Just then, he remembered something, 'System, will the bubble protect him during the process?'

<Yes, members under the user's pack will have an invulnerability barrier applied to them. Until the evolution process ended and the member successfully evolved, the pack member would not be influenced by external factors>

'What about an attack from a ninth-rank realm Supernatural...?', Rex asks shortly.

But the system didn't waste any time and replied almost immediately.

<Nothing in this realm can go through the Invulnerability Barrier>

Rex cracks a grin upon reading this as he doesn't need to worry about Kyran, he will be a great addition to the pack and the battle if he managed to evolve into a unique Werewolf race. By now, Rex already knows that Kyran would turn out great just like the others.

Even Flunra praised the line-up of the Silverstar Pack for having such unique Werewolves.

Coming from an old Werewolf that is basically 100 or even 1000 times older than himself, older than any Supernatural that currently breathing right now, that comment has immense weight on its own.

"What's wrong with Kyran?", Adhara asks in confusion.

Without even glancing at her, Rex then replied with a smile, "Kyran is evolving..."

Immediately after that Kyran's body slowly got engulfed with a barrier and he went unconscious, he would be presented with three options just like Rex and Adhara he would need to pick one. Rex doesn't need to instruct anything to Kyran about the options he would be choosing.

A fight is standing in front of them, and he would definitely pick the best one for this.

Meanwhile, on the side, Flunra watches the army of Supernatural in front of him right now at the end of the hellish plain, he was mesmerized as he has never thought that the Supernatural races would be united like this.

"A fight this big for the current era, this really throws me back", Flunra mutters to himself.

But knowing that he was at the other end of the fight, five against thousands of Supernaturals alongside three ninth-rank realm entities, he knew that he needed to go all out without hiding any of his tricks anymore.

Walking to the side, Flunra engraved an ancient rune on each of the others' bodies.

Rex saw the ancient rune engraved on his shoulder that is the shape of a circle inside a circle, but then a notification from the system appeared immediately after that. It seems this ancient rune is an enhancement rune.

<The user has received Anti-Negative Energy passive skill!>

Upon seeing the confused expression on Rex's face, Flunra then said, "It's an ancient rune that will block some of the negative energy possessed by Supernatural, we all are going to need it if we're going to face that much of Supernaturals"

Looking at the ancient rune engraved on them, Rex and the others nodded their heads.

But then out of nowhere, their attentions were pulled back to the army of Supernaturals, Rex and the others' eyes bear witness to two massive lumps of demonic energies being pulled by two Red Demons that have eighth-rank power.

Just from their different outfit, Rex deduces them as the Enchanters from the Demon Race.

Holding a massive war horn in their hands, the massive lumps of demonic energy got sucked into the war horn like a torrent or whirlpool of energy. Rex can feel even the air getting sucked into the war horn as the aura surrounding the war horn becomes even denser and stronger.

When the demonic energy reaches the boiling limit, the war horn roared thunderously.

Everything in their vision quake under the heavy buzzing sound of the war horn being blown, the gathered demonic energy then exploded and covers the whole army of Supernaturals turning into a red and pink aurora above them.

Slowly the aurora shatters and turns into small particles and falls onto the army of Supernaturals.

Upon receiving the particles of demonic energy that fall onto their bodies, the demons started to roar and shout like a maniac as their power got increased tremendously. It was almost like Rex's Silverstar Howl skill but for the demons.

After the last strand of the small particles created by aurora was absorbed, the air changes.

Rex already scanned the army of Supernaturals when his eyes laid at them first, he finds that this army of Supernaturals has at least the power of a fifth-rank while the strongest is in the eighth-rank realm excluding the three ninth-rank realm entities.

Now that the Enchanters have done their thing, the power shifted immensely.

Each of the Supernatural that has fifth-rank power now reaches the sixth rank, the increase gets weakened the stronger the Supernatural but it still increased their overall power by a huge amount. It's going to be bad for Rex and the others.

Standing with one foot in front while looking at the Supernaturals, Rex's breathing started to pace.

It was not just him but the others also started to breathe rapidly feeling the increasing tension that is choking on them, the brief silence was like a ticking bomb that was about to explode. Everyone started to ready themselves for the start of the battle.

Five against many, the odds are not looking very well for Rex and the others.

But Rex's fearlessness infects the others making their legs hold steady in the face of absolute destruction. Azen and Rex's eyes gaze at each other strongly, their eye contact doesn't break for almost a minute.

With the wind blowing the volcanic heat one last time, Azen flew to the sky and pointed forward.

"Let's see how you fare against us, Royal Black Prince!!"

ROAR!!

GROWL!!

Azen's declaration burns the battle intent inside the Supernaturals as they started roaring mightily, the ground started to tremble as thousands of Supernaturals charged forward with the intention of killing one individual that their leaders wanted to be dead.

Like a tidal wave of death, these Supernaturals charges with no hint of fear.

Knowing the disparity between their powers and the target's power should dissuade them from even trying, but their loyalty to their race is so strong that if by dying they can give information to their leaders then it will be worth dying ten times over.

Coming out of myriads of sizes, these Supernaturals are hungry for blood.

Varying from small ones the size of dogs and cats to huge ones the size of skyscrapers, they charge forward with their energies running rampant to the surroundings. Even though they were weak compared to the Kings and Queens of Supernaturals, the combination of their auras creates a red cloud and can even make the strongest of wills to break.

While the army of Supernaturals approaches from the side, their weight causes lava to shoot up.

Blue and red lavas shoot up from the ground enhancing their catastrophic bearing, some of them are faster than the others and near Rex and the others in a span of a couple of seconds despite the distance between them earlier.

Looking at the approaching army, Rex lowers his stance while his eyes flashed fiercely.

"Adhara aims for the Werewolves, you are their bane and will be effective. Flunra focuses on the Red Demons and the Incubus that are at the frontlines, and Gistella, you try and stay close to the both of them and protect them if they're going to be surrounded", Rex commands swiftly after assessing the entire situation.

Gaining the information from the system, Rex knows exactly how this army of Supernatural fights.

Out of every Supernatural race in existence, he knows Werewolf the most, then Demons and Vampires. Since he has read much information regarding these three races from the system, he knows exactly what to do.

It seems his experiences in fighting them would come in handy right at this moment.

Upon hearing their role in this fight from Rex, the others nodded their heads as they started to go onto their battle stances. But then Adhara glances at Rex briefly and asked, "What about you? What are you going to do?"

"From their line-up, the Succubus and the Blue Demons are going to be the most troublesome"

Knowing that these Succubus and Blue Demons are going to fight from the back and attack them using their ranged spells, Rex knows that they need to be wiped out first in order to make the battle way easier.

If he let them attack from the back then he and the others would be in danger.

While in the heat of the moment everything seemed to slow down as Rex's heart thumped faster as if it wanted to burst out of his chest, this is the first war this size he ever experienced and he can't help but feel nervous about this.

But their lives are on the line and he needs to carve the path for the others to survive.

Glancing at Adhara for a brief moment, Rex smiled a little before his purple eyes started blitzing with his sky black lightning, "I'm going to create chaos in the middle of them, be strong and take out the frontlines quickly if you wanted to help"

Just before Adhara can respond, Rex is already gone as a lightning strike descends from the sky.

"Ether Blink!

CRACK!

BLITZ!

Rex got zapped by a black lightning strike before he reappears above the army of Supernatural, his purple animalistic eyes glisten brutally as he jumped in the middle of the army of Supernaturals, aiming for the Succubus and Blue Demons.

"One against many! Let's see who's going to be standing last!"

Chapter 615 War In Hell (1)

Now that he possesses the Blood Moon King Mark, he experienced this overwhelming exhilaration inside of him as his blood started to flow even faster. It made his adrenaline spike as he lays his eyes on the thousands of Supernaturals below him.

Since he has already given the others their commands, Rex intends to do his part.

With the way this army of Supernatural charges forward in their battle formation alone Rex was right to assume the Blue Demon and Succubus are going to be fighting at a range, only the Incubus, Werewolves, and Red Demons are charging at the front.

Red Demons focuses more on physical power while Blue Demon focus more on energy blasts.

Even though that was the general overview of the demon's powers, the Succubus and the Incubus experience the complete opposite. The Incubus has a shade of blue skin and its auras are also bluish, while the Succubus has a more reddish or pink tone to its skin and auras.

But instead of following the demon's logic, their formation is reversed.

Incubus seems to be stronger physically and they charge alongside the Red Demons and Werewolves, and the Succubus on the back alongside the Blue Demons. Just from their battle formation alone, Rex knows that this is the best possible way to attack this army of Supernaturals.

Not only the Supernaturals, but humans also use this kind of formation.

There's an obvious reason why the Red Demons, Werewolves, and Incubus are at the very front while the Succubus and Blue Demons are at the back, the battle formation was designed like this so that the Succubus and Blue Demons have the space to use their spells.

Rex will not allow that as he can see through them easily, he would be aiming for the backline first.

Swoosh!

While reappearing above the backline of the army of Supernatural, Rex can feel the hot air breezing through his face highlighting how fast he was going right now. It was blazing fast which none below the ninth-rank realm should be able to sense.

But due to their enhancements, the eighth-rank realm Supernaturals managed to react to him.

