

Game Over 441

Chapter 441 It's time to get it settled

“Oh?”

President Thomson stared at the person and asked, “What you are doing?”

Jason felt that there was nothing to hide, so he said bluntly, “Hunters have been spotted and followed Aletta secretly since a few years ago. They even gave her medicine that caused her physical harm. It's time to get it settled!

“This time, since they're all here, naturally I can't let them go.”

When he said these words, there was a clear chill in his tone even the air inside the room was permeated to be a little cold.

President Thomson nodded.

Jason was Aletta's fiancé, so it was reasonable to have this idea.

However, he still adhered to the principles and said fairly, “Medical League has its own rules and regulations, and it has always been forbidden for outsiders to enter. It is not good to let people in casually.”

“There should not be many people lurking in, my subordinates should be able to manage it.”

While listening to President Thomson's words, Eaton who was standing aside said disapprovingly, “President Thomson, I'm afraid you can't handle it.”

time to get it settled

President Thomson frowned and stared at him with a slightly condensed expression, "What do you mean?"

Eaton said directly, "I just received a message that the monitoring system of your Medical League is currently being invaded and there are Hunters distributed around the League."

"If I'm not mistaken, once the Medical League's security system is breached, they will arrange Hunters to infiltrate. With your manpower alone, I'm afraid it won't last long!"

"If I remember correctly, there are countless precious research, development achievement and collections, as well as numerous excellent medical members within your Medical League."

"If there are any unforeseen circumstances, it would be you to regret?"

President Thomson's expression changed and said, "What you have said, is it real?"

Eaton nodded solemnly.

"Of course, it is about the safety of Ms. Rogers, we definitely won't joke about it!"

Jason said solemnly, "President Thomson, Raymond was a member of Medical League before, his subordinates may be easier than us to crack your security system."

President Thomson was silent.

That's true!

If it's done by Raymond, then he could completely believe that what these two people were saying was true.

Jason reminded him in a deep voice while seeing his expression was a little loose, "The people sent by Hunters this time are experts on the International Mercenary Gold List, can your subordinates be the opponents?"

President Thomson was completely silent.

Although Medical League had its group of escorts who were with very good skills, but they were obviously inferior to the internationally ranked killers and mercenaries.

Even if you were able to handle it, the chances of winning were insignificant....

President Thomson couldn't help but look at Jason and asked, "Can your subordinates handle it?"

A cold light flashed in Jason's eyes.

"Of course, otherwise I wouldn't have to come to you!"

When he spoke, he was calm as if he had already mastered the matter with certainty.

President Thomson fell into deep thought.

After a long silence.

He finally gave in and said seriously, "If that's the case, then I will agree to your request..."

Upon hearing this, Jason breathed a sigh of relief in his heart.

With the permission of President Thomson, their actions within Medical League would be much more convenient.

So, he said sincerely, "Thank you."

Next, they discussed the specific arrangements for dealing with Hunters.

After an hour of discussion, President Thomson left the hotel.

He returned to Medical League and immediately went to the research room.

Lewis saw him coming back and asked, "President Thomson, are you here? Do you want to have Aletta come over for inspection now?"

Thomson glanced at the busy members of the research room and intentionally raised the volume louder and replied, "No need for now, I will do the inspection in the evening." The other research rooms were used by the other teams in the afternoon, they will go to the new area in the evening.

"The medical equipment over there is all brand new and can detect her condition more accurately."

Lewis didn't have any objections, as long as it's good for Aletta.

He nodded and said, "Then I'll tell Aletta."

"Don't worry, I have a set of data here to discuss with you, come to my office."

Lewis nodded, put down the work on hand and followed President Thomson into the office...

Ten minutes later.

Aletta and Gene who were reading in the library, received a message from Lewis at the same time.

The message for Aletta was to go to the new area for an inspection.

While for Gene's message was obviously not. After reading the message from Lewis, his face was slightly changed.

Aletta didn't realize and asked him, "Is it from Lewis? He said I have to go to the new area for an inspection tonight, right?"

Gene took the opportunity and replied, "Yes, I will accompany you tonight."

After listening to this, Aletta smiled and said, "You are treating me like a child. Actually, I can go there by myself, I am not feeling uncomfortable these two days and you don't have to take care of me all the time."

Gene put down the phone with a disapproving expression and said, "Of course, I need to take care of you, your situation is not very stable now and no one knows what will happen. And...I am also tired!"

"I go to the research room every day and finally have a day off. It's just the right time to accompany you."

"Besides, you are our junior, in our eyes, you have no different from our younger sister. It's not only us but my parent, if they know about this will also remind me to take good care of you!"

My dad also said, "It's okay if I have an accident, but you can't...when your body recovered, he will let me take you back and he wants to take you as his goddaughter!"

Gene felt outrageous about this matter.

Aletta was amused by these words, "Your dad still despises you as always?"

"It's more than that! He said that the daughter is love and the son...whatever. Fortunately, my mum couldn't have a second child back then, otherwise I wouldn't have a place in the family!"

Gene was lying on the table and was complaining about his father, which made Aletta smile happily.

They chatted for a while before stopping.

Aletta continued reading.

Gene sincerely admired her from the bottom of his heart as she was reading so seriously.

He felt sleepy once he opened the book.

He was already tired enough, but he couldn't do it if he had to torture himself like this.

So, he yawned and said to Aletta, "I will sleep for a while, call me when you want to go back."

Aletta agreed, "Alright."

Gene fell asleep, the library was relatively quiet, and no one would disturb him.

He slept straight into the evening.

The sunset by the window disappeared and Aletta shook the sleeping Gene awake from his deep sleep.

"Gene, don't sleep, I'm a bit hungry. Let's go back and have dinner."

Gene opened his eyes in confusion and said, "Okay, let's go, I'm hungry too!"

After he got up, both of them put all the medical books on the table back in place and then left the library.

Aletta felt surprised when they returned to the mansion, Lewis and Jock were there too.

"Why did you all come back so early today?"

They usually went to the research room and would be busy and stayed there until midnight.

Lewis looked calm and explained to her, "President Thomson has something to do tonight, so we will be in charge to conduct an inspection for you. It's time for dinner, hence we come back and have a meal as well."

Aletta nodded with no doubt.

Chapter 442 Actions speak louder than words

Everything finally came to an end after 10 o'clock.

Aletta was a bit tired, so she asked Jock, "Can I go back now?"

Lewis immersed himself in sorting out a stack of data without even raising his head and said, "If you are tired, you can go to the restroom which is next to you. We must look at the follow-up data and it shouldn't be that fast, we will call you when we go back later."

While seeing they were busy, Aletta felt sorry and tried to cheer up, "Since that's the case, can I help too?"

“No, you are so tired!”

Kirk put down the work in hand and said, “Just leave it to us, we just need to look at the data and it’s the same without you, be obedient.”

