

Gluey Love 1091

Chapter 1091

After watching Malcom leave, Haven looked at Vincent with dissatisfaction. "What are you doing here instead of going out with those women? You never cared about me, didn't you? In your mind, you and I are nothing more than strangers. Since when have you ever cared about me?"

Vincent stared at her angry face. "Haven, you've changed. You usually don't treat me like this. Why do I feel like you just don't love me anymore?"

Haven sneered at him. Malcom could make her dreams come true, while Vincent could do nothing for her.

He would just make her angry and would just disgrace her.

He was really not as good as Malcom.

"If you have anything to say, just say it and leave. I've just started my company and have a lot to do." Haven looked ruthless.

Looking at Malcom's expression as he left, she felt very upset deep down.

Vincent let go of her and sat on her office chair. He looked at her with a weird smile. "I've seen the news. You didn't even tell me when you got the Clement Group. You've always cared so little about your husband. I just want to know how you got the money to acquire the shares?"

After seeing the news yesterday, he was surprised to see that she had a falling out with the Clement family.

Was she still Haven he knew? She seemed to have changed into another person.

She was full of confidence, like a successful career woman.

A man would prefer a woman who looked like that.

"Vincent, you don't love me either. Let's divorce."

She promised Malcom that she would divorce Vincent after she got the Clement Group.

Especially before Vincent knew that she had betrayed him, she especially wanted to divorce him.

Vincent was a scum bag and she would not live her life with Vincent like that.

She wanted a man to live with who could communicate with and understand her.

Vincent sneered. "I always knew you were malicious. But I didn't expect you to be so vicious. Do you want to get rid of me when you just got the Clement Group?"

It's true that women are the most ruthless!

After a period of experience in society, Haven has become more ruthless.

Haven snorted coldly. "Vincent, when you sleep with other women, have you ever thought about my feelings? And I, who can't enjoy your love, have to deal with the trouble for you. Do you know how I feel?"

Back then, the reason why she married him was because of that video.

It was also because Eden had married Victor.

She made one mistake after another and things turned out to be what they are now.

Vincent said shamelessly, "Didn't you allow all this?"

Haven said angrily, "Did you ask my permission?"

Vincent glanced at her and smiled. "Did you care about me? When I went out, did you ever say to me not to go out because I'm a man with a wife and a family? No, you don't care about me at all."

Vincent shrugged his shoulders and thought that it was all Haven's fault.

Haven smiled coldly and had nothing to say. This man had always been so shameless.

"So, are you going to get a divorce or not?" Haven looked at him with a determined expression.

If Vincent found out she was having an affair, Vincent would make it even more serious.

So she was going to divorce him before that happened.

Vincent laughed and looked at her with narrowed eyes and a weird look.

"Haven, I helped you out when you were at your lowest point, so you can't abandon me like this without mercy. I'm not going to divorce you. Let's just live like this for the rest of our lives."

"Vincent, you..." Haven was so angry.

Why did Vincent keep being so shameless?

"Haven, do you want to cooperate with my company?"

"What could be the point of working with your company?"

Haven questioned him with a sneer.

"Haven, you are getting bolder and bolder." Vincent's expression was a little gloomy and terrible.

Haven sneered, "The courage is gradually strengthened by bearing the fright. Vincent, our marriage has been in name only for a long time. Without me, you can date with others openly."

"I can date someone else openly even without divorce."

"You..." Haven was infuriated and didn't know what to say.

"You are still so impatient. Now that your company has just been established, those shareholders are keeping a close eye on you at all times. Don't you know that Buddy has changed his company to DBE Group to differentiate it from Clement Group?"

"DBE Group?" Haven frowned. It was a combination of their three siblings' initials.

"So what?" Haven sarcastically thought Buddy was really capable.

He had already found out what she had done, but he didn't say anything and waited for her to show her true colors.

As for her, she suffered a heavy blow from her.

"It doesn't matter if he changes the name." Haven said with an indifferent face.

Buddy could only prepare in advance with Victor's help. Without Victor, he would just be an ordinary businessman.

He didn't care about other things.

People in this world all valued results. No one would remember the hard work and effort you put in. What can be remembered was just the status and background.

Therefore, those comments were nothing for her. Once she succeeded, everyone else would only look up to her and not care about what she had done.

"Haven, you are too naive. The biggest weakness of human nature is not greed or cowardice, but the desire to be perfect. You can't do it. People in this world don't care about your self-esteem. They only care about the results you made, not how you feel. This will be what you have to face in the future."

Just like him, he had a hard time maintaining the status in business after leaving the Alwynn Group.

What's more, Haven didn't have any business experience.

Everyone was waiting to laugh at her.

Haven was also aware of these problems, so she had always been very worried. However, she had already come up with a solution.

She said with a sullen face, "I now know what to do next. You don't have to worry about that, instead you'd better think about when we're going to divorce."

Vincent was still smiling but his tone was cold, "Have you made up your mind to divorce me? I saw you suffer, so I gave you five percent of the Alwynn Group, and you're still not satisfied?"

Chapter 1092

Haven sneered at Vincent. "You said I deserved it, too. It's not that I'm not satisfied, but that we're really not the right couple."

Vincent mockingly looked at Haven with an incomparably sharp gaze, "That's not what you said when I left the Alwynn Group and you and I went to live at the villa."

It seemed that this cunning woman was plotting for his shares at that time.

Vincent snorted and turned to leave.

As he passed by Haven, he suddenly saw the hickeys on Haven's neck. He frowned slightly and tore her collar open hard to find more hickeys on her body.

Vincent was filled with monstrous anger.

"Vincent, what are you doing?" Haven pulled her collar back angrily.

She was suddenly a little nervous because he, the scumbag, was surely familiar with the look of a hickey and would know what it meant.

These days, Malcom has been madly having sex with her in various ways. However, she damnedly liked this feeling.

Her body and spirit were both immensely satisfied.

Vincent sneered.

"Looks like you had a pretty fierce sex ah. We've never been like this before, do you like it when people f*ck you hard?" His sneer was especially harsh.

Haven has betrayed him.

"Shut up!" Haven frowned and looked at him with some uneasiness.

Vincent just looked at her coldly and then left angrily.

Vincent opened the door and saw that Malcom was still standing at the door. He frowned slightly and strode away without thinking too much.

Malcom waited for Vincent to leave before entering.

Haven looked lost in thought and sat on the stool with a somewhat pale face.

Malcom looked at Haven with concern. "Haven, what's wrong?" He stroked her pale face with his fingers.

Haven looked at him nervously. "Malcom, Vincent refused to divorce me. He saw my hickey just now, and he must have suspected that I was having an affair." She was a little disturbed.

That angry snort made her somewhat confused about what Vincent meant.

Vincent left without saying anything, which made her more worried.

Based on Vincent's personality, he should have lost his temper on the spot. It was impossible for him to just leave silently.

Hearing this, Malcom was also a little worried. After all, it was a scandal for them.

"Haven, don't worry. There must be a way to get a divorce." Malcom looked at her with a gentle expression.

Haven nodded and leaned into his arms with a look of relief. She was more determined than before, "I must divorce him as soon as possible, and then I will be with you openly."

Now Haven had taken Malcom as her savior, and she found that there was nothing that this man could not solve.

