

Gluey Love 1341

Chapter 1341

The two of them were stunned. Looking at Victor's gloomy face, they both stood up from the leather chair uneasily and looked at Victor in panic.

Victor looked at Mr. Remar with sarcasm. Looking at their panicked eyes, he walked over and sat on the leather chair on the other side as if nothing had happened, but he lowered his head slightly and didn't speak.

The temperature in the conference room suddenly dropped, and it was so oppressive.

Mr. King and Mr. Remar looked at each other, but neither of them dared to speak and waited for Victor to speak first.

In the business world, Victor always did what he wanted in a sweeping manner.

His way of doing business was simple. He could earn money together with his partners, but he never let go of anyone who betrayed him.

Victor glanced at Dean. Dean understood what he meant and put two documents in front of Mr. King and Mr. Remar.

"Mr. King, Mr. Remar, this is evidence of you copying our design. Our cooperation has come to an end." Dean said politely.

"What... How... could it be?" Mr. Remar was anxious. He looked at Victor, but Victor lowered his head and had no reaction.

The more Victor acted like this, the more nervous they felt.

Dean added, "Mr. Remar, Alwynn Group is so successful because we work together with one heart. Without everyone's hard work, we wouldn't get such great achievements. Therefore, we don't allow anyone to copy our design. This is the respect for our original designers. Alwynn Group will bring an action against you, and your franchise will be given to Mr. Rubio who comes from Southern region."

Victor got up slowly and strode out of the conference room before Mr. Remar and Mr. King could react.

"Mr. Alwynn, wait a minute..." Mr. Remar and Mr. King said at the same time.

But they could only hear the sound of the door closing.

"Dean, how can Mr. Alwynn behave this? He didn't even give us a chance to explain." Mr. Remar's heart was filled with fear, but he had his own pride after working in the business world for many years.

Dean smiled, "The evidence is here. What do you want to explain? The more you explain, the more you expose yourselves. Am I right? When you lose everything, you'll suffer."

They were rendered speechless by Dean, and their faces turned pale.

How did Victor know it so clearly?

For a moment, Mr. King could not bear such a blow. He panted heavily, and his face darkened to the extreme.

He had cooperated with Victor for many years, and he had made a large amount of money. At this time, their cooperation had come to an end. How could he bear such a blow all of a sudden?

"Oh! Mr. King, are you okay? You don't look well." Mr. Remar said straightforwardly, completely ignoring Mr. King's feelings at the moment.

Dean was speechless. Since they didn't care about each other at all, how did they collude with each other?

"Mr. King, don't be too angry. You can't blame others for this. You're greedy, but you've aimed at the wrong person. You'd better contact your lawyers first." Dean walked out with a smile. They had reaped what they sowed. This was their retribution, because they were so ungrateful and copied the design of Alwynn Group for high profit.

They got into troubles because of their greed.

In the conference room, Mr. King and Mr. Remar went deathly pale. Both of them didn't expect that this day would come so soon.

Mr. Remar punched the desk hard. Rolls of fat trembled on his fat face, and he looked so stern and brutal.

"Humph, since Victor doesn't cooperate with us, we can cooperate with Mr. Matthews. The design of their companies is similar, and Mr. Matthews sells the clothes at a lower price. We'll make money."

Mr. King glanced at him, "Humph! You are just deceiving yourself. I shouldn't have met Mr. Matthews with you."

Mr. King got up with regret and staggered out of the conference room.

Mr. Remar followed him out with a look of frustration and dejection.

When Victor returned to his office, he went straight to the room to see Eden.

Eden lay there quietly, and her even breathing indicated that she had fallen asleep.

He sat down beside the bed gently and looked at her lovely sleeping face. She slept very soundly, and her face was a bit ruddy. She looked even more charming.

Victor was pestered by different women all the time, and he hated each of them.

She was the only one he could never get tired of.

He could learn everything quickly, but he could never learn to hate her and ignore her.

In his life, the most important thing was to dote on her and love her.

Looking at Eden's sleeping face, he was somewhat lost in thought. He didn't come to sense until the message notification sounded. It was a message sent by Lucian.

Lucian said that he wanted to have dinner with them in River City Restaurant at night.

"Okay." Victor replied to him. Then he got up and went out to check Eden's unfinished work.

Eden slept until the rush hour. Victor had a gathering with his friends, so she did not follow him and drove home alone after work.

During this period of time, Lucian either lived in Windsor Villa or Marriott Hotel. He had never returned home.

When he finished his work, he always went to Marriott Hotel habitually.

He could only sleep there peacefully, because he and Amelia used to stay there.

This room was full of their memories, and she once smiled and cried here.

When she was by his side, he didn't expect that he would lose her, and he never thought about the life without her.

When he really lost her, he realized that his heart was empty without her. He was no longer hopeful, and his soul seemed to have disappeared.

Looking at their only photo on the phone screen, he gently rubbed Amelia's innocent and lovely face in the photo with his slender fingers.

He missed her so much, and his heart ached severely in an instant. He frowned, pursed his lips and couldn't bear to turn his eyes away from her smiling face. He sat there quietly for an hour. At the appointed time, he got up, changed his clothes and went to the River City Restaurant.

Eden received a phone call from Maureen before she arrived home.

Maureen said that she wanted to meet her. Eden hesitated for a moment, and then she nodded and went to the cafe where Maureen was.

After parking the car, Eden got out of the car and saw Maureen sitting by the window. Maureen wore a beige coat, and her hair was tied severely in a bun. At this time, she looking out of the window listlessly.

Eden approached the cafe slowly. When she came closer, she found that Maureen had lost a lot of weight. Her face was pale and her eyes were lifeless. She looked sick.

Eden sat down opposite her, looked at her and said blandly, "You haven't recovered yet. Why do you come out in such a cold day? You should take good care of yourself, shouldn't you?"

Chapter 1342

When Maureen heard Eden's voice, she came to sense and found that Eden was looking at her with concern.

She pursed her dry lips slightly, and her eyes were still dejected and sombre, "I aborted Jasper's child." Her tone was very mournful.

She did not have many friends here, and there was no one she could talk to. After thinking about it, she thought of Eden.

Eden did not know how to reply to her.

Maureen spoke straightforwardly. Eden wanted to answer her euphemistically, but she couldn't. After all, Maureen aborted the child on her own, and it was not an accident.

Eden did not speak and looked down at the bag in her hands.

Maureen looked at her quietly for a while. When Eden did not speak, she was very gentle. The expression on her pretty face was bland, but she made her feel at ease.

Jasper had been infatuated with Eden's face for ten years.

Maureen looked away slowly and said with sorrow, "He doesn't want to love me."

Eden clenched her fists slightly. For some unknown reason, her anger overflowed, and she said in an unfriendly tone, "It is you who want to get him all the time. It is your fault. I thought you could make it to the end."

Maureen shook her head in pain, "I know I was wrong, but he doesn't want to love me. He only loves you."

Only then did Eden look up at her painful expression, and her eyes were filled with disappointment.

