

Game Over 1091

Chapter 1091 I Want to Run Jessica kept carrying her purse. By the time she reached P City, it was already past eight o'clock the next day. When she woke up, she looked down at the purse in her arms. Seeing that the purse was still there, she breathed a sigh of relief. The plane was about to land. The flight attendant started reminding them to keep their seatbelt fastened. After Jessica sat down, she looked out the window. The weather outside was good. It was a clear day and the sunlight was exceptionally bright. Squeezing out a smile, she whispered to herself. "Jessica, good luck. Mrs. Balde said she'll get someone to pick you up. You're very safe." Indeed, she had done her homework too. She had checked the information of the old woman. The grandson of the old woman was called Onyx Balde. He had his own power and ruled half of the territory of P City. Hence, Mrs. Balde told her that she was safe. There was no need to worry, she believed her. After getting off the plane, she followed the crowd to the exit of the airport. The airport here was not big and there weren't many passengers. By the time they reached the exit, her phone rang. Jessica took out her phone and answered the call. "Hello."

Judging from this number, it should be someone here to pick her up. "Miss Jessica, have you reached? We'll wait for you at the entrance. The car plate is..." Before she could hear it clearly, the phone in her hand was taken away. Jessica looked over. It was a ten-year-old boy. His clothes were torn and his face was dirty. Except for his eyes, everything else was dark. The boy glanced at her and ran away. A trace of surprise flashed across Jessica's eyes before she shouted.

"Don't run... return my phone." If she didn't have her phone, she would be in trouble. She couldn't contact the people who came to pick her up. She was a stranger in this place. Jessica followed after her and chased after him all the way out of the airport. When she reached a residential area, the kid suddenly disappeared. She stopped her steps and looked around. The streets were densely distributed. There were many small alleys. It was probably a place where the kids frequently went out, so he hid. Jessica was so angry she panted hurriedly. "Give me my phone. I can pay as much as you want." She said loudly. She felt a little helpless about this unfamiliar place. She was sweaty and her legs were trembling. Well, she was really in a bad mood now. She was just chasing and didn't notice which direction she ran. Now, she had to go back to the airport first. Mrs. Balde's men are still there. As long as she finds them, everything will be easy. She raised her hand and patted herself. She was only thinking about her phone, but she didn't think so much about it. Even if she didn't have her phone, she was still safe as long as she found the person behind Mrs. Balde. Running around would only mess up everything. Slowly, she calmed down and her thoughts slowly returned to normal. She turned around and looked around. There was a small store not far away. This residential area was very old. She tightened her coat and looked at the good weather. In fact, the cold breeze was quite cold.

Jessica walked to the entrance of the small store and asked the owner. "Excuse me, how can I get to the airport?" It was not far anyway. She didn't want to take a cab and she couldn't see a cab either. The master was a middle-aged man with small eyes. He pointed to the left lazily. Jessica glanced to the left, "Are you sure this is the right direction?" It seemed like she came from that direction just now. She was relieved Jessica smiled and said, "Thank you!" But at this moment, a middle-aged woman ran over and spoke in their local language. Soon, the man stood up and started closing the shop. Jessica hurriedly walked out and saw that the people on the streets were making a commotion and they ran to the side. Someone was carrying kids and someone carrying the luggage. Jessica looked at the quiet little street and instantly felt like they were hiding from something scary. The moment she looked around, the house next to her was exploded with dust.

Chapter 1092 Save Your Life Dust pounced onto Jessica's body and she coughed uncontrollably. Followed by the sound of gunshots, beside her, someone was beaten to the ground. The smell of blood made Jessica's eyes widen. She was frightened. She only saw this on TV. It actually happened in front of her right now. If it weren't for the real blood on the person in front of her. She must think that this is a TV set. Is this really happening? Jessica covered her mouth in fear. Tears rolled in her eyes. At this time, she regretted it. She should listen to Lizzy. It doesn't matter how much she can make, life is the most important thing. "Run, get out of here. Otherwise, you'll all die." Jessica took a glance and saw that the two of them were all dressed in flamboyant uniforms. One was light-colored while the other was dark-colored. She could only follow the refugees. Blade Family was very famous here. After escaping this disaster, she would go and find them.

