

G.H Hooked 701

Chapter 701

“Fake?”

Olivia looked at Zac in disbelief. “But it sounded like Dorothy, and it was from a recording device...”

Zac smiled and grabbed her hand, pulling it to the front of the computer. Then, after a few clicks of the mouse, he was playing the recording.

“Dorothy, are you asking to die? Do you believe that I’ll kill you?”

Olivia was stunned when she heard that. She pointed at the computer and said, ‘T-that’s my voice.’”

“Yeah. This is a synthesizer, so I can fake anyone’s voice if I wanted to.”

Olivia looked as if she had discovered a new continent. She laughed. “This is amazing! You can pass this off as genuine.”

Zac chuckled and replied, “Of course, so we can’t use the recording as evidence in court. This is why.”

“I see.”

However, her expression darkened. “However, the recording she got of US is real...”

“Don’t worry. She didn’t record much.”

“How?”

Zac pointed at a small black box on the desk. "I installed a signal disruptor. But it was just a coincidence. I didn't think there would be a bug in the study."

Speaking of this bug, Olivia frowned. "Who do you think planted this?" Zac pulled a chair over and let her sit. Then, he took a sip of his soup.

"Not a lot of people come into this study.

"It can't be US, and it can't be Mrs. Simmons. Ken..."

Olivia shook her head. "Ken wouldn't do something so heinous. Who else could it be?"

Zac looked at her meaningfully and did not say anything.

Everything he wanted to say was in his silence.

To be honest, the answer was clear.

However, Olivia was subconsciously trying to protect this person, hence she excluded her.

After she thought about it, Olivia's expression changed, and her voice shook. "Is it... Jennie?"

Zac turned the computer and played a video. Coincidentally, Jennie had come in to look for him. While she was speaking, the video recorded her placing a bug under the desk.

"I didn't install the surveillance. It was put in during the renovation. You know that as a lawyer, I need to bring home a lot of documents. I was worried that someone would want to steal my clients' information, so that's why I installed it."

As he said that, Zac exhaled. "However, I didn't expect Jennie to be the first one to be recorded committing a crime."

Olivia stared at the screen. The more she looked at it, the more disconnected she felt. The more she stared at it, the dizzier she became.

It was as if she did not know this woman.

They fought before, and they fought until they sold the house, but...

Why did Jennie betray her?

She could understand the fight. Olivia understood, even when Jennie hated her so much that she sold the house and wanted to part ways with her.

However, Olivia could not understand why Jennie wanted to side with Dorothy to harm her. She also could not forgive Jennie for doing so.

She never expected or hoped to trust and carry burdens with Jennie just as she did with Zy.

However, she did not expect the friend she genuinely liked for the past four years to betray her for a man.

Coincidentally, Ken found them and pushed the door open.

"You're all here. I..."

"Ken Lucas!"

Olivia stood up and walked toward Ken. She questioned. "What did you feed Jennie? Why did she betray me for you?"

Ken was stunned. He pointed at himself and pointed at Olivia, stammering, "What are you saying? Betraying you for me?"

"Did you know Jennie before this?"

"No..."

Before Ken could finish, Olivia stopped him sternly. "You'd better think it through before answering."

Chapter 702

Ken was shocked, so he stared at Olivia for a while before turning his head to ask Zac for help.

"Liv, he won't remember if you ask him like that. Why don't you ask him calmly?"

it's not that I can't remember. I really didn't know her."

"You didn't?" Olivia glared at Ken and turned to sit back down on the chair." If you didn't, then how do you explain her betraying me?"

Ken was confused. He sat on the sofa and kept a distance from Olivia to ponder for a while.

"Liv, what do you mean by 'betray'?"

"She helped Dorothy install a bug in this study."

Ken was stunned and widened his eyes. "When?"

"A few days ago."

Ken held his head, feeling speechless. "You're saying she helped Dorothy to get back at US?"

Olivia corrected him. "To get back at me, to be more precise. Today, Dorothy used that recording to lead me to Larson's Residence and force me to admit that I'm Olivia Larson in front of Ian." it N

Ken was stumped. If he did not feel anything for Jennie at first, he now felt disgusted by her and wanted her to stay as far away as possible from him. She should never get close to him again.

He was scared of a woman like this. Simultaneously, he also despised her. She was so heartless, and she could stab you in the back without warning. Therefore, she could not stay.

