

Gluey Love 1301

Chapter 1301

"Ha-ha..." Henrick was happy to hear this, "Dad, don't you know that? When children grow up, their parents can't control them anymore. If Gia really likes him, can you and mom bear to separate them?"

Eden walked over, sat beside him and warned him seriously, "Ricky, don't mention this matter all the time, especially in front of Gia. They are so young, and they know nothing about love. They are friends and classmates. Don't always talk nonsense. If Gia hears your words, she may think about something else."

Gia was casual and careless, and she would forget it in a few days. She knew Gia very well.

"Alright, I won't mention it." He could be silent, but it didn't mean that Martin wouldn't mention it.

Eden was so careless!

While they were eating, Eden told Jaida about Bethany's death, and Jaida was very surprised when she heard that.

After all, Bethany was only in her fifties and was about the same age as Jaida. She was in a complicated mood.

Eden had never arranged a funeral before. After dinner, Jaida wrote her a list and wrote down all the necessary things to tell Eden some basic etiquette.

Seeing that Eden had understood, she was relieved and went to make midnight snacks for Zaiden.

After Zaiden came back, Eden told him what had happened during the day.

Zaiden was very angry when he heard the whole story. He was mad because she always made herself injured. As a parent, the most unwilling thing for him was to see his children get hurt.

Eden knew that he was worried about her, so she held his arm and acted like a spoiled child for a while. After Jaida cooked midnight snacks for Zaiden, Eden and Victor went back to their bedroom, leaving the space to Jaida and Zaiden.

When Eden returned to the room, she read the list carefully again.

It turned out that there were many things she should pay attention to on a funeral.

When Bethany was alive, she was too mean, so she had a bad relationship with her family.

She remembered that when she was in college, Bethany's parents passed away, and she cut all ties with her only younger brother.

As for Myra, she was no longer rich, so no one would help her sincerely.

Otherwise, Myra would not have called her and asked for her help.

After Victor came out of the bathroom, he saw Eden sitting alone on the tatami in front of the French window in a daze.

He walked over and hugged her, "Eden, are you still thinking about Bethany?" His voice was hoarse but was very pleasing to the ear. The cool air around him made Eden feel refreshed.

Eden nodded, leaned against his arms and looked at the dark night outside the window, "Whether she is alive or dead, the only person who cares about her is her daughter. Myra is even the only one who arranges her funeral."

In fact, Bethany was pitiful and pathetic. When she was alive, she worked like crazy for fame and wealth, so she offended many people. She had almost offended all her business partners and family. She even died a lonely and miserable death.

"She died before watching her children get married. I always feel sad for no reason."

Eden closed her eyes slowly. She could still think of Bethany's arrogant face clearly.

Bethany was always aggressive, and she wouldn't lose to anyone in front of others.

Eden rarely saw her weak. Thinking about it, Eden felt that Bethany had a hard time pretending to be strong.

Victor lowered his head. Seeing that she was unhappy, he sighed slightly in heart. According to her character, it seemed that she wouldn't be able to fall asleep at night. "Eden, don't think about those things anymore. It was her who ruined her own luck. If she could treat you well... No, although she didn't treat you well, you treated her nicely. In fact, not only Myra, but you also treated her sincerely, so she didn't die a lonely death."

Eden nodded and smiled. She rubbed her face against his chest and did not say anything.

Victor carried her in his arms and walked to the bathroom.

"Eden, let me take a bath for you and apply the medicine to you first. Gia is coming back soon."

"Okay!" Eden nodded and leaned against his arms lazily, not wanting to move.

Sure enough, Gia really came back after Victor took a bath for her and applied the medicine to her.

Eden and Victor went out to meet her.

The car stopped at the door slowly. It was cold, so Eden took a coat for Gia.

Martin and Giada got out of the car as soon as they went out.

Looking at Eden and Victor, Martin greeted them quickly.

"Uncle Alwynn, Auntie Alwynn, nice to see you!"

Eden looked at him and smiled.

However, Victor kept a straight face and treated Martin as an enemy who would take his daughter away from him.

"Martin, thank you for sending Gia home. Come in and sit for a while before going back." Eden smiled gently and invited him sincerely.

Martin had a good impression of Eden. She always gave him a gentle and sincere feeling.

His own mother was gentle as well, but Eden's tenderness was special.

"Thank you, Auntie Alwynn. It's late, so I won't disturb you anymore. Today, I invited Gia to play in my house without telling you in advance, and I hope you won't be angry. I just want to thank Gia for sending me the painting last time." Seeing Victor's gloomy face, Martin explained on purpose.

Zofia was careless, so she didn't think that her parents were unhappy.

"Martin, thank you for your hospitality today. I had a good time. Remember to play in my house on weekend."

Gia looked at Martin with a smile. Under the surrounding lights, her big smiling eyes seemed to be full of stars.

Martin's face was cold and indifferent, but he smiled unconsciously when he saw her smile.

Looking at Martin's sincere smile, Victor always felt that he liked Gia.

Ah...

He would fight whoever dared to take Gia away from him.

"Okay!" Martin smiled faintly and nodded. After saying goodbye to Eden and Victor, he turned and got in the car.

After he left the Alwynn family, Victor carried Gia in his arms and looked at her smiling face with annoyance.

He asked with his face darkened, "Gia, are you so glad?"

Giada smiled and nodded, "Dad, I am very delighted. Martin's house is very big, but there are four servants and a cook who has excellent cooking skills. I was stuffed to the gills today." Giada even touched her round belly.

Victor thought for a moment and said, "Gia, since there are four servants in his family, I'll hire ten servants and three chefs for you so that you can have delicious food every day."

"Uh..." Giada was confused, "Dad, isn't it enough to have Mary in our family? It will be inconvenient if so many servants come in and out of our house." She didn't envy Martin because he had more servants. Mary was good at cooking, and she was kind. This was enough. She didn't need so many servants.

Chapter 1302

Victor thought that Gia was envious of Martin because he had more servants.

The Alwynn family was much richer than the Talbot family.

Jaida and Eden did not like too many people in the family, so they only hired one nanny.

As long as they wanted, they didn't have to do anything. The key was that Eden didn't want to. They lived together, and she always felt that she should do something for her family in person.

Eden put the coat on Gia and rubbed her head gently, "Gia, have you finished your homework?"

"Mom, I finished it long ago. I did homework together with Martin. After that, we had dinner, and then we played games together."

"Mom, I find that Martin is very talented. He knows a lot." Gia looked envious. If she did not go out to contact her classmates, she would not have realized that many of her classmates were talented.

"So, you have to learn more from him. Now we're rich. In addition to painting, if you have extra time, you can learn dance or something else. Aren't you very interested in dancing?" Eden always supported them to go to extracurricular class.

Giada shook her head and smiled, "Mom, I don't want to be so tired, and I only want to paint. Although I envy others, I don't want to live as tiredly as Martin. His mom reminds him what he should do every few days. I feel that he has no freedom." She knew that the more one learned, the better, but not everyone liked such a busy life.

