

Gluey Love 1071

Chapter 1071

"Drink some water." Amelia handed the water to him.

Lucian lowered his head slightly to look at her and said, "Thank you!" He took the water, took a sip and put it back on the table, not saying anything else.

Seeing Lucian like this, Amelia felt that she was going crazy.

His personality was really unpleasant.

She hated him when he didn't speak. If he had something to say, he could just say it.

Amelia was roaring madly in heart.

At this moment, her phone suddenly rang.

She looked down and found that it was a strange number.

She frowned slightly and then answered it.

"Hello?"

"Amelia, are you all right?" Kevin's concerned voice came from the phone. She was somewhat puzzled and wondered why Kevin knew her phone number.

"How do you know my phone number?" Amelia asked in surprise.

Lucian glanced at her and did not say anything.

"Amelia, didn't I tell you that my aunt lives in the same neighborhood with you? I called her, and then she asked your mother for your phone number. You left like that, and I'm worried about you."

"Oh!" Amelia said softly, "Kevin, I'm fine. You don't have to worry."

Originally, Lucian had calmed down, but he was stimulated again when he heard Kevin's name.

He immediately got up, snatched Amelia's phone and hung up the phone.

Amelia was speechless. What was he doing?

She was annoyed as well. Standing up, she looked at Lucian in confusion, "Lucian, you're insane. What the hell are you doing? What the hell do you want?"

She was as angry as a little lion. It was the first time he had seen her lose her temper at him.

"Ha-ha..." He laughed, "I thought you would never get mad." That was why she was always bullied.

"Who... said that I wouldn't get mad? What are you doing? I was going on a blind date. Why did you take me here?" Amelia braced herself to look at Lucian.

Lucian was very tall, and she could only barely reach his shoulder.

He looked so aggressive, and the atmosphere oppressed her.

He looked down at her with a complicated expression in eyes, "They're not suitable for you."

Amelia was stunned. What did it have to do with him?

However, she did not have the courage to ask him.

"That's none of your business." As soon as Amelia finished her words, she immediately lowered her head, not daring to look straight into his intense eyes.

The expression in Lucian's eyes changed a bit. When he was about to speak, someone knocked on the door.

"Come in." He said in a deep and cold voice.

Amelia thought that she knew him well. They had been working together for more than a year. It was not until this moment that she realized that she only knew him on the surface.

He was wary of everyone except for his friends.

It was hard for him to believe ordinary people.

Even her...

How could he accept her?

Amelia smiled self-mockingly, but she didn't know why Lucian did this.

Several waiters served the dishes on the table quietly and left silently. They didn't disturb Lucian and Amelia.

Lucian did not need anyone to serve him, and he had ordered them in the message.

He looked at Amelia, "Have your meal first."

"Humph! Fine. It's rare for me enjoy such a meal. Anyway, you will pay the bill, and I won't stand on ceremony."

Amelia walked over angrily and sat down, but Lucian smiled as he looked at her back.

She was really mad. They had worked together for a year, but he seldom saw her so annoyed.

They sat down to eat, and Amelia did not stand on ceremony. Anyway, it was not the first time she had eaten with him. She had got used to it and was no longer reserved.

At this time, she was very angry, so she would only do what she wanted.

In this world, something was irreconcilable with modern life, and she had to accept someone she didn't like because of work.

In this society, everyone had his own pain and secret. She really didn't need to think too much.

However, she couldn't bear to eat the dishes when she saw how elaborate and exquisitely-made they were.

She glared at Lucian, picked up a piece of fried rose-shaped meat and had a bite.

"Wow! What is this? The taste is amazing. It's delicious, crispy, and not greasy." Amelia gave full play to her nature. Anyway, it was impossible for her and Lucian to be together. She did not want to be as obedient as before.

After she got off work, she was Amelia, not the gentle and quiet assistant.

Lucian glanced at it and said, "This is rose fish fillet."

"Fish." Amelia was surprised to hear that.

"Yeah!" Lucian nodded, filled her bowl with chicken soup and placed it in front of her, "Drink some soup before eating. It's good for your stomach."

Amelia said, "There's no need to be so fussy." However, she was very grateful for his thoughtfulness.

Lucian found that she was a bit different from before. In the past, she was always very cautious in front of him, and she was quiet and well-behaved.

At this time, he actually felt that her character was a little interesting.

Seeing Amelia lower her head to drink the soup, he smiled faintly, and his cold eyes were full of tenderness. He also picked up the chopsticks to eat, but he ate very elegantly.

Amelia did not care about all these. She ate all the dishes without any hesitation, touched her belly with satisfaction and looked at Lucian, "I'm stuffed to the gills."

Lucian nodded, "Of course. You've eaten all the dishes."

Amelia complained, "I ate a lot because the food is so yummy."

Lucian was speechless. Rich people wouldn't spend money here for nothing. The food was absolutely worthy of the prices.

He didn't like being served, so he didn't order high-level service.

He said, "Since you like it, I'll take you here again."

Amelia was dumbfounded, "Again? Don't you know that I'm on a blind date?"

Lucian looked at her quietly, "I said that those people are not suitable for you."

Amelia retorted with her mouth puckered, "I will meet someone suitable sooner or later."

Lucian moved his slightly stiff back. Then he tilted his head slightly, narrowed his eyes and looked at her with annoyance, "Do you want to get married that much?"

Amelia bit her lower lip gently, not knowing how to answer him.

She wanted to get married, but she wanted to marry the person she loved.

Working in Alwynn Group indeed made her life better, but she had fallen in love with Lucian.

"You should know that my mother keeps asking me to go on blind dates." She made up an excuse that couldn't even convince herself.

Lucian pursed his lips slightly and looked at her quietly. She lowered her head. Obviously, she was trying to avoid something that she did not want to face.

Chapter 1072

In fact, her mother wished she could marry a rich man so that she could get enough money to support Neal to get married.

How could she not know what her mother was thinking?

She knew about it clearly, but she couldn't bear to refuse her mother.

Lucian said, "If you're too softhearted, you'll always be hurt and live in sorrow, but no one will care about you! Do you want to live such a life?"

Amelia suddenly looked up at him. At the moment, he could see her through.

She pursed her lips slightly and smiled bitterly, "Do I have the right to choose? As I grow up, I become more sensible, and my life becomes harder. In this world, what hurts my heart is not only family affection." She raised her head and looked at Lucian bravely, "But also... something in the name of love."

Lucian narrowed his eyes slightly. Something in the name of love?

He lowered his head slightly and didn't speak.

At this time, he was experiencing a maelstrom of churning emotions inside.

Harm in the name of love.

What did it mean to him?

Seeing him lower his head, Amelia felt so painful and disappointed in heart.

Since he didn't like her, how could she brace herself to be with him?

She picked up the bag beside her and stood up to look at him, "Thank you for treating me to dinner tonight. I'll go back first."

She turned around and was about to leave.

Lucian reached out to pull her, and then she fell into his arms.

"Ah... "

Smelling his familiar and pleasant smell, Amelia panicked.

"Lucian, what are you doing?"

She looked up at him with a puzzled face, and her whole body was trembling. It was the first time that they had been so close to each other.