"Liv, stop trusting people like her. This is not my problem..."

After saying that, he looked at Zac. "Zac, help me. How can you blame me for this?"

Zac tugged Olivia and said, "Liv, you can't blame Ken for this."

Olivia lowered her head and sighed. "I know I can't, but I don't understand. I really don't."

"Liv, I swear I never betrayed anyone! You have to believe me."

Ken lifted his hand to swear. "If I did, let me be struck by lightning!"

He panicked even more when he saw Olivia not speaking. "I've only ever loved Zy, and it took me so long to find her. How could I like someone else?"

"Did you ask her why she was doing it when she tried to be friendly with you?"

Ken thought about it. "I did. She just said she liked me."

Zac burst into laughter. "This is just your luck, then. You can't run from it."

"No! I don't want it! If I have to have it, I would rather lose twenty years of my life to bring Zy back."

Olivia pushed her hair back and smiled helplessly. "Perhaps I really don't know much about her, so that's why this happened."

Then, she exhaled. "I should call her and ask. I don't want to be kept in the dark."

Soon, she got up to walk out of the room. As she was walking, she turned to look at Ken and pointed at the food on the table. "Heat up the food for Zac, and stay with him while he finishes it all."

"Okay."

"I'll never forgive you if he doesn't."

Ken smiled bitterly. "Yes, Madam."

He could feel that ever since Olivia fought Jennie because of him, she had started to dislike him.

Olivia went back to her room, unlocked her phone, and looked at the familiar number. Before she tapped on it, her finger hovered in the air due to her nervousness.

In the end, she took a deep breath and selected the number.

However, after she tried to call, she remembered she had been blocked. Thus, she tried calling again using another number.

As she listened to the beep, her heart leaped to her throat.

Would Jennie hang up again?

Chapter 703

“Hello?”

When Olivia heard the familiar voice, her palms became sweaty. She eventually said something after a moment of silence.

“Jennie, it’s me.”

The person at the other end of the line was silent as well.

When Olivia thought she was about to hang up, Jennie spoke. “I didn’t sell your house. I only sold mine.”

“Yeah, I know.”

“Do you have anything you want to ask me?”

Olivia thought Jennie was going to argue with her again, so she was mentally prepared. Unexpectedly, Jennie sounded so calm.

Therefore, she did not know what to say.

She paused. Then, she bit her lip and responded, “I know about the bug.”

Jennie fell into another silence.

After a long time, Jennie scoffed. "Are you trying to ask me something?"

"Yes, I want to know why you betrayed me."

"Is planting a bug betraying you?"

"You should know who you were planting that bug for."

Olivia tried to suppress her anger. "It's Dorothy, right? Dorothy killed my entire family!"

"So what will you do to me? Do you want to ask your husband to hire someone to kill me, or..."

Olivia thought she could have a proper conversation with Jennie, but Jennie's attitude made her...

Perhaps Ken was right. She should not have had any expectations.

"Jennie, I'm not planning to do anything to you. I always thought you were being threatened, so that's why you sold the house and betrayed me..."

Olivia exhaled. "Now, it seems like this is just one-sided. You've disappointed me so much."

"That's right."

Jennie chuckled as if she was laughing at herself. "To be honest, there's nothing I won't tell you. I'm a very honest person."

After saying that, she paused. "I did this for Ken."

"For Ken? Do you know that Dorothy is also trying to kill him?"

“I know my limits. I won’t let them hurt Ken.”

Olivia’s brain buzzed and she could not catch her breath.

“Jennie, do you know what you’re talking about? Don’t you feel the slightest bit of regret, even now? You almost killed me today, you know that?”

Jennie was slightly stunned. “Someone will save you anyway, so why are you so scared?”

When Olivia heard that, she only had two words in her head. ‘Lost cause.’

“Alright, since you want to be that way, there’s nothing I can say.”

Olivia hung up the phone and then fell onto her bed. Tears flowed from the corners of her eyes and fell onto the bedsheet.

She did not know when Jennie turned into this.

Jennie became someone she did not recognize.

It was like she had lost her mind.

Olivia could not understand, and she did not know how to describe this.

She only felt a pang of pain in her heart.