Eden smiled helplessly. Looking at Gia's envious face, she thought she liked it.

"Gia, you are already very awesome. In my eyes, no one can compare with my little princess." Victor smiled and kissed Gia's face before putting her down and letting her go upstairs to rest.

"Dad, in the future, as long as I can marry someone like you, I'll be very satisfied. Didn't mom say that it's better to marry a good husband than to suffer? So I decided to enjoy my life. Mom, dad, good night." Giada went upstairs with a smile.

Eden and Victor were stunned as they watched Gia go upstairs.

Eden had to admit that the three children had really grown up.

"Eden, have our children been led astray by Abigail?"

Eden rolled her eyes at him, "They grow up day by day, and they will know these things sooner or later. They can remember what adults say. They're not led astray by anyone. It depends on what they have seen and remembered."

"Let's go to sleep. I can't figure out what she is thinking. We can only care about them more and communicate with them more in daily life, especially Kenny. Can't you see that he's really quiet? I'm really worried that he won't be able to get married in the future."

Hearing this, Victor held Eden's waist and said with pride, "Honey, you can rest assured. My son can definitely get married. Moreover, not every girl is qualified to marry him."

"Ha-ha..." Eden could not help but smile when she heard his confident words, "You are quite confident. Be careful not to get a slap in the face in the future."

"Don't worry, Eden. I believe Kenny." Victor had always been so confident.

Eden only smiled and didn't say anything.

Eden was injured, so she had been resting at home. These days, nothing abnormal happened and there was no gossip about Victor. He had been taking care of her at home, and those people had no chance to slander them.

In Melissa's office, Melissa saw the video of Eden kissing Victor and saying those words at the party that night. Someone took a video of it and posted it online. Anger was growing, bubbling up inside Melissa.

It seemed that such little tricks would never separate them.

In the video, Victor squatted in front of Eden worriedly and carefully, raising his head to look at her. He was handsome and she was beautiful. They were a perfect match, and such a scene looked so pleasing to the eye.

She was very envious.

As a woman, she also wanted to be loved like this.

She hoped that on such a occasion, a man could lower himself, half kneel in front of her and look at her with distress and affection. The happiness at that moment could not be described by any word.

"Victor, you were almost mine!" She roared angrily and harshly.

She grabbed the phone on the table and dialed a number rudely.

The call was soon connected.

"Didn't you say that your method was very useful? But you made them love each other more! Ha-ha, did those little tricks work? Didn't you say that you hated Eden so much? Why don't you simply create an accident and kill Eden?" Melissa stared at the computer screen with a vicious expression. She wished that she could strangle Eden to death personally.

"Humph! I don't want to be a murderer and ruin my own future. If you have the ability, do it yourself. Now I only want to play such tricks and cause them not to live in peace. It's good, isn't it? As long as they are unhappy, we'll be satisfied. What happened at the party was an accident. I didn't expect Eden to trust Victor so much. When her heart is hurt more badly, she'll be more desperate. The more she loves Victor, the more she will suffer. Can't you understand? If you're in such a hurry, there's no need for you to cooperate with me." That person said with a smile and hung up the phone. Obviously, she was not worried at all. Instead, she seemed to be enjoying herself.

"D*mn it!" Melissa cursed in anger and slammed the phone on the table. Her body trembled uncontrollably, and blue veins stood out on her forehead.

"Why! Why is it so difficult to get Victor?" Since she was a child, she could get everything easily except for Victor's love.

No, there was nothing that she couldn't get. It only depended on whether she wanted it or not.

"Victor, you will definitely be mine." Melissa picked up her phone again and dialed her assistant's number...

Eden and Victor didn't know that what had happened at the party was posted online until they were about to sleep.

After Victor changed the dressing for Eden, she was bored and played with her phone.

Suddenly, she saw her name on the news. Frowning slightly, she clicked on the video to have a look. Then she saw that what happened at the party had been posted online.

She glanced at Victor, who was drying his hair not far away, and her heart was burning with rage.

"Victor, hasn't Brian found out who want to frame us? What happened at the party has been posted on the Internet." She said in a bad tone. These days, she was injured and almost forgot this matter.

Chapter 1303

Victor turned off the hairdryer and walked towards her.

"Eden, Brian has been investigating this matter, but they are too cunning. He hasn't got any clue yet. They are working hard on it." He did not forget this matter and wanted to investigate it in person after she recovered. He would set a trap for them and let them be hooked.

Then, he would ask Kenny and Brian to keep an eye on them secretly.

Eden narrowed her eyes and asked, "Have you found out who the representative of RK Company is?" She had a strong feeling that those people were aiming at her and Victor.

Victor sat next to her and rubbed her pretty nose, "You don't have to think about this when you are recuperating at home. We've got some information, but we haven't figured out who the representative is. I only know that it is a woman, and she seems to be the fiancée of the president of RK Company."

"The fiancée of the president of RK Company?" Eden pursed her lips slightly. Since she had a fiancée, she would not be infatuated with Victor anymore. But she always felt strange, and she couldn't tell the reason. Anyway, she was very uneasy in heart.

Based on what had happened recently, she could confirm that those people were very familiar with her and Victor. Last time, she asked Dean to check Victor's car, but he did not find a tracker. Why did they know Victor's whereabouts all the time?

"Yeah! Dean sent me a message yesterday. She did not show up, and her assistant has been dealing with the affairs here. But I am sure that she is the fiancée of the president of RK Company." Dean told him about it.

The other things were still under investigation.

"Oh!" Eden said softly and did not say anything else.

"What are you thinking about?" Victor looked at her with a chuckle. She had been recuperating at home these days, and she was very obedient to him.

Eden looked at his smile quietly. She was extremely anxious, but he could even smile.

She wanted to deal with the home-wrecker, but she didn't know who the home-wrecker was.

"Look at you. Someone plays tricks on us all day long, but why can you smile so happily? Obviously, they hired online supporters to slander us. They said that we have broken up and I was just acting. Some even said that I kissed you in front of so many people shamelessly. I really want to ask them why I couldn't kiss my own husband!"

"But later, I thought about it again and I knew that they were just jealous of me. Even if nothing happened, our mood would be affected when we saw these comments." Eden pouted with annoyance and puckered her mouth. Her big clear eyes were filled with grievances.

Victor was obsessed with her lovely appearance.

Looking at her angry face with brooding eyes, he immediately lowered his head to kiss her pouted lips. He rubbed against her forehead and whispered to comfort her, "Fool, you didn't care about these things before, did you? As long as we live a good life, their comments won't be able to affect us. As you said, they are just jealous of us."

"Yeah!" Eden felt much better after hearing what he said, but she still felt a little upset.

"Victor, how is Lucian these days? At noon, I tried to call Amelia, but her number no longer exists. She seems to have disappeared from this world, leaving no sign for us."

"Tell me. Why is she so cruel? She left so decisively and suddenly. How grieved Lucian is!"

Victor let go of her slightly. Speaking of this, he was a little depressed. He had never seen Lucian in such pain.