"Maureen, did you give him time to love you? Did you give him any chance? Did you give him a chance to get along with you? Did you give him a chance to think about your future? You only care about your own feelings, and you pushed him away when he wanted to care about your feelings. Did he have an opportunity to love you?"

"No matter who Jasper used to love, he didn't escape reality but took the responsibility after he learned that you were pregnant. He said that he would be responsible for you and hoped that you would give him some time. Why were you in such a hurry? You have loved him for so many years. Why couldn't you wait for him for another year? I always think that giving up someone we love is more difficult than falling in love with another person."

"But you are the exact opposite. You love him deeply, but you let go of him so quickly. You gave up your love when Jasper had just changed his mind. You aborted your child. For Jasper, what you killed is not only his child, but also his life."

"When you decided to give up this child, have you thought about its father? Since its father didn't agree, what right did you have to give it up? Now you even say that he doesn't want to love you. Now I can tell you clearly that he really won't love you anymore. You fell in love with him first, but you ruined your love as well."

She had known Jasper for ten years, and she was particularly familiar with his temper. What Maureen had done really pissed him off.

Her words were indeed unpleasant to hear, but she was too angry.

Since Maureen had made up her mind to be with Jasper, she should stick to the end.

Since she had never done her best and didn't know the result, how could she know whether her effort was worth it or not?

"Woo-woo..." Maureen covered her face and cried in pain.

Eden looked at her coldly without any sympathy.

She did not stop Maureen. No matter how sadly Maureen cried, it was useless.

She looked out of the window. The sunset glow tinted the sky red.

Her mood was depressed, and her heart ached.

She met Jasper that day. Jasper was in pain and fainted in her arms. Therefore, losing the child was a great blow to him.

People who were overcautious and indecisive were the most confused, because they didn't know what they wanted. The people who changed their minds constantly were the tiredest, because they always felt that they were having a harder time than others.

Maureen knew what she wanted, but she was still indecisive.

Maureen cried for a long time before stopping.

She looked at Eden with tears in her eyes and said pitifully, "Eden, what should I do to get Jasper? I know he has been living a hard life recently, and he's very tired because of me. I have just learned that he passed out and now he lives in the hospital."

Eden looked at her quietly, "You got him, but you gave up on your own."

"I..."

Maureen was rendered speechless. Looking at Eden's calm expression, she pursed her lips and regretted what she had done. Why was she so impulsive back then?

She shook her head with grief, "Eden, I don't know what was wrong with me during those days. I just thought that if we were not deep in love, the child wouldn't live in happiness. That's what I thought, so I didn't want the child."

"Ha-ha..." Eden smiled coldly and looked at her with no warmth in her eyes, "I think you must be crazy. Maureen, I really don't understand you. You have been obsessed with Jasper for so many years, but you gave up when you had a chance to get him. Many years ago, you warned me that I was not good enough for Jasper. You were right. I never thought about marrying him. At that time, I lived with my three children and never thought about getting married."

"Especially Jasper, I have never given him a chance. He knows very well that it is impossible for us to be together. You were heartbroken at that time, weren't you? You left for him a few years."

Even if she still wanted to be with Jasper, Jasper might not take pity on her.

Maureen was stunned and looked at Eden in a daze, "Am I really going to lose Jasper like this?"

Eden was speechless. She had lost Jasper.

Maureen did not want to marry Jasper like that. She had her own principles, and she wanted their child to be born in love.

Eden clenched her fists in anger and looked at Maureen with gloomy eyes, "So, you can't treat Jasper like this. Maureen, since you've hurt his heart, you have to bear the consequences, right? You drugged Jasper just to keep him by your side, didn't you? He took the responsibilities. He didn't let you down, and he wanted to marry you and take care of you and the child. Wasn't that what you want? But when your wishes came true, you hurt his heart badly, Maureen, I really don't know what you are thinking. No matter how wilful you're, you can't risk the child's life, can you? What's more, Jasper let you give birth to the child because he liked it ."

"Ah..." Maureen screamed disconsolately after hearing the last sentence.

"Eden, why do you keep aloof from this matter? Why didn't you tell me this earlier? Are you so calm because this matter has nothing to do with you?"

Eden was taken aback. Was Maureen blaming her?

She said angrily, "Maureen, couldn't you feel it? After knowing that you lived with Jasper, both Abby and I knew that he would be responsible for you. But didn't you feel his change? He didn't drive you out of the house after you had sex, did he?"

Chapter 1343

Maureen was speechless. Indeed, at that time, Jasper did not drive her out, and she felt she was quite lucky. She had been waiting for Jasper to forgive her confidently, and she was sure that he would fall in love with her.

She thought confidently that she could finally get Jasper.

However, after she was pregnant, she was a little scared. She was very anxious and uneasy all day long. Jasper said that she might suffer from pregnancy depression and said that he would take responsibility for her and the child. He said it countless times, but she did not believe him.

He took her to the hospital for a check-up, but she was fine and the child was very healthy.

After she got pregnant, Jasper treated her very well. After work, he cooked for her every day. Although the food he cooked was not so delicious, he tried to make her all kinds of nutritious meals because she was pregnant.

The more considerately he treated her, the more she felt that she would lose him. She was conflicted and felt more and more flustered...

After leaving the cafe, Eden drove home alone. Perhaps it was because she had met Maureen and heard what she said, she was a little mad in heart all the time.

She was not in good spirits along the way.

She didn't want to go back in such a state, so she drove on the road aimlessly.

Some women tried their best to get pregnant, because they wanted to use the children to keep the men by their sides.

But she really couldn't understand Maureen's weird thoughts.

Maureen returned to Jasper's apartment with dejection.

After opening the door, she walked in. Before she took a few steps, she saw Jasper who had been discharged from the hospital. He sat on the sofa in the living room with a sullen face. His eyes were glassy, and he seemed to be lost in thought.

Maureen was stunned. Had he left the hospital? He still looked weak.

But looking at Jasper like this, she became more and more nervous.

She lowered her head and walked towards Jasper step by step. She wanted to speak, but her heart was filled with bitterness and she couldn't say a word.

Her footsteps were light. Jasper sat there quietly, as if he didn't know that she had come back.

It was weirdly silent in the living room.

Jasper did not speak, so Maureen did not know what to say.

She was not used to such a stiff atmosphere. So many things had happened, and she did not know what to say to Jasper.

She was totally wrong, and she regretted it very much.

After a long while, Jasper moved his stiff body slightly and looked up at the twilight outside the window.

Maureen became uneasy in an instant and sat down opposite him slowly. She lowered her head, not daring to look at Jasper's expressionless face.

Only then did Jasper feel her existence.

He only glanced at Maureen coldly before looking away.

"Move out from here." These few words meant that their relationship had come to an end.

Maureen was stunned. Her eyes trembled and tears ran down her face.

"Jasper, I'm sorry. I'm too wilful. I shouldn't have treated you like this. I shouldn't have disrespected your choice, and I shouldn't have given up our child selfishly." Tears kept streaming down Maureen's cheeks. She did not want to leave him like this. This was not the result she wanted.

Jasper sat there indifferently, "I can't bear your capriciousness."

