

Feel the Way You Feel, My Love Chapter 731

“What is it?” Natalie was sitting at the desk, editing the blueprint submitted by one of the designers. She couldn’t help but chuckle after listening to Joyce. “I got Mr. Shane’s hair for you,” Joyce said. Natalie was shocked and accidentally dropped her pencil on the desk. “How did you get it?” “Well... Fine, I’ll be honest with you. I didn’t go to the textile mill but went to Thompson Group instead. Since Mr. Shane mistreated you, I was furious and wanted to scold him for you. Also, I pulled a few hair strands from his head before I left,” Joyce explained while touching her nose. Natalie’s lips quirked, for she was both touched and rendered speechless. “My goodness. Wouldn’t you worry that he might take revenge against you?” “Rest assured that he wouldn’t end my life because of it,” Joyce said nonchalantly and shrugged. Natalie shook her head and asked, “So, where are you now?” “I’ve left Thompson Group and will come back to the company right away to give you the hair strands. Besides, I’ve something else to tell you.” “Alright. Have a safe journey.” Natalie nodded. After the call ended, Joyce hailed a cab and left.

After Joyce left in the cab, a figure emerged from behind the flower bed at the entrance of Thompson Group, staring intently in the direction of the cab. Looking in the direction where Joyce left, she thought, If I’m not mistaken, Joyce got Shane’s hair and wants to hand it over to Natalie. Could it be that Natalie plans to do a DNA test for Shane and her two bastards? As the thought flashed through her mind, Jacqueline grabbed a flower in the pot and squeezed it forcefully.

“It can’t happen. I must destroy Shane’s hair to stop Natalie from using it to do a DNA test,” Jacqueline murmured to herself in a frightening voice.

She had supposedly left the building earlier but came back because she found out that she had left something.

Hence, Jacqueline happened to see Joyce coming out of the building.

Since Jacqueline

couldn’t win an argument with Joyce and didn’t want to confront her, she hid near the entrance and accidentally overheard Joyce’s conversation.

What a coincidence! Otherwise, everything that I’ve achieved thus far would come to naught! Jacqueline believed if Shane knew that the kids were his children, he would eventually forgive Natalie.

Given that Jacqueline worked so hard to drive a wedge between Natalie and Shane, she would never allow Natalie to succeed this time.

With that, Jacqueline took a deep breath and left.

On the other hand, Joyce returned to the company and handed over the strands of hair to Natalie.

As Natalie opened the tissue paper and saw five strands of hair in it, her lips curled into a smile. “Thank you, Joyce.”

“You’re welcome.” Joyce waved her hand.

After keeping the hair, Natalie asked, “By the way, you said over the phone that you’ve something to tell me. What is it about?”

“It’s not a big deal. I saw Jacqueline when I went to Thompson Group.

She will start working with Thompson Group tomorrow as Mr. Shane’s secretary.” As Joyce explained, she also observed Natalie’s expression.

Natalie was startled for a while. Then, she lowered her gaze to avoid Joyce’s gaze. “I see.”

“Nat, please be careful. I can see that Joyce hasn’t given up on Mr. Shane. Although she is dating Dr. Baker now, it doesn’t mean that she won’t seduce Mr. Shane,” Joyce reminded.

Natalie pursed her lips and said, “I understand.”

“Okay,” Joyce nodded and continued, “There’s another matter. I found out why Mr. Shane’s attitude toward you changed dramatically.”

“What?” Natalie stared at Joyce with her widened eyes. She immediately grabbed Joyce’s hand and asked nervously. “Is that true? Have you figured out the reason?”

“Nat, please calm down.” Joyce was taken aback by Natalie’s emotional response. She patted Natalie’s hand as a gesture for Natalie to calm down.

Meanwhile, Natalie also came back to her senses and realized that she was overly emotional. She put her hands away from Natalie and apologized, “I’m sorry. I was too nervous because I wished to know the answer.”