"Lucian has been dealing with the affairs in the Ronen family during this period of time. There is a head-on confrontation between him and his elder brother, and he is having a hard time, but he can hold on. He has been on guard against his elder brother, so he can deal with those matter at ease.

Without Amelia by his side, his elder brother is actually at a loss for what to do to him. If it was his elder brother who forced Amelia to leave him, he would let him live a good life."

"But it was his mother. He is helpless, but he can only endure it. After all, he can't do anything to his mother. Now he is angry with her and doesn't go home. He lives in Windsor Villa."

"Victor, where do you think Amelia will go?" She had been thinking about it. Since Amelia didn't go abroad, she must be hiding somewhere in this country.

Victor shook his head slightly and said with a smile, "Fool, if she wants to hide from us on purpose, we won't be able to find her."

"Alas! They used to be together happily, but they have been separated like that. Amelia must be very sombre. She has no friend, and her relatives are not reliable. How lonely would she be!" Back then, she really tried her best to survive. Otherwise, she wouldn't have had such a good life.

The expression in Victor's eyes changed slightly. He thought of what Lucian said after he got drunk that night and then said blandly, "Eden, Lucian said that Amelia was not her mother's biological daughter. Her mother found her in a dump."

"Really?" Hearing the news, Eden was quite shocked.

Victor nodded, "It should be true. Isn't it said that truth is at the bottom of the decanter? This was what Lucian said after he got drunk. He said that Amelia was very pitiful, and he had only met two poor women since he was born."

Eden blinked her big clear eyes and asked doubtfully, "Two? Who are they?"

Hearing this, Victor looked at her guiltily, "You and Amelia."

"Me?" Eden pointed at herself. She was indeed a poor woman before she met Victor.

These years, she was so happy that she almost forgot the pain of the past.

"Yeah!" Victor nodded in frustration. If he had not lost her, she would not have suffered so much.

"Ha-ha..." Eden could not help but laugh. She knew that Victor felt guilty again, "Victor, it will be better for you to figure out this matter than feel guilty here. This matter troubles me all the time, and I don't know if anything bad will happen again." She hated such a feeling. When Victor had an incident, she couldn't be uneasy, and she didn't want to feel like that again.

She felt that she was in the deep sea alone and couldn't hold onto anything. Besides, she felt like sinking all the way down, and it made her so scared and uncomfortable.

"Don't worry, Eden. I'll figure out the truth. Sleep now." He helped her lie down on her side. After she had injections for a few days, the wound on her back was much better, and it had scabbed.

"Okay!" Eden nodded and was ready to fall asleep.

After thinking about it, she realized that there were only three days left before Bethany's funeral.

The next day, Eden was in better health, so Victor accompanied her to buy something she would use for the funeral.

Chapter 1304

They went to the market that Jaida had mentioned. Before they went out, Jaida told Eden that she and Myra should buy sacrificial offerings respectively to mourn Bethany.

It took Eden nearly three hours to buy everything she needed.

"Eden, have you bought all of them?" Eden was looking down at the list very seriously.

Eden said, "I've bought everything on the list, and there's nothing else we should buy."

"Then let's go home. You've been shopping for a long time, and you must be tired."

"Yeah, I'm a little tired." She had walked for a long time, and her back was sweaty. The wound ached dully, which made her very uncomfortable.

Victor opened the car door and Eden got in.

Then he got in the car and drove home.

Time passed quickly. In the blink of an eye, it was Bethany funeral.

Although Victor hated Bethany, he attended the funeral with Eden.

They dressed in black and went straight to the graveyard that Myra had told them.

To Eden's surprise, Jacob was by Myra's side.

They dressed in black clothes as well, and Myra wore white gloves.

Seeing that Eden and Victor were both here, she smiled gratefully, "Eden, thank you for coming!"

Eden did not say anything else and asked, "Where is mom's urn?"

Myra lowered her head slightly and said in a choked voice, "It has been brought in. I'm here waiting for you. Let's go there now."

"Okay!" Eden nodded. Victor picked up the things they had bought, but there was a lot of stuff and he couldn't carry it all. He frowned slightly and planned to go back to fetch it later.

As soon as he turned around, he saw Jacob walking towards him, "Mr. Alwynn, let me carry some for you."

Victor didn't refuse and nodded.

Then, the four of them went to the cemetery.

The cemetery was on the mountain, and the scenery was quite beautiful. It was surrounded by mountains, and the country scene was nice.

As winter approached, the weather was very cold. The four of them walked in the wind.

Eden wore sunglasses. The closer she was to the cemetery, the heavier her mood became. She pressed her red lips tightly.

Since young, she had never been to such a place. The cemeteries here gave her a sad feeling.

Myra hired two workers. Under the command of a middle aged man who wore tunic and trousers, the workers were busily working around the cemetery.

"Mr. Jones." Myra greeted the man in a choked voice.

Mr. Jones looked at her, and then glanced at Victor and Eden.

"Is everyone here?" His tone was peaceful.

"Yeah! We're all here." Myra looked at the distance. She had informed her elder brother and wanted him to come back, but she knew that he would not come.

He had a girlfriend whose family was rich. Perhaps he would never come back from aboard.

Myra glanced at her mother's tombstone and only felt that she had died a miserable death. She did not even see her son before she died. Moreover, she missed Eden so much, but she failed to see her and died with regret.

"Okay! Put everything you brought beside the grave. Her children can kneel down now." Saying this, Mr. Jones picked up a bell.

Eden and Myra knelt in front of the tombstone. Mr. Jones shook the bell while muttering some words that they didn't understand.

Eden and Myra knelt for about half an hour before he asked them to stand up.

After that, Mr. Jones chanted scriptures for about an hour before he left with the two workers.

Eden looked at Bethany's photo on the gravestone. In the photo, she smiled very brightly and wore her favorite pink dress. Eden remembered when the photo was taken. At that time, she and Myra studied in college. On Antony's first day at work, she took this photo. It was her new dress made to measure. It was noble and elegant, and it really suited her well.

Thinking of the past, Eden melted into tears instantly.

"Mom, I'll come here and visit you often. Although it's a pity that Antony doesn't come back, he's living a good life now. This is probably what you want to see the most. He has a nice girlfriend. When you were alive, you always hoped that he could marry a rich young lady, right? Since he doesn't come back today, I'm afraid he's busy preparing for his wedding..." Myra said a lot while weeping.

Eden glanced at her from the corner of her eye, moved her lips but didn't say anything.

Didn't Antony attend his mother's funeral just because he had a rich girlfriend?

Bethany laid all her hope on Antony.

Although Bethany was harsh and mean to outsiders, she loved Myra and Antony wholeheartedly, especially Antony.

She had been training and helping Antony earnestly. Unfortunately, Antony failed to live up to her expectations and didn't grow up as she had expected. Besides, her husband disappointed her completely.

Being sent to jail didn't deal her a blow. What had broken her heart was the fact that her husband betrayed her heartlessly.

Watching her husband chatting with the mistress's son happily, she was sunk in the depth of despair.

