Medical Genius's Unspeakable Marriage

Chapter 61

Demi suddenly said, "Sasha, just accept the flowers. It's just Young Master Cooper's small wish. You're not going to leave him hanging, are you?"

James joined in, "She's right. Young Master Cooper is your childhood sweetheart so there's nothing wrong with accepting his flowers."

Helen added, "Sasha, don't be rude. Just accept the flowers!"

Sasha's face turned red. How could I accept these flowers?

Just then, a hand appeared out of nowhere and took the bouquet of flowers from Francis's hands. It was Matthew.

"Young Master Cooper, you come from a wealthy family so you should know politeness and ethics. Yet, you're giving flowers to a married woman. Are all members of the Cooper family this shameless?" Matthew said with a chuckle.

The expression of everyone in the room changed. James angrily slammed his fist on the table and roared, "Matthew, what are you talking about? How could you insult Young Master Cooper like that?"

Helen joined in and yelled, "Hurry up and apologize to Young Master Cooper!"

Sasha looked distressed because she knew the price she had to pay after borrowing money from Francis, and she couldn't accept it.

"Young Master Cooper, thank you for your offer but I don't need money right now!"

Matthew immediately felt a warm feeling in his heart, and he was happy Sasha said that.

"Sasha!" James roared. "Do you not know the situation you're in right now? What do you mean, you don't need money?! The company's bank account is already frozen, yet you say you don't need it!"

“Matthew!” Helen was infuriated. “You said that the company’s bank account can be unfrozen. Tell me, how are you planning to do that?”

Matthew replied, “The person in charge of this is a manager called Bart. We’ll invite him to join us for lunch tomorrow and the problem will be solved.”

James and Helen were immediately disappointed. “Nonsense. If it could be solved so easily, we would have done it! Bart is obviously targeting us. Do you really think that having a meal with him will solve the problem?”

Demi glared at Matthew with deep hatred. “Matthew, let me explain it to you simply. Bart is doing this because he wants Sasha, but you’re asking her to treat him to a meal? Are you planning to let Sasha sleep with him?”

James was furious as well. “Matthew, you really are a worthless loser! You just pushed Sasha into a fire pit!”

Helen joined in, “Young Master Cooper was kind enough to lend money to Sasha without any conditions but you rejected him. Instead, you’re asking Sasha to treat an old man with bad intentions to a meal. Matthew, I believe that no loser is as worthless as you are!”

Demi yelled, “He just hates to see us happy!”

“What?” Sasha was dumbfounded. She wondered why her parents suddenly became so confident after coming back from their walk.

James said, "One more thing. From tomorrow onward, Liam will be your personal secretary and driver!"

"No!" Sasha instantly refused.

"You have to agree no matter what!" Helen said angrily. "Sasha, Liam is thoughtful and detailed and he's part of our family. We feel rest assured with him staying by your side to help. How could you manage such a big company by yourself?"

Sasha was infuriated. "I've already told you no. If he must come to the company, I'll sell the company tomorrow!"

"You..." Helen was stunned as she never thought Sasha would resist so strongly. "Enough. It's just a small matter," James said as he waved his hand. "Will you agree to give Liam some company projects?"

Hearing this, Sasha turned to look at Matthew. After seeing that he didn't object, she let out a sigh of relief and said, "Only small projects."

James and Helen both walked up to the entrance of Crowne Plaza at noon.

"Do you think Mr. Jones is reliable?" Helen said softly. "He said that he'll handle the problem for us. Is that possible?"

Mr. Jones was the big shot that Liam introduced to them the night before.

James told Mr. Jones about the company's frozen bank account last night and he agreed to help him handle it.

However, James was still worried. "Let's just wait and see. Besides, we have nothing to lose. It'll be great if he can help us solve the problem. If he can't, at least Sasha will give up hope and ask Young Master Cooper for help!"

Helen nodded and said, "You're right. Solving the company's problem is not the key to the meeting. The most important thing is to make Sasha give up hope! In my opinion, Young Master Cooper is the best partner for Sasha. After all, he is worth several hundred millions and he is from a powerful family. If Sasha marries him, her business will be much smoother. When that happens, we would be able to be one of the wealthy families in Eastcliff that Eric Cunningham and the others wouldn't be able to compare."