Pointing their hands to the sky the Blue Demons started casting their spells in response to Rex's sudden arrival, they fire blue demonic blasts out of their hands that keeps on increasing the more seconds passed.

From above Rex can see the hundreds of blue demonic blasts heading toward him.

Rex immediately raises the Amuerus Katana to the sky gathering more and more kingly energy on it, the eight engraved runes started glowing red brightly as the entire blade started trembling with power.

Upon seeing this, King Baralt, Queen Catsha, and Azzen frowned.

"A Werewolf with a weapon? What a disgrace!", King Baralt ridiculed, spitting to the side spitefully.

Queen Catsha has other things on her mind, the Amuerus Katana's showcase of power surprised her as she can feel the power radiating from it, "What kind of weapon is that? It's nearing an Origin's weapon in terms of strength!"

But as she just commented, her eyes widened seeing that eight runes are glowing vibrantly.

Azzen also realized that the Amuerus Katana has eight runes engraved on it which caught him by surprise, it's impossible for a weapon to be engraved with eight runes in this current era. However, Rex is holding a weapon with exactly eight runes engraved on it.

Not stopping at that, the three of them widened their eyes when two more runes glows.

Upon the activation of the two runes nearing the tip of the katana, they instantly felt threatened by the sword as its energy suddenly turn sharp, sharp enough that they know that the Amuerus Katana can hurt them despite their ninth-rank auras.

"Impossible! It's as strong as Blood Devourer!", Queen Catsha exclaimed in absolute shock.

Even though they were already prepared for anything that might happen today in order to kill Rex, the three of them can't hide the surprise on their face realizing that Rex has a weapon of that caliber.

It made Azzen frown as he realized that his own spear wouldn't last long against that.

Like a meteor colliding with hundreds of shooting stars, Rex spins in the air as he falls from the sky.

Boom!

Boom!

Crash!

Creating a tornado of swirling red kingly energy, Rex heads straight down into the middle of the backline that starts to disperse knowing that they can't stop his momentum. Even the eighth rank Supernaturals try to create hundreds of barriers stacked against each other, but all of them shatter almost instantly.

Not one of them can even slow down Rex's falling momentum.

KABOOM!

A powerful explosion was created at the backline of the army of Supernaturals, the shockwave keeps expanding and scorch the lower-rank Supernaturals. It keeps on taking lives before the eighth-rank Supernaturals cover them from the shockwave.

Many notifications flooded his vision as that explosion takes hundreds of lives.

Rex then straightens his back amidst the huge and deep crater that he just made before his eyes scan the Supernaturals around him, he finds that a huge bulk of them are sixth-rank Supernaturals so he decided to use a more efficient spell to take them out.

Without needing more than a second, he activates his element and turns the ground black.

Simultaneously after activating his Black Field Orko spell, Rex also summoned multiple Sky Ruptures from the sky. Even though he can't use his element against the ninth-rank Supernaturals since his Awakened side is left behind, taking out the weaker ones is not going to be trouble for him.

But unfortunately, the spells he chanted got completely canceled.

The ground for miles and miles wide were covered by demonic energy that supplies the demons with enhanced regeneration, and this demonic energy is so dense that his Black Field Orko got shattered almost instantly.

Following that, Rex looks up and saw that the Sky Ruptures he summoned were also blocked.

Wanting to catch Rex off guard the Vampire and Undead created a weird barrier that can mask this hellish plain, and that barrier can't be penetrated by outside attacks. It completely nullified the Sky Ruptures he summoned.

~

Meanwhile, Adhara and Flunra immediately dash forward seeing that Rex has already engaged.

Knowing their roles in the fight with this army of death, they both separated to either side heading to their targets. Since the battle formation of the Supernaturals has three distinctive layers, it made it easier for them to attack their targets.

At the left side of the charging Supernaturals are the Werewolves which Adhara is heading to.

Flunra on the other hand went to the right where the Red Demons are located, while in the middle was the Incubus which they would share evenly. The closer they get to the army, the faster their speed becomes.

"KRAARGHH!!"

"RAARGHH!!"

Both of them shouted as their eyes turns bloodshot as they were near the collision.

Upon reaching the very tip of the Supernatural army, Flunra and Adhara cloak their bodies with their own energy before crashing through the army of Supernaturals. It didn't take long before their fight breaks out.

Swoosh!

Adhara activates her bloodline forcing the Werewolves attacking her to bleed from the eyes.

Most of them are completely helpless under the sheer might of her bloodline as the Proxy of the White Omicron. It was just like Rex said, Adhara is the bane of Werewolves and they are nothing but helpless chickens in her presence.

On the other side, Flunra also rampages through the army of Supernatural with his bare hands.

It was bizarre to see one human in the midst of Supernatural that is tearing and stabbing any red demon that got close with his bare hands, something like this would only be done by someone that is unhinged and crazy.

But Flunra is not just a human, he's a half-Werewolf, a very powerful one at that too.

Gistella follows last as she already harnesses her blue energy to create two long barriers to isolate the Incubus that are trying to surround Flunra and Adhara, she was tasked to protect and watch over them by Rex.

Time flew by slowly as they kept on fighting endlessly, and piles of corpses started to pile on them.

Unlike Rex that has basically unlimited energy, Adhara, Flunra, and Gistella feel the toll on their bodies as their breathing becomes rapid and quick. It's an endurance battle for them, and the eighth-rank Red Demons, Werewolves, and Incubus are approaching nearer.

Even though they knew that they need to be smart with their energy, they can't.

It was not an option for them to take a breath since the Supernaturals keeps on coming endlessly like a tidal wave, but then out of nowhere, they heard a powerful roar from the middle of the army that created a powerful shockwave.

Despite not being able to look at the source, the three of them know where the shockwave came from. Only one of them can go on a rampage in the middle of an army of Supernaturals like that.

"Rex!"

~

Back to Rex in the middle of the Supernatural army.

Raagh!

Growl!

Roar!!

Many kinds of hellish shouts resounded as the blue demons and succubus advanced toward him.

Rex puts his focus back on the fight before he growled back at the approaching Supernaturals, with one powerful dash he started swinging his Amuerus Katana endlessly, butchering everything that got inside his range.

Not one of the Blue Demons and Succubus survived one slash from the Amuerus Katana.

Limbs started flying everywhere but there was no blood to be spilled since demons have no blood but demonic energy instead, they will die when their demon cores got destroyed. It's what makes the demons a bad match-up for the Vampires.

While continuing his onslaught inside the encirclement of death, Rex's eyes darted to the side.

From the bodies of hundreds of Blue Demons and Succubus that are trying their very best to stop Rex's momentum, he saw King Baralt, Queen Catsha, and Azzen watching from far away with their probing eyes.

'They're observing my powers, I'll hold most of them for now...!', Rex thought with a nod.

Although the fight would be much harder if the three of them gank him right here and right now, it seems they are taking the safer route and just trying to see what he can do using this army of Supernaturals that gladly do so for them.

Knowing this, Rex decided to stick with his element and kingly energy, hiding the other skills.

Black lightning started to sizzle around his body as he butchers the Supernaturals left and right, it keeps on increasing until his eyes finally flashed with electricity before he chanted strongly.

"Thousand Lighting Thorn!

BLITZ!!

Out of nowhere, countless thorns burst from Rex's body impaling the Supernaturals near him.

Just as he did that Rex jumped to dodge two powerful slashes from two peak eighth-rank Blue Demons that have wings spanning at least 16 feet, he saw two other eighth-rank huge Blue Demons that looks like snakes hiss towards him.

Upon seeing them, Rex's eyes then flash as he activates his trait skill, "Alpha Bearing!"

BOOM!

Rex's eyes flash with a red light forcing hundreds of the Supernaturals around him to fall to their knees, they were suppressed heavily by the Alpha Bearing skill amplified by his oppressive Royal Black Werewolf race.

Even with the Alpha Bearing skill, the eighth-rank Blue Demons and Succubus kept going.

Swoosh!

The eighth-rank Winged Demon appears above Rex with a flap of their wings, their movements are very quick as it's almost as if they teleported. Another eighth-rank Succubus used her spell to bind Rex in place from below, it feels like something touches his soul.

Just as the Anti-soul passive skill activated, the two Winged Demons started to move.

Raising their flaming blue heavy axes above their heads and imbuing them with as much demonic energy as they can, the two Winged Demons swung them straight at Rex sending him crashing onto the ground.

Under the sheer strength behind that strike, the ground rumbles as a shockwave expanded.

Without even giving any time to breathe the two demonic cores in the Winged Demons' chests started to glow brightly, it didn't take a second before both of them fires a demonic blast straight at where Rex crashed earlier.

Not stopping at that, the two snake-like demons opens their mouths and sent fire breaths.

SWOOSH!

As the Blue Demons fires their own spells and skill toward Rex trying to suppress him, the Succubuses also do their own spells trying to bind not the body but the mind and soul. If anyone were to be trapped in this kind of situation, they would definitely be dead.

Even if they're not dead, their body, mind, and soul would definitely be crushed.

More and more Supernaturals that are lucky enough to not have their demon cores destroyed regenerated and join in, it doesn't matter whether they are sixth-rank or even eighth-rank, they all fire their own spells and skills.