As long as she gave the bracelet to Mrs. Bald, she would definitely help her. All she needed was that she could send her home. Elizabeth had always been very worried. The next day, she woke up early and called Jessica with her phone. Finally, it connected. She waited for a while but no one answered, so she called again. However, the other party hung up and switched off the phone once again. Elizabeth furrowed her eyebrows. "Jessica, why aren't you answering my phone?" Matthew got down from the bed. There was a very hickey on his neck. She bit it last night when he gave it to her too rough. When this girl was angry, she was like a leopard, very fierce. Matthew hugged her from behind and kissed her face and neck. Elizabeth hafrumphed softly, "Mmm... Matthew, stop it." last night, she was worried about Jessica, so she couldn't fall asleep, so she was dragged by him to exercise for several hours. Now that she was still exhausted, this guy seemed to have come back to life again. Matthew frowned. "What are you calling me?" His voice was low. It was hoarse and unusually sexy after waking up. Elizabeth couldn't help but laugh. "I called you all night last night. Aren't you done with it?" Why does this guy like to hear the word 'daddy? She wanted to escape from his arms, but she was held back by him. The two of them were hugging each other, and she felt that something was hard in the morning. Elizabeth's face was flushed. "You... You could not indulge yourself like this! Your body will be exhausted." Matthew smiled and kissed her on the lips. "Little fool, this is a normal physiological reaction of a man. If it isn't hard in the morning, then there will be problems. Do you think I'm going to start again? But, it's fine." Matthew pretended to pull her to the bed and she let out a scream. "Daddy, stop it. I was wrong. I shouldn't have said so." She raised her little face and the smile on the corner of her lips was very thick. It was so beautiful. Matthew couldn't help but kiss her on the cheek. "Are you worried about Jessica again?" "Jess is so stubborn. She even dares to go to P City, she has nothing but balls.” No wonder Leonard was so angry that he ran away from home, no one could contact him. Elizabeth thought of this and the smile on her face slowly disappeared.

“P City is so chaotic. I told her but she doesn’t listen to me. I called her just now and the phone was connected, but no one picked up. Do you think she’s alright?” Matthew saw how worried she looked and knew how important Jessica was to her. “Don’t overthink it. I’ve already informed my friends over there. They’ll help me take care of her. As long as Jessica appears within his jurisdiction, he’ll know.” After hearing this, Elizabeth’s eyes lit up. “Your friends sound so amazing!”

Chapter 1094 Let Him Take Care of Your Life When he looked at her again, he realized that he was hallucinating. His expression was slightly cold. He came here just to prevent him from looking for her again. However, he was still hallucinating. His hands on his knees tightened. Layla, who was sitting in the passenger seat, was also wearing the same flamboyant suit. She turned around. “Leonard, thank you for your hard work these few days.” Layla had a mission to rescue a medical team in P City. They’re in the hands of Blade Family, and Blade Family is very powerful in P City. They could not go against them, so they can only do it in secret. Layla knew that Leonard was the king of the army back then, so she asked him to accomplish this mission with her, Not only that, she knew that he was familiar with this place, and she wanted to fight side by side with her so that he could see her other side. In fact, she was a special character among women. Unlike the other girls, she wasn’t as cute nor as delicate. However, she felt that Leonard would like her type. Like this morning, when they were still rescuing someone, she and Leonard experienced life and death together.

She looked into his deep gaze, and he said indifferently, “This is what I should do.” Even though he had retired, he would not be engaged in his past work anymore. But when the country needed him, he would definitely rush forward. After they reached their campsite and got out of the car, Leonard walked to his room. He was covered in dust and sweat. He went to take a shower first. When she came out, she changed into a clean set of clothes. He took out his phone to take a look. The phone was always switched off. He wanted to turn on the phone to take a look, but in the end, he threw the phone on the table and still didn’t turn on it. Layla knocked on the door and walked in.. She was holding a bowl of fruits. The apple was cut into small pieces, and the oranges were cut into pieces. The strawberries were washed clean, and their colors were bright red. “Leonard, eat some fruits. We still have to wait for lunch.” The environment here was not very good, and a few square rooms had been temporarily rented as the campsite. Layla had taken a shower too. Her hair was disheveled and she changed into a flamboyant suit. She wore a cotton dress, looking like a local Leonard took the fruit bowl and put a piece of apple into his mouth. “I’m not hungry.” Actually, after experiencing the horrible battle this morning, it was no wonder he was not hungry. Fortunately, no one was injured this morning. Most of the medical team members had been rescued. There was only one doctor left, the most important person in the medical team. He had been shifted by the knife, so they still had to stay a few more days to rescue the doctor. Leonard raised her hand to look at her watch. “I’m going out now.” After saying that, he turned around and walked out. Layla followed behind him. "Where are you going? I'll go with you." Leonard had already gotten into the off-road vehicle. "I'm going to meet a friend. Rest well at the campsite."

