

Game Over 271

Chapter 271 He Is Handsome

As soon as she said those words, her whole body flushed while she bit her lip hard.

What's going on with me? I actually want to advance further with him....

Matthew picked her up and strode upstairs, his lips never once parting from her skin. Everywhere his lips touched made.

her feel a tickle.

It was incredibly torturous. All of her self-control had suddenly gone haywire. She wondered what had happened to her.

After tossing the woman on the large, soft bed, Matthew swiftly stripped himself off and climbed above her.

Elizabeth was only dressed in her body-hugging skirt now as the man's hand caressed her rear intimately.

"This skirt suits you very well."

He had always thought of doing this whenever he saw her buttocks in the office.

At last, his wish was fulfilled. Meanwhile, Elizabeth was so immersed in the intimate sensation that all his words had blurred into a fuzz in her mind.

She closed her eyes, moving her body involuntarily while pressed against him.

It was not until when she finally felt his large manhood entering her that she grimaced in pain, her hands clutching his shoulders tightly.

“It hurts...”

Matthew crooned, “Babe, relax. You’re going to break me.

Regardless, she remained tensed, seemingly unsure how to proceed. He wanted to move, but she was squeezing him too tightly for him to do so.

The man kissed her lips again, wanting to help her relax.

Right at this juncture, someone knocked on the door.

“Open the door, Mommy!”

“Lizzy, Mr. Handsome...”

The voices of the three kids traveled through the door. At once, Elizabeth opened her eyes and suddenly recalled they were waiting for her to bring back groceries to the adjacent mansion.

What’s the time now? They must be starving.

She hurriedly pushed Matthew away. “Matthew, take it out.”

He knitted his brows. His shaft was still throbbing in anticipation. If he were to take it out now, he would likely have blue balls.

He gnawed on her lips. "I don't want to."

Then, he started kissing her again. Elizabeth closed her eyes before abruptly snapping them open. She jostled him off her, grabbed the quilt, and wrapped herself in it.

him.

Her face flushed warmly while her eyes filled with mist.

"I'm sorry, Matthew! Can we take a rain check?"

They had already reached this stage, so she wouldn't be reserved anymore. Next time, she would definitely give herself to Matthew glared coldly at her. This woman is going to be the death of me.

His lips pressed into a thin line. "You owe me this time."

As he got off the bed, Elizabeth hurriedly shut her eyes, not daring to peek.

Once the sounds of running water resonated from the bathroom, she hastily got off the bed, put on her clothes while she walked, then returned to the kitchen to get the groceries. With that, she headed toward the yard.

In the meantime, she tidied her hair and gave her face a few gentle smacks.

Elizabeth Wade, how can you forget about your kids because of a man? It's already this late. Do you want them to starve to death?

She pulled open the door, her gaze slightly flustered.

"Are you guys hungry?"

Abby pouted. "Mommy, what were you doing here with Mr. Handsome? We're famished."

Elizabeth smiled awkwardly. "Mr. Hilton is busy at the moment. I'm his secretary; naturally, it's my duty to work with him. Sorry for taking up some time for that."

Next, she cast a quick glance upstairs. Her eyes landed precisely on Matthew's bedroom window, and she saw him standing by the window in a bath towel, peering back at her.

ago.

His intense stare sent shivers down her spine, and her mind couldn't help but drift off to the moment they shared minutes

Cough! Cough! Cough!

At that thought, she coughed vigorously, forcing her wandering mind back on track.

DINLIQDUJVITIC

“Let’s go back.”

She hurriedly retracted her gaze and urged the kids to go back home.

Abby cast a glance upstairs. “How about Mr. Handsome? Is he coming to our place for dinner too?”

Elizabeth grinned. “Yes, he will. He’s still in a meeting right now. He’ll come after the meeting is over. Let’s head back first.”

Abby jumped in exhilaration. “That’s wonderful! I haven’t seen Mr. Handsome in a few days. He seems to have gotten even more handsome. Mommy, do you think so as well? He’s handsome, right?”

Matthew’s figure flashed across her mind, and Elizabeth blurted out, “Mm. He’s handsome!”

Chapter 272 She Is Shy

As Antony and Arthur listened to the mother-and-daughter duo’s conversation, their faces briefly darkened.

Antony tugged on Arthur, “Arthur, let’s go upstairs and check the room

The brothers planned to install a security system in the house. With that, they would be alerted whenever there was an intruder.

Now that they were living in such a spacious house, they needed to be extra cautious.

Elizabeth played with Abby for a moment. Then, she went to the kitchen and saw Cody busy with work

“I’ll wash the vegetables.”

She took the leafy greens aside and started washing them. Meanwhile, Cody cleaned the fish and meat.

“Lizzy, this is genuinely a nice house. The kitchen is so spacious. It’s practically an honor to be able to cook here.”

Elizabeth was done with the vegetables. She broke into a smile when she heard Cody.

“Ms. Elliott, it will be tough for you to clean a house this big.”

Of course, Elizabeth and her children would help Cody with the chores during the weekend.

