

Falling For The Girl I Bullied Chapter 41 - Tips

Dustin's P.O.V.

No one was so close to Violet as I was at that night when I jumped over her in fear due to those stupid kids' pranks. They scared sh!t out of me that night. I didn't know why they were still her favourite kids. They were really scary and untrustworthy. She held me tightly in her embrace on her lap. I was so ashamed but later I realized how soft she was. She was also scared but still tried to comfort me. She was so caring and I cursed myself for being a j.erk earlier to her. We always bullied her because she was too naïve to refute. I couldn't deny that we have also been protective towards her since middle school. We never let any other boy in the school take advantage of her innocent character. She was my favourite girl and I wanted to know her and that I would always be there to help her by any means in the future too.

I wanted to see her, so I asked Noah to accompany me to her workplace. I promised him to treat him there and he also promised me that he would not tell the rest of them about this. I knew my friends very well. They would tease me to death and I didn't want to build up my hope so soon because I was not sure what she thought about me. I was hell annoyed by Noah when he started asking her about the other girl. The girl, Jenny, was also a beautiful girl but she was older than us and I can also say that she was smarter than Violet in other aspects. She didn't fl!rt with Noah directly but passed a few glances to him with shy smiles. I was surprised to see Violet's reaction there. She confronted that girl a few times here and there trying not to be noticed but I noticed because I was continuously looking at her.

Noah chatted about that girl with Violet the whole ride. I scolded Noah and gave him a look to keep his mouth shut when I noticed that Violet was somehow uncomfortable with his confrontation. I was glad that Noah understood and immediately changed the topic to the game. He asked her some basic rules of the game and she answered him confidently in a gentle tone. Noah asked her why she left the volleyball team in middle school. She didn't answer him and looked outside the window. Noah and I looked at each other and we didn't have to be genius to understand what would happen to her earlier in middle school.

After leaving her home, I scolded Noah for spoiling my evening. It was supposed to be me trying to know more about her but Noah ruined my chance here. He smiled sheepishly at me and apologized but it couldn't bring that chance back to me. I was so angry with him that I didn't talk with him for the rest of the ride to his home. I wanted to know her. I wanted to know what her hobbies were. What did she do in her spare time? What did she want to do in the future? What college did she want to attend? There were so many questions about her in my mind and I had no clue when would I get the answers to them. Only she could answer me but we had created a thick wall in between us which couldn't be easy to break down.

"You are still thinking about her, huh?" Noah mocked me in a teasing tone in a hushed voice when I missed the pass once again. I was glad that he had digested everything that he knew about my feelings for her. "No... it's just I am in no mood to play right now", I made an excuse while refusing to accept his accusation. "Do you know Kyle and Ethan were with her the whole weekend?" he suddenly told me something that I really didn't know and I raised my brows at him in suspicion. "Ethan has finished his biology assignment which surprised me. I asked him how did he manage to finish the assignment and he told me that he got help from Violet as he tagged along with Kyle to her house and they spent the whole weekend finishing their assignments with her", he told me the whole story and I pursed my lips into a thin line.

"This is good, isn't it", I said in a low tone and he raised his brow at me. "You are not jealous?" he asked me while jerking his head a little in surprise. I shrugged my shoulders as if it was not a big deal, but I was clearly jealous. I understood why Kyle was there because he was her partner but Ethan should be there. Why did he tag himself along with Kyle? "Break is over... let's go", Noah pulled me out of my thoughts and we both stood up from the bench where we were sitting right now while drinking water. I looked around and found that both Violet and Ethan were not around.

"Hey, Kyle", I yelled, calling Kyle who was sitting on the next bench a little far from us talking with another member of our team. He looked at me questioningly. "Where is Ethan?" I asked him once again, yelling aloud. He looked around and I saw him narrowing his eyes. He immediately picked up his phone from the bench and dialled a number. I was sure that he was calling Ethan. Suddenly he stood up and ran towards the main building. His reaction startled me and I looked at Noah who also had the same reaction. Without thinking anything else, we all stood up and ran behind him. It was not only me and Noah but the whole team.

“Kyle... wait... what happened?” I heard Justin yelling at Kyle while running towards us. Kyle didn’t stop and in a minute we were in the corridor where our lockers were. “Call Mr Stammers”, I immediately asked Noah when I saw what was going on there. “You fvcking b****rd... how dare you to touch him?” Kyle roared at the top of his lungs while prancing over David who was startled by our presence there. My anger was at the top of everything and I punched the other guy standing beside David. Within a second, there was chaos in the corridor as both teams were now quarrelling with each other.

All I saw was Ethan and Violet fighting with the football team. Ethan was bruised so did Violet but they were struggling hard. “How dare you? How dare you?” I heard Kyle once again roaring in anger. I knew one thing now which was that David would not be able to play his next game any time soon. “What’s going on here?” Suddenly, we all stopped when we heard Mr Stammers roaring in anger. I also stopped and stood up from that boy’s body. Mr Stammers walked towards Kyle directly. “What happened, Kyle?” he asked him in a stern cold tone.

“All I saw was that they were beating Ethan and Violet here”, Kyle replied to him immediately in a venomous voice and shot daggers at David through his eyes. “What?” Mr Stammers yelled immediately and looked around. “O my..... Violet”, he gasped in shock, and immediately walked towards Ethan when Violet came out of Ethan’s back. She was holding his hand tightly while shaking in fear. Mr Stammers immediately cupped her face and started inspecting her face. Tears started falling from her eyes and I balled up my fists in anger once again. “Who did this to her? Who did this?” Mr Stammers roared once again and confronted David who was now scared to death.

David didn’t say anything but lowered his head which fumed Mr Stammers’ anger more. “You are done this time”, he threatened him and then looked back at Violet with concern once again. “I am really sir, kiddo. I couldn’t keep my promise of keeping you safe”, he said to her in an apologetic tone. “Why you two are here in the first place?” Mr Stammers then asked Ethan in a calm tone, still holding Violet by her shoulder. “She is helping me with my a.ssignment. I finished my a.ssignment but wanted her to check it once before I submit it to the teacher tomorrow. That’s why I requested her to come with me here so that I could show her my a.ssignment. She was checking the a.ssignment when they suddenly surrounded us and David was the first who tried to hit her when I shielded her”, Ethan told him everything honestly and shot daggers at David through his eyes in the end.

I wanted to strangle David and his team right now but we couldn't do anything in front of Mr Stammers. Everyone present from our team was looking angry right now. "Take them to my office and called the nurse from the infirmary to treat them. Also, informed Mrs Stone to come to my office", he instructed me while pointing towards Ethan, Violet and Kyle in a calm tone and then looked at David. "Wait for me with your team in the infirmary. I will talk to you there", he said to him in a pissed tone and then signalled them to follow him. He signalled Kyle to take care of Violet who was still trembling hard. Kyle immediately walked to Violet and pulled her in his embrace protectively. I was surprised to see his reaction.

"Hey, Kyle", I yelled, calling Kyle who was sitting on the next bench a little far from us talking with another member of our team. He looked at me questioningly. "Where is Ethan?" I asked him once again, yelling aloud. He looked around and I saw him narrowing his eyes. He immediately picked up his phone from the bench and dialled a number. I was sure that he was calling Ethan. Suddenly he stood up and ran towards the main building. His reaction startled me and I looked at Noah who also had the same reaction. Without thinking anything else, we all stood up and ran behind him. It was not only me and Noah but the whole team.

"Let's go", he said to us and then walked with Violet at a slow pace. "You are safe now, princess", Ethan comforted Violet in a low tone. "I... I am sorry... y.. you g... got all the injuries due to me", she apologized to him immediately in a low tone. Her head was low but I could say that she still had tears in her eyes. "No need to be sorry, princess. This was what I should do and I can say that all of us would do the same to save you", he replied to her in an encouraging tone and looked at me to say something here. "He is right, Violet. There is no way that any of us can allow someone to hurt you". I also comforted her.

She was still looking down. I looked at Ethan helplessly. He really got some bad hits. Kyle didn't say anything here. He was looking so pissed right now. I knew that everyone knew the reason why David and his team attacked Violet. Sia was behind this attack because only she had the power to manipulate David. We reached Mr Stammers' office in silence. I asked someone from our team to call Mrs Stone. Kyle made her sit on one of the chairs inside the office. He was about to release her from his embrace when she held his hand tightly. "None of us is going to leave you alone. But you have to file a complaint against them. You have to be brave now", Kyle comforted her in a gentle tone but asked her in a firm tone.

This time, she looked up and the tears in her eyes were enough to break my heart into millions of pieces. “Nothing will happen if I complain. They will escape easily”, she answered him in a painful voice and all of us jerked our heads in confusion. “What?” Kyle asked her in confusion. I was also confused but I think we all had an idea of what she was talking about here. “Not when I am involved, princess. I don’t want to look into the past but I couldn’t let this slide. Ten boys tried to hurt you in front of me and this is not tolerable for me”, Ethan said in a stern tone and I nodded, agreeing with him here.

“What the hell happened here?” We all looked in the direction of the door when we heard Mrs Stone’s shocked tone. She was startled to see Ethan and then her gaze fell on Violet and her eyes widened in shock. “Violet... O My”, she immediately ran towards her. Violet was still holding Kyle’s hand as if she didn’t want to feel alone. “Th... the fo... ootball team... They attacked me and Ethan near the lockers, Mrs Stone”, Violet answered her while stammering a little. At the same time, the nurse with a medical kit entered the room. She was also startled to see Ethan and Violet. Mrs Stone took a deep breath and then looked at Ethan with gratitude. “Thanks, Ethan for saving her”, she said to him in a thankful tone.

“Thanks to her, Mrs Stone. She was scared still she fought with me and saved me from a few punches too. She didn’t hesitate from kicking and punching them in order to save herself from getting more injuries”, Ethan praised her without any hesitation and a small smile crept onto my lips. We had seen her trembling in fear, but what Ethan told us was something that we could never imagine. “She is brave but never shows”, Mrs Stone also praised her and stepped aside when the nurse went to Violet. Violet refused to let go of Kyle’s hand when the nurse asked him to step aside too. “It’s okay... we are all here”, he comforted her once again and she reluctantly let his hand go. Kyle came near to me and I could see anger in his eyes. “Call for an emergency meeting at your place”, he instructed me, and I nodded immediately. There was no way that we would let David and his team go easily. Especially not in this condition when Ethan was involved.

Kyle’s P.O.V.

