

Game Over 361

Chapter 361 If They Were His Children

Elizabeth was hearing about the contract for the first time. Surprise then flashed in her eyes as realization finally dawned on her Tiana couldn't stop shaking her head when she heard his declaration. Tears kept flowing down her cheeks too.

"But I have fallen for you, Matthew. I love you. I really do."

Tiana sobbed miserably as pain and misery took over her heart.

Seeing her daughter's condition, Celine rushed to embrace her.

"Tia, how could you be so stupid? He has never taken you seriously. You must forget about him."

However, after hearing the advice. Tiana looked at Matthew greedily and screamed, "No, Mom. I will not forget about him. I love him very much!"

Elizabeth was deeply irritated by her stepsister. She couldn't help glowering at the latter while being impressed with her shamelessness.

Didn't Matthew say they merely have a contract between them? Honestly, she can't even be considered his ex-girlfriend. How could she be so shameless and pronounce her love for him?

At that moment, Elizabeth could feel jealousy inside her. Though she knew many women would be attracted to Matthew, it didn't mean she would be fine with seeing one pronouncing her love for him so loudly.

Upon hearing her declaration, Richard lifted his voice a pitch higher. That's enough! Do you think you haven't disgraced yourself enough?

"We're going home now."

Just then, Celine's phone rang. Blood immediately drained from her face after she answered it.

"Darling, Greg... Greg's dead..." she wailed.

Richard hurriedly held his wife to support her. "Let's go check on him first."

Tiana regained her senses when her parents were already heading toward the door. Uncle Gregory's dead? How is that possible?

She could feel her knees go weak.

When she was about to leave, Matthew suddenly got to her side. He was smirking, and the coldness in his gaze was rather scary then.

"This is his fate for hurting Elizabeth, Tiana. I assure you your ending will be worse than this."

Tiana looked at him with surprise as she didn't expect him to know the secret. Didn't Uncle Gregory promise me to keep this a secret? Didn't he swear not to tell a soul about it? No, I'm just scaring myself. He's dead. He's not going to say anything anymore.

However, she could not stop thinking, But what if Matthew has investigated the truth? Tiana started to panic when she thought of this. She shook her head and said, "I didn't do anything."

She then quickly darted out of the boutique. After seeing such, Elizabeth stood up, strolled to his side, and asked, "What did you say to her?"

Why is she so scared?"

Matthew circled his arms around her shoulder and slightly raised the corners of his lips.

"A warning."

With his arms still on her shoulder, he led her out of Denzy Kenington boutique.

The executives and shop assistants, who were standing by the entrance, bowed and greeted them, "Mr. Hilton, Ms. Wade."

In a flat voice, Matthew instructed, "Please return to your work! But make sure to keep your eyes wide open next time."

Matthew's warning almost caused the boutique sales manager to drop to her knees. What have we done just now? How could we mess with Mr. Hilton's woman then? Perhaps we all have a wish to be kicked out of Mistwood. I sincerely hope that he can forgive us. We must memorize that lady's face and remind ourselves never to offend her forever.

After all, it wasn't an exaggeration to say that Matthew spoiled her to the core. He treated her like a princess.

When the two got to the dessert shop entrance, Elizabeth tugged his shirt.

"Matthew, can you let go of me for now?"

She wanted to keep a distance from him because she didn't want to upset her sons, considering they hadn't entirely accepted him yet.

Matthew slightly creased his brows when he heard her request. "I know you're worried about saddening your sons, but has it ever crossed your mind that they know everything."

Matthew knew that the two boys were trying to test him and helped Elizabeth regain her pride.

It was essential to them that Matthew knew their mother was not easy to pursue. With them around to monitor him, the process to gain the heart of his love became extremely hard. Additionally, the boys attempted to use this opportunity to make him cherish her more.

Still, Elizabeth stepped away from his embrace. "But I'm scared of them."

She even smiled happily at the end of her sentence. Matthew was slightly displeased when she moved away, but he raised his brows meaningfully when observing the happiness on her face..

I guess that's a blessing for becoming a mother. I don't know what it feels like since I'm not a father.

Elizabeth then walked into the dessert shop. Abby quickly waved her hand at her mother after noticing the latter.

“Mommy, I leave some of your favorite strawberry cake for you.”

Arthur pushed the cake to his mother’s seat and placed a fork on the plate while Antony stood up to allow her to get to her seat.

“Mommy, don’t take the aisle seat.”

Her two sons were gentlemen who knew how to take good care of ladies.

Matthew glimpsed at the four of them and noticed no additional seat for him since the table was for four. Seeing such, he had to sit across from Esme.

Esme smiled awkwardly upon realizing his boss’ situation. “Mr. Hilton, do you want to have a taste of the desserts I ordered?”

Meanwhile, he exclaimed inwardly, I feel bad for Mr. Hilton.

Chapter 362 What Do Their Children Look Like

Matthew took a look at the desserts on the table and took a piece of strawberry cake. He then dug a full spoon of it and put it in his mouth.

It was sweet and tasty. However, Matthew’s gaze was on the woman not far from him the entire time.

