

Triplets' Attack: Game Over Daddy

Chapter 16

Triplets' Attack: Game Over Daddy Chapter 16

The Woman In His Dream Matthew was taken aback. There's no one else in the house. Is she all alone?

Elizabeth croaked out weakly, "Water... Wate..." Matthew gazed at a bedside table before pouring her a glass of water. He then sat on the bed beside her and helped her up before feeding her some water.

It seemed that Elizabeth was parched because she emptied the glass of water in a heartbeat.

Matthew then reached out to touch her forehead. His hand was cold, and Elizabeth felt nice upon his touch. "Mmm..." She then pulled his hand, placed it over her face, and murmured, "Hot... So hot..." Matthew had noticed her scent the moment he entered the house. The whole house smells rather sweet, and it smells very familiar. Why can't I remember when I came across this smell?

He patted her face gently and asked, "Elizabeth, are you in discomfort? I'll send you to the hospital." Elizabeth was getting a tad more conscious after the gentle pats on her face. She opened her eyes and looked at him dozily. "No. I don't want to go to the hospital." With that, she wiggled off of his body and snuggled into her blanket. "Cold... It's so cold..." This is not looking good. She's feeling hot one second and cold the next. However, she doesn't want to go to the hospital.

With that thought in mind, Matthew frowned before tucking her blanket in for her. He then whipped out his phone and rang Nicolas.

The call was instantly answered. "Matt, how was last night?" Nicolas smirked. Since he brought Ms. Bunny back last night, he must've had a great night!

"She's having a fever. Her temperature is now one hundred and three degrees Fahrenheit.

What should I do?" What? You worked so hard on her that she has a fever?" Nicolas was so shocked that he stopped having his breakfast abruptly. What did Matthew do to her? How did she end up having a fever?

In response, Matthew answered coldly, "Do you want me to show you?" "No! Not" "Tell me what to do, then." Nicolas proceeded to tell Matthew how to deal with a fever. After that, he wanted to ask for more details about what had happened, but Matthew hung up on him immediately.

After hanging up, he glanced at the medication on the table. He picked up a bottle of fever medicine and took out a few pills based on the recommended dosage. He then went back to sit on the bed after pouring another glass of water.

By then, her face had turned redder, and she was drifting out of consciousness.

After patting on her flushed cheeks, he said, "Wake up, Elizabeth. Take some fever medicine." Elizabeth slightly opened her eyes and shied away. "No... I don't want to take medicine..." At that point, Matthew's patience was wearing thin. What is she trying to do to herself? First, she didn't want to go to the hospital, and now she refuses to take her medicine?

An expression of displeasure showed up on the handsome man's face. That was his first time.

dealing with a sick woman. This is such a has sle!

He had no choice but to hold her up and try to shove the pills into her mouth.

To his dismay, the woman wasn't cooperative at all. She kept struggling and mumbling, "No... I don't want that..." As she was squirming relentlessly, she accidentally caused all the pills to fall onto the ground.

The Woman In His Dream Matthew was having none of it. He squeezed her cheeks and said, "Be more cooperative, Elizabeth! Otherwise..." bobbed.

He then put the pills in his own mouth and kissed her. While kissing her, he pushed those pills into her mouth.

When she tasted the bitterness of the pills, she tried to spit them out. However, he was already pressing his tongue against her mouth, forcing her to swallow the pills.

Right then, Matthew was stumped. Her lips are so soft, and she tastes so sweet! Her mouth is so similar to the one I dreamt about!

Matthew was still kissing her because he couldn't resist it. He wanted to know if it was the same taste that he remembered.

His lips were tightly pressed against hers, and his tongue was lingering in her mouth.

Triplets' Attack: Game Over Daddy Chapter 17

Special Feelings Without Matthew knowing it, it was getting more and more difficult for Elizabeth to breathe.

As for her face, it was even hotter than before. It was so uncomfortable for her that she couldn't help but grunt softly.