“I don’t need to tell you who is the main culprit behind this incident, Kyle”, Mr Stammers said in a calm tone, but he sounded pissed. Mrs Stone was also sitting with us in his room. “I already had this idea, sir when I saw David and his team there”, I answered him truthfully in a calm tone. He took a deep breath and rubbed my temple. “I only want to ask you not to do anything for the time being. David and his team will play their last game this Sunday. I can’t make a new team immediately. After that match, they will all get their suspension letters from the principal”, he told me and I just nodded.

“What do you want me to do, sir?” I asked him to ensure what he really wanted when he asked me to stay calm. He took a deep breath once again and then looked at Mrs Stone. “We know that Ethan is your best friend or, should I say, like a brother. You are pissed and you should be. Let us take care of this matter and not involve yourself in this case. I am sure that David will blurt out her name soon because we already have enough evidence to prove that he attacked on his own will”, she told me briefly and cleared what Mr Stammers wanted me to do.

“What about Violet then?” I asked her and she narrowed her eyes in confusion. “Of course she will get justice too. It’s not like we don’t know her being bullied by you guys but you never hurt her or tried to harm her. That’s why we didn’t take any action against you guys. But what David did is not tolerable. He has no right to attack a girl on the school premises. Whether belong to a rich family or not, any action like this against a girl is not tolerable”. She was firm in her voice. I just nodded to her and looked back at Mr Stammers.

“Take both of them to the hospital. The nurse said that Violet got some injuries to her ribs as she saw some purple bruises on her lower ribs”, Mrs Stone asked to me in a low tone. I jerked my head in shock at her revelation. “What?” I almost yelled and she took a deep breath. I felt that she winced in pain a few times when she was in my embrace, but didn’t think that that was so severe. “Give her a full body check-up and give her a copy of all her reports. It will help us to strengthen our decision against David”, she instructed me and I nodded. “I guess I should leave now so that I can take them to the hospital”, I said to them and Mr Stammers signalled me to go now.

I didn’t waste a second and almost ran towards the parking area. Ethan and Violet along with the whole team were waiting there for me as Mr Stammers asked me to stay back after the nurse left the office after treating them with first aid. I called Ethan when Dustin asked me about his whereabouts. I didn’t know how Ethan took the call while defending both himself and Violet, but I heard Violet yelling the lockers over the call and I also heard Ethan yelling at someone angrily. I ran towards the lockers in fear. My anger hit the top when I saw Ethan and Violet struggling hard to save themselves from David and his gang. They were ten in number and were attacking at them mercilessly while laughing at them.

After that, everything was a mess as our team was also behind me and they all at once attacked them taking them off guard. After Mr Stammers' interruption, Violet didn't let me go as she was holding the side of my shirt tightly while walking with me towards Mr Stammers' room. I could feel her body trembling hard and I couldn't blame her for that. She was surrounded by ten tall and strong boys. Any girl would fear for her life and dignity in this condition. "Thank god, Kyle, you are here. I was about to call you", Dustin almost ran towards me while saying something in a fearful voice.

"What happened?" I asked him but didn't stop and walked towards Ethan's car. "Violet... she fainted," he told me once again in a fearful voice. I immediately ran towards Ethan's car. My heart skipped a beat when I saw her lying on the floor. Noah was holding her upper body in his embrace while trying to wake her up. I immediately sat down near them and looked at Noah. He was looking pale and scared. I didn't say anything and took my phone out of my pocket. "Pull her up and lay down on the back", I instructed him while dialling Mrs Stone's number. We needed a female with us right now.

"I... am sorry... I can't", Noah stammered hard in fear and I looked at him in confusion. "She is severely injured, bro... and I .. I ... don't want to hurt her more", he told me truthfully the reason for his refusal. "Mrs Stone.... Violet has fainted now... please come quickly into the parking area. We are taking her to the hospital, but I guess we need you with us in the hospital", I explained to her the situation briefly and pressed the phone between my ear and my shoulder. "Take her to the hospital now. We are right behind you", she immediately instructed me.

"Okay", I said to her while scooting Violet into my embrace in bridal style. I signalled Noah to take my phone and stood up while securing Violet in my embrace. "She is badly hurt, isn't she?" Noah asked me and I just nodded in response. "Where is Ethan?" I asked him when he opened the back door of Ethan's car. "He is also badly injured and is lying in the back of my car", Noah told me about Ethan in a painful voice. I pursed my lips into a thin line. I lay Violet down at the back of Ethan's car and closed the door. I then walked towards his car. "Ethan... are you alright?" I immediately asked him in a worried tone.

"No... no, bro... it's hurting a lot... call mom and ask her to come to the hospital too", he told me about his situation in a painful tone and asked me to call his mom. "Okay... I am driving Violet in your car. We are going to the hospital now", I told him, and then looked at Noah. "Dustin is coming with me. You take Justin with you and ask everyone if someone else has got any serious injury. Ask them to drive to the hospital too", I instructed Noah and then looked at Dustin. He was also looking pale in concern. "Come with me", I asked him and then walked towards Ethan's car once again.

"Sit down in the back and secure her body not to fall", I instructed him while opening the door of driver's side. He nodded and opened the back door. We both hopped inside the car and I ignited the engine immediately. I fastened the seat belt and then drove out of the parking area. "Is she alright?" Dustin asked me in a worried tone. "Mrs Stone told me that she got some serious injuries on her lower ribs. She asked me to take her to the hospital immediately", I told him her condition truthfully. I heard him gasping in shock but I couldn't blame him. I was also shocked when I heard Mrs Stone.

I called Ethan's mother during the drive. "Mom... it's me.. Kyle", I told her when she picked up the call. "Yes, Kyle... what happened?" she asked me in a gentle tone. "Uhhh... you have to come to the hospital now", I asked her in a low tone. "Hospital??? Are you okay? What happened?" she bombarded the questions immediately in a hurried tone. "I am okay, mom... it's Ethan and ... a girl from our classes. They are badly injured and we are taking them to the hospital", I immediately told her the situation. "O my... I will be there as soon as possible. Just take care of them", she said and hung up immediately.

"Kyle", I heard Dustin calling me in a panicked tone. "What happened?" I asked him immediately. "She is wincing from time to time", he answered me and I looked at him through the rear mirror. It seemed that he was about to cry now. "Hold her in your embrace, but be cautious around her ribs. She is scared... try to comfort her", I instructed him in a calm tone. I saw him pulling her gently into his lap. I could see that he was scared to death right now. I heard Violet wincing aloud this time and my hold on the wheel tightened immediately. What happened with her and Ethan today was really not tolerable. We all knew about Mr Stammers and Mr Bishop's friendship. I guess it was time to ask Mr Stammers to talk with Mr Bishop now.

We reached the hospital and I immediately came out of the driver's seat immediately. I cautiously pulled Violet into my embrace from Dustin's lap. He also came out of the car from the other side and then closed the car. I didn't wait for him and almost ran towards the emergency entry with Violet in my embrace in bridal style. "Please call a doctor here. She is injured and has fainted", I requested yelling at a security guard who was coming towards me. He immediately ran inside in front of me. "Put her down gently here", he instructed me when he brought a stretcher. I followed his instructions and put her down on the stretcher gently.

"I... am sorry... I can't", Noah stammered hard in fear and I looked at him in confusion. "She is severely injured, bro... and I .. I ... don't want to hurt her more", he told me truthfully the reason for his refusal. "Mrs Stone.... Violet has fainted now... please come quickly into the parking area. We are taking her to the hospital, but I guess we need you with us in the hospital", I explained to her the situation briefly and pressed the phone between my ear and my shoulder. "Take her to the hospital now. We are right behind you", she immediately instructed me.

I saw Justin and Noah bringing Ethan inside. Ethan was also not looking good right now. He was completely drenched in sweat and his whole face was covered in pain. A nurse came to attend to Violet at the same time. "Please call someone to help him too. They are both injured at the same time", I requested the nurse while pointing towards Ethan. She looked at Ethan and then called someone immediately. The security guard helped Ethan to lay down on the other stretcher. "I am alright... pl.. please st.. ay with her", Ethan asked me when he saw me coming towards him. I stopped and looked back at Violet who was still unconscious. My mind was a mess as the situation was really tough.

They took both of them inside the emergency room and asked us to stay outside the room. "Where are they?" I looked back when I heard Mrs Stone's worried voice. "They took them inside the room. Please go inside and explain the situation to them", I told her their whereabouts and also requested her at the same time. She nodded and then walked towards the room where they took them. Mr Stammers stopped near me. He didn't say anything but he looked pissed and worried at the same time. "You need to talk with Mr Bishop now", I whispered to him and he looked at me with wide eyes in surprise. I didn't say anything to him more but looked at the closed door in front of me. He knew what I asked him.

"Kyle", I looked back once again when I heard Ethan's mother's voice. I immediately walked towards her. She immediately held my hand in fear. "Where is he?" she immediately asked me in a worried tone. "They took them inside that room", I told her in a calm tone. "How about that girl?" she asked me in a worried tone again. "She got some serious injuries and is now unconscious”, I didn’t hide anything from her and told her Violet’s condition truthfully. “What exactly happened, Kyle?” she asked me and looked at Mr Stammers who was now standing beside me. I told her everything truthfully including what Kyle told me.

“Is that true, Mr Stammers?” she asked him in a stern tone. He took a deep breath and looked at her helplessly. “I will not hide anything from you, Mrs Parker. Unfortunately what Kyle told you is completely true. I have seen the footage and already complained to our principal about the incident. I assure you that the boys who attacked them will get the punishment they deserve”, he said to her and tried to ensure her. She furiously shook her head in anger. “I don’t care what you told your principal, Mr Stammers. I am calling an emergency meeting of the disciplinary committee. How dare those boys to attack two students inside the school premises? I want their names. There is no way that I will let it slide when it includes a girl too”, she asked him in a stern voice, and I smiled internally. She could be scary whenever she wanted.

Mr Stammers nodded to her in defeat and then she looked back at me. “Who is this girl, Kyle and what was she doing after school there?” she asked me in a calm tone. “She actually worked as team assistant with our team. So she has to stay back after school the all time we practice. She is also the one who is helping Ethan with his a.ssignments”, I told her everything about Violet to her truthfully. “Is that so?” she asked Mr Stammers to confirm what I said. He pursed his lips and nodded to confirm what I said. “I guess she is the same girl who is an orphan and is on a full scholarship, right?” she asked him in a calm tone and Mr Stammers nodded once again. She didn’t say anything, but her expressions were enough to tell that she was completely pissed now.

Kevin Stammers’ P.O.V.