The smile on her never faded as she ate the cake. The gaze on her three children was soft and full of the halo of motherly love. It was magnificent, and Matthew was fully absorbed in it.

After seeing such a scene before him, Esme murmured, "Happiness will surround the family whenever they spend time together. It will be nice if those children are Mr. Hilton's."

If they are his children, Mr. Hilton will be able to hang out with them. Leaving that aside, I have to admit that the three children and Mr.

Hilton will look good together, especially the two boys. They do share some of Mr. Hilton's features.

However, Esme kept the thought to himself as he didn't dare to say it out loud.

After all, a man like his boss would know pretty well if they had children. He decided that, as a subordinate, he shouldn't worry too much about his boss' private life.

At the same moment, Elizabeth turned to look at Matthew too. Her eyes glimmered with delight as the two stared at each other intensely.

Matthew's expression slightly lit up too. Finally, she remembers me.

Meanwhile, Dominic was sitting on the hospital bed alone inside the ward. He looked at the clear blue skies through the window and sighed softly.

It seemed that his eyesight was getting better that day, but he wasn't happy about it since he hoped he could stay blind.

He closed his eyes and pursed his lips with frustration.

"I need someone here," he called out loudly, and a housekeeper immediately entered the ward.

"Mr. Campbell, is there anything I can do for you?"

"I'm hungry."

The reality was he missed Elizabeth. He caused a fuss last time because he didn't want to trouble her due to his blindness.

However, she refused to leave after being chased away repeatedly. Then, an idea formed in his head.

He planned to continue playing the character of the blind man and insist on pretending blind even if his eyesight got a little better. He felt it was the only way to keep Elizabeth by his side..

The housekeeper nodded after hearing that. "Okay. I will contact Ms. Wade."

Shelby had instructed them to call Elizabeth and request the latter come over and feed Dominic whenever he was hungry because he wouldn't eat if someone else fed him. He even refused to be fed by his mother too, and this caused him to get skinnier as the day passed.

Since Shelby didn't want her son to give up on himself, she decided that Elizabeth should feed him, disregarding if it would be an issue for the latter.

In her mind, she felt this was the time for Elizabeth to return her favor as her son had been helping and taking care of Elizabeth and her children.

After finishing the desserts with her three kids, Elizabeth took them to buy some clothes, the poofy dresses Abby loved very much.

Matthew followed them the entire time. As he had never been to the kids' section before, he curiously took a pair of tiny shoes and was amazed by their size. It was only as big as his thumb.

Esme squinted his eyes and smiled. "Are you planning to buy the shoes, Mr. Hilton?"

He can buy it for his future children. I bet the child will look cute in it.

Matthew stared at the shoes in his hand and slightly frowned.

"Are all the kids this tiny when they are born?"

This thumb-sized shoe is very cute!

Esme thought for a moment and replied, "Maybe? I'm not a father, so I have never seen a newly born baby before."

Matthew then moved his gaze in Elizabeth's direction. She was patiently and gently helping Abby to fix her dress.

It was hard for Matthew to imagine that Elizabeth once had three babies inside her belly since her waist was so tiny.

What did they look like when they were newborns? I wonder what our child will look like. I bet they will be pretty too. My child will be as pretty and intelligent as these three kids.

Then, Elizabeth's phone rang. After taking it out and looking at the caller ID, she told her child, "Abby, do pick the dresses you prefer. I have to answer a call real quick."

She then walked to a side. The call was from an unknown number.

"Hello?"

"Ms. Wade, I'm Mr. Campbell's housekeeper. Can you come to the hospital today? He hasn't had his lunch yet."

Elizabeth frowned when she heard that. It's already time for dinner now. How could he still not have his lunch?

"Okay. I'll come over now."

She started to get worried when she thought about the change in his mood and his temper after he got blind.

Chapter 363 Daddy

Elizabeth then returned to her children's side. After making sure they had gotten everything they needed, she decided to ask Matthew to send them home while she rushed to the hospital.

With such thought in mind, she approached Matthew, who still had the tiny shoes in his hand. She found it funny when she noticed the immense difference in size between him and the shoes.

Matthew was massive, and the shoes for newly born babies were exceptionally tiny. When he held them in his hand, they seemed like toys instead.

Matthew then shifted his gaze to the shoes in his hand after looking at her smile and asked, "Are these for newly born babies?"

Since he didn't have the experience of being a father, he was curious about it.

Elizabeth nodded. "Yes. Abby wore these tiny shoes when she was newly born. As for Antony and Arthur, their feet were slightly bigger then.

So they had shoes with a larger size."

She pointed at the shoes with a size bigger when she explained it to Matthew. At that instant, she was brought back in time when she had just become a mother and the three children were hatchlings waiting for food.

If it weren't for Dominic's help back then, she wouldn't have made it to today.

That was why she felt horrible when she thought about his eyes. She could only hope that he could get better soon.

Matthew then reached out to take the shoes with a size bigger. Matthew was a stranger to the world involving tiny items.

