

Game Over 181

Chapter 181 You Have To Be Responsible

With that said, Matthew shot Elizabeth a sidelong glare. "Won't you know if you've done it or not? Don't you feel anything down there?" This woman is so clueless.

Elizabeth wiped her tears as she shook her head. I'm so glad it didn't happen.

"How do I know?"

She had never experienced it before. However, those nights that she had dreamed about it, she felt exhausted, and it felt uncomfortable there.

Now, she did not feel tired, but she had a headache.

She was certain it was only because she had drunk too much alcohol, as she did not feel anything different down there.

Seeing that she had stopped crying upon knowing that nothing had happened, Matthew felt like bullying her again.

He was feeling conflicted. Although he wanted to bully her, he was afraid to see her cry.

Elizabeth glanced around and asked, "Where... Where are my clothes?"

Matthew put his hands underneath the pillow and stared at her, smirking at how flustered she was.

"Look around the floor. You took off your clothes along the way last night. I don't know where they are."

Elizabeth's face reddened instantly when she imagined the thrilling scene.

Then she tapped herself on the face to warn herself. Elizabeth! Don't you dare drink alcohol again! Look at what you've done with this man after drinking so much. If this happens again, you're no different from Celine. Tiana will come to you and call you a mistress!

With that thought in mind, she picked her shirt from the floor and quickly put it on.

Although she was extremely quick, Matthew still managed to steal a glance at her soft chest. In fact, he had enjoyed touching them the previous night.

His eyes began to redden. This woman's figure is extremely good.

Elizabeth picked her underwear up and quickly put it on. Then, she turned her head to glance at Matthew, seemingly thinking. He can't see me. Matthew can't see me.

Matthew could not help but chuckle. His deep voice sounded sexy.

Elizabeth heard his laughter, but she ignored it and continued picking her clothes up.

When she went downstairs, she finally found all her clothes.

You Have To Be Responsible

She looked around and saw a bathroom in the living room. Entering the bathroom, she properly put on her clothes in there.

She realized that Matthew's shirt, which she had put on earlier, was white. Did he wear a white shirt last night? He rarely wears white. All his clothes are black.

Holding the shirt, she walked upstairs to give it to him but found herself pinned on the bed.

The man kissed her, and after some time, he finally released her when she was about to pass out.

He stared at her flushed cheeks. She's so beautiful.

Elizabeth took some time to regain her composure after she gasped for air.

Then she jumped up and pointed at Matthew. "Matthew... H-How dare you!"

Matthew grabbed the shirt from her hand before putting it on and buttoning it up.

His dark eyes, smile, and divine features made him appear charming.

wwwww

Elizabeth glanced at his Adam's apple, his fingers which were buttoning the shirt, and his lower body before she quickly covered her eyes. H-He's too seductive!

Initially, she was mad at him, but she was completely mesmerized by him now. He looks so good! His body figure is amazing! And he's so... big! Gosh! Why did I look at that? Shouldn't I scold him for being a pervert instead?

As she covered her eyes, Matthew said calmly, "Elizabeth, you initiated everything last night. You were all over me like a koala bear, begging me not to leave. I fell for you, so you have to be responsible."

Chapter 182 He Could Only Force Her

Hearing that, Elizabeth removed her hands from her eyes and glared at him.

“I-I was drunk, so I thought you were someone else.” I must’ve thought he was the man in my dream.

To her, that man was her children’s father, so she would imagine him occasionally.

She wished he would show up and tell her he wanted to be with them.

However, Elizabeth felt pathetic every time she woke up from the dreams.

That man had disappeared and let her endure everything alone. She even raised the kids all by herself.

Contrary to my wish, I should be wanting to tell him to get lost and that we don’t need him. Yeah, that’s more like it. Gosh. Alcohol is such a bad thing

Matthew appeared handsome after he put on his clothes tidily.

“I don’t care. You seduced me, and I fell for you. Now that you’re the only one in my heart, you have to be responsible. It’s immoral to leave me after you’ve seduced me.”