Although she hired Cody as a housekeeper, the latter had been helping her a lot outside of her duty scope. Additionally, Cody was genuinely nice to the three kids. Thus, they regarded her as part of the family.

Cody beamed. “It’s all right. I have nothing to do anyway, I consider cleaning as an exercise.”

Right then, Abby walked into the kitchen. “Mommy, Mr. Handsome is here.”

A blush crept up Elizabeth’s cheeks when she heard that. It immediately reminded her of the scene in his house earlier.

She suddenly felt a bit shy to meet him, for they had gotten so intimate.

“Lizzy, you can brew some coffee for Mr. Hilton Leave the rest to me.”

Elizabethly wiped her hands. "Abby, why don't you go and greet Mr. Hilton? I'll make some coffee now."

Although this was a new house, everything was well-prepared. It seemed Michael had an inkling they would move in as soon as possible.

She found a can of coffee beans at the counter in the dining room. After brewing it, she carried the drink to the living room.

The man, who was sitting on the couch, immediately caught her eyes. At present, he had already taken a shower and changed into casual clothes.

He wore a grey sweater with black trousers, his hair left undone in its natural state. Instead of his typical aloofness, he now exuded a faint warmth, giving off the vibe of the boy next door.

Abby sat beside him, her large, iridescent eyes riveting on him.

It was apparent that the girl thought Matthew was handsome too. Similarly, Elizabeth found him extraordinarily attractive today.

With blushing cheeks, she placed the coffee before him. "Mr. Hilton, the food will be ready soon. Please have a drink first."

The man stared at her deeply, his gaze still full of intense emotions.

Elizabeth's heart raced wildly. She knew exactly what he was thinking at the moment.

Deliberately, the woman took a seat a distance away from him. Otherwise, she felt that flames, would ignite within her due to his blazing gaze.

Abby leaned against the man. "Mr. Hilton, Ms. Elliott is going to cook a delicious meal tonight. You're always welcome to eat with us in the future."

Matthew was originally staring at the woman playing with her phone with her head lowered. He knew she w eling shy

Although he had only possessed her for a few minutes tonight, the sensation still lingered on his mind, sending down prickles through his whole body whenever he thought about it.

It gave him an urge to die on her body. He then licked his thin lips. Next time, I'll definitely take her all the way.

He reached out and stroked Abby's tiny face. "Thank you, but I'd have to ask your mommy if I'm welcome here."

Though she looked engrossed in her phone, Elizabeth was actually listening to their conversation. She pursed her lips slightly upon hearing that.

Abby chirped, "Mommy, didn't you just say Mr. Hilton is handsome? You like him too, don't you? Why don't we invite Mr.

Hilton to our house every day for dinner after this?"

Elizabeth wanted to dash over and cover her daughter's mouth. How can you tell him that? She wished she could dig herself a hole and hide in it.

"I'll go and help Ms. Elliott out. Enjoy your drink, Mr. Hilton."

With that, she hurriedly got up and scurried into the kitchen while Matthew smiled with eyes full of affection.

Chapter 273 I Am Pursuing Elizabeth

Elizabeth entered the kitchen with a flushed face.

When Cody saw her, she asked, "Lizzy, why is your face so red? Are you

Elizabeth reached out to touch her face with her hand. She had already felt her face heating up, but now she was even more embarrassed that Cody pointed it out.

"It's fine. It's just that the heater here is quite strong, so I'm feeling a little warm."

She then proceeded to the counter. "Is there anything I can do, Ms. Elliott? I can assist you. They're all ravenous. It's a lot for you to take on your own, so it'll be easier with another person."

Cody pointed to a plate of vegetables. "You can help to make the salad."

Elizabeth was great at making salads Hence, she got to work right away

Meanwhile, Abby leaned against Matthew in the living room while watching a cartoon. He stared at the child in his arms, who appeared to be a carbon copy of Elizabeth. For whatever reason, the more he looked at the girl, the fonder he was of her.

It seemed that he really adored Abby the moment he had laid eyes on her. He felt a sense of affinity when he looked at the girl as though they had already known each other for a long time

"Abby, you can always give me a call no matter what happens in the future, all right? I'm only next door."

Abby was staring at Peppa Pig that was airing on the TV when she heard this. Her brows furrowed slightly.

"But, my brothers say that you're not a good person, and they won't let me tell you anything about our family."

She did not understand them, but she knew she liked Matthew because he was the most good-looking person she had ever seen. Moreover, he also resembled her brothers, so she felt a special connection with him.

Matthew was well aware that the other two boys disliked him. He used to think that if he could just win over Elizabeth, the three kids would follow suit.

Now, it seemed like he would have to win over the three children first in order to have a blissful life “Abby, I did do something wrong in the past. However, I’ve changed and will treat Lizzy well wholeheartedly from now on.

Are you willing to help me? I want to pursue her.”

Abby’s large eyes stared fixedly at the man when she heard that “Do you really like Lizzy? Are you willing to become our daddy too?”