Seeing Matthew acting like a curious child, the smile on her face grew wider.

So, the mighty Mr. Hilton doesn't have all the world's knowledge in his head. He does have some things he doesn't know too.

At that moment, Elizabeth felt she was cleverer than Matthew, at least in the area involving babies.

"Matthew, can you send the kids home for me later? I need to attend to something."

Matthew frowned. "Okay. Where are you going?"

For Matthew, Elizabeth would always be with her children wherever they went. Hence, he found it weird that she would leave her children alone.

Knowing that Matthew wouldn't be happy with her attending to anything related to Dominic, she decided to fork up a lie.

"Something was wrong with Jessica. Since there will be a lot of viruses in the hospital, I don't want them to follow me. Will you be fine with taking them home?"

She reached out to tug the hem of his shirt and looked at him with begging eyes.

Matthew couldn't bring himself to say no after seeing her face.

"Okay!"

After hearing that particular word, Elizabeth quickly kissed his cheek.

"Thank you. I'll leave now. Please take good care of the children for me."

Elizabeth looked very sweet when she smiled, and the dimples looked cute.

Esme quickly turned around when he saw her actions. The sudden public display of affection had caught him off guard. What a scene.

The children, who were standing nearby, saw it too. Abby blinked her eyes and decided, "That is love. I want to be in love too."

Antony and Arthur frowned and looked at their sister. They then said in unison, "No!"

Abby was startled by the volume of their voice. She covered her face and added, "I mean when I'm grown up. That should be fine, right?"

"No."

Abby pouted her mouth angrily for a moment. My two brothers are tyrants. How could they not allow me to be in love when I'm grown up?

Antony couldn't hold back his thought after a moment of silence. "Arthur, I think Mommy has already fallen for that man.

Arthur pursed his lips and replied, "I see that too."

The two sons were worried about their mother. Matthew had tricked her once, yet she fell madly in love with him. It seemed that their idiotic.

mother was under his total control.

Abby, on the other hand, happily ran to Matthew's side and called out to him in a soft voice, "Daddy!"

When Matthew heard the sweet voice calling out for him, he lowered his eyes to look at Abby. His eyes sparkled, and he reached out to caress her small face.

Abby was delighted. "Are you going to marry my mother soon? If so, I will be your daughter."

Abby dreamt about having a father and liked Matthew a lot. These two reasons were why she concluded that they would get married soon after seeing her mother kissing him.

My brothers and I finally have a daddy!

Though Abby's voice was soft, her two brothers heard her..

Antony complained, "You're spineless, Abby."

Chapter 364 He Wanted To Be A Father

How could she call him Daddy after seeing Mommy kiss him? Abby is not being helpful and is going against our plan.

When Abby heard her brother, she widened her eyes to stare at her two brothers and pouted.

“Don’t you two want a daddy too? Giselle called me a stray kid last time. I don’t want to be a stray kid!”

She then gripped Matthew’s hand tightly and said, “Lizzy was the one who attended the sports event every year. She always worked hard but could never win against those who had their Mommies and Daddies. Are you two willing to let that happen every time?”

It seemed that Abby was trying to seek solace by blurting out all the aggrieves she felt.

After hearing what she said, Matthew thought of Elizabeth and the difficulties she had to go through to raise the three children.

Though she could satisfy them monetarily, she could never give them a father’s love.

The light in Antony and Arthur’s eyes dimmed when they heard their sister’s rant. They’d been through the same thing, but it didn’t bother them as much.

However, Abby was different. She was a sensitive girl, and her heart was not as strong as theirs. That was why she needed more love.

Seeing that the two couldn’t respond to her complaints, Abby placed her face on the man’s hand and said, “I like him, so I want him to be our daddy.”

Antony and Arthur merely looked at her expressionlessly and remained silent.

Matthew smiled and said. "I will marry your mother and be a good father to you all. If there's an event in school, you can inform me about it. I will attend."

Matthew had a similar childhood as theirs. He lost both of his parents when he was young.

Whenever there was an event that needed parents' involvement in school, he refused to attend it. Hence, he could understand their feelings.

Abby jumped delightedly. "Yes! If Lizzy decides not to marry you, I will marry you when I'm grown up."

Matthew, Antony, and Arthur were speechless after hearing that.

Esme, on the other hand, widened his eyes for a moment. Soon, he burst into laughter.

Abby is seriously cute. When you grow up, Mr. Hilton will be an old man. However, I bet he will be a handsome old man.

Matthew took a glance at the time and asked, "Do you all plan to have dinner outside or at home?"

Abby thought for a moment and said, "Why don't we eat out?"

When she said that, her gaze was on her two brothers.

Antony and Arthur said nothing as they decided to follow their sister's plan.

Matthew nodded. "I'll arrange for a restaurant then. Have you all gotten everything you need?"

"Yes"

Abby then pointed at the cashier and said, "Everything is there."

Arthur then walked toward the cashier and took out his phone.

"I'd like to pay the bill."

The children didn't plan to make Matthew pay the bill. After all, Arthur and Antony had made a small fortune recently.