"Okay!" Malcom hugged her. These words of hers pleased him.

He said gently, "I've found a few companies that are willing to lend us their shares, but they want a higher than normal interest rate. I'll take you to meet them this evening. If you think it's ok, we'll start to do shorting and margin financing. In this way, we can maintain the situation of your company."

No company was willing to cooperate with her now.

Buddy was deliberately making things difficult for Haven.

Malcom would not stand by and do nothing. After all, Haven was his woman.

Upon hearing this, Haven gave him a gentle smile. "Malcom, it's so good to have you!"

Malcom smiled pleasantly and looked at her fondly, "Did you just know I was nice to you? Hmm?" His voice was sexy and full of ambiguity.

His fingers gently stroked her chin, and for Haven, no one had ever doted on her like this before.

Haven glared at him shyly. They embraced each other and were just about to kiss when they heard a knock at the door.

Malcom unhappily let go of Haven and walked aside to sit on the sofa as Haven said in a deep voice, "Come in."

Her assistant, Elsa Fowler, came in with a bad expression.

Haven felt a bit uneasy when he saw her expression.

"Mr. Clement, in one day, five companies have cancelled their cooperation with us."

Elsa put the documents on Haven's desk.

Haven nodded, "I see. You can go out."

Elsa nodded and left with a worried look.

Haven took a deep breath. She was so overwhelmed with anxiety that she had a slight headache.

She knew she would face such a situation, but she didn't expect it to be so soon.

There were five now, and would be more later.

It is impossible to solve this problem just by doing shorting and margin financing. They need time and opportunity.

Buddy also expected these results. Although he lost a lot, but once these customers followed him, these losses can be earned back in just one or two years.

So Buddy chose to give the Clement Group directly to her for the sake of the Clement family's reputation, which seemed really impressive to outsiders.

But people only saw things on the surface and wouldn't look at how horrible it was behind the scenes.

This was worse than a big fight with the Clement family over the property.

Malcom said, "Haven, don't worry. There must be a solution. We still have plenty of money right now, but we can't afford to lose any other partnerships next. After we meet those brokerage firms tonight. We'll go have a nice chat with our partners."

Haven nodded. "We can only give it a try."

...

Eden kept waiting for Neal to confess, but no matter what the police asked, he wouldn't talk.

If he didn't say anything, there was nothing anyone could do about it.

Eden asked Amelia to visit him, but Neal was not convinced by Amelia

Instead, she got a scolding from her brother.

Eden could only wait.

Time passed by in a flash. Eden still did not get any news about Victor.

It was as if he had completely disappeared from the world.

The fact that Eden was the missing young lady of the Clement family was so shocking that no one paid any attention to Victor's departure from the country.

One day, Graciella felt as if she was about to give birth and realized that she hadn't called her brother in a long time, and Victor hadn't told her before he left the country, which made her quite angry.

Chapter 1093

She dialed Victor's number, but she heard a mechanical female voice, "The number you dialed cannot be connected for the moment."

"Well..." Graciella looked at the phone in confusion.

Her belly hurt again. She frowned as she watched Loomis walk in with a cup of warm water.

She was pregnant with Boris before, so she knew that he would not give birth so quickly.

She called Victor calmly again, but she still couldn't get through to him.

She looked at Loomis who was walking toward her and asked, "Honey, why can't I get through to Victor? My belly hurts a little. I feel like I'm going to give birth. I want to tell him about it."

"Bang..." Hearing her words, Loomis was so shocked and the cup fell off his hand.

His surprised face was reflected on the French window.

Graciella was stunned. Was he too excited?

Loomis walked to her quickly and helped her sit down. Looking at her worriedly, he said in a nervous tone, "Graciella, there are twenty days left before the expected date of childbirth. Are you sure you're going to give birth?"

Graciella said, "Honey, I'm pregnant with twins. It's not easy for me to be pregnant for so long. Look at my feet, my hands and my face. I'm swollen all over. Am I still like a woman? I am not charming at all. However, I haven't called Victor for a long time. Why can't I get through to him?"

The expression in Loomis's eyes changed slightly when he heard this. It was not easy form them to hide it from her for so long.

In order not to let her know about Victor's accident, they had been cautious. Later, she finally believed that Victor had gone abroad to study.

He said, "Perhaps he's busy. Now he is studying aboard, isn't he? He went there hastily. But he will only stay there for one year, and he will be back soon."

"Oh!" Graciella felt a little regretful, "No matter what, he had to come here to see me before going aboard. What an ungrateful brat! I dote on him so much... Ah, it hurts." Graciella closed her eyes. Words couldn't describe how painful she felt at this time.

Boris was born after an easy delivery, and she still remembered that feeling.

But this time, she was going to have a cesarean section.

"Graciella, let's go to the hospital first." Loomis's heart ached a lot when he saw that she was sweating from pain. He had been looking forward to this day, but he felt very distressed because she had to suffer so much in order to give birth to their children.

When he went out to pour water just now, she was eating red bayberry.

Why was she in labour all of a sudden? Moreover, she was so calm.

Graciella opened her eyes, looked at his anxious face and said after taking a deep breath, "We must go to the hospital. I don't have the strength to have a natural labour, so I'm going to have a cesarean section. Call mom and ask her to go with us. You don't know anything about this, and you can't take care of the babies."

"Okay!" Loomis was so worried that he didn't know what to do. He immediately picked up the phone and called Jaida.

After calling Jaida, he immediately sent Graciella to the hospital.

When Jaida received the phone call, she was chatting with Eden.

They went to the hospital to see Graciella together.

When they arrived, Loomis was waiting outside the operating room in anxiety.

"Mom." Seeing Jaida, he seemed to have clutched at straws.

Eden looked at him and asked, "Loomis, is everything okay?"

Loomis nodded and said, "Graciella is in labour. The doctor said that she should have a cesarean."

"Oh!" Jaida nodded, "Loomis, as long as the children can be born safely, the mode of delivery doesn't matter. Let's wait here. The children should be born soon."

"Oh!" Loomis was still a little nervous. When the doctor asked him to sign just now, he told him a lot of things that would happen to Graciella.

He did not dare to sign his name when he looked at the paper.

After Graciella was taken into the operating room, he suddenly became more flustered.

Seeing how disturbed Loomis was, Eden smiled, "Loomis, it's okay. You don't have to worry."

Loomis nodded with some embarrassment, "This is my first time to be a father, and I am really excited and worried. But Graciella is suffering, so I feel guilty and distressed."

Hearing Loomis's words, Jaida finally felt that Graciella had married a good man.

"Loomis, thank you for loving Graciella so much. I'm happy to see that you're deep in love." She had lost Victor and only had two daughters now. Graciella was living a happy life, so she was very grateful to God.

She looked down at Eden. It had been almost two months, but Eden refused to accept the fact that Victor had died.

Last night, she couldn't fall asleep, and she was worried about Eden, so she gently pushed open the door of Eden's room. Eden was not sleeping. She sat by the window and looked outside, muttering to herself, "Victor, I've been waiting for you. When the moon wanes and the summer comes, I'm waiting for you, and I'll wait for you for the rest of my life. Could you come back soon?"

She still believed that Victor was alive.

However, she did not dare to wake her up from her dream. She was afraid that Eden would die with Victor.

Eden smiled but did not say anything.