“She is lucky that she doesn’t have any broken ribs or any kind of fracture in her rib cage. Whoever punched her, punched her hard with the intention of hurting her badly. Her bruises and injuries will take time to heal”, the doctor told me and Mrs Parker about Violet’s condition. She was really in bad shape but it was a relief that she didn’t have any broken bones or any kind of serious injury. “What about Ethan?” Mrs Parker asked immediately in a worried tone. The doctor took a deep breath and smiled a little. “The boy is really tough and it’s a relief that he also doesn’t have any serious injuries. He tried to shield the girl from some fatal blows but she also tried to save him a few times. He will be back on his feet in a few days", the doctor informed us and I pursed my lips into a thin line worriedly.

"He has a match this Saturday. He is a volleyball player", I said to the doctor in a worried tone. "I think, he will manage to play", the doctor said in a confident tone, and I breathed in relief. Andrew was already injured and the absence of Ethan could affect the game of other players. "You are still worried about your match, Mr Stammers?" Mrs Parker scolded me angrily and I looked at her apologetically. She huffed and then looked at the doctor again. "Do they need to stay in the hospital tonight?" she asked him in a concerned tone. "I think it will be good for them if they stay here tonight. The girl needs to be under observation", the doctor told us truthfully. "Then put both of them in the same room so that we can take care of both of them at the same time", she requested the doctor and then stood up from the chair where we were sitting inside the doctor's room.

I also stood up and thanked the doctor before heading out of the room with her. "I don't know what's really going on in the school. It shouldn't have happened in the first place", she muttered angrily. I didn't say anything as I also knew what she was saying was true. "They even have the audacity of attacking a girl inside the school? Are the school authorities sleeping?" she questioned me angrily while walking with me towards the elevator. Kyle with the rest of the boys was still waiting for us in the waiting room outside the emergency room. "I am really sorry, Mrs Parker. This shouldn't have happened in the first place, not with a girl", I apologized to her and she just scoffed angrily.

"I am glad that they are not badly hurt but the worst could happen at that time. I know my son. He never involved himself in a fight without any valid reason. I want an explanation of this incident in writing from school. I am not going to leave this", she asked me in a stern tone. "I will give you the written explanation on the school's behalf, Mrs Parker", I tried to ensure her in a gentle tone. "Not only for Ethan... but for that girl too", she immediately spoke again in a stern tone. I was happy to see her concern for Violet because she was the first person who showed her concern for Violet. Now I got it from whom Ethan had taken his caring attitude. He inherited it from his mother.

We reached the boys inside the waiting room and Kyle immediately ran towards us, followed by the other boys. "How are they?" he immediately asked Mrs Parker in a worried tone. "They are alright but they have to stay in the hospital tonight”, she told him in a calm tone. Kyle took a deep breath and ran his fingers through his hair. “Mrs Stone is still with Violet and Ethan, Kyle. They don’t have any serious injury but they need to stay under observation tonight”, I told him trying to put him on ease. Kyle looked at his friends before looking back at me. “I think you should inform her guardian too, Mr Stammers. Her neighbours will inform them if she doesn’t go back to her home”, he said to me in a calm tone. I took a deep breath before replying to him.

“I know, Kyle, and I am going to inform them after finishing the procedure of her admission”, I told him and he nodded in response. “I want to stay with Ethan tonight, aunt”, he requested Mrs Parker. She smiled and cupped his face. “Both of them will stay in the same room. I don’t want to leave that girl alone here. The staff will take care of them, son. You don’t need to stay here”, she spoke to her in a gentle tone. He immediately shook his head furiously. “No... I can’t leave him alone here. I will stay with him”, he refused to leave Ethan in a stern voice. Mrs Parker sighed helplessly this time. “He is right, aunt. We can’t leave Ethan and Violet alone here. We can take better care of them than nurses here”, Noah came forward and supported Kyle’s decision to stay with them.

“I am going to finish the admission procedure”, I informed Mrs Parker and she only nodded in response. I walked back to the emergency room while dialling Mrs Stone’s number. She was with Violet the whole time. “How is she?” I asked her in a gentle tone when she picked up the call. “She is badly shaken up, Kevin. The doctor told me that she doesn’t have any broken bones but her injuries are still serious. We have to do something for her this time, Kevin, or else it could be worst in the future”, she said to me in a worried tone. She was speaking in a low tone. It meant that Violet was still awake. “I know, Bethany, and trust me, I am not going to leave this matter just like that. We promised Violet that no harm will come to her and we failed miserably”, I paused and took a deep breath. “They are staying here tonight. I am going to finish their admission procedure. After that, you can go back. Ethan’s mother has made arrangements for both of them. Kyle and I think Noah will stay with them tonight”, I informed her and stopped near the nursing station.

“I am here to complete the admission procedure for Ethan Parker and Violet Carter”, I gently informed the nurse present there. “O yes... please fill these forms and make the payment”, she gave me two forms while passing a gentle smile to me. “Thanks”, I thanked her and looked at the admission forms. “Can you do me a favour, Bethany?” I asked Bethany who was still on call with me while filling up the form. “What?” she asked me immediately. “Please call Violet’s guardian and informed them the incident”, I requested her. I heard her taking a deep breath. "I will do this", she told me and then we both hung up. After finishing the admission procedure, I made payments for both Ethan and Violet.

"I know, Kyle, and I am going to inform them after finishing the procedure of her admission", I told him and he nodded in response. "I want to stay with Ethan tonight, aunt", he requested Mrs Parker. She smiled and cupped his face. "Both of them will stay in the same room. I don't want to leave that girl alone here. The staff will take care of them, son. You don't need to stay here", she spoke to her in a gentle tone. He immediately shook his head furiously. "No... I can't leave him alone here. I will stay with him", he refused to leave Ethan in a stern voice. Mrs Parker sighed helplessly this time. "He is right, aunt. We can't leave Ethan and Violet alone here. We can take better care of them than nurses here", Noah came forward and supported Kyle's decision to stay with them.

I decided to call Marcus and ask him to meet me tonight. Things were getting out of hand now and I needed to inform him about Sia and her doings in the school. He was my best friend but I didn't tell him anything about Sia till today. He loved his daughter very much but he was also strict about discipline and ethics. I was sure that he was unaware of what Sia was doing in school and in her personal life. David was Sia's new boyfriend and I was sure that David attacked Violet only to please Sia. I didn't know why Sia hated Violet so much but I couldn't let Sia hurt Violet again.

I dialled Marcus' number when I reached a deserted area at the corner of the corridor. "Hey, Kevin... how are you?" he immediately greeted me in a cheerful tone. "I am fine, Marcus", I told him in a light tone. "I want to meet you tonight in the club. I have something to tell you", I said to him in a light tone again. "Is everything okay?" he asked me immediately in a concerned tone. I took a deep breath and ran my fingers through my hair. "Something happened in the school today and..... I think... Sia is involved in this matter", I didn't want to take Sia's name but I had no option but to tell him. There was silence for a while on his side. I chewed my lower lip nervously. "Let's meet and then talk, Kevin", he spoke in a serious tone after a while. "I will wait for you in the club at the same time", I answered him and then we both hung up.

I took a deep breath and just looked around blankly. I stayed there for a while thinking about all the things that happened in the last two years at the school. It was not the first time that I had witnessed bullying in the school but this was an extreme case. The school was an elite school and every student belonged to a rich family. We had some poor students too who entered the school through scholarships. All the teachers knew about these students being bullied by the rich students but we interfered rarely because none of us wanted to lose our jobs. I loved my work too, but I was also famous for my interference in these activities. Marcus asked me to keep an eye on Sia when she got admission to this school. I promised him that I would take care of Sia but soon I realized that she was already spoiled and she knew how to use her father's influence to her own advantage.

"Kevin", I looked up and saw Bethany looking at me with concern. I came out of my stance and took a deep breath. "Why are you here?" I asked her in a gentle tone and looked around once again. "They shifted both of them to the room and Ethan's mother and other boys are there. I called you but you didn't pick up the call. I then searched for you and found you standing here completely drowned in your thoughts. Is everything okay?" she asked me in concern in the end. I then realized that I was so drowned in my thoughts that I didn't realize that my phone was ringing in my hands. "Uhhhh... I am sorry... I was just", I paused after apologizing because I really didn't know what to say right now. She took a deep breath and then put her hand on my hand with the phone. "Don't worry... everything will be okay", she comforted me and I just sighed helplessly.

Falling For The Girl I Bullied Chapter 44 - Tips

Kyle's P.O.V.

I couldn't tell how I was feeling right now seeing Ethan and Violet lying on the hospital beds all bruised. Ethan was better than Violet as she was punched quite a few times by those j.erks according to Ethan. He told us that Violet tried to save him by shielding his body from time to time when they all attacked at them at once. Ethan had a strong build and he could bring down two or three boys on his own easily but fighting with ten boys was an impossible task for him too. His mother was so angry that it seemed that she would k!!! someone at this very instant. Right now we were in the room where they were going to stay for the night. Violet was still unconscious and it was now making me worried for her.

Mrs Stone and Mr Stammers went back after finishing all the formalities and told Ethan's mother that they would come in the morning. Mrs Parker asked them to bring the principal with them in the morning or else the principal has to be ready for facing the consequences of not showing up this time. Mrs Stone and Mr Stammers were ashamed and apologized to Mrs Parker on the principal's behalf but that was not enough to bring Mrs Parker's anger down. She was still cursing everyone angrily. Ethan told us that Violet tried to take his phone out of his pocket when it started ringing in his pocket during the fight. It was when someone kicked her hard on her ribs. He told us that she screamed in pain but took out the phone and picked up my call.

All the boys present in the room admired her courage and Mrs Parker was also impressed with her now. She looked timid and fragile but she showed how strong she could be if she needed to be. Noah was still shaken because he was the one who was holding her securely in his embrace in the school and she fainted in his embrace. He was so scared at that time that he couldn't lift her up. He was still angry with him for not being weak when he needed to be brave. Mrs Parker asked everyone to go back as she was staying with them but I insisted to stay with her. Noah and Dustin wanted to stay but I sent them back. Justin also got some bruises and I wanted them to take care of him.

I went out of the room to buy some snacks for Ethan as he was asking for something to eat. To be honest, I wanted to be alone for a while to clear my head. The whole incident was messing my mind right now, especially the part where I saw that prick punching Ethan and at the same time, someone kicked Violet again who was lying on the ground screaming in pain. Both Ethan and Violet yelled in pain and that very sight was now messing up my mind. I wanted to strangle David to death right now. The pain on their faces was something that I couldn't forget for a long time period. I went straight to the hospital canteen and sat down on an empty chair. I knew that Sia was behind this. She took advantage of David's bragging nature and I was sure that she said something to fuel his ego and that was why he did this.