Matthew frowned subtly upon seeing the child's action. However, Esme noticed the frown. He quickly darted forward.

"Mr. Arthur, please allow me to pay."

He then pushed Arthur away from the cashier and took out his phone to pay the bill.

Arthur shot coldly. "That won't be necessary. We can make the payment ourselves."

Esme quickly made the payment, took the items, and said with a smile, "Mr. Arthur, Mr. Hilton is really nice to Ms. Wade."

He almost gave up his life for Ms. Wade. Do you guys really plan to allow your mother to let go of this rare person?

Esme really wanted to express his thoughts, but he was a coward because Matthew demanded he kept it a secret.

Besides that, Matthew had never told anyone about it. For Matthew, he was a man, and it was his responsibility to protect the woman he loved.

Arthur didn't respond to Esme's words. He walked toward the entrance with an expressionless face and Antony next to him.

The more Esme looked at the two boys, the more he felt that their tempers were similar to Matthew's. They are so young, yet they are so unfriendly and arrogant. They are the young version of arrogant Mr. Hilton. They definitely have quite the personality.

When Abby held Matthew's big hand, she could feel an immense sense of peace. It seemed that she was very attached to him. Whenever he was around, she would be scared of nothing.

Matthew lowered his head to look at her and asked, "What do you like to eat?"

Abby pondered for a moment. Since she had eaten her favorite food before this, she decided not to eat the same thing as Elizabeth would be mad at her if she found out about it.

"Buffet."

Chapter 365 Come To Me

Elizabeth drove to the hospital. When she arrived at Dominic's ward, she saw his lonely figure seated on the bed. His despondent appearance made one feel uncomfortable when looking at him.

Hearing her footsteps, Dominic yelled, "Didn't I tell all of you to go away? Don't bother me!"

The housekeeper had told her earlier on that the food packet was situated on the side table in front of the couch. Thereafter, Elizabeth ignored

Dominic.

Then, the woman approached the short table and took the food packet. She brought it to Dominic.

"Dominic, it's time to eat."

Her voice was full of laughter. It gave one a familiar feeling and was extremely sweet.

Flinching, Dominic replied, "Why're you here? I don't need anyone's pity."

Meanwhile, Elizabeth set the table and maintained her smile.

"I won't leave you, nor would I pity you. Do eat."

After that, Dominic wanted to push the food on the table away. Subsequently, Elizabeth grabbed Dominic's hands.

"Dominic, I don't pity you. You don't need my compassion. Your family and I care about you deeply and wish for your recovery. You're very blessed!”

In the meantime, Dominic’s eyes were lifeless and dazed. Feeling the warmth in Elizabeth’s palms, he abruptly chuckled coldly.

“Then, are you willing to stay by my side forever? You won’t, right?”

As he answered his own questions, Elizabeth’s expression changed.

“Dominic, if you need me, I’ll be by your side.”

After that, Dominic removed his hands from her grasp. Elizabeth sat in front of him and started to feed the former.

“Eat!”

Clearly, Dominic had lost weight. Therefore, Elizabeth knew that he had not eaten nor slept well recently.

She scooped some food for him and placed it near his lips.

“Open your mouth.”

Afterward, Dominic regained his cool. His calm and collected self looked handsome and sexy.

“Lizzy, let me ask you once more. Are you willing to remain by my side to take care of me?”

Just then, Shelby approached them. She gestured toward Elizabeth as if to tell her to agree to Dominic.

Otherwise, the man would refuse to eat and never meet her again.

Glancing at Dominic's frosty self, Elizabeth guessed that he was very upset!

Assuming that she became blind, she would probably be in a worse position than him.

"Okay, I'll keep caring for you until your eyes recover."

That was a promise and her duty, for Elizabeth needed to repay his kindness to her.

After listening to her words, Dominic smiled. However, the smile did not reach his lips and was gone in a flash.

Fumbling, the man grabbed Elizabeth's hand and questioned, "Lizzy, are you speaking the truth? Will you never dislike me?"

Elizabeth grinned. "Why would I dislike you?"

Finally, Dominic looked happy. His voice was full of warmth then.

"I'm going to eat," he mumbled. After that, he opened his mouth.

He felt as if the food was simply delicious that day.

Actually, his ears became more sensitive after he became blind. Hence, Dominic had heard his mother's footsteps previously.

Yet, his mother did not protest. Since he had landed in this situation, his mother had probably accepted Elizabeth.

Dominic had a chance with Elizabeth for his biggest obstacle was removed. At that moment, he just needed to work hard.

Of course, he was in a good mood. His wish had ultimately been granted. If his eyes were not cured, Elizabeth would continue to be with him.

Therefore, he just needed to make Elizabeth fall for him.

Dominic was confident that without his mother's disapproval, Elizabeth would definitely end up with him. Then, the two of them would be happy.

That day, Dominic had a great appetite. He ate a lot of food.

Beside him, Shelby heaved a sigh of relief. Subsequently, Elizabeth kept the utensils and went to wash the fruits outside.

Shelby had followed her out. Standing in a corner, she observed Elizabeth.