He stood up slowly with an indifferent expression on his face, like a lifeless puppet. Then he turned around and walked into his own room mechanically.

His back was very lonely. He was much thinner than before, looking disconsolate and pitiful.

"Jasper." Maureen cried out in pain.

That day, she was also angry. But when he turned into the elevator, she really went berserk. Why couldn't he tolerate her more?

"Bang..." Jasper slammed the door shut.

Maureen was dumbfounded and stopped crying.

That door seemed to have locked Jasper away with her.

Maureen knew that it was impossible for them to be together.

It was really impossible.

"Jasper, why? Why does our relationship become like this?"

"Why did I give up when you wanted to be with me?"

"I love you so humbly, and I could have been with you, but I left you on my own."

"Jasper, I really love you. Why can't you be more patient to me?" She said in heart.

Jasper felt very tired. He fell on the bed heavily, closed his eyes and fell asleep soundly.

He had a very beautiful dream. In the dream, a very lovely child was smiling cutely at him and walking towards him. His heart melted when he looked at the child's adorable smile. When he was about to squat down to hold the child, the child suddenly puckered his mouth, and his wronged face made him feel so distressed. His gem-like bright eyes were filled with complaint, making his heart ache. He reached out his hands quickly, but the child suddenly disappeared.

"Baby!" Jasper screamed and suddenly sat up straight. Only then did he realize that he had a dream. The room was dark.

He glanced outside the window. It was already dark, and the myriad twinkling lights were brilliant.

He fell back on the bed again dejectedly, but he was no longer sleepy. He stared at the ceiling listlessly, but all he thought about was the dream just now. The child's pitiful and innocent eyes were full of complaint.

It seemed that he was asking why he gave him up.

"Ah..." Jasper closed his eyes in pain, and his heart was full of regret and hatred.

"I'm sorry.." In the dark night, Jasper sobbed silently and murmured in a painful and vague voice.

Only his low sobs could be heard, and the dark room was filled with intense loneliness...

In River City Restaurant, Lucian, Adonis, Anson, Brian, Sean and Victor sat together and looked at each other. They had their own special charm.

Adonis looked at them and complained, "We've finished the meal. You guys don't drink, and you can't go to the bar. Is it interesting to gather together?"

Brian looked at him and laughed, "What's wrong? Are you in a hurry to go back and accompany your girlfriend? You should have brought her here and introduced her to us."

Adonis smiled, "She's too shy to come here."

"Ha-ha..." Brian burst into laughter, "No matter how shy she is, she is not that timid, right? Besides, after you get married, she'll meet us sooner or later. Take her out more often and let her get used to it so that she will have the courage to meet us."

He had seen Candace before. She was indeed very simple and timid.

In fact, he couldn't figure out why a rude man like Adonis would like such a delicate girl.

Adonis smiled and said with tender eyes, "I asked her, but she didn't want to come. She said that she had to finish her manuscript tonight."

Victor looked at them and said, "Talk about my problem first. What should I do to keep that b*stard away from my wife?"

Anson smiled and said, "Do you finally have a sense of crisis? The press conference in the morning was very shocking, and the media who released the news was a new company covered by TS Company."

Victor looked at him angrily, "He is not only determined to get Eden, but also confident to occupy the market in River City."

"Ha-ha..." Anson laughed mockingly, "He has the strength to be so confident, but are you sure that he really has the ability to defeat you?"

Victor sneered. The expression in his eyes was sarcastic, but he said with a surge of great fury, "Whether in print or in private, I'm not afraid of him, but he has been affecting the relationship between me and Eden. I really hate it. Today he even sent a message to Eden to express his love." When he thought of this, he flew into a rage.

He wished that he could kill him.

"Ha-ha..." Brian laughed, "Victor, it serves you right." He had wanted to say this for a whole day, and he finally said it,

Victor glared at him fiercely. He knew that Brian had been waiting for such a day.

Brian seemed to know what Victor was thinking and gave him a friendly smile.

Victor was speechless. He would give Brian a lesson sooner or later.

They looked at each other with hostility.

Brian was still smiling.

Lucian sat up slightly, picked up the beer on the table and took a sip.

Then he asked, "Hasn't Kenny got any news?"

Victor smiled proudly and nodded, "He has found out something."

Lucian said, "Irving is not an upright man. We can't let him ruin Alwynn Group. His main purpose is not only Eden, but also Alwynn Group. We all should be more vigilant. He will play some dirty tricks behind our backs. I will deal with the affairs in my family as soon as possible and come back to Alwynn Group. Brian, arrange more people to pay attention to TS Company secretly. If my guess is right, they have stolen some of our design drafts this year, so there is a spy in Alwynn Group."

Victor frowned and couldn't believe what he had heard, "We did it so furtively this year. Did they still steal our design?"

Lucian nodded, "I'm afraid there's something wrong with the factory. Although Eden has been prepared, it's obvious that they want to ruin Alwynn Group. Hence, we should release the new product when they are not paying attention, so that their product won't have a chance to be on the market, just like what we did last season. We'll give them a severe blow and defeat them completely."

With brooding and sharp eyes, Victor smiled wickedly, "It seems that we have to be more ruthless this time. The enemies are different from those we usually meet."

Brian smiled, "They've challenged your limits. Of course you want to be more ruthless. After all, he cast a greedy eye on your wife."

Victor looked at him with admiration.

"Brian, sometimes it's better to be smart." Victor leaned on the chair casually, and his leisure posture was very charming.

"Ha-ha..." Brian chuckled and then showed them a photo.

Anson asked, "Isn't this Paulina's photo?"

Brian nodded, "That's right. She had a plastic surgery. I've investigated it. She came back to take revenge for Victor and Eden."

Victor narrowed his eyes slightly, "It's hard to overestimate such a ridiculous woman's viciousness. I'm just afraid that she will play dirty tricks in private and hurt Eden. Brian, arrange a few people to protect Eden and the three children secretly." He had weaknesses, and they were likely to make use of his weaknesses.

Brian knew that he must take this matter seriously, so he nodded, "Don't worry. I'll ask them to protect Eden and the three children secretly tomorrow."

Sean said casually, "Instead of being so cautious, it's better to find out the evidence to prove that he is evil. We can make it much simpler this way, can't we?"

Lucian looked at him, "Do you think it's that easy? If it was that easy, Kenny and I would have done that before you said so."

Sean glared at Victor, "What do you have in your blood? Why can you have three brilliant children?"

Except for Victor, everyone looked at him as if they had grudges against him.

Sean was stunned. Did he say anything wrong?

Lucian said, "Idiot, can't you see how proud he is? If you continue to praise him, he will be cock-a-hoop."

"Ha-ha..." Victor laughed happily. Speaking of his three children, he never hid his pride. He smiled smugly as he looked at their jealous faces, "My daughter's height has almost reached our elbows. I'm sure that she'll be gorgeous in the future."

Everyone was silent.

They couldn't mention the children. As long as they talked about the children, Victor couldn't stop showing off.

If their children could be like Gia, Kenny and Ricky, it meant that they were successful parents.