She then used her hand to give Matthew a nudge. With that, he suddenly came back to his senses. He instantly got up and tucked her in.

At that moment, he was panting heavily. He then shut his eyes to try to calm himself down.

When he opened his eyes again, all of his emotions had receded. However, his perspective of the woman before his eyes had changed.

Now that Matthew had fed her fever medicine, he rubbed her forehead, palms, and feet with alcohol wipes.

He held her feet in his palm and rubbed the bottom of her feet with alcohol. What a pair of fair feet she has! Even her toes are pretty.

After he rubbed her feet twice, the medicine was starting to take effect.

In fact, her body temperature was a lot lower than before. He took the thermometer and called out to her, "I'm going to take your temperature, Elizabeth." He was just going to go ahead with whatever he wanted to do with her because Elizabeth was still in a daze. After placing the thermometer under her armpit, he couldn't help but get attracted by her extremely fair skin. Her pearly white skin seemed smooth and soft.

Matthew felt as if he was losing his mind at that instant. He couldn't believe that he was taking care of a woman he barely knew. I must've lost control of myself just now because she resembles the woman in my dream. Yes, that must be why.

After waiting for five minutes, he took a reading from the thermometer. Evidently, her fever was starting to subside because she had a temperature of around ninety-eight degrees Fahrenheit.

Special Feelings The medicine is good! Matthew could finally breathe a sigh of relief. He then sat by the bed and watched her sleep soundly.

Suddenly, he remembered what she said the night before. She was pregnant at the age of eighteen. She didn't even attend university, and she needs to raise her kids. Where is the kids' father, then? Why did he leave her to shoulder the burden all by herself?

Right then, his phone rang. Esme was giving him a call.

Matthew answered the call and asked, "What is it?" "Mr. Hilton, it's lunchtime. I've got you some food. Do you want me to send it over to you now?" Matthew didn't even realize that it was noon already. It's so difficult taking care of a sick person.

"Yes. Buy some oatmeal porridge as well." With that, he hung up the phone and tucked her in once again.

While she was in bed, Matthew wandered around the house. Well, everything here seems to either belong to the kids or her. I don't see anything belonging to a man. Although the place is small, she managed to make it cozy. The toys on the rug must be Abby's.

Suddenly, someone rang the doorbell, and he went downstairs to open the door.

At first, he thought that Esme was sending him lunch. To his surprise, it was a middle-aged woman with curly hair. She was a very chubby woman with small eyes..

“Who are you? Where is Lizzy?” The woman wanted to walk into the courtyard, but Matthew. held the door and prevented her from entering.

The woman smiled and asked, “Are you Lizzy’s husband?” She couldn’t help but size him up. He’s incredibly handsome! But then again, that’s not a surprise considering how pretty Lizzy is. His body and looks, though. He’s even better looking than the celebrities on television!

Special Feelings While having the woman’s eyes lingering all over him, Matthew put on a stern face and uttered, “It is inconvenient for Elizabeth to entertain guests at the moment.” With that, he wanted to close the door shut. The woman stopped him and said, “Wait, handsome! I’m here to collect rent from Lizzy. I’ve only rented her this place because I pity her for having to raise the kids on her own. However, she’s late with her rent by half a month. If she can’t pay up, I’d have to rent the place to someone else.”

Triplets’ Attack: Game Over Daddy Chapter 18

After saying that, the woman couldn’t help but ask, “Are you really her husband? If so, would you just pay the rent for her? How could you do this to your wife and your kids?” The woman actually felt bad for Elizabeth because she had seen the latter raising all the children on her own. This man is good looking, but he’s good for nothing!

Matthew was getting sick of the way the woman was looking at him. Why is she looking at me like I’m a bum?

He furrowed his brows slightly and asked, “How much is the rent?” He couldn’t wait to chase her away.

Indeed, Matthew’s time was incredibly valuable. He had already lost up to ten million after calling off three of his important business meetings in the morning.

At that thought, he frowned deeper.