Lucian's cold eyes turned intense and affectionate. He lowered his head and stared at her flustered face quietly, but he did not say a word.

"Lucian..."

Before Amelia could finish her words, Lucian lowered her head and kissed her on the lips.

Amelia opened her eyes wide and looked at him in disbelief.

However, she accepted his kiss soon. She loved him and had been looking forward such a night, and it really happened...

The next day.

Eden arrived at the office. Seeing that Amelia had not come to work, she did not think much and cleaned up the office casually.

There was no morning conference, so she started a day's work.

As soon as she turned on the computer, Victor walked in with a glass of warm water.

Eden smiled, "What's wrong?"

Victor took a look at Amelia's seat and smiled, "Lucian doesn't come to work, neither does Amelia. Last night, they lived in Marriott Hotel."

"Oh!" Eden was very surprised, and then she grinned immediately, "Why does their relationship develop so fast?"

Victor put the water in front of her, "I heard that Amelia had been going on blind dates in the past few days. Lucian must be worried when he heard that."

"Oh, Amelia didn't tell me about the blind dates. She obviously likes Lucian, but why did she go on blind dates?" Eden couldn't figure it out.

Victor shook his head slightly, "It's hard to explain the relationship. Eden, I'll go to the north district later. Originally, Lucian was supposed to go with me. I'm afraid that he won't come to work today. I have to go there alone. I've ordered your lunch and snacks for you, and I'll come back to pick you up in the afternoon."

Eden nodded with a smile, "I can work here alone. You don't have to worry about me. Be careful on the road and come back early."

"Okay!" Victor lowered his head and kissed her forehead. Then, he gave her a loving look, "Honey, I love you!"

Victor said with a smile, lowered his head and kissed her lips gently before he left with satisfaction.

"Victor." Eden stopped him.

Victor had walked to the door. Hearing this, he stopped and turned to look at her with a tender smile.

Eden smiled and said, "I love you too!"

Victor said, "Eden, I can't bear to leave you now."

"Ha-ha... Go ahead. Drive slowly and don't make haste to come back. I'll wait for you in the company."

"Okay!" Victor smiled and turned to leave.

Eden smiled faintly and felt a little disconsolate in heart.

It was as if he had taken away her heart when he left.

Eden felt a little uneasy, but she didn't think too much. Perhaps it was because he rarely left her like this during this period of time.

At the same time, Malcom, who was working in the company, suddenly received a phone call from Neal.

Malcom frowned slightly and answered the phone.

"Didn't I tell you not to call me?"

"Bad news! They've found what we did, and the police are searching for me everywhere."

"What? Didn't I ask you to go abroad? Where are you now?" Malcom roared angrily.

"The money you gave me is not enough for me to go abroad. I've spent a lot of money on hiding myself these days. If you don't want me to betray you, transfer another sum of money to me immediately. I don't want to go to jail."

"B*stard! Isn't the enough money for you to go abroad?" Malcom didn't expect that something bad would happen at this time.

He watched Victor drive out alone.

He knew Victor's schedule. That day, he had a very important meeting in the Marketing Department in the north district.

Malcom asked, "Where are you now?"

"I've fled back to River City, and I'm in the north district now."

"Really?" Malcom looked at the direction in which Victor left.

He sneered and said, "Call your younger sister. Tell her that you are there and ask her to help you. I can't help you."

"Why should I call her? She can't do anything to help me."

Malcom laughed and said, "Don't you know that she is working in Alwynn Group? Alwynn Group and Clement Group are related, and they are all looking for you. If they find you, you'll be done for."

"It's all your fault!" Neal roared madly.

Malcom smiled, "You can't blame me. Just blame yourself for being greedy."

"Whether you believe it or not, I'll tell the police what you have done immediately. Anyway, I've been detained several times, so I'm not afraid."

His threatening voice did not scare Malcom.

"It's up to you. Without evidence, who will believe what you say?"

"You..."

"If you have nothing else to say, I'll hang up. I have other things to do."

Malcom hung up quickly.

He had been tracking Victor's car.

"Victor, the sea in the north district is very beautiful. It'll be the place that you die." Victor's car was related to his computer. He could control the car's braking system. Even if Victor drove at a very slow speed, he could turn over the car.

Therefore, Lucian couldn't find anything suspicious after checking his cars for two days.

Lucian did not know about such a computer skill.

Chapter 1073

Otherwise, he would not be so confident.

Victor was about to arrive at the the north district in forty minutes.

But such an accident had happened, so he had to make another decision.

He had to leave this place. Otherwise, he would be in trouble.

He'd better have two strings to his bow.

He had hacked the computer system of Clement Group, and transferred a large sum of money to Haven's account.

Then he hacked Alwynn Group and waited for an opportunity. He had wanted to steal the money from Alwynn Group for a long time.

As long as he transferred the money to his bank account, he could leave a rich life after leaving this city.

"Bang..." He kicked the computer desk with great strength. This was not the result he wanted, and he wanted more.

It was a pity that Neal, the good-for-nothing, actually came back.

He sat down, picked up his phone and dialed Haven's number.

"Hello? Malcom."

Malcom said, "Haven, I transferred another large sum of money to your account. Do you want to go abroad with me? Things are in a bad way."

Hearing this, Haven was completely shocked.

"What happened?"

Malcom said, "The man who framed Delmont has come back. The police have know what he did, and they are hot on his trail."

"What? Didn't you say that no accident would happen?" Haven suddenly felt very uneasy and her voice became sharper.

Malcom said, "I asked him to go abroad, but he didn't listen to me."

Haven said, "Malcom, once we go abroad together, everything we have done will be exposed. You know what will happen to us at that time. I don't want to go to jail."

Malcom sighed and said, "I know. Haven, don't worry. I won't let you go to jail. I'll think of other ways." After finishing his words, he hung up the phone.

He still had some time. If Victor had an accident, no one would pay attention to him. Maybe he could take a gamble.

After Victor left for half an hour, Lucian and Amelia came to the company together.

However, Amelia looked a little abnormal. Seeing her like this, Eden didn't ask anything.

As soon as Amelia sat down, Lucian walked to her again.

Amelia became nervous again when she saw Lucian. She blushed scarlet and shrank her head, not daring to look at Lucian.

What had happened last night came to her mind again.

She immediately lowered her head. Lucian glanced at her tenderly and then looked at Eden, "Has Victor gone to the north district?"

"Yes!" Eden nodded with a smile, "He said that he would come back before work."

"Oh!" Lucian nodded. Glancing at Amelia who was so shy, he smiled faintly and turned to leave.

Eden looked at Amelia and smiled, "Amelia, your face is so red." It seemed that something had indeed happened between them last night.

Amelia raised her head shyly and looked at Eden, "Director Bleu... I'm sorry. I'm late for work today."

Eden shook her head with a smile, "It's okay. We don't have much work to do today. However, did you and Mr. Ronen..."

Eden didn't finish her question.

However, Amelia nodded coyly, "I don't know why, but... things went out of control."

"Ha-ha..." Eden could understand her.

"Congratulations." She said with a grin.

"Alas!" Amelia sighed.