"Is everything okay, Kyle?" I looked up and saw Mr Stammers standing in front of me with concern. I was surprised to see him as he left the ward almost half an hour ago. "Yes, Mr Stammers.... I came to buy some snacks for Ethan. He is hungry", I answered him truthfully. He nodded once and then sat down on the empty chair near me. He was looking tired and exhausted. "I know what you are thinking, Kyle", he spoke again and I just scoffed internally. He didn't know anything yet he was pretending that he could understand the pain that I was feeling right now. "I know that you don't like Violet but you care for her. Ethan is your best friend and seeing the people for whom you care the most in pain is very painful", he paused and took a deep breath.

I didn't say anything to him but he was right here though. I don't like Violet but my heart bled when I saw her unconscious in Noah's embrace. I felt that someone had pulled my heart out of my chest. "I called Violet's guardians. The lady was really furious about the incident and she told me that she would be here by the day after tomorrow. I tried to comfort her but", he chuckled dryly and then sighed aloud. "Violet's guardians?" I asked him in a confused tone because we didn't know anything about this.

"Yes, her maternal aunt and her husband are Violet's legal guardians. They live somewhere else but come here from time to time to take care of things for her. Her aunt is also in contact with the teachers", he informed me and I nodded while chewing my internal cheeks. It was something that I didn't expect. She had guardians yet she lived alone. What on earth was wrong with those people? They left a teenager all alone to fend for herself on her own. Were they like my parents who only cared about their businesses and own lives? "Violet is an independent girl. They took her guardianship only to save her from foster care. The child services wanted to put Violet in foster care after her grandmother's death but they showed up at the same time and claimed her custody. Violet didn't want to go with them to their place as they also had a family. So, she requested them to leave her alone here and she would inform them everything about her studies and anything important that happen in her life", Mr Stammers told me about Violet something that none of us knew until today.

"Are you going to talk with Mr Bishop?" I asked him after a while and he smiled weakly this time. "I guess it's time to take some serious steps or else everything will go out of my hands", he said with a sigh. "You are his friend and I am sure that he will listen to you. Then why didn't you tell him about Sia and her actions in the school earlier?" I asked him in a bit angry tone this time. He put down his hand on the table beside us and looked at me this time.

"Everything is not as easy as it looks, son. You will not understand this right now", he said in a calm tone but his words made me scoff internally. Yeah, all the elders think in the same way that we teenagers would not understand when the truth is that they manipulate everything according to their own will and according to their own way. They want us to obey them because they are elders and they have more experience than us. "I only want to say one thing to you", he paused and took a deep breath. "Take care of Violet, Kyle. I know that you can do this", he said while standing up and patting my shoulder before leaving me alone there. I was a bit startled by what he said and looked at his back blankly.

He asked me to take care of Violet when he already knew that I am also one of her bullies. What did he want to say here? I opened my mouth to call him again but closed my mouth again. The incident must have affected him in a bad way. I stood up from the chair and went to the counter to buy some snacks for Ethan. I was now calm and all I had to do was to wait for tomorrow. After buying snacks and drinks for him and Violet, I walked back to towards the ward with all stuff in my hands. I heard Ethan's mother talking with someone on the call. I entered the room without knocking the door.

"You don't worry, Mrs Stockholm. I know what happened today was worst but I assure you that I will take a good care of Violet and I will make sure that the school will punish all the students involve in this incident", she was saying in a calm tone but there was tension on her face. I looked at Ethan in confusion who was also looking at his mother with a serious face. "Who is on the line?" I asked him in a hushed tone. "It's Violet's guardian", he told me in a hushed tone too. I raised my brows in confusion. How did Violet's guardian get Ethan's mother's number? "It's Violet's phone. Her phone started ringing and mom picked up the call. She asked me about her family members and thought that someone from her family has called her", Ethan explained the situation and I took a deep breath.

Ethan's mother hung up after some time and then looked at Violet's sleeping face with a sad expression. "What happened, mom?" Ethan asked her in a concerned tone. She sighed aloud and then came back to us. "I don't know what's wrong with you guys? What kind of fun do you get by tormenting that poor soul?" she looked at us angrily while taunting us. "Mom, what are you saying? We never did anything to hurt her", Ethan immediately retorted and she glared at him hard. "He is right, aunt. We never did anything to hurt her physically", I also supported Ethan in a calm tone.

"Her guardian told me that she is always bullied in school. The school authority never did anything to stop bullying and that's why those boys got the courage to attack her this time", Ethan's mother told us what her guardian told her. I looked at Ethan who looked at me at the same time. "She works with us, mom, and I assure you that we will never let anyone hurt her. I tried my best to save her but", he paused and sighed aloud in defeat while hanging his head low. I looked at Violet who was now stirring a little. Her facial expression made me walk towards her bed. She had a painful expression on her face as if she was having a bad dream.

"What happened?" I heard Ethan's mother's worried tone. "I think... she is having a bad dream", I answered her and took her hand in mine. "No... no...

leave me”, she whimpered a little while tightening her grip on my fingers. “Everything is okay, princess... you are safe now”, I immediately put my hand on her forehead and started stroking her forehead gently while comforting her. It was really weird for me as I never comforted anyone else before. She whimpered again but relaxed soon. I looked at Ethan and he was also looking at me worriedly. I continued stroking her head lightly to comfort her. She was still holding my hand tightly. I didn’t know why but the urge of keeping her safe from every danger was stronger in my heart this time.

Falling For The Girl I Bullied Chapter 45 - Tips

Violet’s P.O.V.

“I am really fine, Mrs Parker”, I tried to assure Ethan’s mother that I was fine and could eat on my own. She immediately shook her head furiously. “Don’t lie to me young lady when I already know your condition right now and what’s with Mrs Parker, huh? You are Ethan’s friend and like his other friends, you should call me, aunt or you can call me by my name”, she said to me in a stern tone in the beginning but became playful in the end when she asked me to call her by her name and winked at me playfully. I smiled at her and then glanced at Ethan and Kyle who were looking at us with amusing expressions.

“Don’t look at them. They don’t worth you”, she suddenly patted my hand playfully while commenting on them. My eyes widened in shock and I immediately lowered my head. She was really something. She put her son down here. “Mom... what are you saying?” Ethan immediately whined making me laugh internally. I really wanted to see their faces but didn’t have the courage to do so. “What? I didn’t say anything wrong. She is so beautiful and innocent. None of you worth her even a glance”, she again commented on them in a gloomy tone this time. “Now.... Finish this bowl and then you can sleep, honey”, she then talked to me and put a spoonful of soup on my lips.

It was really awkward for me because only my grandmother fed me whenever I fell ill in the past. After my grandmother, no one fed me like this. I opened my mouth and took the spoon inside my mouth. “That’s like a good girl”, she chirped immediately making me smile awkwardly again. “My mother always wanted to have a daughter but she got me. That’s why she is spoiling you”, I heard Ethan telling me something about her mother. “Of course daughters are better than sons and they deserve to be spoiled”, she immediately replied to him in a proud tone. “Not like Sia”, I thought but didn’t say anything in front.

Sia's parents had spoiled her so much that nothing matter to her now. I didn't want to be like her.

"You are nothing like Sia and you can't be like her", suddenly Kyle spoke to me and I snapped my head towards him in shock. Could he read my mind? He had a calm expression on his face. He was eating his dinner with Ethan on his bed. "Who is Sia?" Mrs Parker asked in confusion while putting another spoonful of soup in my mouth. Ethan and Kyle looked at each other and then Ethan looked back at her mother. "You can say that Sia Bishop is the queen bee of school and due to his father's influence, she thought herself invincible", Ethan told his mother about Sia in a sarcastic tone.

Mrs Parker frowned immediately and looked at me for confirmation. I just nodded once and took another spoonful of soup inside my mouth. "I know about Mr Bishop and there is no doubt that he worked so hard all these years to get this power in his business and in the political world as well. But it doesn't mean that his daughter can use his influence according to her will", Mrs Parker praised Mr Bishop but showed her disappointment in Sia. "If I am not wr ong then Sia is the girl who bullied you the last time when Ethan requested me to arrange transportation for you, right?" Mrs Parker asked me this time in a gentle tone and my heart skipped a beat in anticipation.

"You are right, mom", Ethan answered instead of me. "She can speak, Ethan", I looked up again at her when I heard her scolding Ethan. "She can, mom... but she rarely speaks", Ethan commented on me this time and I glared at him for a second. "This is because you won't let her speak", Ethan's mother scolded him once again. Ethan didn't say anything this time and I was glad that he didn't drag this topic. Ethan's mother continued feeding me and my mind once again drifted towards the incident. I was sitting on the benches near the court when Ethan came near to me and asked me to check his biology a.ssignment before he submits that tomorrow. I was sitting idle, so I agreed and we both went to the lockers.

I was checking his a.ssignment near his locker when David and all the boys from the football team came there. Ethan immediately dragged me behind him in a defensive stance. David asked him to leave while looking at me. Ethan held me behind him and asked David to leave us alone. I was so scared that I was holding Ethan by his shirt tightly. David threatened Ethan but Ethan refused to leave me alone there and also taunted David for being a coward who brought ten boys with him there.

Ethan's words infuriated David and he lunged at Ethan. Ethan dodged his attack but all of a sudden everyone present there lunged at us. Ethan tried hard to shield me but it was impossible for him to fight with ten grown-up boys. For the first time in my life, I had this urge to save someone who was fighting for me. So, I tried to protect Ethan too and got so many kicks and punches all over my body. Ethan pulled me in his embrace to save me but that was a futile effort. Still I was glad that he was there or else I wouldn't be alive by now.

"Hey", I came out of my stance when I felt someone's hand on my cheek. I saw Mrs Parker caressing my cheek lovingly. "What are you thinking so hard, huh?" she asked me in a motherly tone. "I... I am sorry", I said in whispers and lowered my head once again. "Why are you sorry, huh?" she asked me once again in a loving and low tone. I took a deep breath and looked at her with tearful eyes this time. "Are you feeling pain again, huh?" she immediately asked me and looked down at my body. It was my luck that I didn't get any fractured bone but the pain from other injuries was really unbearable for me.

"No... I... I am not in pain", I immediately spoke to her to put her on ease. She sighed in relief and then took my hand in between her hands. That was when I realized that she had already finished feeding me. "Ethan is in this condition because of me", I spoke in a very low tone filled with guilt. She chuckled this time and stroked the back of my hand by her thumb. "He did the right thing, honey. As your classmate and as a responsible person, he did the right thing", she said with a smile and I smiled weakly this time. "Don't think too much. I will give you the medicine after some time", she once again patted my cheek lightly and I nodded lightly.