"Elizabeth, I'll pay you twice the wage that an average caregiver earns since you're taking care of Dominic."

Chapter 366 Repayment

Subsequently, Elizabeth paused in her actions. Her eyes darkened. Mrs. Campbell always treats me like this.

Raising her eyes, the woman replied, "Mrs. Campbell, didn't you tell me that I should repay Dominic's kindness now? You don't have to pay

After that, Elizabeth walked toward the counter and began peeling the fruits with a knife. Afterward, she cut them up.

Shelby followed after Elizabeth. As she was very precise in her actions, the former knew that she did not have an easy life.

Since young, Shelby had not done any housework. Thus, she wanted to have a daughter-in-law who was from a rich family. Obviously, the woman looked down on Elizabeth, who waited on others.

“You have to accept it.”

If not, Dom will certainly assume that Elizabeth took care of him sincerely. Then, he won't forget her that easily.

Sighing, Elizabeth responded, “All right!”

She knew Shelby for a long time, so she understood the other woman's temperament perfectly. If Elizabeth did not agree to what she said, Shelby would continue pestering her.

I guess I'll accept it so Shelby will be at ease.

Following that, Shelby was contented. “Cut more fruits. I didn't eat dinner today, so I'll eat some fruits to satisfy my hunger.”

After speaking, Shelby turned and entered the room. Elizabeth watched her retreating figure.

Thereafter, she shook her head. The woman felt unhappy being ordered around. If not for Dominic, Elizabeth would have already left However, she promised Dominic that she would care for him. Even if she did not do so, she still had to look after him.

It seemed that before Dominic could recover, Elizabeth would have to interact with Shelby frequently.

Since she accepted her money, the woman would definitely treat her like an employee.

Bringing the fruits to the ward, Elizabeth noticed that Shelby was chatting with Dominic by his bedside.

Upon realizing that Elizabeth had walked into the room, she fell silent.

Dominic questioned, "Lizzy, are you there?"

He could discern Elizabeth's footsteps clearly. In addition, once she entered, his mother kept quiet. Therefore, he guessed that Elizabeth had entered.

1/2

Placing the plate of fruits in front of him, Elizabeth said, "I've cut the fruits already."

Then, Shelby speared a piece of fruit with her work and commented, "Dom, have some fruit."

Just as Elizabeth was about to leave, Shelby hurriedly spoke to her..

"Elizabeth, tidy the room. It looks too messy."

accepted/h

Shelby loved cleanliness. The conditions in the hospital were worse than in her house. In addition, since Elizabeth had accepted her money, she wanted to order her around.

Moreover, she was more interesting than the housekeepers. In fact, Elizabeth might even become the future wife of Dominic.

If that were to occur, Shelby's reputation would possibly be improved in her social circle if this issue was mentioned.

After that, Elizabeth obediently answered, "Okay!"

Then, she went to clean up the place. I'm supposed to repay my debt, so I'm willing to do anything. Anyway, this is what I owe Dominic.

Unexpectedly, Dominic's face hardened. He called out, "Lizzy, rest here. Don't move."

Listening to this, Shelby glanced at her son and laughed.

"Dom, isn't Elizabeth very hardworking? Nonetheless, since you don't want her to do that, forget it."

Coldly, Dominic remarked, "Mom, I love Lizzy the most in the world. In the future, don't bully her, or I won't allow you to visit me again."

Shelby froze in her tracks and glared at Elizabeth..

Meanwhile, the latter was frowning. Why did Dominic mention this on purpose? If he keeps doing that, I'll have a hard life later on.

However, that was of no use. Elizabeth just wished that Shelby would not be too offended and vent her temper on her since Dominic had already declared those words.

“Dom, you’re already like this. Why wouldn’t I come to the hospital? I won’t bully her in the future, okay?”

As she spoke, the woman silently wiped away her tears. Shelby was upset.

My son has someone he likes, so he doesn’t want me anymore. He just takes the darned Elizabeth’s side all the time.

Chapter 367 Smart Kids.

Dominic remained silent. It was too awkward for the mother and son to be interacting like this, so Elizabeth said, “Dominic, it’s getting late, and I should get going now. My three kids are still waiting for me at home.”

Dominic did adore her three children, and she knew it would be a concern for him if he knew the kids were left alone at home.

“Sure, go ahead!”

Elizabeth took another glance at Shelby, who still had a gloomy expression and looked sad.

She hated seeing Dominic and Shelby like this too. Similarly, she believed Antony and Arthur would also break her heart if they went against her words like that after becoming adults.

As a mother, she could understand Shelby's feelings very well.

"Mrs. Campbell, I'll take my leave then."

Before leaving, she whispered to Dominic, "Make sure you talk things out with your mother. Don't leave things hanging just like that."

Elizabeth left after taking her bag. Shelby asked Dominic, "What did she tell you? I'm sure she was speaking ill of me."

Dominic sighed. "Mom, why are you so against Lizzy? She's from a noble family too, but her father cheated on her mother with another woman, which was why she ended up living a miserable life."