J

Others agreed upon hearing the words.

Aletta had no choice but to agree, “Okay, thank you all for your effort.”

After saying this, she didn’t linger any longer, turned and entered the restroom.

Shortly after the door was closed, Jock asked Lewis, “Is there any news from President Thomson?”

As she spoke, Lewis’s phone rang.

He glanced at the incoming call and said, “Talk of the devil and he will appear.”

Next, he slid down the answer button.

President Thomson’s voice came, “Hunters are approaching the new area.”

Lewis responded calmly, “Got it.”

After hanging up the call, he first stretched his muscles and bones.

Because of this action, the neck and knuckles suddenly made several “click” sounds.

The three people next to him immediately understood the situation.

Lewis came straight to the point and said to Gene, "Let's go and pick up the guests."

Before leaving, he warned the other two people, "Just stay inside and don't come out, remember to take care of Aletta."

Kirk and Jock nodded and gestured "OK" to them, "No problem, leave it to us, you both can rest assured!"

Gene nodded and soon went out with Lewis.

At this point, outside of the research room.

It was quiet and peaceful all around.

Only the leaves on the trees on both sides of the road were rustling by the cool wind.

The streetlights on both sides of the road were not bright and the shadows of the trees became heavier.

Lewis and Gene pushed the door and went out, their eyes lit up slightly when they saw such a scene.

Both of them were not ordinary people. As soon as they came out, they were keenly aware of the sense of crisis floating in the air.

Gene frowned and muttered, "Didn't you say there were only two Hunters who had sneaked in? Why do I feel that there are quite a few Hunters?"

Lewis's expression was calm, but his eyes were extremely sharp. "That's the news I got during the day and now the situation has changed, there're already a lot of Hunters coming in!"

Upon listening to what he said, Gene hooked his lips with great interest, "That's interesting! It's a great fight! So... are we going to fight now?"

He looked at Lewis and asked for his opinion.

Lewis didn't answer but he proved through his actions that was to do it directly!

He slowly took out a delicate iron box from the pocket of his white coat and then slowly opened it.

Gene took a curious look.

There were 10 small and exquisite scalpels inside the box.

The small scalpel glowed with a cold silver light under the moonlight.

Lewis quickly took a scalpel from the box and twirled it casually on his fingertips and then... without any warning, he threw it out in a certain direction.

There was only a "shush" sound,

The sharp blade cut through the air, mixed with Lewis's cold words, "Here we are, don't hide!"

The words fell and the next second, a figure fell from the tree.

The person's eyes widened, a scalpel was stabbed at the throat and the astonishment before death remained on his face.

Gene applauded on the spot and said, "Amazing! Actions speak louder than words!"

As he spoke, he stretched out his hand into his iron box with great interest and said, "Lend me one to play with!"

Lewis didn't stop him.

After Gene got it, he threw it casually in the air and then imitated Lewis to throw the scalpel out.

A silver light left a bright arc in the darkness.

However, this time, it was not as fatal as last time.

The scalpel just stabbed one of them in the arm.

The person snorted and revealed his whereabouts.

Gene glanced in that direction and was a bit disappointed, "It seems that my technique is not effective."

Lewis took back the iron box with great disdain, "Don't waste my scalpel anymore."

Gene gave a "tsk" sound, gave up his plan to continue using the scalpel and then reached out to touch his back.

A playful and mischievous smile lit up, "It's fine, I have my weapons too..."

As the words fell, a gun suddenly appeared in his bony hand.

The black muzzle of the gun was aimed at the direction of the man, and he shot out with lightning speed.

Due to the noise reduction, they didn't even hear the sound of gunfire and the person in the dark fell to the ground...

Gene blew his gun and said proudly to Lewis, "If you fail once, just make it up again, I am excellent at it!"

How could the Hunters who were hidden in the darkness remained calm when they saw this scene?

Now they couldn't hide anymore.

With a few rustling sounds, dozens of people suddenly appeared from the centre of Lewis and Gene.

Eagle and Fox were also among them.

At this moment, their expressions were somewhat uncertain.

How did these two men... discover them?

What are their backgrounds?

While looking at the outfit, they should be a member of Medical League, but why do they have such terrifying skills?

A scalpel can kill human life, they must be at least someone on the international killer list can do it!

But there should not have such an expert in Medical League!

Eagle and Fox's reactions were not slow, and they guessed that something had happened.

Without any delay, he directly ordered and said to all his subordinates, "Kill them."

Chapter 443 The person I dream in my mind day and night has come.

The subordinates were ordered to take action immediately.

However, a thick voice came over before there was enough time, "Isn't it not good for two leaders to sneak into our Medical League in this way without even saying hello?"

Upon hearing this, Eagle and Fox were startled and looked toward the source of the sound.

President Thomson was slowly coming from the end of the path.

Despite his short stature, his imposing demeanour couldn't be ignored.

Moreover, following his appearance, the escort of Medical League also surged out from the darkness, encircling them. directly and sandwiching them in the middle.

The complexions of Eagle and Fox changed slightly, as they had never expected to be discovered so soon.

"Did you already know that we were sneaking into Medical League?"

Eagle took the lead in asking questions with a gloomy face.

There was a terrifying fierceness in him as he has been lived in the days of fighting for a long time.

President Thomson was not afraid of him.

He stood still, his face was particularly calm and composed, "Of course! Otherwise, how can you be bottled up like a turtle trapped in a jar?"

Fox sneered and said, "Bottled us up like a turtle trapped in a jar? Then it depends on whether you have the ability! With the protection of your Medical League, you can't stop us."

As his words fell, Eagle had already made the first move.

Didn't know when he had an extra gun in his hand and with a gunshot, an escort of Medical League fell to the ground.

The confrontation between the two sides was imminent...

At this moment, in the research room, Jock and Kirk looked at the situation outside through the window and they frowned.

Jock gave a "tsk" sound and said, "The opponent has more people than expected."

"Yes."

Kirk nodded with a calm expression.

Jock couldn't help but to look at her with a strange expression, "Why are you not afraid at all?"

Kirk blinked her eyes and looked at her, "Aren't you afraid too, Jock?"

Jock choked for a moment and didn't know how to answer this question.

Seeing her hesitant expression, Kirk didn't care and smiled, "I've known you for so long, it seems that I have never heard you mentioned your identity and background? Now, it seems that you are not ordinary?"

"Same to you, don't you too!"

Jock answered.

If a normal person saw this kind of big scene, then would probably be trembling with fear.

But Kirk remained calm, obviously she had seen such a situation before.

This was somewhat unexpected to her.

Jock thought that Kirk was a homegirl who loved to study poisons!

Kirk shrugged, "I never intended to hide anything, it's just that you didn't ask."

"Same here, you didn't ask me either."

After Jock finished speaking, she asked tentatively, "Assuming they couldn't stop them later and those two people break in, can you stop them?"