Matthew raised a brow “Of course. You can call me Daddy from now on.

The girl blinked her large eyes. I really want to call him Daddy! Since young, all my friends had their daddies except me

Thus was also a source of pain to the girl. She turned her gaze to the dining room’s entrance, then to the stairwell.

Next, she stood on the couch and inched closer to Matthew’s ear.

“Daddy Daddy!”

She burst out giggling after saying those words.

Matthew's heart skipped a beat as a remarkable emotion spread across his chest. His eyes darkened faintly.

Abby hugged his neck and whispered again, "Daddy, I miss you. I've missed you so much."

The man's eyes turned watery when he saw her expression. It was apparent that the child missed her father.

He placed her on his lap and patted her head gently.

"Sweetheart, you're my daughter from now on."

His heart ached for Abby immensely. Since he fancied Elizabeth, he naturally adored her children.

At this moment, the other two boys came down the stairs. Abby immediately got up from Matthew's lap and widened the gap between them.

There was a gleam of helplessness in her gaze. However, she was obedient and obeyed her two brothers.

Arthur and Antony returned to the living room, and the former shot Matthew a cold glare.

"Mr. Hilton, we'd better meet less in the future. My mommy has to date. If you keep appearing, it will affect her prospects of getting a boyfriend."

Antony chimed in, "Let this be our last dinner, then!"

Matthew swept his gaze across the two boys. They were both good-looking and exuded a refined aura. He was confident that they would become extremely successful in the future.

His slender fingers fidgeted with the wolf-embellished ring on his finger, and he narrowed his eyes slightly.

“I’m currently pursuing Elizabeth.”

Chapter 274 She Has Long Been Mine

Arthur scoffed coldly. “She would rather stay single than marry you.”

Worry flitted across Abby’s face when she noticed they were about to start arguing.

“Arthur, Antony! Mr. Hilton is our guest today. Mommy will be very angry when she finds out you guys are acting this way toward him.”

Hearing their sister’s words, Arthur and Antony swallowed the barrage of comments they were about to say.

Matthew was stuck in a dilemma as he did not know how to let the boys accept him.

He was totally clueless as to how to coax a child.

At this moment, Elizabeth called out, “Dinner is ready.”

Abby wore her slippers and extended her hand.

“Mr. Hilton, let’s go eat!”

ww

Matthew rose to his feet and took Abby’s hand in his. As their height disparity was too vast, it made the girl look especially tiny in comparison.

The whole family sat at the dining table to dig in.

Elizabeth placed some food on her children’s plates before adding some to Matthew’s.

“Mr. Hilton, thank you for your ingredients.”

Matthew was eating gracefully when he heard her words. His dark gaze drew to her. For some reason, Elizabeth’s heart started pounding when she sensed his gaze on her.

She would become jittery as long as he glanced at her now.

It made her feel utterly sheepish.

Right then, her phone rang. She answered it when she saw that it was Dominic calling.

“Hello.

fun.”

“I’m standing outside your door, Lizzy. Arthur said you guys are dining at the new house today, so I came to join in the

The next moment, the doorbell rang

“Come and get the door for me!”

274 She Has Long Been Mine

Elizabeth glimpsed at Matthew. She felt a little panicked that Dominic was here at this juncture

All she hoped was that Dominic would not talk any nonsense later After all, she had only said those things in the Wade residence for the

the children

Cody heard the doorbell and said. “I’ll get it

Since they had only just moved here today, she was slightly surprised that there was a guest

Not long after she led Dominic into the dining room

“Larry, Mr. Campbell is here

All of a sudden, the dining room felt like a freezer due to the drastic drop in temperature

Matthew stared frostily at the man who had just entered Both of them glared murderously at each other.

Cody prepared a set of cutlery for Dominic as he sat on an empty seat.

“Sorry for being late,” he stated flatly

Antony gave him a faint smile. “Daddy, there will always be dinner for you here even if you’re late.”

Arthur, too, greeted, “Daddy”

Abby widened her eyes in shock. When did Mr. Dominic become our daddy? I just called Mr. Hilton that!
Am I supposed to call Mr. Dominic Daddy now too?

She burnedly lowered her head and decided to focus on eating instead Elizabeth was also dumbfounded. Are these two brats doing it on purpose?

Dominic grinned and said to Matthew, “Mr. Hilton, these three children are Lizzy’s and my children.
We’ve already gone.

to see her family yesterday. Soon after, we’ll be getting married.

Elizabeth was so thunderstruck that she dropped her fork on the floor.

She mumbled with an apprehensive expression, “My bad”

After bending down to pick up the fork and set it on the table, she soundlessly glanced at her two sons before turning to Dominic What are these three t isicals up to?.

2/3

Matthew's gaze was utterly icy and frightening

He raised his head to peer at Elizabeth

"Lizzy, tell him What were we doing one hour earlier?"

Elizabeth had just taken a new fork and ate a mouthful of food. Upon hearing that, she choked and started coughing.

When Matthew realized she was terrified by his words, he couldn't help smirking devilishly.