"Mom... you should eat now", Ethan said to her with concern and I looked at her once again. She sighed and stood up from the bed. "I have to go home, honey. Your father has to go on a trip tomorrow. He called me a while ago and told me. I have to pack his bag", she told him in a calm tone. "Then stay at home, aunt. I will take care of them", Kyle spoke this time. I didn't want her to go back but it was already 8 at night. Kyle told me that she was here in the hospital since they brought Ethan and me here. She also looked tired. "Yeah... we ... we are alright now... you should rest well", I also supported Kyle in a reluctant tone. "Are you sure that you will be alright?" she asked me immediately in a worried tone.

I smiled genuinely this time. "I have to sleep after taking my medicine. Also, Kyle is here. We will be alright, Mrs Parker", I tried to assure her once again. She looked at the boys and they also nodded in agreement. She sighed aloud and took her purse from the table beside the couch. "Okay then... call me if you need something and", she spoke to the boys first and then looked at me. "I have saved my number in your phone, honey. Call me any time.. I will be here in no time", she instructed me and I nodded in response. She then went near to Ethan and kissed him on his forehead. She instructed him to sleep immediately after taking medicine in a stern but worried tone.

I missed my grandmother so much right now. Mrs Parker was caring just like my grandmother. I didn't remember anything about my mother but one thing that I was assured about her was that she was not like Mrs Parker. "Hey... you zoned out again", I looked in the direction of the voice blankly when I felt that someone was talking with me. "Huh?" I asked dumbfounded and found Ethan looking at me in amazement. "I am sorry", I immediately apologized and lowered my eyes. "I am sorry, princess. I was not able to save you from those b****ds", he apologized to me in an angry tone.

"You tried your best, Ethan. I... I am really glad that you didn't leave me with them. I.. I am thankful to you th.. that you tried your best to save me from their attack. Because of you, I am alive", I said to him truthfully but my voice cracked in the end. "Hey... don't say like that", he immediately comforted me in a worried tone. Tears started building up in my eyes. I could see bruises on his face and bandages on his hands and legs. He was hurt because of me. "Always remember one thing, princess", he spoke again in a firm tone but I didn't look up as I didn't want him to see tears in my eyes.

"We maybe harass you for fun but we will never leave you in a situation like what we faced today. We will never let anyone harm you... not on our watch. David was lucky that he was with his boys today but he will not be this lucky the next time I meet him". Ethan was stern on his voice and this time I looked up. "What happened?" we both looked in the direction of the door and saw Kyle coming inside. He looked at us with confusion. "Are you alright?" he asked me immediately and I immediately blinked. He must have seen tears in my eyes. "She is concerned about me", Ethan joked and I lowered my head again in embarrassment.

"Tell me, Parker... are you really that dumb or did you hit her head today somewhere?" I heard Kyle asking me in an angry tone and I looked up at him in confusion once again. I saw him glaring at me angrily. Now what I did? "You should have stayed behind Ethan when they attacked you but no... you came forward and see what happened to you", he scolded me angrily making me pout. "She even kicked them", Ethan spoke again with soft laughter. Kyle looked at me with raised brows this time and I looked here and there in embarrassment. “You are really something, Parker”, Kyle scolded me again while walking towards my bed.

“Now take this medicine and then sleep”, he instructed me while giving me the medicine. I took the medicine from him and gulped down them with warm water that he gave me to drink. I was startled when he suddenly wrapped his hand around my shoulder. He slowly pulled me a little down on the bed. He was so gentle and caring about my injuries. The fragrance of his perfume made my heart skip a beat. His face was so close to me that I could feel the warmth of his breath. He made me lie down on the bed and then covered me with the sheet. He then looked at me and all I saw was the concern and worry for me in his eyes. “Now sleep.... We have a long day tomorrow”, he said in a gentle tone making me nod once.

Falling For The Girl I Bullied Chapter 46 - Tips

Ethan's P.O.V.

“There is no way, honey, that I will let you stay alone. I have already talked to Samantha and I ensured her that I will take care of you until you heal completely”, mom told Violet in a stern tone. Mom wanted Violet to stay with us in our mansion until she heals completely. Of course, Violet didn't want to go with us but mom was determined to take her with us home. After giving us a proper checkup the doctor discharged us from the hospital. Kyle took the day off from school but he had to go back for practice in the afternoon. The doctor asked me to stay away from the court for a minimum of two days if I wanted to play this Saturday. Violet needed to stay home for more days as her injuries were more severe than mine.

“But, Mrs Parker”, Violet opened her mouth again in protest and my mom glared at her, making her shut her mouth. I smiled and looked at my mother proudly. My mother was the sweetest and loveliest lady that I have ever known but she could be scary any time she wanted. Violet was now looking at her helplessly. Mom packed our things and then looked at me. “Ready to go now?” she asked me and I nodded in response. She then rang the bell to call a nurse. Violet couldn't walk due to the injuries in her lower ribs. “Please arrange a wheelchair for her”, mom requested the nurse who came after sometime.

I walked towards Violet's bed. she was still in a dilemma. “Don't worry... we will not bully you in my home”, I said to her in a very low tone teasingly. She pursed her lips into a thin line and lower her head. I saw her fidgeting with her fingers on her lap. She was still hesitant, but I was glad that mom didn't want to leave her alone in this condition. I didn't know why mom insisted on taking care of her but I was glad that she did. Violet had no one at home to take care of her. Her neighbours were kind people but they also had their own families to take care of. I didn't know anything about her guardians. I didn't know what kind of people they were and whether they would be able to come here at this time or not.

"Let's go", I said to her in a gentle tone, and raised my hand towards her. She reluctantly put her hand in my hand. I grabbed her hand cautiously and then helped her getting off the bed when the nurse brought the wheelchair for her. I also have pain in my injuries but that was bearable and I could walk on my own without any help. It was not the same with Violet. She winced in pain when she moved her legs and her body. I immediately wrapped my other hand around her shoulder and took her weight on my body.

After settling her into the wheelchair comfortably, the nurse drove her out of the room with me and mom. One of our maids, Maria, was also with us right now. She took our stuff and walked behind us. "I talked with the doctor before the discharge. She said that Violet needs to rest for a few days. After leaving you guys at home, I am going to school for a meeting. There is no way that I am going to let this incident slide", mom told me in a determined tone, but kept her voice low. I nodded and then looked down at Violet who still had her head low. My heart ached for her when I noticed a purple mark at the junction of her neck and shoulder. She was hurt on my watch and that was the biggest failure for me till today.

Soon we reached the parking area of the hospital where our driver was waiting for us. I helped Violet getting on her feet from the wheelchair again but leaned her body on me to support her. She winced in a low tone again which made me worried for her. I settled her down at the back of the seat and mom sat down with her from the other side. I also entered the back seat after her and then locked the door. She was now sitting between me and mom. Mom wrapped her hand around her shoulder and put her head on her shoulder gently. Violet didn't resist to her this time and made herself comfortable in her embrace.

"I heard that you work part-time in a diner?" mom asked her after a while. "Yes, Mrs Parker", she replied to her in a soft voice. "I asked you to call me, aunt, honey... you don't listen to me", mom complained to her in a childish voice this time. "... I", Violet tried to say something but stopped. Mom took a deep breath and rubbed her arm gently. "You don't need to be afraid of me, honey. Treat me like your friend. Samantha and her husband will be here at weekend and till then, you will be staying with us", mom said to her in a low tone and also informed her about her guardians.

"I don't understand this here", I spoke this time in confusion and they both looked at me. "Why didn't you live with them?" I asked her and she bit her lower lip. There was silence between us once again as both I and mom waited for her answer. "After my grandmother's death, the child services wanted to put me in foster care but I didn't want to go. I then contacted Samantha and asked her to help me. Samantha is my maternal aunt. She and her husband came to visit me and I requested them to help me in this regard. I requested them to be my legal guardian. They were reluctant because they also have a family to take care of. They have two kids of almost my age", she paused and took a deep breath.

I was still looking at her blankly processing what she was telling us. "I .... Then promised them that I will not bother them for anything until I attend the legal age. My grandmother left some money for me and that is enough for me to take care of my financial problems. We came to an agreement as she was also reluctant to leave me in foster care. So, they signed the papers and became my legal guardians. I live here alone but they visit me from time to time and sometimes, their kids also come with them. They are also friendly to me", she paused again and took a deep breath.

"It's really hard to live on your own at this age, love. You are really brave and strong", mom praised her and she just smiled. I could see gloominess on her face but she masked her expression immediately. I chewed my internal cheeks but didn't ask anything further. I have heard about foster care. I have heard that sometimes, these families treat these orphan kids well but sometimes they take them in only for the government and treat them very bad. I was glad that her maternal aunt didn't let her go through any hardship with those foster families. I was glad that I had a lovely family who loves me a lot and took care of me. I couldn't imagine myself in her shoes here.

Soon we reached home and I helped her getting off the car again. Mom led us to her room which was next to Kyle's room. "O I forgot to tell you that Kyle also lives here for the time being and this is his room", I told her while passing her room. She looked at me startled and I smiled sheepishly. "Don't worry... he is also scared of my mom", I whispered to her and she smiled this time once again. "What did you say?" mom asked me in an angry tone and I just shook my head. "Nothing mom... I was just telling her something about Kyle", I immediately defended myself and looked at her to confirm. She only nodded but didn't say anything. Mom gave me a warning look while entering her room.

"Rest now, honey... I will be back by lunch and then we will have lunch together. Meanwhile, Ethan will stay with you. Ask him for any assistance or for anything you need. Maria is also here to help you", mom instructed her and then looked at me. "You, young man", she pointed her finger at me and I just blinked innocently. "Take care of her until I come back. You already know how to take your medicine and also give her, her medicine at the right time. I will be back soon", she instructed me and then looked at Violet again, who was now lying on the bed comfortably. "You only have to rest, honey. Tell him if you want anything", mom said to her in a gentle tone and signalled towards me in the end. She nodded and my mother smiled. "I will be back soon", she whispered to me before going out of the room.

I sat down on the bed near her legs. "Thank you", she said to me in a low voice. I chuckled and then lay down on my elbow near her leg. "I should say thank you to you for shielding me from time to time. I should be the one in your place here with all those wounds", I said to her in an apologetic tone. She shook her head immediately. "You knew very well that they were there for me. Still, you refused to leave me alone there and tried to protect me. No one has ever done something like this for me. So", she paused and looked up at me. I couldn't tell what I was feeling right now because deep down I knew that I was also the one who had harassed her in the past.

"Thank you for being there for me", she finished what she wanted to say to me in a sincere voice while looking straight into my eyes. I could see gratitude and sincerity in her eyes. I didn't say anything just looked at her. "I.... I am sorry for everything that we did in the past, princess.... But... I... I assure you that I will stay beside you forever and will protect you no matter what the situation is. Trust me on this", I said to her in a calm tone and tried to assure her that she could rely on me now. She smiled weakly and then closed her eyes. I just admired her peaceful face for a while. Although she had some bruises on her face too yet she looked so beautiful. She winced a little when she tried to move her body.