Loomis glanced at Eden with his heart full of with bitterness.

Her life had a lot of ups and downs. In most of time, she lived in sorrow, and her happiness was short.

He even wished that she could live her life over again. In that case, she wouldn't have to face such a cruel fact.

However, she was so calm and confident.

They had not found Victor's dead body, so he also hoped that the bold and strong man was still alive.

In this way, Eden's life would get better again.

They all knew that Eden didn't want to accept the fact, and she was on the verge of breakdown. Once she knew that Victor was really dead, she would be in so much pain and fall into the depth of despair.

Everyone needed courage to face such a fact.

After forty minutes, the two children were carried out by the nurse.

"Where is Graciella's family?" One of the young nurses asked with a smile.

Loomis immediately walked over and looked at them with excitement.

The nurse glanced at Loomis, "Mr. Rubio, congratulations! They are two boys."

"Thank you. How is my wife now?" Loomis didn't even look at the children and only cared about Graciella.

The nurse said with a smile, "Mrs. Rubio is fine. She is having a stitched surgery now, and she will come out soon. She and the children are all safe and sound."

"Thank you so much!" Loomis, who was reticent in ordinary times, was as happy as a child at this moment.

Jaida walked over and held a child happily. The newborn baby had a red face. He sometimes frowned and sometimes spat bubbles, looking very cute. Smiling, she burst into tears and said with a choked voice, "Loomis, the children both look like you."

She handed the child to Eden.

Taking over the other child who looked exactly the same, she was so excited that her lips were quivering.

As long as they could live together, they would be delighted even if they were poor.

She only hoped that Victor could live a happy life in heaven.

"Ha-ha..." Loomis laughed with joy. Looking at his two sons, he was gratified.

Chapter 1094

The happiness came so fast that he was at a loss.

"Where is Graciella? Has she given birth to the children?" Abigail rushed to the hospital after getting the news. Looking at them, she asked while panting.

Eden looked at her and smiled, "Yeah, they're two boys."

"Wow!" Abigail was surprised and looked at Loomis in disbelief, "Loomis, you're amazing. You guess is right, and you really get two sons."

Loomis laughed, "I do have a hunch before many things happen." Since Graciella got pregnant, he had been dreaming of snakes.

His mother said that those were lucky dreams.

"Ha-ha..." Abigail laughed happily, "Loomis, congratulations!"

"Thank you!" Loomis smiled with joy.

Abigail looked down at the baby in Eden's arms.

Then she looked at the other baby in Jaida's arms, "Wow! Aunt Jaida, he's very similar to his father."

Jaida nodded with a chuckle, "He looks like Loomis indeed."

"He's asleep." Eden looked at the baby in her arms, and her heart melted. Children were always the best companion of their parents.

Whenever their parents heard their childish and lovely voices, they could forget a lot of troubles.

After Victor had an accident, Gia and Ricky no longer quarrelled with each other.

Kenny became steadier.

They always looked at her with worried eyes.

"Wow! How adorable and beautiful they are!" Abigail looked at the little baby. He was so small, and his face was not as big as her fist.

Eden smiled, "Abby, since you like children so much, get pregnant as soon as possible after you marry Anson."

Anson recovered better and better. He could walk occasionally, but he couldn't walk for too long.

However, Eden was unable to stand up after she was dealt a blow.

Abigail looked at her and smiled with distress, "Eden, you have to try your best to recover, too. Only then can you take care of my child for me, right? Anson and I will get our marriage certificate in a period of time." She wanted to have a child of her own so that Eden's three children would have a friend to play with.

"OK!" Eden smiled and nodded.

About forty minutes later, Graciella was pushed out of the operating room.

"Graciella." Loomis's heart ached as he looked at Graciella's pale face.

Graciella looked at Loomis with complaint, "Why are they two boys? Why can't I have boy-girl twins? I want a daughter."

Loomis was stunned.

The others were speechless.

Loomis laughed, "Fool, if you like daughter, we can have another child."

Graciella was dumbfounded. She didn't even have time to take care of these three children. Should she give birth to another child?

Graciella glared at Loomis and did not speak.

Loomis smiled helplessly and said nothing. He knew what Graciella was thinking.

The nurse pushed Graciella to the VIP ward and then left.

Graciella frowned, feeling a little uncomfortable. She didn't feel well after having a caesarean section, and she had to lie on bed for a few days.

A catheter had been put into her body and she was attached to monitors, which made her so uncomfortable. Moreover, she was having an intravenous drip.

"Mom, how long should I lie like this?" Graciella felt a little wronged. Although it was not painful, lying down like this was distressing.

She felt that she couldn't get up. If she used too much strength, the wound would definitely hurt.

Jaida smiled, "Foolish girl, you will have to get up and walk around after the catheter is taken out. You can eat something later. Eden suffered much more than you back then."

"Oh, really?" Graciella looked at Eden, "At that time, if Victor was by your side, you would feel better. When he comes back from aboard, I will let him make it up for you."

"Alright!" Eden grinned.

Jaida, Abigail and Loomis looked at Eden's expectant expression, and their faces changed.

Graciella complained, "Mom, call Victor for me. He didn't answer my phone calls. I couldn't get through to him. I have to tell him that I have given birth to two sons."0

Jaida lowered his head slightly and did not dare to look at Graciella's eyes. They had been hiding it from Graciella, and they couldn't tell her about it because she was weak after giving birth to the children.

However, Eden smiled, "Graciella, I will tell him later. He went aboard hastily, and he should be in class now. I will call him later."

"Okay." Graciella nodded with a smile, "Mom, give me another quilt. Why am I getting colder and colder?"

"Oh." Jaida went to the cabinet to take the quilt and covered her. Looking at Graciella, she smiled lovingly, "You'll feel warm in a while. I felt very cold after I gave birth to you."

"Is that so? Mom, thank you. Thank you for giving birth to me and Victor. When I became a parent, I finally realized how much you've done for us." Graciella understood how hard it was to be a mother, and she never blamed Jaida.

Jaida had her own difficulties when she left them.

At this time, seeing Jaida live in happiness, she was very glad.

The person who made her unfortunate was just a passer-by in her life. She had met the one who made her delighted and happy.

She was very glad that she had met Loomis.

After watching the two children fall asleep obediently, Loomis sat next to Graciella and accompanied her.

Jaida asked, "Loomis, have you told your mother that Graciella has given birth to the babies?"

Loomis shook his head slightly, "Mom, I'll call my parents later."

Jaida nodded with a smile, "They will definitely be very happy when they hear that."

After all, every parent was looking forward to having grandchildren.

Loomis's parents were the same. His mother was a very cheerful person, and she often called her and chatted with her.

"Yeah, my mom has been looking forward to having a grandson." Loomis looked at Graciella and smiled, "Honey, thank you so much."

Hearing this, Graciella was very touched.

Eden and Abigail looked at each other and smiled.

In the evening, Jaida stayed in the hospital to take care of Graciella.

Abigail sent Eden back.

After getting on the car, Abigail glanced at Eden and asked her, "Eden, it's early. Do you want to go anywhere? How about going for a walk or eating something together? The three children and Boris have been taken home. Anson and Uncle Calder are looking after them."