"Hmph. I don't want to hear any of that. I don't care who she is because I will never like her for having children without getting married."

Sure enough, Shelby's attitude was still as harsh as usual. Dominic was not too anxious about changing her mind either.

"Mom, you should go back now. I need to get some rest."

After saying that, he moved lower and tugged the sheets before closing his eyes.

Shelby wanted to stay around a little longer. She missed seeing her son if she were to stay home, and she felt sorry for his current condition.

Their family had been finding doctors for him, even getting doctors from abroad to look at him, but they were yet to come up with something conclusive.

She was worried about her son and would naturally want to stay by his side.

However, seeing that he wanted to get some sleep, she stood up and said, "All right, then, Dom, get some rest, and I'll drop by again tomorrow."

Dominie did not respond to that. Shelby stood by his bed and watched him for a while before turning around to walk away.

After arriving back at Jupiter Mansion in her car, Elizabeth pushed open the door and saw Matthew playing Lego with her two sons.

,

Arthur occasionally looked at Matthew but did not say anything. It seemed to her that her sons had already acknowledged Matthew's high intelligence for them to agree to play with him.

either

Meanwhile, Abby was seen leaning against Matthew while blinking innocently at them. She was holding a Barbie doll that was bought ea that day.

"Come on, guys, faster! Mr. Hilton is almost done!"

Hearing this, Elizabeth finally understood the entire situation.

Her sons did not agree to play Lego with Matthew. Instead, they were competing against him. No wonder she caught the three of them in such a harmonious scene together.

Noticing her return, Cody walked up to her and said in a low voice, "Lizzy, the kids are so happy today. It seems like Mr. Hilton is a great father, after all."

Elizabeth changed her shoes and nodded with a smile. "Okay!"

She went to the living room and sat next to Matthew. "What are you guys playing?"

They were entirely focused on the competition at first, but after hearing her voice, they all looked up at her with excitement reflected in their eyes. Each of them only had eyes for her.

Abby asked, "Lizzy, where did you go? They are competing with Mr. Hilton!"

Elizabeth was startled at that question. Knowing that she could not answer the question honestly, she shifted the topic and asked, "Who will win then?"

Antony and Arthur picked up their paces, with one studying the manual and another looking for the spare parts. They had a clear division of work, resulting in their impressive speed.

At the same time, Matthew also fixed his eyes on the manual. After studying the manual, he quickly looked for the spare parts and picked up his pace.

Abby was carried away by Elizabeth's attempt to change the topic and said, "Mr. Hilton, you got this!"

She wanted to call Matthew daddy instead, but she dared not do so as she did not want Elizabeth to reprimand her. Anyway, she figured it was only a matter of time for her to finally call him daddy.

Arthur glanced at Matthew before asking, "Did you go to the hospital to see Mr. Dominic?"

Antony also chimed in and asked, "How is he now?"

Elizabeth's expression changed. She wanted to stop the topic, but it was already too late. Her lies from earlier were exposed just like that.

Chapter 368 Hatred Deepened

Matthew was distracted after hearing that. He moved his gaze away from the manual and to her instead.

Seeing this, Antony curled up his lips. It was wise of Arthur to distract the enemy with just one move. Matthew would never get to defeat them now that he was distracted.

Elizabeth smiled wryly and explained, "I only dropped by to visit him on my way back. It's not intentional. You have to trust me."

She was almost losing her mind. It was not until now that she had learned the lesson that one should not be lying around in their lives, or it would be exhausting trying to come up with different excuses to cover up that one lie.

Moreover, it was even humiliating when her kids were the ones who exposed her lies.

Right then, Matthew was no longer interested in playing Lego. Instead, he stared at her, waiting for her to explain herself further.

He could not accept what she had just said.

Feeling uneasy under his stare, Elizabeth had no choice but to surrender. "I'm sorry. Dominic has some issues with his vision, and he can no longer see anything. He's in a terrible state, and he refuses to eat anything. I only want him to get better."

No one else would understand what Dominic meant to her.

Matthew pursed his lips. "What does it have to do with you that he can no longer see anything?"

It turned out that Elizabeth was away to visit Dominic alone. She might even have fed him during her visit.

Thinking of this possibility, Matthew felt washed over by a wave of jealousy.

Elizabeth sighed. "Matthew, Dominic is a very special person to me. He was the one who saved us, and I am forever grateful for that. Even if that did not happen, he is still my friend, and I will always care for him as a friend."

She was honest about always caring for Dominic as a friend.

Suddenly, Antony excitedly said, "We're done."

Hearing that, Matthew finally shifted his gaze back to his tank model. He was almost done building it, but he got distracted. Then, he moved his gaze to the car model across from him that was already completed.

“You lost,” said Arthur coldly, and he pointed toward the door..

According to their bet, if Matthew won, Matthew would get to stay.

Now that Matthew had lost, not only did he not get to stay, but he also had to leave their house immediately.

Matthew stood up and strode toward the door.

Elizabeth also stood up. “Matthew.”

He did not respond to that as he walked away without even looking back

The two sons high-fived one another merrily.