Without any hesitation, Kirk shook his head and said, "I can't stop them, I don't have the skills. I can't practice martial arts because of my physical condition since I was a child! However, ... I can sprinkle poison."

Then she asked, "Jock, can you stop them?"

Jock was speechless for a moment and answered honestly, "I can stop one, but two can't!"

Kirk was surprised.

Did Jock have the skills to fight against the gold medal mercenary?

This is unexpected!

While both of them were talking, the door of the restroom was suddenly pushed open.

Aletta came out from the restroom and asked, "What happened? Why is it so noisy?"

Jock and Kirk heard the sound and quickly looked over, "Are you awake?"

"Yes."

Aletta nodded.

Just now, while I was half asleep, suddenly I heard a loud noise and was awakened, so I came out.

Jock was about to tell her what happened.

But before she had the time to speak, Aletta had already come beside her. She saw the scene outside through the window...

The confrontation outside was still going on.

In just a few minutes, the situation has reached a fever pitch!

Eagle and Fox obviously didn't intend to waste any time, and they were going to rush into the research room when their subordinates stopped them.

Aletta widened her eyes and asked, "What's going on? Who are they?"

"Hunters."

Jock didn't hide anything and told her the truth

straightforwardly, "They sneaked into Medical League and seemed to be targeting you and President Thomson arranged escorts to stop them.

Aletta was stunned.

She didn't expect that even after she arrived at the Medical League, those people were still lingering!

Kirk quickly hugged and comforted her, "Don't be afraid Aletta, we are here for you, we will definitely not let them succeed in this matter."

Aletta clenched her fists.

She wasn't as afraid as she was before, but she was a bit worried.

"Who are those two people who dealt with Lewis and Gene? Their skills are so terrifying!"

After hearing this, Kirk and Jock immediately looked over...

At this time, Eagle and Fox were approaching the outside of the research room, but they were blocked by Lewis and Gene.

Originally, they planned to break into the research room directly and arrested Aletta.

But didn't expect these two people to have such amazing skills.

The bullets of both sides had already been exhausted in the scuffle just now and they were replaced by bare-handed flesh battles.

1 1 dream in my mind day and night has co.

They have gone through dozens of tricks, but they have no clear winner!

Eagle and Fox were shocked.

They were the best in the Mercenary World, so they were very confident this time when they came here.

Unexpectedly, they encountered tough stubble!

As the fighting between both sides became more intense, their faces changed.

If it was going on like this, there would be an issue even if they wanted to get out of Medical League.

“We can’t waste our time here anymore!”

Fox immediately spoke out.

Eagle nodded and immediately raised his voice, “J, you still don’t take action?”

Before Lewis and Gene had time to react after they heard, a dangerous aura was rushing towards them.

Both of them retreated vigilantly at the same time.

In a moment, a middle-aged man in his forties appeared in front of them.

The opponent’s face was engraved with terrifying tattoo patterns and his whole body exuded a cold and terrifying evil spirit.

As soon as he appeared, he flexibly raised his legs and attacked Lewis and Gene.

They instinctively tried to block, but they were hit hard and retreated in succession.

The three people in the research room felt uneasy when they saw this scene.

They were... at a disadvantage situation?

“Stop them, don’t let them get in the way!”

After J made a move, he didn’t have much patience and directly gave orders to Eagle and Fox.

Then, he was heading towards the research room...

Upon seeing this situation, Lewis and Gene wanted to intervene immediately.

However, Eagle and Fox didn’t even give them a chance!

In a moment, J broke through the defence and arrived at the entrance of the research room.

While looking at the incident in front of her, Jock who was staying inside the research room lowered her face. She immediately blocked Aletta and Kirk behind her and said, “Both of you go into the restroom, just leave it to me!”

Aletta looked at Jock with a look of astonishment.

Kirk was also worried.

She understood that if they stayed here, they would be only a burden and immediately pull Aletta in.

But at this moment, sudden changes arose.

“Bang bang bang...”

Three consecutive intense gunshots pierced the night sky and exploded in everyone's ears!

J was about to turn the doorknob, he felt the threat of death!

He reacted quickly, rolled on the spot and immediately evaded.

However, the shooter seemed to be able to predict his trajectory. The first two shots barely touched his ear and the third shot directly hit his arm!

The accuracy was simply astonishing!

J's face changed slightly.

The manpower of Medical League should be run out of bullets.

The people who could come to support were also stopped by the Hunters, so there must be no way to rush over so quickly.

Now, where did the gunshot come from?

J immediately raised his head and looked towards the source of the sound...

Not far away, a tall and slender figure stood under the bright streetlight.

From this position, he was against the light all over and could only feel a breathtaking aura from the general outline.

A strong murderous aura emanated from him, made people unconsciously terrified.

In the research room, Aletta, Jock and Kirk also noticed this scene.

Aletta's gaze fell on that figure, her heart was constricting uncontrollably.

It's him...am I wrong?

Why the person I dream in my mind day and night... was here?

Chapter 444 Once Jason is there, the opponent has no chance of winning.

In the research room, Kirk and Jock were also dumbfounded.

The rescue was too timely!

That's too handsome!

Kirk couldn't help but ask, "Who is that person?"

Jock shook her head and said, "I don't know, but... I feel he is a little familiar?"

Just as Aletta held her breath.

The slender figure came slowly under the streetlight.

He walked steadily, getting closer and closer...

Until his face completely came into view.

Aletta's pupils constricted suddenly, her lips opened subconsciously, and her heart missed a beat.

She fixed her gaze on the person, her eyes burst into dazzling expression and her heart was full of surprise.

It's him!

It's really him!!!

With the appearance of Jason, Jock and Kirk were filled with astonishment.

"Oh my gosh, have my eyes blurred? Why did I see the fiancé of Aletta?"

Jock rubbed her eyes and said in disbelief.

Kirk was also stunned for a moment and replied, "Obviously not."

Jason appeared here....he must have come to look for Aletta!

She realized, immediately looked at Aletta and said, "He is coming here to find you!"

Aletta nodded in a daze.

Seeing the person that she thought about day and night, suddenly appeared in front of her. She always felt a little unrealistic and her gaze was also fixed on that figure...

After Jason appeared, a group of people were following behind him gradually emerged.

They were led by Eaton.

Once he stood still, he waved his hand and signalled to his subordinates, "Come here, clean up the scene."

The subordinates all responded in unison and immediately joined in the entanglement.

The speed of the collaboration between Medical League and King League is naturally not a problem.

After a while, Hunters were defeated.

While seeing this incident, Eagle and Fox's complexion changed drastically and their momentum were unconsciously reduced by half.

J looked at the research room and insisted to continue the fight.

It's just one step away!

If he rushed in, then he would be able to take away the person that Professor Peter needed.

However, at this moment, an indifferent voice came from behind, "I advise you, it's better not to touch that door!"

