“Yes, I’m here to accompany Evelyn. Evelyn and neighborhood and Sasha is my good friend.”

Mandy grasped the situation. It turned out Clara was there because her friends worked there.

She had thought Yohan had finally come to his senses.

Mandy glanced over and saw that Yohan was deeply engaged in conversation with Christopher. She speculated that Yohan had Clara, but the couple pretended not to know each other.

This drama was quite intriguing.

“Have fun, Ms. Fowler. I see some acquaintances and need to go say hello.”

Mandy didn’t chat long with Clara and quickly left with Chuck.

Since Mandy had greeted Clara and chatted for a bit, it drew some attention to Clara.

Clara put away her empty plate and took a glass of half–filled red wine. Then, she walked with her two friends to a quieter place.

“Clara, how do you know Ms. Smith?” Evelyn asked.

Clara calmly replied, “I met her when I went to her clinic for a toothache. Ms. Smith is a very good dentist.”

“Oh, I forgot Ms. Smith is a dentist.”

Evelyn looked around and said, “Let’s go to the garden. There’s one in front of the office building. The musical fountain there is quite beautiful.”

The three of them left the crowd and strolled into the small garden outside.

Though it was known to be a small garden, it was actually quite spacious.

The musical fountain was in the center of the garden. The water rose and fell to the rhythm of the music. Sometimes it formed graceful arcs, making it a delightful sight.

The three of them sat on a stone bench by the fountain. They made sure no one could overhear them..

Then, Evelyn leaned in and said softly, “Even though Ms. Smith is a dentist, she is also the daughter of Smith Corporation’s chairman. She’s known both Mr. Morris and Mr. Potter since they were children. They grew up together as childhood friends.

“Mr. Morris is especially aloof with young women who aren’t family. He usually has a group of bodyguards. It’s not just for protection but also to keep away admirers. But he is different with Ms. Smith. He shows her a special kind of tolerance.

“Mr. Potter is the same. He dotes on Ms. Smith. There are rumors that both Mr. Potter and Mr. Morris are in love with her. However, Ms. Smith is only interested in one of them. Neither of the men wants to

Evelyn had heard this rumor many times during her years at Morris Corporation. wⓈw.ñOVëlwöŘM.CⓈⓈ

“Ms. Zaron’s efforts are in vain. It’s understandable, though. Any woman who’s met Mr. Morris would be captivated by his cool and handsome demeanor. Mr. Morris is the dream man for many women,” Evelyn added.

This made Clara curious. She asked, “How many admirers does Mr. Morris have?”

She wanted to get a sense of it.

“Well, I don’t know the exact number, I’m not much of a gossip. What I know is what others have told me. It’s common knowledge within the company.”

Evelyn wasn’t the type to gossip. She was just sharing a few details with her old friends.

“It doesn’t matter how many admirers he has. It’s none of our WŴw.ñOVëlwöŘM.cOM concern. I certainly don’t have the courage to aspire to be with Mr. Morris. I’m nervous even just working with him. I’m afraid I’ll make a mistake,” Sasha said.

Her company had dealings with Morris Corporation.

Her boss and her senior happened to be the person responsible for those dealings.