But while the barrage of demonic energy continues, a pair of red eyes glow from within.

Demons have an innate resistance to fear from being born through fire and live only to fight, it's their nature but right now they can feel a wave of fear just from seeing the pair of red eyes looking at them from the blue flames.

In the next second, a thunderous roar resounded as an explosion of kingly energy blew them all.

ROAR!!

KABOOM!

Just from getting hit by the explosion of kingly energy alone most of the Blue Demons and Succubus have their bodies disintegrated, they can't handle the power of a ninth-rank realm entity like Rex.

From that small timeframe, countless Supernaturals falls as their bodies turned to ash.

<Level Up!>

<Level Up!>

The blue demonic flames got distinguished revealing a figure with a glowing King Mark and horns standing in the middle overbearingly, its back is still straight with no sign of burning despite being scorched directly by an astounding amount of demonic energy.

Rex stands there unfazed showing that his power has already surpassed the realm of possibilities.

Nobody whether they are Supernaturals and Humans that are below the ninth-rank realm can hurt him, the enhancement of his King Mark, bloodline, and even the system makes him invincible to those below his ranks.

Just like the system stated, he has made a great leap in the path of invincibility with the King Mark.

Chapter 616 War In Hell (2)

Swish!

Aside from the molten blue and red lava that are splashing out of the ground from the outburst of energy, the blue flames that were left behind by the Blue Demons that got extinguished completely sizzles and swayed by the hot air.

Rex is standing in the middle of it like a battle God that has killed countless enemies.

In that little timeframe that he used in creating chaos on the backline of the Supernatural army, at the very least a third of them got wiped out of existence. Most of them are unable to get near Rex who has activated the Alpha Bearing skill.

Not only that but his ninth-rank energy also turned the weaker ones to ash.

At the very least only the seventh-rank realm Blue Demons and Succubus inside a mile radius can sustain that sudden outburst of kingly energy, the others weaker than that and that are also too close got wiped out.

But out of nowhere, the sways of the blue fire around him become unnatural.

Rex noticed this occurrence before the eighth-rank Blue Winged Demons hold Rex's arm each, their demonic faces were covered by black charcoal skin and they glared at him while protruding their flaming tongues nastily, "Forfeit your life and King Saruth will save you from the torture of hellish flames..."

"Nothing in your life is worth living for, Werewolf Prince. Eternal doom awaits you..."

Each of the Blue Winged Demons said their lines with a slight cackle coming out of their mouths. On top of that, their voice was like the astral soothing voice of Satan trying to convince him to kill himself.

Upon hearing this Rex looks down to the ground with a dark expression.

Despite already noticing the weird sway of the blue flames earlier, it seems he deliberately lets himself get caught like this. With their demonic energy gathered in their arms, Rex can feel the burning sensation piercing his arms.

If he were any weaker than his arms would probably melt by now due to the demonic energy.

"What would my death serve...?", Rex mutters lightly while still looking down.

Although they were not expecting this the two eighth-rank realms Blue Winged Demons smiled mischievously as they looked at each other, it seems their incitement reaches the tip of Rex's heart.

Looking back at Rex, one of them then said, "Savior of the Supernaturals..."

"Your inevitable death would turn you into the Savior of the Supernaturals. Regardless of your contemplation of race, you are one of us. It's your duty to be our Savior, follow your fate and surrender to death", it added trying to push Rex further into the edge.

But upon hearing this, Rex smiled in ridicule, "Supernaturals, humans, all of you can go to hell"

From the start, he deliberately lets these Blue Demons give their all against him. Rex is still thinking about the fear that these Supernaturals are emitting, he needed to know what was that about and also why they are this desperate in trying to kill him.

It's clear that there's something more than meets the eye, and now he got a glimpse of the answer.

Just from hearing the two Blue Winged Demons alone, Rex can already tell that his death would benefit the entire Supernatural race. At first, he thought that they fear of his rapid progression, but it seems that is not the only case.

The Supernaturals' desperation is thick here, so there must be more reason than just that.

"If that is your choice Werewolf Prince, then so be it. We will force you to accept your fate in the name of the Vulvazith Ruler", the Blue Winged Demon replied before they both turns into blue flames and pulls Rex into the ground.

Rex was surprised as half of his body got embedded into the ground.

Upon being pulled down onto the ground his body got the full brunt of the blue and red lava that are residing inside this hellish plain, countless whips also wrapped around his arms from the succubus around him, trying to pin him in place.

But in the next second his eyes dilated feeling something probing his soul with a cold grip.

Slowly his consciousness was pulled into a different dimension, where everything turns shadowy.

Blinking his eyes a couple of times Rex saw that two red shadowy souls in the shape of a seductive succubus is already holding his soul, their sharp claws are already grazing his soul without any resistance whatsoever.

It surprised him to see that there was such a place in existence, the Dimension of Souls.

Out of nowhere as the two souls of succubuses are grazing his innocent souls with their claws, Rex can feel something burning on his chest. Looking down he can see that it was a necklace that he recognized almost instantly, 'Whiro Necklace of Despair is reacting?', he thought in surprise.

Remembering that Whiro Necklace of Despair has soul ability, Rex's surprise didn't last long.

Not long after the two souls of succubus latch themselves onto Rex's pale white soul, the Whiro Neckalce of Despair burns even brighter as it dyed Rex's entire soul with the color red. Immediately after that, the two souls of the succubuses wail and cry in pain.

From the plain of reality, Rex's eyes seem to roll to the back under a spell.

Above his body were two succubus with pinkish skin and their vital part covered by black charcoal armor, their devil tails glowing and so does their eyes as they cast a mix of mind and soul spell that can even bypass the Anti-soul passive skill Rex had.

Both of them are distracting Rex to create a chance to land a powerful attack.

On the other side of the place the snake-like Blue Demons already merged together turning into a two-headed Blue Demon Snake, they are channeling a devastating amount of demonic energy that even creates pulsating inward waves to its body.

It makes its body more robust and stronger, it can't help but roar powerfully.

Roar!

Soon enough a circle formation with demonic writings inside appeared right in front of Rex's chest which was created by the two-headed Blue Demon Snake. After the formation matured completely, the two-headed Blue Demon Snake then slithers very fast, turning into a gigantic size bullet that turns smaller and smaller.

As it got closer, the two eighth-rank realm succubus suddenly wail in pain.

"W-What is this fire?! How can it damage my body!!", the succubus cried out while looking at its own two hands that doesn't look different, but the burning sensation makes it feels like its entire body is melting.

It takes the two succubus a moment to realize that their souls are the ones on fire.

Just from touching Rex's soul briefly, they got a blowback so devastating that their spells were canceled instantly. At that moment they realized that there was a necklace reacting to them, but it wasn't the one that caused this burning sensation.

The necklace only creates a chance for Rex's soul to express itself completely.

What burns the two succubus was the wrath burning inside Rex that has turned even greater compared to before, it was so hot that even a succubus that should be quite resistant to fire feels its entire body burning.

Rex then snapped out of the Dimension of Souls but his eyes widened seeing the incoming attack.

KABOOM!

"Haahkk!"

Surprisingly, Rex feels the wing gets pushed out of his lungs upon getting hit by the demonic bullet the size of himself right at his chest, it was the first time feeling pain since the battle has started. It was completely baffling.

But looking at the two-headed Blue Demon Snake, it's clear that the attack was not a normal one.

Gritting his sharp fangs while looking at the Blue Demon Snake's core in its chest, Rex realized that it burned 99% of its life source just to do that. If not for that then it doesn't have any chance to do anything to Rex.

Coughing ash a couple of times, the two-headed Blue Demon Snake smiled.

"We demons embrace our demon energy to the fullest extent, using it and harnessing its strength. But you... you're a Werewolf and yet you're using a weapon. What's wrong? Are your claws blunt from living with the humans?", it said mockingly before hissing in ridicule.

For some reason, Rex was ignited by this and he feels a little bit angry.

Despite still being embedded inside the ground with the two Blue Winged Demons holding his legs inside the lava beneath the ground, Rex slowly raises his gaze to meet with the two-headed Blue Demon Snake before he suddenly jumped out of the ground.

Crash!

Putting away the Amuerus Katana into the inventory, Rex grabbed the demon with his claws.

With most of its life source burnt in that attack it did from before, the two-headed Blue Demon Snake can't put up any resistance at all as its body wrapped around Rex's arm but failed in doing anything to it.

Rex pulls both of the heads closer to him as his eyes glow with red, influenced by his kingly energy.

"For a dead demon, you talk too much..."

Instantly after he said that Rex gripped both of the necks tighter before he split the two-headed Blue Demon Snake's body in half before it shattered into dust. But swiftly after that, the two Blue Winged Demon sprawl out from the lava once again intending to attack Rex.

But Rex has done playing around, he already gets a little out of them.

Cloaking his arm with his kingly energy, Rex backhanded one of the Blue Wing Demons sending it crashing away while he grabbed the other by the neck. It was done with one slick motion before Rex jabbed his claws into the Blue Wing Demon's back.

Splash!

Despite being a demon, the Blue Winged Demon shows signs of pain.