They had married for several decades and had bridged over so many difficulties, but her husband cheated on her in the end. No one could not bear such a severe blow.

The wind was getting stronger and stronger. Victor took off his windbreaker, put it on Eden and held her in his arms.

Eden took a look at him and then looked at Bethany's photo before saying, "Victor, let's go."

She didn't say a word to Bethany. When she was really here, she found that she had nothing to say.

Attending her funeral in such a peaceful way had made her very satisfied.

"Okay!" Victor nodded and turned around.

However, Myra suddenly stopped her, "Sister!"

Eden's body suddenly trembled when she heard this.

She turned around and looked at Myra. Under her sunglasses, her eyes were intense.

Myra looked at her with tears in eyes, squeezed out a smile and said in a soft and guilty tone, "I know I'm not qualified to call you like this, because I used to bully you. Since we were young, you've been humouring me in every aspect, but I was not satisfied. So many years have passed. After experiencing so many things, I finally realized that you cherished and loved me so much in the past, and you really regarded me as your younger sister. However, I never treated you as my elder sister. Last time, I called you sister because I had no choice but to borrow money from you. But today, I call you like this sincerely from the bottom of my heart. Moreover, sister, I am sorry for what I have done to you! I should not have hurt you like that. Although it's too late to apologize, I hope that you can forget all the unhappy things and live a happy life in the future." Tears kept running down Myra's face, and she had really realized her mistake.

When Eden called her to ask the address, she thought about many things in childhood. Everything that she had done to Eden was malicious.

Thinking of what she had done to Eden, she felt very regretful and hated herself.

At that time, Bethany hit Eden with her car and thought that she had died. Then she put Eden in the trunk and took her back. She could imagine how panicked Eden was in such a situation.

If Bethany had not hit Eden, she would not have suffered so much. As the only daughter of the Clement family, she would live a rich and happy life.

She would not have suffered all kinds of injustice and humiliation in the Gienger family. In the end, she even became a tool for Bethany to make money.

"Sister, I'm really sorry!" Myra apologized sincerely again, "If I could go back to the past, I would be a good younger sister and grow up under your kindness and care. No matter how I treated you, you would never leave me alone. It's my luck to have an elder sister like you, but it's too late for me to understand."

When Eden heard her last few sentences, tears ran down her face unconsciously. Under the sunglasses, the expression in her eyes changed violently.

Indeed, at that time, no matter how Myra treated her, she didn't seem to hate Myra so much. She only felt that Myra was a spoiled child. She didn't want to argue with her and even took a lot of blame for her.

In fact, they used to get along well. They lived in countryside when they were young, and Eden had to take care of Myra. She watched her grow up day by day, and words couldn't describe how she liked her younger sister.

At that time, when Myra called her sister innocently, she was truly glad.

Later, they grew up day by day. Myra knew that Eden was not her biological sister, and Bethany hated her. Gradually, Myra began to hate her, and that was why so many things happened later.

But all these had become memories, and she had hurt Eden badly.

Eden lowered her head slightly. After composing her emotions, she raised her head and looked at Myra, "Let bygones be bygones. You don't have to think too much. In the future, you should live a good life without mom by your side. If you can be with someone who loves you, even if you live an ordinary life, you'll be happy."

"Sister, I see. I will live a good life in the future. You don't have to worry." Myra wiped her tears. Seeing that Eden was not angry and her tone was peaceful, she felt much more at ease.

Jacob walked to her, held her in his arms and wiped her tears.

Seeing this, Eden did not say anything, turned around and left with Victor.

Victor had driven for a while, but Eden couldn't stop crying.

Victor wiped her tears while driving.

"Eden, don't cry anymore. I'm brokenhearted when you cry." He parked the car on the side of the road slowly, unfastened the seat belt and hugged her.

"Woo-woo..." Being hugged by him, Eden suddenly burst into tears and cried out loud.

Victor patted her on the back lightly and comforted her, "Fool, why are you crying? Dead people can't come back to life. She will never come back though you cry."

In front of Bethany's tomb, she didn't cry, and she cried after leaving there, because she didn't want to shed tears in front of Myra.

Tears streamed down Eden's cheeks as she said, "How could she die like that? She hasn't got all her punishment, but she has died! How could it be? She has bullied me for so many years, and I treated her sincerely all the time. She should still be punished. How could she die..." Her heart was filled with regret, sorrow and sympathy.

In fact, she just couldn't bear to leave Bethany.

Victor didn't say anything. He held her tightly and listened to her quietly.

Eden cried for a while and got tired. She sobbed in his arms and her tears wet his chest. Victor didn't dislike it and looked down at her, "Eden, I have figured out what you asked me to investigate. Jacob runs a logistics company. His family is quite rich, and he has known his wife for five or six years. A few years ago, he was a poor young man, but his wife stuck faithfully to him through thick and thin. On one occasion, she got pregnant by accident, but she haemorrhaged badly and had a miscarriage. Then she couldn't get pregnant anymore. Jacob's mother always wants a grandson, and this is why he is with Myra now."

Hearing this, Eden looked up at him and blinked her misty eyes, "He is a jerk, isn't he? His wife crossed difficult barriers with him when he was poor, but he wants to abandon her after he becomes rich. Such a man is so hateful. Victor, you can never underestimate women who are determined to go through thick and thin together with men. The hard work they put in is no less than that of men. When men don't cherish them, they will be kicked out of their world forever. Since women have the courage to share sorrow with men, they have the courage to live a beautiful life without their men. A strong woman can overcome all the difficulties. At all times and in all countries, women have proved that they can make great achievement and change the world with their wisdom. So you men can't be too selfish and ungrateful."

Victor was stunned. Jacob was a scum, and what did it have to do with him? Why did Eden say such warning words to him?

He smiled and said, "Dummy, I'm not the jerk. Why do I feel that you're talking about me? I feel so wronged."

Eden looked at him angrily, "I am just warning you so that you won't become a jerk."

Victor was speechless. He did not have the potential to be a jerk. How could he become so bad?

Victor couldn't help but pinch her nose and said in a doting tone, "Fool, I won't."

"You'd better not. Otherwise, I'll make you regret provoking me." Eden clenched her fist and waved it in front of him.

Victor smiled helplessly. Seeing that she had stopped crying, he felt much more relieved.

"Alright, I know you not someone to be trifled with. I don't dare to provoke you." Victor really didn't dare to do so, and he looked a bit wronged. It seemed that he suffered grievances but did not dare to complain.

"Ha-ha..." Seeing him like this, Eden smiled through tears.

"Fine, I'm in a good mood now. Let's go home. I can go to the company tomorrow. As for Myra, let her make her own choice. But this time, she seems to have changed herself."

Victor didn't pay attention to Myra, and he didn't know if Myra had realized her mistake. Anyway, Myra had ruined her own life, and she had to bear all the consequences.

"Eden, let's go home first."

"Okay!" Eden sat up straight. Victor refastened his seat belt and started the car.

Chapter 1306

Eden composed her emotions. After all, Bethany had left. No matter how sad she was, it was useless.