Leonard drove away. Layla stood rooted to the spot and watched the car drive away. Oscar Bates walked to her side and followed her gaze to the car driving far away. "Minister Chen, the one you hired is really impressive. However, I think the two of you are quite close! Is he your boyfriend?" Layla snapped back to her senses and became serious. And to her subordinate, she was very serious, looking like a female superior with a cold expression. "No, don't think too much of it. Go and study Onyx thoroughly. See where he will hide the doctor." Oscar raised his eyebrows and scratched his head. Why did he feel like the minister was upset? "Why are you angry if he is not your boyfriend?" He thought to himself. Leonard drove to a manor in the southern district. All the way into the manor was strictly monitored. Only after entering the main entrance of the manor did the feeling of being guarded closely dissipate a little. After the car was parked, he stepped on his military boots and got out of the car. Someone welcomed him. It was the butler of this manor. He was wearing a local ethnic attire. His skin was relatively dark, and the wrinkles on his face were deep when he smiled. "Mr. Johnson, our Young Master is waiting for you!"

Chapter 1095 Enemies or Friends Leonard nodded slightly and walked into the house. In the living room, Nail Moore, in the sofa and was reading a document. There was a cup of coffee in front of him. Nail wore a white shirt, black trousers, a suit and a tie on the armrest of the sofa on the side. It seemed that he had just returned from outside. Besides, he was dressed so formally. It was probably a very formal occasion. Leonard sat opposite him. He leaned against the sofa and lit a cigarette. "Why are you looking for me?" His voice was cold, not very polite. A few years ago, the first time he came to P City, he almost died in the hands of this guy. If it weren't for Matt and the others arriving in time, he would probably have died. Hence, his attitude toward this guy was cold. The two of them were probably the same type. They didn't like each other, but they couldn't get rid of each other. Nail put down the documents in his hand and looked at him. Before he could say anything, Leonard spoke first.

"We're not interested in your business. Don't let me say anything to Matthew. He won't do anything against the law." Nail had lived here since he was a kid, so in his beliefs, there was only righteousness and blood. He used his life to make a way out, so he only believed in himself and the weapons in his hands. This was completely different from living in a peaceful country. Nail laughed. "I'm not here to talk about this." His slender fingers folded together and he said. "Get the guest a cup of coffee."/

Leonard took a puff of his cigarette and exhaled. When he saw the smile on his face, he felt a little sinister. This fellow would laugh too. In his memory, this guy was cold-blooded and heartless, he was the kind of person who killed without blinking. Nail grabbed his coffee and took a sip. "You guys have been messing around with Blade Family recently. Onyx is very unhappy. If he's unhappy, I'm happy." 1/2 When he put down the glass, the smile on the corner of his mouth became more sinister and terrifying. "That rascal, he caught so many of your doctors. Do you know why?" Nail was quite interested in his opponent, especially this recent incident. The chef here was not bad, and it suited his appetite. Oscar called out, "Can we start eating now?" "Young Master, of course." The two of them moved from the living room to the dining room. The dining table was very long and there was a white tablecloth and candles. Leonard thought to himself that this brat would rush into a forest of guns every day, but the details of his life were so delicate. There were a few dishes on the dining table. They were all delicious, and they were all from A Country. It was a way to treat Leonard. The butler poured the two of them a glass of wine while Leonard held his fork to eat. "I don't drink. I drove here. Besides, I don't know what will happen later." He ate quickly. Without his usual gentleness, he turned into a soldier. Because in this place, it was rare to have a proper meal like this. What would happen next? No one was sure. Maybe after eating this meal, he would be hungry for a few days, or maybe he won't have another meal. Of course, he won't care about his image, nor did he need to care about manners. In no time, his plate. The servant served him another one. Nail held the wine glass with one hand and shook it gently. Then, he took a sniff and took a sip gracefully. He picked up a piece of beef and served it to his mouth. The expression on his face was enjoying. It seemed like he had fallen in love with A Country's food too. 2/2 "Leonard, I heard that Matthew has a woman? How does she look?" "That kid has a good taste. Ordinary women shouldn't attract his attention." Leonard raised his eyebrows. "He will definitely invite you to his wedding. You can go and have a look." He only cared about his food and did not want to talk to women. It was annoying. "Is her name Jessica?" "Jessica?" Leonard raised his head.