Grabbing the spine of the Blue Winged Demon, Rex literally peel it out of its body until the spine alongside its skull got separated from the rest of its body. Such a gory scene but demons don't have blood, so Rex's furs are not stained by that filth.

After doing that he jumped to the sky before more Succubus and Blue Demons attacked him.

While he was looking down on the army of Supernaturals that are already lessened considerably, his eyes then landed on King Baralt, Queen Catsha, and Azzen watching from afar, not moving even a muscle.

Out of the three, King Baralt seems already impatient. Rex can see it clearly in his twitching face.

Knowing that he needed to take their attention so that the others can even hope to survive this ordeal, Rex roared while bearing his kingly aura without holding back, "KING BARALT! Come fight me! Let's see who's the real King of Werewolves!!", Rex shouted tauntingly.

Upon hearing this King Baralt started circulating his own kingly energy with a daunting look.

Easily provoked like a monster that's trying to find a reason to fight, King Baralt instantly replied with an ear-shattering roar as his kingly energy shoot into the sky, "I ACCEPT YOUR CHALLENGE ROYAL BLACK PRINCE!! Let not the Origin but ourselves decide who's the real King of Werewolves!!"

Without even wasting any second, King Baralt leaped straight at Rex in the sky.

"King Baralt! Wait!! He must still have some tricks up his sleeves!", Queen Catsha shouted but ignored, she can only curse the barbaric impulse of a Werewolf that has its pride at the very top of its head.

Azzen on the side waves his hand, "Don't even bother stopping him..."

"We'll just watch and see what kind of power this Royal Black Prince is hiding, I have a feeling that he's still hiding most of his powers. Fighting King Baralt would definitely force his hands to use them, and you'll strike when we have enough information about his power", he added calmly.

Even though it was Azzen that is talking, Queen Catsha knows that Azzen is not usually like this.

Since she knows exactly what Azzen is due to her being a part of the Demon race before, Queen Catsha realized that it was not Azzen that is talking, it was King Saruth instead that used Azzen's body to communicate.

"What are you going to do if not helping King Baralt fight the Prince?", she asked with a frown.

Upon hearing this Azzen's blue flaming eyes glance at Queen Catsha before he shifted to Adhara, Flunra, and Gistella fighting at the frontline, "Me? I'm going to go and have a little bit of fun with the Betas of the so-called Royal Black Prince..."

Chapter 617 War In Hell (3)

Meanwhile, Brigitta is standing on the wall with a frown on her face.

Looking at the desolate plain beyond the Great Barricade's wall, Brigitta finds that Rex and the others can't be seen due to the invisible barrier that suddenly expanded. It seems the invisible barrier blocks the vision beyond the Great Barricade.

Just like a tampered video, the desolate plain beyond the walls looks very calm and normal.

Although that is the case Brigitta knows that this invisible barrier that engulfs Rex and the others creates an illusion that can't be seen through from the outside, even when she tries piercing the barrier using her wind arcane mana, she finds that she isn't able to do that.

Without a doubt, the one making this invisible barrier is at least as strong as herself.

But based on what she heard earlier when Flunra tries to test the invisible barrier she knows that it should be made by the Vampire King and also the Undead King, both are ninth-rank realm entities with power equivalent to her.

It's not a surprise that she can't do anything to the invisible barrier with her arcane mana.

Glancing to the side, Brigitta saw a couple of mounds on the ground right beside the Great Barricade's wall. It was Rex's parents' temporary graves that were made in a hurry earlier, Kyran and Gistella made these graves quickly.

Upon seeing Rex suddenly got pulled down from the wall, both of them decided to help.

But leaving Rex's parents' corpses out in the open would be disrespecting Rex himself so they decided to dig temporary graves for them. Even before jumping down to help Rex, they asked Brigitta to watch over the graves until they finished whatever was attacking them.

While looking at the two graves, Brigitta ponders for a brief moment.

Just before Rex got pulled down by the blue flaming chains, he said something that is still stuck in Brigitta's head. It was the fact that he said that there are three Kings of Supernatural gathered here to attack him, and this is the perfect opportunity to strike.

Out of the ninth-rank realm Supernaturals, only two were not here.

Although the ones attacking Rex right now should be the Queen of Succubus, Azzen, and King Baralt, the invisible barrier was conjured and sustained by the Vampire King and the Undead King. Five of the seven ninth-rank Supernaturals are gathered here.

Even if the Vampire King and the Undead King are not actually here, their focus is definitely here.

It leaves only the Demon King and the Shapeshifter King that is not present, but the two of them shouldn't be at the Demon Stronghold. Even if they were there, fighting two of them would still be a far better deal.

Realizing this Brigitta nodded to herself but decided to check just one more thing.

Facing the invisible barrier with a cautious expression, Brigitta stretches her arm forward before lightly touching the invisible barrier. Upon a touch of her finger, a ripple was made almost as if she was touching a water surface.

While putting her senses on alert, she dipped her arm into the invisible barrier.

Expecting a restraint that would push her out, Brigitta doesn't find any resistance as her arm penetrates through the invisible barrier easily. On the other side, she can feel the burning air that definitely the work of the demons.

"It's not the usual type of barrier...", Brigitta mutters in confusion.

But as she was trying to decipher the use of the invisible barrier, she remembered that pushing her arcane mana into the invisible barrier is impossible. From that alone she realizes the use of this invisible barrier, "It's not blocking someone from getting in or out, it's blocking any kind of energy from getting in and out..."

Since her arm can get in but her arcane mana can't, this is the only explanation.

For some reason the Supernatural doesn't want the rampaging energy inside the invisible barrier to come out, Brigitta can't figure out why they feel the need to do this. Usually, they don't care about the destruction they caused.

In fact, they like the destruction they caused.

Brigitta then pulls her arm back out before conjuring a small wind bird on her palm.

Whispering something to the small wind bird, she then lifts the wind bird up before it flew away quickly and disappears into the sky. Upon reaching quite a distance, the wind bird split into two before they went in different directions.

"I need to stay and guard here, but they should be able to handle it themselves", Brigitta mutters.

A moment later,

Inside the Cessation Knight compound in front of the Demon Stronghold, Denzel came out of his hut before looking up into the sky. For a while now he has already sensed something approaching, and he recognized the mana.

Looking up to the bright sky, he saw a bird that should be an owl made of wind arcane mana.

Upon seeing Denzel in sight the wind owl dives swiftly from the sky, the air resistance doesn't affect it at all as it only takes a few seconds for the owl to reach Denzel's arm, "It's Brigitta's Drifting Humming Owl...", he mutters recognizing the bird.

Soon enough the bird looks at Denzel before it finally opens its mouth.

"Five ninth-rank realm Supernaturals are gathered here to ambush Rex, we can use this opportunity to seize back the Demong Stronghold. Check if the Demon King and the Shapeshifter King are there, if only one of them is there then you can attack. I've sent a message to Sebrof and Giana, maybe one of them can help you in reclaiming the Demon Stronghold"

Although it was a direct message that went straight to the point, Denzel can't help but frown.

Even the mention of five ninth-rank realm Supernaturals alone gives a shiver running down his spine, he can't believe that five of them actually try to take Rex down. It seems the Supernaturals are also unwelcoming of him.

Which is a good thing, at the very least humanity doesn't have one more powerful enemy to fight.

Glancing at one of the Cessation Knight captains on his side, Denzel then asked knowing that they still haven't recovered fully from the fight against the Demons' attack, "How are our forces looking? Can we take another all-out fight against the Demong Stronghold?"

"Military forces have been reinstated, but the Awakened force is still crippled", the captain replied.

Opening a hologram interface on his watch, the captain then continues, "Currently the Awakened under our ranks are reduced from 13,520 units to 6,100 units, three-quarters of them are fifth-rank, 1,300 sixth-rank, 220 seventh-rank, and 5 eighth-rank. If the Demons haven't recovered their numbers, we can take one more fight but after that, we will be drained completely"

Upon hearing this, Denzel nodded his head, "Go and notify our forces to be ready"

"Right away, Sir. I'll make sure that each one of them will be ready to fight at a moment's notice, they'll be ready before you even require them to, Sir!", the captain replied, saluting before he left to do what Denzel asked him to do as soon as possible.

From the looks of it, another fight would break out soon.

~

Back to the hellish plain,

Although having superior physical strength in her Werewolf form, Adhara focuses on using more of her fire and wind elements that are imbued into the Duality Daggers. Most of the Werewolves are sixth-rank and seventh-rank which can still be killed or hurt using her spells alone.

Knowing that the battle will be an endurance battle, later on, she decided to do this.

Since mana and stamina are two completely different things, Adhara decided that it would be better to take out the weaker ones with her spells while the stronger ones with her daggers. It's a way to reserve her energy.

Swoosh!

Like a dancing goddess, Adhara exhibits her dagger-wielding skills as she butchers the enemies.

Adhara's movement was elegant but abstract at the same time, her movement looks to be slow but it can increase in speed substantially in the blink of an eye. Using her dagger-wielding skill, she takes also manages to take down many Werewolves in the process.

The Werewolves that she killed were dead due to one clean slice to their vital part.

Spinning her entire body, Adhara creates a vortex of purple fire as her body turns into a tornado.

Many of the Werewolves that leaped towards her got scorched into nothing.