On the other hand, the woman laughed and said, "That's great! You're acting more like a man now." She whipped out her calculator and mumbled, "The rental fee for a month is two thousand and five hundred. The rental fee for six months would then be fifteen thousand." 000 "I'll pay for the whole year," Matthew said coldly. At first, he had even thought about purchasing the property straightaway. He gave up on the idea after giving it some thought.

The woman's eyes lit up instantly. "Oh? That's awesome! You're saving me the trouble of coming over so often." Matthew then let her into the house. In the living room, he got her to wait while he transferred to her the amount so that she could write him a receipt.

Meanwhile, Elizabeth had just woken up, and she was thirsty. Since she didn't have any water left in her room, she had to go downstairs to get some.

1/3 She was stunned when she saw the two of them in the living room. "Hey, Sophie! Why are the two of you here?" While she was talking, she shifted her gaze toward Matthew. With her eyes slightly widened, she asked, "Why are you here?" What's going on? Did my fever make me lose my memory of something?

Sophie gave the receipt to Matthew. She stood up with a smile and walked over to Elizabeth.

"You have such good taste in men, Lizzy! He's very generous!" Sophie patted her slender shoulder and said.

After that, she left. Elizabeth was momentarily stunned before she quickly came back to her senses and answered, "You've misunderstood, Sophie! I don't even know him well." Matthew raised the receipt in his hand into the air and said, "I've already paid your rent.

Please remember to pay me back." Elizabeth took the receipt and took a look at it. "Twenty-five thousand? You've paid for the whole year?" Matthew sat elegantly on the couch with his legs crossed and nodded. "Yes. Initially, I thought I should just buy the property. On second thought, this building is too old, and it's not worth it." Matthew couldn't help but notice her swollen lips.

Instead of feeling guilty, he had a calm and serious look on his face. "By the way, I had to call off three business meetings just so that I could take care of you this morning. I've lost up to ten million as a result. Hence, you'd need to compensate me. I've decided to give you a ninety-nine percent discount, so that'd be a hundred thousand. In total, you owe me one hundred and twenty-five thousand.” When Elizabeth knew that he had paid the rental fee of twenty-five thousand, she was already thinking about ways of paying him back. Not only did she need to pay in installments, but she’d also need to sell off her jewelry to gather the money.

Upon hearing that she owed him more than one hundred thousand, she furrowed her brows while looking at that handsome man. “Mr. Hilton, I know your time is precious. However, I’ve never asked you to come and take care of me.” In fact, I don’t even know why he’s here! Now he’s even asking for money from me? Well, now I know how Hilton Group makes its fortune. He must’ve extorted money from others!

With that thought in mind, Elizabeth pouted and rolled her eyes at him.

“Matthew, you’re a scammer,” she mumbled to herself.

Matthew narrowed his eyes and showed her the text message he had received earlier in the day. “Your daughter asked me here. Since I’m a kind-hearted person, I had no choice but to take you because you were sick. Don’t you think you should compensate me? Or do you want your daughter to pay up? That’s fine by me. She can come over to my house to work.” Matthew then walked up to her and stood right in front of her. He was so close to her that she could smell the scent of mint coming off of him.

“Although it’s normal to have the children paying off their parents’ debt, don’t you think Abby is a bit too young for it?” he asked.

Triplets’ Attack: Game Over Daddy Chapter 19

Matthew Is Mean Elizabeth was even more agitated at the mention of her daughter.

“No way! She’s still a child! How can she possibly work at such a young age? I should be the one doing hard labor instead of her.” Little did she know, Elizabeth had fallen into Matthew’s devious plan.

He then raised his eyebrows as he took a piece of paper and pen before writing down a promissory note.

“I don’t mind having you work for me, anyway. It’s quite troublesome to have a young child working,” In truth, he would not have thought of letting Abby work in his house, anyway. The young child would have been pampered like a little princess if she were to stay in his place.

Initially, Matthew had only wanted to tease Elizabeth. However, after seeing her serious.

response, he thought that she would be the perfect companion for him, as he needed someone who could cook and accompany him to his meals.