Chapter 1096

Poor Woman "Who told you?" Oscar raised an eyebrow. "Isn't it? She looks pretty. I thought he would like this type." Mr. Hilton gave him a call and asked him to protect this woman. Did he think this was the woman that Mr. Hilton liked? Leonard put down the fork with a frown and took a look at his phone. A photo of Jessica. A beautiful smile on her face! Leonard did not have a photo of her and hadn't seen her for a few days. Now that he saw her beautiful smile, he felt a little relieved. The wrinkles on her eyebrows disappeared. "A very pretty woman. She's recently in P City. Matthew asked me to protect her." Leonard looked at him in shock. "Did she come to P City?" After saying that, he tossed the phone back to him. Nail caught it and Leonard turned around to leave.

Frowning slightly, he asked, "Hey, you haven't finished your food yet? Where are you going?" Leonard was in a bad mood. Why is that woman here? Could it be that she's here to look for me? When he thought about it, his expression changed slightly, but he quickly shook his head. No way. Even if she knew he was here, she won't come to see him. She didn't care about him at all. She didn't care about his life as well. Not only that, no one knew about his arrival in P City. Even the National Security Bureau kept this a secret. It was impossible for her to know, much less come here alone. Before Leonard could reach the car, the butler caught up to him. "Mr. Johnson, our Young Master said that since you know this woman, the task of protecting her is yours."

Nail wasn't dumb. He could tell that Leonard had a special feeling about this woman. He didn't even finish his food the moment he heard about her. 1/2 Besides, the way he looked at the photo just now, the look in his eyes was definitely not pure. It was filled with affection. Leonard said indifferently, "Tell the Young Master of your family, if you know the whereabouts of that woman, let me know in time." After getting into the car, Leonard switched on his phone. Dozens of missed calls. Most of them were from home. There was not even one missed call from Jessica. Da mn! She did not disappoint him. Seeing that Matthew had called two of them, he called back. Swiftly, the call was connected. "Your phone is finally connected." Matthew said indifferently. His voice was deep and lazy. "Why is Jessica here in P City?" Then the woman he saw on the street today must be her. It wasn't his illusion. "To earn money? I heard that someone asked her to buy something. If she gives it to that person, she can earn 500,000." She put her life in danger for this little amount of money. How dare she! "She's crazy. It's just that little money. Does she have to run to P City?" Anyone who had not been here would probably not know about the situation here. He was here and knew about the situation here during this period of time. Don't look at how leisurely Oscar looked. The more that dude looked free, the more trouble was about to happen. He and Onyx had never been troublemakers. They had to find something to do, otherwise they would feel bored.

Da mn it, Leonard is so angry. Matthew laughed. "Don't you know that woman very well? After experiencing her pain, after what happened to her, we probably won't be any better even if we're in her position." Leonard frowned slightly. That woman had indeed gone through too much. After marrying a scumbag who didn't care if her kid was sick, so she had to be a man. All these years, apart from money, Pearl was always sick. She had always been in a state of despair. She had never had a decent day. Now that the kid's life has been saved, she must work hard to give her kid a beautiful future.

Chapter 1097 Too Terrifying Leonard smashed the cigarette onto the ground and lifted his boots. "I know. Find out more about her coming here and tell me who's the one she is looking for. I'll probably be able to find her." I hope the god will look after her this time and let her live until I find her. "Yeah, I'll investigate this thoroughly. I'll let you know soon." Leonard got into the car and drove away from the manor. When he was heading back, he slowed down and looked at the streets, hoping to bump into her. Jessica walked with the compass on her phone. This place did not even have a location sign, so she could only use the compass to identify the direction. All the way there were many people escaping. After walking for a few hours, she left the previous area and felt much safer. The people on the streets here were still relatively calm. The shops were open and they were doing business. Jessica found a noodle store and ordered a bowl of noodle. During waiting hours, there was a couple with a little girl next to them. This little girl was about the same age as Pearl. Her big black eyes were twirling, and she was very beautiful!