Unlike Adhara that are wielding weapons despite being a Werewolf herself, these primal Werewolves that are born and lived as Werewolves all their lives harness only their claws and animalistic instincts.

Even though many of them got scorched to ashes, their battle instincts kicks in.

It was like their minds are in harmony and now they decided to jump away when Adhara is covering her body with purple flames before jumping in when she wasn't, and this surely gives them some hits here and there due to their sheer number.

Despite being surrounded was not an ideal situation, she can't avoid this situation either.

If there are one or two hundred of them then she might be able to avoid being surrounded from all sides and keep the Werewolves in front of her, but their numbers are reaching the thousands and it was only a matter of time before some of them started attacking from the back.

Clang!

Swish!

Slash!

Adhara gritted her teeth when the Werewolves started aiming for his legs.

'How can they move like this in my presence? This shouldn't be possible!', Adhara exclaimed inside her head after getting slashed on her shin, her murderous eyes gazes around her, and finds about 30 Werewolves leaping towards her from all directions.

But these Werewolves are only sixth-rank realm, their bloodline can't compare to Adhara's.

Even back during her fight against Gistella, her outburst of energy exploded Kyran's eyes and makes Gistella's eyes bleed which is equivalent to a seventh-rank realm Werewolf. Right now, her aura did the same but these Werewolves are very much still in fighting mode.

Without even their eyes, these Werewolves' senses still allow them to fight.

Something like this surprised Adhara greatly as these blind Werewolves leaped at her perfectly as if their eyes can still see, it seems their minds are more in tune with their bodies compared to Gistella, Kyran, or even herself.

Probably due to the fact that they were born Werewolf from the get-go, unlike the three of them.

Adhara's insane reflex allows her to dodge and counter-attack most of the Werewolves that leaped at her, but a small portion of them manage to land hit after hit on her body leaving bloodied scratches here and there.

Of course, as a Werewolf, her wounds healed quickly but the attack also keeps on coming endlessly.

But her battle gets increasingly harder as more powerful Werewolves join in.

Up to seventh-rank realm Werewolves she can deal with them pretty swiftly, but when the Alphas came out the battle started to take a drastic turn. Adhara roared in pain when her abdomen suffered a deep cut from a Werewolf with grey furs.

It was similar to Jarvald's grey furs but this one is sparkling, almost like silver itself.

Gritting her teeth while touching the wound on her abdomen that is bleeding profusely, Adhara's eyes glow powerfully as her energy becomes even stronger. Soon enough she also activate her elements and blasted the entire ground around her.

KABOOM!!

From that, alone many Werewolves died and turned into ash.

While she was being protected by the purple flames that are swooshing around her body, Adhara use this breathing time to search for Flunra with her senses. But out of nowhere, the same Alpha came rushing into the purple flames.

Adhara widened her eyes seeing the Alpha already reaching right in front of her, inches away.

On top of that, this Alpha is even faster than Adhara as its claws are already heading towards her head, but a blue barrier materializes in the clutch moment and blocks the Alpha's claws which are threatening to slash Adhara's face.

Knowing that it was Gistella that saved her, Adhara's eyes went bloodthirst again.

A red crescent moon symbol appears on her forehead as she activates the Berserker's Curse skill, her eyes then glisten fiercely as she jabbed her claws into the Alpha's chest before flinging the Alpha to the side roughly.

Bits of flesh were left on her claws as she did that, but then a powerful shockwave hits her.

SWOOSH!!

Despite her current power, the shockwave sent her rolling back and so does the Werewolves around her, she recovered soon after and saw Rex and King Baralt clash in the sky showing that the fight is still young and far from over.

Rex's and King Baralt's kingly energies clashes against each other, tearing the fabric of dimension.

Upon seeing this Adhara didn't sit idle and intended to jump back to search for Flunra knowing that if there is more than one Alpha then she would be in trouble, these Werewolves are definitely stronger compared to normal.

All because of King Baralt's kingly energy that is ingrained in them.

Soon enough after somersaulting a couple of times back, Adhara saw Flunra on the side surrounded by Red Demons. It was a daunting feat as the Red Demons are as fierce as any Werewolves she was fighting or perhaps even fiercer.

Knowing that she can't go there, she decided to head to Gistella blocking the Incubus' charge.

Landing beside her, Adhara then shouted about the extreme situation, "We need to find a way to escape this place, we will be overrun the longer this goes on! There are just too many of them for our few numbers!"

"I'm thinking of letting the Incubus go to Kyran, he will be safe with the bubble around him!"

But just as they both are trying to find a way to buy more time or search for a path to escape this army of Supernaturals, their heads snapped to the sky before their eyes dilated in crisis. There was a demon in the sky that are looking straight t them.

Not a regular demon judging from its devastating aura, it's Azzen.

"Looking at your fight, it seems that both of you are having fun. I'm quite jealous"

"May I join in the fun...?"

Chapter 618 Representation Of The Super Moon

Just as they were trying to think of a way to buy more time so that either Flunra or Rex can finish their fight first, the both of them were visited by the last thing they wanted to be visited by. It was Azzen with its fiendish smile flying above them.

Upon seeing the arrival of Azzen, Gistella and Adhara's expressions darken instantly.

Not too long ago Rex was attacked by Azzen from miles away using its black spear, the attack was so powerful that both of them alongside Evelyn and Rex were having a difficult time stopping the momentum of the spear.

Even though they were stronger now, they are still no way near Azzen's strength.

A ninth-rank realm Blue Demon like Azzen is not someone that can be rivaled easily, the full extent of his strength was never seen and the fight in front of the Demon Stronghold shows that Azzen can even give Denzel a run for his money.

It's clear that even in the ninth-rank realm, Azzen was one of the stronger ones.

Despite the arrival of Azen which was so sudden and caught them off guard, Gistella and Adhara stands their ground and went into their battle stances. No matter how dire the situation, they are going to go through with it as long as Rex is still here fighting.

Looking at their fierce battle stances, Azen chuckled demonically.

"How wonderful for the Royal Black Prince to have such a rare breed of Werewolves as his Betas, I imagine that both of you were not born a Werewolf just like him, yes?", Azen asks while sitting in a meditative position while still floating above them.

Gistella and Adhara kept silent without a hint of wanting to answer that question.

But this makes Azen smiles even wider as he finds their resistance amusing. Azen knows that Gistella and Adhara are aware of the disparity between their strength, even knowing that they still try to defy him and this is very amusing for him.

Supporting his black charcoal cheek to his fist, Azen then continues, "Tell me..."

"We've had our ways to turn humans into Supernaturals, there's a forbidden spell that is able to make that happen. But the Royal Black Prince's ways are fascinating, each one that he turns ended up with amazing bloodlines like the both of you. So tell me, how can he do that...?"

Upon hearing this Adhara smiled in ridicule and so does Gistella which is surprising.

"I don't know, maybe that just shows that he's way more superior than you cowards. Ambushing us when we just came out of a fight, are you really that scared of Rex?", Adhara said tauntingly, she doesn't pull back her words at all.

Azen didn't seem to be disturbed by her words though, he still kept his calm despite the mockery.

Looking at Adhara's eyes that are burning with hatred and vigor, he then replied with a shrug, "Sometimes, our motive is too much for your little mind to comprehend. It was not the Royal Black Prince that we're so afraid of..."

'Rex was right, it was not him that the Supernaturals are afraid of. But then who is it?', Adhara frown.

Seeing that Adhara and Gistella's faces are expecting him to spill the secret, Azen smirks before he waves his hand and stabbed his black spear into the ground. It creates a strong shockwave that expanded on the ground.

But then Adhara and Gistella looks around as they were surrounded once again.

Werewolves and Incubus are crowding the in a circle and their numbers are unfathomable, some of the Werewolves and Incubus that Adhara and Gistella severely injured and killed went back to normal as their wounds are starting to heal.

In the case of the Werewolves, if their heads or hearts are intact then they regenerate.

As for the Incubus, they were more like Demons. If the demon core inside was not destroyed then the hellish plain conjured by Azen can heal them back to normal. Even though Gistella and Adhara know this would happen, they don't have the luxury to make sure that the enemies they attacked are really dead.

Realizing that there are no means of escape, they looked back at Azen above them.

"Since I surprisingly never seen any Werewolves that have the same bloodline as the two of you, then how about demonstrating your powers to me? Don't worry, I'll help to make it easier for the two of you. Come say hello to my pet, Esther...", Azzen said before the black spear stabbed into the ground in front of Gistella and Adhara is starting to shake.

Demonic energy slowly leaked out of the black spear as the shaking becomes stronger.

Upon seeing this the both of them becomes even more alert as they waited for the black spear to transform, and soon enough a gush of blue demonic energy engulfs the entire black spear before it got bigger in an instant.

Swoosh!

'What in the world is that...?', Adhara mutters inwardly as her eyes widened.

Adhara being surprised was probably not that impressive knowing that she doesn't have that much experience against Supernaturals and thus hasn't seen many forms they can take, but Gistella being surprised was a whole other thing.

Both of them witnessed the once black spear now turn into a fearsome creature.

Even though both of them are in their Werewolf forms, the fearsome creature standing in front of them still towers over them immensely. From its appearance alone, it looks like a dog straight from hell. A body covered with blue demonic energy and lava, this three-headed hell dog was a menace of its own.