Eden shook her head slightly, "Abby, I don't want to go anywhere. I'm a little worried about Delmont. Neal refuses to confess the truth, and Delmont has been in prison for many days."

Abigail said, "Amelia went there to persuade him. Was he not moved?"

Eden nodded and smiled bitterly, "He scolded Amelia, and Amelia cried. He said that she helped others bully him, and he didn't regard her as his younger sister."

Abigail went berserk, "Is he Amelia's biological brother? No matter what, he made the mistake first. He is really impenitent."

Abigail knew that Eden would feel lonely and sad after she came back.

"Eden, we haven't eaten together for a long time. How about us having a big meal tonight?" Abigail looked at her with distress. She didn't dare to mention Victor in front of her.

Eden nodded with a smile, "We can have dinner together, but what about dad, Anson and the children?"

Chapter 1095

Abigail smiled, "That's easy. Let them order takeout."

Eden said, "Let's go to River City Restaurant and then let the manager deliver some dishes home." She had not been to River City Restaurant for a long time.

It was owned by Victor. He bought the restaurant just because she liked the food there.

"Alright, the food there is my favorite." Abigail smiled as she drove towards River City Restaurant.

Eden chuckled and asked, "How is Maureen recently?"

Hearing that, Abigail looked so displeased, "Oh! Jasper's company was recruiting designers, and she applied for the job. Jasper didn't interview the designers in person. He didn't know that she was working in the company until he saw her."

"Oh!" Eden frowned slightly. Maureen had never given up her love for Jasper.

"Abby." She said.

Abigail turned to glance at her and asked with a smile, "What's wrong? You called me but didn't say anything."

Eden said, "Abby, in the past, Maureen just didn't like me. Without me, she would not have done such a thing. She and Jasper are suitable for each other." She hoped that Jasper could live a happy life.

Maureen loved Jasper all the time.

Abigail grinned. How could Jasper be in the mood to date since he knew how sad Eden was? He cared about Eden wholeheartedly.

"Eden, although Maureen is not bad, she's not kind. Who knows what will happen between her and Jasper in the future?"

Jasper wanted to try his best to win Eden's heart.

They all thought that it was impossible for Victor to come back.

Jasper thought like this, too.

Eden nodded. That was right. Love couldn't be forced.

Ever since she met Jasper, she had been making Jasper worry about her, and she felt very guilty.

One was too shy to express his deepest love, and was too dull to tell his intensest affection.

She understood Jasper's heart, so she was even more worried.

Abigail drove the car to the parking lot of River City Restaurant directly.

After parking the car, she let Eden sit on the wheelchair and pushed her upstairs.

When they were waiting for the elevator, Abigail took out Eden's thermos and let her drink some water.

Before Eden could open it, the elevator door was opened.

Seeing two people coming out of the elevator, she frowned slightly and looked at them sharply.

They were Malcom and Haven.

"Oh! Look! We actually meet my sister, Eden. Haven't you recovered? Ha-ha... I think you can only sit in a wheelchair like this for the rest of your life. Victor is really heartless. You're disabled, but he actually left you. It seems that he doesn't love you so deeply." Haven said in a mocking and mean tone.

She looked at Eden sarcastically. Perhaps Eden would sit in a wheelchair like this forever.

"B*tch! How dare you be so arrogant in front of me? You ungrateful sl*u! God is watching everything you do. If you're too despicable, you'll be punished by God." Abigail's eyes were filled with hostility as she looked at Haven and Malcom.

Then, she looked at Malcom with an evil leer, "You haven't even divorced, but you have a lover and even raise him. Just you wait, those who have bad conduct will be punished by God. Just wait and see. You will get your retribution very soon." Abigail's tone was harsh and her eyes were filled with contempt as she looked at Haven.

Malcom had a shifty face and didn't look like a kind man at all.

Haven's expression changed, and she was a bit awkward. Eden and Abigail were good friends, so Eden would tell Abigail about what happened between her and Malcom.

However, Malcom went berserk. Abigail's words made him feel deeply humiliated.

He glared at Abigail with bloodshot eyes angrily. Then he narrowed his eyes slightly and said, "What do you mean by that?"

Abigail smiled and looked at him with disdain, "Are you so stupid that you can't understand my words?"

"Abigail, don't talk nonsense." Haven gave her with a warning look, "As a famous agent, you're in a relationship with a disabled man, which is enough to make you become the hot topic online for several days." Haven sneered with malicious and sharp eyes, and she wanted to touch Abigail's raw nerve heartlessly.

Anson was disabled, but Abigail still stayed by his side and didn't leave him. They had been together, which made Haven quite surprised.

Although Anson was outstanding, he was as rigid as Victor, and he was not easy to deal with. She once thought about being with Anson, but she gave up in the end. After all, Adalynn liked him.

Adalynn was timid and cowardly. After Anson had an accident, she went abroad to study.

It was said that she had been living a good life recently.

"Ha-ha..." Abigail laughed, and her charming eyes were full of softness and happiness which was something that Haven could never get in her life.

"Haven, I'm very grateful that you want to hold a press conference for us. You can tell everyone that I have married a disabled man who spoils me very much."

Haven was stunned. Anson's love for Abigail was beyond her imagination. Anson became disabled in order to save Abigail.

"Abby, there is no need to argue with them." Eden suddenly said apathetically. Her eyes were as cold as sharp blades as she looked at Haven.

"We have caught Neal, and we will improve Delmont's innocence very soon."

Eden spoke casually again.

Malcom and Haven's expressions changed, and they both panicked.

Malcom almost forgot Neal.

After he hung up the phone in a hurry that day, he didn't call Neal again. He thought that Neal had escaped.

Haven said, "I don't understand what you are talking about."

Eden smiled, "You will understand soon. Do you really think that there is no evidence for what you have done?"

Lucian liked Amelia, and he wanted Neal to confess on his own, so he kept putting off solving this matter.

But he would lose his patience sooner or later.

Moreover, Eden wanted to know whether Victor's car accident had something to do with Malcom or not. It was time to alert Malcom and Haven.

"Evidence? What evidence?" Malcom did not believe that he would leave evidence.

He narrowed his eyes and looked at Eden, feeling a little anxious. Could it be that he had left some evidence?

"Are you... anxious?" A weird and indifferent smile appeared on Eden's face. She was no more gentle, and she looked completely different from usual.

Malcom wiped his nose, lowered his head and didn't dare to look into Eden's eyes, "Why should I be anxious? It has nothing to do with me. I just asked it casually."

"Oh... I wish it were true, but we have a video as evidence. You know whether it has something to do with you or not very well. Besides, we lost one billion dollars for no reason. No matter what, I have to get even with you, right?" Eden said word by word, and her tone was as cold as the icy wind in winter, sending a chill down Malcom's spine.

Chapter 1096

Malcom's expression turned completely aloof. Looking at him carefully, Eden found that he was trembling slightly.

Why did Eden relate the two things to each other?

Haven looked at Malcom in confusion.

Was it him who had stolen one billion dollars from Alwynn Group?

Oh, since he could transfer the money from Clement Group easily, stealing the money of Alwynn Group was just a piece of cake to him.

One billion dollars was enough for him to enjoy a rich life forever.

Malcom said angrily, "I don't understand what you're talking about!" He immediately suppressed the panic in his eyes and looked at Haven, "Let's go."