On the other end of the line, Jennie leaned against the sofa after Olivia hung up. Then, she lowered her head to down a glass of wine.

She was already at fault. Would she go back to beg Olivia for forgiveness?

She would not forgive her.

If Olivia did not stop her from dating Ken, would they have become like this?

She did not know what Olivia said to Ken to make him so contemptuous toward her.

How did this happen?

She only wanted to pursue the man she loved. Was that so wrong?

She had no idea that Dorothy was trying to act against Olivia...

When she was intoxicated, a man sat beside her to pull her into his arms. He caressed her face and said with a grin, "Did you just go through a break up? Is that why you're drinking, baby? Do you want daddy to help you with your loneliness?"

Jennie lifted her head to look at him. She was slightly dazed, so she thought the man was Ken. Therefore, she giggled and nodded. "Okay."

Chapter 704

The next day, Olivia got up to see Zac eating downstairs. Suddenly, she remembered the matter with Jimmy and started to feel her heart getting heavy.

When should she tell him?

When Zac saw her walking downstairs, he smiled. "You're up. Did you sleep well last night?"

Olivia nodded. "Fine. Maybe I was too tired, so I fell asleep without thinking much of it."

“What did Jennie say?”

Zac knew what Olivia was like.

Once she regarded someone as her friend, she would not give them up so easily.

Olivia sighed and shook her head with a bitter smile. “Zac, I don’t know if I failed or if it was because of something else. Jennie and I can’t come back from this anymore.

I’ve thought of a lot of excuses for her, but her tone told me that they’re all lies that I made up to convince myself.”

“Ken’s right. You’re too benevolent sometimes. You shouldn’t stand with someone who’s not loyal to you.”

“I understand. But after all, this is a three-year relationship, so it feels very sudden.”

Zac peeled an egg for her and placed it on an empty plate next to her.” Have you ever thought that maybe this whole time, she’s just someone who values love?”

This reminded Olivia.

She recalled the countless blind dates Jennie went on during the three years they were friends. However, none of them worked out. Jennie was also in a few relationships but she never took them seriously.

Therefore, Olivia never thought of Jennie as someone who prioritized love.

It seemed as if everything changed when Ken appeared.

All of her principles went out the window, and all of Olivia's advice became her obstacle.

Olivia frowned. "I remember now that you've mentioned it. She changed because of Ken. Back then, she was not interested in being in a relationship.

"However, she did mention that she must fall madly in love once in her lifetime, the kind that would make her lose her mind."

"A romantic idealist."

"Hmm?"

"In her head, she's certain that Ken likes her, so everyone that stops them from being together is evil. That's why you also became a villain."

Olivia ate some eggs but was still confused. "But why? What's making her so obsessed?"

Zac helped her test the temperature of the milk. "This is just nice. You can drink it now."

Shortly after, he ate his oatmeal and said, "There are two possibilities. One possibility is that they've met before. However, Ken is the one who's being chased, so this is just one-sided. The second possibility is that there's no deeper reason and they just like that person. It could be the person's demeanor or appearance, or perhaps it's just because it's them. No reason."

Olivia drank some of her milk and shook her head. "I don't understand."

"Forget it. Don't think about this. You're destined to never understand some people."

Zac narrowed his eyes, and a look of desolation flashed across his face.” To them, the person they like is the priority, and anyone else is unimportant. You can’t understand it even if you rack your brains. It’s because you’re just not that kind of person.”

Olivia lifted her head to look at Zac. She parted her lips to say something, but nothing came out.

She kept feeling as if Zac knew something.

After breakfast, Zac called out to her after he finished reading his newspaper. “Liv, go change. You’re coming with me.”

“Where?”

“Quinton Group.”

‘Quinton Group?’

Olivia thought she misheard him, so she ran over nervously. “Why? Are you going to lay your cards on the table with Jimmy? Don’t. Your body...”

Zac held her hand and said softly, “Don’t worry. I won’t do that, but I’m going to get back what belongs to me.

“You didn’t forget that Quinton Group doesn’t belong to the Quintons, right?”

Olivia nodded. “I remember.”

Quinton Group was originally called Durham Group, and it belonged to Zac’s grandfather. However, his grandfather died, so Jimmy coaxed Zac’s mother to sign the transfer agreement. In just a blink of an eye, he had changed Durham Group to Quinton Group.