Last night, she was willing to have sex with him. After all, she really loved him.

She was totally into him.

When having sex with him, she finally realized that she had been crazy about him.

There were lots of men in this big world, but she only loved Lucian.

"Why do you sigh? Isn't it a good thing?" Eden looked at her and knew why she was upset.

Amelia felt a little helpless, "Director Bleu, you know my family. I am afraid that Lucian's parents will not accept a daughter-in-law like me."

She was supposed to leave last night.

She had been very satisfied with that kiss.

She wanted to leave, but Lucian couldn't control himself.

She didn't even know how they started. In short, they had sex last night.

Eden said, "Amelia, Lucian is a very responsible man. Since he has been with you, he will think about what to do next. You only need to trust him."

"Thank you!" Amelia nodded. After hearing Eden's words, she became confident again.

Eden lowered her head and continued to work, but she was somewhat uneasy.

She took a look at the time. Victor was on the highway, and he was about to arrive at the north district.

Panicked, she picked up her phone and dialed Victor's number.

The phone was soon connected.

"Hello? Honey, I've arrived at the north district." Victor's gentle voice was heard.

"Okay, I'm relieved now." Just as Eden was about to hang up the phone, Victor said, "Eden, there are a lot of specialties here. What would you like to eat?"

Eden thought for a moment and said, "Buy as you see fit. I like all of them."

"Okay, honey, I see." Victor smiled. There was a tight bend in the front. He stepped on the brakes, only to find that there was no brakes. He frowned slightly and stepped hard a few times, but the car did not stop. He took a turn, but the steering wheel failed. The car rushed toward the cliff, and he didn't even have time to jump off.

"Eden!" Victor screamed in fear. Looking at the sea under the cliff, he opened his eyes wide violently.

Eden's heart skipped a beat when she heard that. She was flustered to the extreme and her heart jumped wildly.

"Victor, what's wrong with you?" She asked anxiously.

"I'm sorry, Eden. There is no brake in the car. Eden, I'm sorry... Bang..."

All of a sudden, Victor's voice could no longer be heard. Instead, Eden heard the sound of a car crash.

"Victor! Victor..." Eden shouted loudly in fear.

"Bang..." She heard the loud sound of something hitting the water, "No! Victor..." She screamed in horror.

"Director Bleu." Amelia looked at Eden who was had a heart-wrenching pain.

She had no idea what was going on.

"Ah... No... Victor, answer me! What's wrong with you... Why don't you speak..."

However, only beeping sound could be heard.

Seeing this, Amelia immediately ran out to find Lucian.

After hearing Amelia's description, Lucian hurried over to see Eden.

"Eden, what happened?"

"Victor, answer me!" Tears streamed down Eden's cheeks as she shouted.

She acted as if she didn't see Lucian.

Lucian frowned and held her shoulders with strength, "Eden, look at me."

"Ah..." With tears on her face, Eden looked at him with her lips trembling and tried best to keep calm, "Victor said that... there was no brake... in the car. I... heard the sound of hitting and falling into water. Victor... had an accident." She completed the short sentence with great difficulty.

Lucian's eyes suddenly widened when he heard that.

"Victor." He quickly got up and told Amelia, "Take care of Eden."

Before he could finish his words, he had rushed out of the door.

After he got out of the office, he immediately called the police.

Then he called Anson and Adonis.

They went to the north district with Eden as fast as they could.

When they arrived, the police had been there.

Lucian had made a call to confirm that Victor had not arrived at the the north district.

He knew the police in the north district. After all, Victor had a wide range of contacts, and he had been maintaining his connections.

"Mr. Taylor, have you found out anything?" Lucian rushed over and asked quickly.

Amelia pushed Eden's wheelchair, and Eden waited for the answer nervously.

Adonis pushed Anson and they all looked at the policeman with expectation.

The policeman shook his head slightly, "The situation is not very hopeful. We can confirm that Mr. Alwynn's car fell from here. There are some debris of car on the cliff, and there are no signs of an emergency brake. After hitting the cliff, the car fell directly into the sea. After you called the police, we contacted the firefighters and salvaged his car as fast as we could, but the sea is very deep. It has been an hour..." As he said this, he shook his head with grief.

Hearing this, Eden looked at him in disbelief.

She couldn't see anything clearly, and she was about to have a nervous breakdown.

She shook her head hard to stay sober, and her heart was very painful. She looked at the blue sea and almost lost conscience.

After a while, she came to sense and shouted at the sea sadly, "No... Victor, you can't do this to me!"

More than an hour ago, he was so gentle and considerate when he left her.

"Honey, I love you."

"I've ordered your lunch and snacks for you, and I'll come back to pick you up in the afternoon." These gentle words were still ringing in her ears.

"Woo-woo..." Eden burst into tears. She was filled with grave sorrow and couldn't stop crying.

Amelia looked down at her with a distressed face. At this moment, no matter what she said to comfort her, it would be useless.

The feeling of losing her beloved man was really worse than death, wasn't it?

She did not want anything bad to happen to Victor. Victor was a good man. It said that God blessed good people. Victor was a strong man, so he would not die so easily.

Lucian was dealt a severe blow and took a few steps back.

"Victor." He looked at the blue sea with a mournful face.

The firefighters and the police had commanded the sea area. They jumped into the sea and salvaged Victor's car constantly.

Lucian did not believe that Victor would leave them like this.

He looked back at the policeman and said, "Mr. Taylor, start an investigation into this case, but I hope you won't make the news public. The brakes couldn't have disappeared for no reason. I had a comprehensive examination of his cars two days ago and there was nothing wrong with them."

Anson and Adonis did not believe the fact.

However, Adonis received a phone call from Brian at this time.

"Hello?" Adonis's voice was grieved and sad.

Brian said, "Mr. Church, the start-up fund of Alwynn Group, I mean, the one billion dollars used for real estate, haven been transferred away by someone."

"What?" Adonis could not believe what he had heard.

"Investigate it for me! Who on earth is it? Which b*stard is it? This is simply a premeditated murder!" Hearing Adonis's mad and loud roar, everyone was shocked.

Eden immediately stopped crying when she heard the word "murder".

No, she could not be so fragile. She did not believe that Victor, who had loved her for so long, would leave her like this.

Adonis walked to the policeman with an angry face and looked at him seriously, "Mr. Taylor, this must be a murder. As soon as Victor had an accident, one billion dollars were transferred away from our company. Obviously, that person did it for money."

The policeman heard it and nodded immediately.

"I'll report it to my superiors and start an investigation into this case." He turned around and made a phone call.

Lucian suppressed the sadness and anger in his heart, "They are Haven and Malcom. I can't think of anyone else who would cast a greedy eye on the property of Alwynn Group except for them."

While he was talking, his phone rang again. Seeing that it was a phone call from Brian, he quickly answered it. "Mr. Ronen, two hours ago, five hundred million dollars were transferred away from Clement Group for no reason. The money was still transferred to the unknown account. However, we found other cameras in the underground parking lot of Alwynn Group. It is obvious that someone is monitoring Mr. Alwynn's whereabouts. We had a check-up, and I am afraid that Mr. Alwynn's car has been controlled by a hacker."