Haven didn't say anything and left with him.

Eden's phone suddenly rang, and she answered it.

"Kenny."

Kenny said excitedly, "Mom, I've found out something. The money of Clement Group was transferred to Haven's account in batches. However, she owns the money legally. She registered a company when she dragged Myra into the mire. The company runs no business and it is a trap. It has whitewashed her money, but we can call the police. I'm investigating it."

Eden held the phone more tightly, "Kenny, thanks for your hard work during this period of time."

Kenny said, "Mom, I have one more thing to tell you. The money that Alwynn Group has lost is in Malcom's bank account. His way of transferring money is very clever, and he has made lots of preparations, so the police haven't found it yet. I have got the evidence, and I can hand it over to the police at any time."

Eden said, "Kenny, don't be in a hurry. I met them and alerted them just now. I want to know if your father's accident has something to do with Malcom."

Kenny said, "Mom, I've been checking the surveillance videos in dad's parking lot. Give me some more time."

"OK!" Eden hung up the phone. The sorrow was on her face was hard to hide.

"Victor, I will catch the person who hurt you with my own hands." She thought.

She immediately dialed Brian's mobile phone.

"Hello, Mrs. Alwynn."

Eden said, "Brian, I met Haven and Malcom just now, and they have known something. You... know what to do, don't you? Judging from Haven's expression, I think she doesn't know Malcom very well. Take actions now. They have just left River City Restaurant, and they will definitely go back to their apartment. Get ready."

Brian said, "Mrs. Alwynn, I know what to do. I'm with Mr. Ronen now."

"Oh!" Eden narrowed her eyes slightly and said, "Let me speak to him."

"Eden." Lucian said in a serious tone.

Eden said, "Lucian, we've spent much effort, and Kenny has found the evidence. The money of Clement Group is in Haven's bank account, and the money that Alwynn Group lost is in Malcom's bank account. So, Victor's car accident must have something to do with Malcom. They want to make up for the loss, so we have to take actions quickly. We can't let Clement Group suffer losses in vain."

Lucian said, "Eden, don't worry. We'll go and arrange it right away. I'll call Kenny later."

Eden said in a choked voice, "Thank you!" Her voice was hoarse. After she hung up the phone, her face still looked cold. She had waited for two months, and they finally got some clues.

Abigail lowered her head to look at her. Eden had been such a gentle and kind girl, but her life was so hard that she had to be so cold and vigilant every day. Her heart ached a lot every time she saw Eden like this.

Since Victor had an accident, Eden had really changed. When she stayed alone, she always looked indifferent, and her eyes were listless. She was immersed in her own world, and Abigail couldn't bear to see her so lonely.

"Eden, let's go up." Abigail's tone was full of pity.

Eden smiled and nodded, "Okay! I'm hungry."

She said like a spoiled child. Abigail's throat tightened, and she was about to cry.

"Alright, let's go eat your favorite seafood porridge." Abigail pushed her into the elevator.

When they got upstairs, Eden went to the private box where she and Victor often went before.

This box was specially reserved for the two of them.

The business of River City Restaurant was always booming.

This private box was left only for her.

The manager knew what Eden liked to eat. After letting Abigail order the dishes, he immediately ordered the chefs to prepare the dishes.

Eden looked at the familiar place, but she could not hear Victor's gentle voice.

When he stayed with her, he always smiled very happily, and the gentle smile in his eyes was only for her.

"Eden, let's continue our date after dinner."

He often said these words to her.

After he got the marriage certificate with her, he always felt that he owed her and had been making up for her in different ways.

"Honey, I love you."

"Eden, I love you."

He often said like this, as if he would never get sick of it.

Abigail could tell that Eden was thinking about Victor again.

She sighed and looked down at her phone.

Anson had just sent her a message, "Abby, the children are all well-behaved. You don't have to worry."

Abigail smiled faintly, "Great! We'll come back after dinner."

"Boris has finished his homework as well."

"Finally, we don't have to worry about him anymore. Tell him that he has two younger brothers, and he will be very happy."

"Okay! Love you!"

Abigail smiled slightly and looked up at Eden, "Anson told me that the children are very obedient. You don't have to worry about them."

"Great!" Eden composed her emotions and grinned.

The dishes were soon served, and they ate while chatting.

On the way back, Haven and Malcom didn't say a word to each other.

When they arrived at Malcom's apartment, Haven couldn't help but ask, "Malcom, did you really transfer one billion dollars from Alwynn Group?" He actually didn't tell her about it.

Why did he hide it from her deliberately?

He had been inquiring about the Alwynn Group. Did he do this for the money of the company?

Didn't he say that he would get the entire Alwynn Group?

Malcom was a little agitated because of Neal. He glanced at Haven irritably, "Haven, don't believe that woman's nonsense."

However, Haven did not believe his words. Looking at him, she found that he seemed to have a guilty conscience and didn't dare to look into her eyes. Then she sneered, "Malcom, we've been together for a period of time. Do you want to keep it a secret from me?"

Malcom's eyes suddenly darkened. He looked a bit indifferent and hesitant. Hearing Haven nagging, he seemed to have lost his patience, "Haven, is it time to quarrel about this now? Neal has been caught. If he betrays me, we will be ruined."

Haven narrowed her eyes and looked at Malcom suspiciously. She no longer trusted him so much.

She once trusted Malcom so much, but Malcom was dishonest with her, wasn't he?

She looked away and said, "I'll go back first."

The Clement family had long suspected that she had something to do with Delmont's affairs, but it was schemed by Malcom, and it had nothing to do with her.

Chapter 1097

If Malcom was wary of her, she would not treat him sincerely.

One was both evil and kind. Her love for him turned to deep mistrust in an instant.

Seeing that she was about to leave, Malcom pulled her with a somewhat indifferent expression. However, he felt rather helpless when he saw her angry face. He had hidden this matter from her because he had selfish motives indeed.

In his expectation, after Victor had an accident, he would make use of Haven to enter Alwynn Group. Then he would infiltrate into Alwynn Group, ruin Eden's career and get the whole Alwynn Group.

With his ability, he could achieve this goal.

However, Neal had become a great worry in his heart.

Getting one billion dollars and winning Haven's heart made him treat everyone with contempt.

He ignored Neal.

"Haven, don't go." He said in a pleading tone.

"I told you that I wanted Alwynn Group. I stole one billion dollars from Alwynn Group indeed. I did it to help you," Malcom explained. He and Haven were inseparable.

Haven looked at him with a sneer and said with her eyes full of ridicule, "Malcom, you keep saying that you love me, and I treat you wholeheartedly. During this period of time, you've helped me a lot. I am grateful to you and trust you very much. That's why I asked Vincent for a divorce. I really want to be with you, but I hope that you could be honest with me."

Malcom smiled and nodded, knowing that Haven had fallen in love with him completely.

The way she looked at Vincent was full of disdain and contempt, and she hated him as her wife.

He could tell that Haven really didn't love Vincent anymore.

Malcom held Haven in his arms, put his head on her shoulder and whispered, "Haven, if I tell you a more shocking fact, you will know why I didn't tell you about these money."

Haven was stunned and raised her head, only to see that the expression on his face was slightly anxious. She rarely saw him like this.

A hint of doubt flashed across her eyes as she said in a low voice, "Is there anything else that you have hidden from me?"

