Medical Genius's Unspeakable Marriage

Chapter 291

Trying his best to suppress the raging fury inside him, Matthew questioned in a somber tone, "How's he now?"

"The ambulance has already brought him to the hospital but I have no idea of the specifics. I'm on my way to the hospital now," Tiger answered.

"Which hospital?"

"The hospital you're working at!"

Matthew hung up on him and rushed to the hospital without hesitation.

When he reached the place, he could see Tiger and some of his men standing outside the surgery room from afar.

"What's the situation now?" Matthew asked anxiously.

In a quivering voice, Tiger responded, "The little girl is fine because Julian protected her with his body when the accident happened, but his condition is somewhat critical. The doctors are still trying to rescue him..."

Without another word, Matthew pushed the door to the surgery room open and barged inside, where Mr. Harrison was busy carrying out the surgery.

There was no doubt Mr. Harrison was there to help out considering Julian was Matthew's friend.

Matthew observed Julian's condition and found that he was gravely injured. If it wasn't for Mr. Harrison, he might have already passed away.

However, at least he was still alive now, which meant there was still hope to bring him back.

After letting out a sigh to clear his head, Matthew immediately got to work and helped stabilize Julian's injury himself.

Together with Mr. Harrison, the two soon got Julian through the critical stage.

Matthew then took out a mini Rejuvenating Pill he had prepared recently and fed Julian with it.

Because of the accident, all the organs in Julian's body had been injured. The mini Rejuvenating Pill could nourish his organs and help him with a speedy recovery.

After Matthew cleaned up, he walked out of the surgery room.

Matthew was dumbfounded because he did not ask Sasha to take out a 200 million loan at all.

"Mom, what're you talking about? When did she take out the loan?" he asked anxiously.

"I can't believe you're still trying to play dumb! I-I must teach you a lesson..." Helen squealed and lifted one of her arms in an attempt to slap Matthew.

Matthew quickly dodged her attack and beseeched, "Mom, calm down and talk to me! What's going on?"

Helen did not stop pouncing on Matthew as she growled, "Stop right there! You'd better stop right there now! Only one of us will survive today! Stop him from moving about!"

Liam immediately scurried over and stretched out both arms to stop Matthew from moving around.

With a sly smile on his face, he couldn't wait to see Matthew being beaten up by Helen.

Matthew dared not get physical with Helen but he didn't need to be careful with Liam.

He knocked his body against Liam's by pretending to stumble, causing Liam to collapse onto the floor and blood to gush out of his head.

Demi immediately helped Liam to his feet before she let out a squeal in fury, "Matthew, how dare you hurt my husband? I'm going to kill you!"

With that, she grabbed a glass from the table and advanced upon Matthew.

Matthew was stunned. Didn't the company still own over a billion of cash in its account?

Although there was a group of customers who cancelled their orders, their refunds would only be processed a fortnight later according to rules.

Therefore, Matthew was sure the company still had a billion in its account.

"Mom, I really needed money for an investment and the company had enough cash for that. Why did she need to take out a loan?" Matthew asked curiously.

James roared angrily at him, "That's bullsh*t! It seems like you really have no idea of the current condition of the company, huh? Do you know that the orders worth 3 billion the company had prior to this have all been cancelled?

Those big shots forced us to refund their deposit early, so the company only has over one million in its account right now. So tell me, where the hell did Sasha get 200 million?"

Matthew was confused as to why he was not informed about this.

"When did it happen? When did those people ask to cancel their orders? A lot of them come from other states so they don't have to follow the instructions from the Pharmaceutical Union. Why would they want to cancel their orders?"

In the midst of the heated discussion, Sasha suddenly pushed the door open and walked in.

Helen was surprised to see her. "Sasha, why are you here?"

Sasha confronted them through gritted teeth, "Dad! Mom! What on earth are you guys trying to do?! Can you guys please just stop meddling in the business of the company?"

I'm the president of the company and I have the complete say in deciding how it is going to develop and how to invest its profits. What exactly are you guys trying to do by making unwanted comments on how I deal with the funds of the company?!" Sasha's voice trembled out of fury.

James and Helen looked grim in an instant.

"Sasha, how could you say something like that? What do you mean by unwanted comments? Everything we've done is all for your good as well as the company's.

Do you solely own the company? It belongs to our family! Of course your mother and I have to keep an eye on the company's development as well as the investment it's involved in!" James chided.

Sasha refuted him anxiously, "Since when does the company belong to our family? The company consists of the board as well as the shareholders, which means it actually belongs to all shareholders!"

Helen scoffed, "He worked hard? Yes, you're right, he's been working quite hard to get people to give him money.

While he is depending on us for a living, he is eyeing Leanna Sandel as another source of income at the same time. I've never come across such a shameless man in my whole life!"

Demi taunted as well, "Sasha, I'm not being mean to you but to be honest, you're the only one who has been fooled by him. You may ask anyone outside whether they believe a useless kept man is capable of having a successful career.

It's so obvious that he's just trying to con the money out of you instead of building a career. After getting all he can get from you, he will then move on to Leanna Sandel because you are no longer worth anything to him!"

What she said started a commotion among the onlookers immediately and many of them started eyeing Matthew with contempt.

Matthew frowned in annoyance. Whenever they humiliated him at home, he would always try to put up with it for Sasha's sake.

However, they had brought it too far by coming to the hospital to humiliate him in front of so many outsiders.