"If they did something to the car, we would find it easily. Mr. Alwynn's cars were connected to the network. Although it is much safer than before, there are many loopholes. Many hackers can easily find these loopholes and attack the system."

Lucian opened his eyes wide when he heard that, "D*mn it! when I examined Victor's cars before, I only paid attention to the insides of the cars and ignored the network system. They took advantage of it."

Brian said, "Mr. Ronen, how is Mr. Alwynn now? I don't believe that he would die like that."

Lucian glanced at the sea with a painful heart. Then he looked at Eden who remained silent and said in a deep voice, "We haven't found him yet."

Brian said in a deep voice, "I believe he will be all right. By the way, Neal is in the north district. We are on our way to the north district with the police."

"That's great." Lucian hung up the phone, turned around and walked to Eden. He squatted down and looked at her with distress. At this moment, she was trying her best to remain calm, but his heart ached more when he saw her like this.

"Eden..."

"He will be fine." Eden interrupted him stiffly.

Lucian pursed his lips slightly, "Eden, we all hope that Victor will be safe and sound. But it is windy here. Could you go back to the car to wait?"

Eden shook her head slightly, "No, I have to wait for him here."

Seeing that she was so stubborn, Lucian did not say anything else.

Victor had a great influence on River City. A lot of police officers were sent to search for him.

At almost five o'clock in the afternoon, his car was finally salvaged, but unfortunately, Victor was not in the car.

The car door next to the driver's seat was open. The police sent technical staff to check and confirmed that Victor had opened the door himself. The door was not knocked open by external force.

Eden couldn't accept this result, but she was still hopeful. Since she hadn't seen his dead body, he was still alive.

By six o'clock in the afternoon, everyone in the Clement family, Jaida and Zaiden knew about Victor's accident.

Chapter 1075

Abigail and Jasper went there in a hurry.

The police withheld the news from the public. Only they knew about Victor's accident.

No one dared to tell Graciella and Phillip. After all, Graciella was going to give birth.

Phillip suffered from hypertension, and he was in poor health, so they didn't want anything bad to happen to them.

At home, Eden was overwhelmed by deep sorrow.

The three children were in pain as well.

They went back to their own rooms and cried secretly.

Kenneth did not believe that Victor had died like that.

He got all the information from Lucian.

Then he called his master in person.

"Seven." His voice was always so proud and casual.

Kenneth said in a deep voice, "Master, my father had an accident. His car was controlled by a hacker and he fell into the sea. We haven't found him yet."

"What?" His master was very surprised.

"Seven, you must be very sad now, right? I was investigating the matter you told me yesterday, so I neglected the problem in your father's parking lot. Seven, cheer up. Find the murderer and take revenge for your father. I will try my best to help you."

His voice was no longer casual, but grieved and concerned.

"Thank you, master!" After Kenny hung up the phone, he glanced outside the window. It was already dark.

His mother was staying alone. What should she do?

He went downstairs on tiptoes. It was dark in the living room on the first floor. When he walked to the door of Eden's room, he heard her sobbing.

He gently pushed the door open and went in. Only a bedside lamp was turned on in the room. In front of the window, Eden was holding the photo of her and Victor and crying mournfully.

His heart ached so much that he bit his lower lip hard. Then he ran over and hugged Eden's weak body.

"Mom, don't cry. Dad will be fine. Since we haven't seen his dead body, there's a hope." He was not good at comforting others. He didn't know how to speak flowery language and readily spoke his mind.

He knew that Eden's heart ached severely.

But she had to hold on.

"Woo-Woo... Kenny, my heart hurts." Eden leaned against Kenny's shoulder painfully and closed her eyes tightly. Tears poured down her face and dropped on Kenny's thin shoulder and hair.

Kenny's arrival made her feel as if she had caught at a straw.

Kenny's face was full of tears, but he tried his best not to cry out loud.

Eden's heart was so painful as if it was being stabbed by a sharp knife. Her sorrow was so intense it seemed to be destroying her.

A wave of grief flooded her. She felt painful all over, and she was even uncomfortable while breathing.

Her world was completely dark.

She had fallen into the depth of despair and lost all her happiness. No vestige of light shed in her life.

"Mom, let's wait for dad to come back together, okay? Mom, don't cry, okay?" Kenny readily spoke his mind.

He had never seen Eden so helpless and painful.

Victor had had an accident, and he didn't want anything bad to happen to Eden.

For them, as long as Eden was fine, their world would be bright.

He wished that Victor could be safe and sound, so that their family could be warm and happy.

But things happened so fast that they were caught unprepared.

Listening to Kenny's words, Eden suppressed her sobs. She raised her head and opened her eyes, only to see that Kenny's small face was full of tears.

She was stunned, as if she had lost her soul.

Trembling, she reached out and wiped the tears on Kenny's cheeks.

At this time, she realized that if she was sad, it would only bring more pain to her children and relatives.

She looked at Kenny with a forced smile, "Kenny, I can feel that your father is all right. Let's wait for him to come back together."

OK!" Kenny nodded, but he couldn't hold back his tears anymore.

"Mom, dad will be fine. He had been looking for you for so many years. It was hard for him to find you. He won't leave you alone, and he will definitely find a way to survive and go back to you." He comforted Eden and himself like this.

"Yeah!" Eden nodded. Her eyes were red and swollen, and she felt very uncomfortable.

"Mom, you didn't have dinner. Let me get you some bread."

Eden shook her head slightly, "I'm not hungry."

The expression in Kenny's eyes changed. How could she not be hungry?

She hated starving the most. If she was hungry, she would feel bad.

"Would you like to sleep? You can't get sick." He had lost his father, so he couldn't lose his mother.

"Okay!" Eden lowered her head and took a look at the photo of her and Victor.

He liked to take a few pictures every few days, print them and then keep them in the album.

He said that these pictures would become their old memories in the future.

He was very happy every day. At night, he would hold her in his arms and said to her gently, "Honey, I love you. Call me sweetheart."

Thinking of these, Eden felt extremely uncomfortable. She hadn't called him sweetheart.

He always hoped that she would call him like this.

Kenneth stood up and fetched some hot water. He wiped Eden's face for her and let her have a foot bath for ten minutes.

If Victor was here, he would do these things, because he always treated Eden very thoughtfully. Since Victor was not here, he would do these things on his behalf.

Kenneth pushed Eden's wheelchair to the bedside.

Eden slowly used some strength, got on the bed and lay down.

She patted the place next to her, "Kenny, just stay with me, okay?" She needed some power to support herself. Her heart was empty and painful, and she was about to have a nervous breakdown.

With Kenny by her side, she knew that she could hold on.

Kenneth nodded, climbed into bed slowly and lay down.

Then he covered Eden with the quilt.

"Mom, don't be afraid. I'll protect you all the time."

"I know!" Eden closed her eyes, but all she thought about was Victor's gentle expression and doting tone when he left her in the morning.

Why was he so cruel to her? After so many years of suffering, he finally had her by his side, but happiness was so short. They had a lot of things to do, and they had not yet completed their dreams together.

Such a cruel thing happened to them.

In the dark night, Eden's pale and weak face twisted in sorrow. It had been so long, but they hadn't found him. In fact, she had guessed the result.