While speaking, he leaned closer to her.

Elizabeth was so scared that she took several steps back. “What if I don’t?”

Why do I have to be responsible? I was drunk, so I wasn't being myself. Who told him to fall for me so easily?

Matthew inched closer to her, forcing her to stand between him and the wall.

"I'll post the video that I've recorded of you last night. The netizens will certainly teach you a lesson."

As he spoke, he waved his phone in the air. Elizabeth widened her eyes as she tried to grab it, but he lifted the phone so high that she could not even touch it.

"Matthew Hilton, you're despicable. How dare you record me!"

Matthew chuckled evilly. "This is the proof. I did it to prevent someone from going back on her word."

With that said, he walked into the bathroom to wash himself up.

Meanwhile, Elizabeth stood rooted to the spot. That man is certainly a wolf. A cunning wolf.

She definitely was not his match. Not only had she owed him money, but she was also forced to become his lover.

Elizabeth felt she was on the verge of breaking down.

Not long later, Matthew walked out of the bathroom with a refreshed look.

“We’ll wait for you at the restaurant. Hurry up. We need to go to work later.”

Elizabeth was still in a daze when Matthew glanced at her with a smirk.

Truthfully, there was no video at all. It was impossible to take a video in that situation. He was just scaring her.

However, he realized that the method was quite useful. I can bully her all I wish now.

Bearing that thought in mind, Matthew strode out of the bedroom and walked down the stairs joyfully.

Stunned for a moment, Elizabeth she walked into the bathroom to wash herself up. Looking at herself in the mirror, she noted she was beautiful, even without makeup.

I’m supposed to have a sweet love story and a boyfriend who dotes on me, but I’m not this lucky.

She let out a sigh.

After that, she went to the restaurant and had breakfast with the rest before they returned to the company.

Elizabeth had been in a daze the entire day, and Matthew knew he had crossed her bottom line. He knew she hated mistresses the most, but he still forced her to be her mistress.

He knew he was mean. However, she was not a mistress because his relationship with Tiana was fake..

They were only putting on a show for Hector. I’ll tell her in the future. I hope she understands.

Matthew did not assign any task for her that day. She just sat blankly in the office the whole day.

When it was time to get off work, Elizabeth's phone rang. It was a call from Benjamin.

She picked it up and greeted, "Hello."

"Elizabeth, I've arrived at your office building. Have you gotten off work?"

Chapter 183 A Date

Elizabeth snapped back to her senses before she asked, "Ah, you've arrived?"

Benjamin nodded slightly. "Yes, we agreed to watch a movie together today."

After Elizabeth hung up the phone, she patted her face.

Then, she mumbled to herself, "Elizabeth, don't you want to be with Benjamin? Forget what happened this morning. Forget what Matthew said and stay away from him."

After that, she hurriedly packed her things and left the CEO's office with her bag.

Since it was time to get off work, there were many people in the elevator. Elizabeth was then squeezed into the corner.

In the elevator, several female colleagues started discussing Matthew's engagement.

"Hey, is the CEO's secretary in quite a bad mood recently?"

"That's for sure. Mr. Hilton is about to get engaged. She has no hope of being with him anymore."

“But Mr. Hilton has put her desk in his office. Will the future CEO’s wife find it weird?”

“You don’t understand. Rich men enjoy playing around. They keep their wives at home, but they have many other women outside. Mr. Hilton is so handsome that even I’m willing to be his secret lover.”

“Yeah, same.”

As Elizabeth listened to them, she felt that every word was reminding her that if she ended up with Matthew, she would turn the rumor into the truth.

She pursed her lips. I must find a way to let Matthew give up on me. Whether he wants to have fun or just tease me, to try my best to keep a distance from him.

I have

When the elevator reached the first floor, many people rushed out of the elevator. When the girls, who were gossiping, saw Elizabeth, they all turned pale with fright.

Then, they all greeted her, “Ms. Wade, you left work early today.”

Elizabeth nodded slightly as a response.