Jimmy promised he would give half of the shares to Zac once he became an adult, but in the end, Zac did not receive a single penny.

Chapter 705

On the way to Quinton Group, Zac noticed Olivia frowning the entire journey and looking apprehensive. He joked. "Liv, we're only going to Quinton Group, not the execution grounds. You don't have to be so nervous."

"I'm not."

Zac reached out to unfurrow her eyebrows. He laughed. "Your eyebrows are so tightly knitted together and you're still claiming you're not nervous?"

Olivia rubbed the space between her eyebrows. "Am I?"

"Yeah, you don't have to worry. He won't do anything to me."

"But..."

Back then, Jimmy asked someone to run Zac over with a car because he was unwilling to marry Dorothy as per his orders. If Zac went to ask for his shares now, wouldn't he offend Jimmy even more?

"No!"

Olivia grabbed Zac. "We should have planned this. If we barge in like this, I worry that we'll provoke your father and he'll kill..."

"Kill?"

Olivia bit her lip and did not know what to say.

Zac smiled at her. "Are you worried that Jimmy will kill me?"

Olivia's pupils constricted and she nodded. "Yeah."

"I know he planned the accident."

'You do?'

Olivia blamed herself. "I was horrible at pretending. That's why you figured it out..."

"It's not because of you. Wilbur found out too, and he should have found out at the same time as Ken."

"Are you not mad?"

Zac smiled coldly. "I should have guessed it long ago, so that's why I don't feel anything for it. He only cares about himself and was even willing to use my mother. So, I don't think it's so surprising that he wants to kill me."

"But you still want to go ask for the shares? He won't give them to you."

"I know."

Zac rolled down the window and chuckled lightly. "I know he's behind the accident. That's why I want to go ask him for the shares."

"Back then, I thought he'd leave me alone if I stayed away from him. That way, I won't have to keep going against him."

"However, reality told me that he will only force me into things more and more."

After he said that, he held Olivia's hand. "I should thank you. You showed me that I was just running away this entire time."

Once he said that, Olivia knew he must already have a plan. She pursed her lips and said, "I will support you no matter what you do."

"It's so nice to have you around. You've given me a lot of confidence."

"What do you need me to do later?"

"You don't have to do anything. You just need to push me."

Quinton Group.

The pair took the elevator to the top floor. Then, Olivia pushed Zac to the CEO's office, but they were stopped by the secretary.

"Please wait. Have you made an appointment?"

Olivia pointed at Zac. "Does Zac need to make an appointment to see his father?"

The secretary's expression remained unchanged. "I'm sorry, everyone in this office needs to make an appointment to see Mr. Quinton. Plus, he's in a meeting now, so if you want to see him, you should wait."

Olivia scanned the door. "You're asking US to wait at the door?"

"Yes, this is a company rule."

'You...'

Zac patted her hand. "Pheeb, let's go there to wait for my father."

'Zac...'

Zac shook his head at her to tell her to stop speaking.

For lack of a better option, Olivia could only push him to a waiting area beside them. "Why are you obeying a secretary?"

"I've never worked here. Plus, I'm also a cripple, so, of course they will disrespect me."

"But..."

Zac whispered something in her ears and then comforted her softly. "I'm fine. I'm just worried you'll be upset."

"I'm fine. I just can't stand them treating you like that."

"Honey."

Olivia was stunned when he called her that. She stared at him blankly.

Zac smirked when he saw her reaction. "I just wanted to see your reaction. You're so cute."

Chapter 706

Olivia's ears turned red. "Stop playing. How can you crack jokes at a time like this?"

“We’re husband and wife anyway. Can’t I call you that?”

Olivia could not retort. So, she pouted and ignored him.

At this moment, a man walked out of the elevator and headed toward the CEO’s office. However, when he walked past the secretary, she did not stop him. Instead, the secretary stepped up and greeted the man respectfully.

“Mr. Fabian, are you here for Mr. Quinton?”

“Yeah. Is he around?”

‘Yes. You can just go in.’

“Alright.”

Before entering, the man turned to look at Olivia and Zac. He asked, “Are they clients?”

“No, they are Mr. Quinton’s son and his wife.”

The man nodded and then walked over to stretch out his hand. “Zac, hello. My name is Fabian.”

Zac looked at him and shook his hand. “Hello.”