However, Sean said enviously, "You're qualified to be so proud. When I went home yesterday, my sister asked her daughter to do homework, but she played with her phone all the time and didn't finish her homework until eleven o'clock at night. When she held the pen, she didn't know what to write and only stared at her mother's face. My sister taught her while crying and calling my brother-in-law to curse him. If my child was like that in the future, I think I would be so angry and tired. So, Victor, you are really lucky."

"That's right." Victor smiled proudly again.

Everyone was speechless. How shameless he was!

Lucian took out a stack of documents and placed them in front of Victor, "Let's stop joking. Here is some information about RK Company that I've found out. Some of them were sent to me by Kenny. I've sorted them all out. You can take them back to study and come up with a plan to deal with RK Company. Brian, you can't expose yourself. You should go out together with Sean later. Irving has sent someone to follow us secretly. Since he wants to pinpoint our main weaknesses, we can't take a casual attitude."

Brian nodded, "Okay, I see."

Victor glanced at Lucian and patted him on the shoulder heavily, "Thank you so much!"

Lucian smiled blandly, "Do you need to be so polite to me? This time, thanks to Alwynn Group. Otherwise, I wouldn't have gotten thirty percent of the shares of the Ronen family so quickly."

Victor smiled as well. This was the first time that he had seen Lucian smile after Amelia left.

"Amelia will come back. Cheer up." Victor believed in his intuition, and he believed that Amelia and Lucian were destined to be together.

The expression in Lucian's eyes turned gloomy, and he did not say a word.

Adonis got up, stretched himself and said casually, "Then let's go home separately now."

"Adonis, you want to go back to see your girlfriend, don't you?" Anson smiled. He was very happy because they had met the girls they liked, "Adonis, let's just share griefs in life, and I don't want you to suffer in love, just like me. I hope that your love life will be smoother than ours. We've all suffered from the bitterness of love, and we hope that your love will only be sweet."

Adonis smiled, raised his eyebrows and looked at him with a proud face. He got along well with Candace recently. She was very dependent on him, which gave him a sense of great pride, "Anson, I won't be that unlucky, will I?"

Sean smiled and said, "Adonis, look at me. It's been more than three years. I've tried my best but I haven't married Margery. It was not easy for us to be together, and I still have to do a lot to let her marry me."

Adonis said sarcastically, "Sean, that's because you're cowardly. Both of you work in the same company and you have plenty of opportunities. But you haven't got married. Isn't it because you're cowardly?"

Sean smiled helplessly. Looking at Adonis, he blinked his eyes and smiled faintly, "Adonis, I'm not a coward. If you really like someone, you should respect her, not force her. The perfect love is that we are willing to get married and give birth to a child. Only in this way can we live happily. If I push her too hard, the result will turn out to be just the opposite of my wish, and she will think that I'm not sincere enough. The beginning of love is to give her the best respect and tolerance. Fortunately, I've been with her. You can wait for my good news."

Adonis frowned slightly and looked at him in confusion, "Do you mean that she'll leave me if I push her so hard?"

He really loved Candace, and he could not let her leave him.

She was cute, simple and kind.

He did not ask for much. He just wanted to spend the rest of his life with a kindhearted woman who loved him.

She didn't need to do anything, and he could treat her as treasure. As long as she loved him wholeheartedly, she was worthy of his care and kindness.

"Ha-ha..." Sean laughed and looked at him, "Adonis, to be honest, she's the only one that you've been together with for so long. Think about how many girlfriends you have changed before. You love her the most, right? Or you wouldn't have been together with her for so long. In other words, you failed before because you didn't understand love. Everyone's longing for love is different, but our longings are actually the same. We only want loyal and eternal love. We hope that they only love us, and we can give them all our affection. This is the love we need."

"Wow!" Adonis looked at him with admiration, "Sean, it seems that the reason why I didn't have a girlfriend before was that I didn't ask for your advice."

"Ha-ha..." They laughed at him.

Anson smiled and said, "Adonis, aren't you ashamed to say so? However, you didn't treat the girls you met before sincerely. Since you like Candace, you should cherish her."

Adonis nodded hurriedly. They were all good friends, so there was nothing to hide from them.

"Let me tell you the truth. I really like Candace very much. When I do something wrong, remember to remind me and help me. I want to get married earlier and have a child. Otherwise, I would still be single when Victor's children get married." According to his previous experience of making girlfriends, it was likely to come true.

"Ha-ha..." This time, Victor, who had a serious expression, couldn't help laughing first, "Adonis, if you still behave like before, it might really happen."

Adonis pursed his lips and glanced at him. Then he turned around angrily and walked out.

It was hard to predict what would happen in love. When love came, it was like a gust of wind, but love could disappear with no sign.

However, Candace was different from those women he knew before. She was like sunshine, warming his world. His life was wonderful because of her.

This was how he felt during this period of time.

However, Lucian did not say a single word, and there was intense sorrow in his eyes.

His love ended up with regret. Few people could understand the bitterness in his heart.

After leaving River City Restaurant, he did not say goodbye to anyone and drove away alone. After driving for about twenty minutes, he stopped by the river. At ten o'clock at night, the buildings on both sides of the river were brightly lit. The lights were reflected in the clear water, looking so beautiful.

Lucian rolled down the car window and leaned against the chair, looking at the distance sorrowfully. There were many couples playing by the river.

Some couples held heart-shaped balloons in their hands and took a walk by the river hand in hand.

A few men passed by his car with their girlfriends on their backs and smiled happily.

Looking at these couples, he felt extremely bitter in heart.

Girls should like such a romantic atmosphere very much, right? When he was with Amelia, he did not take her here.

He remembered that he once passed by here with her. She looked out of the car window and smiled with joy. At that time, he didn't know why she laughed so happily.

At this time, watching these couple playing together without any worries and smiling so lovingly, he seemed to know why she smiled so happily at that time.

She liked this place as well.

However, they were too busy with work, so they could only date in the company, restaurants, as well as Marriott Hotel.

She liked Marriott Hotel, so he always took her there.

Every time they went there, she was very glad.

She had left and disappeared from his life completely. Only then did he realize that they had not done anything she liked.

"Amelia, perhaps some women are more suitable for me in this world, but I know you love me the most, and I only want you."

"You never know that in fact, I want to live together till old and grey with you. When our hair turn grey, and when we are no longer young, we still love each other as ever. At that time, we'll be the happiest people in the world."

"You like to grow flowers, so I have prepared a big garden for you and you can grow flowers as you like. I will accompany you when you grow flowers. I am willing to live an ordinary life with you."

"I've got used to sharing everything with you. After you left, I found that I could no longer share my feelings with anymore, because no one could match me except for you."

Lucian glanced at the night sky. The misty night sky made him more and more agitated.

"Amelia, where are you?"

Chapter 1346

He had been looking for her for so long, but he could not find her. He sent people to search for her all over the country, but he did not find any clues.

She knew him well and knew how to avoid him.

"Amelia, do you know how many times I see you in my dreams? Do you know how many times I call your name and want to hold your hand?"

"My dreams are such wonderful, but I feel so painful when I wake up."

"I didn't realize how unforgettable our love is until I lost you. Whenever I think of you, my heart aches so much that I'm going to die."