When she saw that Jessica was looking at her, she smiled and walked toward her. "Sister, you're so pretty!" She caressed Jessica's face. Her little hands were chubby. Pearl was really too thin. Looking at this girl, she thought to herself, "Pearl, Mommy will accompany you properly when I get home." At this moment, she really missed her daughter and regretted coming to this place. After witnessing the cruelty of this place, she suddenly felt that the pain she suffered before was nothing. "There's nothing better than staying with my family. Money? It's nothing." Even though she owed a lot of debt, she never thought of using the money Mrs. Johnson gave her. She kept it in her safe and waited for one day when Leonard had a girlfriend or he got married. She will return that sum of money, A trace of darkness flashed across her face when she thought about this. Why would she recall this at this time? That man was the only man who had ever given her warmth. However, that warmth was just because of the contract, and their identities were different. She did not dare to think about the future with him. When she was lost in her thoughts, her noodles were ready too. When they brought it to her, she was really hungry. She picked up her fork and was about to eat. However, before the noodles were in her mouth, a group of people rushed in with weapons in their hands. The guests were so frightened that they raised their hands. This little girl was so frightened that she ran back to her parents. Hence, the little girl's action aroused their vigilance. He fired his gun and the little girl's parents were in a pool of blood. This little girl's eyes widened. She wanted to cry, but she didn't dare to. Jessica was sitting beside them, so she hid under the table in fright. Her noodles were splattered all over the ground, and she was covered in blood. She covered her mouth in fright and shook her head at the little girl, telling her not to move. Jessica didn't understand what those people were saying. She climbed up to the little girl and hugged her.

"Please send her to her grandmother's house," the little girl's father said with the last bit of strength. Then, he lowered his head and smashed hard onto the ground. This little girl's tears rolled down. Jessica covered her mouth, not letting her say anything. She had never dreamed of such a scene. When she saw the trembling kid in her arms, she was shocked, let alone this little girl. Besides, she did not dare to think about this feeling when she saw her parents die in front of her. She hoped that this kid will forget about this and not leave any trauma. Suddenly, a perpetrator walked up to them and grabbed the kid. Jessica stood up too. "She's still a kid.' She couldn't help but say. He looked at her. Fortunately, her face was covered in blood, covering her beauty. Otherwise, she would probably be even more miserable. He sneered and tied her and the little girl's hands together. Besides, there was a pack of bombs in the area where the two of them were tied. Time was clicking, and there were still 4 minutes and 59 seconds left.

Chapter 1098 Her Hero Jessica saw that it was a ticking bomb. Her face turned pale in fright, but at this moment, she did not dare to say anything else. Naturally, the little girl knew what it was. Tears fell everywhere. She didn't forget to turn her head to look at her parents' bodies. He pushed them to the streets outside and said loudly to the person opposite him. "Fire! At worst, we'll die together." When the people on the other side saw the bomb, they all stopped. Jessica looked at the person in front of her, hoping that he could save them. She didn't want to die. This little girl shouldn't die. She was still so young. He behind her laughed, then turned around and ran into the noodle restaurant. When the people on the other side ran over, they took a glance at the bombs Jessica and the others were tied up. They reached out to undo it, but the moment they touched the rope, the time jumped faster, and it ski p ped to the last minute. Jessica's eyes widened in shock. The person who touched the rope cursed. "Da mn it, this is specially made. I could not save you guys.” After saying that, he took a step back and said loudly.

“The bomb is about to explode. Run.” The people on the streets ran to both sides. This little girl was so frightened that her body softened and she knelt to the ground. Jessica was also knelt on the ground, she stared at the 55 seconds. Her lips trembled. “Pearl, I’m sorry! Mommy could not come back.” The only thing she could think of now was her daughter. She hoped that her body would recover and that she won’t have any symptoms of rejection. She hoped that she could grow up healthy. Slowly closing her eyes, she had already accepted this reality.