But no matter how desperate she was, she would not believe that he had died. He must be alive and staying somewhere in this world.

Early the next morning, everyone was worried about Eden, and Abigail and Jasper came to accompany her early in the morning, for fear that she would hurt herself in extreme grief.

However, to everyone's surprise, Eden took care of the three children normally before they went to school.

With a mirthless heart, Jaida cooked porridge for them.

Eden did not say anything and ate a large bowl of porridge.

Jaida, Abigail, Jasper and Zaiden knew Eden very well.

The more she behaved like this, the more worried they became.

Chapter 1076

Jaida's eyes were red and swollen. She closed her eyes forcefully. After knowing about Victor's accident, she seemed to have become much older overnight. She looked at Eden with tears in her eyes, "Eden, are you going to work today?"

Eden looked up at Jaida. When she saw the tears in her eyes, her heart hurt instantly.

But she could not show any panic or grief in front of them, or they would be more mournful.

"Dad, mom, believe me. Victor will come back. He's fine. We don't need to be so pessimistic. He can't bear to leave us. He will try his best to survive and come back to find us."

They hadn't found his dead body yet. Since his body hadn't been found, she wouldn't believe that he was dead.

Jaida nodded. Perhaps Eden could go on living with such a hope in her heart.

Tears ran down Jaida's face uncontrollably. Zaiden patted her on the back gently.

Seeing that Eden pretended to be strong, Zaiden was more brokenhearted, "Eden, why don't you go to the company after resting for a few days? Lucian is in charge of the company. Nothing bad will happen."

Jasper said worriedly aside, "Eden, listen to your father and rest for a few days at home."

Eden shook her head slightly, glanced at them and pursed her lips slightly. Her heart was so bitter that she was almost unable to speak. She choked a few times before saying, "Dad, Jasper, Abby, mom, you really don't have to worry about me. I know you definitely don't believe what I said. I have a strong feeling that Victor is still alive, so I have to manage his company well and wait for him to come back. He had waited for me for more than ten years, and he made it. From now on, it's my turn to wait for him."

"Eden." Jasper looked at her worriedly.

Eden looked at him and did not say anything.

One billion dollars had been transferred from the company.

They hadn't found out the culprit, so she couldn't be so depressed. She must cheer up and deal with the affairs in the company first. Only then could she wait for Victor to come back at ease.

At this time, she could understand the anxious and helpless feeling he had when he was waiting for her to wake up.

When he thought that she might never wake up, he must have a heart-wrenching pain as well.

In the end, Eden went to work at the company.

Seeing her come to the company, Lucian and Amelia were concerned about her.

However, Eden said nothing and continued to work and eat as usual. When she went to the toilet, she would occasionally need Amelia's help.

Lucian made the best use of his time and investigated Victor's accident.

With the help of the police, he tried to find some evidence on Haven and Malcom.

He asked Amelia to work harder during this period of time and help Eden as much as possible.

Malcom witnessed the whole process of Victor's accident.

After getting one billion dollars, he was so happy that he had sex with Haven for half a night.

Even at this moment, they were still lying on bed and didn't want to get up.

Of course, Malcom did not tell Haven that Victor had had an accident.

After all, the police had withheld the news from public, and there were not many people who knew about Victor's accident.

Haven was always calm. Seeing that he was very excited, she asked, "Malcom, you've been very happy since last night. Did something good happen?"

Haven wrapped herself with the quilt and sat up. Her waist was sore and her back ached. After having sex for a long time, she was exhausted, but she felt satisfied both physically and mentally, so she didn't mind the pain at all.

"Yep!" Malcom smiled very evilly as he gently touched her fair skin.

After a year of careful consideration, he schemed the accident very secretly.

He could guarantee that there wouldn't be any mistake.

With his skills and means, he could own those money in a legal way.

Haven suddenly felt a little uneasy and asked, "Malcom, have you dealt with Neal? If he is caught by the police, the fact that I framed Delmont will be exposed and I'll be driven out of the Clement family."

Malcom was worried about this matter as well. After all, he didn't know much about Neal, and Neal was introduced to him by his friend.

"Haven, he is still in the north district. I've been curious to know why the police suspect him." Did something go wrong? He was sure that there was no security camera in the corridor.

Yesterday, he had been monitoring Victor and did not think too much. At this time, he had time to think about it and found that something was wrong.

He didn't know why the police wanted to arrest Neal. Was it because of what Neal had done before or this matter?

Haven had been uneasy because of this, and she was very annoyed. Malcom actually made such a big mistake.

"If you have his phone number, call him and ask him. We can be more at ease after knowing the answer." Haven leaned against his arms with depression. Looking at sunshine outside the window, she said in a deep voice, "Malcom, I can't lose everything I have now. In order to get all these, I have lost too much."

Malcom patted her back and comforted her, "Haven, don't worry. I won't let anything bad happen to you." However, once what he had done was exposed, he couldn't protect her anymore.

He liked her. At the same time, he used her to get everything he wanted.

Haven nodded and was very satisfied with his attitude.

She had been feeling herself inferior since she was a child, and she smiled to flatter others all the time. However, Malcom treated her differently and listened to her in every aspect, which gave her an inexplicable sense of superiority and advanced her presence.

She got a lot of comfort from him.

"Haven, with the money you own now, you can buy another thirty percent of the shares and get Clement Group. Have you thought about what to do?" Malcom lowered his head and stared at her intently.

Haven's face lit up with joy when she heard that.

"I have owned some shares. Now, as long as I buy another thirty percent of the shares, I'll become the biggest shareholder of Clement Group." She had been looking forward to this day.

She wanted to get everything of the Clement family, and Eden couldn't get anything.

Malcom raised his eyebrows slightly and said with a triumphant smile on his face, "Haven, you said that you would marry me after you get Clement Group."

Haven glanced at him. If she had heard this before, she might have thought about it. But at this time, she nodded without hesitation, "Malcom, after I take over Clement Group, I'll divorce Vincent and marry you."

"Okay!" Malcom smiled with satisfaction. He moved slightly and held her in his arms, "Haven, we don't have to go to the company today. Let's have fun."

"No." Haven glared at him coquettishly, "Why are you so sexy all the time?" He acted like a beast and she couldn't bear it.

"Ha-ha..." Malcom laughed, "Haven, because you're too charming."

Chapter 1077

"Ha-ha..." That was exactly what Haven wanted.

"Oh, my waist hurts. Just once more." Haven said with a shy face. He was much stronger than Vincent.

"Deal!" Malcom pressed her down and smiled brightly.

Just as they were kissing affectionately, Haven's phone rang.

Haven looked at the phone and frowned slightly.

Malcom also saw it. It was a phone call from Vincent.

He slowed down and smiled weirdly, "Haven, answer it."

Haven looked at him with a puzzled expression, feeling that she had been humiliated.

She shook her head slightly, "Wait... Oh..."

She wanted to say that she would answer it later. However, Malcom seemed to have gotten angry all of a sudden and his movements became very crude.

Malcom was very satisfied with her reaction, and his face was filled with abnormal happiness.

