

Gluey Love 1431

Chapter 1431

"No, you're wrong. Everyone has the right to change his own life. Being poor is not something bad. The really bad thing is that you have a depraved heart. Good-looking skins are the same, but the soul of the fun is one of the best."

"If a woman wants to be better, she must enrich her heart. In this way, she can prove her worth and be elegant permanently."

"But you have no independent personality, no proper values and no interesting soul. You only have your pretty face and young body. However, as time goes by, you'll no longer be young and beautiful. Therefore, you can only create a happy life by yourself. You can't get something for nothing, and no one can give you a comfortable life."

Paula was stunned and looked at her in disbelief. She had never thought about this seriously.

Indeed, working in Alwynn Group got her charges motivated. Seeing Eden's serious working attitude, she became passionate as well.

Eden had a positive attitude towards life indeed. She worked hard and tried her best to live. Moreover, she treated her husband thoughtfully, cared about her family, got along with her friends sincerely and even showed consideration for her subordinates.

Her generosity and thoughtfulness made her have a wide range of contacts, and the employees in the company all thought highly of her.

However, Paula didn't need Eden to teach her what to do.

"Eden, I don't need you to teach me what to do. I just chose the life I need. I know what kind of man can make my life more meaningful."

"I'm not instructing you. I'm just telling you the truth. I don't care what kind of man you need, but I've warned you that the man you need is definitely not Delmont."

Paula wanted to marry into a wealthy family, but could she guarantee that she could get a firm foothold in a rich family?

Since this was her dream, she should have scruples and not to lower herself. If she didn't have a clean past, she couldn't have a wonderful future.

It was impossible for her to place her hope on marrying into a wealthy family.

Only when she became more and more outstanding could others think differently of her.

For women who were born in poverty, getting married could change their lives indeed, but some of them realized their dreams on their own.

However, some could only live in their imaginations.

"What if I insist on being with him?" Paula did not give up and thought that Delmont was a man she could control.

Eden smiled and said, "But he doesn't have to be with you."

Paula was rendered speechless. She was really pissed off.

"Eden, I won't give up." Paula turned around angrily and left.

She straightened his back and walked out.

Eden's smile gradually disappeared. Wasn't it good to live an ordinary life? Why did Paula have to be with someone of a higher social position?

"Alas!" Eden sighed and looked at the time. She and Delmont were supposed to meet each other.

She tidied up the documents on the table, picked up a gray coat and put it on. Then she took her bag and went out.

When she got downstairs, she did not see Delmont, but saw the girl who distributed leaflets yesterday evening.

The girl was dressed casually, but it could not hide her desire to advance. No matter the passers-by took the leaflets or not, she smiled at them politely.

In the past, she once distributed leaflets as well. She could only make a few dollars in several hours, but she was very satisfied.

"Eden." Delmont happened to see Eden when he parked the car by the road.

Eden came to sense and walked over with a smile. Then she opened the car door and got in.

She smiled and said, "Delmont, you are quite punctual."

"Of course, you are a punctual person, so I don't dare to keep you waiting." Delmont started the car with a grin and drove to the hospital.

"Ha-ha... I really don't like unpunctual people."

"I knew you would say so. I bought you a cake. Do you want to eat it now?"

Eden shook her head, "No, I'll take it to the hospital and share it with Candace."

"Alright!" Delmont looked at the front.

Eden took a look at him secretly. Delmont was charming and eye-catching among the crowd.

"Delmont, did Paula call you today?"

"Yes! She called me several times, but I didn't answer. I sent her a message and apologized to her. Although it is shameful, I regarded her as someone else indeed, and this is my fault. If there is a chance, I will apologize to her face to face. You don't have to worry about other things. Now I want to work hard to make money and develop Clement Group better." Delmont's tone was firm and his playful eyes became extremely serious."

Delmont was finally on the way to achieve his dream, just like Buddy.

"Eden, I remember what you said last night. You are right. As long as she is not married, I still have a chance. In this case, I have to make myself more outstanding so that I can be qualified to marry her."

"Wow!" Eden looked at him in surprise, "Delmont, the power of love is really amazing! Seeing how cheerful you're now, I suddenly feel that you have changed a lot."

Delmont smiled and sighed in heart. How time flew! He had been separated from her for more than six years.

"Eden, everyone will have worries and misgivings when they're thirty years old. They have to buy a house and save money to get married and have a child. Now I have the same idea. Some people don't want to be bound by marriage and children, and they just want to live happily. I used to think this way."

"But I realized that I was wrong when I saw you and Buddy live a happy life. I should have my own home, a beloved wife and my own children. In that way, my life will be perfect."

He knew that she was his only love. He didn't know whether they could be together or not, but he had never tried before.

That was why he felt regretful.

She was a very perfect woman who did not like to owe favors, and her life was even flawless.

However, he was very careless. He once felt that he was not good enough for her. But love was so wonderful that he just fell in love with her.

When they arrived at the hospital, they went straight to Adonis's ward.

Adonis's condition had been stabilized, and all his organs functioned normally.

At this time, he was lying quietly on the hospital bed. His face was deathly pale, but he still looked handsome and appealing.

"Candace, this is my eldest brother. He is also Adonis's friend." Eden introduced Delmont to Candace. Her eyes were red and swollen. It seemed that she cried for a long time yesterday.

Candace looked at Delmont and smiled, "Delmont, thank you for coming to see Adonis. The doctor said that he can sense the sounds outside now. Knowing that you're here to see him, he must be very happy."

Delmont smiled as he placed the gifts on the table beside him.

Chapter 1432

He comforted her, "Miss Aiken, Adonis has been lucky since childhood. He will make it. You don't have to worry too much."