"Eden, why don't we go to River City Restaurant?" When Eden was in a bad mood, she would feel better if she ate something delicious.

Eden nodded, "Okay! Go ahead. I'm not in a good state now. If I go home, I'll only make dad, mom and the children worry about me." She answered lazily.

"No problem. Let's go there now." Victor smiled helplessly. He really didn't want to see her cry again.

They went to River City Restaurant. At the entrance of the restaurant, they met Lucian who was followed by a group of men in suits.

"Lucian." Victor called him first.

Eden looked at Lucian and nodded.

Lucian looked even more haggard than he had been in the past few days.

His face was a little gloomy, and he looked even more indifferent and depressed. The weather had turned cold, but he still wore a white shirt and trousers, and it seemed that he didn't feel cold at all.

"Mm! Are you here for a meal?" Lucian's voice was a little hoarse, as if he had just recovered from a serious illness.

"Yeah!" Victor nodded, "Is everything going well? If you need help, ask Adonis to help you for a few days first."

Lucian nodded, "That's exactly what I'm thinking. I'll call him tonight. Enjoy your meal here. I'm going somewhere else with these directors."

After saying that, Lucian turned around and introduced Victor to those men, "They are Mr. Alwynn and Mrs. Alwynn."

"Mr. Alwynn, Mrs. Alwynn, nice to meet you!"

Behind Lucian, a group of people greeted Victor and Eden with a smile.

"Nice to meet you, too!" Victor nodded indifferently as a response.

Meanwhile, Lucian was a little surprised to see Victor and Eden. He couldn't deal with these old fogies all the time. Since he had met Victor, they probably would not hesitate any longer. After all, cooperating with Alwynn Group was much better than cooperating with his elder brother. Alwynn Group spoke for itself.

Moreover, many people in the business world knew that he and Victor were best friends.

In addition, his relationships with the Skye family and the Church family were enough to move their hearts.

Lucian glanced at them, "We're leaving. Eden, remember to eat more."

Eden smiled faintly and nodded.

Victor nodded and knew that they were going to the karaoke bar.

After they left, Victor and Eden walked into the hall.

After entering the elevator, Eden said, "Victor, Lucian's face looks so pale. You have time tonight, don't you? Go and see if he will drink. If he drinks, ask him to stop. It's impossible for Amelia to hide from him all her life. The reason why she left is very simple. She just doesn't want to become his burden."

Victor held her shoulders with both hands, "Honey, I see. I have time tonight, but Lucian may not be free. Perhaps he has to entertain those people till midnight. Now it is the critical moment. There is no doubt that Lucian is very angry after Amelia left, and he wants to fight with his elder brother till the end."

Eden glared at him, "So, do you think it's good Amelia to leave?"

Victor knew that she would be very unhappy after hearing his words, but he said with a smile, "Fool, I don't mean that. During this period of time, Lucian's brother has been looking for Amelia openly, hasn't he? But Amelia hides herself very well. You know what? If he finds her, he will definitely do something unexpected."

Eden said, "I know what you mean. I just feel sorry for Amelia. It's a pity that they can't be together." She lowered her head slightly. Amelia was a good girl. She worked very hard and got along well with her.

With Amelia in the company, she could be at ease even if she didn't go to work for a month.

Victor knew that Eden and Amelia were good friends, but something was more complicated than they thought.

"Fool, that's not for sure. Didn't you say that Amelia couldn't hide from Lucian forever?"

Eden looked up at him with resentful eyes and nodded, "I said that indeed. However, with Amelia's character, since they can't weather the storm now, do you think she will show up in front of Lucian so easily in the future? The answer is never. A few days ago, Amelia made Lucian feel that he was important to her, but she left him without hesitation. This is the most hurtful thing in love."

Victor was dumbfounded. Eden was losing her temper.

No matter what he said, she was unhappy.

"Eden, if I were Amelia, I would tell Lucian that I just wanted to give him simple happiness and hoped that he could give me a chance to love him..."

Hearing this, Eden wanted to refute him.

The elevator came to a halt on the fourth floor.

The elevator door opened, and Melissa and her assistant walked in.

Melissa was stunned when she saw Victor and Eden.

She felt that fate was just a coincidence. When she thought that she could meet them, she really met them.

She glanced at Victor, walked into the elevator with her assistant and smiled at him faintly.

"Victor, do you know how much I miss you? My love for you has never changed. I'm exceptionally vigorous in pursuing you, and you will be mine one day." She said in heart.

Melissa ignored Eden deliberately and looked at Victor with a sweet smile, "Victor, what a coincidence. We will meet in the same elevator."

Being ignored by her, Eden was unconcerned. Anyway, with her here, Melissa could never get close to Victor.

Victor didn't even look at Melissa, let alone answer her.

He held Eden in his arms, lowered his head and kissed her lips.

Eden knew what he meant. She looked at him with a sweet smile and tender eyes.

Victor loved her when she smiled gently, and his eyes were full of affection.

"Honey, I love you!" Victor murmured softly. He didn't say this because of Melissa, but said this to Eden from the bottom of his heart.

"Ha-ha..." Eden chuckled, and her laughter was pleasant to ear.

Seeing that they showed off their love deliberately, Melissa flew into a rage.

She knew that they did it on purpose.

Victor didn't even look at her.

"Humph..."

She snorted in heart.

As she watched them hugging each other, an evil idea flashed through her mind, "Victor, I remember that I used to kiss you like this when you were in a coma. Your lips are soft and a little cold. Every woman likes such a feeling." Eden's heart trembled slightly when Melissa spoke in a light tone.

Victor felt sick. How could Melissa say such disgusting words?

Chapter 1307

However, Eden looked at Victor, smiled and said in a warning tone, "Honey, did something like this happen?"

Victor shook his head immediately and said firmly, "Honey, there was absolutely no such a thing. Although I was in a coma, I could feel about the outside world. This woman is definitely a shameless lunatic."

"Alright! That's my man." Eden smiled with satisfaction, and her expression was quite proud.

When Melissa heard Victor say that she was definitely a shameless lunatic, her face twisted.

She wouldn't have any feeling if someone else said these words. However, Victor said so, and she felt greatly humiliated.

"Victor, are you sure you remember it? I kissed you every day! You looked very handsome when you were in a coma, and I couldn't get tired of watching you." Melissa said fearlessly. She just wanted to annoy Eden and made her feel bad.

Since they showed off their love in front of her, she would make them regret it.

Eden was indeed very angry in heart. Victor was not by her side at that time.

Victor's face darkened, and rage bubbled just below the surface of his mind.

Eden looked at Melissa with a smile, and the confident expression in her eyes was very eye-catching, "Miss Craig, aren't you ashamed to tell such a lie? We have seen the surveillance videos in the hospital. You only visited Victor once in a week, and you only stayed in the ward for twenty minutes every time. Do you think you had a chance to kiss my husband in front of the nurse maid? It's said that people like to show off what they don't have. If you really need a man, I can give you a suggestion. There is a brothel for women in this city. I saw it on the Internet, and those gigolos have excellent service. You can have a try. By the way, it's said that they can return the money to you if you're not satisfied."

