Chapter 878: Spectating

Just as Zhou Zhou and the others led their troops back to the Blazing Sun Kingdom, the Lords and native factions who had been watching in the dark continued to transmit what happened here to the outside world.

Towards this, Zhou Zhou did not make things difficult for them, nor did he force them to not spread the news.

There were too many life forms and factions watching the battle. Zhou Zhou knew that he could not stop them.

Since that was the case...

Then he would openly let the Lords of the various races know.

This way, with his reputation spreading, it would save some nameless thieves from daring to come and take advantage of him.

As for powerful enemies, as long as the True God-Tier did not descend, Zhou Zhou was not afraid of them at all.

It could be said that...

Among the Lords of All Races, even if it was the True Lord of the Original Spirit Race, the Great One Lord of the Chaos God Race, the Heaven Chasing Lord of the Mu God Race, or the Lords of other high-level bloodline races...

Zhou Zhou was no longer afraid.

This was because he and the Lords under him had developed too quickly. Especially after the appearance of a True God-Tier like "Him", he was even more unafraid of these top Lord of All Races who had once been terrifyingly powerful to him.

Even if they joined forces and used all their trump cards to deal with him, Zhou Zhou would not be too worried that the other party would pose any threat to him.

This was the super confidence brought about by super strength.

In the current situation, they were the ones who should be afraid!

Zhou Zhou's calm expression contained unparalleled confidence and domineeringness.

"It's time for me to make the top Lord of All Races fear me." Zhou Zhou muttered.

Just as he had expected, after he killed Occles Zell, a Low-Tier pseudo True God-Tier, and won this unprecedented battle involving ten billion soldiers and nearly 200 God Spirits,

All the Lords and local factions fell silent.

The Great One Lord, the Heaven Chasing Lord, the Spiritual Venerable Lord, the Asura Lord, the Skeleton Lord, and the other top Lord of All Races looked at the domineering and dignified human figure in the video and felt an irresistible sense of despair.

Even though they were all from top-notch bloodline races and had the foundation of countless races and civilizations behind them, their bloodlines made them innately several times better than other races. Fighting above their level was as simple as eating and drinking to them.

The difficulty of becoming a God Spirit was much lower than that of other low-level bloodline life forms. Even after becoming a god, their combat strength and future potential were stronger than gods of the same level...

Frankly speaking, the difference between this bloodline was no longer just a small difference.

But so what?

The stalwart man in the video, even if he had nothing at the beginning and was only a human from a low-middle-class bloodline, had now left them far behind after a very short period of development. He could not even see their exhaust.

While they were still feeling smug at the Extraordinary-Tier, Epic-Tier, and Legendary-Tier levels, the other party actually already had the combat power of a True God-Tier. He already had countless God Spirits under his command, and the number of soldiers was calculated in billions...

This difference was more than ridiculous?!

It was as if a big shot from the later stages of the version had suddenly descended in a newbie town that had just opened.

It was simply suppression of an entirely new dimension!

"Could 'He' be the son of the Supreme Will? How else could 'He' develop so quickly? 'He' even has so many God Spirit-level subordinates!"

The Lords of All Races who came from top-notch bloodlines could not help but let their imaginations run wild.

"Definitely not all the God Spirits under King of the Blazing Sun belong to him. But even so, the other party can call over so many God Spirits to fight for him at the risk of their lives. This King of the Blazing Sun is also very impressive. I wonder what is the price he paid."

"The most terrifying thing is that the King of the Blazing Sun can actually defeat a True God and have the strength of a True God-Tier. Even if it's only temporary, it's still unimaginable."

"Let me tell you a joke. Our Water Essence Clan's ancestor, Blue Ancestor, is a Low-Level True God-Tier God Spirit. However, I feel that our ancestor might not be able to defeat the King of the Blazing Sun in that state just now because our ancestor doesn't have any True God-Tier Divine Artifacts..."

"What's there to fight for! Just give the Lord of All Races to the King of the Blazing Sun!"

"Fortunately, I know my limits. Ever since I participated in the Lord of All Races Competition, I didn't think of fighting for the Lord of All Races. If I also wanted to fight for the Lord of All Races, I would have to enter seclusion for 100,000 years and not want to come out after seeing this scene."

"You can't say that. The Lord of All Races Competition hasn't ended yet. It's still not certain who the Lord of All Races will fall into the hands of. From the looks of it, the King of the Blazing Sun only temporarily has the combat power of a semi True God-Tier Elementary Grade. In front of the great races and civilizations behind those top Lords of All Races, it's actually nothing. In their race, there are many Master God-Tiers, let alone True God-Tier."

"You're going to invite him?"

"The Lord of The Blazing Sun must be stupid to provoke the race civilization behind the Lord of All Races. With the supreme agreement protecting him, King of the Blazing Sun can play however he wants in this Myriad Race Competition with his strength and Lord's faction. Who can stop him?!"

...

The Lords of the myriad races and the local Lord factions began to discuss the topic of the King of the Blazing Sun.

Previously, King of the Blazing Sun had relied on his human background to reach the top of the faction points ranking of the Lords of All Races. It had only attracted the attention of the Lords of All Races and the civilization of the myriad races. They had decided to find an opportunity to get rid of him.

After this battle, the threat that the King of the Blazing Sun posed to the civilization behind the Lords of All Races and the Lords of the myriad races instantly rose to a tricky level!

He had only descended to the High Continent for a short period of time, but he already had the combat strength of a True God-Tier!

What would happen if he continued to develop?

All the Lords and civilizations knew that they had to get rid of the Lord of The Blazing Sun!

"They" immediately contacted the Lords of their race to discuss how to deal with the King of the Blazing Sun together.

Even though they could not bypass the Supreme Agreement, they could still do some small tricks that could help their Lord at some price.

At the same time, their gazes were also fixed on the human faction behind the Lord of The Blazing Sun.

There were countless races in the myriad worlds!

As a high and mighty top-notch bloodline race, they did not have a deep impression of the human race in the past. They only vaguely remembered that there was a rather famous human, Pangu, who was suspected to have grasped a high-level divine artifact. Later on, the other party disappeared without a trace, and the high-level divine artifact also disappeared without a trace. They could not remember the human race even more.

And now, their gazes landed on the humans again.

The Supreme Agreement made "Them" temporarily unable to kill the Lord of The Blazing Sun.

However, it was very easy for them to attack the entire human race since they were only a middle-grade race with a few True God-Tiers.

They only needed to mobilize a portion of their strength to easily destroy it!