"Amelia, you're willing to adapt yourself to circumstances, but have you ever thought about how desperate I am after being abandoned by you?"

She said, "Lucian, when we stay together, I always listen to you and do what you like, but you never ask me what I like and what I want to do." In fact, he had kept her words in mind, and he had decided to accompany her to do she liked after solving the affairs in his family.

Unfortunately...

Lucian had been sitting in the car quietly until everyone left. It was late at night, and only the cold wind was blowing. He blinked his sour eyes and drove away.

When Victor returned home, Eden had taken a bath. She sat alone by the window and seemed to be lost in thought.

Eden did not even notice Victor entering the room.

Looking at her somewhat lonely back, Victor quickened his pace.

He found that she was listening to a song with headphones.

Victor hugged her from behind and took the earphones from her ears.

He whispered in her ear, "Honey, I'm back."

Eden turned around slowly and looked at him, "Oh."

Seeing this, Victor frowned and caressed her eyebrows and ears with slightly cold fingers, "Are you unhappy?"

Eden shook her head slightly and smiled faintly. She was indeed in a bad mood because she had met Maureen.

"No, I was waiting for you to come back. Do you want some midnight snacks?" She didn't eat much, and she was a little hungry.

Victor shook his head slightly, "I'm full tonight, and I don't want to eat now."

Eden smiled and said, "Then go take a bath and I'll get you a glass of water."

"Okay!" Victor kissed her on the cheek and looked at her with affectionate eyes before going to the bathroom.

When Victor walked to the door of the bathroom, he saw her still sitting there quietly with the same posture. He knew that she had something on her mind.

Did anything happen on her way back?

Victor thought for a while and turned to the bathroom.

Hearing the sound of running water, Eden composed her emotions and got up to pour water for Victor.

Words couldn't describe how she felt when she thought of Maureen. Sometimes she didn't understand what Maureen was thinking, but she just couldn't accept it. This was why she was troubled.

Maureen and Jasper grew up together. They used to share happiness and griefs together, and their lives used to be meaningful, but their relationship ended up in this way.

No one could live again. Why couldn't Maureen slow down and be more patient?

"Alas!" Eden sighed with depression. She put the warm water on the table and changed into silk pajamas. Then she lay on the bed and looked at the dark night sky in a daze.

She didn't come to sense until Victor went to bed.

Victor held her in his arms. Feeling the slightly cool air around him and smelling his pleasant smell, Eden came to herself completely.

Victor lowered his head and kissed her red lips before asking, "Honey, you have something on your mind."

Eden shook her head, "No, I'm just in a bad mood because the relationship between Maureen and Jasper ended up in this way."

Around nine o'clock at night, Abby sent her a message, saying that Maureen had moved out from Jasper's house.

She knew that they had broken up completely.

The road to happiness might seem to be long, but if one could stick to the end, he would find that the result was more wonderful than he had imagined.

Unfortunately, Maureen... failed to hold on to the last.

Crush didn't last long, while true love lasted forever, but it took time to fall in love with someone.

Knowing that Eden was unhappy because of this, Victor felt quite helpless.

"Eden, this is their love, and they gave up first. They can only blame themselves for not being firm enough. Maureen doesn't love Jasper deeply enough, while Jasper hasn't fallen in love with her. Although love can't be intense all the time, no one can explain something about love clearly."

Some people could wait patiently, while some people were in a hurry for success and the result turned out to be the opposite of their wish.

"Yeah! I hope that they can meet someone who makes them happy in the future." Eden rubbed against his chest. Her heart was still very heavy.

Victor lowered his head, stared at her dejected face and smiled, "Fool, everyone has their own fate. Love will always come at the right time."

Eden blinked. He was right. Everyone had their own fate. Meeting someone and falling in love with someone was the beginning of another story.

Eden wrapped her arms around his strong waist and kissed him on her own initiative.

Victor smiled and lowered his head to kiss her more warmly. They had a torrid night.

The next day, Eden received roses and card from Irving again.

Eden and Victor entered the company through the main gate. The person who sent the roses seemed to know Eden. As soon as Eden walked in, he put a bunch of beautiful roses in her arms. Without waiting for Eden to speak, he turned around and left.

Eden was stunned.

Victor snatched the flowers from her arms and threw them into the trash can aside.

Seeing Victor's angry face, the three receptionists shrunk their necks and dared not to look at him and Eden.

Victor threw away the flowers before he took Eden's hand and walked to the elevator.

But after they took a few steps, they met Irving and his assistant.

Victor and Eden stopped.

Irving looked at Eden with a bright smile.

Victor's dark eyes were filled with apathy and disdain as he looked at Irving sarcastically.

Irving smiled and greeted them in a good mood, "Mr. Alwynn, Eden, good morning!"

Before Victor could say anything, Eden said, "Mr. Matthews, let's have a talk."

"Okay."

"No way."

Victor and Irving spoke at the same time.

Eden looked at Victor, "Go for the meeting first. I'll go upstairs after talking to Mr. Matthews. It won't take too long."

"No, I said that you are not allowed to stay with him alone. Who knows what he will do?" Victor took her hand and did not let her go. At the same time, he looked at Irving's smiling face indifferently.

If Eden met him alone, there would be rumors tomorrow morning.

He knew exactly what Irving wanted to do.

Irving was a b*stard, and he knew what kind of gossips Irving wanted to create.

Chapter 1347

Eden knew how overbearing he was, so she said, "Then wait for me here. I will sit on the sofa over there and chat with Mr. Matthews for a while."

Only then did Victor nod. Nothing bad would happen if he could keep an eye on them.

He lowered his head and kissed Eden's red lips hard. Then he glanced at Irving with sharp and hostile eyes, telling him that Eden was his woman.

When Victor lowered his head to kiss Eden, Irving went off the deep end.

He still looked extremely furious when Victor looked at him.

Victor saw how awkward he was and smiled with satisfaction. Then he let go of Eden's hand.

"Mr. Matthews, this way, please!" Eden made a gesture to invite him with an indifferent face.

Irving looked at her polite face. That day, she wore a pink fashionable suit and a unique white shirt. She was as lovely as an eighteen-year-old girl. The clothes flattered her fair and tender skin, making her look elegant and brisk. She was so beautiful!

Irving admired her in heart.

He nodded with a smile and walked to sofa in the hall.

Aidan and Victor stayed where they were and waited.

Victor was in a bad mood at this time. His rival in love was just here, but he couldn't do anything.

He fixed his eyes on Irving as they sat on the sofa in the distance, for fear that Irving would do something to offend Eden.

Eden and Irving sat face to face. Eden's face darkened in an instant, and she asked with a sneer, "Irving, why do you have to do this?"

Irving knew that she was going to talk about this matter. He smiled, took out a lighter and put a cigarette in his mouth. When he was about to light the cigarette, Eden reminded him apathetically, "Mr. Matthews, smoking is not allowed here."

Irving's finger on the lighter froze slightly. Then he put the cigarette and lighter back into his pocket and looked at her with a gentle smile, "Eden, you are as cold as before. Just now, you asked me why I have to do this. In my opinion, it's very interesting. I'm pursuing the woman I like, and it is not something wrong, is it?"