"Dominic, you can make up these lies to deceive others, but it won't work on me. Elizabeth has long since been my woman We did the deed an hour ago."

Elizabeth lowered her eyes in embarrassment. I can't believe he just said that! Ahh!

She seriously wished the ground would open up and swallow her.

Dominic blanched, and he looked toward Elizabeth. Deep sorrow flashed across his eyes.

"Mr. Hilton, I don't believe a single word you said either. I'm well aware of what kind of person Lizzy is."

Chapter 275 He Is The Daddy

Matthew raised n brow and snickered, completely unbothered by Dominic's words.

Lizzy is already my woman, regardless There's no chance of him snatching her away.

The atmosphere became tense at the table, and Elizabeth's face turned crimson. She glared at Matthew and gestured to him to stop talking nonsense.

Although the three children couldn't understand Matthew's words, Dominic and Cody were adults. She did not want others to know about the private things between her and Matthew as it was too embarrassing

The man winked at her and smirked, looking like a handsome bad boy.

His actions had roused all her teenage fantasies.

Hence, she did not dare to look at him anymore. Matthew was also aware that he was not permitted to say anything else.

He had already refuted Dominic earlier, so he did not care if the latter believed him or not.

Abby darted her gaze between Matthew and Dominic, feeling conflicted between the two.

However, she knew that she liked them both.

In the meantime, Cody found it hilarious as she witnessed the dinner situation.

The public believed Elizabeth was pitiful and had a tough life raising three children on her own.

Yet, they were unaware that she was being pursued by two outstanding men. In Cody's eyes, Elizabeth seemed extremely blessed and not in the least pathetic.

Elizabeth entered the kitchen after they finished their meal to assist Cody with the cleanup

She gave the latter a shock when she suggested doing the dishes.

"Lizzy, these plates seem expensive. Why don't you cut some fruits for your guests?"

Elizabeth could not help but laugh. In actuality, under Matthew's training, she had stopped breaking glassware. After all, that man's items were too extravagant, and breaking one would pain her for a long time.

In the living room, Arthur and Antony chatted enthusiastically with Dominic.

Abby saw that everyone was ignoring Matthew, so she decided to accompany him and tell him some jokes

Yet, she ended up laughing at her own jokes instead of making the man laugh. With her hands on her abdomen, she asked, "Mr. Hilton, isn't it so funny?"

Matthew raised a brow and glanced at the time once more.

"Go and tell your mommy that it's nine o'clock."

Abby did not quite understand what he meant, but she knew it was time for her to sleep.

Dominic patted Antony's head and glimpsed at Matthew.

"Son, remember not to let strangers into the house next time, okay?"

The ball was in Matthew's court now. Yet, he let out a cold scoff.

"I'm not an outsider. I'll be their father in the future."

him?

Abby giggled. "That's right! Mr. Hilton is not an outsider!"

Dominic peered at Abby. Isn't she usually close to me? Why is she siding with Matthew now? Do all females like guys like

Abby noticed Dominic looking at her, so she added, "Dom is not an outsider too!"

Elizabeth was bringing out the cut fruits when she heard Abby's words. She frowned slightly.

Abby is such a fence-sitter who only knows how to go with the flow.

"Dominic, Mr. Hilton, have some fruits."

She stood in front of Matthew and looked at him with slight bashfulness.

Matthew was especially fond of her whenever she was shy, as he was the one who had changed her from a simpleton to her current state.

He picked up a strawberry and extended his hand.

“Open your mouth.”

Elizabeth was at a loss. She shook her head, indicating that he should not act like this in front of others.

Still, he ignored her and repeated his words.

“Open your mouth.”

She leaned toward him and opened her mouth to eat the strawberry, leading to Matthew smiling at her.

It was a bewitching and gorgeous smile. This warmed her heart, and she smiled back lightly at him.

Dominic’s expression turned slightly grim when he witnessed the scene.

Naturally, Arthur also saw their interaction, and an idea occurred to him.

‘Daddy, it’s late

You should return soon. Mommy will walk you out.”

With that, he faced Elizabeth and added, “Mommy, Daddy’s about to leave. You should send him off.”

Chapter 276 Romance For Elizabeth

Elizabeth was still munching on the strawberry while meeting Matthew’s eyes, finding his smile incredibly good-looking Upon hearing her son’s words, she hastily swallowed the fruit.

“Oh, okay.”

She walked toward Dominic and smiled faintly.

“Dominic, let me walk you out.”

Dominic stood up, and the two walked out side by side.

Arthur gave a signal to Antony with his eyes. Immediately, Antony beckoned at their sister.

“Abby, why don’t you go and pick your room?”

Indeed, Abby had not chosen her bedroom yet. Upon hearing her brother’s words, she slid off the couch and ran toward

“Okay”

Then, she suddenly remembered Matthew and waved at him.

“Mr. Hilton, we’ll be neighbors from now on. Please come and visit me more often!”

She had the kind of endearing smile that everyone would adore. Hence, Matthew nodded lightly.