It was not as strong as Azzen, but it's definitely in the eighth-rank realm.

With the three-headed demonic dog fully exposed to Adhara's and Gistella's eyes, Azzen then spreads his arms to the side with a huge grin on his face, "Now, let's see what you got Betas of the Royal Black Prince Pack. Entertain me with all you got while your Alpha is being taken care of!"

Roar!!

The three-headed demonic dog roared powerfully, creating sonic waves that are ear-shattering.

Upon seeing this Adhara can't help but frown as she readies herself to fight this three-headed demonic dog that Azzen summoned, 'This is bad, I can't sense any notion that we can win this fight...'

Meanwhile, on the other side of the hellish plain.

Completely oblivious to what was happening to the others, Rex dwells in the fight against King Baralt. Both of them are clashing repeatedly, and their battles spread across the sky and ground as their fearsome attacks obliterate the entire place.

Boom!

Both of them crash in the opposite direction before they instantly clash once again.

Rex and King Baralt lunge at each other turning into a beam of kingly energy before their clasp their hands together, locked in a power struggle that rumbles the ground and even the sky due to their destructive kingly energies.

While trapped in a power struggle, King Baralt smiled, "What's the matter, Royal Black Prince?"

"I thought you have two King Marks but it seems you lost one of them, keeping harmony is a great obstacle but to think that you failed to do that... Does the Origin choose the wrong candidate for this holy bloodline of the Werewolves?", he added with his eyes glistening like a lunatic.

Upon hearing this, Rex gritted his sharp fangs angrily, "Shut up!!"

KABOOM!

Despite their clashes already destructive enough, one outburst of energy from Rex which was also replied to by King Baralt the same cracked the entire ground as more lava spat out from the ground and reached high into the sky.

Rex activates his Red Force as his physical prowess climbs higher than before.

On top of that, he also activates his Berserker's Curse skill as his full-red King Mark has a shade of darker red the shape of a crescent moon, and this amplifies his power greatly. But surprisingly, King Baralt's power also increases which instantly rivals Rex's power again.

Knowing that he can't overpower King Baralt, Rex decided to focus on his close-quarter combat.

'Even though King Baralt's power is very much rivaling my own or maybe even stronger, he's only fighting like an animal with no skill behind it, using nothing but brute force', Rex thought before he elbowed King Baralt while still having their hands locked with each other.

It force King Baralt's face to turn to the side, and Rex didn't stop there as he jumped.

Stepping on King Baralt's chest with both of his feet, he then kicks King Baralt away while simultaneously freeing his hands that are gripped tightly. Upon managing to break free, Rex jumps back to create some distance.

While looking back at King Baralt that has already recovered, Rex can't help but frown.

'Just what was that sudden burst of power? I already activated the Red Force and even Berserker's Curse skill but he can easily match my power again...', Rex thought with a frown, King Baralt proves to be a menace of his own.

But out of nowhere, a couple of notifications from the system appeared.

<King Baralt has used the True Werewolf King Super Physique skill!>

Upon reading this Rex was surprised as the system gives him information for free, but then again he was locking his hands together with King Baralt so the system probably manages to scan King Baralt's body and discover the activation of this Super State skill.

Rex's eyes then flashes excitedly when he saw the next notification from the system.

<Analyzing the True Werewolf King Super Physique skill...>

Although it has been a long time, the system comes in clutch as it seems it finds yet another skill that can be converted into a compatible skill for Rex to learn. It will be a great help in this fight with King Baralt that seems to not exert his full strength yet.

Just as he feels the excitement, he heard King Baralt's roar from the other side.

"Since you're not born a Werewolf, let me teach you something. Do you know why the Super Full Moon King Mark is considered the strongest out of all King Marks?!", King Baralt shouted while still keeping his smirk.

After a brief pause, he then continued, "Because it represents the Pride of Werewolves!"

SWOOSH!

Rex's eyes dilated when King Baralt's body suddenly vanishes in a blink of an eye, his eyes then shifted left and right trying to search for King Baralt but soon sensed something coming from above.

With his claws that are already burning with blue energy, King Baralt grins devilishly.

Upon seeing this Rex has no other choice but to use his Unholy Claws of the Reaper skill as his own claws glow with red energy, and this energy was more than just the Blood Moon energy supplied by Rex's King Mark.

Even King Baralt sensed the devastating danger coming from Rex's claws right now.

Intending to clash against King Baralt's claws with the confidence of winning the clash knowing that the Unholy Claws of the Reaper has an Origin energy inside of it, Rex swipes his claws powerfully to inflict a severe wound on King Baralt.

But even though the danger can be sensed clearly by his acute senses, King Baralt smiled again.

Rex saw this smile before a crisis rose in his heart, and soon enough his eyes dilated seeing King Baralt's body suddenly move unnaturally and dodge his swipe cleanly. With an uppercut claw, King Baralt slashed Rex's right arm right on the elbow from below.

Slash!

With one clean-cut, Rex's eyes widened seeing that his right arm was severed completely.

King Baralt then didn't stop there as his eyes gazes at Rex that was clearly surprised by this, "Super Moon King Mark is stronger than your Blood Moon King Mark. And on top of that, I already reached the first ascension!", he said as Rex can't help but grits his teeth.

"Moon Ability, Super Chain of Ruination!"

BAM!

"Huaakkh!", Rex's eyes widened when he saw a whip-like shadow land on his stomach.

As he got sent crashing away after coughing a mouthful of blood, he saw four bloodied claw marks left on his stomach. With his right arm severed, Rex immediately deactivates the Berserker's Curse skill that prevents his regeneration ability and also simultaneously activates his Extreme State skill as he can sense an attack coming from his left.

Fully trusting his battle instincts, Rex raises his left arm to block the attack.

SLASH!

Even though he blocked the attack he was still got sent screeching on the ground, creating one destructive path as his body rolls across the hellish ground hitting a couple of shooting leaves for miles.

But Rex instantly got up as King Baralt arrived and swipe his glowing blue claws again.

Although with the help of his Extreme State skill he can react and block the attacks, Rex can feel that his left arm is starting to get numb, 'I can't hold on, this Moon Skill is so powerful! Every time he attacks, the strength keeps on increasing from the previous one'

Gritting his teeth due to the overwhelming pain, King Baralt manages to slip through his defense.

Upon reaching the inside of Rex's defense King Baralt then grinned before he sent an uppercut slash that landed right on the jaw, he then got sent flying into the sky with clear pain in his expression.

Seeing that Rex reaches very high into the sky, Queen Catsha widened her eyes from the side.

"KING BARALT! He's going to get out of the barrier!", she shouted.

King Baralt heard this shout as he realized what he has done, he then vanishes and reappears beside Rex that is still propelled high in the sky. Grabbing his leg, King Baralt then throws Rex back onto the ground powerfully.

Swit!

A high-pitched sound can be heard as Rex's body pierces the sound barrier.

KABOOM!

Rex's body falls like a meteor and lands on the ground creating huge devastation, he coughed out blood from his mouth feeling his entire body shattering, 'I need to do something, or else I'm done! But what can I do?!', Rex thought hurriedly.

Looking up he can see that King Baralt already dives from the sky intending to finish him.

But soon enough notifications from the system appeared once again.

KABOOM!

Chapter 619 Battle Of Kings (1)

Reaching the ninth-rank realm which is the highest realm that one can achieve in this current era, their physical prowess greatly surpasses Awakened or Supernatural that are below the ninth-rank realm by a huge separation.

Even the peak of the eighth-rank realm can't even compare to the tip of a ninth-rank realm power.

It's like comparing an ant to a tiger, completely in a different league.

At this highest realm, the speed of the entities inside this realm has already reached blazing speed, surpassing the speed of sound. Some are even already close to the speed of light, they can't be perceived by normal eyes anymore.

Upon reaching this realm, none of the lower-rank entities can catch them much less leave a scratch.

Just like the fighting speed of Rex and King Baralt right now, they both are so fast that everything around them is moving in slow motion. One second for others is half a minute or even more for them. There are not many entities that can see their fights clearly, others can only see swift flashing lights going around the place.

Only Queen Catsha and Azzen can actually perceive how the fight is going right now.

The moment Rex got slammed back into the ground powerfully by his leg, the notifications from the system popped out which makes his eyes glisten. But seeing that King Baralt was already diving towards him, Rex didn't waste any time to activate the newly acquired skill.

Despite not knowing what the skill can do, he can only count on it right now.

KABOOM!

It was akin to an atomic bomb, the explosion of kingly energy decimated everything around them.

Even the Blue Demons and Succubus that are still within the range of the explosion got scorched to death while some are protected by the surviving eighth-rank realm entities, they already did their job and now they need to get away to a safe distance.

But determining whether they are at a safe distance is very hard.

Since the fight between Rex and King Baralt takes up space and is also unpredictable, it's very hard for them to gauge if they are safe so they kept on going without stopping. At a time their fight would take a mile above the sky, another a couple of miles at the south, but then suddenly they would appear directly in front of the retreating army of Supernatural.

With their current speed, it looks like they are teleported everywhere or warping dimensions.