"Haven, hurry up and answer it. Otherwise, I won't let you go even if you kneel to beg me."
Malcom laughed evilly.

Haven glared at him, reached out to take the phone and answered it.

"Hello?" She tried her best to keep her voice steady.

However, Malcom used more strength deliberately to make her groan.

"Haven, how many days have you lived outside?" On the phone, Vincent questioned her furiously.

Haven wanted to speak, but Malcom smiled wickedly and moved vigorously.

The phone almost fell of Haven's hand.

She knew that Malcom did it on purpose. At this moment, he was very excited. He had the killer instinct and wanted to prove that he was better than Vincent.

"What is that noise?" Vincent asked in confusion.

Haven said madly, "Aren't you ashamed to question me? Why should I go home since you don't go home? Do you want me to go back and sleep alone in an empty room?"

After that, she hung up the phone, raised her fist and punched Malcom hard.

"Ha-ha..." Malcom laughed haughtily.

At the same time, Buddy was checking the financial accounts in Clement Group due to the loss of hundreds of millions of dollars.

Buddy was terribly busy.

Moreover, he was worried about Eden.

At noon, he did not have time to have lunch and drove all the way to Alwynn Group to see Eden.

Eden had had lunch in the office. At this time, she was working.

She had stared at the computer screen for a long time, but she couldn't concentrate.

Unconsciously, she thought of Victor's gentle smiles.

Amelia had gone to the factory to deal with something, and she was alone in the office. Suddenly, someone knocked on the door, which made her come to sense. She said in a hoarse voice, "Come in."

Buddy pushed the door open and went in.

"Eden." Buddy's heart ached badly when he saw Eden's pale face and melancholy eyes.

Seeing Buddy, Eden knew that he came here because he was worried about her.

"Buddy." She greeted him in a weak voice.

Buddy didn't realize how sad she was before she spoke. Upon hearing her hoarse voice, Buddy knew that she had been overwhelmed by sorrow. His throat tightened, and a wave of distress flooded him.

"Eden, why don't you rest at home?" Buddy looked at her with concern.

Eden wanted to smile, but she couldn't. Buddy came here in a hurry, and he didn't look very well. During this time, so many bad things had happened to the Clement family, and Buddy was mentally and physically exhausted.

"Buddy, you've come just at the right moment. I have something to talk to you. Have a seat."

"Okay!" Buddy sat opposite her desk.

Eden handed him the bread and got a bottle of mineral water for him.

"I guess that you haven't had lunch. Eat some bread first." She didn't prepare anything to eat in her office.

Speaking of these snacks, they were all prepared by Victor. He always felt that she was too thin and wanted her to gain some weight.

Buddy smiled helplessly, "Eden, I haven't had lunch indeed."

He opened the package and started to eat the bread.

Eden's heart was filled with bitterness when she saw Buddy like this.

Buddy was the pillar of the Clement family, and he couldn't fall ill.

Eden asked in a tentative tone, "Buddy, hasn't Haven gone back to the Clement family these days?"

Buddy nodded. He swallowed the bread before saying, "Eden, she hasn't been home for a long time. Grandma doesn't like her, and she doesn't want to go back to suffer."

Eden said in a deep voice, "Buddy, if my guess is right, she will get Clement Group very soon."

"What?" Buddy was stunned and looked at her in surprise.

Haven couldn't succeed so quickly. He had been keeping an eye on her secretly.

Eden had no expression on her face, "I know that you have been on guard against her, but defence is well-nigh impossible against her since she is very ambitious. Lucian checked the shares of Clement Group this morning. Haven may buy the shares with others' names. She will do a lot of things immediately."

Seeing that he did not speak, Eden added, "Buddy, I think that Victor's accident also has something to do with Haven and her lover."

"What a hateful woman..." Buddy went off the deep end.

"Buddy, it is not time to lose temper now. We need to lure them patiently and find evidence to send them to jail. Grandma had a car accident because of her, and we should let her pay all the price."

Eden's eyes darkened as she said, "Kenny told me this morning that her lover is an awesome hacker. As long as he knows the operation of a company, it is easy for him to steal money from the money without leaving evidence."

"Mr. Ronen has contacted Kenny's master. There will be a result soon."

"Buddy, I want you to transfer the property of the Clement family to create a false impression. Haven wants to get Clement Group, doesn't she? Then give her an empty Clement Group. She can't have money to buy the shares unless she owns the money which has been transferred from Clement Group."

"If she owns more shares than you and wants to choose a new president for Clement Group in a week, our guess is right. At that time, we can get the money back together."

Seeing that Eden could still analyze things so calmly at this time, Buddy suddenly felt ashamed. These days, he had been flustered because someone kept transferring money from Clement Group. The technical staff could not find out the cause, which made him even more anxious. After all, Clement Group was handed down from his grandfather, and he couldn't ruin the company.

"Eden, I understand what you mean."

Eden's expression was the same as usual. She did not smile or get angry, as if these were all ordinary things in her eyes.

She knew that the more panicked she was, the more mistakes she would make.

Only by calming down could she overcome the difficulties with her family.

"Buddy, we can't be led by the nose anymore. We must let them fall into our trap. That's the only way we can defeat them. I didn't pay attention to these things before Victor had an accident. After all, he's like the sky above my head. As long as he's with me, I don't have to worry about anything."

Chapter 1078

When she mentioned Victor, she still looked so calm.

A day and a night had passed. Victor fell into the deep sea, and there would be no chance for him to survive.

But looking at Eden like this, he couldn't say such word.

"Eden, tell me. Are you really okay?" Buddy looked at her worriedly.

Eden smiled lightly, "Buddy, do you think I am not okay?"

Buddy pursed his lips slightly and didn't know what to say. He always felt that Eden was somewhat abnormal.

"Eden, if your heart hurts, you can cry out. Don't bear everything alone. Don't forget that you still have your parents, your friends and me." He was afraid that Eden would bear too much pressure in heart. In that case, she would go crazy.

Eden curled her lips slightly and smiled, "Buddy, you don't have to worry about me. Victor will be fine. When he left, he said that he would come back to pick me up."

Lucian, who had just pushed open the door and entered, heard Eden's words, and his eyes turned gloomy. Eden was sad, but she did not accept the fact that Victor might have died.

"Mr. Ronen, you're back." Eden tilted her head and looked at Lucian.

Lucian looked at her with brooding eyes. There was intense sorrow and grief in her clear and beautiful eyes.

Eden acted as if she didn't know how worried and grieved Lucian was and maintained a light smile.

"Mm!" Lucian nodded.

"Lucian, did you find anything?" Buddy asked.

Lucian sat down on the sofa and said, "First of all, we must save Delmont. Neal has returned to River City. He came back by boat, and now he is hiding near the north district. We must catch him first so that we can save Delmont. The person who framed Delmont is Haven's lover. As long as they confess what they have done, Haven will naturally have no way to deny it."

Buddy's eyes became intense as he looked at Lucian, "This person is pretty cunning. The police have been searching for him for so many days, but they haven't caught him."

Lucian nodded, "He has a lot of experience in escaping. Now he is contending with the police. However, it won't be long before he is found. The north district is not big. He won't be able to hide for long."