“Okay!”

Antony then brought Abby upstairs, whereas Arthur stood in front of Matthew.

Their expressions were startlingly similar as they stared at each other with pursed lips.

The boy uttered coldly, "Mr. Hilton, we're actually not that close. Also, companies usually do not advocate for office romance, so will you maintain a distance with my mommy? Of course, we don't welcome you in this house either."

He had raised a hand while speaking.

"Please leave."

It was a courteous but cold manner of chasing him out Matthew knitted his brows.

There was a hint of displeasure in his expression as he had never been treated like this before. Nonetheless, he would not bear a grudge against a child.

"Arthur, I'll prove to you guys with my actions that I'm serious about her."

He then stood up and walked off

Matthew was still as arrogant as he always had been Since he was being chased away and clearly took a hit with his pride, he would definitely not remain here brazenly.

Meanwhile, Dominic gazed at Elizabeth intently outside the entrance

"Lazy, I'll always wait for you."

She frowned slightly. "Dominic, I've thought about it. We're not suitable for each other."

She decided to be courageous for once when she thought about the man in her house. She had never dated before, but she enjoyed the sweet moments with Matthew and wanted to cherish them.

Dominic's face darkened a little, and he reached out to secure her outerwear, fearing she might be cold.

"You didn't even try, Lizzy. How do you know we're not right for one other? From now on grandfather, I've already decided to pursue you. Please don't reject me."

No, from the day I met your

With that, he pulled her forcefully into his embrace and whispered in her ear, "I love you!"

After letting her go, he stared at her deeply before turning to get into the car.

The vehicle gradually drove away while Elizabeth was still rooted to the ground, rendered speechless. This was the time someone had told her that he loved her.

It was a strange feeling, but she only thought of Dominic as a friend she'd have for life.

Matthew walked out and extended his hand to hold hers. Then, he dragged her off briskly.

She looked at his large hand that was enveloping her small hand, and her lips curled into a smile uncontrollably. The street lamps glowed warmly and elongated their shadows.

When they entered his residence, he pinned her against the door and started kissing her.

Elizabeth could clearly sense that he was not in a good mood. He probably saw Dominic forcefully hugging me, so he's kissing me to vent his ? anger now.

Although it was painful for her, she did not reject him.

Her hands slowly moved up and looped around his neck while she responded to his kiss.

Matthew's fury instantly vanished into thin air when he felt her response. He stopped as he felt her tongue sliding into his mouth. With that, she, too, paused and opened her misty, large eyes.

Their lips were still pressed together as they gazed at each other.

Matthew's gaze was full of warmth. Elizabeth quickly retreated a step, and their lips separated.

She tugged his shirt and asked softly. "Are you mad?"

Chapter 277 Interrupted Again

Matthew looked at the string of saliva between Elizabeth and his lips and thought it was extremely alluring,

If it weren't because he had already taken care of his desire in the no matter what

ather, he would've taken her there and then,

He gently traced his slender fingers on her lips You're really gorgeous Your eyes are huge and bright, and you look innocent to the point that aches my heart when you look me in the eye

Then, he pulled her into his arms and hugged her tightly "Lazy, please stay by my side forever"

He appeared slightly sorrowful when he said that as if he had lost her before.

Elizabeth felt her heart clenching, and she hummed in reply. "Mm!"

At that moment, their hearts were pressed tight against each other

They could feel their strong need for one another To her surprise, Elizabeth even felt her heart aching for the man.

Matthew absolutely didn't need her feeling heartbroken for him since he was a powerful, wealthy, and capable man with prominent family background. In fact, he was supposed to have everything he ever desired in life,

They embraced each other for a long time. It wasn't until she felt her legs getting sore that he finally let her go, grazing her

tiny nose

"Do you want to stay the night?" His eyes darkened when he asked that question, causing her heart to skip a beat.

Still, she shook her head. "I can't. I have to go home."

I knew it. When compared to the three children, I'm nothing. I shall take it slow, then. I hope I'll have a place in her heart someday.

He had his arm around her shoulder as they walked to the living room together. Then, he made her sit on the couch

After sitting down next to her, he pulled her into his arms again. This time, it was domineering, as if he would not allow her to reject him.

Regardless, Elizabeth didn't want to push him away either.

"Tell me about yourself, Lizzy. I feel like I don't know you as well as Dominic does."

At the thought of that, he felt a little annoyed.

Elizabeth couldn't help but giggle upon seeing his disgruntled expression.

She leaned against his chest and caressed the sweater he was wearing. It was made of wool and felt soft to the touch Not only that, but he also looked great wearing it.

Matthew looked at the string of saliva between Elizabeth and his lips and thought it was extremely alluring.

If it weren't because he had already taken care of his desire in the bathroom earlier, he would've taken her there and then,

no matter what

He gently traced his slender fingers on her lips. You're really gorgeous. Your eyes are huge and bright, and you look innocent to the point that it aches my heart when you look me in the eye.

Then, he pulled her into his arms and hugged her tightly. "Lizzy, please stay by my side forever!"