After he was done with the promissory note, Matthew placed it in front of Elizabeth.

“Sign it.” Elizabeth’s fever had just subsided, and she had just woken up. Thus, she signed the piece of paper without hesitation, fearing that her daughter might be taken away from her.

After she was done, Elizabeth bit her lower lip and said, “You’ll have to keep your promise, Mr. Hilton/It’s me who’s going to pay off the debts, not Abby.” As she spoke, Elizabeth patted her chest earnestly, and her eyes were filled with determination.

Matthew then took the promissory note and folded it before putting it away in his pocket.

“I’m a man of my word. Give me a call once you’re feeling better.”

Matthew Is Mean He then got up from his seat. Matthew’s tall and handsome appearance was simply captivating.

Elizabeth was dumbstruck as she gazed at him. However, she eventually came to her senses when she noticed his icy, cold eyes staring at her.

It must’ve been the fever! Otherwise, I wouldn’t be interested in Tiana’s man. That’s right. It’s definitely the fever and the medication. In my current state, any hideous guy might even appear handsome to me! Haha! I’m sure that I must be hallucinating now. Tiana’s man is no different than any other hideous man out there.

Just then, Esme walked in with several food containers in his hands.

“I’ve brought some oatmeal porridge, Mr. Hilton.” He placed the stack of food containers on the table and greeted Elizabeth, “So this is where you live, Ms. Wade.” So Ms. Wade is sick! No wonder Mr. Hilton was so anxious and worried. I totally understand how he feels now.

Esme was delighted to know that Matthew finally had a lady companion with him. He was happy for his boss..

However, Matthew shot a glare at Esme, causing the latter to shudder as he knew he had been talking too much. Hence, Esme decided to leave the room hurriedly.

Elizabeth rolled her eyes at Matthew after seeing Esme, who had been reprimanded by his boss, scuny off. Look just how terrified his staff is of him! He must be a difficult person to work with.

“Just remember to finish your oatmeal porridge. You will have to pay your debts after you’re fully recovered.” After reminding Elizabeth of her promise, Matthew then took his leave. Since she’s fine enough to roll her eyes at me, I’m sure she’ll get better in no time.

2/2 Meanwhile, Elizabeth was indeed famished. She approached the dining table and opened the Matthew is Mean food containers to take a look. Besides the oatmeal porridge, there were also a few savory dishes.

ordered by Esme, including catfish stew and sauteed vegetables.

Even though the food looked scrumptious, Elizabeth felt that her throat was still quite unwell.

It would make her condition even worse if she were to finish all the savory dishes.

Therefore, she could only settle down and sipped on the oatmeal porridge slowly.

As she ate her meal, Elizabeth thought about what had just happened. She felt devastated by the huge debt imposed upon her by Matthew.

Even if the rent for their house had been settled, training fees for her three children were still a huge problem for her. Despite the fact that they had told her it was unnecessary for them to attend training classes, Elizabeth did not want her children to be lacking in their abilities.

day.

Therefore, she was determined to earn more money, even if it meant working four jobs in one.

As she bit the spoon in her mouth, Elizabeth was mad at Matthew. He's a total jik! How could his time be worth ten million for the whole morning? He must be lying to me, right?

She then picked up her phone and texted Dominic. Since he was the CEO of Campbell Corporation, Dominic was usually busy. Therefore, his time should also be worth a lot of money.

Dominic, I have a question. Do you know how much money you would lose if you didn't go to work for the whole morning?

After that, she scoffed inwardly.

Matthew Hilton, if you're messing around with me, I will let the entire nation know that the CEO of Hilton Group is a two-faced liar! I will also make sure you're going to jail and serve a long sentence for your lies!

Triplets' Attack: Game Over Daddy Chapter 20

Lighting For Affection Nixon. Ismonic replied. Is there any thing that you need? I'd love to help out.

Thalath felt much better after having half a bowl of oatmeal ponidge and was ready to go opstans to sleep again.

The illness had left her feeling weak.