Malcom nodded and said, "Victor has died."

"What?" Haven was shocked and couldn't believe what she had heard.

"Isn't he... abroad now?" Haven still couldn't believe that Victor, the arrogant man, was not abroad, but dead.

Malcom always boasted that he was an invincible hacker. He would definitely not lie to her.

Seeing that she didn't believe him, Malcom sighed slightly, "Haven, I can guarantee that he is really dead. Eden said that he went abroad just for the company."

Haven's eyes were wide open and her heart ached. Victor was clearly a heartless man, but did her heart hurt so much when she heard about his death?

She wanted to marry Victor all the time. He was so imposing that she would be afraid as long as she saw him, and he was such a handsome and outstanding man. Had he died just like that?

"Ah..." Haven took a few steps back in disbelief. She lowered her head and looked extremely painful.

She grew up with her affection towards Victor. No matter how heartless he was to her, she had never wanted him to die.

She did all those things because she wanted him to know that she was not inferior to any woman.

Although she used despicable methods, she didn't care. The only thing she cared about was the result.

"Haven, you..." Malcom looked at her in confusion. Why was she so heartbroken?

Haven immediately composed her emotions and looked up. Her eyes were a bit red as she asked in a low voice, "How did he die?"

Malcom said, "His car went out of control and rushed into the sea. His dead body hasn't been found."

Haven asked, "How do you know that?"

Malcom said, "That was my conspiracy. Only I know how Victor died."

His words came as a complete shock for Haven. She asked word by word, "Did you kill him in order to get Alwynn Group?"

Malcom was a bit displeased when he heard these words. Looking at her sad expression, he had a feeling that Victor was the man she loved the most. His eyes turned cold, "We have reached an agreement that you would get Clement Group and I would get Alwynn Group, and we would be in charge of the business world of River City. Haven, you won't forget our dream, will you?"

Malcom took a step forward, approached Haven and held her in his arms to comfort her, "Alright, Haven, don't get angry with me. Let's solve this problem first."

Malcom didn't know what kind of video Eden was talking about.

Perhaps Eden was just bluffing in order to find out the truth.

After all, her ideas were different from before.

Victor's death was the greatest blow to her.

He had thought that Victor's death would be known to the world.

However, Eden was calmer than he had imagined. She said Victor had gone abroad to study.

What Eden had done upset his plan.

That was why he was in such a dilemma.

But Haven insisted on getting to the bottom of this matter. She stared at him and asked, "You killed Victor, didn't you? You did something to his car, didn't you?" He had asked her about Victor's parking lot and which cars he liked to drive.

Malcom looked at her with a frown. Seeing that she didn't want to let him go, he had a strange feeling that all his efforts had become a joke.

"Haven, I told you that as long as something bad happened to Victor, we would be able to get Alwynn Group. You were very happy at that time, weren't you? Why are you questioning me now? Moreover, I have told you that it was my conspiracy."

Malcom was puzzled. Haven's mental state at that time might be different from her current state of mind.

Haven was stunned, and she had nothing to say. It turned out that she was an accomplice in the crime.

At that time, Victor slapped her in the face, which made her disillusioned.

"Ha-ha..." She sneered as if she had gone crazy. She seemed to be laughing, but also seemed to be crying.

"It's good that he's dead. Now we have one less powerful enemy. Since Eden has taken away everything from me, I won't let her live a good life," Haven said with a vicious smile.

She looked at Malcom with reproach, "You should have told me about this earlier. In that case, I wouldn't have agreed to let Eden be the president of Alwynn Group."

Malcom smiled and said, "Haven, I thought that Victor's death would give Eden a fatal blow. I didn't expect her to be stronger than we expected. I was very hesitant at that time."

Haven said, "That is not like you."

"Ha-ha..." Malcom pulled Haven to sit down and asked, "Do you still want to leave?"

Haven was speechless. She didn't say that she wanted to stay.

"No." She smiled and punched Malcom's chest.

Chapter 1098

"Ha-ha..." Malcom immediately pushed her to the sofa and lifted her chin with his finger, "Fool, after I let you reach orgasm, I will tell you what we should do next."

Haven blushed and said coyly and coquettishly, "How can you still think about this now?"

Malcom laughed wickedly, "No matter when, we have to enjoy ourselves. We get the money and power in order to live a more comfortable life, right?"

"Ha-ha..." Haven smiled. His words made sense.

Haven glanced at the massage chair next to him and said in a low voice with a shy face, "Go there. I like it when we have sex on the chair."

Malcom had the same idea. He carried Haven in his arms and walked to the massage chair.

In the opposite room.

Lucian and Brian sat on the sofa.

Brian was 180 centimetres in height. His stern and handsome face looked upright, and his jewel-like black eyes were bright and sharp. The expression in his eyes was shrewd and keen, and he looked very perceptive and smart.

He pursed his lips, "Lucian, should we continue to watch? Malcom has admitted it, but we still need some evidence."

Brian glanced at Malcom and Haven who were having sex. Both of them were crazy, and they actually had such a special hobby.

Lucian did not look at it and frowned slightly. His handsome face was full of disgust. He turned off the volume and turned the computer screen around.

Then he leaned on the sofa tiredly.

Brian picked up a cigarette. Lucian cast a glance at him and he immediately put it down dejectedly.

Smiling, he said, "Lucian, I know you don't smoke, but don't stop me. My blood is boiling after watching them."

Lucian shot him a disdainful look, "That is disgusting, but you're sexually aroused? Brian, have you watched too much porn?"

Brian was shocked, "Don't tell me that you don't watch it! For example, have you never watched it when you were in high school or in college? I did watch it out of curiosity before. What they are doing is similar to the plot in porn, so I do feel randy."

Lucian said, "I've never been curious about it, and I've never watched it before." When he stayed with Amelia that night, he didn't know how to have sex with her at first. Fortunately, he had a special physical reaction naturally. Otherwise, he would really be embarrassed.

Moreover, he was quite energetic, so Amelia didn't notice anything wrong.

Having sex was indeed a wonderful thing, but that was because he loved Amelia. He would never be sexually aroused when he faced other women.

Brian was speechless. Was Lucian a normal man?

No wonder he hadn't had a girlfriend for so many years.

Victor was ascetic because he had been waiting for Eden. He felt that it was understandable that Victor and Lucian had no girlfriend before.

However, in the past, Adonis and Anson were single as well, which puzzled him a lot.

"By the way, after watching the video, we can basically make sure that Mr. Alwynn's accident has something to do with Malcom." Brian's eyes were filled with intense hostility and harshness.

Lucian straightened up slightly and looked at him, "He admitted it himself, didn't he?"

Brian said, "But even so, we can't use the video as evidence to send him to jail. We must solve all the problems in one go."

Lucian nodded, "Eden insists that Victor has not died. I trust her instinct. We haven't found Victor's dead body, so we can't give up. After solving this matter, you try to find him. Perhaps he is seriously injured, or he does not remember us anymore. Before Eden gives up, we should hope against hope."

Brian nodded, "I also believe that he is not dead, and I have the same hunch. We have started to check all the hospitals nearby."

Lucian nodded, "I dreamt of him last night. Maybe it is because I think about him all day long. In my dream, he was in the villa we lived in before, but he was anxious and seemed to be looking for something. I asked him, but he didn't talk to me. After waking up from the dream, I felt so bad. It was the first time I had dreamt of him after he had an accident."