Candace nodded and looked at Adonis with a smile. He was in a much better condition. "I believe him."

Looking at Adonis like this, Delmont felt that everyone should try his best to live a happy life. No one could predict what would happen the next day.

It was not easy for Adonis to meet his beloved woman, but he had an accident, and his beloved woman cried everyday.

His lover and friends spent every day worrying about him.

What had happened to Adonis strengthened Delmont's resolve to pursue his love.

"Delmont, a girl I know lives in the VIP ward on the eighth floor. I bought some daily supplies and fruit for her. Help me send them to her."

"Okay!" Delmont nodded with a smile, picked up the things on the ground and went out.

Seeing that Candace looked much more haggard, Eden said, "Candace, Delmont brought me a cake. Let's eat together."

Candace nodded, "Alright! I haven't had lunch, and I want to eat dessert these days."

Eden smiled and took out the cake Delmont bought for her. They ate it together.

The strawberry cake still tasted great. It was sweet but not greasy.

"Wow! It's yummy. I didn't expect there to be such delicious a cake in River City. When Adonis wakes up, I'll let him buy cakes for me every day." Candace's bright and clear eyes were filled with expectation, and she looked so delighted.

Eden's eyes were starry as she looked at Candace's smiling face.

"Okay. I'll give the address to Adonis and ask him to buy it for you every day." Eden took a bite with a smile. Then she suddenly remembered the novel Candace had written, "Candace, a lot of people read your novel. To my surprise, you actually have tens of millions of fans."

Candace wrote every novel attentively. People could understand all the bitterness in love through her novels. In one of her novels, two lovers bridged over many difficulties. In the end, they clarified all the misunderstandings and got together. That kind of love was impressive and touching. Eden had been crazy about it these days.

Candace smiled and said, "Eden, do you also think it's fascinating? In fact, Adonis and I are the inspiration for my novel, but I really didn't expect that we would suffer so much just like the heroine and hero."

Eden was stunned when she heard that, "So, he really saved you that night." After that, Eden suddenly said self-mockingly, "I forgot that when Adonis was hospitalized, you were the one who took care of him."

"Yes, in fact, I was well disposed towards him when I took care of him. However, I didn't think too much at that time. I just thought that the two of us lived in different countries. Now I understand that love has no boundaries. As long as we love each other, we can be together."

Eden smiled and nodded, "That's true. I'll let Abby read the novel and see if we can rearrange your novel into a play. Since you have so many fans, the play must be popular."

Hearing this, Candace was pleasantly surprised, "Eden, I write novels just because I like it, and I never thought about publishing it or transferring it into a play. If you can adapt it, I will be very glad."

"I'll discuss with Abby the other day. Let's eat."

"Okay!" Candace smiled happily and looked back at Adonis's sleeping face.

"Adonis, you must wake up soon." She whispered in heart.

Delmont carried the things to the ward Eden had mentioned. He knocked on the door, but there was no response.

He pushed the door open and didn't see anyone inside. The quilt on the bed was a little messy. With confusion, he carried the things inside and put them on the table.

He waited for a while, but no one came.

Delmont glanced at the time. He had a meeting at two o'clock in the afternoon.

River City was very big and was divided into four districts. He wanted to expand the business of the supermarket. During this period of time, he had found several suitable places and prepared to start new business. Over the past few years, he had been focused on his career and had made small achievements, and he had earned much more money.

After waiting for about five minutes, Delmont still did not see the patient Eden had mentioned.

Then he walked out.

He walked in a hurry. As soon as he opened the door, he came face to face with a woman in a hospital gown. She lowered her head and was about to open the door.

"Ah..." Adrienne was startled. She did not expect someone to be in her ward.

Before she could see Delmont's face clearly, she was knocked back, and her walking stick fell on the ground.

Adrienne had an inexplicable sense of grief in heart. Why was she so unlucky recently?

However, the next moment, someone held her waist tightly.

Smelling the familiar fragrance, Delmont was stunned and lowered his head. When he saw Adrienne's face, he was so excited.

"It's you!"

"It's you!"

They said at the same time.

"Adrienne." Delmont's voice was trembling uncontrollably.

"Delmont." Adrienne looked at Delmont's handsome face. He was as charismatic as ever, but his playful eyes were much steadier and intenser than before. He was much maturer.

There was a hint of panic in her eyes as he looked at him. She didn't expect to meet him so soon.

To Delmont's surprise, he actually met her in River City.

They had been separated for six years.

In the past six years, he had been looking forward to meet her again, but he did not expect to see her in this way.

He didn't tell anyone about his relationship with Adrienne, because he knew that he was not good enough for her.

When she left, he did not ask her to stay, but let her go.

After she left, he often went to the nightclubs, trying to relieve his loneliness in the noisy atmosphere.

They kept looking at each other until Adrienne groaned in discomfort.

Only then did Delmont come to sense. Seeing that her foot was injured, he carried her in his arms, turned around and walked inside.

Adrienne leaned against his arms quietly. His embrace was as warm as before.

This feeling made her feel very peaceful and satisfied. But her face darkened as soon as she thought of what had happened six years ago.

Moreover, why was he here? Had he been inquiring about her or monitoring her?

"Why are you in my ward?" Her voice suddenly became cold.

Delmont's footsteps came to a halt. He held her and placed her on the bed cautiously.

Then he looked down at her and saw her gloomy face. He felt a sharp pain in heart and explained, "Adrienne, my younger sister asked me to bring things to this ward. I didn't know you lived here."

"Younger sister?" Adrienne looked up at him with confusion, "Have you found her?"