Saying this, Lucian let out a sigh and looked at Buddy's slightly haggard face, "Buddy, let's talk about your company now. I suggest that you transfer all the property and then set up a trap for Haven. I have carefully checked the shares of your company, and she is about to own the same shares as you."

"She asked Tillie to buy a lot of shares of your company before, and those shares have belonged to her. Now she has lots of money, and she is rich enough to buy shares and compete with you."

"In addition, you can take the opportunity to reorganize your own company and give up the stock-holding system. If you can manage the company like Victor, you will be more relaxed. The Clement family is established, but remember that Rome was not built in a day."

"Although this blow will represent several steps backwards in your company, the loss is not a big deal in the long run."

Lucian's light and calm voice echoed in the office.

Buddy nodded. A trace of harshness flashed through his eyes as he said with a serious expression, "Lucian, thank you for doing so much for Clement Group. After we go through this difficult period, I will give you two percent of the shares of Clement Group. Eden said the same words to me just now. I know what to do. Thank you. Now I'm no longer troubled and worried."

"Even if we will have several steps backwards, I don't care. After all, the Clement family will not be ruined so easily."

Lucian glanced at Eden and saw her purse her lips tightly. She actually thought the same as him.

Buddy said again, "As for the shares Tillie bought, Haven stole them from her. After Tillie got divorced, she felt sad and was not in the mood to read the documents carefully. Haven took advantage of it and asked her to sign the transfer contract. That's how Haven got Tillie's shares."

The more Buddy said, the angrier she became. How could the Clement family raise such a vicious person?

Lucian said, "In addition, she has got the five percent of the shares owned by Grandma Clement. Brian has found the person who completed the procedures for her."

"Hence, she was really the one who hurt grandma." Eden roared very madly.

Buddy and Lucian were used to seeing her being so gentle and warm. When they saw how angry she was, they were a bit uneasy and stunned.

Lucian shook his head slightly. Looking at her irritated face, he felt very painful in heart. She looked strong on the surface, and her heart was suffering. "Eden, although we've found evidence and we know that the shares were transferred to her, she's not involved in the car accident. We can only say that she's the mastermind behind the scenes. We need more evidence. Brian has been persuading her aunt. As long as he can make a breakthrough, this matter can be solved perfectly."

Eden punched the desk hard and asked, "Where is her aunt? I'll meet her."

"Eden, you can't be so reckless. Let Lucian deal with this. You are not in good health now. The most important thing for you is to recover." Buddy looked at her worriedly.

They worried about Eden the most.

Eden remained silent and did not speak. If she did not find something to do, she was afraid that she would have a nervous breakdown and go crazy.

The three of them chatted for a long time. After making all the plans, Buddy got up and left.

Lucian did not comfort Eden. He knew that she did not need it. If he said too much, it would only make her feel worse.

Eden sat quietly for a while and stared at the computer screen. Her mind was still filled with Victor's gentle smiles.

"Honey, I love you. Let's get off work together when I come back."

These words kept ringing in her ears.

At this moment, her phone rang, and she moved her head slowly.

She looked down at the caller ID. Haven was calling her.

Her eyes suddenly darkened and became cold and fierce. She grabbed the phone, held it tightly and answered it.

"Hello?" She said in a deep voice.

Haven said, "Eden, do you remember what I told you before? I will tread you under foot and make you lose everything. I'll ruin your life!"

Eden bit her lip angrily. Feeling the pain, she suppressed the anger in heart slowly. She couldn't act rashly and alert Haven, "Is that so? It's too early to draw a conclusion now. Do you think you're awesome? Then let's wait and see what you will get."

Haven smiled, "Eden, you will see it soon. I will let you know what kind of price you will pay for taking away my Victor."

Chapter 1079

Eden asked mockingly, "Haven, aren't you ashamed when you say things like that? Is that really the only reason?"

The Clement family has done you no wrong. So this time, I won't show you any mercy either."

Haven suddenly laughed with self-satisfaction. "Eden, what do you think you can do as a cripple?"

"You will see what I can do. Although every person do things for themselves, you are damned for sacrificing others for your own benefit."

"Eden, are you serious? I still remember what you told me before. If I hurt your family, you would take me to hell with you. But I don't think you'll ever get that chance, because I'll make you go to hell before you do."

"Really? Let's see which one of us goes to hell first then."

Haven sneered and tried to say something, "Eden..."

But Eden interrupted her, "Don't forget that your surname is also Clement. I know you are shameless and will not be ashamed of the accusations of others.

But Haven, I'd have to say you're not even as good as a dog. After all a dog knows to be grateful to the people who raised it."

"Eden, you b*tch, I'll make your life as miserable as a dog." After Haven finished, she hung up the phone angrily.

Eden smiled sarcastically. If a person wants to irritate others, he must first make sure that he is not irritated.

Otherwise, you will lose very badly.

She said that to provoke Haven to take action quickly.

Haven was ambitious indeed, but if she wasn't confident enough, she wouldn't be arrogant like this.

She once felt inferior, so she knew very well the current state of Haven.

Haven would only be this aggressive if she felt she was competent and confident enough.

However, if one of these matters were exposed, her hard-earned confidence will crumble in an instant.

She could not yet achieve a truly open-minded attitude.

Three days had passed. Five days had passed. By the tenth day, Victor's body still had not been found.

Even Victor's shoes and belongings were not found.

Both the police and the fire department gave up the search and rescue.

Everyone knew that there was no hope.

Victor was dead!

He's really dead. Even the most powerful people couldn't live so long in the sea.

What's more, the car accident was very fierce, and Victor was likely to get hurt.

Everyone was immersed in grief.

Only Eden insisted on going to the company every day and believed that Victor was still alive.

Jaida wanted to give her son a funeral, but Eden wouldn't allow it.

Without seeing Victor's body, she wouldn't believe Victor was dead.

Moreover, she loved him deeply. If he really did not exist in this world, she would have a premonition about it.

She remembered that she felt very uneasy on the day of his accident.

She would have a premonition of what was going to happen to him.

Early in the morning, Eden went to work and came alone to Victor's large and bright office. In the past, as soon as she came in, she could see him sitting at the desk. He would look up and smile tenderly and call her wife.

And she always smiled helplessly.

He was so clingy to her, even wanting to be with her at work.

He would always be passionate about her, and always so indifferent to others. Such a stark contrast let her know that she would always be unique to him.

Lucian walked in and said hello to Eden in a distressed voice.

He knew that Victor would not come back again and that Eden had never accepted this fact.

Eden hid her longing for Victor and turned to look at Lucian.

"Mr. Ronen, issue a statement saying that Mr. Alwynn will return after a year of study abroad."

Lucian was stunned, then asked with a pained expression, "Can' t you still accept the truth? Victor"

"He's not dead. Believe me, please." Eden's supplicating voice shocked Lucian deeply.

Lucian crouched in front of her so that his gaze was level with hers. He gazed at her with grief.

"Eden, I know you can't accept it, but one day, You have to face the fact. Sharp pains than are better than lasting ones." He reached out his hands and held her shoulders, trying to make sense of that fact.