"Eden, you..." Melissa looked at Eden madly and felt that she had been greatly humiliated. Eden actually asked her to go to a brothel for women. She looked gentle and weak on the surface, but what she had said really shocked her.

Eden said that she could get her money back if she was not satisfied. Was she short of money?

No! How could she think like this? She had fallen into Eden's trap.

She looked at Eden with a weird smile, "It seems that you have experienced it yourself. Otherwise, how could you know that their service is excellent?" Melissa made use of what Eden had said.

"Ha-ha..." Looking at Melissa, Eden smiled and felt that she was too ridiculous, "I only have sex with my husband. His skills on bed are definitely the best in the world." Saying this, Eden held Victor's arm intimately. Her arrogant and proud expression made people feel that she was the happiest woman in the world. Every time, she was very satisfied on bed.

Victor was very smug, and he liked Eden to show off like this. As a man, he should be proud because his wife enjoyed their bedtime.

"Humph... Shame on you!" Melissa snorted. When the elevator door opened, she glared at Eden with jealousy and fury, turned around and went out.

Her assistant followed her out quickly, but he had blushed scarlet.

Eden immediately let go of Victor and kicked him hard in the calf.

"Ouch... Honey, do you want to kill me?" Victor looked at her with some grievances.

She clearly looked so proud and complacent just now. Why did she get mad all of a sudden? Did she just pretend to be happy just now?

"Humph!" Eden snorted at him, "How long should I go against such women like this? I should really get to know some handsome guys and take revenge on you."

"How dare you!" Victor put on a straight face instantly and held her in his arms. Lowering his head, he bit her earlobe hard and said evilly and furiously, "It seems that my skills on bed are not good enough. You even want to know some handsome guys. Tonight, I will show you how amazing I am. I'll let you get so tired that you won't have time to know them."

Eden was speechless. She just said it casually because she was annoyed, but he took her words seriously.

"How dare you!" Eden looked at him with annoyance as well.

Victor narrowed his eyes and smiled wickedly and ambiguously, "Honey, you are my wife. Just wait and see." Victor raised his hand to look at the time, "Now there is some time left. We'll have sex as soon as we return to the room. If you dare to know handsome guys, I'll give them a lesson."

Eden went berserk, and her eyes turned red with anger, "Victor, you b*stard! I'll run away from home if you dare to do that."

Victor smiled shamelessly, "Honey, I will go with you. My home is wherever you are."

Eden was speechless.

Arriving at the top floor, Victor immediately carried her in his arms and walked into the room.

"Victor, are you serious?" Eden asked in fear, looking at him warily.

Victor smiled evilly with an ambiguous look in his eyes, "Honey, do I look like I'm joking?"

Eden wailed in heart. Why did she lose again?

Later, Victor proved that he was really amazing on bed, and she was exhausted.

After dinner, Eden was still weak all over. She was really not in the mood to think about other handsome guys. At this time, she was thinking about how to get rid of Victor.

Victor was talking to Dean on the phone in front of the French window not far away. They were talking about work.

Eden lay on the sofa to have a rest out of boredom.

Occasionally, she glared at Victor angrily.

Victor didn't focus his attention on work completely. When he looked back sometimes, he could see Eden's gloomy eyes. Seeing how feeble she was, he would smile wickedly and Eden would glare at him with irritation again.

Looking at her furious face, Victor was very happy. At this time, she only thought about him in heart.

Eden turned over and decided not to look at Victor again at night.

If she looked at him, she would be pissed off.

Eden lay on her stomach exasperatedly. She suddenly received a message.

She clicked on it. "Eden, I'm so angry! Maureen really aborted the child."

Eden was so shocked that she quickly sat up, "Abby, is that true?"

"Eden, how could I tell such a lie? She haemorrhaged badly during the surgery, and she has poor coagulation function. She almost died. Jasper and I are taking care of her in the hospital now. Jasper has remained silent for a long time. I'm really worried about him."

Chapter 1308

Seeing this, Eden had complicated feelings. She really didn't know what Maureen was thinking at that time.

"Abby, comfort Jasper more. This matter is a severe blow to him. Of course, Maureen has her own ideas. Her health is also very important. I hope she can get better soon." She actually wanted to scold Maureen. Since she loved Jasper, why couldn't she love their child?

But she had no right to scold her.

"Isn't it just? Jasper has decided to be responsible for Maureen, but she is so stubborn. Now things have become like this, and she still blames Jasper."

"Abby, it's too late to say anything. Is Maureen better now?"

"She's much better, but she hasn't woken up. Jasper will stay here to take care of her tonight. However, I'm afraid this farce will come to an end after Maureen leaves the hospital, because Jasper's face has darkened to the extreme. Maureen asked for it. On one hand, she wanted Jasper to love her. On the other hand, she asked Jasper to be loyal to her. Jasper was loyal her indeed, but she was unsatisfied. She didn't know that he needed some time."

"Jasper doesn't love her, and they haven't lived together for a long time. How could he fall in love with her all of a sudden? Jasper respected her, so he told her the truth. He needs some time to fall in love with her. As the saying goes, a man whose heart is not content is like a snake which tries to swallow an elephant. Maureen is too greedy and I'm really pissed off."

Eden didn't know how to reply. Abby must be very angry.

"Don't be too angry, Abby. You're pregnant, and you can't be so excited. Maureen deserves it. You can't fall ill."

"Ha-ha... Eden, it seems that you are mad, too. I will take care of myself. You don't have to worry. Anson will come and pick me up later."

"Okay. As for the problem between Jasper and Maureen, let them solve it by themselves. No one can help them."

"I know. I don't intend to meddle in it. I just feel sorry for Jasper. Eden, let's talk later. Maureen has woken up."

"Okay!"

Eden threw the phone on the tea table.

Victor had just hung up the phone.

He sat on the sofa and reached out to stroke her beautiful hair. Eden ignored him and lay there quietly.

"Eden, are you still feeble?" Victor asked teasingly on purpose.

Eden's body suddenly tensed up, and she buried her face in the sofa. He even asked like this! No, he asked her deliberately! That was too much. When they were in the elevator, she said those words to Melissa to salvage her pride, but she didn't expect him to take her words seriously.

How could Victor not know what she was thinking?

"Eden, we won't go back tonight."

Eden immediately jumped up and glared at him, "Don't even think about it!"

Victor held her in his arms and whispered in her ear, "Eden, I miss you every day. When I miss you, I'm always in a good mood." His voice was very pleasant to hear, and Eden's heart trembled.

Eden leaned against his arms and looked at him, "Maureen has aborted the child."

Victor looked calm, "It doesn't surprise me at all."

Eden looked at him doubtfully, "Why?"

She always thought that Maureen loved Jasper and their child.

Victor looked at her, "Eden, Maureen has been pampered since she was a child. She is wilful and stubborn. Once she gets something, she will ask for more. Since she can't be satisfied, how could she think about the future in a reasonable way?"