That day was indeed the earliest day for her to get off work because she usually had to accompany Matthew.

However, he was not around that day, and he did not ask her to follow him when he went out, so she could leave earlier.

Walking out of the building, she saw a Maserati not far away from her. Benjamin lowered the window and called, “Lizzy, here!”

Several colleagues heard him from the entrance. Elizabeth slowly walked toward the car under everyone’s gazes. Getting out of the car, Benjamin helped her open the car door.

“Lizzy, I’m so happy today!”

Elizabeth smiled at him, then she turned her head to look around.

She found her colleagues were still standing there, watching and talking about her. Ignoring them, she entered the car quickly.

Benjamin got into the car as well and drove away after that.

Elizabeth breathed a sigh of relief. Women loved to gossip by nature, and she had now become the company’s topic.

They all thought that she had an unusual relationship with Matthew. She used to think that the rumor did not matter because she and Matthew were innocent.

However, she did not feel the same now.

Those words became harsh to her ears.

Benjamin glanced at her from the side and asked, “Lizzy, do you watch horror movies?”

His assistant taught him to take her to a horror movie so that she would throw herself into his arms when she was frightened.

He really wanted Elizabeth to dive into his arms as he hoped they could establish a relationship as soon as possible.

He had been waiting for six years, and he could not wait any longer.

Elizabeth thought for a while before replying, "A bit. I quite like watching horror movies."

Hearing her response, Benjamin smiled. "Good. I bought the tickets, but I was afraid you won't dare to watch it."

Chapter 184 Ruined Their Date

Elizabeth turned her head to look at him. "Am I that weak to you?"

Most girls were timid, but Elizabeth was different. She had liked horror stories since she was a child. She also enjoyed playing horror games. Now, she liked playing Escape Room the most.

Benjamin smiled and replied, "You've never been weak."

She was put in a good mood after listening to the campus hunk's compliment toward her.

In the past, she was a daring person. She had become timid after being tortured by society.

She sighed. Although my right to do what I pleased was taken away, I was blessed with three lovely kids.

She liked how things had turned out. I'm willing to become worldly wise for my adorable kids..

With that thought, she smiled, no longer upset about the past.

When they got to the cinema, Benjamin got the tickets before he bought two glasses of juice and a box of popcorn.

Elizabeth took the popcorn and smiled at him.

"Benjamin, honestly, how many girlfriends have you had?" He knows girls so well. He even bought me a strawberry juice.

Most girls liked these sweet fruit juices, including her.

Benjamin was stunned for a moment. "I've never had one. You can ask Lillian if you don't believe me."

Lillian was their class representative She was an honest person, and she would never lie. Hence, Elizabeth could ask her about it.

Hearing this, Elizabeth smiled.

"I'm just asking. Don't be so anxious."

She picked a popcorn from the box and put it into her mouth as she walked into the theater with him.

Benjamin originally wanted to buy a couple seat, but he and Elizabeth had just started, so he did not want to scare her. Hence, he decided to take things slow.

Hence, he bought normal, individual seats next to each other.

After they sat down, they chatted for a while and talked about other students before the movie started.

Elizabeth took a sip of the juice and reached out to grab a few popcorns, but their hands touched.

Then, the eyes of the two met. Elizabeth hurriedly retracted her gaze before both of them smiled.

Leaning closer to her, Benjamin asked in a low voice, "Aren't you afraid at all? I can lend you my arms.

After he said that, he spread his hands and pulled his coat open.

Right at that moment, a tall figure came in from the entrance and accurately found Elizabeth and Benjamin.

When he saw Benjamin pulling his coat and wrapping Elizabeth with it, Matthew's expression changed.

Turning around, he stepped out of the theater in big steps. After a while, the movie suddenly stopped playing, and the lights were turned on at the same time.

The fire alarm sounded, and Elizabeth turned her head to look around. "Is there a fire?"

Seeing that everyone else was running out of the hall, Elizabeth stood up abruptly. "Benjamin, let's run too!"

Benjamin remained seated as he glanced around, but he found no signs of smoke or fire.