He appeared slightly sorrowful when he said that as if he had lost her before.

Elizabeth felt her heart clenching, and she hummed in reply. "Mm!"

At that moment, their hearts were pressed tightly against each other.

They could feel their strong need for one another. To her surprise, Elizabeth even felt her heart aching for the man.

Matthew absolutely didn't need her feeling heartbroken for him since he was a powerful, wealthy, and capable man with prominent family background. In fact, he was supposed to have everything he ever desired in life.

They embraced each other for a long time. It wasn't until she felt her legs getting sore that he finally let her go, grazing her tiny nose.

"Do you want to stay the night?" His eyes darkened when he asked that question, causing her heart to skip a beat.

Still, she shook her head. "I can't. I have to go home."

I knew it. When compared to the three children, I'm nothing. I shall take it slow, then. I hope I'll have a place in her heart someday.

He had his arm around her shoulder as they walked to the living room together. Then, he made her sit on the couch.

After sitting down next to her, he pulled her into his arms again. This time, it was domineering, as if he would not allow her to reject him.

Regardless, Elizabeth didn't want to push him away either.

"Tell me about yourself, Lizzy. I feel like I don't know you as well as Dominic does."

At the thought of that, he felt a little annoyed.

Elizabeth couldn't help but giggle upon seeing his disgruntled expression.

She leaned against his chest and caressed the sweater he was wearing. It was made of wool and felt soft to the touch. Not only that, but he also looked great wearing it.

“Matthew, Dominic isn’t actually the kids’ father. Arthur only said that to make you angry.”

She wanted to laugh whenever she thought about that.

It’s all because you behaved as though you were pursuing me in front of the kids yet got engaged to Tiana secretly. It’s not a wise choice to lie to children.

Matthew let out a sigh of relief. It’s just as I expected.

“I know.”

He could tell by looking at the appearances of the three children—none of them looked like Dominic. On the contrary, Arthur and Antony resembled him..

Finally, the smile on his face grew, and he looked more relieved than before. He stared at her with an expression that got more joyful by the second.

Without warning, he leaned in closer to Elizabeth, wanting to kiss her again. Yet, she dodged it this time.

“My lips are all swelled up because of you. You can’t kiss me again.”

Although our kiss is also pleasurable to me, I'm afraid we will lose control again like what happened this afternoon. I don't want to dive into this relationship too quickly, so we need to take it slow. Otherwise, won't he stop cherishing me?

With that thought in mind, her expression turned slightly solemn as she pressed her palms on his chest to stop him.

"Matthew, are you serious about us?"

The man's eyes became bleak, and his gaze on her intensified. He scoffed, "Do you not trust me?"

She looked at his handsome face that was just a few inches away from hers; his exquisite facial features were extremely charming, and the way he stared at her was unpredictable.

How will I ever understand someone like you?

They were at an impasse for a while before Matthew finally let her go.

Seeing how he turned his back to face her, she felt an inexplicable sadness growing within her. Therefore, she wrapped her arms around his waist and buried her face in his neck. "I trust you."

No matter what happens in the future, I want to be with you, and I want to cherish this relationship.

Right then, the doorbell of his house rang, so she abruptly released him.

"It must be the kids. I need to go now."

Chapter 278 Missus Hilton

When Elizabeth got up, Matthew stood up as well. "I'll see you out."

D'm it. I can't believe how much I want her to stay here and be with me.

Reluctance washed over him as he felt an immense urge to have her all to himself.

Once they opened the door, they saw Tiana standing right on the doorstep. One could easily tell that she had deliberately dolled herself up Tiana's eyes filled with shock when she saw the two of them exiting the house together and Matthew's arm wrapping around Elizabeth's waist. While she stared at them blankly, Elizabeth was also surprised by Tiana's sudden appearance. Why is she here?

At once, her mood went downhill, and she pulled herself away from Matthew's embrace.

As she walked past Tiana, she even let out a cold snigger.

The man couldn't help but chuckle when he saw the look of jealousy on her face.

"Lizzy..." he called out softly.

Elizabeth turned around and pointed at Tiana, then pointed at him. It seemed like she was warning him silently not to do anything over the top with Tiana, or she wouldn't spare him.

Seeing that, he put his hands in his pockets and nodded at her lovingly.

Elizabeth spun around and walked forward as Tiana glared at the former's back resentfully. Hatred brewed within Tiana's chest

After Elizabeth disappeared from sight. Matthew retracted his gaze and spoke icily. "How can I help you, Ms. Wade? Didn't we already agree not to meet privately and to stay away from each other's lives?"

This woman is seriously bothering me. Moreover, Lizzy already dislikes her, to begin with. She must be even more upset after seeing this woman visit me at my place.

Upon hearing his bitter statement. Tiana shifted her focus back to him. I don't understand. Is Elizabeth staying here? Did she ask that old man to buy her a house here just to live near Matthew? Why is she being so pretentious when she clearly gave birth to the children of an old man in his seventies? She's so demn disgusting!