"Yes! Her name is Eden, and she's the design director of Alwynn Group." Delmont knew that she had misunderstood him, so he explained on purpose.

"It's her." Adrienne lowered her head slowly. This world was so small. Eden was actually the daughter of the Clement family who had been missing for many years.

"Yes." Delmont looked at her nervously.

In fact, he didn't know why she suddenly became angry.

Six years ago, she suddenly left, leaving him at a loss.

He could only watch helplessly as she entered the airport with her suitcase. Then he heard no news about her.

"Go out now. Thank Eden on my behalf." After Adrienne said this, she lay down and had her back to Delmont.

Delmont looked very helpless.

He whispered, "Adrienne, have a good rest."

After that, he really strode out.

Hearing the sound of the door closing, Adrienne went berserk. She glared at the closed door angrily and almost cried, "Delmont, you are really as straightforward as ever. I asked you to go out, but you really left. Don't you know that I am alone here? You b*stard! I don't want to see you anymore!"

After Adrienne scolded him, she lay back on the bed. Then she covered herself with the quilt and cried out loud.

It seemed that she wanted to vent all the grievances she had suffered all these years by crying.

Delmont, who had just stepped out of the ward, suddenly stopped when he heard her cry.

She had been perfect and proud, and she was so strong that she would never cry.

What was wrong with her that day?

Delmont immediately turned around and took a few steps back. However, he hesitated when he held the door handle with slender fingers.

Did she want to see him at this moment?

However, his heart ached when he heard her crying. She had never shed a single drop of tear before, but she was crying so sadly at this time, which made him feel very distressed and sombre.

His heart was so painful that he couldn't breathe, just like how he felt when she left him.

Delmont hesitated for a moment before pushing open the door and walking in.

"Get out! I don't want to see anyone now." A muffled voice came from the quilt, and Adrienne kept crying dolefully.

Delmont walked to her slowly.

"Adrienne."

Hearing his concerned voice, she stopped crying all of a sudden.

Adrienne lifted the quilt quickly, only to find that Delmont had come back. At this time, he was looking at her with distress. Adrienne was stunned and immediately yelled madly, "Didn't you leave? Why do you come back?"

Delmont said, "I heard your crying."

Adrienne was speechless. She heard herself crying as well.

But so what? Couldn't she even cry?

"Delmont, get out of here! I said that I don't want to see you again!" Adrienne pointed at the door and roared.

Delmont felt helpless again.

"Adrienne, do you really hate me so much?" His tone was painful and his eyes were intense as he stared at her.

"yes, I hate you to the extreme!" Adrienne stared at him seriously and said word by word.

Delmont was dealt a severe blow and took a few steps back. In fact, he didn't know why she hated him.

In the end, he didn't know what to say and could only sigh in heart.

He turned around and walked out of the ward silently.

Adrienne was taken aback. Seeing him leave, she hated herself for letting him go, but she was furious because he really left.

She was really pissed off by such a dull man!

This time, Delmont really left.

He got in the car and sent Eden a message, telling her that he had something to deal with in the company and he would go back first.

"Okay." Eden replied to him and didn't think too much.

Delmont was not in a hurry to drive away. After sitting in the car for a while, he got out of the car and bought a few dishes that Adrienne liked. Then he found a nurse and asked her to send the dishes to Adrienne's ward in the name of Eden. He didn't leave until Adrienne accepted the food.

Looking at her favorite dishes on the table, Adrienne felt warm in heart.

Even though she was stupid, she knew that the food was bought by Delmont. Only he remembered what she liked to eat.

Adrienne lowered her head and ate her meal elegantly. Unconsciously, she no longer felt empty and sad in heart.

Eden accompanied Candace until three o'clock in the afternoon. Seeing that Candace was much happier, she got up and went to see Adrienne.

Victor told her about Adrienne's identity. Although she didn't like to attach herself to persons in power, she wanted to make friends with Adrienne.

"Rat-a-tat..." Eden knocked on the door twice.

Adrienne was lost in thought on bed. She had been looking at the corner in a daze.

Hearing the knock on the door, she came to herself.

"Come in." She said blandly.

Eden pushed the door open and went in. Seeing Adrienne leaning against the bed, she sensed that she was not in a good mood.

"Miss Simpson, how are you today?" Eden asked with a smile.

Adrienne smiled and nodded, "Mrs. Alwynn, thank you for the lunch."

"Lunch?" Eden was confused. She didn't buy her lunch.

Looking at Eden's expression, Adrienne knew that the lunch was not sent by her.

She said in heart, "Delmont, you really went out of your way. You bought me the meal, but you gave the credit to your younger sister."

"Delmont, if you could be so considerate in love, we wouldn't have been separated for so many years."

"Should I thank you for not marrying me in a few years?"

Eden smiled and said, "I was talking to Candace just now, so I asked my eldest brother to send the things here. You met him, right?"

"Yeah!" Adrienne nodded casually.

"Is your foot better now?" Eden sat in front of the bed.

"It's much better."

"Do you want to eat the apple? I'll peel one for you." Eden asked again.

"Okay!" Adrienne nodded. The food was a little salty, so she wanted to eat some fruit.

Eden picked up an apple to begun to peel it.

Adrienne looked at Eden carefully. She was very beautiful, just like a love poem. She looked young and passionate. What impressed her the most was her eyes which were as clear as lake water and her long eyelashes. When she blinked her eyelashes, she seemed to be inquiring and caring about her. In short, she was so refined and elegant.

This was the woman Victor liked. Among those rich ladies in the upper class, she was indeed different.

Eden handed her the peeled apple.

"Thank you!"

Adrienne took a bite. It was very sweet, but her heart was sour, and she felt a little sad.