She smiled every day and acted as if she was the same as before, but he knew she was hurting inside. She looked vulnerable, but acted so strong, telling everyone that she was fine.

But he knew she wasn't okay. Sometimes pain doesn't always manifest itself in the visible scars and tears of aggravation. It's the pain inside that hurts the most.

Eden smiled reluctantly, but she didn't want to think that way, "Lucian, could you please trust me for once?"

She still looked at him pleadingly.

Lucian was slightly stunned. In all the time he had known her, this was the first time she had begged him like this.

He did not deny that he had liked her.

Now when he saw her like this, he was even more heartbroken.

"Okay, I promise you." Lucian nodded, "I'll announce the news later, but there must be someone in charge of the company's overall situation."

Eden looked at him with trust.

Lucian felt her trust in him and had the urge to willingly guard her for the rest of his life.

"Lucian, you are the best person to take charge of the company. Victor trusts you, and so do I."

Hearing her say that, Lucian felt satisfied. He deeply understood how hard it was to get someone's trust.

The fact that she trusted him made him even happier.

It wasn't an easy task either, as they are both people with stories and tragic experiences.

Lucian slowly stood up and looked at her with a smile. His smile made him not as cold as usual, but more gentle.

"Eden, you are wrong. You are the best person to be in charge of the company. You need to know all the business in the company now. I'll make you president of the Alwynn Group, and I'll stay with you until you're familiar with everything."

At that time, Kenny also grew up and could take over his father's company.

As Victor's good friend, that was all he could do.

Eden was stunned and then shook her head slightly, "I studied design, Lucian, not management. I can't do it."

She knew what she could do.

Lucian's tone was gentle, "Eden, don't be afraid. You can learn. Adonis, Anson, Brian and I, we're all here to help you."

Chapter 1080

Eden felt an overwhelming sense of warmth at his words.

"Thank you, having you good friends around is a blessing to both Victor and me." Eden looked at him sincerely.

Although Victor had suffered a lot in those years, he was not lonely because of these close friends.

Lucian smiled and said, "From now on, you and Amelia can work in Victor's office."

Eden nodded. "Okay! Thanks."

"That's what I should do."

He turned to leave and went to let Amelia pack her things to work here.

Victor's office was very large. He arranged for Amelia to work outside, because Eden needed a private space.

Amelia didn't say anything. She quickly moved her things over and began to sort them out.

Eden looked at Victor's desk.

His desk was very neat, and there was nothing to sort out.

There were documents on it that he couldn't finish reading.

Eden looked at the safe by the side. She did not know the password. However, after thinking about it, she entered her birth date, and the safe was opened.

Eden was so upset that she took out the things inside with trembling hands. These things must be incredibly precious to Victor.

Eden looked through them one by one. They were not some secret documents, but memories of her and him as children, pictures of them as children, and Victor's diary, all of which he treasured here.

Eden opened the diary. The paper inside was slightly yellowed and the notes were a little blurred. It could be seen that this was a notebook from a long time ago.

She opened the first page of the list of things Victor had to do.

He also wrote down some negative words when he was angry.

He always had complaints about his father.

At that time, Victor was still young, but his handwriting was very beautiful.

The diary was written on the third day after he lost Eden.

"Eden has been missing for three days now. Why did I run out in the rain that day that I lost my only Eden? Eden, where are you?"

It could be seen from these few words that he was very sad at that time.

At that time, he had no one to talk to, so he could only have this way to vent his emotions.

Eden turned to the page where he recognized her. He wrote, "I have waited for so many years. Finally, I found her. She's still my beloved one. She is still as wonderful as she was as a child. Eden, thank you for coming back to me."

These sincere inner monologues made Eden feel warm.

Eden blinked her eyes, and her vision was a little blurry. She suddenly realized that she was in tears.

"Victor, if you can wait for me, so can I."

As long as she hadn't seen his body, she wouldn't believe he was dead.

She wiped away her tears. She hasn't cried for some time.

Even at night, when she misses him and her hidden pain could not be ignored, she did not cry.

But today, she couldn't control her tears again.

In the past few days, she dreamed of him, and he smiled at her and . "Honey, I love you. When I come back, I'll pick you up from work together." This dream appeared in her dreams for several consecutive nights.

She always believed that he was still alive.

"Victor, I will run the company well and wait for you to come back. You said that after I achieve my dream, you will take me to travel around the world. By that time I will also promise to take over my father's company. I never told you that my dad treated me well so I wanted to fulfill his wish to take my mom around the world."

After all, we are still young and have plenty of time. It's not too late for us to travel around the world after mom and dad return from their world tour."

Eden muttered to herself, then put Victor's diary back carefully.

"Director Bleu, have a glass of water." Amelia came in with a glass of water.

Looking at Eden's crying red eyes, she also felt sorry for her.

She put the cup in front of Eden and wanted to say something to comfort her, but she didn't know what to say.

"Thank you, Amelia! In the future, you may have to work a little harder to be in charge of two tasks until Victor comes back."

When Amelia heard this, she was silent. Just like Lucian had said, Director Bleu had refused to accept that Mr. Alwynn was dead.

"OK! Director Bleu." She replied with a smile. In fact, this was what everyone was most worried about her.

If she burst into tears and lost her temper because of sadness, they would be less worried instead.

"Thank you." Eden smiled and picked up the water and took a sip.

Amelia smiled but didn't say anything. Then she turned around and went out.

Lucian quickly posted a statement on the official website.

The news that Victor left Alwynn Group to study abroad was quickly spread by major media.

And the news that Eden would temporarily serve as the president of Alwynn Group was even more hotly discussed.

There were two purposes for Eden to do so.

One, to calm people down.

Two, to get Haven to let her guard down.

When Haven called her, she did not mention Victor. There were only two possibilities. First, she didn't know about Victor's accident. Second, she knew and pretended as if nothing had happened.

However, the hundreds of millions of dollars that were transferred from Alwynn Group have not been traced until now.

Even Kenny's hacker master couldn't find out the clues, which showed that their opponents must be very cunning.

No matter what Haven did, she had to take Victor into account.

Now that Victor was supposedly out of the country, she wouldn't be as alert as she was before.

It had been ten days, and she had overestimated Haven's ability.

It was best to resolve this matter as soon as possible, otherwise she would leave enough time for them fight against her.

Eden turned on Victor's computer. The most complicated thing was the previous Jotham Alwynn Group.

Some of the old shareholders would not want a person studying design to manage the company.

Irene's pressure would grow as well.

At this time, Haven was sitting in her office, sorting through her share documents.

She had a brilliant smile on her face as her dream finally came true.

The Clement group was now hers.

Haven put all the documents in the safe and then tried to send a message to Malcom to tell him the good news.

However, as soon as she opened the screen, she saw a push notification.

When she saw that Eden was temporarily appointed as the president of Alwynn Group, she was stunned and quickly browsed the news. "How is it possible that Victor could go abroad to study? And how can he let Eden be the president of Alwynn Group?"

She narrowed her eyes slightly, thinking that this was just not a credible rumor.

What the h*ll was going on?

Why did Victor suddenly go abroad?

Well! This was also good news, after all, the person she had always been most afraid of was Victor.