He frowned. Something is fishy.

Later, he got up while thinking that it was an unlucky day. Just when she and I were so close to each other. I almost got to kiss her. Ha... Too bad.

Although he was reluctant, he knew it was an inappropriate time to initiate a kiss. She certainly won't accept it.

Holding her hand, he suggested. "Let's have a meal!"

Since they could not continue watching the movie, he decided to bring her to a romantic restaurant. He knew he could find a chance in the pleasant atmosphere later.

Chapter 185 Matthew Was Calculative

A while later, Elizabeth got into Benjamin's car with the windows down, so Matthew could see her clearly as the car passed by his car.

The smile on her face was really sweet, and the way she looked at Benjamin was different.

Matthew took a heavy puff of the cigarette. His sharp eyes narrowed slightly.

"Follow them. Have you fetched the three children over?"

The driver replied, "Mr. Mack has gone to pick them up. They should be on their way here."

Matthew smirked and replied, "Okay. Follow them."

He could not believe Elizabeth actually came out on a date with another man. Earlier, when he returned to the company and found that she had left, he saw someone posted a photo of Elizabeth getting into a Maserati in the company group chat.

Therefore, Matthew came to see who the man in the Maserati was.

The scene in the cinema provoked him, so he immediately closed the entire cinema.

All cinemas in Mistwood belonged to Matthew, anyway. Therefore, no matter which cinema they went to watch a movie, Matthew could find them and ruin their date.

After smoking one cigarette, Matthew put out the cigarette and wanted to light another one.

However, he restrained himself as he feared that the three children would not like the cigarette smell on him.

He then put the cigarette box back in his pocket and leaned back in the seat, staring at the car in front of him. Who's this guy? He looks so familiar. It seems that he was there at their class reunion last time. Is he Elizabeth's classmate?

At that thought, the corners of his lips were lifted. He's just a small fry.

Watching their car move into the underground garage of Horizon Tower, Matthew had already guessed that the guy had reserved a table in the revolving restaurant. Huh. What a romantic. It seems that Elizabeth quite likes romance.

Glancing at the time, he dialed Esme's number.

“Where are you?”

Esme came to a halt behind his car as he replied, “Mr. Hilton, we’re behind you.”

When Esme was talking on the phone, Matthew could hear Abby’s sweet voice in the background.

“Drive into the parking lot of Horizon Tower.”

“Yes, Mr. Hilton.”

The two vehicles then pulled into Horizon Tower’s underground parking lot and parked next to each other.

Matthew got out of the car, and the three kids exited the car next to him.

Spotting him, Abby ran toward him as she called, “Mr. Handsome!”

She hugged his slender legs and giggled in an adorable voice.

When Matthew picked her up, she gave the man a kiss on the cheek.

“Are you bringing us to a meal again today?”

She had seen this place on television before. It was a revolving restaurant. In the dramas she watched, the male and female protagonists went to this place for dates.

How I wish Lizzy is here. Abby blinked her eyes several times and asked, “Where’s Lizzy?”

Matthew replied in a low voice, "She's in the restaurant upstairs, but she may not be able to join us for dinner today."

Because she's on a date with a brat!

As they walked toward the elevator, Abby asked in confusion, "Why?"

On the other side, Arthur and Antony frowned upon hearing the man's words. Why isn't she eating with us? Something's wrong

The two exchanged looks with each other before they glanced at Matthew. Something's wrong with him today.

They noticed a cold look in Matthew's eyes. Did they have a quarrel?

The two then decided to observe first. Certainly, they would always be on their mother's side.

The elevator dinged as it reached the two hundred eighty-sixth floor, the top floor.

Chapter 186 Ruined Reputation

It was Abby's first time there, and she was overjoyed.

"Antony, Arthur, do you think we're high in the sky? We've been in the elevator for so long, so we should be, right?"

She slid off Matthew's body and ran into the restaurant, heading toward the window walls.

She just wanted to see how high the place was.