"By the way, Mrs. Alwynn, your eldest brother is very handsome. I wonder if he has got married." She asked tentatively.

After all, she had left him for six years. Many things could happen in thousands of days and nights.

Eden smiled and shook her head, "No, he doesn't even have a girlfriend. He is quite straightforward, so it's easy for him to offend girls. We're all worried about his marriage."

"Really?" Hearing the news, Adrienne could not help smiling.

"Being straightforward is good." She lowered her head and took another bite of the apple. Delmont was so straightforward. He was not scheming at all and never doubted others' words.

He never thought too much.

Sometimes she wondered whether he was straightforward or stupid.

Chapter 1434

"Yeah, he never schemes against others." Eden did not think it was inappropriate for Delmont to be straightforward. On the contrary, he was simple and it was easier to get along with such a person.

"Why doesn't he have a girlfriend?" Adrienne pretended to be curious and asked. In the past six years, she had tried to date with other guys, but they broke up soon.

The reason was very simple. Unlike Delmont who loved her purely, those men had other intentions. When she was with Delmont, she was very relaxed and didn't have to guard against anything.

Seeing that Adrienne was curious about Delmont, Eden thought that they might be together.

She didn't intend to hide anything, "He has been busy with his career in the past few years. As you said, he is straightforward, and he is often cheated by others. He does not know how to make girls happy, so he has no girlfriend."

"Oh!" Adrienne nodded while eating the apple.

"I think it's normal for him to be cheated, but how about his career now?" The Clement family was the second richest family in River City. In her memory, Buddy was better than Delmont in business.

Eden was speechless. It seemed that Adrienne didn't have a good impression of Delmont.

Why did she say that it was normal for him to be cheated?

"Not bad. He mainly manages the supermarkets and shopping malls. In recent years, he has made a great breakthrough. He started many chain stores, and the business is good."

"That's right. A withered tree comes to life again. Now he finally becomes successful." Adrienne smiled and sighed in heart, "Delmont, you're finally promising."

It was good to be promising. If he hadn't made any progress, she would definitely look down on him.

Eden was stunned. What did she mean by that?

Eden felt that the relationship between Adrienne and Delmont was strange, but she couldn't tell the reason.

"His life is not completely perfect now. If he can marry a woman he likes, he'll be truly lucky and happy. During this period, my mom and grandma has been urging him to get married."

"Oh! Does he want to have a girlfriend?" Adrienne was more concerned about this. She got injured as soon as she came back, and she did not have time to inquire about Delmont. She only knew that he was not married yet.

Eden looked at her carefully. Seeing that her mood was much better, she smiled and said, "Miss Simpson, you seem to be very interested in Delmont."

Adrienne blushed all of a sudden, and a hint of panic flashed across her bright eyes. She lowered her head and bit a large chunk out of the apple before shaking her head with a grin, "Mrs. Alwynn, every women is curious about an eligible bachelor. Besides, he is indeed very good-looking, and he is quite charming among the crowd."

Eden admitted that both of Buddy and Delmont were handsome.

Delmont was even a bit taller than Buddy.

Dressed in gorgeous clothes, Delmont could definitely attract a lot of admiring glances.

Eden chatted with Adrienne for a long time. She felt that Adrienne had been talking about Delmont.

She even said that the real love was to be loved by someone they liked.

She said that if she was loved by a man like Delmont, she would have no burden.

When she said these words, she was very delighted, and Eden echoed her. After all, she had only seen Delmont once, but she had been talking about him. Eden wondered if Adrienne had fallen in love with Delmont.

When Eden went out of the hospital, she received a phone call from Delmont.

"Hello?"

"Eden, did you leave the hospital?" His voice was not as calm as usual.

Eden smiled and said, "Delmont, I've just come out of Miss Simpson's ward, and I'm going home now."

"Oh! Is she... okay?"

Eden frowned slightly and then asked jokingly, "Delmont, it seems that you two fell in love at first sight." She sounded out his intention.

She always felt that Delmont's tone was a little unusual.

Besides, Adrienne's words were very strange.

"Eden, what are you talking about?" Delmont's voice was somewhat urgent and expectant, and he seemed to be secretly pleased.

"Ha-ha..." Eden chuckled, but Delmont was a maelstrom of churning emotions inside.

He had no idea what why Adrienne hated him.

"Eden, why are you laughing?" His heart was like a funnel, and he had no way to control his feelings.

"Delmont, I went to see Miss Simpson today. To my surprise, she talked about you all the time, and just now you asked me if she was all right. I have to doubt whether you've fallen in love with each other at first sight."

Delmont's heart, which had just calmed down a little, suddenly got excited again.

"What did she ask?"

After asking this question, Delmont felt particularly nervous.

"She asked me about your marriage and career, and asked me if you had a girlfriend." Eden said as she walked to the roadside to hail a taxi.

However, she saw Victor park his car in front of her slowly.

Victor got out of the car. Seeing that she was talking on the phone, he helped her open the car door, let her get in and fastened the seat belt for her.

Eden smiled at him gratefully. Victor rubbed her head gently and started the car to leave.

"Eden, how did you answer her?" His voice seemed to be more nervous.

Hearing this, Eden smiled wickedly. The relationship between them seemed to be abnormal.

"Delmont, what else could I say? You have someone you like, don't you? So I told her that you had a beloved woman."

"Oh!" Delmont replied. Obviously, he was very disappointed.

Eden frowned again. It was not Delmont's style.

"Delmont, why do you sound so upset?"

"No, Eden, I'm off work and I'm going home. You'd better go home quickly."

After that, he quickly hung up the phone before Eden could speak.