In truth they don't have that kind of power, they are just so fast that the lower-rank Supernaturals thought that they can teleport like a ghost. Not one of them tries to watch the fight as they try to get away as soon as possible.

Now, their fight was at a standstill about five miles to the south.

After the powerful explosion that is akin to a nuke that can destroy the very living existence of Supernaturals that are caught by it, dust and heated debris flies around, clouding the center of a huge crater on the ground that spreads for miles.

Inside that dust and heated debris was King Baralt that has his claws stopped in their tracks.

Upon feeling something wrapping around his wrist, King Baralt frowned before he soon widened his eyes when he saw Rex catch his wrist with one hand and stop his momentum. It was a feat that caught King Baralt by surprise, the surprise can be seen clearly on his face.

Not only that but Rex's black fur now is layered with a thick red liquid.

Even though he was engulfed in the heat of the moment, King Baralt knows that Rex doesn't have this thick red liquid before. It was only the kingly energy and red force, but now this red liquid appeared and covered Rex's body underneath the kingly energy and making the red force a darker shade of red, almost turning the red force into something else.

From a glance, this thick red liquid looks like blood.

But with his quick reflex, King Baralt leaped away fearing that Rex might do something.

While slowly standing up and straightening his back, Rex's red eyes filled with the Blood Moon's kingly energy gaze at King Baralt that seems to be on alert. In this brief pause of their fight, Rex glances up to the sky with a pondering look.

'Hmm... why don't they want me to get out of this hellish plain?', Rex thought with a frown.

Although he was in the middle of being sent to the sky from that uppercut slash by King Baralt, his acute hearing catches Queen Catsha shouting at King Baralt, showing concern about the fact that his momentum upwards would make him go out of the invisible barrier.

Rex already knows that these Supernaturals fear something and it's definitely not him.

Gaining yet another piece of information about why these Supernaturals are desperately trying to kill him as even 5 king-level entities are working together to create this inevitable trap, Rex looks back at King Baralt before he cracks a grin despite his left arm is still nonexistent.

"Maybe you don't know this about me yet, but I have a particularly sharp sense of fear..."

Upon hearing this King Baralt frowns as this fight went back and forth with power-up after power-up, it seems even though he already reached the first ascension he can't defeat Rex easily which is way out of his expectation.

Not only that, but the fact that Rex manages to survive his Moon Ability is worrying.

Moon Ability is an acquired ability when he manages to reach the first ascension of his King Mark, the Super Moon King Mark. It's similar to a Pneuma Spell that exchange mana and harnesses spirit energy, but Moon Ability exchange moonlight energy and harnesses kingly energy instead.

Despite its nature as a form of energy, kingly energy is harder to control.

Even though a Werewolf is accepted by a full moon and granted King Mark, the kingly energy provided by the King Mark can only be used to enhance their physique. If the Werewolf wanted to control the kingly energy then it needs to reach the first ascension.

In the time they reach the first ascension, the Werewolf now has access to Moon Ability.

Having access and using it are two different things, and King Baralt has worked on his Moon Ability for quite a while now, cramping himself inside his castle walls in order to properly use his Moon Ability, Super Chain of Ruination.

But Rex managed to survive that, and that alone makes King Baralt ultimately alert.

"I know that you all are scared of something which makes you desperately try to kill me, I can sense your fear going through the roof! We're Supernaturals here, don't keep any secret and tell me the thing you fear already", Rex said as he puts on a cheeky grin on his face.

King Baralt kept silent and so does Queen Catsha, not wanting to answer Rex at all.

Witnessing their unreactive demeanor to his friendly question, Rex shrugs his shoulders nonchalantly before he spreads his arms to the side, "Well if you don't want to tell me then I'll try and find it out myself. Let's see what will happen if I left this majestic barrier the Vampire King and the Undead King have made especially for me"

"But first, I'll properly try out the new skill I gained from you...", he added still with a cheeky grin.

Upon hearing this King Baralt was confused as to what Rex meant by that, he has never given away or taught any skill to Rex, heck this moment is even the first time he properly met with Rex. So he was confused as to what Rex meant by a new skill gained from him.

Just as he was frowning in confusion, he heard a whisper coming out of Rex's mouth.

"True Werewolf King Blood Physique..."

Immediately after King Baralt heard Rex say that his eyes widened in utter shock as he unconsciously takes a step back. Although it was a different version, he clearly can feel that the skill is the same as his True Werewolf King Super Physique.

Despite realizing that it's the same type of skill, King Baralt can't help but suck in a cold breath.

'How did he learn that skill when even I need a great length to acquire it?! So that is what he activated earlier to block my last attack?! It's not possible! It's not possible!', King Baralt exclaimed inwardly finding this situation very hard to believe.

Even though it's an enhancement skill, he manages to learn that skill through a stone tablet.

The stone tablet was retrieved years back from an unknown ruin that one of his Alphas found, and through rigorous training, he was finally able to decipher the stone tablet and learned the True Werewolf King Super Physique.

At first, it was the True Werewolf King's Physique.

But when he was accepted by the Super Moon and gained its King Mark, the True Werewolf King's Physique reacted to that and evolved into a stronger form that harness the power of the kingly energy. Essentially, it's a skill that gives him an edge over other Werewolves that have King Mark but haven't reached the first ascension yet.

It's an enhancement skill that allows him to use his kingly energy without using a Moon Ability.

One of the sources of his pride and power that gave him a competitive edge against the other Supernatural Kings, but now Rex out of nowhere able to copy his skill and even evolve it into a skill of his own.

Something like this should be impossible, King Baralt refused to believe it.

At an angle, Rex mastering the skill just from one look pummels King Baralt's pride knowing that Rex must've been a very talented Werewolf to be able to do that. But contrary to his expectation, Rex manages to do this all thanks to the system.

Unlike what the others thought, he doesn't only have the Royal Black Werewolf Bloodline.

Rex has something within him that is even stronger than the Royal Black Werewolf Bloodline, and that is the system that makes everything possible. Without the system, he would pretty much die that night during the Ghoul's Mission.

Feeling the inferiority inside of him, the kingly energy around King Baralt suddenly got weaker.

Even though this sudden drop can be sensed by Rex instantly, King Baralt doesn't seem to realize it as he was still in a state of disbelief. His senses are numb for this brief moment as Rex fully exerts his new skill.

Swoosh!

A subtle wave of his kingly energy expanded, covering miles in radius. Rex's aura sways powerfully.

It spreads so far that the subtle wave of kingly energy even reaches the fight between the Supernatural army and the others, but this wave of kingly energy didn't do anything to them. It only reacted when it hits blood.

Despite Demons having no blood, the Werewolves have abundantly more blood than humans.

Swiftly the Werewolves that were killed by Adhara earlier and dyed the lava ground with their own blood started to levitate, and in a quick motion, the unfathomable amount of blood getting sucked directly into Rex.

Rex can feel his body rejuvenated by the blood he absorbed, even his stats are increasing rapidly.

While this is all happening the red liquid layer mixed with the red force on his body started to become darker and thicker which fueled Rex with immense power, he even laughs maniacally as he said, "Super Moon might have the strongest King Mark, but it has a devastating flaw. I'm sure you're aware of it, King Baralt..."

"Pride of Werewolves can be easily crushed!", he added with his eyes flashing murderously.

Splash!

Rex's eyes started to brim back with life as he saw his left arm completely grow back, he then raises both of his arms that are also covered by the red liquid, "Blood Moon King Mark on the other hand is more versatile. Do you know what it represents, King Baralt...?"

"It represents Blood and Death! Both are abundant in War!!"

SWOOSH!!

Chapter 620 Battle Of Kings (2)

Under the effect of the True Werewolf King Blood Physique, Rex feels the bloodthirst inside of him increase alongside his power which is rising like a rocket. It fueled him up to almost reaching his power when he still retains the Dual King Mark.

Something like this is even greater than any of the enhancement skills in his arsenal.

Rex can feel the connection between him and the kingly energy from his King Mark grow, he now can feel the stream of kingly energy that supplies his entire body with power. In a sense, he can even control it even for a little bit.

Only the kingly energy in his claws can be controlled a little, the others are still unmovable.

Channeling the kingly energy inside his claws Rex can see that his claws unnaturally become longer and sharper, it increases his reach and also the damage his claws will do to his enemies. But fighting King Baralt right now is not the main objective especially since there's still Queen Catsha and Azzen.

"It represents Blood and Death! Both are abundant in War!!"

SWOOSH!

After roaring menacingly at the top of his lungs, Rex instantly jumped high into the sky wanting to see what would happen if he gets out of the invisible barrier that was made by the Vampire and Undead King.

Upon seeing this, King Baralt grits his teeth and instantly tries to catch Rex.

Despite his rampaging kingly energy showing that he's the Alpha of all Alphas, King Baralt still has a hint of fear on his face when he saw Rex trying to leave the invisible barrier. It's clear that he will not let Rex leave no matter what.

But similar to King Baralt, Queen Catsha also panicked upon seeing this.

Knowing that she can't only keep on watching from the sidelines as King Baralt is slowly being overwhelmed by Rex, she boasts her wings to the side before flapping them all together, propelling her into the sky swiftly.

Swoosh!

Even the air created from that flat is powerful enough that it cracked the hellish ground.

