

Wife 91

Chapter 91

“Let’s go. Don’t keep the client waiting too long.”

Mark urged Clara and rolled up his window. His car sped off ahead, and Clara struggled to keep up with her under, less capable car.

“That old guy’s already in his 60s and still drives so fast. Once I make enough money, I’ll buy a Ferrari and leave him in the dust.”

Of course, she was just venting her frustrations. She didn’t really believe she’d ever have enough money for a Ferrari.

Even Mark couldn’t predict her future. Given his skills, it was normal. Though she regarded him as the best mentor in the world, she also saw him as the most useless.

Clara’s phone rang again. She expected it to be Stuart but saw that it was Evelyn. WwW.nOveLwOrM.CoM

Evelyn rarely called her unless something was up.

Clara slowed down and answered the call. “Evelyn, what’s up?”

“Are you still in the city?”

Clara responded with a hum. “My mentor still has work to deal with here. So we haven’t left.”

“Do you have time for dinner tonight? I’d like to ask Mr. Fowler about something. I’ve been dreaming about my grandmother for the past two nights. She appears barefoot and in her underwear at the foot of my bed.

“She looked very upset, but I couldn’t hear what she was saying. I’ve been working late every night, and these dreams are affecting my sleep. I’ve had two cups of coffee today just to stay awake.”

Evelyn’s voice was weary. Being a career woman was clearly taking its toll on her.

“Your grandmother, huh? I’ll bring him over to your place tonight.”

Evelyn was grateful. “Great, let me know when you be arriving so I can finish work and head home early.” WwW.nOveLwOrM.CoM

“Will do,” Clara agreed readily.

Evelyn’s grandmother, Diana, had just passed away not long ago. Just a few days ago, when Clara drove to Evelyn’s house, she saw Diana following Lilia, Evelyn’s mother. Clara even reassured Dianal that everything was fine at home, asking her not to worry.

It had just been a few days, and Diana was appearing in Evelyn’s dreams. WwW.noVeLWoRm.CoM

From what Evelyn described, it sounded like Diana might have been a robbery victim.

Newly dead spirits were often Vulnerable and could be easily bullied by others.

“Thank you, Clara. Since you and Mr. Fowler are in town, your should stay a bit longer. Tomorrow night is our company’s 60th anniversary celebration. We’re allowed to bring a guest. Since my parents are in my hometown and my brother is busy, I’d like you to come as my partner.”

Clara knew that this was Evelyn’s way of repaying her. Not wanting to refuse a gesture of goodwill, Clara agreed enthusiastically. ” Sure, I’ll see you tomorrow night.”

After Evelyn said her goodbyes, she ended the call.

Sure enough, she was a busy person.

Clara continued driving and suddenly realized that Evelyn worked for Morris Corporation, Yohan’s company. She would likely run into Yohan at the anniversary event.

Clara muttered to herself, “It’s funny how the world felt so big before. We barely ever crossed paths. Now that we’re married, it’s like the world shrinks. We keep running into each other.”