Not long after Victor left the hospital, Delmont's car stopped at the gate of the hospital slowly.

Glancing at eighth floor, he drove directly to the restaurant, bought Adrienne's favorite dishes and then asked the nurse to send the food to Adrienne's ward in the name of Eden.

Adrienne found that the dishes were still her favorite, and the meal was different from lunch.

She was touched. So many years had passed, but he did not forget her preferences.

She couldn't eat spicy food, but she had an extreme taste, and the food he ordered for her was all delicious.

Delmont didn't leave. He parked the car at the entrance of the hospital and ate in the car, staying at the entrance.

She was here, so he felt so warm and didn't want to leave.

"Victor, why do you get off work so early today?" Eden glanced at him.

Victor said, "Something was wrong with the cosmetics company. I went there and solved it. Then I came here to pick you up. How is Candace now?"

Eden smiled and said, "She's much better today. Adonis's vital signs are very stable, and Dr. Conley is very confident."

Chapter 1435

Eden asked doubtfully, "Why did something suddenly go wrong? I use the products of NF Brand as well. You bought them for me. Look at my skin. It is fair and smooth. Even the pores can't be seen." Saying this, Eden looked at her delicate face in the rearview mirror and smiled proudly.

Victor looked at her dotingly and then said with a sneer, "Someone reported that our makeup products contained coal tar, and the metabolite of coal tar is linked with cancer. Most of the countries put a ban on coal tar in makeup products."

"Is it real..." She did not finish her question. She was doubting their own products, wasn't she?

She used the products, and nothing bad happened.

The key was that it was too expensive, and ordinary people could not afford it.

If it weren't for the fact that Victor was rich, she would definitely be reluctant to buy it.

Victor owned many companies, but he mainly focused on clothing design, and he hired professional managers to be in charge of other companies.

In the past few years, nothing bad happened in Alwynn Group.

"Eden, although I am a profiteer, I never do anything to my profit at another's expense. The products of NF Brand were produced by a well-known natural cosmetics company abroad."

"It's impossible for them to add those illegal elements in the products. Some people called to make complaints, but no customer has made troubles in the mall."

Someone must have done it to frame him deliberately.

Eden was confused, "Why did someone call to make complaints all of a sudden?"

Melissa had been sent to jail. Who else would plot against them?

Was it someone of the same trade or...

"Could it be our competitor?" She asked.

Victor said, "That's possible."

Eden thought for a moment and said, "I'm not too busy in the company these days, and the cooperation with the Monroe Group goes well. Seth deals with everything nicely. I'll go to the mall to have a look tomorrow."

Victor nodded, "Okay, you can go out for a walk. You've been worried about Delmont's affairs these days. On paper Delmont won't like Paula, and your worry is unnecessary. If I remember correctly, it seems that Delmont has someone he likes. I just don't know why they separated. Maybe this is why he has been single these years."

Hearing this, Eden was a little surprised, "Victor, how do you know that Delmont used to have a girlfriend?"

Victor thought for a long while. Then he said while thinking, "Probably six years ago, Delmont suddenly went to nightclubs frequently. He had been a good-time boy, but he had never been so decadent. I had just started my business at that time, and I didn't have much time to see him. After my company developed along the right lines, he had become a famous playboy."

"However, just like Adonis, he likes to play but he led an honest and clean life. Except for being framed by Haven, he didn't cause any trouble in the last few years."

"I asked Buddy. He said that Delmont might have been disappointed in love, but he didn't know who his girlfriend was. Delmont seemed to have changed overnight. No matter how your parents persuaded him, he didn't listen to them. Seeing that he only liked to play and didn't make troubles, they allowed him to live such a life."

"Oh!" The story turned out to be like this.

Delmont did have someone he liked. He told her about it last night.

Victor's words proved that he was right.

The next day, Eden went to the beautycounter of NF Brand in the shopping mall with Abigail.

She knew that NF Brand always had a good reputation, and even pregnant women could use the products.

She was using the products. After Abby got pregnant, she used the toner and moisturizers, and the effect was particularly nice.

Abigail's belly was bigger and bigger, and it was inconvenient for her to walk.

Eden held her and walked carefully. The weather was getting colder and colder.

Eden glanced at the foggy sky, "Abby, it's going to snow."

Abigail looked at her and said with a smile, "You like snowy days, don't you? But giving birth to a baby in winter is much more comfortable than that in hot days."

Eden smiled and looked at her belly, "Whenever you give birth to a child, you'll have a hard time after that. Think about it. You can't do anything in forty days, and you have to take care of the child all the time. Moreover, this is your first time to be a mother, so you will inevitably feel nervous."

"I only have one baby, but you gave birth to three children at that time, and you didn't recover well after the childbirth. I don't know if you will get ill in the future. Now you suffer from palpitate when you are hungry, right? Aunt Jaida said that it is because you didn't recover well at that time."

"Ha-ha..." Eden laughed with a guilty conscience, "So we should listen to the elders. At that time, mom asked me to eat regularly, but I really could not eat much."

"But you don't have to worry. Anson's mother treats you as her own daughter, and I will definitely take good care of you. You'll recover well." Anson's mother was a kind mother-in-law. Abby wanted to live with Anson alone, so she didn't force them and only asked them go back to eat on weekends.

Most of the time, she came to take care of Abby.

Someone said that the luckiest thing in life was to have a nice mother-in-law.

There were many shops of luxury brands in TG Square.

The square was owned by Victor, but Eden seldom came here. He always bought her nice luxury goods to give her a surprise.

She was not keen on luxury goods, so she rarely came to such a place.

The mall was bright and tidy, making them feel quite comfortable.

The lights had been carefully arranged, flattering the luxury goods.