"Alas!" Eden sighed. She was in a bad mood as well.

"I really hope that Jasper can be happy." Eden bit her lower lip hard. Jasper must be very sad at the moment.

"Alright, Eden, don't think about it anymore. Do you want some midnight snacks?"

Eden looked at him with resentment, "Is it time for midnight snacks now? Let's go home."

She got up and wore her shoes. She didn't want to stay here at all.

Chatting with her children at home was much better than looking at him here. She was annoyed as soon as she saw him, because he bullied her all day long.

Some home-wreckers even provoked her from time to time, and she felt she was having a hard time.

Seeing that she wanted to go back, Victor was a little helpless, "Eden, wait a minute. I'm going to change my clothes."

"Okay!" Eden nodded and got up to pack up her things.

While packing up, she suddenly thought of something. Since Melissa was here, would there be any gossip about Victor the next day?

She always suspected that this matter had something to do with Melissa. The expression in her eyes changed. She would know it the next day.

Eden packed up her things soon, and Victor had changed his clothes.

She walked to him, and he took the opportunity to hold her in his arms. She looked at him and smiled softly, "Victor, I want to eat small steamed buns tomorrow morning. Remember to get up early and buy them for me. By the way, I want strawberry bubble tea."

Victor nodded, "No problem. I'll get up early and buy breakfast for you."

Eden shook her head slightly, "No. After thinking for a while, I think we'd better buy breakfast on the way to work."

The romance a woman wanted would become different as time went by.

In the past, she was sensible, and she didn't want him to be too tired, so she had no requirements for him. But it was different at this time.

He doted on her, so she became greedier and greedier.

"Okay, it's up to you." Victor rubbed her head and said in a doting tone.

He did not like a simple life, and he hoped that she would ask for something from him every day.

He felt that they had passed their youth in an ordinary way. When they were in their prime, he wanted to live a more romantic life.

"Mm! I will accompany you to work happily tomorrow. You're not allowed to annoy me." Eden clenched her fist and waved it at him.

In fact, she had been busy during this period of time. She was injured, so she had a lot of unfinished work to deal with.

Hearing this, Victor felt very wronged. His only wish in life was to make her happy.

"Eden, if I make you angry, you can beat me to vent your anger." Victor looked at her with a smile, "However, you owe me a date. On the day you had an accident, we agreed to go out for a date. I had chosen a restaurant, but you had an accident."

Eden nodded, "I'll definitely find time to date with you when I finish all my work in a few days. However, if you anger me, that's another matter."

She was looking forward to what would happen the next day.

"Sure. Honey, I will never make you angry, okay?" Victor answered her patiently. When she lost her temper, he couldn't live at ease.

"Mm! In fact, every time after I argued with you, I was very regretful, because I really wanted to kill you at that time, but I couldn't bear to do so." Eden pouted her red lips. She was softhearted, which made herself so depressed.

"Ha-ha..." Victor laughed, "I knew you're the kindest." He held her waist more tightly.

Chapter 1309

The next day, after the three children went to school, Victor took Eden out.

On the way to work, he bought small steamed buns, instant strawberry milk tea and a few strawberry lollipops for Eden.

When he put these in Eden's arms, Eden smiled with satisfaction. She was in a good mood early in the morning and even kissed Victor.

Victor was so delighted. When he arrived in the company, he was still in a particularly good mood.

"Mr. Alwynn, Mrs. Alwynn, it's so nice to meet you!" Dean had not seen Eden and Victor for several days, and he said very flatteringly.

He and Paula greeted Eden and Victor outside the office together.

Paula looked at Eden. This time, she said respectfully, "Mr. Alwynn, Mrs. Alwynn, good morning."

Eden nodded at her and greeted her as well.

Victor was quite pleased and patted Dean's shoulder, "Dean, you've been doing a good job these days. You're excellent. I'll think about it and award you a pay rise this month."

Dean looked at Victor in pleasant surprise. No! Why should Victor think about it? He should do it directly! After all, he had been working very hard during this period of time.

"Thank you, Mr. Alwynn! My salary gives me endless motivation. Mr. Alwynn, I will work harder in the future. By the way, you look more handsome today." Dean flattered Victor. Seeing that Victor was in a good mood, he glanced at Eden. It seemed that he would have a nice day here.

Eden seemed to be quite glad, and this was why Victor was happy.

"I know!" Victor touched his handsome face proudly, "Dean, you look nice as well."

Eden was speechless. What was wrong with them?

"Ha-ha..." Dean smiled with embarrassment, "Mr. Alwynn, thank you for your compliment. There are a lot of work today, and you're quite busy. You should hold a meeting in the head office and attend three video conferences of branches. I've prepared them for you."

When Victor learned that he had so much work to do, he glanced at Dean in a daze and asked with a frown, "Dean, did you make a mistake? Why do I have so much work today? Today I want to go on a date with my wife."

Dean was stunned. Victor hadn't come to the company for several days, had he?

Dean almost spoke his mind, but he immediately bit back what he would like to have said.

He reminded himself that he was just an assistant in Alwynn Group.

He didn't dare to say that. Just now, Victor said that he would award him a pay rise, and he didn't want to lose this chance.

Dean thought for a moment and said with a smile, "Mr. Alwynn, this is your unfinished work in the past few days. With your ability, you can finish it before getting off work. After all, you have extraordinary working ability."

Eden could not help but laugh when she heard that.

With such a flatterer around Victor, he would not feel bored.

"Victor, hold the meeting first. I am going to work." After saying that, Eden walked to the office gloatingly.

At this time, Seth walked out from the office with a few documents in her hands.

"Mrs. Alwynn, I have prepared the information you want." Seth looked at Eden and smiled.

Then she looked at Victor and nodded as a greeting.

Victor nodded as a response. He had no complaint against Seth. She was sensible and knew how to behave properly, and she was respectful to Eden.

"Okay! Thank you." Eden took the documents. When she didn't come to the company, Seth negotiated with Monroe Group, and her work was much easier.

"Mrs. Alwynn, I'll deal with my own work first." Seth nodded with a smiling face and then turned to go back.

"Wow! Seth is really hard working. It seems that she worked overtime last night." Looking at Seth's back, Dean smiled enviously. She was double paid.

Eden smiled and nodded, "Seth treats her work very seriously indeed, just like Amelia..." Eden suddenly stopped. She always thought of Amelia, and she didn't know if Amelia was living a good life.

She left just like that, and they didn't know where she was.

Victor knew that she was worried about Amelia again. He rubbed her head tenderly, "Honey, I am going to the meeting."

Eden nodded, "Go ahead."

"Okay! I'll be back soon." Victor didn't want to part with Eden, which made Dean feel envious. As a single man, he had been witnessing public display affection.

Eden nodded with a smile. Then, she turned around and walked into the office.

Paula followed her immediately, "Director, shouldn't we go to the meeting?"