These words appeared abruptly and seemed to be spoken close to his ear.

J turned around vigilantly...

But before he could see the situation clearly, a black shadow approached fiercely towards him.

The opponent hit J with a leg whip and swept over forcefully.

J didn't have time to respond and snorted, his whole body was almost flown out halfway and hit the wall heavily.

Eagle and Fox over there saw this situation and they were completely shocked.

J was kicked out?

This was the first time they saw J so embarrassed!

J who fell on the ground also supported the ground and his face was full of horror...

When the opponent attacked just now, the strength was surprisingly strong and he was obviously professional.

Moreover, his speed comparable to lightning was terrifying their guns aimed at them.

As if they have a little movement, the bullets would have smashed them into sieves.

Jason looked in the direction where J and the others disappeared, his eyes darkened and he turned to Sam who had fought with J just now with some displeasure. He ordered, "Go and catch him back!"

"Yes!"

Sam took the order, pointed a few subordinates behind him and then quickly chased them out.

With Jason's intervention, the fight tonight ended very quickly.

The remaining remnants of Hunters at the scene were also wiped out.

The people of Medical League and Jason hardly suffered any losses.

On the contrary, Hunters except for J who escaped and a dozen of his subordinates, were almost completely wiped out.

The only people left alive were Eagle and Fox.

These two people have now been captured by the subordinates of King League.

The crisis was lifted and President Thomson also walked over from behind the crowd at this time.

He stopped in front of Jason with sincere admiration in his tone, "You came in time! i didn't expect Hunters to have such Couldn't imagine, if he didn't agree to cooperate with Jason during the day, what kind of losses would be suffered by Medical League tonight!

Jason put away his gun calmly and said, "It's still too late. There were a lot of Hunters on the outskirts, it took me a lot of time to deal with that group of flies.

As he spoke, he looked at President Thomson and said, "Thank you so much for tonight!"

When President Thomson heard Jason said thank you to him, he was so ashamed and quickly waved his hand, "I should be the one who thanks you! Aletta's matter is related to me too, Raymond did evil and sent someone to sneak into Medical League...

"If tonight didn't have your manpower here, I don't know what would have happened with my escorts alone! The little loss right now is already the best outcome!"

As both of them were speaking, a series of footsteps appeared behind them.

Jason and President Thomson looked in the direction at the same time.

It was Ruby who came, and she came with the subordinates of King League.

As soon as she saw Jason, she immediately reported in a respectful voice, "Mr. Hill, Hunters have been cleaned up and also many Hunters have been found outside of Medical League. However, it seemed that Mr. Alex who was known by Ms. Rogers has solved it..."

Tonight, it's not just internal chaos with the Medical League.

There were also many dangers at the outside of Medical League.

The manpower of Hunters attached great importance to this operation and have sent several batches of support.

While the fight was raging inside, the outside was also chaotic.

When Jason heard Alex's name, his eyes flickered, but he quickly restrained his expression and replied, "Got it."

After finishing speaking, he retracted his gaze and finally set his gaze in the direction of the research room not far away.

"I'll go see Aletta."

He greeted President Thomson who was next to him.

Aletta didn't know about tonight's plan, not sure if she was frightened.

Chapter 445 If you missed me, go back and tell me in the room.

President Thomson understood the young man's mood, smiled and waved to him, "Go ahead, she must be terrified tonight!"

Jason nodded and then walked towards the direction.

In the research room.

Jock and Kirk, as Hunters have retreated, they all breathed a sigh of relief.

At this moment, Jason was coming towards them, they immediately teased Aletta, "Aletta, what are you still doing? Hurry up to greet him! Don't you think about him every day when you don't see him? Now your man is in front of you, don't you hug him?"

She wasn't embarrassed and even felt that Jock was right.

She nodded, then turned and walked outside.

The moment the door was pushed open, Aletta noticed that her heart was beating very fast.

The sound "pop pop pop" was audible.

Her mind was filled with images of Jason when he appeared tonight.

It's really... too impactful!

When did he come to the island?

Why didn't he tell me about this?

Did he just arrive? Or he came from the beginning?

With many thoughts in mind, Aletta finally opened the door and stepped out of the research room.

She looked straight ahead and landed on that tall figure.

Not far away, Jason also saw her...

His forward steps stopped suddenly, and his gaze also fixed on that beautiful figure.

Both gazes were entangled and looked at each other.

Although separated by a distance, but it seemed as if they could see the endless thoughts surging in the others' eyes.

Aletta felt a bit sour in her eyes.

Her footsteps became heavy as if she had been cast a spell.

But she still walked towards him step by step...

I refused his proposal previously, however he still walked to this place without hesitation!

As I approached danger, he appeared so unexpectedly and cut off the root of danger.

He was practicing what he has said...

He said he would protect me from any harm, and he did it!

Aletta's heart surged with emotions.

She felt that there was nothing if walking the rest of the way by her own.

She also wanted him to know that she was working hard to get closer to him!

Aletta's gaze became firmer, her pace gradually accelerated and finally she even started to trot until she fell into Jason's arms.

Jason was already prepared.

So, when Aletta came over, he could firmly catch her and hug her in his arms.

The moment when Aletta truly fell into his arms, the feeling of emptiness these days has finally been filled at this moment.

All the impetuous anxiety was also calmed down one after another.

In order to be satisfied was to keep the person you loved by your side.

He suddenly tightened his arms which hugging her when he thought of this, as if he wanted to melt her into his body.

Aletta felt it.

After they separated, crazy longing swept over her at this moment.

Regardless of the existence of others around her, at this moment she only wanted to hold Jason tightly and didn't want to let him go anymore!

She buried her head in his arms and when she spoke, her voice trembled, "I finally saw you..."

Upon hearing this, his heart seemed to be collapsed and it was incredibly touching.

"Darling, I am here."

He kissed her hair gently with a coaxing tone in his tone.

Aletta clenched his clothes tightly to feel his body temperature, heartbeat and familiar breath greedily.

Until now, she realized how peaceful when Jason was by her side.

Aletta couldn't bear it anymore but held onto this posture and said, "When I saw you just now, I couldn't believe my eyes. I thought I missed you too much and hallucinated.

Unexpectedly, you came here... I feel like I'm dreaming until now."

Upon hearing this, Jason laughed and said, "It's not a hallucination, I came to you!"

Aletta nodded and rubbed affectionately in his arms.

She looked like a kitten that has just found its owner after being lost and every part of her showed a cute and soft appearance.

Jason's deep black eyes were so gentle while saw her reaction.

It was the first time he saw Aletta like this!

His heart softened even more, and he couldn't help but gently caressed the back of her head, "Are you scared tonight?"

Aletta shook her head in his arms, "No, I was supposed to be resting and I was startled when I was woken up. But I'm not that scared because I was protected by Lewis, Gene and President Thomson. After you came, I'm even more relaxed..."