On the first floor, there were many makeup counters, and all of them were international brands.

However, only NF Brand was targeted. Eden always felt that things were not so simple.

Abigail looked at the luxury brands and smiled, "Eden, your husband is indeed a business genius. Even this shopping mall belongs to him. He can make a lot of money every year. You are a real rich lady."

"Yep, I didn't expect that I would be so successful one day. But I prefer the wealth I earned by myself."

"How dissatisfied you're! The counter of NF Brand is in the front. Let's go in and have a look."

"Okay!" They walked in, and two women in mink coat were picking cosmetics there.

The shop assistant introduced to them enthusiastically.

The three of them stood there.

"Welcome to NF Brand." Another shop assistant smiled and greeted them in a sweet voice.

Eden smiled and nodded to them.

Abigail was very excited as she looked at the various cosmetics.

"Eden, use that facial mask. It can hydrate your skin and make your face comfortable."

Chapter 1436

Eden smiled and said, "There should be facial masks in my home. I will go back and have a look. Victor brought some back yesterday. I don't have time to check it yet."

"That's right. Your husband often buy such products for you." Abigail said enviously.

"Anson buy skincare products for you as well, doesn't he?" Looking at her envious face, Eden was amused.

Anson couldn't be more considerate to her.

Abigail said, "My husband is not as rich as your husband."

"Humph!" Eden glared at her, "Abby, don't you feel ashamed to complain of being hard up before me?"

"I don't feel ashamed at all." Abigail said while walking around with her with a smile.

The shop assistant listened to their conversation and looked at them with disdain. Many people came here just to show off their wealth, and they would not buy anything in the end.

They said that they were rich, but they just came here to give themselves airs.

"Oh!" The lady suddenly bumped against Eden, and the cream on her hand fell to the ground instantly. The exquisite crystal glass bottle broke into pieces, and the air was filled with a faint fragrance, which was pleasant to smell.

"Oh, this is the most expensive cream!" The shop assistant screamed and everyone looked at Eden.

Eden glanced at them. Why did they look at them reproachfully? Did she look easy to bully?

What did this have to do with her? It was because the lady bumped against her that the cream fell to the ground.

"Hey! What's wrong with you? Do you know how expensive this is? Can you afford it?" The lady acted as if Eden had bumped against her.

Eden's expression turned serious, "Madam, you were the one who bumped against me."

"How could it be? You were the one who bumped against Mrs. King!" The shop assistant who had been following Eden looked at her with disdain and distorted the truth.

Eden suddenly shot her a gloomy and indifferent look, "Are you sure I crashed into her?"

"I'm sure." Mrs. King was their honored guest, but Eden went there for the first time. Moreover, Eden and Abigail dressed very ordinarily, so she was sure that they were not as noble as Mrs. King.

Eden looked at her with a frown, "We're all customers. How can you talk nonsense like this? Is this what you should say as a shop assistant? You stood behind me just now, so you should know how the cream fell on the ground the best."

"Why can't I say so? I'm just telling the truth." The shop assistant looked at Eden with disdain.

Mrs. King looked at Eden with contempt as well.

"That's what she should say. Customers first. Don't you understand? I am their respected guest, and I spend several million dollars here every year. Even if it was me who crashed into you, you're the wrong one." Mrs. King and the other woman looked at Eden with a scornful smile.

The three shop assistants looked at Eden gloatingly as well. She was going to get into trouble because she had annoyed Mrs. King.

Although Mrs. King was generous, she was tricky and mean.

She was very difficult to deal with. As long as she was happy, she was easy-going, but she could even slap others in the face when she was in a bad mood. Such a thing happened a few days ago.

Hearing that Mrs. King spent millions of dollars here every year, Eden knew that she must be rich, but she was not a doormat.

She smiled and looked at Mrs. King's fat and proud face, "You're really an honored guest that can't be provoked."

Mrs. King smiled contemptuously and said sarcastically, "It's good that you know it. Since you're poor, don't come to such a shopping mall. You can't afford it if you break something."

"Mrs. King, don't worry. You didn't break the bottle of cream. We will uphold justice for you and let her compensate you for the cream." Although Mrs. King was very rich, she was covetous of small gains.

"Okay! However, the lady I met here a few days ago made me very happy." Mrs. King seemed to be reminding her.

Seeing that the shop assistant was in a hurry to defend Mrs. King, Eden suddenly laughed, "Tell me. How do you want to uphold justice for her?"

Abigail crossed her arms and looked at the shop assistant's flattering face with a sneer. She knew that the shop assistant bullied the weak and feared the wrong, "I also want to see what you're going to do."

Seeing Abigail's weird smile, the shop assistant became more and more scornful. She looked at Eden's weak face and confirmed that they were not from rich families, "Of course, you should pay for the cream and then kneel down to apologize to Mrs. King. Do you know what it means to make Mrs. King unhappy? Only when you kneel down can she forgive you."

When Abigail heard this, she looked at Mrs. King mockingly and smiled, "Is she qualified to let Eden kneel in front of her?"

The shop assistant smiled, "Of course. Such a thing happened a few days ago. The lady came here to give herself airs. In the end, she knelt down and apologized to Mrs. King."

Eden's face darkened when she heard that, "Did you ask a customer to kneel down a few days ago?"

"Yes, I have the final say in this counter." The shop assistant looked at Eden with a proud face.

"Crack..." Eden slapped the shop assistant fiercely.

Everyone was stunned.

Abigail said in heart, "Well done!"

"You... What qualifications do you have to beat me? Let me tell you. This is the business owned by Alwynn Group! How dare you be so arrogant? Mr. Alwynn came here yesterday. I have his phone number. I'll call him right now. You'll be driven out of here, and you have to get out on your knees!"