“That’s so cool!”

Abby looked confused. “Mr. Hilton was so close to finishing building his tank. How did you guys still win? It’s unfair!”

Antony and Arthur glanced at their sister, who sided with an outsider instead of them. They shrugged at her words. “You can’t change the fact that he lost.”

Elizabeth stared at the door, wondering if Matthew could understand her feelings.

At the Wade residence, Tiana was helping her heartbroken mother get out of the car. Richard glanced at her. "Forget it. Your brother's soul will be more at ease with the Woods family anyway."

Celine started crying again after hearing that. "Greg grew up with me. How... How could I ever think of him like this?"

Moreover, Gregory had helped her several times throughout the years. He only got arrested because of her and Tiana. She blamed herself even more when she got reminded of this.

Tiana had no idea what her mother was heartbroken over.

She was frustrated that Elizabeth was not killed, whereas Gregory died.

She helped Celine into the bedroom, whereas Richard headed to Michael's room to tell him about what had happened to Gregory

The funeral would be held the next day. The Wade family would have to follow the customs and extend the invitation to their relatives.

Tiana tugged Celine under the blanket. "Mom, Uncle died of a heart attack. It was too late for them to save him."

Celine shook her head. "He was always healthy and did not have heart problems, so why would he die of a heart attack? I'm sure someone framed him, and I'm certain it is Elizabeth."

Tiana pursed her lips. "Mom, it seems like we can only rely on ourselves to get rid of Elizabeth in the future."

Wiping her tears away, Celine asked, "Tia, are you saying we still have a chance to get rid of her?"

After all, Elizabeth had Matthew on her side. Matthew was so powerful that even the entire Wade family could not fight against him, let alone

Celine and Tiana.

The look in Tiana's eyes darkened. "Mom, I have an idea. Since Hector likes me that much, I can bug him every day and try brainwashing him.

I'm sure Matthew will have to listen to his grandfather."

Chapter 369 Pacify Him.

Elizabeth did not have a restful slumber, for Matthew's scowl haunted her dreams throughout the night.

She knew he was angry, but she did not know how to pacify him..

Elizabeth glanced at the clock when she woke up and realized it was half-past six in the morning. So early!

She sat up and had no desire to sleep again. Looking out of the window, she discovered that it was still dark outside, and the sun had not risen.

“Matthew, you’re such a pain!” she murmured.

Indeed, people who were in love were idiots. Elizabeth felt that she was one of them.

She was perfectly aware that Matthew was oblivious to her current situation. In spite of that, she could not sleep well and had no appetite.

A chill ran down Elizabeth’s spine when she remembered his expression prior to his departure. Matthew was really terrifying when he got angry, and she dared not approach him as a result.

After getting out of bed, Elizabeth got ready to head to his house and make breakfast for him. By doing so, she could probably placate him.

At any rate, she had decided to comply with all of his wishes on that day in order to ask for his forgiveness.

Elizabeth washed up and applied light makeup on her face. She selected an outfit that seemed professional yet sexy.

The woman had an attractive and curvy figure. She wore a pair of high heels with long and thin heels and tucked her champagne-colored silk blouse into her tight skirt that accentuated her slim waist and shapely hips.

Elizabeth’s dark hair hung loosely around her shoulders, giving her a seductive yet innocent charm.

Once she put on her coat, she picked up her bag and was about to go to Matthew's house when her phone rang.

Elizabeth took out her phone. She frowned when she realized the call was from Shelby and decided not to answer it.

She thought of letting Shelby assume she was not up yet. After all, it was so early.

Elizabeth felt relieved when the phone stopped ringing. She strode out of the bedroom and headed downstairs.

Before she reached downstairs, her phone buzzed again.

She eyed the phone and discovered Shelby had transferred ten thousand to her account.

For some reason, Elizabeth felt a bit disappointed when she saw the amount of money. Then, Shelby phoned her again and again.

By the time she stepped out of the front door, she already had ten missed calls on her phone. Elizabeth was no longer in a good mood.

"Mrs. Campbell," she answered the phone in a low voice. Obviously, she was not pleased.

You're finally awake, Elizabeth. Get up quickly. I've already transferred this month's wage to you. It's twice as much as what a caregiver earns.

Is it enough? If it isn't, just tell me. I'll pay you as much as you want," Shelby replied.

The birds on the trees outside the house had already woken up, too. They were chirping energetically, and it sounded melodious.

1/2

Moreover, the air was very refreshing. Yet, a beautiful morning like that was ruined by the phone call.

When she did not receive a response from Elizabeth, Shelby began to sob as she spoke. "I'm begging you, Elizabeth. Dom has given up on himself. As his mother, I can't bear to see him in this state. He listens to you, so please take care of him until he recovers. I'll give you as much money as you want."

Then, she let out a long sigh before continuing. "With the state that he is in, don't you have an ounce of sympathy for him? Please, I'm begging you."

Elizabeth listened as Shelby cried. The latter was known to be a tough and proud person.

Instantly, Elizabeth's heart softened. Both of them were mothers. Naturally, they would do anything for their own sons.