When she said this, she finally calmed down and she lifted her head from his arms.

Jason lowered his eyes to look at her and saw a hint of wetness on her eyelashes.

It seemed like she had cried secretly, but she was afraid of being discovered and she held back, so her eyes turned a little red.

She looked pitiful.

Jason felt heartbroken and leaned over to kiss her eyes, "Don't be afraid, you are fine now. From now onward, stay by my side obediently. As long as I am here, no one can hurt you anymore."

Aletta nodded immediately.

She didn't want to be separated from him either.

She wanted to be with him every day in the future...

The misunderstanding of refused proposal previously, she didn't want to have it again!

Just as both of them were chatting with each other, Ruby watched this scene.

Her eyes remained indifferent as usual, and her expression didn't even change much.

But if you looked carefully, you could see her tightly clenched palms and her nails pinched into the flesh!

However, she didn't seem to feel the pain even though her palms were bleeding non stopped.

Eaton has always been sharp-eyed, and he noticed her strangeness.

He felt that something was wrong with Ruby.

First, she disregarded the rules of King League, left her duty without permission and voluntarily appeared in front of Mr. Hill.

The way she looked at Mr. Hill and Ms. Rogers was also abnormal.

This woman... shouldn't have any ulterior motives toward Mr. Hill, right?

While thinking of this possibility, Eaton couldn't help but to look at Ruby from top to bottom.

Ruby seemed to be aware of it and turned her head in that direction.

The eyes of both of them collided in the air, she had a feeling of being seen through and had nowhere to hide.

Eaton realized and immediately said, “Ruby, there is nothing to do here in Medical League, you can take subordinates with you to support Sam. Don’t forget, you have a ‘responsibility’ on you, Mr. Hill will be unhappy if you let go of any remnants of Hunters!”

When it came to the word ‘responsibility’, Eaton deliberately emphasized his tone with a clear warning.

How could Ruby fail to understand the meaning?

Eaton watched her left and frowned slightly.

Why didn’t he realize before that Ruby still had such thoughts toward Mr. Hill?

Jason didn’t know about this at all.

After he and Aletta hugged each other for a while, he was finally willing to let go of her.

This place has just experienced a fight, the floor was full of mess and a bloody smell. It was not a good place to confide in each other.

Therefore, both of them were not too extreme either.

When let go, Jason seemed to accidentally pinched Aletta’s earlobe twice.

Then, in a low voice that only both of them could hear, he said, "Go back to your room later and tell me how you think of me."

Chapter 447 Only you for the rest of my life

Jason heard the words and was momentarily taken aback. Then, his eyes grew deeper and more profound.

At this moment, he didn't want to think of anything else. He embraced her with his long arms and kissed deepenedly.

It felt as if the two of them were expressing their longing for each other through this kiss, and their emotions were so intense that the kiss became urgent, passionate, and lasted for several minutes.

Aletta almost couldn't catch her breath several times and couldn't help but push the man away.

But after a few seconds, the two of them kissed again.

Aletta's whole body went weak, and she could hardly stand.

Jason's eyes dimmed, he lifted her up and asked hoarsely, "Where is your room?"

Aletta leaned against his chest, calming her breath, and blushed slightly, "The room on the left side of the second floor."

"Got it."

Jason nodded, effortlessly carrying her in his arms and walking upstairs.

After entering the room, he put Aletta down.

Aletta was about to walk inside when he suddenly pulled her arm before she could say anything. Without waiting for her to speak, the man pressed her against the door and kissed her again.

Aletta enjoyed the kiss from Jason.

She could feel that Jason missed her just as much as she missed him, which was why they used this kiss to express their longing for each other.

But Aletta felt something was wrong.

Tonight, Jason didn't just want her.

His entire being was filled with desire, possessiveness that could be seen and touched. How could a mere kiss be enough?

His obsession with her could only be satisfied by completely making her his own!

Therefore, just as Aletta's rationality was about to sink, she suddenly felt a coolness on her back.

The zipper of her dress had been pulled down.

The man's scorching hand gently caressed up...

"Yea...?" Aletta exclaimed, opening her eyes and looking at Jason.

The desire in his eyes was undisguised. He was panting, not saying a word, leaning over and continuing kissing her.

Aletta's heart trembled slightly, but she didn't resist. Instead, she gathered her courage and reached up to unbutton his shirt.

Her movements were clearly clumsy.

After several attempts, she still couldn't unbuckle them.

In the end, she could only pull and tug slightly...

Jason noticed her actions and couldn't help but laugh. He said, "Let me teach you!"

Upon saying that, he placed his hand lightly on her hand back and guided her to unbuckle the buttons, one by one.

After a moment of seconds, the man's sturdy chest came into view, with beautiful eight-pack abs distributed across his abdomen, a perfectly proportioned and sexy sight.

Aletta couldn't dare to look at his body.

Jason asked her in a husky voice, "Are you afraid?"

Aletta gasped for breath and shook her head.

Seeing her response, Jason's eyes darkened even further, his breath growing heavier. He sought her opinion again and asked, "Are you sure?"

If she nodded, he wouldn't be able to control himself any longer!

Aletta, who had mustered up her courage with great difficulty, started to hesitate due to his continuous questioning.

Why has he been asking?

Hadn't she already taken the initiative and took the first step?

Aletta's voice was tense as she blushed and shyly leaned her head against his chest. In a muffled voice, she said, "The medication in my body will not affect us... on this matter."

Her words seemed to touch a sensitive chord in Jason's heart.

In that moment, the man's rationality shattered.

He lowered his head and kissed her ear, making a sound of affirmation, then raised his hand and locked the door.

The following seconds, their lips met, and Aletta was lifted in his arms.

Jason carried her to the bed, with a heavy breath, leaning over her...

The following events were completely beyond Aletta's control, entirely dictated by the man.

Although she had given birth to a child and had experienced two encounters with him before, those had all happened under special circumstances.

The previous experience was rough and hadn't left her with a good impression.

So, this time, Jason guided her with utmost gentleness, even if he himself was uncomfortable, Aletta was his main priority.

"Don't be afraid, relax."

His husky voice soothed her ear, his gentle patience being the best comfort to her.

Initially, Aletta was nervous and afraid of pain.

However, when everything fell into place, she realised there was no discomfort at all.

"If it's uncomfortable, let me know, okay?" Jason restrained his impulse and whispered in her ear.

Aletta nodded, her face blushing from the intimate act, even her skin took on a hint of pink.

Her eyes were both hazy and seductive...

Jason groaned inwardly, feeling like the person in his arms was going to be the death of him!

He tried to be as gentle as possible with her, but deep inside, his emotions couldn't wait to pull her closer and sink together...

Aletta sensed his restraint and cares, her heart became soft and muddled.

She straightened up, reached out to hook her hand around his neck, and drew closer to his ear, saying, "Fiancé, from now on, you must treat me well and never hurt me again! In my life, only you..."