Lucian's voice was hoarse and his throat tightened. Victor had a car accident so suddenly that he was too late to do something to help him.

That morning, they were supposed to go to the north district together, but he stayed with Amelia last night and went to work late.

Brian said, "I'm not afraid that you'll laugh at me. In my dreams, he always gave orders to me and asked me to protect Eden. She is as important as his life."

Lucian laughed, "You know that in the past, the only reason why he was alive in this world was to find Eden. After finding her, he cherishes her as a treasure. She is the apple of his eye."

"Yeah, I admire his deep affection. If I were him, I wouldn't have waited for a girl for so long." Brian laughed self-mockingly. He was not lucky enough to meet such a good girl.

To Victor, even if he was burdened with many worries, Eden's smile would always comfort him.

Lucian glanced at Brian from the corner of his eye, "An outstanding man like you actually has no girlfriend, which makes me quite confused."

Brian was speechless. Was Lucian inferior to him? Lucian didn't have a girlfriend, either.

He leaned aside slightly and looked at Lucian with a mocking face, "Are you inferior to me? You have no girlfriend."

However, Lucian smiled proudly, "Is that so? I already have a girlfriend."

"Ahem..." Brian was choked and coughed a few times. Then he lowered his head and smiled. Did he hear it wrongly? Lucian actually had a girlfriend.

Pigs might fly.

He was almost thirty years old, and he was finally no longer single.

"Why am I the only one who doesn't know such a piece of shocking news?"

Lucian said, "You are not the first one to know about it, nor are you the last one to know about it. Anyway, I have had a girlfriend."

Brian smiled, "How proud you are! But I have to congratulate you. You're no longer a single man."

Lucian laughed, "Have a girlfriend as soon as possible. Now only you and Adonis are single."

Brian was stunned, "What about Anson?"

Lucian replied, "He has got someone he likes, and he is chasing after her."

"Who is she?" Brian looked at him in shock.

Only he and Adonis didn't have a girlfriend.

Adonis had been single, and Brian could understand it. If he himself had been single, he would have been depressed.

Lucian clicked on the video and found that Haven and Malcom hadn't finished their sex.

He turned off the volume in anger again and moved the laptop to another direction.

Brian said, "Malcom is abnormal."

Lucian asked, "Why? He had been having sex for a long time."

Brian looked puzzled, "It's true. Having sex for half an hour is very impressive, but every time, he can last for about one hour. Moreover, he has some special hobbies. For example, he likes to torture Haven, but Haven enjoys it very much. What's more, I found that he would take some medicine before making love with Haven."

Chapter 1099

Lucian's eyes suddenly turned cold when he heard that, "Don't tell me such a disgusting thing. Moreover, deal with them as soon as possible. I'm about to throw up and I don't want to see them anymore. ."

Lucian's handsome face was full of disgust. He did not want to see Haven at all.

Brian smiled, "I know. I feel disgusted as well, but this matter can't be solved so quickly. We have investigated for so long, so we can't waste all the previous efforts. As long as we get enough evidence and send them to jail, things will be much easier and you won't see them again."

Lucian nodded. With glum eyes, he looked out of the window and said in heart, "Victor, I hope that Eden's intuition is right and you are still alive in this world."

Brian wanted to smoke, so he could only go to the bathroom.

Lucian hated the smell of smoke.

Knowing this, he did not dare to smoke in front of Lucian and could only run to the bathroom sullenly.

Half an hour later, Lucian asked Brian to take a look at the video.

Brian was quite helpless and said with a smile, "They have stopped."

He glanced at the watch on his wrist, "An hour has passed, haha." He laughed in disbelief, "Malcom is too scary."

Lucian said, "That's distasteful."

Brian didn't know what to say. He could never understand what Lucian was thinking about.

Haven and Malcom didn't fall asleep after the sex. Both of them put on their clothes, and Haven sat in Malcom's arms powerlessly. Her eyes were sleepy and she looked very tired.

Brian said, "If it weren't for Malcom's last words, we wouldn't have to waste an hour here. But I'm so hungry right now."

Lucian said, "I have no appetite."

Brian said, "Adjust your emotions. You won't feel disgusted as long as you don't think about it, will you?"

Lucian glared at him, "Shut up. Listen carefully to what they're talking about and save the video. This is evidence."

Brian looked at them in the video, "I'm watching, aren't I? Don't be in such a hurry. Oral expressions cannot be taken as proofs. We have a lot of things to do later."

He saw that Malcom's neck was very red and his chest seemed to be congestive. Malcom was still energetic, which shocked him a lot.

"Haven, Victor is much richer than we expected, so we have to take it slow and use your company to take over Alwynn Group. What's more, the most important thing is to make sure that Neal won't betray us."

Haven nodded feebly, "I have no way to help you. I know that you're capable enough to make it."

Malcom smiled viciously, "I'll meet Amelia tomorrow."

Haven raised her head and looked at him with puzzlement, "What's the use of meeting her?"

Malcom smiled, "Now I can't go to see Neal, but Amelia is different. She has a sick mother. If we threaten her with her mother, she will do a lot of things for us."

Hearing this, Lucian suddenly stood up angrily. His handsome face was full of malice and his eyes were extremely fierce. He looked like a devil from hell.

"What a b*stard!" He roared with a surge of great fury, and rage bubbled just below the surface of his mind.

Brian looked at him with confusion, "What's wrong with you? Why are you so mad?"

Lucian said, "D*mn it! Amelia is my girlfriend!" Lucian rarely swore. At this moment, he was furious to the extreme.

"Ah..." Brian was rendered speechless. What did he hear just now?

Lucian said that Amelia was his girlfriend.

Wasn't Amelia Neal's younger sister?

"Are you... serious?" Brian looked at him in disbelief.

Lucian said, "Since I'm so irritated, do you think I'm kidding?"

"Ahem..." Brian coughed a few times, "You're bringing trouble to yourself, aren't you? Your elder brother will laugh at you, and your parents won't agree."

Lucian asked, "My marriage has nothing to do with them, and I don't need their permission. Did they get my permission when they gave birth to me?"

Brian said, "It's not the same thing. If your elder brother knows that you have such a girlfriend, he will despise you even more. He has been looking for opportunities to deal with you, but he has no chance because you work in Alwynn Group. However, things will be different because Amelia is your girlfriend. He will use Amelia's identity to speak ill of you in front of your parents."

Lucian said angrily, "Since he will definitely do so, I won't escape it. I've fallen in love with Amelia, so I will protect her well. Therefore, you must keep a close eye on my elder brother."

Brian nodded and sighed in heart. Who could explain love?

Brian said, "I have been keeping a watch on him. He has got nothing on you, so he can't do anything to frame you. Now the chemical plants are developing very well, and he is in charge of the business. Of course, he won't be willing to give you half of the property. The other business of your family is managed by your father, which means that you have nothing in the Ronen family."

Lucian replied, "I don't care. I only want to get the property that should belong to me. As for money, I've been investing in Alwynn Group and other industries these years, and I have enough money to raise her. It's useless to own too much money. The most important thing is to live a happy life."

Victor's accident made him more philosophical about life.