"Matt. I merely passed by this area, so I came to see you. Why was Elizabeth here? Is she staying here?"

An unmistakable look of contempt crept onto her face when she said that

She continued. "Don't be fooled by her appearance, Matt. Although she looks beautiful and innocent, it's all just an act She got pregnant with an old man's child when she was eighteen, and she had been staying with that old man throughout att these years. I'm sure the house she owns here was bought by him as well."

Elizabeth is as awful as she can get. No matter how gorgeous she looks, no man will bat her an eye if they know how terrible she is. How would a man like Matthew possibly fall for her?

She fixed her hair and asked, "Can I go in and take a seat, Matt?"

Tiana glanced in a nearby direction as she spoke. While she was shopping today, she met a few friends who were curious if she had broken up with Matthew. In response, she explained that it wasn't true and that they only canceled the because something cropped up.

engagement

Still, her friends didn't seem to believe her. Hence, she brought them here to prove that she was still in contact with Matthew.

Tiana didn't want to be looked down on by others, and she didn't want to become the laughingstock as well. Thus, she was determined to prove the naysayers wrong no matter what.

Matthew glanced at the time and turned her down. "I'm busy. Please leave now."

With that, he shut the door, leaving Tiana seething with rage.

Fortunately, those women are still far away, so I don't think they've heard our conversation. At least I've had Matthew make a brief appearance. I think they will believe me now.

She turned around and walked in the direction where her friends were. Just when she turned around the corner, girls approached and embraced her cheerfully.

e

"Looks like Matthew and you are really still a couple, Tia! But, who was that woman who came out of his house earlier? She looks quite familiar."

They couldn't tell clearly who that person was as they had been standing too far away.

Tiana raised one brow and answered, "That's his cousin who lives here. She visits him frequently."

After that, she tipped her head proudly. "Do you believe me now, ladies? Let's go!"

The smile on the three women's faces widened as they stepped closer to Tiana and held her forearms.

“Tia, remember not to forget us when you finally get married into the Hilton family and become Mrs. Hilton!”

Chapter 279 Public Display Of Affection

ten minutes ago.

It read: Lizzy, let’s go to the office together. I’ll wait for you at home.

After reading that, she smiled faintly and typed a reply: I’ll be there in ten minutes. You’re the best, Mr. Hilton!

Once she sent the message, she swiftly got out of bed and went to the bathroom to wash up. Sleeping in such a large bed is, as expected, extremely comfortable. I haven’t slept so well in ages

She beamed when she saw how spacious the bathroom was, with not only a shower but also a large bathtub. We finally have a place to call home.

The three children were already up and playing in the living room by the time she came downstairs.

Abby was practicing the piano, whereas her two sons were fiddling busily with their computers.

“Don’t put too much pressure on yourself, you three. Remember to go for a walk after you’ve finished studying,” she advised.

Hearing that, Abby turned around and grinned.

“How did I do on the piano, Mommy?”

What a wonderful start to the day! As soon as I wake up, I can hear my daughter playing the piano.

Thinking of that, Elizabeth gave her daughter a thumbs up. "You did fantastically."

Just as she was heading toward the door, Arthur stopped her and uttered, "Mommy, eat your breakfast before going to work."

Cody was already in the kitchen preparing breakfast, and she also told the children that skipping breakfast was bad for their health.

Looking at the time, Elizabeth answered, "I'll eat in the office. I woke up too late this morning. See you tonight, sweethearts!"

With that said, she hurriedly walked out the door. After all, she promised to be there in ten minutes, yet it had already been more than twenty minutes. Hence, she did not know if Matthew was still waiting for her.

If he'd left, she could only drive to the office by herself.

The house was not conveniently located near the railway station. Even though there was a bus stop nearby, the bus only came once every half hour and hailing a taxi was even more difficult.

She rushed to Matthew's house and unlocked the door with her fingerprint.

Poking her tiny head into the house, she called out, "Matthew... Matthew, are you here?"

Shortly afterward, the man emerged from the room. A smile spread across his face the moment he saw her.

“Come in.”

What is she doing?

Elizabeth quickly entered the house and flashed him a bright smile.

“I said ten minutes, but it took me much longer, so I assumed you had left.”

Listening to that, Matthew stretched out his hands. He had not gotten much sleep the night before because his mind was preoccupied with this woman in front of him, reminiscing about her snow-white skin and soft body.

It was all her fault that he could not sleep well and had dark circles under his eyes. Now that he saw her, he immediately

wanted a hug

Elizabeth ran up to him and threw herself into his embrace.

It feels so good to be in his arms!

The couple embraced for a long time. Meanwhile, the two people standing next to the car had already opened the car door for them, but upon seeing this scene, they silently returned to their seats in the vehicle.

Esme, in particular, yearned to fall in love after witnessing such affection.

All of a sudden, he turned to face the chauffeur and inquired, “Larry, do you have a girlfriend?”

Larry responded with a shake of his head. He was Matthew's chauffeur and was on call twenty-four hours a day, so he did not have time to look for a girlfriend.