However, she could not help but frown after reading Dominic's reply.

She texted him: I just wanted to know how much a CEO's time typically costs. Tell me. I'll keep your words a secret.

When she finished texting Dominic, Elizabeth poured a glass of water and went upstairs. She then found some medication and went to bed after taking it.

Before she slept, Elizabeth looked at her phone and noticed that Dominic had replied to her message.

Dominic texted: If any important deals or transactions are to be negotiated that morning, they could be worth tons of millions.

The reason Dominic had replied to her that way was that he wanted to let her know how valuable his time and worth were, and that he would give up his own time and money for her.

Elizabeth sighed upon reading his reply. She knew Dominic would never lie to her.

He was kind and generous enough to save her life, and he had even helped her out multiple times after that. In fact, he could have run away after encountering that situation.

After all, Elizabeth had been badly injured at that time, and it was hard to determine whether she had indeed been run over by a car.

However, due to his excellent family upbringing and his kind heart, Dominic had not fled the scene. Not only that, but he had also taken her to the hospital and mobilized the best medical team to save both her and her unborn babies.

Fighting For Affection take Thus, she was forever grateful for his kindness toward her, and she felt that she should not use up too much of his valuable time, hoping he would find his own happiness and love.

She was relieved to know that Matthew had not tricked her with his words. In that case, Elizabeth would have to work hard to repay the money she owed him.

She finally put away her phone and went to sleep. Perhaps because of the medication, she fell into a deep sleep.

Meanwhile, Tiana and Celine were holding hands together while walking toward the Wade residence.

Tiana felt concerned and asked, "Mom, are you sure that we have to tell Grandpa about Elizabeth returning to Mistwood?" Back then, Elizabeth had been locked up at the Wade residence while she was waiting to undergo surgery. However, before she could do so, both Tiana and Celine had made their move to get rid of Elizabeth instead. The Wade family was not aware of their evil deeds.

After Elizabeth had disappeared, everyone in the family assumed she had escaped by herself, and they even assumed she had eloped with the man who impregnated her.

Only Tiana and Celine knew she was already dead.

Thus, upon knowing that Elizabeth was still alive and kicking, Celine felt threatened. They had to get Elizabeth to return to the Wade residence so they could keep her under control.

Otherwise, they were afraid that their evil deeds would be exposed.

If Elizabeth's grandfather, Michael Wade, were to learn about what they had done to Elizabeth, both Celine and Tiana would be in deep trouble.

Celine nodded her head. "Of course. Old Mr. Wade seems to miss Elizabeth very much, right? You need to let him know that she's back in town with three illegitimate kids in tow!

Elizabeth will be Mistwood's laughingstock as long as she's with the kids. There's no way Old Mr. Wade will let everyone know about this. Eventually, the only person who's going to get hurt is Elizabeth herself." Fighting For Affection Tiana gave it some thought and agreed with her mother's words.

Both of them entered the house and went inside Michael's study, only to find him practicing his calligraphy.

"Dad!" "Grandpa!" Both ladies greeted him politely as they approached his desk.

Michael set down the quill and looked at them after completing a part of his calligraphy writing.

“Is there anything you want to talk to me?” Michael did not like being disturbed these days. It was probably because of his old age that he did not enjoy lively scenes and surroundings anymore.

Tiana could only stand in a respectful manner since she was still terrified of Michael. Despite the fact that Elizabeth had left the Wade family, Michael remained cold toward Tiana, and he never thought of making her the heir to the Wade family.

Celine felt sad upon seeing how terrified and nervous her daughter was in front of Michael.

She could only blame Michael for favoring Elizabeth, which caused Tiana to become devastated and traumatized since she was young.

She was glad, however, that Tiana was now able to reclaim her position in the family because she believed that Michael would shower Tiana with affection after he knew Tiana had won Matthew’s heart.

Thus, Celine replied, “Dad, the Hilton family is coming over to meet our family this Friday. Matthew likes Tia. You remember that, don’t you?”