"Eden, it's not wrong to love someone. We all know this, don't we?"

Looking at his stubborn and twisted smile, Eden was not sympathetic to him at all. Instead, she was disgusted.

Although his smile was gentle, she hated it.

"Irving, it is not wrong to love someone. But do you think you love me? If you love me, you should wish me happiness instead of running my marriage. What you have done has affected the relationship between me and Victor badly." Eden said harshly and sternly. Her gaze was no longer tender, and her eyes were filled with aloofness, hurting Irving's heart like a sharp knife.

"Is that so?" Irving smiled. Staring at Eden's annoyed face with brooding eyes, he leaned backward slightly. He didn't feel guilty at all after hearing Eden's angry words. Instead, he said in a relaxed and graceful way, "Eden, I have loved you for so many years, haven't I? I love you in my heart, so I didn't get married or have a child in the past few years. I did my best to become as powerful and rich as Victor just because I want to meet you again. With money and status, I could come to you with confidence and make up for my regrets before."

"So, do you want to ruin my life in order to make up for your regrets? Irving, has anyone told you that your love and stubbornness is morbid? I hope you can stop and not try to ruin the relationship between me and Victor again."

"Eden, I won't stop." Irving's eyes and tone were very firm.

Yes, he would not stop. He had been obsessed with her for so many years, so he should insist, shouldn't he?

"Ha-ha..." Eden was so angry but she laughed when she heard that.

"Irving, I think you should see a clinical psychologist." She reminded him seriously. It was not easy for her and Victor to be together. She would never let such a man destroy their marriage.

Irving's eyes were gloomy as he looked at her with a weird smile, "Eden, in your eyes, am I so persistent because I am ill?"

"Isn't it just?" Eden raised her voice slightly. No matter how perverted a person was, he would not bother a woman like this when he knew that she was married. Irving didn't love her, did he? He was just unwilling to give up because he couldn't get her.

Such a man always loves himself. How could he fall in love with a women?

"Ha-ha..." Irving was a bit amused. Looking at her red face, he felt a little distressed. He could clearly feel that his heart was aching dully, "Eden, since you don't understand me, don't comment on me. You don't know what my love for you is like. How can you deny it so quickly?"

"I don't need to know it. I only know that my husband loves me very much and I love him as well. I don't allow anyone to ruin my marriage. Therefore, stop before we turn nasty." Eden did not expect him to be so shameless.

"Eden, I'll say it again. I won't stop." He looked at her lazily.

Eden could tell from his eyes that he was serious.

"Irving, you're too cheeky. You're so stubborn just because you can't get me. Don't challenge my limits and force me to curse you."

"Oh! I really miss the way you scolded Paula and the others. You had never scolded anyone like that. I remember that Paula cried twice because you scolded her too harshly. That was because she challenged your limits. I always wanted to know what you'll do to me when I challenge my limits."

Eden sneered, "What will I do to you? It depends on your attitude. In this world, I'm not short of love. You are not the only one who loves me, but you're the only shameless one."

Irving's eyes became much colder. Her words echoed in his ears. "In this world, I'm not short of love. You are not the only one who loves me, but you're the only shameless one."

Did she think that his love for her was shameless?

"Eden, you hurt me with your words, but I force myself to love you for a lifetime. You actually think I'm shameless. Do you know how sad I am now?"

"I don't know. I only know what you're doing is running my happiness. It's not easy to be happy. Please let go of me."

After finishing her words, Eden got up and left.

Irving looked at her back and said loudly, "Eden, I don't want to let go of you just because it's hard to be happy."

She was the most beautiful love in his heart.

So he was reluctant to let go of her.

Chapter 1348

Eden paused and then quickly walked towards Victor.

Victor didn't ask anything, took her hand and walked into the elevator.

As for Irving, he still sat there quietly. He was not angry or sad. There was no expression on his face.

He believed that there was nothing he couldn't get.

He had accompanied Eden for three years, and one day she suddenly disappeared. That feeling was indeed very terrible, and he had lived in sorrow for many years.

When he met Eden again, the nasty feeling disappeared.

He didn't want to miss Eden and regret again. Since they had met again, he had a chance, didn't he?

Seeing that Eden looked unhappy, Victor asked sullenly, "Did you change his mind?"

Eden shook her head. He had known the answer, but he asked her deliberately, which made her displeased, "He's out of his head, and I had no way to change his mind."

"So, why did you have to talk to him and annoy yourself? He is indeed out of his mind." Victor wanted to scold Irving even more.

Eden looked up at him angrily. She was furious, so her tone was very irritable, "But I had to have a try, didn't I? He has been ruining our relationship. I think he is so stubborn and silly that I can't change his mind. I'm afraid that he will go further in the future."

Eden stomped her feet madly, lowered her head and pursed her lips tightly.

Seeing her like this, Victor felt distressed and held her in his arms, "Fool, now leave it to me, okay?"

Eden looked up at him. She was still exasperated, and she said with fury in her watery eyes, "Yeah! You're right. What could I do even if I talked to him? He's still so stubborn. When I was in high school, I didn't even notice that he liked me. If Paula hadn't mentioned him all of a sudden, I wouldn't have remembered such a person."

Hearing this, Victor was more at ease, "Eden, don't worry. I won't let him pester you for too long." A cold smile appeared in Victor's eyes.

Since Irving had just taken actions, how could he not watch a good show?

"Okay!" Eden knew that she could not solve the problem alone.

Irving was not only ambitious, but also vicious.

One could be betrayed by the emotions in his eyes.

In the past few years, she had seen all kinds of people, and she could see through someone at a glance.

On the 25th floor, Eden and Victor walked out of the elevator together.

Dean and Paula had been waiting for them.

Seeing Eden and Victor coming, Dean walked over anxiously.

"Mr. Alwynn, Mrs. Alwynn, bad news! Yesterday, Mr. Remar and Mr. King did something bad to us. Today, three of our customer service representatives have been poached by TS Company. Moreover, they will hold a press conference today."

"Oh!" Victor replied coldly and then said unconcernedly, "They are quite capable and poached three more people today. Since they don't want to cooperate with Alwynn Group sincerer, we don't have to take them seriously."

Eden said, "Victor, we have to do something. TS Company and RK Company are determined to go against Alwynn Group. We can't profit them at the expense of us."

"Fool, Alwynn Group doesn't lack clients but innovation. Your design has been excellent, and we're confident to win." Victor had always been very confident in his products.

There were many people who wanted to cooperate with Alwynn Group.

Although Mr. Remar and Mr. King had betrayed them, they would have new partners. Since their products were nice, they would have better opportunities. Now the Internet was so advanced and more and more people shopped online. Alwynn Group had been advertised wildly, and it would increase their sales.

Seeing how confident he was, Eden only smiled and did not say anything.

Victor said, "Get ready for the meeting."

"Okay, Mr. Alwynn." Dean immediately turned around to make preparations.

Victor led Eden into the office lazily.