However, before she reached the windows, she caught sight of Elizabeth. Her footsteps halted, and she walked toward Elizabeth step by step.

“Lizzy, why are you here? Who is this man?”

She tilted her little head and looked at Benjamin cross-eyed.

Amused by her antics, Benjamin found the little girl adorable.

“Abby, why are you here?” Elizabeth was surprised.

Abby pouted and pointed to the other side with her mouth before saying, “I’m not the only one here. Antony and Arthur are also here.”

days.

Although Benjamin saw Matthew, he did not feel threatened since the latter was going to get engaged to Tiana in three

These kids must be the children of his relatives. Is he here to make Elizabeth look after them? She’s off work now. I won’t let him have his way.

Elizabeth looked at Matthew and the two boys. The three of them were all wearing black coats.

They looked quite alike, especially in the way they gazed at people.

There was always a hint of scrutiny in their dark gazes, making people feel guilty for no reason.

Glancing at Benjamin, Elizabeth said to Abby, "This is Mr. Houghton."

"Hello!" Abby greeted as she waved at Benjamin.

Antony and Arthur also nodded lightly at Benjamin as a greeting

However, their expressions were a little frosty. They could tell that Matthew was unhappy because their mom was out on a date with another man. To them, Benjamin was no match for Matthew. He was not as good-looking and intelligent as the latter. Judging by his expression, they knew Benjamin had no idea what was going on.

Without a word, Matthew walked toward the outermost glass room. That was the best spot in the restaurant.

Bergam The glass room was a feature of this restaurant. An ordinary person could hardly get a seat there. In fact, Benjamin had tried various ways to book the glass room but to no avail.

Abby shifted her gaze between Elizabeth and her two brothers before following Matthew into the glass room. After all,

Matthew was her favorite person.

Standing in the glass room, Abby and Matthew looked out at the scenery.

Elizabeth could hear Abby's laughter from where she was seated. She looked at her two sons and told Benjamin, "The three of them are my children. They are triplets."

Hearing that, Benjamin was dumbfounded, and his expression changed drastically.

Noticing that the man was not so fond of the three of them, Antony and Arthur walked up to Elizabeth and said, "Mommy, how could you go out on a date behind Daddy's back? Look, he's angry."

Right as they finished speaking, they made a gesture of shooting at Benjamin before walking toward the glass room smugly.

Benjamin was stunned.

Looking at Elizabeth in perplexity, he asked, "Are they really your children with Matthew?"

Elizabeth turned her head to look at the glass room. The three kids seemed to be getting along well with Matthew. Even Antony and Arthur were siding with him.

She shook her head. "No, I don't know who the father of the children is. I dropped out of school back then because I fell pregnant."

As she spoke about the matter, she still felt a little helpless like before.

Chapter 187 Interrogation

Benjamin narrowed his eyes slightly. "It turns out that what they said is true."

He looked at Elizabeth with a glint of disappointment in his eyes.

Elizabeth could feel it too. "That's right. Like what they said, I'm that kind of a woman."

With that, she grabbed her bag, ready to go to her children.

However, Benjamin held her hand. "Lizzy, how did you become like this?"

He had always thought Elizabeth was the most innocent and wonderful woman in this world.

How could she do something like this? She doesn't even know who the father of her children is. He found it hard to accept.

Elizabeth looked at him intently before sneering.

"I didn't change. It's just that you don't know me well enough."

H

Right as she finished her sentence, she headed to the glass room without looking back. Placing her bag on a chair, she walked up to the triplets and wrapped her arms around their shoulders.

Benjamin watched her for a while until his eyes gradually darkened. Only then did he get up and leave.

Meanwhile, Elizabeth took in the scenery outside the window. The entire city of Mistwood looks so small. Perhaps this is what it feels like to be in control of the world.

Beside her, Abby turned her head to look at Benjamin, only to see that he had left. She dragged Elizabeth to the other side, chiding, "Lizzy, what's wrong with you? Don't you see that Mr. Handsome is upset? You'd better go and console him."