53 seconds, and death was getting closer and closer. Just when she was sitting next to the little girl and waiting for death, a pair of warm hands held onto their hands. “Jessica, don’t be afraid.” He’s voice was deep and strong. Jessica opened her eyes and saw the man in front of her. He was holding a knife and unbuttoning the bomb in their hands. 1/2 Her entire body exuded an air of authority and calmness. Her eyebrows furrowed slightly. Jessica only had twenty seconds. She did not dare to breathe loudly, but she could not drag him to die together. Her Hero “Mr. Johnson, hurry up and leave. It’s too late.” He did not even move his eyebrows. He kept staring at the bomb in his hand and was cutting the rope quickly. “This little girl’s hand has gained freedom,” he said softly. “Run, run as far as possible.” This little girl looked at him with tears, then walked and cried. “Thank you! Thank you!” Five seconds later, Jessica’s hand was free and he pushed her. “Run.” After the two of them ran a few steps, there was a loud noise behind them. She felt her body being hugged tightly by him. His warm breath beside her ear was a bit hurried. The two of them were bounced far away. Jessica looked at him lying not far away from her. She stretched out her hand, but she was weak. “Leonard...”

Then, her eyes darkened and she sank into the darkness. After some time, Jessica slowly opened her eyes, her head was a little dizzy, and the light in her eyes was white. She took a deep breath. “Where is this place?” Is she dead? The white light is bright. She could not see the surroundings clearly. Is she dead? Is this heaven? Where is Leonard? Thinking of the incident before her death, her eyes moved again. “Mr. Johnson... Leonard...” She tried her best to speak, hoping that Leonard would hear her. At this moment, a voice suddenly rang beside her ear. “She’s awake. She’s awake.” After hearing the chaotic footsteps, not long after, there were many people surrounding her. “Miss, Miss...” A doctor opened her eyes and took a glance at her. She turned her eyes. “She’s fine,” the doctor said happily. “Take good care of her. Don’t let her die.”

Chapter 1099 One of the Overlords of P City After a few more days, Jessica finally regained her consciousness. She looked at the room carefully. The lighting in the room was mainly white and it was bright. That was why when she woke up, she felt that the light was so dazzling. Now that she knew that she was not dead, she sat up in a daze. “Mr. Johnson...” If she isn’t dead, won’t Leonard be alright. But he protected her in his arms, so he would definitely get hurt harder.” When the maid heard the commotion inside, she pushed the door open and walked in. “Miss Jessica, you’re awake.” Jessica sat by the bed and put on her slippers. She got up and walked, but she did not stand firmly and almost fell to the ground. "Miss Jessica, you've been unconscious for a week. You haven't eaten yet. You could not get up yet." She also felt like there was nothing in her stomach. She was very hungry. She did not have much strength on her body. Her arms and legs were injured, but it was just an external wound. She could endure it. "I'm fine. Where's Leonard? Where is he?"

you." She had already been rescued. Leonard was not far away from her, so he would definitely be rescued. "He'll be alright. Nothing will happen to him." The moment she stepped out of the room, she was stopped by the maid. "Miss Jessica, we don't have the person you're talking about here. You lie down first. I'll go get the doctor. The doctor will be here to check 1/2 The maid's face was filled with fear. She was afraid that something bad would happen to her and she won't be able to explain herself.

Jessica could see that this house was very luxurious, unlike the places she passed by before which were broken and destroyed. The one who could live a comfortable life here was probably one of the most unattainable figures. She turned around and went back to the bed. She lay down according to her request. The maid turned around and was about to run when she was stopped by Jessica. "Wait a moment." The maid stopped walking and turned around. "Miss Jessica, is there anything else?" Her eyes flickered. Although she had only gotten off the plane for a few hours that day, she had experienced life and death twice. In the end, she even ended up like this. Along the way, she heard some information. "Which gentleman saved me?" The person with the surname Blade or Moore? Only the two of them in P City could live a life like this. The others were either escaping or living a peaceful life, and suddenly lost their lives. "Mr. Blade saved you," replied the maid. Only after hearing this did Jessica recall her purse. It was too chaotic that day and she didn't know where it was. "Where's my purse? Did you see the purse I'm carrying?" The maid shook her head. "We haven't seen it before. When you came here, you were completely injured and you weren't conscious." After saying that, the maid turned around and went to call the doctor. Jessica leaned against the bed and sighed. Even though she came to P City to earn money, she almost lost her life and even caused trouble for Leonard. When she thought about him, tears welled up in her eyes and she secretly told herself.