Sparks ignited in Jason's eyes, his voice becoming low and sexy.

He said, "Okay, I won't hurt you. In this life, I only want you..."

As those words fell, his kiss descended heavily.

The temperature in the room quickly rose, and the two on the bed became even more passionate.

They embraced each other, sinking into their own world of desire...

After everything was over, an hour had passed.

Aletta was exhausted, Jason carried her into the bathroom.

While they were washing up, they couldn't resist and had another round of intimacy.

Aletta's body was too weak, and she couldn't endure his third assault.

Although Jason had endless energy, he couldn't bear to see her tired expression...

He thought, since she already belonged to her, there would be plenty of opportunities in the future.

After it was all over, he carried her into the shower again, dried her off, and changed the bedding on the bed. Once she was settled, he immediately held her in his arms.

Aletta thought he still wanted to continue and was frightened, so she quickly tried to push him away, saying, "I... I can't anymore!"

Her tone carried a hint of pleading, and she was really tired.

Jason almost lost control again upon hearing his voice.

He took a deep breath, kissed her forehead, and said, "Sweetie, we are done for the day, turn in now."

Aletta heard his words and finally felt at ease.

Her entire body was lethargic, not wanting to move a single finger, and her eyelids felt as heavy as a thousand pounds.

As she leaned against him, struggling to stay awake, she hoarsely said, "I had a lot of things to say to you, but now... I don't have the energy"

There was a hint of complaint in her tone, and her voice sounded light and ethereal, like she was being coquettish.

Jason chuckled softly, his expression filled with contentment, and said, "We'll continue when you wake up."

"Alright..."

Aletta murmured in a drowsy state, then she grabbed his clothes and quickly fell asleep.

Chapter 448 Should I Carry You Over?

Aletta was so lethargic that she slept heavily through the night.

When she woke up the next day, it was already past ten in the morning.

As soon as she opened her eyes, she felt a wave of soreness overwhelming her, like a landslide.

Indeed, one shouldn't indulge themselves too much.

Aletta thought to herself as she turned her head slightly, only to see the culprit sitting by the bedside, reading a document while holding her hand.

Despite being engaged in his work, he didn't let go of her hand?

Aletta blinked and felt a warm sensation in her heart, involuntarily tightening her grip.

Jason immediately sensed it.

He put down the document and looked at her, a smile playing on his lips. "Awake?"

He had always been good-looking, but this smile of his made Aletta momentarily lost her focus. Blushing slightly, she nodded and asked, "Did you sleep well?"

Upon hearing her question, Jason nodded, "Yes I did, what about you?"

His counter-question brought certain images to Aletta's mind, making the warmth on her face even more apparent.

She coughed lightly and pretended to be calm as she replied, "Me.too."

Jason made a sound of acknowledgement and patted her head, saying, "Let's get ready, it's almost time for lunch."

"Alright."

Aletta turned over and got up on her bed.

Her legs inexplicably weakened, almost causing her to fall when she tried to get off the bed.

Jason was startled and quickly supported her, asking, "What's wrong?"

It would have been fine if he hadn't asked, but once he did,

Aletta's face turned red.

The events of last night echoed clearly in her mind.

She tried to restrain herself and keep her expression calm.

However, with her legs feeling weak, she felt embarrassed and couldn't directly tell him what had happened.

She touched her nose and shook her head, saying, "Nothing to worry, I did not proportion myself right."

Jason realised her awkward expression.

He chuckled and asked, "Do you want me to carry you over?"

Aletta playfully slapped him and said, "No need!"

Without looking back, she went into the bathroom.

After a quick wash-up, Aletta and Jason descended the stairs hand in hand. The chef had already prepared several dishes, steamed hot and placed them on the table. Aletta's appetite was instantly stimulated.

Aletta glanced over the living room. She did not see Lewis, Jock, and the others, but only Eaton.

She couldn't help but wonder, "Where are the rest of them? Have they not woken up yet?"

Eaton cleared his throat and reported, "Early this morning, the president arranged a different accommodation for them, mentioning that none of them should disturb both of your dates..."

Aletta, not feeling awkward upon hearing what Eaton said, looked at Jason in surprise. "From what I understand, the president allows you to live within the League?"

Jason nodded, holding her hand as they entered the restaurant and said, "The President is a good person."

Aletta found the situation quite miraculous.

That old-fashioned president actually agreed to this matter!

But... Being able to be together with Jason was a good thing!

She didn't want to be separated from him either!

After they both took their seats, Aletta remembered to ask about what happened last night.

Jason didn't hide anything from her and directly said, "The hunters have all been captured, including the one who almost entered the research room last night. The Medical League lost some manpower, but it's not a major issue. The injured ones have already been treated by numerous members through joint efforts."

As he spoke, he served Aletta a bowl of hot soup.

Aletta nodded.

The advantage of being in the league was, there were many doctors, and their medical skills were exquisite. The necessary medications for treatment were also plentiful, hence there was no need to worry at all.

She took a sip of soup and asked, "So, the issue with the hunters has been completely resolved?"

"Yes."

Jason nodded and started to pick up food for Aletta. He calmly said, "After dealing with matters here last night, the personnel withdrew from the league, and then we searched the island for the remnants of the hunters."

He paused for a moment and suddenly glanced at the little woman beside him, saying, "Mr. Alex's team also helped quite a bit."

Upon hearing that name, Aletta couldn't help but feel surprised.

“That guy came? When did that happen?”

Eaton, who was beside her, helped answer, “The day we arrived on the island, Mr. Alex and we were on the same boat.”

On the same boat?

Doesn't that mean he arrived several days ago?

She was surprised that she hadn't heard Alex mentioning this!

However, Aletta probably understood the intention Alex came.

Must be due to her condition.

She opened her mouth but didn't know what to say for a moment...

Jason noticed her silence and immediately spoke, “He is staying in a hotel on the island. If you want to meet him, I can take you there later!””

Upon hearing this, Aletta raised an eyebrow, her face showing a hint of novelty.

It seemed as if this statement coming from Jason's mouth, was something unimaginable.

After all, every time he met Alex, they would fight and couldn't coexist peacefully!

She thought he wouldn't want to see Alex!

To be fair, Jason indeed didn't want to meet him.

But, Alex helped Aletta when she needed it.

Moreover, this was not a trivial matter, so it couldn't be neglected...

Eaton, on the other hand, remained calm and said, "Master, Mr. Alex left the island early this morning!"

At this moment, on the vast blue ocean, a large ship was sailing forward.

Alex stood on the deck, blowing in the sea breeze, staring in the direction of the island that was long out of sight.

He maintained this position for a full hour, hardly moving at all.

Vincent, who was beside him, almost thought Alex had turned into a statue!

He sighed, "We've come all this way, and yet Ms. Rogers is nowhere to be seen. Did something happen to her during the turmoil within the league last night? Perhaps she got injured."