It was past 12pm but Bart still hadn't arrived yet.

"Matthew, did you manage to invite Mr. Jenkins?" Helen couldn't help but ask angrily.

Matthew hurriedly replied, "Yes, I did. He told me that he would come."

Helen glared at him and yelled, "Don't ruin this meeting! If something goes wrong, I'll never forgive you."

It was after 12.30pm when the door was suddenly kicked open. Then, Bart, who was dressed in a suit, strode in.

"F*ck! You people invited me to lunch but didn't even greet me at the entrance. If you're so insincere, why the hell did you even invite me?!"

Bart started cursing as soon as he entered the room.

Hearing this, James hurriedly got up and said, "Mr. Jenkins, we're really sorry that we neglected this. Please forgive us. Come, take a seat!"

For the whole course of the meal, they didn't talk much about the frozen account. To be exact, Bart was trembling so hard, he didn't even say much.

James and Helen kept finding opportunities to discuss the frozen bank account with Bart but he wasn't speaking, so they didn't know what to do.

As for Mr. Graham, he only spoke to Matthew since the beginning and ignored Bart. Seeing this, James and Helen were furious. At first, they thought that since Mr. Graham was friends with Bart, he would be able to help solve the problem.

However, in the end, he didn't say a word to Bart. What's the point of this lunch meeting?

After they finished lunch, Old Mrs. Graham held Sasha's hand and smiled as she said, "This lady is really pretty. Matthew, you have a beautiful wife!"

Matthew chuckled happily and Sasha blushed. "Old Mrs. Graham, you're too kind!"

With a calm expression, Matthew said, "Helen, don't worry. The problem has been settled and the bank account will be unfrozen soon."

Helen shot daggers at Matthew and replied, "Matthew, are you so skilled at lying that you don't even have to think before you speak anymore? Well then, let's see whether the account will be unfrozen today! I'm warning you in advance. If the bank account isn't unfrozen by the end of the day, you better be prepared to divorce Sasha!"

"Mom!" Sasha was starting to get anxious. "What are you talking about? I will never divorce Matthew!"

Helen glared at her and asked, "You don't want to get a divorce? Well then, ask him to unfreeze the bank account. As long as you can prove that he is not lying, I won't force you to have a divorce!"

Sasha turned to look at Matthew and saw that Matthew was calm, as if he was confident that everything would go well. Helen and James glared at him again before they strode away angrily. As soon as they arrived at the entrance of the company building, they saw Bart wandering around in a distance.

"Mr. Jenkins, why are you here?" Helen hurriedly went up to him and greeted him. "You should have

Not long after Bart returned to his office at the bank, Francis walked in.

"Uncle, how did it go?" Francis asked with a look of anticipation on his face. "Did Matthew kneel before you?"

Hearing this, Bart directly grabbed a file from the table and threw it at Francis.

"B*stard! F*ck you!" Bart cursed. "Francis, are you trying to ruin me?"

"What's wrong?" Francis was at a loss.

Bart was furious. "What happened?! Do you know who Matthew invited to the lunch meeting today?"

Curious, Francis asked, "Who did he invite?"

Bart took a deep breath before he gritted his teeth and yelled, "Patrick Graham!"

All of a sudden, Sasha asked, "By the way, how did you meet Mr. Graham?"

Matthew couldn't think of an answer because he couldn't tell Sasha about his matter. He knew that letting Sasha know about his secrets might not be a good thing. Instead, it might even cause her trouble.

Sasha lowered her voice and said, "Matthew, I don't know how you met Mr. Graham, but I hope that you will stop troubling Mr. Newman!"

"Sasha, I didn't trouble Mr. Newman!" Matthew softly said. "I met Mr. Graham because of an accident. I did him a great favor and they are very grateful to me."

Sasha asked, "What did you help them with?"

"Erm..." Matthew whispered, "Old Mrs. Graham almost got hit by a car and I pulled her away just in time..."

"Oh I see!" Sasha replied before she burst into laughter and said, "Matthew, I didn't know that you were such a kind and nice person!"

Matthew smiled. "Of course. Your husband has a lot of great virtues!"