She handed Elizabeth a rose and nudged the latter, urging, "Hurry up!"

Looking at Abby, Elizabeth could not help but laugh.

"Abby, you're overthinking. I'm only Matthew's employee. It's not what you think it is."

Antony and Arthur were standing not far from them, so they could hear the conversation clearly.

Abby shook her head. "I think Mr. Handsome likes you very much!"

Hearing that, Elizabeth glanced at the man who was sitting alone at the table, drinking coffee. His side profile looked stunning and handsome.

His legs were so long that his ironed trousers looked a little short on them.

As he grabbed the cup with his slender fingers and took a sip, a hint of smile appeared in his sharp eyes. He seemed to be quite satisfied with the coffee.

He's not only tall and handsome, but he's also charismatic

Elizabeth turned her head away from him, not wanting to be bewitched

"You're wrong. Abby He's going to be engaged to another girl this Saturday. Don't ever say something like that again.

Okay?"

Elizabeth tried her best to explain using words that Abby could understand

Abby's face fell at once. "What? He has another girlfriend? Is she as beautiful as you?"

The little girl had watched a lot of romance shows, so she was quite familiar with plots like this.

When she heard Elizabeth's words, the first thing she thought was that Matthew's girlfriend must not be as pretty as Elizabeth. Moreover, Matthew probably still favored Elizabeth, just like how things always turned out in those shows.

Thus, she was sure Elizabeth still stood a chance. Mr Handsome has been so kind to the three of us. Moreover, my brothers look like him a lot. We should be a family!

She could not accept the idea of an unfamiliar woman suddenly appearing in Matthew's life.

On the other hand, the two boys held a different opinion. They turned their heads to cast a glance at Matthew, realizing that they had made a mistake.

This man doesn't take Mommy seriously at all. He thinks she's a fool he could easily take advantage of, but we will never allow that to happen'

At that thought, they walked to Matthew, sandwiching him between them.

"Matthew, is it true that you're getting engaged?"

A gleam of iciness appeared in Arthur's eyes as he stared at the man in front of him Unlike him, Antony looked more friendly with a smile on his face.

Despite that, he looked more evil than usual.

Matthew had not expected the two boys to ask him that

His gaze turned dark as he uttered, "You're still young, so you don't understand the adults' world. I'll explain to you in the future."

Chapter 188 Do Not Bully Mommy

Arthur said coldly, "There's no need. We don't want to hear any explanation."

With that, he turned around and walked toward Elizabeth and Abby.

Meanwhile, Antony's smile curved up into an evil smirk as he beckoned Matthew to lean closer.

As Matthew studied him, he realized that the boy was starting to look more and more like him, especially when he smiled.

His brows furrowed slightly.

4

Before, I noticed that Arthur looks like me. Now, even Arthur is starting to resemble me. Is this the so-called fate? But my fate is Elizabeth, not these two kids.

He looked into a distance and saw Elizabeth holding hands with the two children, walking toward the door.

Leaning into Antony, he asked, "What do you want to tell me, Antony?"

Yet, Antony suddenly plucked out a strand of his hair and blew it away into the air.

"Matthew, our relationship is just like that hair. It's over between us.

"

As soon as he finished speaking, he wheeled around elegantly, catching up with his mother and siblings.

Just like that, Matthew watched the family of four leave the revolving restaurant. Then, he glanced at the dishes on the table. They were the favorites of the four people who had just left.

Massaging his temples, he muttered to himself, "This is troublesome."

He picked up the cutlery, trying to enjoy the delicacies. However, he felt as if he was chewing wax.

Unbeknownst to him, he had gotten used to eating with Elizabeth. Whenever he saw her eat, he would have a great appetite.

Now, without her presence, he did not feel like eating at all.

Eventually, he put down the cutlery and left the restaurant.

Elizabeth took her children to a fast-food restaurant. Though it was their favorite, she rarely brought them there.

Nevertheless, it wouldn't hurt to eat there once in a while. Since her two sons suddenly sided with her today, she was in a good mood. Thus, she decided to give her children a cheat day and make them happy.