Alex replied coldly, "With the amount of manpower, they couldn't protect her well? Besides, if she really got hurt, you would have told me earlier!"

Vincent was speechless.

"At the very least, let Ms. Rogers know what you have done for her,"

They had spent a considerable amount of time last night dealing with the hunters.

Alex clearly didn't want to do that.

"Is it necessary? Speaking up will only add burden on others. Besides, what I do has nothing to do with her. I don't want her to feel indebted to me," he said.

Vincent remained silent, "..."

So, it turned out that Alex had chosen the path of expressing deep affection?

You couldn't tell at all from his usual sharp-tongued behaviour!

Moreover, this kind of role in a TV drama is usually the cannon fodder second male lead, who never gets a chance with the female protagonist!

Alex sensed Vincent reproach him.

He suppressed his brows, glancing coldly in his direction, and said, "Do you have nothing better to do? Why are you lingering here?"

Vincent dared not stay any longer and quickly left his sight.

Chapter 449 Intimacy Rewards

After lunch with Jason, Aletta had originally planned to take him around the league.

Just as they were about to set off, President Thomson called and asked them to come to his office.

Aletta temporarily put aside her initial plans and took a detour with the man beside her.

Upon arriving at President Thomson's office, they exchanged greetings and took their seats together.

President Thomson conversed, "I called Mr. Hill here to discuss Professor Peter's situation... You may already know that he is currently off the island. Since the issue here has been resolved, are you ready to take action on your side?"

Jason didn't hide anything and replied, "Yes, I did!"

President Thomson understood his intentions upon hearing this.

He promptly said, "If needed, I can mobilise some of our personnel to assist you."

Recognizing his intention to offer help, Jason quickly declined, "There's not a need. Currently, the manpower of your league should focus on the island. If it is possible, consider an increase in patrols. We should also tighten the security checks for those entering the island to prevent dangerous individuals from infiltrating again. With the hunters protecting Professor Peter, their strength is comparable to the few experts from last night, my team. will be sufficient."

Upon hearing this, President Thomson felt helpless.

Faced with such overwhelming power, even as a medical leader, all he could say at the moment was, "Then let the capable ones handle it!"

He let out a deep sigh and continued, "If I had known they would infiltrate the island earlier, I could have borrowed manpower from my acquaintances."

"It doesn't matter," Jason dismissed it.

Then, he smoothly changed the topic and asked, "By the way, has the mole who helped the hunters infiltrate the league been identified?"

"They have been captured. Those two league members had worked with my team in the past and have maintained contact over the years."

President Thomson's expression turned cold.

The two members had leaked some of the league's research results over the years.

Upon hearing this, Jason reassured him, "Thank god they have been caught. It at least minimises the losses. Moving forward, pertaining to Professor Peter, the President doesn't need to worry. I will take care of it with my team. If the league needs any assistance, don't hesitate to ask. However, when it comes to Aletta's physical condition, I'll have to trouble you to pay more attention."

He didn't care about anything else; he was most concerned about this woman's well-being.

Upon hearing this, Thomson couldn't help but glance at Aletta next to him.

Then he smiled and said, "Speaking of which, there is some good news. The antidote for Stage 1 of X- 1 might be completed in the next few days."

An antidote?

Aletta was particularly sensitive to these two words now!

Her expression brightened instantly, and she couldn't contain her excitement in her words.

"Are you serious, President Thomson?"

Thomson smiled and replied, "Of course! Do you think I would lie to you?"

"What does Stage 1 mean?"

Jason caught the key words and immediately asked for more details. Seeing the shift of conversation to a professional topic, Thomson instinctively adjusted his facial expression and began to answer.

"To summarise, it's an antidote divided into three stages for treatment. The reason being, the substance inside this girl has a strong ability to disrupt bodily functions. Administering a single. dose of antidote could potentially cause an overwhelming impact and her body may not be able to manage it.

Therefore, after evaluation with the team, the treatment is divided into three stages to make the medication's effects relatively milder."

After listening to this explanation, Jason understood and replied,

“Got it.”

Thomson nodded, then looked at Aletta and continued, “The antidote is currently in the testing phase. If everything goes well, we will begin to use it to treat you.”

Suddenly changing his tone, he reminded them,

“However, I need to let you know in advance that after taking the medication, your body may experience rejection symptoms and discomfort. It’s completely normal. So, in the next few days, make sure to take care of your vitality and spirit to cope with the treatment.”

Upon hearing this, Aletta immediately nodded confidently and said, “No problem. If it can treat me, even if it’s uncomfortable, I will definitely endure it!”

She wanted to regain a normal appearance, marry the man beside her, and reunite with her children again...

Jason had an idea in his mind, he held Aletta’s hand, comforting her, “It’s alright. I’ll be with you.”

Aletta looked at the man who belonged to her, and her heart was filled with strength.

She nodded firmly and said, “Okay!”

With him by her side, she wasn’t afraid of anything!

After discussing the important matters, the two of them left President Thomson’s office.

Subsequently, they aimlessly wandered around the league.

After walking for a distance, Jason suggested, "Take me to the library you often visit?"

Aletta didn't want to reject it.

But...

"Well, we can go, but you're not a member of the league, so you might not be allowed in," she replied.

Upon hearing this, Jason chuckled.

In the next moment, as if performing a magic trick, he suddenly took out a league emblem and waved it in front of Aletta.

"Thomson gave me this. It seems like I can go anywhere with it," he said.

Aletta was momentarily stunned, then laughed and said, "How did you manage to win over the president? He treats you so well. That's the emblem for league VIPs!"

Jason casually replied, "Nope. I just helped upgrade all the systems of the league."

All the systems...

Aletta couldn't help but laugh and said, "So, this is the power of money and technology?"

She didn't expect Thomson to be so pragmatic!

Jason smirked and asked in a soft voice, "How capable is your fiancé? Is he impressive?"

Aletta replied sincerely, "Yes he is, extremely impressive."

How could he not be impressive with his monetary abilities?

Jason felt delighted and leaned closer to her ear, saying, "Is there a reward for that?"

Aletta blinked.

In the next moment, she responded readily, leaning forward and tiptoeing to give him a sweet kiss. "Like this, is it acceptable?"

Jason's breath hitched, and he instinctively wrapped his arm around her waist, pursing his lips with lingering desire.

"Not bad, but... it's still not enough!" he whispered into Aletta's ear, his voice seemingly infused with a seductive power. "At the very least, I should receive a reward on the level of last night."

Aletta blushed upon hearing his words and nervously glanced around.

After a moment, seeing that there was no one around, she felt embarrassed and said, "Jason Hill, it's broad daylight. What are you talking about? Can you be serious?"

"Sure. Let's talk about it when we go back tonight," he replied.

With that said, he embraced her and kissed her directly.