Eden turned around and looked at her in confusion, "It has almost been 10 days since you came here. Haven't you got familiar with the workflow? We only have to attend the meetings about design. Their routine meeting has nothing to do with our design. Get ready and we'll go to the eleventh floor for a meeting. The winter collection is about to be released."

Paula was a little puzzled. Were they in charge of the department on the eleventh floor?

"Oh, okay." Paula followed Eden into the office.

Eden put the documents on the desk.

She sat down, turned on her computer, and glanced at the documents that Paula had placed on her desk. They were the documents that she had asked Paula to sort out again.

She looked at the time. There was half an hour left before the meeting, so she picked up the documents and read carefully.

Paula stood aside and looked at Eden's expression nervously.

When Eden was working, she was so concentrated that she could find out every little mistake.

After reading for a while, Eden frowned slightly and wrote on the paper in red ink.

Seeing this, Paula lowered her head even more. She had sorted out the documents carefully, but why did she make mistakes again?

After reading two documents, Eden suddenly didn't want to read anymore. She looked up at Paula whose head was lowered, "Paula, I heard that you were extremely talented, but I'm really disappointed after reading your proposals. You even made mistakes in colours and fabrics. Besides, you don't know much about fabrics, do you?"

"No... I forgot a lot of things I had learned in college. Director, I'm trying my best, and I will do better in the future." Paula promised. When Victor and Eden were not in the company, she was slack in her work. Originally, she thought that they would not come to work that day, and Dean didn't tell her about it.

However, she had reorganized these documents.

Eden was quite helpless. She turned on the computer and glanced at the list of new customers she had to meet this season.

She printed the document, took it over and checked it carefully. Then she handed it to Paula, "These are relatively important business partner of our company. Contact the first three people and meet them at noon."

Chapter 1310

"Okay!" Paula took the documents and turned to leave, but her entire body was tense. No, she had to be more careful, and she could not be driven away by Eden.

Eden looked at her back and felt quite annoyed. Paula was not serious about her work at all.

If Paula continued to work like this, she would be very tired.

She picked up the notebook on the table alone, got up and went to the 11th floor for the meeting.

On the eleventh floor, Margery ran towards her, "Eden, you are here."

"Yeah!" Eden greeted her warmly.

Margery smiled, "Eden, both of you and Mr. Alwynn are so famous recently."

Hearing this, Eden looked at her in confusion. She thought of something and asked with a smile, "Is there any news about me today?"

She had just arrived at the office and hadn't had time to look at her phone.

"Yes!" Margery smiled meaningfully and showed the news to Eden.

"Eden, you went to the hotel with a man last night."

Hearing Margery's words, the people around gathered around her. Some were watching the fun, and some were gloating over her misfortune.

These days, they always gossiped about Eden and Victor.

At this time, many women who wanted seduce Victor were all waiting for Eden to be driven out of Alwynn Group.

Eden did not care about the eyes of the people around her and looked down at Melissa's phone. The photo was taken in River City Restaurant. In the photo, she was holding an old man's hand.

"Ha-ha..." Eden could not help but laugh out loud when she saw the old man.

Seeing her like this, Margery was a little worried, "Eden, aren't you anxious? There is a lot of news about you and Victor recently. Everyone is gossiping about you."

Eden glanced at her and asked with a smile, "Do you think it's true?"

Margery shook her head, "Eden, we don't believe it, but others believe it. Look at the models here. They all dress up, waiting for Mr. Alwynn to come here."

Eden glanced at the models around her. They were all well dressed and charming. In such a cold winter, some even revealed their slim waists. She clearly knew that every model here was sexier than her.

Under the bright lights, they all looked stylish and pretty.

But so what? Eden trusted Victor and knew that he could control himself.

Seeing that Eden glanced around them, a model looked at her with disdain and walked to her front with a smiling face, "Mrs. Alwynn, you were with a handsome guy a few days ago. But last night, you stayed with an old man. It seems that you have a special taste!" Then, she ran her finger through her long hair, smiled and looked at Eden provocatively.

As soon as she said this, everyone fell silent.

Some experienced models' faces changed instantly when they heard this. A few photographers were afraid of being involved, and they immediately walked away. They didn't want to be punished by Victor.

Margery was speechless. This model was new here, and she was really reckless.

During this period of time, anyone with discerning eyes could see that someone was deliberately framing Eden and Victor. To put it more seriously, they were aiming at Alwynn Group.

Only these scheming women believed such rumours. They wanted to become Mrs. Alwynn, but they overestimated themselves.

Eden looked at her with a smile. The expression on her face was still distant and calm, but there was a hint of aloofness in her eyes, "I have a special taste, so what?"

Hearing her words, the model was obviously stunned.

"Ha-ha..." She sneered, "Don't you think these news has a negative effect on our company?"

Eden looked her up and down, and then glanced at her beautiful face. She was not as coquettish as other models, but looked pure. Her dress was undoubtedly Victor's favorite style.

Eden smiled lightly, "It will affect the company's reputation, not yours. Why are you so anxious?" Eden looked at her with a chuckle.

The model sneered and said, "Mrs. Alwynn, in all fairness, we work in Alwynn Group, and we're afraid that we will suddenly lose our jobs one day. We are just worried about our own future and the company's development."

"Oh!" Eden said blandly and didn't say anything else.

The model didn't know what she meant.

Eden was just a scrap of a thing, but she had surpassed all of them, and she was Victor's wife.

She could beat ordinary women hollow.

Many women were envious of Eden, including her.

At the party that night, Victor lowered himself and half knelt in front of Eden, surprising everyone. If she was Eden, she would be the happiest woman in the world at that moment.

At that time, she was shocked as well. But there were so much negative news about Eden, so she was more or less unconvinced.

Eden looked at everyone with a smile, "You don't have to worry about this. Even if Alwynn Group goes bankrupt, we will not owe you a penny. I know that you are all curious about the rumours about me and Victor these days, but what I want to tell you is that you should do your own work well before the company announces bankruptcy. You don't have to worry about the future of the company. As for the rumour, it's something that Victor and I have to solve, not something you use to attack me!" Eden said the last sentence with apathetic eyes as she glanced at everyone's face.

Those models lowered their heads slightly and did not dare to look into Eden's cold eyes.

Margery said, "Everyone, get ready for the meeting. The new collection will be on the market soon. Mrs. Alwynn will explain the rules of the new product launch for you."

Margery had been working here for several years, and she was the director of the department, so she was in a position of authority.

The model was unwilling to give up. She stood still and looked at Eden, "Mrs. Alwynn, although I am just a model here, I admire Mr. Alwynn all the time. I hope that you can behave yourself and don't disgrace Mr. Alwynn anymore. He is very pitiful. When you are willful, he has to put aside his work and comfort you. Can't you just conduct yourself? You always do something to break Mr. Alwynn's heart."

After saying that, she pretended to feel distressed for Victor, raised her head arrogantly and turned to leave.

"Stop!" Eden said apathetically.

The model paused and turned around slowly, looking at Eden with disdain.

Eden clenched the notebook in her hand tightly and walked towards her step by step.

Her eyes were more indifferent than just now.