I immediately sat up but hissed in pain too as I also got some serious hits on my chest. I just ignored my pain and then walked towards her. "Are you okay?" I asked her with concern while sitting near her upper body on the bed. She slowly opened her eyes. She was still in pain. "It's hurting", she complained in a low tone and I sighed helplessly. She had to bear this pain until she heals. "You are also in pain, right?" she asked me in a low tone and I smiled weakly. "It's tolerable. Don't worry about me", I said with a smile. She smiled weakly in response. "Take rest, princess. I am going to bring something for you to eat", I said to her and she nodded before closing her eyes again.

Falling For The Girl I Bullied Chapter 47 - Tips

Rose Parker's P.O.V.

I looked around me at everyone present in the meeting room in Ethan's school after Mr Stammers showed the whole footage of the incident. Everyone was shocked and speechless. To be honest, I felt that my heart almost jumped out of my mouth when those b.rats started hitting Ethan and Violet. Ethan was standing in front of Violet to save her and fought b.ravely but he was helpless in front of so many boys. I felt proud for what my son did but at the same time, I was pissed because those boys dared to act like a goon inside school. I looked at the boy, David, who was sitting with all other boys angrily.

He had lowered his head and all his friends were looking at him nervously. "It's clear that they acted on their own and what David said earlier about Violet provoking him before he lost his temper was a lie. From what I could see, it was David who was trying to provoke my son there and who is this girl, Sia. What's her role here?" I spoke in a firm tone after a short span of silence and asked the question while looking at David. He immediately looked up towards me with wide eyes in shock. "She is his girlfriend and she asked him to beat Violet because she refused to bring a water bottle for her during the practice", one of his friends spoke immediately and blurted everything nervously.

David immediately glared at him and that boy looked at David with a stern face. "I am not going to sacrifice myself here because you wanted to be hero in front of your girl, David", that boy said to David in a stern tone and David glared hard at him. "Yes, David... it's you who asked us to go with you. You said that nothing would happen to us as Sia would take care of everything. Where is she?" another boy spoke this time and I could feel nervousness and hatred in his voice. "Silence boys", the principal scolded them in a stern tone. I glared at the principal this time. "Where were you, Mr Johnson when this happened, huh? I am sure that Mr Stammers and Mrs Stone would have informed you right after that incident but no one mentioned your presence", I asked him in a cold tone this time. He gulped hard and looked at me timidly.

I scoffed and looked at all the parents present in the meeting room including the parents of all those boys. "This is the first time that they did something like this. I request to forgive them this time. They are in their last year of school and this incident will ruin their career", one of the parents spoke in a requesting tone this time. "Will you propose this if it's your son in place of my son or that girl, huh? Would you say the same thing then, huh?" I asked him in a mocking tone and he looked at me helplessly. "We can understand you, Mrs Parker. None of us can see our child at that place but", another parent who was a mother of one of those boys spoke this time and paused to take a breath.

"But? We should forgive them because it's not your child who is beaten mercilessly, right? Your son can act like a hooligan just because they wanted to impress a girl but we should forgive them, right? That's what you want to say, huh?" I taunted at her this time and she looked at her son angrily. "Forget about my son here for the time being. Will you forgive someone who tries to beat your daughter like that, huh?" I asked her once again and she lowered her head. "That girl", I pointed towards the screen while standing on my spot now.

"She is a scholarship student who is also a brilliant student. As far as I came to know about her... she always helps other in their studies and is constantly bullied by most of the students including my son, especially that girl, Sia Bishop. Am I right, Mr Johnson?" I didn't hesitate to include Ethan in all the bullies because he was also involved in bullying Violet earlier and asked Mr Johnson in a stern voice. "Uhhh... it.. it's not li... like that, Mrs Parker", Mr Johnson stuttered hard while speaking and I scoffed again. I took a deep breath and then looked at the boys who were looking pale in fear right now.

"I don't know how many of you have daughters but I am concerned about the safety of the girls in school now. If the boys like them and the girl like Sia are free to act on their own will and are free to take this kind of severe actions just because someone refused to give him or her a water bottle, then I am sorry to say... but I want to report this to the police", I said with a word of finality and every one snapped their heads towards me. Suddenly the door of the room opened and I saw Mr Bishop entering the room. "I am sorry for coming late everyone", he immediately apologized to everyone in sincere tone. Mr Johnson immediately stood up and greeted him. I looked at Mr Johnson with pure hatred because of his boot-llicking nature.

Mr Bishop looked at me and nodded to greet me. I also nodded once to greet him back and then looked at the others. The boys were now completely white in fear and David was looking at Mr Bishop as if he had seen a ghost. Mr Stammers walked to Mr Bishop and then told him something in his ears. Mr Stammers looked at him with wide eyes in surprise and then asked him something. "I am sorry everyone but I want to see the footage too. This is obviously a question of the security of our children here and I don't want to skip any details. Sorry for troubling all of you once again", he spoke in a calm and firm tone and I just scoffed again before sitting back to my chair.

Mr Stammers then replayed that footage once again and I just observed everyone's reaction. Mr Marcus Bishop was a known figure in the business world and in the political world as well. He and my husband would compete each other for the position of Mayor in the next election. Though they were competitors, they had a friendly relationship. I also met him a few times during some parties and we worked a few time during our positions in the committee but I was more familiar with her wife Claire Bishop. She was a wonderful lady and that made me wondered about their daughter's attitude in school. I saw Mr Bishop's eyes widened in shock while watching the footage.

"What the hell was that?" he yelled right after Violet screamed in pain and fell down on the ground. All the boys gasped in fear. Mr Bishop snapped his head towards those boys angrily. Mr Bishop was also president of the disciplinary committee while I was the vice president. "What were you thinking when you attacked them, huh? Are you all are road-side goons, huh?" he asked them angrily and they trembled hard in fear. "It was Sia... w... who asked David...t... to..teach a lesson to Violet because she refused to give her a filled water bottle during the practice", the same boy who told me this earlier spoke once again.

"She what?" Mr Bishop asked while shrinking his eyes in confusion. "He is right, Mr Bishop. Sia is David's girlfriend and she asked David to teach Violet a lesson in front of us during the lunch break yesterday", another boy supported the first boy and David glared at them furiously. Mr Bishop just looked at them dumbfounded. I felt sorry for him because it was clear that he had no idea about what his daughter was doing in the school. "This is not the first time that Sia asked someone to bully that girl, Mr Bishop. Sia is a constant bully and she always finds the way to torment that girl, Violet Carter", Mrs Stone spoke this time and told Mr Bishop about Sia.

There was complete silence in the room as Mr Bishop was now looking at Mrs Stone blankly. "Why didn't anyone tell me about this earlier and who is Violet Carter”, he asked Mrs Stone after a while in a low tone. “This is because that girl, Violet Carter is an orphan and a scholarship student. As she has no background, they didn’t pay attention to what others are doing with her”, I spoke this time and Mr Bishop looked at me. “I am ashamed that my son is also a bully to her but he never did anything to her to harm her physically like this. I also came to know that a few days ago, Sia and some other girls tried to lock Violet in a closet only for fun. She got panic attack but they didn’t leave her. It was Mrs Stone who saved Violet back then”, I told him everything about that previous incident that Mrs Stone told me before the meeting.

“Is that so, Mrs Stone?” Mr Bishop asked her in a calm tone and she nodded with a sigh. There was silence in the room once again. Mr Bishop looked at Mr Johnson who was now pale in fear. “We will have another meeting right after this meeting about Sia and her behavior in this school, Mr Johnson”, Mr Bishop said to him and he just nodded in fear. I could say that Mr Bishop was infuriated right now but that was not my concern right now. “What are your opinion about the punishment for these boys, everyone?” he then asked everyone about their opinion and there was a murmur in the room. After that, all the parents of the boys once again requested to give another chance to the boys but other members requested for the punishment to set an example for another students.

I once again argued about not leaving them without any punishment and some parents supported my argument. Mr Bishop listened to everyone calmly and then looked at me in the end. “I am sure that voting is not an option here because it would create another mess for us. After listening to all of you, I also agreed that leaving them without any punishment will encourage other students to act recklessly but at the same time, it’s our responsibility also to find a way so that their future will not be ruined by this incident and they also get their lessons. The students in school are using their parent’s influence to cover their mistakes and we can’t encourage this practice. Whether a scholarship student or not, the school is equally responsible for the safety of every student here. Personally, I am really disappointed to know that our kids are looking down on some of their classmates only because they are not on an equal status with them”, he paused and took a deep breath.

Falling For The Girl I Bullied Chapter 48 - Tips

Marcus Bishop’s P.O.V.

I looked around at everyone present in the room who was waiting for me to finish what I wanted to say. I got a call from Kevin last evening and he asked me to meet him. I had a tight schedule last evening, so I asked him to meet me today in the evening in the club. I felt that he had something to tell me but I didn't imagine that it was this serious. Later, I got a message from the vice president of the disciplinary committee about this meeting today. I should have met Kevin yesterday. The embarrassment which I got today due to Sia's wrongdoing was something that I never expected, not even in my dreams. I was shocked when I came to know that she already had a boyfriend when she asked me to pressure that Knight's son to date her. What was wrong with my daughter? Why did she want to date another boy when she already had a boyfriend?

"We should talk to the legal guardians of Violet Parker first before deciding the punishment for these boys whether they want to proceed legally in this case or trust us for punishment", I paused again as there was a murmur in the room once again. Mrs Parker once again stood up, getting the attention of everyone. "I talked with her guardians yesterday evening. They are angry but don't want to file a case. They said that it's no use as these boys will escape the lawsuit easily by using their parents' influence and then they will make their girl's life hell in the school which is already hell here", she told us in a taunting tone what Violet's guardian's said to her. The bitterness on her face was clearly evident.

I pursed my lips into a thin line and looked straight at her this time. "They trust us on this matter and requested to do something to save another Violet here", she finished what she wanted to tell us and then sat down again. The matter was more severe than I anticipated. I saw the boys taking a breath of relief and so did their parents. It was clear to me that Violet's guardians were right about the lawsuit. "What do you want, Mrs Parker? Your son is also injured", I asked her as a parent now. She glared at those boys who went pale again. They could deal with Violet because she was not rich and influential, but they couldn't deal with Parker's. "If the committee fails to give them a proper punishment then I will go for the lawsuit for both my son and Violet", she said in a firm tone and I nodded understanding her point here.