"Ha-ha..." Brian laughed, "One changes a lot after he becomes mature. I feel that you're completely different now."

Seeing that Haven and Malcom were about to have their meal, Brian was very hungry. In order to monitor Malcom, he had spent a lot of effort to rent this house.

"There are instant noodles. Do you want some?"

Lucian said, "I have to meet Amelia. You keep an eye on them here."

Brian looked at him with disdain, "You don't care about me anymore after having a girlfriend. Go ahead and ask Amelia to take the recording pen with her. Malcom will meet her, and this is a great opportunity."

Lucian nodded, "I understand what you mean. I'll be well-prepared."

Lucian picked up his phone and car keys, turned around and left.

Brian shook his head helplessly. His friends were all stubborn and spoony.

Lucian's family wouldn't agree to let him be with Amelia.

Anson was the only son of his family, while Abigail was outstanding. They fell in love with each other and no one would stop them.

Adonis was the same. He only had one elder sister, and there would be no property dispute.

However, Adonis was an idiot when it came to relationships. He couldn't tell whether a woman was sincere to him or not.

Although he didn't understand women, his family was not as complicated as Lucian's.

Lucian was different. Just like Victor's father, his father divorced his mother and married another woman. That was why his half-brother and stepmother hated him very much and he couldn't get enough property.

Chapter 1100

After Lucian went downstairs, he called Amelia.

"Hello? Lucian." After getting off work, Amelia called Lucian by his name. At first, she was too embarrassed to call him by name. Later, Lucian used both hard and soft tactics, and she finally agreed to be on first-name terms with him.

She was very happy that Lucian loved her deeply.

Hearing that her voice was a bit depressed, Lucian frowned and asked, "Where are you?"

Amelia said, "I'm in Fashion Square."

Lucian asked, "Why don't you go home after work?"

Amelia said, "Has anyone stipulated that people must go home after work? In order not to go on a blind date, I came here. I have drunk two cups of juice, and I will go back after my mother goes to bed."

Lucian looked displeased, "Why does she ask you to go on a blind date again?"

Amelia said, "Alas! I won't go on a blind date anymore since you've admitted that you're my boyfriend. So, I came here to see someone else on a blind date."

Amelia felt happy when she said that, but there was a note of complaint in what she said. Lucian was busy every day.

Lucian was stunned.

"Wait for me. I will be there right now and take you to eat delicious food." After hanging up the phone, Lucian walked towards his car.

When Eden and Abigail finished their meal and came out of the restaurant, Jasper had arrived. He was there to pick them up.

"Alright, it seems that you have completely forgotten me. You didn't even bring me with you when you enjoyed delicious food here." Jasper complained. He took the wheelchair from Abigail and pushed Eden away.

Abigail patted him on the head, "I was dating with my best friend. Do you want to be a third wheel?"

Jasper looked at her with a unhappy face, "Abby, didn't you always bring me with you before? Although I'm a third wheel, I won't affect you two at all."

"Fine. Next time, I'll bring you with us." Abigail looked at Jasper and smiled gently.

During this period of time, no matter how busy he was, he would find time to accompany Eden.

He was so infatuated with Eden, and Abigail couldn't do anything about it.

Jasper lowered his head and asked Eden, "Do you want to go home or go somewhere else for a walk?"

Eden smiled, "Let's go home first. My mom is not at home, and it's hard for dad and Anson to take care of four children."

Jasper nodded with a smile, "Okay, let's go home first."

He was still wearing a suit. It could be seen that he came straight from the company.

Eden looked up at him and asked, "Jasper, have you eaten yet?"

Jasper answered, "Not yet." He had been very busy in the company. As soon as he got off work, he rushed here.

He was afraid that Eden would be too sad and fill her mind with nonsense. After seeing her, he would be more at ease after he went back home.

Eden looked at him somewhat helplessly and complained, "I've told you that you have to eat on time no matter how busy you are. You must take good care of yourself."

"I see. I won't be like it again. I'll send you back first." Jasper grinned. Hearing her concerned tone, he felt very warm in heart.

Not far away, Maureen watched them as they left while talking and laughing. Staring at Jasper, she was heartbroken and somber. Jasper looked so relaxed and happy when he stayed with Eden.

No matter how busy he was, he would come to see Eden.

Eden was the most important person in his life.

But he didn't even want to give her a little bit of his love.

Would Jasper never forgive her just because she had made a mistake?

Everyone would make mistakes when they were young and insensible.

It had been so many years, and she felt that Jasper had been getting further and further away from her.

Four years ago, Jasper treated her pretty well. At least she could sit down to have a meal with him and chat with him.

At this time, she seemed to have been eliminated from his life. He didn't even want to say a single word to her.

When he faced her, his expression was always so indifferent and distant.

Talking to someone who understood her could relieve her tension.

Talking to someone who didn't understand her was boring.

Talking to someone who didn't like her was a kind of torture, and she understood it deeply. Every time she spoke to Jasper, she was very nervous. Listening to his cold voice, it was a kind of suffering.

His eyes were too apathetic and his voice was indifferent, which made her heart ache a lot.

She had her own pride. Sometimes she wanted to give up, but she felt that it was not worth it. Since she had come here, she should hold on.

Watching the three of them leave, Maureen turned around and left.

After walking a few steps, she felt that her face was a little cold. Only then did she realize that tears had run down her face unconsciously.

After returning home, Eden did not go to bed. She cooked some dumplings for Abigail and then chatted with Zaiden.

The four children went upstairs to play.

Eden smiled and said, "Dad, I've almost finished reading the books you gave me. I have known a lot about real estate."

Hearing this, Zaiden was shocked, "Eden, is that so? It hasn't been a long time."

Eden smiled and nodded.

Jasper, who was eating dumplings, raised his head and glanced at Zaiden, "Uncle Calder, when Eden studies hard, she can learn everything quickly and even I am inferior to her."

Eden smiled and said, "Dad, I've known about the conventional processes, like the process of real estate development, legal proceedings, the comprehensive establishment of domestic real estate, as well as the qualification approval and application for projects. What's more, I've learned how to choose projects and develop solutions. But I have to review the knowledge about engineering construction survey and tender management." Eden said with a smile. If she turned all the sorrow into impetus, she could learn faster.

Too many industries were related to real estate, so she had to learn for a long time.

Looking at her, Zaiden smiled with kindness and gratification. He knew how capable Eden was all the time. No matter what kind of problems Eden encountered in life, she could always solve them at ease.

This time, Victor's accident dealt her a great blow.

She did not become dejected. On the contrary, she became even more hardworking.

Only when she became more powerful could she solve all the problems.

"Eden, believe me. You'll weather the storm one day. Since we haven't found Victor, he must be alive. I believe your intuition. I haven't seen you marry him in a wedding dress, and I'll accompany you and wait for him to come back."

He knew that Eden had the same idea, and he believed that her intuition might be more accurate than anyone else's.

Eden smiled and nodded. At this time, she missed Victor very much.

"Dad, thank you for trusting me. I'm fine, and I know what I should do." Eden smiled and held back her tears.

Jasper looked at her with distress in heart. She pretended to be strong, because she didn't want them to worry about her.

But her heart was in pain.

She didn't know that they felt more mournful when they saw her like this.

"I'm full." Jasper ate the last dumpling.