Just like that three shooting stars with different colors flew up into the sky, one higher than the rest. Rex is exerting everything he had in trying to reach get out of the invisible barrier, but the two ninth-rank realm entities behind him wouldn't let that happen easily.

"King Baralt! Don't reserve your energy and pull him down!", Queen Catsha shouted.

Upon hearing this King Baralt frowned knowing that he has no other choice, "Don't tell me what to do!", he shouted back while gritting his teeth, but he knows that if he doesn't exert everything he has then Rex would be able to leave the invisible barrier.

"Remember to not touch his claws, they have Origin energy!", he added quickly.

When Rex activates the Unholy Claws of the Reaper earlier and imbues his claws with Origin energy, King Baralt sensed it and knows exactly that he can't clash with Rex's claws anymore. If he did then his own claws will definitely shatter.

Origin energy is no joke, just a strand of it would absolutely injure him severely.

Even Queen Catsha was surprised upon hearing this but she quickly nodded her head, only a member of the Origin's race can feel the Origin's energy. For example, the Werewolf Origin. Only Werewolves can sense its aura or energy.

Other Supernatural races wouldn't be able to sense the Werewolf Origin's energy.

For other races that are not associated with the Werewolf Origin, its aura wouldn't be sensed at all. If a ninth-rank realm Succubus like Queen Catsha meets the actual Werewolf Origin, then she would sense nothing from the Werewolf Origin.

It would be very eerie and sensing nothing is how to differentiate an Origin from others.

So in this case where Rex's claws are cloaked with the Origin's energy, Queen Catsha wouldn't know until she clashes against the claws, and by then she would be very injured. But now she got a heads up from King Baralt which allows her to avoid making that mistake.

King Baralt then gazes back at Rex that is still quite a distance above him.

Without wasting any time fearing that Rex would reach the invisible barrier, King Baralt immediately started to control his kingly energy before the King Mark on his forehead started to create roots that spread on his forehead almost like veins.

"Super Full-Moon Incarnation!", he mutters before his King Mark exploded with energy.

Boom!

King Baralt's eyes are now engulfed with his kingly energy and his speed also increases tremendously, he started stepping on air which propels him faster and faster above. His movement has turned completely different.

Feeling something approaching quickly from the back, Rex looks down and saw King Baralt.

'He did something again...', Rex thought with a frown.

Although he was already using everything that he have to reach the invisible energy, King Baralt is closing in and Rex was forced to clash once again. Both of them exchanged blow after blow as they spiraled into the sky.

While fighting King Baralt, Rex finds that his fighting style has changed completely.

It was like fighting a whole new Werewolf that is not animalistic but more in technique, completely the opposite of how King Baralt's fighting style earlier. Under the new movement, an attack swiftly went through his defense like a snake.

Stab!

"Rrrghh!", Rex grunted as his stomach got stabbed by King Baralt's claws.

Blood gushed out due to King Baralt's digging claws, but Rex didn't back down and bites King Baralt's shoulder powerfully with his sharp fangs. On top of that, he also activates his Absolute Predominance Fangs.

Rex manages to activate his Absolute Predominance Fangs, but its effect was different.

When he used the Absolute Predominance Fangs on Adhara back at the stadium, the Absolute Predominance Fangs injected dark moonlight energy which causes blockage inside her body. It even manages to turn her veins black and instill absolute obedience.

But instead of getting the same effect as that, the skill did nothing but enhance his biting power.

Crack!

Roar!

King Baralt roared in pain after having his collarbone crushed by Rex's bite, blood got smeared on his mouth but he didn't intend to let go. It takes a powerful slash and a kick from King Baralt to force Rex to let go.

Even though he lets go, he doesn't forget to take a huge chunk of flesh with him.

Just when he was about to fly up again to reach the invisible barrier, Rex stopped and glance over his shoulder when he heard a shout coming from below. From the voice, he knows that the shout comes from Flunra.

"REX!!", Flunra shouted from below, raising his right arm to the sky.

Around him were countless Red Demons that are encircling and pummeling him from all directions, he was slowly being overflowed by the attacks. Turns out that even for an old Werewolf like Flunra, taking on such a number of Red Demons is too much to handle.

Upon seeing the rune on his palm, Rex nodded his head as he points his index finger at it.

Without needing him to control the kingly energy which he can't since he hasn't reached the first ascension yet, his own kingly energy got sucked into the ancient rune engraved with blood on Flunra's palm.

It takes nothing but a moment before the kingly energy fueled the rune on Flunra's palm.

Flunra then jumped high into the sky while many Red Demons that has wings followed after him, but with his devastatingly fast reflex, he parried these Red Demons before he points his palm with the ancient rune down.

A fierce glint can be seen in his eyes as he slammed his palm onto the ground.

SHINGG!!

Upon doing that the entire hellish ground started to light up with red light that quickly shaped into a formation, and after the entire formation glows the ground started trembling uncontrollably, catching the Red Demons off guard.

But in the next second after one blink from the red light, the ground exploded with power.

KABOOM!!

A Werewolf head made entirely of chaotic kingly energy burst out of the ground and swallow everything that was inside its mouth, Flunra was the exception while hundreds of Red Demons got swallowed by the Werewolf head.

Each Red Demon that is engulfed by the Werewolf head feels pain all over.

With the kingly energy supplied directly by Rex, the swallowed Red Demons feel a thousand needly stabbing their bodies and even shattering their bodies like glass bit by bit as they growl and wail in pain.

It didn't take long before the Red Demons' bodies disappeared completely.

Meanwhile, Adhara and Gistella are currently dealing with the three-headed demonic dog.

Azzen watches from the side and the Supernaturals around the two of them are cheering as if they are watching a fight in the colosseum, it made Adhara and Gistella angry but if they were to fight the three-headed demonic dog alongside the other Supernaturals then they would definitely die.

Both of them have no choice but become objects to watch for the Supernaturals.

Despite the three-headed demonic dog doesn't have any particular power except for its very strong body and lava breath, Adhara and Gistella find it hard to beat it. Fighting demons using fire is futile which put Adhara at a disadvantage, while Gistella doesn't have enough strength to injure the three-headed Demonic Dog.

While dodging the three-headed Demonic Dog's attack, Adhara can't help but steal a glance.

'Kyran... we need you right now! Please quickly evolve and help us!', Adhara thought while stealing glances at Kyran that is still undergoing his evolution process, the both of them can't deal with the situation they are in right now.

Shifting her eyes back to Azzen, Adhara then frowned.

'If they really wanted to kill us all then why are they playing with us? We're under their mercy, and Rex is still fighting with the other Kings', she thought in confusion, but the cheeky smile on Azzen's face is pissing her off.

As she dodges a lava breath and jumps back, Adhara suddenly realized something.

Gistella sprinted from the side swiftly before her body was slowly covered by bronze scales, she then jumped straight at the three-headed Demonic Dog before she exerts everything into her claws and hacks them powerfully.

Slash!

Upon being hit by this, the three-headed Demonic Dog got pushed back and topples over.

The ground trembles under the three-headed Demonic Dog's weight as it falls to the ground, and this sparks a huge reaction from the crowd of Supernaturals and also Azzen that is already clapping his hands as if he was actually watching entertainment.

"What kind of bloodline is that? A Werewolf using Death Energy? Now that's fun", he commented.

But standing back up before roaring powerfully, the three-headed Demonic Dog gathers lava inside its mouth before spitting it straight at Gistella. With a quick movement, Gistella wanted to dodge but Adhara suddenly appeared in front of her.

Upon seeing this, Gistella widened her eyes, "What are you doing?! Get out of the way!"

Seeing that Adhara didn't try to do anything as the blue lava that is strong enough to melt an eighth-rank creature is heading towards her, Gistella shouted but was ignored by Adhara. In a hurry, she wanted to conjure a barrier to block the blue lava but was a bit too late.

"ADHARA!!", Gistella shouted in worry as her eyes widened in shock.

Even though Adhara is stronger than her right now, that is only because of her bloodline which is very effective against a Werewolf. In the durability part, Gistella is way stronger than Adhara. If hit by the blue lava, she will definitely suffer a great injury much less Adhara.

Knowing that fact, she was terrified when she saw Adhara letting herself be hit by the blue lava.

Just as the blue lava was about to hit her, a gush of energy hits the blue lava and blocks it completely. Gistella feels a sense of relief inside of her seeing this but when she tries to find who's the one that did it, she can't help but frown.

It was Azen, he was the one that blocks the blue lava that was about to hit Adhara.

Upon seeing this Adhara can't help but smiles sinisterly as she gazes at Azen that doesn't have a smile on his face anymore, "Seems like my guess is correct, I've seen right through you. You never bore killing intent towards us from the start..."

"I thought that you're just good at hiding it, but it seems that's not the case", she added.

Azen's expression got increasingly darker while Gistella's expression got increasingly confused upon hearing what Adhara said, both of them has a completely different reaction to what she just said.

Smiling cheekily, Adhara then said while stepping closer to Azen.

"That act of you saving me from that attack prove my guess was right. Hey, you cowardly demon... be honest with us already, I know you're not playing with us because you want to do it. All that confidence, but the truth is you just can't kill us"

"Not that you can't but you simply don't have the balls to do it..."