If he couldn't obtain the desired reward for now, he would satisfy himself by giving her plenty of affection!

Chapter 450 Difficulty On Flirting

Aletta felt her cheeks blush as she obediently cooperated.

Jason naturally wouldn't let go of this opportunity.

Leaning against the wall, the two of them kissed for a while before ending the embrace.

Aletta was slightly out of breath, her lips slightly reddened.

Jason raised his hand and lightly brushed her lips, looking satisfied. "Let's go, let's go to the library."

"Okay."

The two of them explored the place once they reached the library. Just as Jason finished exploring, he commented, "I've heard about the vast collection of the 'World Medical League.' It's renowned worldwide, and seeing it today, it truly lives up to its reputation."

Aletta nodded, expressing her agreement.

"Although it may not have the largest collection overall, when it comes to medical books, it's definitely number one! When I came here before, I even wished I could live inside this place! If it weren't for the League's rules against taking books out, I would have wanted to move them all back home!"

As she spoke, she looked at those precious medical books, feeling a bit tempted. Seeing the genuine love in her eyes, Jason chuckled and said, "I didn't expect you to be such a bookworm."

Aletta smiled and didn't deny.

Half a day passed, and they wandered elsewhere for a while.

Later in the evening, Aletta began to feel that she couldn't walk anymore.

Jason naturally noticed her gradually slowing pace.

Raising an eyebrow, he looked at the person by his side and asked, "What's wrong? Are you tired?"

Aletta shook her head, her gaze fixed straight ahead as she said, "Nope, my legs feel a little sore."

Jason paused for a moment, then said softly in a low voice, "Is it because of last night? Were you too tired?"

"No!"

Aletta glared at him, feeling embarrassed.

How could she admit to such a thing?

How would she face it?

Jason knew that Aletta was easily embarrassed and didn't want to annoy her, so he didn't continue further.

However, the upward curve of his mouth betrayed his mood.

His eyes gleamed with a smile as he suddenly crouched down and said, "Let me carry you back."

Aletta blinked as she looked at the broad back of the man in front of her.

Without any hesitation, she climbed on.

After all...

Whoever caused the trouble should take responsibility!

Why would she reject it?

Jason carried Aletta on his back and walked back to the villa.

When they pushed the door open, they coincidentally ran into Jock.

Jock moved out in the morning and realised she had left something behind. Hence, she took the opportunity of her free time to come and look for it.

Unexpectedly, she found her belongings just as she witnessed this scene.

She was momentarily stunned and then laughed,

“I knew it! They were already sickeningly sweet before they even met in person. After they get to know each other, it must be even worse! I was right!”

Being so clingy in broad daylight was really hard to watch!

Aletta smiled and quickly got off Jason's back, not wanting to further stir the unhappiness of a single person who is not in a relationship.

She changed the subject and looked at Jock, who rarely appeared without makeup but still had a strong natural beauty. "Did you just wake up, Jock?"

Jock nodded and couldn't help but yawn before replying, "Yes, I was busy until almost dawn last night. It was exhausting."

Aletta felt a little guilty seeing the tiredness on Jock's face.

The problem arose because of her, but in the end, they were the ones who helped with the aftermath.

Aletta immediately said, "You've worked hard. It's perfect timing. It's lunchtime now. Jock, stay here for lunch, and I'll call the rest to join us. I will make a few extra dishes for all of you."

Jock's spirits lifted, and she immediately agreed, "That sounds great!"

They had all eaten dishes made by Aletta before, and they love it!

Moreover, they had been so hectic recently, it was time to replenish themselves!

Aletta smiled and decided to make some delicacies the team loves.

She said, "I'll go prepare now."

Jason naturally followed the petite woman as she immediately headed towards the kitchen.

Jock felt puzzled and couldn't help but ask Eaton, who was next to her, "Why did Jason follow her to the kitchen?"

Eaton glanced at her and slowly replied, "Most likely... he's going to assist Ms. Rogers."

Jock widened her beautiful eyes and stared at the tall figure in astonishment. She was truly surprised.

That man seemed like a noble gentleman, someone who wouldn't even touch the spring water with his ten fingers. How could he be helping in the kitchen?

"Does he know how to do kitchen work?"

Jock couldn't help but doubt it.

Eaton smiled and said, "He didn't know before, but he knows now. Love changes people, and naturally, there's nothing they can't do."

Jock was speechless.

How can such a simple task seem so romantic on them?

In the kitchen.

Jason was helping with washing vegetables, while the head chef was assisting by chopping and preparing ingredients.

When they were almost done with the preparations, Jason went to wash a plate of strawberries.

Afterwards, he walked over to the busy woman and took one, offering it to her lips.

“Open your mouth.”

Aletta instinctively glanced over.

In Front of her were the clean fingertips of a man, holding the strawberry leaf with water droplets still clinging to it.

She looked, a mischievous glint flashed in her eyes, and she obediently responded,

“Okay.”

She bit into the strawberry, she intentionally nibbled on the fingertips holding it.

As she moved away, she playfully flicked her tongue against them, as if a little cat licking its food.

Jason suddenly paused, and the hand holding the bowl tightened slightly.

He stared at her with deep and complex emotions swirling in his eyes, emotions that remained unknown to others.

Aletta, on the other hand, had an innocent expression on her face, but there was clearly a hint of amusement in her eyes.

She had done it on purpose.

Jason's eyes flickered for a moment, but he didn't say anything. He turned away and carried the strawberries out.

Aletta watched his departing figure and felt a moment of confusion before inwardly complaining.

This doesn't work on him?

Is he really that hard to tease?

In the blink of an eye, an hour passed, and a sumptuous lunch was finally served on the table.

Gene, Kirk, and the others also arrived, and their appetites were whetted by the sight of the delicious spread.

During the meal, Gene constantly praised, "It's been so long since I've tasted your top-notch culinary skills. I've been looking forward to it for a while! Now I can finally enjoy it!"

Kirk didn't say much, but it was evident that his appetite had increased significantly.

Jason ate leisurely, almost the entire time picking up food for Aletta and urging her to eat more.

After lunch, Jock and the others left for the research room.

Aletta stood in the courtyard, aiding in digestion.

About half an hour later, Jason came over to urge her, "Let's go, it's time to go upstairs for a nap."

Aletta had no objections and followed him back to their room.

After all, it was important to replenish their energy and spirits!

However, to her surprise, as soon as they entered the room, Jason pulled her along and sat her on the couch.

She ended up practically straddling his lap.

“You...?”

Aletta was somewhat surprised and was about to inquire when she was captured by his scorching kiss.

The man seemed thirsty, as if he had been longing for this for a long time, passionately engulfing her.

Aletta was left breathless.

She could clearly sense that the man in front of her seemed to be losing control once again.

Unable to help herself, she pushed him away with a playful pout and said, “What are you doing? Weren’t you supposed to let me take a nap?”