"They are still children, Mrs Parker... any sort of punishment will ruin their lives", suddenly one of the parents spoke in a worried tone. Mrs Parker snapped her head towards that lady in disbelief. I was also surprised to hear that lady. Was she real? These boys beat that girl mercilessly as if they wanted to kill her and she was saying that they are still children? Mrs Parker was about to stand up once again when I raised my hand to stop her. She stared at me for a few seconds but stayed in her seat. "The way they were beating them didn't show that they are still children, Mrs Lesley. I am sorry to say, but I don't agree with you", I answered that lady. She frowned but didn't say anything again.

"We already have enough discussion before I came, haven't we?" I asked everyone and they all lowered their heads at once. I took a deep breath once again and then looked at Kevin and Mr Johnson before looking back at the others once again. I took a deep breath once again and then spoke again. "The presence of these boys in the school will be a threat to Violet Carter as she was their main target and a subject of constant bullying. It doesn't matter whether she is a scholarship student or a paid student. She is our responsibility here. We have to take a decision which should be justice for that girl and also a lesson to these boys and other bullies that they are not invincible and they have to pay for their bad deeds. They are our future and we can't let them walk the wrong path", I paused again and most of the parents present here nodded in agreement.

"What do you want to do with them, then?" Mrs Lesley asked me in a nervous tone. "This is clear that this boy David (I pointed towards the main culprit of this whole chaos) was provoked by someone else, but he acted at his own will there and others who joined him also had the option not to get involved but they chose to beat them with David. They are mature enough to differentiate between good and bad and also can take a decision on their own. We have to discuss so many points before finalizing the punishment for them. So, I proposed the other meeting in the next two days. In the meantime, we will go through every detail and person involved in this incident including my daughter, Sia Bishop", I answered her in a calm but firm tone and paused again while looking at those boys.

I noticed that they all went pale as soon as I took Sia's name, especially David. "These boys will not attend the school until we decide their punishment and will take classes online so that they would not stay behind in their studies", I announced while looking at everyone with a stern face. I could see that they were not happy with what I said. "We have a match to play coming Monday", one of the boys spoke in a meek tone and I narrowed my eyes at him. He was looking so nervous and he immediately lowered his eyes in fear. I looked at Kevin and he nodded to confirm that the boy was telling the truth. "Okay... then they will come to school only in the morning to practice their game and Mrs Stammers and Mrs Stone will keep their eyes on them. They are not allowed to meet any other student at that time. We will decide their future in their team later with their punishment”, I announced my decision and stood up. I didn’t have time and will to listen to their argument anymore. I had enough already. Mrs Parker stood up with me and I signalled her to meet me outside. She was not happy with my decision that I could tell but I had to take care of so many things before deciding the punishment for those boys.

I walked out of the room with Kevin and Mr Johnson. “What the hell is going on in this school, Mr Johnson?” I yelled aloud right after exiting the room making him startled. “I... I...I”, he stuttered hard and I glared at him coldly. “Let’s talk in his room”, Kevin immediately interrupted us and I stormed towards the principal room. I couldn’t believe that Sia was involved in this incident indirectly. She was the one who asked to beat a girl like this. “I want to see the security footage of the last five days”, I demanded while walking ahead of them. “Yes, Mr Bishop”, I heard Mr Johnson’s meek voice behind me. We needed to change the principal first.

I went straight to his room and sat down on a chair on the other side of his chair. Kevin stayed standing behind me. Mr Johnson immediately went to his seat and opened his laptop. We heard a knock on the door and I remembered that I asked Mrs Parker to meet me. Kevin went to open the door and Mrs Parker came inside. “Give us some time. I need to talk with her”, I requested Kevin and Mr Johnson in a calm tone this time. They immediately nodded and walked out of the room while Mrs Parker took another chair on the other side of the table. I wanted to know about the condition of that girl from her and why her guardians were so hostile.

“What do you want, Mrs Parker?” I asked her in a calm tone and she raised her brows at me. “If I am not wrong then the boy who tried to protect that girl is your son, right?” I asked her in a light but serious tone. “Yes, you are right. But I am more concerned about Violet here. They touched my boy only on the heat of the moment or else they don’t have the courage to touch my boy”, she said in a confident tone and I just admired her confidence in her son. “The thing is”, she paused and took a deep breath.

“Violet is a subject of constant bullying in school. She is bullied by almost all the student who belongs to an influential family including my son”, she paused again and I was really surprised that she admitted her son’s mistake so boldly. “I talked with her guardian. She is really disappointed and worried for her niece. She told me that Violet never complained about being bullied but the last incident in the girls’ locker room put her life in danger and it was Mrs Stone who told her about the incident because she was also hospitalized for a day at that time”, she told me everything truthfully.

To be honest, I was really disappointed with school management right now. They had all the right to stop these events but they did nothing and their silence was the main cause behind all these incidents because it encouraged the students in the wrong way. “Is she alright?” I asked her in a concerned tone and she sighed aloud. She took her phone out of her bag and then did something with her phone. “You can see by yourself”, she said and then raised her phone towards me. I took her phone from her hand and looked at the screen. My eyes widened in shock when I saw red and purple circles on that girl’s body.

“There are more”, she said and I swiped the screen for another photo. I felt that someone knocked the whole air out of my lungs while looking at those photographs. “Luckily there is no fracture but muscle rupturing in all these areas. She was unconscious when I took these photographs in the presence of the doctor and nurses. I wanted to show them to everyone but couldn’t do this is a matter of her privacy too but I can show these to you because I trust you”. She told me everything and also the reason why she didn’t show these photographs during the meeting.

“I agreed with your decision, Mrs Parker, but the question about what you want now is still in its place”. I gave the phone back to her and looked at her with a serious expression. She was in touch with her guardians and she was also the one who was genuinely concerned and defensive about that girl. “I want justice for Violet and also we have to take some serious steps to prevent these kinds of incidents in the future. They needed to be controlled”, she said in a serious tone and I nodded in agreement. Now I wanted to know what my daughter was doing in school and what her role in all these incidents was.

Falling For The Girl I Bullied Chapter 49 - Tips

Violet’s P.O.V.

“Let me apply ointment on your wounds”, Kyle asked me making me startled. “I... I can do it by myself”, I said to him while pulling the cover up to my shoulder in fear. There was no way that I would let him touch me. He huffed and glared at me. “Don’t be stubborn. The doctor has prescribed applying this ointment three times a day. The maid told me that you didn’t let her apply the medicine in the morning and did it on your own. Do you really think that you are a superwoman or something like that, huh, who can do anything on her own?" Kyle scolded me angrily and I tried to curl up my body but winced in pain.

He grunted and then pulled the cover away from me harshly. "Aaahhh", I screamed and looked at him in fear. He just rolled his head and then sat down on the bed near my waist. "Pull your shirt up", he commanded me and but I didn't budge. "I will ask a maid to do it. You go", I said to him in a low tone. "Pull your shirt up or I will do it", I commanded again in a stern voice this time making me flinch in fear. "Ask a maid", I also yelled back and then shrank back in fear. He glared at me and I could see him holding the tube tightly now. He was really angry. I didn't want to do it but I didn't want to face his anger either. So, I reluctantly pulled my t-shirt up to the middle of the chest right below the breast line.

I was red in embarrassment and I looked in the other direction. I didn't had the courage to see him applying the ointment on my body. I shuddered a little when I felt the coldness of the ointment and my lower chest. I heard Kyle muttering something under his breath but that was incoherent. I didn't dare to ask him. "Move on your left now", he asked me and I obediently did that. My eyes were still closed so I couldn't see his face. This time he lifted my shirt a little up from my waist. I wondered how did he know the places on my body where I got all the bruises and wounds? I was so embarrassed that I was sure that I would be tomato red by now.

He covered me after applying the ointment all over my body, including my hands and arms too. I still had closed my eyes and was biting my lips furiously nervously. "How many times do I need to tell you not to do this?" I heard him saying this time in an annoying tone. I slowly opened my eyes and looked at him in confusion. I blushed again and lowered my eyes when I saw him staring at me. I gasped in shock when he suddenly pulled my lower lip out of my teeth. He slowly rubbed his thumb over my lower lip and I felt something churning in my stomach. My heart started hammering against my ribcage.

"You really have this bad habit, princess. Do you know tempted it is?" he suddenly used a very low and gentle tone. I was really confused by his action right now. I slowly looked at him again. His gaze was on my lips right now. I didn't know what he meant by bad habits here because I did nothing but obey him. Then for what thing he was now blaming me? He took a deep breath and then slowly removed his hand from my face. "Mr Stammers has applied leave for you on your behalf. The teachers agreed to send all the homework and the next assignments to you by email. You have to stay in bed for more than two-three days because the doctor who examined you yesterday called Mrs Parker in the afternoon and told her that there might be a hairline fracture in one of your ribs but it's not clear. He asked you to take the hospital tomorrow so that they can have another X-Ray to ensure the fracture", he told me in a gentle tone and paused to take a breath.

I just blinked harder not knowing what to say or what to do now. I complained about severe pain in the lower ribs but I didn't think that it could be a hairline fracture. "Don't think too much and don't let your imagination go wild again", he once again scolded me but in a gentle tone. "But he said that there is no fracture yesterday", I said to him and took my hand in his hand this time. "I know but what we can say here? I don't think there is any harm to get another X-Ray. It will ensure whether there is any fracture or not. The maid told me that you were not comfortable in a sitting position and she even has to feed you when you couldn't bear the pain for a long time", he said in a gentle tone again.

He was right here though. In the morning, when the maid came to serve me breakfast, she tried to make me sit so that I could have breakfast. I winced in pain and then she and the other two maids tried hard to make me comfortable in a sitting position but the pain was unbearable. I was never dependent on anyone for anything but she fed me both my breakfast and lunch. I was so embarrassed and I apologized to her so many times for the inconvenience that I caused her. She and the other maids were kind enough though. They treated me well and even scolded me for apologizing. One of them gave me her number so that I could call her if I wanted to use the washroom.

"You will be fine soon. The only thing is that you cannot go with us this Saturday", he tried to comfort me but whatever he told me made me sad. "Did you get any call from your guardian again?" he suddenly asked me and I just nodded. "Yeah, Samantha called me this afternoon and asked me about the injuries. Mrs Parker is in touch with her and she was praising her for her kindness and being so considerate to me", I told him what Sam said to me truthfully. He smiled and looked behind me. "She is always like this. She is affectionate, loving and caring, but scary and ruthless at the same time if you go to her bad side", he said with a chuckle and I just admired that small smile on his lips.

He really looked handsome with that smile on his lips. He must smile often but I couldn't have the courage to say it to him. He was still holding my hand.