She had never suffered such grievances. Yesterday, Mr. Alwynn came over and talked with her about work for a long while.

Eden looked at her with a smile and said, "Okay, why don't you call him and see who will get out on knees?"

"Yo! How arrogant you are! Do you think you're Mrs. Alwynn?" Another shop assistant said mockingly.

Eden didn't speak. She was really Mrs. Alwynn.

She had a feeling that the fact that someone complained about NF Brand had something to do with these shop assistants.

"Call Victor." Eden looked into her eyes aggressively.

"Humph! Who do you think you are? I think you'd better not make things difficult for the shop assistant. Pay for cream and kowtow to me three times, and then we're even. If you make a big thing out of it, you'll suffer." Mrs. King sounded arrogant. It seemed that she had regarded herself as a queen.

Eden looked at her calmly, "Should I kowtow to you three times?"

"Yes, three times." Mrs. King smiled as she raised three pudgy fingers.

Eden looked at her with a trace of playfulness in her eyes, "I only kowtow to the dead."

Mrs. King was stunned, and she went off the deep end in an instant.

Chapter 1437

"What did you say? How dare you!" Mrs. King was furious to the extreme, and her whole body was trembling in anger.

Eden smiled and said, "I don't mind repeating my words. I only kowtow to the dead in my life."

"Ah..." Mrs. King stamped her feet with anger, and the fat on her face vibrated.

The shop assistants were dumbfounded. They knew that Mrs. King was very difficult to deal with, and she had cooperation with Alwynn Group.

Mrs. King glared at Eden ferociously, "Call Victor right now and let him come here to deal with this immediately! I am his business partner! But I am humiliated when I buy things in his shopping mall! My company will still be successful without Alwynn Group."

"Ha-ha..." Eden looked at the shop assistant, "Call Mr. Alwynn and let him come here. Since Alwynn Group has cooperation with her, and you're the shop assistants here, I have to air my grievances."

She could tell that Mrs. King was scheming and cunning.

Moreover, she didn't believe that she could do a good business without Alwynn Group.

"Okay, I'll call him right now." The shop assistant had never been treated rudely like this. Moreover, she was not afraid because Mrs. King supported her.

She dialed Dean's phone number in an arrogant way.

"Hello? Dean, I am the shop assistant of NF Brand. Someone is making trouble here, and she wants Mr. Alwynn to solve it. We can't deal with her. Please tell Mr. Alwynn about it."

Hearing this, Eden knew that she was really good at giving a false account of the true facts.

"Do you even want to bother Mr. Alwynn with this kind of thing? What's the use of you? Let the manager of the shopping mall deal with it."

Eden could tell that she was indeed talking to Dean.

Hearing that, the shop assistant was anxious. If Mr. Alwynn didn't come here, she would be very embarrassed.

"No, she is too arrogant. I suspect that she has something to do with the person who called to make complaints. I hope that Mr. Alwynn could come here and find out the truth." After the shop assistant finished her words, she was glad that she had a quick reaction. Mr. Alwynn cared about this matter the most.

Dean asked, "Really? We are nearby the shopping mall now. Let them wait first. Mr. Alwynn said that if she was really the one who made complaints, he would let her get out of the mall on knees."

The shop assistant hung up the phone proudly and looked at Eden complacently.

Eden glanced at her with disdain and did not say anything.

"Ha-ha..." Abigail could not help but laugh.

"Eden, do you need me to buy you a durian? We'll come back soon."

Eden thought for a moment and nodded, "I heard that some people would let others kneel on a durian as a punishment. Buy it."

Abigail nodded with a smile. She picked up her phone and really bought a durian online.

"Humph! I'd like to see what you're going to suffer." Mrs. King looked at their relaxed faces and became even angrier.

The shop assistant helped her sit down on the chair and made coffee for her and her friends enthusiastically.

However, they glared at Eden and Abigail and treated them rudely.

"Just wait and see. Mr. Alwynn will be here soon. You two will be driven out of here!"

After the shop assistant said that, she looked at Abigail with malicious intentions, "You're even pregnant. If your baby dies with you..."

"Crack..." Before she could finish her words, Eden slapped her again.

"Ouch..." The shop assistant felt very dizzy. She had been slapped twice that day, and she felt extremely humiliated.

"You're the most vicious person I've ever seen." Eden said sternly, "How can you be so malicious? B*stard! How dare you curse a pregnant woman like this! If you dare to say something like this again, I'll let you pay the price!"

Abigail looked at her with a gloomy face. How could such a mean person work in Alwynn Group?

"Humph! B*tch, you will die a terrible death! When Mr. Alwynn comes here, I'll give you a lesson!" The shop assistant looked at Eden with a despicable smile. She felt so wronged that her eyes blurred with tears.

"Crack..." Eden slapped her again.

Everyone was taken aback.

Even the two rich women immediately widened their eyes and looked at Eden in shock.

How bold Eden was!

"Ah... You... I will kill you!"

The shop assistant suddenly pushed Eden.

Eden was caught off guard and fell backwards.

Abigail was startled and shouted, "Eden, be careful!"

Eden had lost her balance and was ready to fall to the ground.

However, the next moment, someone held her waist with his powerful arm.

Smelling the familiar and pleasant smell, Eden heaved a sigh of relief.

Dean watched what was happening aside. Could he pretend that he hadn't seen anything?

At this moment, it was too late to pretend to have seen nothing.

He had a feeling that Victor was going to suffer.

Victor looked down at Eden with a worried face, "Are you okay?"

Eden glared at him fiercely, "Do you think I'm okay? I'm furious now."