‘Why do you need to see Mr. Quinton? If it’s urgent, I can help you pass the message on to him.’

“It’s fine. We can wait for him here.”

“Alright then.”

Fabian smiled apologetically and then said to the secretary, “Lily, get some tea for Mr. and Mrs. Quinton. Get them a fruit platter as well. My meeting with Mr. Quinton might take some time.”

The secretary nodded with a grin. “Alright, Mr. Fabian.”

Once Fabian left, Olivia whispered, ‘Zac, the secretary is like a different person in front of him.’

“Of course. That’s the general manager of Quinton Group. How can we be treated the same way as him?”

“I think Fabian deliberately came here to show off.”

Zac looked as if he already knew. “Of course he would.”

As he said that, he got close to Olivia’s ear and whispered, ‘That’s Jimmy’s b*stard child.’

Olivia’s eyes widened and she looked at him in disbelief. “You know him?”

“Since I was planning to come here, I’ve researched everything. There is more than one of them here.”

This completely changed Olivia’s worldview.

Ever since she was young, her father loved her and her mother. He did not even have a mistress, let alone an illegitimate child.

Even though the Larson family was loaded, her father did not need to attend any social niceties, and he would come home for dinner every day.

Even after her mother died, her father never had any scandals.

Thinking about it now, Olivia could understand why he jumped off the building to kill himself.

Perhaps he felt that it was meaningless to continue living. After all, Ian and Olivia were not as important to him as his wife.

On the contrary, the Quinton family was the complete opposite.

However, what impressed Olivia the most was how calm and indifferent Zac appeared.

It was as if this was normal and he did not care.

“My father has a lot of women out there, so a few of them are bound to get knocked up and have children.”

Zac knew Olivia was shocked, so he continued. “Even if someone brings a one-month-old child over and tells me it’s Jimmy’s son, I won’t be surprised.”

At this moment, she suddenly felt how strong Zac was.

Perhaps he knew this, so that was why the accident was his last straw.

Olivia grabbed his hand tightly. It was as if Zac would do something stupid if she let go.

Zac lifted his head to look at her. Then, he smiled, feeling very satisfied.

Even though he lost a lot of things in the accident, he also gained a lot from the misfortune.

As he was thinking about that, the door of the CEO's office opened and Fabian walked out. "Mr. Zac Quinton, Mr. Jimmy Quinton is asking for you two."

Zac returned to his senses and patted Olivia's hand. "Let's go."

Olivia got up to push the wheelchair into the office. However, Fabian stopped them at the door.

"Mr. Zac, you've never come to the company before. Is something major happening?"

Zac lifted his head to look at Fabian. Then, he responded calmly. "Do I need to set a date to see my father?"

Chapter 707

Coldness flashed across Fabian's eyes, but it disappeared quickly and was replaced with a smile.

"Of course not! It's no problem for a son to see his father."

Zac also smiled. "I'll be going in now. Excuse me."

After saying that, Olivia pushed Zac into the room.

As Fabian turned around, he glared at the pair's backs coldly. He huffed "Heh, so what if you're legitimate? You're useless and you don't even have authority. Even though you're crippled now, you're still so arrogant. I'll make sure you suffer sooner or later."

When Olivia pushed Zac into the office, Jimmy did not lift his head to look at them. Instead, he pointed to a sofa perfunctorily and said, "Wait there. I need to take care of this."

Once he said that, he stood up and grabbed some documents before leaving the room. Now, only Zac and Olivia remained in the room.

Zac looked around and lowered his head to say something to Olivia. Then, the two chuckled.

While they waited, the two were either gossiping about what they saw on the Internet or talking about recipes. Aside from that, they would also flirt with each other.

This made Jimmy, who was watching the surveillance footage from the other room, very unhappy.

They should be exposing their true intentions and not be so lovey-dovey!

Just like that, Jimmy had watched an hour of footage but did not get any of the useful information he was looking for.

In the end, he could only barge back into the office angrily.

“Zac, can’t you just call? Why do you have to come here?”

Jimmy tossed the documents onto the desk. “I’m very busy, and I don’t have time for you.”

Zac looked at the anger in his eyes and curled his lips. “Dad, I want to work here.”

When Jimmy heard that, he stopped in his tracks and lifted his head to look at Zac. “What?”