Paula wanted to speak but had no chance. She could only return to her office to make preparations. These days, she had gradually familiarized herself with the workflow.

The new collection was about to be released, and Eden was very busy.

After Victor went to the meeting, Eden dealt with the documents sent by Seth before taking Paula to the 11th floor for the meeting.

In the elevator, Paula couldn't help but ask, "Eden, when I arrived at the company, I saw Irving waiting for you on the first floor. Did you see him?"

Eden looked at her leisurely, "Yeah!"

Hearing this, Paula became gossipy and asked curiously with a smile, "Is that so? What did you talk about?"

Eden smiled and asked in reply, "What do you want him to talk to me?"

Paula glared at her coquettishly, "In the past, except for you, all of us knew that he liked you. He came to see you because he still loves you."

Eden looked at her with her eyes darkened, "That's why I asked you what you want him to say to me."

Paula was speechless. She shouldn't have asked Eden about it.

Seeing that Paula stopped talking, Eden smiled. Paula could never hide what she was thinking, and she could tell that she was gossipy from her face.

"Eden, I'm just worried about you. Didn't you read the comments on the Internet? They're cursing you with harsh words."

Eden knew that since the news about her and Irving was reported, she had been abused by netizens. This matter hadn't come to an end.

Victor's fans scolded her even more severely.

Even so, she would not show how weak and sombre she was in front of others.

She was not a piece of wood. Those malicious comments would make her angry and sad.

But it didn't mean that she would sit passively for her end and wait for them to hurt her again.

"Paula, you don't have to worry. Just do your own work well."

Paula was somewhat unwilling, "Eden, it seems that you haven't seen the news this morning. Everyone is questioning the relationship between you and Mr. Alwynn. On the one hand, you didn't hold a wedding. On the other hand, Mr. Alwynn only announced that you were his wife in private, and there is no evidence to prove that he had asked you to marry him. How could people believe that you're husband and wife?"

Hearing this, Eden frowned and got lost in thought. Had they even questioned their marriage?

That was right. Back then, she was willing to get the marriage certificate with Victor.

Victor said that at the end of this year, he would compensate everything he owed her.

It was not long before the end of the year, but they had a lot of things to do. Who knew if they would have time to hold a wedding?

"Just let them gossip." Eden was unconcerned. She didn't have to hold a wedding to prove that she and Victor had got married.

Victor came out of the conference room and returned to the office. Dean immediately showed him the news that day.

"Mr. Alwynn, I know you love Mrs. Alwynn very much, but now many people are questioning your relationship online. Please have a look first."

Chapter 1349

Victor took the i-Pad and glanced at the news. Looking at the doubts and comments from the netizens, he frowned hard.

He had announced to the media that he and Eden were husband and wife. At this time, this matter was discussed again. It was obvious that someone was aiming at them.

It was his fault. If he had proposed to Eden and held a wedding, Eden wouldn't have been hurt like this.

Victor looked at Dean with cold eyes, "During this period of time, these media fabricate rumors and slander me and Eden. Inform the Law Department and ask them to take legal action against the media. They have been using me and Eden to make groundless accusations of Alwynn Group. Don't let go of anyone of them. Investigate them one by one until you deal with all of them. Moreover, the poster woman is undisciplined. Pay more attention to her and don't let her creat something out of nothing."

Since they wanted to go against him, he might as well give them a severe blow. He had enough time and money to play with them.

Listening to Victor, Dean kept nodding. He had even sympathized with the reporters and media who would receive the lawyer's letters. They actually dared to slander Victor.

Victor was rich and powerful, and he could really do whatever he wanted in River City.

Only he could dote on his wife like this.

After Victor finished his words, Dean still stood there, so he looked up at him, "Aren't you leaving?"

Dean thought for a while. He knew that Victor couldn't live without Eden, but he had to report his work clearly. He braced himself to say, "Mr. Alwynn, Mr. Ronen is not here, so you have to go on a business trip in Gate City tomorrow. Besides, you have to go to a few branches in person."

Victor frowned, thought for a moment and then said, "I'll see if Eden has important things to do these days."

Hearing this, Dean knew that he wanted to go on a business trip with Eden, but he would be disappointed. Eden was busy recently.

He smiled and said, "Mr. Alwynn, the new product will be on the market soon, and Mrs. Alwynn is busier than ever. She has been preparing for this with the design team on the 11th floor these days."

Victor looked unhappy. He glanced at Dean, and words couldn't describe how he felt at this time. It was inappropriate for him to leave Eden alone and go on a business trip at this time.

If he left, Irving would behave more recklessly, wouldn't he?

Victor's eyes darkened as he asked, "How many days do I have to leave?"

Dean was single and witnessed public display affection all the time. Looking at Victor like this, he was somewhat gloating in heart.

"Mr. Alwynn, you'll have to leave for three days."

"Three days!" Victor screamed. Only then did he realize that it was really great when Lucian worked here.

"Yes, Mr. Alwynn. We will go straight from Gate City to C Country, and you'll have to stay in C Country for at least two days." Dean said happily. It was good to go on a business trip, because he would have less work to deal with.

However, to Victor, three days might be like three years.

"I see. Go prepare for it." Victor sounded a bit disconsolate.

"Okay, Mr. Alwynn." Dean walked out with a smile. Why did he feel so good?

Ha-ha...

But he might have a hard time these days.

Victor had a bad temper. If Eden was not by his side, he would very difficult to deal with.

Thinking of this, Dean felt somewhat helpless.

Victor swiped open his phone and read the comments on the Internet. He squinted his treacherous and deep eyes.

He read all the comments one by one.

"In fact, your guesses are right. Mr. Alwynn and Eden never show off their love. I'm afraid that Eden is in one-side love with Mr. Alwynn. Otherwise, why didn't even Mr. Alwynn make a proposal to her? Since Mr. Alwynn is a powerful and respectable man, he naturally wouldn't wrong his woman."

"That's right. Mr. Alwynn has never updated his SNS. After he announced that he and Eden were husband and wife, he didn't even share their photos on SNS."

There were tens of thousands of comments, all of which were wrote by people who questioned his marriage.

Victor put down his phone with a straight face. These people were so boring. Did they have to pay so much attention to his relationship with Eden?

However, he felt quite sorry for Eden, because he didn't even give her a wedding.

Victor thought for a while, opened the safe aside and took out their marriage certificate. On the photo, he and Eden both smiled very happily.

In the past, he could not care about these comments, but he should care about Eden's feelings.

Back then, when he asked Eden to marry him, he had wronged her indeed. He always wanted to hold a grand wedding. Eden was his beloved woman. How could he bear to let her suffer grievances?

Victor opened the marriage certificate, took a photo of it and uploaded it on SNS.

He even attached a few words to the photo, "You are my whole world."

As soon as netizens saw their marriage certificate and the words he posted, they immediately got a slap in the face.

He loved her, so he wanted to give her all the best things in the world. For him, she was his whole world. His words were the most pleasant sweet nothings in the world.

In love, the hardest thing was to understand each other. The bitterest thing was to wait, and the happiest thing was to love each other deeply.

Netizens no longer doubted their relationship and all wished them happiness.