She thought of Dominic and did not wish for him to give up on himself.

After entering Matthew's house, Elizabeth busied herself with preparing breakfast. She made oatmeal porridge, cooked a few side dishes, and fried some eggs. In fact, she did not know that many recipes, and she had learned to prepare those dishes from Cody in the past.

1. up.

Elizabeth placed the side dishes on the table. The oatmeal porridge was still warm.

She packed some food for herself. Carrying her food container, she stood in the doorway to change her shoes. At the same time, she glanced

It was only seven o'clock. Matthew was most likely still asleep, so she decided not to disturb him.

Elizabeth brought the food back home. After that, she drove to the hospital.

When she left, Matthew happened to wake up. His head hurt a lot. He supported his head with one hand and consumed the medicine on his bedside table. After a while, he finally opened his eyes.

Matthew picked up his phone with his clean and slender fingers. Next, he called Nicolas.

"This early, Matt?" Nicolas asked.

"My head hurt a lot when I woke up. Is there something wrong?" Matthew said.

Chapter 370 Visiting Dominic

Matthew leaned against the headboard. His splitting headache made him feel immensely uncomfortable. As a result, he could neither think properly nor calm down.

His sharp eyebrows were locked in a tight frown, and his voice sounded low and husky.

"It's normal, Matt. After all, the bullet is still inside, and it's normal for you to feel pain. You don't have to worry as long as the pain subsides after you get out of bed. If the pain doesn't go away, you've got to come to the hospital at once," Nicolas explained.

He felt worried, too. Even if Matthew did feel unwell and came to the hospital, the doctors dared not operate on him Nicolas sighed. He had to find a way to cure Matthew as soon as possible.

Matthew hung up, shut his eyes, and rested for a moment.

*

Once the pain had subsided, he got out of bed to wash up. When he came downstairs, he saw the food on the dining table and a note that read:

Matthew, I've made you breakfast. The oatmeal porridge is in the pot. Enjoy! Lizzy.

Matthew glanced at the side dishes on the table. They were his favorites. Then, he looked at the pot on the countertop. Soon, a faint smile appeared on his face.

He knew Elizabeth was trying to pacify him. Why didn't she wait for me to have breakfast together?

Matthew called her, but Elizabeth did not notice it. She was in the hospital lobby and in a hurry.

The lobby was noisy and packed with lines of people. Therefore, she did not hear the ringing of the phone in her handbag.

Elizabeth followed the crowd and entered an elevator. She was already sweating profusely when she reached Dominic's ward.

She had not encountered such a huge crowd when she accompanied Matthew at the hospital previously.

Then again, Esme, Gracie, and the housekeepers from the Hilton family were present at that time. Thus, Elizabeth did not have to busy herself with running multiple errands.

The only thing she needed to do was to stay by Matthew's side and look after him.

Dominic was already awake and staring out of the window. When he heard her footsteps, he asked, "Who is it?"

In truth, his vision had been partially restored. Although he was unable to see everything, the world before him was no longer shrouded in darkness. As a result, he was in high spirits.

Still, Dominic did not expect Elizabeth to arrive at this hour.

Therefore, he asked the question nervously and quickly focused his vision. Without shifting his gaze, he stared straight ahead His eyes were hollow, and there was no light in them.

"Dominic, it's me. I've made breakfast for you," Elizabeth replied joyfully.

Dominic could make out her face. She was exceptionally stunning on that day.

Elizabeth had makeup on, and she looked great with her current lipstick. It resembled the color of a carrot, and it enhanced the complexion of her fair face.

Suddenly, a thought flashed across Dominic's mind. Has my eyesight recovered? He could even see Elizabeth's face clearly now.

As he wondered, his lips curled into a subtle smile.

Elizabeth helped him up. She smiled when she saw the cheeriness on his face. This is the Dominic I know.

"I'll help you to wash up," she said.

Dominic supported himself by placing his big hand around her waist. Her waist is so slim, and it feels nice.

Elizabeth felt uncomfortable. Being this close to him was an awkward feeling.

It was then that she realized she could not share physical contact with all men. In the past, she had never been with other men.

Truth be told, she was still traumatized by that incident from six years ago. Presently, she also felt extremely uneasy.

It was then she realized that Matthew was the only man who could make her feel relaxed and at ease.

At the thought of that, she took a step forward and kept her distance from Dominic.

"I'll hold your hand," Elizabeth said. She did so to make things less awkward.

At first, Dominic was taken aback and felt somewhat annoyed. However, upon hearing her words and getting held by Elizabeth's small, soft hand, his initial annoyance vanished.

Elizabeth helped him to brush his teeth and wash his face. She had never done this before, so the process was very slow. Almost twenty minutes had gone by when Dominic finished washing up.

After that, Elizabeth led Dominic out of the bathroom and back to the bed. Meanwhile, some doctors and nurses dropped by to examine him."

Nicolas was among the group of medical personnel. He was the director of the hospital, and Dominic was a VVIP patient. Hence, Nicolas.

visited the latter personally.