Elizabeth ordered the food they liked and watched them eat joyfully.

Nibbling on a chicken wing, she asked, "Antony, Arthur, what's up with you two today?"

It was her first time entering the glass room of the revolving restaurant. The food there was notoriously good, but it was a pity she didn't get to taste them.

However, as long as her children were happy, she did not mind missing out on the food there

Arthur remained silent while Antony said calmly, "Mommy, you're silly. You should tell us whenever someone bullies you.

We'll back you up "

Elizabeth was a little surprised that they could tell.

Clearly, Matthew had been bullying her every day.

Despite that, there were things she could not tell them about.

With a chuckle, she said, "Okay. If someone bullies me in the future, I'll tell you and let you avenge me

Abby was too busy eating, so she could not care less about what they were talking about.

Hearing Elizabeth's promise, the two boys nodded in satisfaction and placed a few pieces of chicken wings and drumsticks on her plate.

"Eat more, Mommy."

In an instant, Elizabeth was moved. She took a big bite before saying, "Thank you, my sons!"

Just then, her phone rang.

Elizabeth glanced at it and saw that it was Michael calling her.

After hesitating for a moment, she eventually answered the call. "Hello, Grandpa."

"Lizzy, come home today."

"Grandpa, I've been a little busy lately. Can I go another day?" Elizabeth responded with a slight frown.

She finally got time to spend time with her three children today, so she was going to take them to the square to watch the musical fountain after eating

days.

Besides, she did not feel like going to the Wade residence at all, especially since Tiana was going to get engaged in three

Chapter 189 Reunion Of The Wade Family

"Lizzy, it's the Wade family's reunion today. Now that you're back in Mistwood, you must attend."

Then, he added, "Are you at the fast-food restaurant in the square now? I've told the driver to pick you up."

Hearing that, Elizabeth looked at her three children. It would be troublesome if Grandpa sees them.

She shot to her feet abruptly and pulled Abby up from her seat.

"Antony, Arthur, take your sister through the back door. I have something to deal with."

ther

Abby looked at her unfinished fries, her eyes full of reluctance.

“I’m not leaving, Lizzy. I haven’t finished eating yet!”

She often got sick, so she rarely got the chance to eat fast food.

Since Elizabeth decided to be merciful today, Abby wanted to make the most out of it.

Nevertheless, she was carried out through the back door of the restaurant and thrown into a taxi.

Even the two boys were clueless about what was going on. They turned their heads to look at the restaurant, wondering who their mother had seen to make her so terrified.

Could it be Daddy? Well, he’s still a better choice than other men. At least he won’t abandon Mommy, considering we’re family.

At that thought, they set their next task to force their daddy to pursue their mommy.

If they succeeded, their family would get to live happily together, and they would no longer need to help their mommy look for those unreliable men.

However, the two boys did not see anyone. Thus, they could only wave goodbye to her.

“Remember to come home before ten o’clock, Mommy!”

Elizabeth nodded. “Okay! Bye!”

As the taxi drove away, Elizabeth let out a sigh of relief

Thank goodness Grandpa’s people didn’t see them. Otherwise, Grandpa would be enraged, and he might even vent his anger on the children.

No matter how scary and unbearable the Wade family was, she was going to handle it by herself.

As soon as she sat back in her seat, several men in black suits walked in.

“Ms. Elizabeth, this way please.”

The men respectfully stood in two rows, making way for Elizabeth. She walked past them to the door and got into the subtle-looking luxury car.

Along the way, she watched the view outside the window. It was getting dark, and the neon lights outside were beautiful.

Elizabeth was familiar with the road back to the Wade residence. That was the route she had passed through countless times when she was a child.

She used to be very excited every time she saw the entrance, because it meant she was home.

However, when she saw the majestic gates now, she felt a little frightened.

She wasn't sure what kind of attitude her relatives would give her, or how viciously they would speak to her to suppress her. They were the closest people to her, but they were doing the most hurtful things to her.