“I want to work in Quinton Group.”

Zac repeated.

Jimmy walked over in disbelief. “Zac, when did you think this through?”

Didn't you say you wouldn't work here under any circumstances?"

Then, he looked at Olivia. "Didn't you get married to get out of my control? Won't you be living under my control if you work here?"

"Dad, I'm more mature now that I've gotten married."

Zac grabbed Olivia's hand and said with a grin, "Pheeb's hoped I could find a job. Now that I'm a cripple, I can't go to court, so she asked if I could come to you to see if I can get a job here."

Jimmy looked at the two for a very long time. Then, he chuckled and said, "Sure. I told you that you're my only son, and everything I do is for you."

As he said that, he gestured. "The entire Quinton Group will be yours in the future. You can be anything you want. You choose."

"Really?"

"Sure."

"I want to be the director of the Legal Department."

Jimmy was taken aback. He thought he misheard Zac. "What did you say?"

The Legal Department?"

"Yeah." Zac and Olivia looked at each other and smiled. "Pheeb's was worried that the change would be too hard on me, so she wanted me to do something that I'm used to. After all, I'm familiar with legal stuff."

Before Jimmy could say anything, Zac added, "Also, I can get into contact with all other departments if I'm in the Legal Department. So, I will know Quinton Group's main supply chain. That will make it easier for me to get the hang of running the company later, no?"

Jimmy did not know what to say for the time being, so he only chuckled in embarrassment. "I just got a new batch of red wine. It's not bad. Do you want to try it?"

"Dad, do you think it's inappropriate for me to become the director immediately after showing up?"

Zac had an honest look on his face. "To be honest, I want to be the general manager, but I just met Fabian, and I figured he's pretty competent.

"Also, I don't want to make things hard for you. I don't want others to think I just appeared out of nowhere and prevented others from rising through the ranks. So... I decided to be a director of a department.

'Will it still be hard on you, Dad?'

Chapter 708

Since Zac had said that, it would make Jimmy look suspicious if he still rejected him.

Even if they were fighting behind the scenes, they still needed to look harmonious on the surface.

Especially when Jimmy still wanted to use Zac to get back at the Jameson family. So, he could not leave Zac with nothing.

Hence, he smiled. "Sure, of course. The director of the Legal Department, right?"

'Yes, Dad.'

“When are you planning to come to work?”

‘What do you think?’

Jimmy looked at him and then at Olivia. “It’s up to you, but I’m worried that you won’t be able to handle it.”

Then, he justified himself. “However, you can just familiarize yourself with the environment first. You don’t need to work overtime. It all depends on you.”

“Alright, I’ll come to work next Monday.”

“Okay, sure. I’ll get HR to arrange this for you.”

‘Thank you, Dad.’

Jimmy’s smile looked forced as he patted Zac’s shoulder. ‘Why are you thanking me? We’re father and son.’

“I’ve never managed Quinton Group before, yet I’m taking on the position of a director the moment I arrive. Of course I have to thank you.”

Zac was smiling harmlessly. “Well, that’s it for today. I’ll head back with Pheebbs now.”

Olivia grabbed his hand. “Honey, it’s time for your meds.”

After saying that, Olivia took out the box filled with Zac’s medications and handed five or six different pills to him. ‘Take them now.’

“Can’t I take them at home?”

“No, it’ll be too late then. You have to hurry. It will be less effective if you take them late.”

In front of Jimmy, Zac sighed and put the five pills into his mouth helplessly.

“I’m sorry, Dad. Zac needs to go back to rest now. We’ll visit you another day.”

“Okay. Run along.”

Jimmy was still a little dazed after the two left.

‘Are they really so lovey-dovey?’

“Dad, are you sure you want to let him join Quinton Group and be a Legal Department director? We have a lot of confidential documents over there.”

Fabian rushed into the office after he saw Zac and Olivia leave.

“Do you have any objections?”

“Of course! You said the company was mine, but now, you say it’s his. You even let him join...”

“Shut up!”

“Dad, I started working in Quinton Group after graduation and only got to where I am by working up step-by-step. I did...”

“I told you to shut up!”

Jimmy was mad. He glared at Fabian coldly and said, "Fabian, he's my only son to the outside world despite everything else. Do you want me to be mean to my son?"

'What about me?'"