Natalie had been mentally abused by Shane for many days and would probably go insane soon. Hence, she wished to know the reason behind it badly.

Also, Natalie was frustrated because Shane didn’t want to reveal the reason to her at all.

Feel the Way You Feel, My Love Chapter 732

“I understand.” Joyce flashed Natalie a smile and explained, “To be frank, I didn’t know the exact reason because Mr. Shane didn’t tell me. On the contrary, Mr. Campbell revealed some information to me. Well, we initially thought you did something wrong and provoked Mr.

Shane, but it turned out that it was related to Yulia instead.”

“My mom?”

“Yes, Mr. Campbell said it’s related to Yulia. Since Yulia passed away and you’re Yulia’s daughter, Mr. Shane has no other option but to vent his anger at you,” Joyce added.

Natalie replied bewilderedly, "But my mom never offended Shane. I mean, the first time she met Shane was four years ago, and she went overseas two days later. When she came back... That is why I'm sure that my mom wasn't involved in it." Besides, if my mom did something wrong, why wasn't Shane angry back then but now?

Joyce grabbed her hair as she said, "I feel curious about it too. Could it be that Yulia did something in the past but not recently? Also, did she offend someone else from the Thompson family instead of Mr. Shane himself? Perhaps Mr. Shane only knew what happened recently."

Natalie fell silent upon hearing it. After a while, she calmed herself down and shook her head. "It is impossible. My mom is kind-hearted. Apart from offending Susan, her daughter, and my dad, she didn't make enemies with anyone else. As for the Thompson family, Shane doesn't get along well with Sean. Besides, Shane's parents passed away a long time ago, while David passed away seven years ago."

"Wait a minute, Nat. I remember you had said previously that Yulia was David's goddaughter. Am I right? Besides, David brought Mr. Shane up since he was young. So, for Mr. Shane, David is always his closest family member. In that case..."

"Are you suggesting that my mom did something to David before? Is Shane cold to me because he knew it recently?" Natalie looked at Joyce with her widened eyes.

Joyce nodded and responded, "I can't think of another reason apart from this."

Natalie buried her head in her arms and said in a deep voice, "But I've no idea about what happened between my mom and David in the past. Moreover, I knew that my mom was David's goddaughter only because she told me four months ago." A moment later, Joyce rested her arm on Natalie's shoulder and said, "Should we ask Jared? Since Jared wasn't healthy when he was young, Yulia took care of him at home. So, I think he knows a lot about Yulia." Natalie's eyes beamed instantly. "You're right. I'll call Jared right away." With that, she hastily took out her phone. Since it was nighttime in the country where Jared stayed, Natalie thought Jared had probably went to bed and wouldn't pick up the phone. A moment later, Natalie was surprised to hear Jared's voice. "Nat?" "Jared, am I disturbing you?" Natalie asked gently. After Yulia passed away, Jared was Natalie's closest family member besides her two kids. "Not at all. I just came back from an exhibition in the art gallery. Is there anything you want to tell me?" Jared coughed slightly as soon as he asked Natalie. Natalie was nervous upon hearing it. "Jared, are you not feeling well?" "It's just a slight cold. I'm fine, and don't worry about me," Jared laughed lightly. Despite her worries, Natalie couldn't be there to take care of Jared, for they were in different countries. "Have you seen the doctor?" Natalie asked in concern.

Jared nodded and replied, "Yes, and I've to take medicine given by the doctor. Anyway, I feel a lot better today and should recover tomorrow." "I'm relieved to hear that." Natalie's lips curled into a smile. Jared continued, "So, Nat, do you have something to tell me?" "It's not a big deal, but I have a question to ask you. When Mom took care of you at home, did she always meet David?" Natalie asked. Jared tilted his head in bewilderment as he answered, "Are you referring to Shane's grandfather?" "Yes," Natalie murmured a response.

Jared nodded and said, “Yes, she always looked for David. Mom told me that she was David’s goddaughter.”

“When Mom went to see David, did you feel something was off?”

Natalie continued to ask.