As the car parked in the parking lot, the driver opened the door for her.

She got out of the car, looking up at the brightly lit main building. Seems like the gathering is so fun that the people in there aren't leaving even when it's nighttime already.

When Elizabeth walked into the living room, she saw everyone dancing.

Tiana had a wine glass in her hand, seemingly drunk.

"Aunt Francine, you dance well!"

"Uncle, you look awesome!"

Everyone smiled at Tiana as they looked at her.

"Tia, you're so sweet."

Suddenly, Tiana threw the wine glass on the ground, held her skirt, and danced alone excitedly.

"It's just so great to be with all the Ashtons!"

Chapter 190 Grandpa Still Loves Her

After Elizabeth heard that, there was only one thought running through her mind. I'm no longer part of the Wade family since a long time ago.

She was now on her own. That was why she couldn't feel their joy.

Approaching her, a housekeeper said respectfully, "Ms. Elizabeth, Old Mr. Wade wants to see you in his study."

Elizabeth didn't come to see any of those people who were partying. She just came since her grandpa told her to do so.

She, too, wanted to see him.

She nodded, saying. "Thank you."

The housekeeper brought her around the bustling living room and went up to the study on the second floor.

She then gestured at the door. "Ms. Elizabeth, Old Mr. Wade is waiting inside. Please."

After that, she turned around and left. Elizabeth then pushed open the door.

As she walked into the study, she noticed nothing had changed even after so many years.

The wooden flooring radiated a vintage vibe, and the walls were covered with wooden bookshelves.

There was also a wooden lift, which was probably what Michael used to get books from the higher shelves.

However, Elizabeth knew that Michael never really got the books himself. The housekeepers would do it for him.

She slowly made her way to the front of the desk and smiled. "Grandpa."

Michael was holding onto his wife's picture with much care. His eyes clearly showed how much he missed her.

He lifted his head and looked at Elizabeth, who was the spitting image of his wife. In an instant, his eyes misted over.

"Lizzy, come here."

Walking to his side, Elizabeth caught sight of the picture.

"Grandpa, are you thinking of Grandma again?"

He nodded. "The family feast was set by your grandma, but she has already left us.

Elizabeth gently held onto Michael's shoulder. "Grandpa, I'm sure Grandma is watching over you. She wouldn't want to see you like this. She wants you to be happy."

After that, she pulled out a lollipop.

This candy is really sweet. It's as sweet as me."

Michael's eyes glimmered when he heard her. That was how she used to coax him back then.

He took the lollipop, removed the wrapping, and put it in his mouth. With a chuckle, he nodded "It's sweet!"

Seeing that, Elizabeth smiled happily, her eyes curving into crescent moons.

Slowly, the smile on Michael's face vanished. He took out the lollipop and looked at it.

"Is this your kid's lollipop?"

Elizabeth froze, a slight nervousness flashing across her face.

She slowly tightened her fingers before finally nodding

Michael then tasted the lollipop again. "I'm sure they're as sweet as the candy too."

Taking a deep breath, Elizabeth said, "Grandpa, I know you don't like hearing about what happened back then. It's also a scar that would stay with me forever. However, the kids are innocent. They are lovely and adorable. I do not regret having them."

To Elizabeth, her three babies were gifts from the heavens. She cherished them very much.

"Next time, bring them here. I would like to see them."

Elizabeth widened her eyes.

Overjoyed, she immediately answered, "Definitely, Grandpa."

Michael then stood up. "Let's go out and have some fun. Tia found herself a great husband, so everyone's celebrating"

With that, Elizabeth supported Michael and went downstairs to the living room.

When the Ashtons saw Michael, they stopped partying and approached him.

"Dad."

"Grandpa."

Michael nodded at them. "Carry on."

They then turned their gazes toward Elizabeth. Upon seeing her, they instantly recalled the luxury car they saw that night.

They had looked it up afterward and found out how valuable it was,

Noticing the necklace Elizabeth was wearing. Francine walked forward and lifted the pendant.

What brand is this? The workmanship is pretty special."