Suddenly we heard a knock on the door and he let go of my hand while looking back at the door. The door opened and Mrs Parker came inside. "Hey... how are you girl?" she asked me in a gentle tone with a smile on her lips while coming towards me. "I am fine, aunt", I replied to her with a smile too. "Did you eat well? Maria told me that you have some difficulty having your meals", she asked me with concern. Kyle stood up from the bed and she sat down where he was sitting earlier.

"I am going to check on Ethan. He was sleeping since after lunch. He also had some pain. So, I asked him to sleep after taking his medicines", Kyle told her and she looked up at him with a worried expression. "Shall we take him to the hospital?" she asked him in a worried tone and was about to stand up when he put his hand on her shoulder and didn't let her stand up. It meant that she straight come to check on me first instead of going to her son. "He is alright, mom... don't worry. I am going to wake him up now", he assured her with a genuine smile. She smiled back.

He looked at me one more time before walking out of the room. "How is it going in school?" I asked her in a low tone. She just waved her hand casually in a dismissalal way. "You need not worry, honey. I am taking care of you on your guardian's behalf and I assure you that everything will be okay", she tried to put me at ease while asking me to stay calm with that lovely smile of hers. I smiled at her attempt. "I was ten when I started taking care of everything that was related to me and my grandmother. She was so old that she even couldn't walk properly. Since that day, I faced everything on my own. So, you can tell me everything. I know how to control my emotions", I explained my situation to her in a calm tone and asked her again. She took my hand in her hands.

I could say that she was hurt to listen to my sad story, but that was the bitter reality of my life and I was not ashamed to say that I had no one almost to take care of me at that tender age. "I don't know what happened to you in the past, honey. But I assure you that I will not let anyone harm you anymore, not on my watch. It doesn't matter who that person is. This includes my son too", she said in a serious tone while stroking the back of my hand with her thumb. Kyle said that she was an ideal mother figure and I completely agreed with her. She had this aura that could make anyone love her and trust her. For the first time in my life, I wanted to rely on someone and that someone was Ethan's mother.

"So... don't worry about anything now and just relaxed so that you can heal soon. I guess that Kyle has already told you that we have to go to the hospital tomorrow morning. Ethan and Kyle will go with you as I again have to go to school for the next meeting. The president, Mr Bishop, doesn't want to take any decision in rush. He is still at the school and is talking with the school management. Like me, he is also disappointed with their clumsiness and incompetent approach to these incidents. I will be in touch with you. Now you rest. I have to see Ethan", she said and patted the back of my hand gently. "Okay.... I trust you", I finally said those words to her in a sincere tone. I couldn't tell how broad her smile was when she heard me. She was overwhelmed but controlled herself. "Rest now, honey. I will be back soon", she said to me in a gentle tone and I nodded with a smile.

Falling For The Girl I Bullied Chapter 50 - Tips

Sia's P.O.V.

"Tell me what are these, Sia? Tell me", for the first time, my dad yelled at me at the top of his lungs in anger while showing me some footages on his phone. I flinched at my place harder but didn't utter a word. I was so shocked to see those footages because it was all about me hara.ssing other poor students. "You forced a girl to l!ck your boots only because she accidentally spilt some juice on your shoes. You spat on the food of another poor student and forced him to eat only for fun. You banged the head of another student to the wall because she tried to pass you in the corridor. The list is so long that I couldn't even watch all those footages. Apart from them, you tried to lock a girl in a closet for fun and then you sent your boyfriend and his team to teach that girl a lesson. What's all this, Sia?" dad was still yelling at me while telling me what he had watched till now.

His last words about David startled me because this was not what I wanted him to know. "B... boyfriend?" I uttered while looking at him in shock and fear. My mom was also sitting on the couch but she was not saying anything to interfere between us. We were in the living room of our mansion. "Yes.... Your boyfriend, the captain of the football team... do you really think that I wouldn't be able to get this information, huh? They told the whole committee that it was you who asked that captain to deal with that girl only to satisfy your ego. Do you know how embarrassed I was in that room full of people, huh? I am going to fight for the position of the Mayor and here my own daughter is", he paused and took a deep breath while running his fingers through his hair in frustration and anger.

“D... dad... I... I... this is not true”, I tried to defend myself and he immediately snapped his head towards me in anger. “This is not true? This is not true? You want to say that what I saw in the footages is fake and you are not the girl in those footages, huh? You want to say that you are not that captain’s girlfriend and all of them are lying about this, huh? You want to say that you are not involved with so many boys in school, huh?” he taunted me with so many accusations making me lower my head in shame. I couldn’t deny those footages. I really never cared about the cameras installed in the whole school because I never thought that my dad would ask to see those footages. He was president of the disciplinary committee and also one of the directors of the school. I used his influence to make teachers cooperate with me and hid all my wrongdoings but never in my dreams, had I thought about this situation.

“Tell me where we are wrong in your upbringing, Sia. Tell me what we failed to provide you”, he asked me in a disappointed and angry tone once again. I had tears in my eyes now because I had no answer to his questions. They were the best parents that I could ask. “How is that girl?” my mom asked me and I felt that someone had poured a bucket of cold water on me. Everything that was happening to me now was because of that b***h. It was her fault that she bewitched everyone, especially Kyle and his friends. “I can’t tell you how is she, Claire. She has to stay in bed for more than a week and the irony is that she is an orphan and she has no one to take care of her, unlike someone who has everything. Still, she is not satisfied”, he told my mom about Violet and at the same time taunted me too.

His words were piercing my heart with thousands of needles. I was his pride and now he was ashamed of me. “Then who is taking care of her now?” mom asked him once again in a concerned tone and I felt the anger building up inside me. “She is at Parker’s right now. Their son is also injured and Mrs Parker took that girl to her home after she got discharged from the hospital”, he told her in a gloomy tone and then sat down on the couch near her. I snapped my head towards him in disbelief. “Violet is at Parker’s?” I asked immediately in a shocked tone and he immediately glared at me angrily.

“Yes, she is at Parker’s and for your information, the son of Knight’s is also living there, thanks to you”. He once again taunted me in an angry tone. He once again stood up and strode towards me, making me take a few steps backwards in fear. “You asked me to pressure his parents to date you and I was so stupid to believe your words. With your reputation among the boys in school, do you really think that a boy like him who had self-esteem and valued his prestige would date you, huh?" his venomous words shattered my heart in thousands of pieces. It was clear to me now that I couldn't get the same treatment from my father in the future that I was getting till now.

"It's not like that, dad. I really like him so much and that's why I asked you", I tried to defend myself in this case once again but he took one more step towards me in anger and I shut my mouth swelling everything that I wanted to say to him. "You still have the audacity to say that you are not wrong, huh? Can't you realize that it's your fault that Kyle is homeless right now and is staying with his friend when he did nothing wrong", he yelled once again and I closed my eyes as tears started falling down from my eyes. "Marcus", my mom suddenly called him in a calm tone. "What?" he yelled back and this made me tremble hard in fear.

"Calm down", she said in a calm tone, and I saw her standing up from the couch. She came near us and then took dad's hand in her hand. "We can't accuse her completely for her behaviour, honey. We are also responsible here. We didn't pay attention to her lifestyle and left her of her free will. We showed the world that she is invincible because of us. So, partially we are also to be blamed", she said in a calm but cold tone. My mother was a sweet and very caring woman. She loved me more than anything in this world. I felt my heart shattered again in millions of pieces by her words now.

"Yeah... I know.. I know... it's not her but us. This is our failure and we have to face it", dad said in a defeated tone this time. "Come", she dragged dad towards the couch and then made him sit on the couch. I saw him slumped down on the couch with a broken expression on his face. He looked so tired and exhausted. "Go to your room and get ready for tomorrow. As you are also to be blamed for this incident, you have to face the trial of the disciplinary committee too with those boys. You are going to the committee meeting tomorrow with your mother. Now go away before I lost my temper once again", he said to me in a cold tone but I snapped lifted my head up in shock. "What? But why? I didn't ask them to beat Violet and Ethan. I.... I .. just asked him to teach Violet a lesson. Whatever they did was their own will", I asked him in a bit raised tone and his fists balled up in anger once again.

"Sia.... Go back to your room", mom commanded me in a stern tone. I wanted to say something to her too but her stern and cold look made me shut my mouth. I stomped my feet angrily on the floor and then stormed upstairs towards my room. David had ruined everything for me now. My parents didn't want to listen to me now. I banged close my door and threw myself on the bed in anger. "Aaaaahhhhhh", I screamed in anger and then threw the pillow somewhere in the room. I wanted to vent my anger at someone but didn't know whom. I took my phone and then dialled David's number. "What have you done, you stupid b.rat", I yelled at him as soon as he picked up the call.

"What? What did you say?" he yelled back and this fumed my anger more. He never talked back to me like this. He always sweet-talked to me and now he was showing his true colour to me. "Why did you take my name in front of my father? Now he doesn't want to listen to me", I was still yelling at him. "So you want me to sacrifice everything only to save you, huh? This was you who wanted me to teach Violet a lesson. This was you who wanted to vent her anger on her for being with the volleyball team. I am your boyfriend but you always keep your eyes on that Knight. We are all in trouble because of you and you are now yelling at me, huh? You ruined our lives, Sia. This is your fault", he yelled at me in anger once again.

"What? Are you blaming me? I didn't ask you to beat her. I didn't ask you to mess with Ethan. It's you who did everything only to boost your stupid ego", I yelled back at her in anger. My whole body was now trembling in anger. How dare he blame me when he was the culprit here. "I don't want to talk to you, Sia. Do not call me again. This is the last time we are talking. It's over between us", he said in a cold and angry tone and before I could say something, he hung up. I stared at the blank screen in disbelief. Did he dare to dump me? It was supposed to be me because it was always me who dumped the boys when I didn't find them entertaining anymore. "Aaaaahhhhhh", I screamed in anger and threw my phone on the bed. It bounced once and then fell down on the floor with a thud. I didn't pay attention to it and punched the mattress angrily.

It was all her fault. She was the one to blame here. Why was she with Ethan there? I was sure that the school would not take any action if it was not for Ethan. The whole situation got out of my hands because of her. Ethan's father was also in the competition for the position of Mayor. Her mother was vice president of the disciplinary committee and was also active on other committees. Ethan's other best friend, Noah's father was also one of the directors. That was why I never messed with them, because messing with them meant informing my father and that was what happened here. David ruined everything for me with him. Now, I didn't know what to do to get my parents' trust back. Now I had to face the trial with those stupid idiots. I didn't know what my father was going to do there but I didn't want to ruin my cheerleading captaincy because of David's stupidity. I had to do something and had to find someone who could help me but who?