Rubbing his temples, Esme uttered, "How pathetic. We singles can only watch as they express their love for one another."

Initially, Elizabeth was full of smiles, but when she noticed the car door was open and caught a glimpse of the figures inside, she swiftly nudged Matthew.

"We're going to be late. Let's get moving!"

The man retracted his arms, cast a stern look down at her, and declared coldly, "If you don't come to accompany me tonight, I'll go over to your house to look for you."

He did not mind climbing through the window to get into her house. No matter what, he did not want to toss and turn in bed again like he had done the night before. His entire body ached just from thinking about her alone.

Perhaps it was because he had not touched a woman in a long time, but taking a cold shower no longer had any effect.

Therefore, he had been aroused all night, which was highly uncomfortable.

up

Public Display Of Affection

In an instant. Elizabeth's face flushed, and she shook her head

"No! The boys have yet to accept you

He should be able to pick up on this. Why is he making things difficult for ne?

"Fine Then. I'll scale the wall to get to your house."

Chapter 280 Throw A Check At Her Again

The couple walked into the office together. Elizabeth was not bothered by the other people's stares any longer. They were free to think whatever they wanted.

After all, she had grown accustomed to hearing those rumors about herself.

As soon as Matthew entered the office, he was swamped with work, answering unending calls before heading to the conference room for a meeting.

They had breakfast together on the way there, and she felt he was only hers for that short period of time.

Propping her chin on her palm, she looked at the empty desk, thinking of how busy he typically was.

After letting out a sigh, she began to deal with her work for the day. In fact, her job was fairly effortless.

Around ten o'clock, Matthew had yet to return, so she went into the pantry and poured herself a cup of coffee, sitting by the window to sip it.

Later, Elizabeth took out her phone and planned to call Cody to inquire whether or not the people from the moving company had arrived. They planned to relocate some items from the old house to the new mansion.

Yet, Shelby called her at that moment. Pursing her lips, she answered the call.

"Hello?"

That night, she had already received a warning call from Shelby.

It seemed like Dominic was no longer hiding his feelings for her and had taken the initiative to contact her more frequently. Maybe he had even talked about those things at home as well.

"Elizabeth, is it convenient for you to come out and meet me now?"

Glancing at the time, Elizabeth answered, "I'm at work. It's a little inconvenient."

In truth, she did not want to meet Shelby, as the latter was always harsh toward her. However, she could not refute the woman either, so she felt immensely aggrieved.

On the other end of the line, Shelby sneered as she heard Elizabeth's reply. "Are you afraid to meet me? Where do you work? I'll apply for leave on your behalf."

Hearing that, Elizabeth knitted her brows. Shelby sounded as though she would not give up if she did not meet Elizabeth today.

“Where are you, Mrs. Campbell? I’ll be there right away.”

Hmph. That’s more like it. I’m at the café on the corner of the street. I’m not going anywhere if you don’t come After hanging up, Elizabeth sent a text to Matthew: Mr. Hilton, I’m taking a leave of absence. I have a personal matter to attend to

Then, she got up, returned to the office, and packed her belongings before rushing downstairs.

Half an hour later, she arrived at the café. When she pushed open the door, she spotted Shelby seated by the window, dressed in fur. At the same time, the latter greeted her with a wave of her hand.

Elizabeth walked over and sat across from Shelby.

“What would you like to drink?”

Casting a brief look at the water in front of her, Elizabeth replied, “No need. I’ll just drink some water.”

Shelby did not say anything else as she gracefully took a sip of coffee. Her well-maintained face was wrinkle-free, and she appeared much younger than her peers.

While setting down the cup, she caressed her own hand.

The rings she wore were very beautiful. Despite the fact that she had two rings on one finger, it did not appear awkward but rather elegant.

“Elizabeth, Dom has expressed his desire to marry you, but we will never agree. How much money do you want to be willing to leave him?”

Having said that, Shelby took out a checkbook and a pen.

“You can tell me the amount or fill it in yourself.”

As she spoke, she tore off one check and pushed it in front of the woman across from her..

However, Elizabeth only gave the check a cursory glance and smiled indifferently.

“Mrs. Campbell, I’ve told you before that Dominic and I are merely friends. I’ve never thought about marrying into the Surringtons, nor will I take your money.”

Shelby’s face clouded over when she saw Elizabeth shoving the check back to her.

“Elizabeth Wade, I know you’re pretty capable and can even handle the Hilton family. It’s no surprise that Dom is completely smitten with you, but please let my son go now that you’ve established a relationship with the Lowens.”

Elizabeth's heart twisted slightly the moment she heard that.

It was excruciatingly painful to be misunderstood by others.

"You're right I'm currently in a relationship with Matthew, and he's the one I want to marry. Hence, you don't have to worry about anything You should keep the money for Dominic's future wife."

Meanwhile, Diana, who was nearby, snapped a photo of the scene and sent it to Celine with a message that read: Celine, Elizabeth has admitted that she's dating Matthew. Looks like it's really over between Tia and him.