Fabian looked at Jimmy unhappily. "I gave so much to the company. I'm not worse off than him, right?"

"Did I say I wouldn't give it to you? You have the company's shares, and he has nothing. Why haven't you mentioned that?"

"I deserve it!"

Jimmy glared at Fabian. Then, he grabbed the document on the desk and slapped it across Fabian's head.

"You good-for-nothing! Are you dissatisfied? He's a director, and you're already scared? Are you incompetent? Do you think you can't compare to him?"

Jimmy tossed the document on the ground. 'You're a waste of space!

You've been with me for so long, and you only look at the things in front of you. If you continue to behave this way, I will ask you to resign from your post now, forget preventing you from taking over the company."

Fabian panicked. He quickly picked up the document and pleaded, "Dad, I will listen to you and not do this again. Don't kick me out."

"Heh. If you can chase him away, I won't stand in your way."

Fabian was a little joyful. "Really? Won't you be angry with me?"

Jimmy peered at him coldly. "But if you destroy the company's reputation or harm the company in any way, I will make sure you suffer. Do you understand?"

'Yes!'

Fabian clenched his fist and chuckled coldly.

'Well, well, Zac. How dare you fight me for the company? I will make you wish you were dead!'

Chapter 709

"Li V, how was my performance just now?"

Olivia burst into laughter. "I almost believed you were filial."

"Jimmy loves to be complimented. Also, he always wanted me to submit to him. So, there's no reason for him to be unhappy now that I was all over him like that."

"Zac, what's your next plan?"

"I will need to look at a lot of information when I'm in the Legal Department. That way, I'll be able to find flaws."

Zac looked at her and chuckled coldly, "I'll bring Quinton Group down, make him beg me to help him, and then I'll help him build Quinton Group up again."

"However, Quinton Group is your grandfather's blood, sweat, and tears. If it collapses..."

Zac smiled mysteriously. "Don't worry. I won't let that happen."

'At most, I'll just cripple it.'

The two went back to Elegance Gardens. After lunch, Olivia pushed Zac as they took a stroll in the yard.

Mrs. Simmons smiled gladly as she watched from one side.

Compared to how she was with her previous husband, Mrs. Simmons felt that Olivia was much happier now that she was with her current husband.

Even though they still encountered a lot of trouble, this one never made Olivia worry.

On the other hand, the previous one always made Olivia cry.

From the looks of it, Mrs. Simmons could tell that Olivia felt grateful for her current husband. They were more like close friends compared to lovers.

However, Mrs. Simmons was happy as long as Olivia had someone to spend her life with. It would not matter if it was love.

As she was thinking about that, someone rushed in to push Mrs. Simmons away. Then, the person rushed before Olivia.

"Pheeb, help me!"

Olivia was surprised by her. When she was about to push her away, she saw Jennie kneeling in front of her, her eyes red from crying. Furthermore, her hair was in a mess, and her clothes looked like they had been torn apart by someone.

"Please help me, okay?"

"What are you doing? Get up."

“Pheebs, I’m sorry. I shouldn’t have done that to you, and I shouldn’t have gotten mad at you. I also shouldn’t yell at you, but please help me for the sake of our past relationship, okay?”

Jennie was very arrogant. If it was nothing big, she would not come and beg Olivia for help.

“Get up and tell me what’s going on. Only then can I decide if I will help you.”

‘You can!’

Olivia was agitated. “If you don’t get up, I won’t help you.”

When Jennie heard that, she got up. “Pheebs, please, I can’t show my face around people anymore.”

“What happened?”

“I... I’m being blackmailed.”

“Blackmailed?”

“I was sad last night so I went drinking at the bar. I got drunk and a guy came to flirt with me. I was so drunk I thought he was Ken, so... so...”

Jennie wailed as she told Olivia what happened. “When I woke up in the morning, I found out I slept with someone. I thought it was just a normal one-night stand. Even though I was devastated, I tried my best to forget it...”

“But I didn’t expect him to take photos of me, and there’s even a video!”

She sniffed and started crying even louder. ‘They want me to give them ten million, or else they’ll post the video and photos online...

“I can’t bring myself to face Ken anymore. I don’t want him to know about this. I will be so embarrassed if that happens, so please help me...”

Olivia had mixed feelings. ‘You should have the money, right? Didn’t you sell the house? I also gave you the money for the atelier. Do you not have it?’