In less than twenty minutes, Victor's fans got so excited and wrote countless of comments to speak for him and Eden. Those negative comments had all disappeared.

Seeing the change, Victor smiled with satisfaction and started a day's work.

In TS Company, Melissa was very busy. She hadn't made preparations because of the request of RK Company.

RK Company was quite powerful, and she did not want to offend them. After communicating with the spokesperson, she gave him a pay rise and he finally agreed to attend the press conference.

However, everything was in a mess, which made her extremely angry.

After she lost her temper at her assistant and asked him to get out, the phone vibrated on the table.

It was another phone, so Melissa answered it very quickly.

"What's wrong?"

"Look at the comments online. Victor posted his marriage certificate with Eden."

Melissa said, "This would happen sooner or later. After all, they are husband and wife."

"Victor will be on a business trip for three days. Take this chance and arrange a reliable woman to get close to him. I will naturally ask someone to plot against Eden."

Melissa was in a dilemma. Suppressing the rolling anger in her heart, she said, "I'm very busy these days, so I may not have time to do so."

"Then what should we do? In the past, Lucian would go on a business trip on behalf of Victor. Now that Victor has an opportunity to go on a business trip, isn't it better to play a malicious trick and let both of them get into troubles?"

Melissa frowned and looked out of the window. She blinked her vicious eyes and said, "Let me think about what to do."

Chapter 1350

"Victor will go to C Country the day after tomorrow. Your family is there, and it's easy for you to do something to him."

Hearing this, Melissa narrowed her eyes slightly, "Okay, I see."

After hanging up the phone, Melissa took a deep breath and sat on the leather sofa, thinking about what to do.

Victor was going to C Country. He had cooperation with Donald there. Their company had been established, and it was about to be floated on the stock market.

Victor's ways of doing business were very influential in C Country.

She didn't expect that an illegitimate son like Donald would have the chance to cooperate with Victor.

Their cooperation meant that the Craig family was on a downward trajectory.

She couldn't let Victor and Evans Group occupy the market in C Country like this.

What was even more hateful was that her father left alone the branch office and went back to C Country with Darlene. The situation was so tense, and she did not know what he was thinking.

Melissa was lost in thought with her head lowered.

Eden didn't finish her work until one o'clock in the afternoon.

As soon as she entered the elevator, Paula swiped open the phone and showed it to her, "Eden, look! Victor loves you so much!"

Eden looked at her doubtfully. What did she mean by that? Victor loved her so much all the time, didn't he?

What Paula said made her feel that Victor didn't always love her.

"What are you waiting for? Take a look." Paula handed the phone to her.

Eden smiled and said, "You've always been so gossipy. I'm so busy that I don't even have time to drink water, but you have time to surf on the Internet."

Paula replied, "I'm just your assistant. Of course, I'm not as busy as you."

Eden looked down at the news on the phone and saw the photo on her marriage certificate. A simple sentence was attached to the photo, "You are my whole world."

Such simple words were so engineering.

Eden couldn't help but curve her lips and smile happily.

People commented to wish them happiness.

"You're a perfect match."

"I hope that you two can cherish each other and then live together till old and grey. The three children are very cute. Henrick is more and more handsome, and he is very capable. I envy your family so much."

"Director Bleu is kindhearted, beautiful and intelligent. She is the most precious treasure in the world. I hope that you will be cherished by her all your life."

Eden had to admit that the comments online were so changeable.

In the morning, they slandered her and cursed her, but they all wished her well in the afternoon.

Looking at Eden's pleasant smile, Paula was envious and jealous.

"Eden, your husband treats you so well. However, why weren't you sad when you saw the comments on the Internet?" The netizens scolded her with very harsh words and said that she was not loyal to Victor. She was with Victor, but she had something to do with Irving and Jasper.

Eden returned the phone to her and did not care about her words. If she paid attention to the comments online, she would be so tired.

She smiled and said, "Paula, if I have too many burdens in my heart, I will exhaust myself before defeating my enemies. Life is not easy, so don't care about the opinions of others too much. As long as we have a calm and detached heart, we'll live with more ease."

"Some people are destined to be passers-by in our life. The more you pay attention to others, the less you can reflect on yourself. Treat the various experiences in life as a mirror. Only in this way can you live up to your idea of yourself and start a new life."

"Ha-ha..." Looking at Eden, Paula smiled innocently and said with her face full of sorrow, "Eden, your mind is really simple. I want to be as calm and detached as you. Unfortunately, things have been going badly in the past few years. All the terrible experiences are like a mirror, letting me know how miserable I am. If I can't get paid this month, I can't afford my rent next month. Do you think I can be indifferent to wealth just like you?"

Eden looked at Paula. She did not know how Paula had been these years. At least, during this period of time, she saw her working hard.

"Paula, no matter how hard your life used to be, you didn't give up, did you? Isn't your life getting better and better? Now you work in Alwynn Group. As long as you are loyal and hard-working, you'll have enough money for a down payment on a house within two years." Alwynn Group paid well indeed.

In order to become a landlady, Irene regarded Alwynn Group as her own company and tried her best to work hard.

Her efforts were paid, and she could get a high bonus every year.

"Ha-ha..." Paula giggled at her, "Eden, that's easy for you to say. If I was as capable as you said, I wouldn't have been so unsuccessful in the past few years. Do you know how many jobs I've changed over the past few years? I'm pretty, so people often gossiped about me. Obviously, I had nothing to do with my boss, but his wife would give me a lesson. Do you know what it felt like? Only later did I realize that if I wasn't strong enough, I couldn't take any chance no matter how great it was."

Eden was speechless. If there was no dubious relationship between Paula and her boss, how could his wife give her a lesson for no reason?

Eden looked at her in disbelief and asked with a wicked smile, "Are you sure that nothing happened but she beat you for no reason?"

"Well..." Paula's expression was a little unnatural, "The boss wanted to do something to me, but I refused."

"So you deserved it." Eden said directly.

"Hey! Eden, we used to be classmates. Do you have to speak so harshly?" Paula was very displeased. If she had no good luck, no matter how hard she tried, it would be in vain.

Eden talked back without hesitation, "If I were to praise you, you would be more arrogant. When you comment on others, you have to reflect on yourself and think about why you have become like this.

As far as I am concerned, you haven't changed much in the past few years."

"Alas! How can you rich people understand the bitterness of us who are at the bottom of the heap?" Paula lowered her head, and her heart filled with sadness. When would she become as philosophical as Eden?

Eden retorted with a sneer, "I'm sorry. I used to be at the bottom of the heap as well, and I suffered more than you did."

Paula was speechless. But Eden was lucky.

She wanted to say something else, but they had arrived on the 25th floor.

Eden looked at her and said in a businesslike manner, "Sort out the minutes of the meeting and send it to me. Besides, pay attention to the press conference of TS Company and make a report. The working hours of the network platforms have been specifically divided. Arrange the makeup artists in advance. Make a timetable and then give it to Margery."

Paula said with grievances, "I have a lot of work to do."

Eden smiled wickedly, "But your salary is high, isn't it?"