"He'll be alright. He'll survive." I could not overthink things. At this moment, the doctor and nurse entered the room and performed a series of tests on her. A short while later, Onyx walked in. He was tall and wearing a pure black shirt and trousers. He sat on the single sofa next to him. His legs were crossed, and he looked like a cold and slender sculpture. The two black eyes that had been staring at her for a while. His expression was a little cold, and there was a trace of fierceness on his face. Jessica also looked at him. He was a cunning man, one of the overlords of P City. Like the rumors, he had a fierce face, a strong aura, and a good-looking face. However, she detested him. If it weren't for him, P City wouldn't have been in such a situation. "I heard that he's in a bad mood lately. That's why he's going to stir up a fight on both sides. This has caused the residents here to live like hell."

Chapter 1100 He Must Live For Her The corners of his mouth lifted slightly, making him look even more evil. "Miss Jessica, why are you looking at me like that? Do you hate me? I am your savior." Savior? Jessica really wanted to say something. What kind of savior was he? If he could live his life in peace, P City wouldn't be like this. But at this moment, she won't be so foolish to offend him. However, she couldn't laugh, let alone smile at him. "Thank you!" "Thank you. The doctor is done with the checkup." He didn't tell Jessica. Instead, he walked to Onyx and spoke to him respectfully. "Sir, Miss Jessica is completely awake. She has a mild concussion. All of those on her body are external injuries. I have applied the best drug for her. She won't have any scars in the future." He raised his hand, and everyone else took a step back. Only the two of them were left in the room. Jessica sat up and looked at the wounds on her hands. They were all wrapped in medical gauze.

The pain still hurt a little, but she could endure it. She put on her slippers and asked. "Thank you Mr. Blade for saving me. It's time for me to leave." Even though she was wearing pajamas, she did not want to ask for clothes from this man and did not want to owe him anything. "Where do you want to go?" I need to look for him. What's going on with him? I hope he's alive too. "Home."

After Jessica said that, she walked toward the door, although she looked a little awkward at this moment. "Miss Jessica, what about my grandmother's jade?" Jessica was a little flustered when he suddenly mentioned this. She thought of not doing this business and she didn't even know where her purse had been blown up to. Moreover, the impact of that day was so strong that it was so strong that she flew, probably the jade bracelet was shattered. Jessica turned around, "You saved me for that jade bracelet." 1/2 At this moment, Jessica suddenly understood. "Of course, otherwise why do you think I would save you?" With that, the coldness on the corner of her lips grew stronger. Jessica also knew that he seemed to have a big trouble. If she were to tell him that she had lost the jade, it might have shattered, he would definitely not let her off. She bit her lips and said, "It is in my friend's hands. We were injured by a bomb that day, so I don't know if he's still alive." After thinking about it, she felt that she could use him to help her find out where Leonard was. "Why don't you give me a description of your friend's later? What does he look like? I'll get someone to look for him." "Take a good rest. It's best if you don't think about running away. If you don't get the jade bracelet, you'll have to stay here." When he spoke, the corners of his lips habitually curved upward, giving people a bad feeling. "Okay." After Leaving, Jessica returned to her room and stood by the window looking outside. This was a huge manor. Even if she wanted to go out, it would be difficult. If she escaped, it would be even harder. Jessica was not like Elizabeth who had learned Taekwondo before. She didn't know how to fight. At most, she would tear someone's hair. When Leonard woke up, he sat up. "Jessica..." Due to the heavy movement, it pulled the wound on his chest. The pain made him grow in pain. "Hiss..." "Leonard, don't move." Layla's heart ached when she saw the bandage getting soaked in blood. She grabbed his hand and told him not to move anymore. The name 'Jessica' echoed in her ears. He had been injured and unconscious for the past few days and had been calling out this name. Only then did Leonard regain consciousness. He glanced at Layla, who was massaging his hand, and then at the doctor next to him. Frowning, he asked, "I'm fine. Where's the woman with me?"