“But... it’s not in my account yet. I only have three million right now, and they asked me to give it to them before midnight.”

Zac had not said a word the entire time, but now he suddenly interjected” Only that? Nothing else?”

Jennie bit her lip and looked at Olivia. ‘There’s another thing. They asked me to bring the money to this one place myself. If not, they won’t give me the backup.’

‘What? Do you have to do that yourself?’

Olivia frowned. “Let’s call the police.”

“No! Pheeb, don’t.”

Jennie looked at Olivia in terror. “I think they know you...”

Chapter 710

“Know me? How?”

“When they called me, the person said that if I don’t have the money, I can get it from my friend Phoebe. Isn’t she Mrs. Quinton?”

Olivia was shocked. She then lowered her head to look at Zac. They knew this was not as simple as it seemed.

“Mrs. Simmons, take Ms. Sutherland to have a shower and change out of her clothes.”

‘Yes, Miss.’

“Pheeb, are you not willing to help me...”

‘Ten million is not a small amount, so I need to talk to Zac about this. Go take a shower. We’ll tell you after we talk about it, okay?’

Jennie was a little worried. “Pheeb, are you not mad at me?”

Olivia did not answer. “Do you have a photo of that man?”

‘Yeah. I’ll send it to you.’

“Okay.”

Olivia pushed Zac past Jennie and then said to Mrs. Simmons softly, ‘Take care of her for me.’

Then, she pushed Zac to the second floor.

Once they reached the study, Olivia sat on the sofa. She felt like her brain was a mess.

Even if Jennie betrayed her, this blackmail was clearly targeted at her.

She kept feeling like she had harmed Jennie, so she blamed herself a little.

“Liv, I won’t allow you to blame yourself.”

Olivia lifted her head to look at Zac. Then, she pursed her lips and did not say anything.

“Remember, the people who betrayed you are not worthy of your pity. Dorothy almost killed you and Ian yesterday. If John didn’t show up in time, what do you think would have happened?”

“She betrayed you and now she’s back and apologizing because she needs your help. Do you think it’s worth blaming yourself for someone like this?”

“Of course, I know it’s not. However, these other people seem to be coming for me.”

‘You dummy.’”

Zac patted her forehead. ‘Think about it. How many enemies do you have in Ocean City?’”

Olivia was slightly stunned. Then, she pondered with a frown. “I think there’s only Dorothy.”

“See? She’s on the same team as Dorothy, so she might be helping Dorothy harm you again. Especially when she said she needs to hand the ransom in person. Have you seen blackmail like this before?”

Olivia blinked. “Are you saying we shouldn’t help her?”

‘Will you not help her just because I said so?’”

Olivia lowered her head, not daring to look at him.

Zac was too smart, and he completely saw through her.

“If I don’t allow you to help her, you will surely do it behind my back. If something happens, I’m afraid I won’t be there in time to save you.”

Zac turned his wheelchair to open the safe. Then, he took out a bank card and handed it to her. “Here’s five million. The bank card doesn’t belong to me, so I can sponsor this five million. Tell her to come up with something to make up for the rest.”

‘This is not enough.

“I already gifted her millions last time when you bought the atelier. How does she have the cheek to still ask you for money?”

Zac turned on his computer and looked through his records. “Look, she sold her house for eight million, and she also sold yours.”

Olivia was stunned. “She told me last night she didn’t sell mine.”

“She did. It’s sold to someone named Mr. M.”

‘Mr. M

Olivia finally understood. Jennie lied to her saying she did not sell it but she did.

However, the fortunate thing was that the buyer was Mr. M, so she could still think of a way to ask for it back.

However, after learning about this, Olivia’s patience had reached its limit.

She could forgive Jennie for lying to her once.

However, she kept lying to and betraying Olivia. In addition, she even made something up to get Olivia's money. She could not tolerate this.

It would be unfair to Zac if she kept tolerating Jennie.

This way, she would owe Zac too much.

"Don't think too much about this money. It's not mine, so you don't have to care about it."

"I'm sorry, Zac. You wasted so much money because of me."

"You dummy." Zac caressed her head. "We're husband and wife, so the money belongs to US both. Don't think so much. Give her the money, and that's the end of it. Break all ties with her after that."