He cast an icy glimpse at Demi and warned, "Demi, you're no longer a kid now and you have to be responsible for the things you say. The remark you made just now was a serious slander to not only me, but President Sandel too. If she wants to hold you accountable, you won't be able to get off the hook!"

Looking affronted, Casey complained, “Mr. Larson, I really can’t stand it anymore. I transferred you to this department because I thought you were a superb doctor who would be able to strengthen and expand this newly-established department of the hospital.

But I really can’t see what they are trying to do by repeatedly accusing me of bribery. They are bringing this too far by throwing mud at me all the damn time. Is it because they think I am a pushover?

There’s a limit to one’s tolerance no matter how good-tempered one is! If I can’t clear my name today, how am I going to continue my career here?”

Helen sneered, “Hmph, you phrased it so well. Did you just say Matthew was a superb doctor? What does he know about medicine? You only said so because you wanted to cover up the fact that you took a bribe from us! Bah, if he were a superb doctor, I would be the reincarnation of Hippocrates!

Now, I finally realize that all of you working at the hospital are just a bunch of shameless people. You guys are capable of spinning the story as long as it suits your purpose!”

Her comment sent the crowd outside into an uproar at once because many of them were offended and everyone was annoyed.

Casey went livid with rage because of her comment. “Y-You claimed that I took the bribe, didn’t you? Very well, do you have proof? Without proof, what you said is a slanderous remark!”

Helen yelled like a mad woman, “That wasn’t a slanderous remark! Fine, you want to argue your way out of this, don’t you? Great, let us make a pledge to God now.

Point your fingers toward the sky and pledge that you didn’t take the money. If you did take the money, all your family members will die! Come on, make the pledge now!”

Casey was so angry that his face reddened. “Do you think I’m scared? I can make the pledge but you must repeat that slanderous remark you just made. I will record it and call the police in case you refuse to admit it later on!”

Exasperated, Helen demanded, “Liam, you tell him! Ask him loudly and clearly whether he took your money or not! Then, describe how you offered the money to him, how he accepted it and how he got the job done! Spare no details and tell everyone!”

Matthew was deeply touched by Sasha.

In fact, at the time he told her about the investment, not only did she agree to contribute without even asking him for the details of the investment, but she even took out a loan for him.

Could anyone else trust him so unconditionally like her?

“Sasha, thank you! Don’t worry, I won’t let you down!” Matthew promised sincerely.

Sasha chuckled bemusedly and said to him, “When have you ever let me down? Well, I have no time to talk to you now as I am up to my neck at the moment.

If Dad and Mom visit you again, just ignore them or you can just get the security officers to haul them away if they become too much of a nuisance. I will try to talk some sense into them if they get unhappy. Don’t just allow them to bully you!”

After smoothing out the creases on Matthew’s shirt, Sasha turned around and left.

Watching her back as she walked away, Matthew clenched his fists tightly.

After leaving the hospital, Sasha headed straight to Cunningham Pharmaceuticals, which was in a turmoil at the moment.

As soon as she stepped into her room, she saw her parents as well as her sister sitting inside.

She nearly broke down at the sight of them.

Did they come here right after they fled from the hospital?

“Dad, Mom, let’s talk about whatever issues you guys are having when I get back home later! My plate is full right now and I have no time to squabble with you guys!” Sasha snapped.

Looking affronted, James smacked the table and bellowed angrily, “Sasha, watch your words. Who is having a squabble with you?”

could you phrase it that way? Are we having a squabble with you? We are trying to talk some sense into you for your own good! Can you please just listen to what we say? Will your parents try to harm you? Why do you only listen to an outsider and see us as villains? Do you know that good

James and Helen quickly rose to their feet. There was a need for them to maintain their image in front of the rest of the Cunninghams because they had once been badly bullied by them.

James chided through gritted teeth, “Charlie Cunningham, what are you doing here? Where’re the security officers? Aren’t you guys prohibited from coming here without our permission?”

Eric stepped forward from somewhere behind Charlie and scoffed, “James, I see you’ve developed a temper since we last met each other several days ago!

Are you the king father of this company because your daughter is the president? How dare you meddle with the company’s development without first reflecting on your own capabilities?”

With his face reddened, James snapped back through gritted teeth, “Dad, I’m different from you. I am not the king father, and neither do I meddle with the business of the company. However, Sasha is the one who is managing the company now and I don’t think she’s too happy to see you guys here!”

Eric jeered, “Ha, she has no say in this because today, I’m not here alone. All the shareholders of the company are here. Are you going to chase them all out of the company?”

Looking alarmed, it was only then did James notice there was a crowd standing outside the door and they were made up of the shareholders of the company.

How did Eric manage to summon all the shareholders here? What exactly was he trying to do? At that juncture, those shareholders strode into the room.

“She put up all the shares of our company as collateral and gave the money to Matthew. What are we going to do if they run away with the huge sum of money later on?”

“Exactly. When the time comes for the bank to ask for loan repayment, we will have no choice but to sell off the company to pay for it. How much will our shares still be worth by the time it happens?”

“I’ve never really expected something like this to happen. The way she does things is so harsh and aggressive despite her good looks. She’s a femme fatale! She must be!”

Sasha quickly clarified, “Everyone, you have misunderstood me. I offered the investment to Matthew because I saw potential in his project.

As long as Matthew’s project succeeds, our company will get back onto the right track. On top of that, I only put up my own shares as collateral and all of you here won’t be implicated!”

Charile sneered, “Sasha Cunningham, stop trying to play dumb with us! Do you think this only concerns you even though you only put up your shares? In fact, the entire company will be affected!