Eden left his arms madly.

Seeing that she was angry, Victor went ballistic.

When the shop assistants and Mrs. King saw that Victor was annoyed, they all looked at Eden gloatingly.

"Humph! How dare you be so rude to Mr. Alwynn? You've gone too far! Mr. Alwynn, they're making troubles here."

Seeing that Victor was here, the shop assistant instantly became confident and spoke more arrogantly.

Victor glanced at Eden's exasperated face. Since the shop assistant made her so unhappy, he would definitely give her a lesson.

"Do you mean that they called to make complaints?" Victor said blandly, but his tone was stern and irritated.

The shop assistant nodded with a guilty conscience.

Dean was dumbfounded. How bold the shop assistant was!

Mrs. King looked at Victor with a proud face, "Mr. Alwynn, you know my husband Jax, right? I am his wife. The two women offended me in your territory. I want them to apologize to me by kowtowing three times. This is the idea of your shop assistant. She used to deal with things in the same way. Today, they went too far and they must apologize to me."

The shop assistant was speechless. Mrs. King actually exposed her. How did this idiot marry Jax successfully?

Dean glanced at Mrs. King. Oh god! How dared she ask Mrs. Alwynn to kowtow to her?

Victor's face turned indifferent and gloomy in an instant. He looked at Mrs. King with sharp eyes and said word by word, "Did you ask them to kneel down and kowtow to you three times just now?"

The atmosphere became cold and oppressive as well.

However, Mrs. King didn't notice that. She only thought that Victor was angry because she was Jax's wife.

"That's right." She looked at Eden with a smug smile.

Eden replied her with a sneer.

"Hurry up and kneel down! You can't leave here until you please Mrs. King!" The shop assistant thought that Eden had become Victor's enemy as well.

Chapter 1438

She thought that Victor would give Eden a lesson immediately.

Looking at her, Victor kicked her on her knee, and she knelt in front of Eden instantly.

"Ah..." She looked at Victor with confusion. It was so painful that tears ran down her face.

Everyone was shocked.

"Mr. Alwynn, why did you do this to me? It's her fault." She pointed at Eden and said to Victor with grievances.

Victor looked at her gloomily, "If my wife is unhappy today, you will be thrown out of here."

Except for Abigail, the others were all confused. They did not understand what he meant.

Looking at him, Eden crossed her arms and narrowed her eyes, "I heard that you wanted me to get out of here on my knees."

Victor shook his head quickly and said in an extremely soft voice, "Honey, you misheard. Dean said it, not me."

Dean felt so wronged. How could Victor be so shameless? He couldn't take the blame for him!

"Honey..." The shop assistants were stunned.

They looked at Eden's charming and pretty face in surprise, only to find that she was looking at Victor with a weird smile.

At this moment, even Mrs. King and the other woman looked at Eden in disbelief.

How... could this be...

Mrs. King felt as if she had got into a big trouble.

Victor looked back at Dean and asked in a threatening tone, "Dean, did you say that?"

"Mrs. Alwynn, I did say it. It has nothing to do with Mr. Alwynn." Dean could only take the blame obediently.

"Humph!" Eden glanced at Dean's flattering face.

"Do you really want to take the blame for him?" Eden said in a warning tone as well.

Dean's face was full of grievances. Could he say no at this time?

He always took blame for Victor, didn't he?

Victor would reward him, but he wouldn't reward him every time.

Seeing that Eden didn't believe him, he explained again, "Ha-ha... Mrs. Alwynn, I did say that. You are wrong. I'm willing to work overtime for a month."

He cried in heart, "Woo-woo..."

"Dean, you didn't watch your mouth. You've suffered a lot by taking the blame for Mr. Alwynn, but why do you have to punish yourself by working overtime?"

"That's a deal." Eden smiled at him.

Dean was taken aback. Victor really made troubles for him. He had arranged three blind dates this month.

He hadn't had a girlfriend yet.

Hearing how Dean addressed Eden, those people finally believed that Eden was Victor's wife.

Everyone in River City knew that Victor was famous for doting on his wife.

He loved her unconditionally.

Only then did Mrs. King look at Eden carefully. She was young, beautiful and well-shaped. How could she be the mother of three children?

The three shop assistants were dumbfounded. They didn't expect that they had bullied Mrs. Alwynn.

Moreover, Mrs. Alwynn came here in such a low profile.

It was said that instead of flattering Victor, it was better to please his wife.

He would be happy as long as his wife was in a good mood.

Besides, he listened to whatever she said.

Abigail, who was standing aside, glanced at Victor and said, "Victor, I ordered a durian online."

Victor rolled his eyes at Abigail, "You came up with this dumb idea. Fine, I'll let your husband be punished together with me tonight."

Abigail laughed and said, "Why?"

Victor said with a smug face, "Because he is my friend. We should share our happiness and misfortune together."

Abigail fell silent.

She always felt that it was possible for Anson to give her up for Victor's sake.

To Anson, his friendship was more important than love, which made her very annoyed.

"Eden, you can't show him any mercy at night." Since she couldn't outargue Victor, she could instigate Eden to punish him.

Eden looked at Victor with a fake smile and said word by word, "Don't worry, Abby. I'll send you a video tonight."

Victor was speechless. Humph, he wouldn't kneel on the durian, and he would give her a lesson on bed!

Abigail took a provocative look at Victor immediately.

Victor looked wronged. It seemed that he had to incite Eden not to play with such a bad woman.

"Honey, it was really Dean who said those words, not me."

Dean was helpless. What a shame! Why couldn't Victor admit it frankly? He was just like a coward.

Eden looked at him, "Let's talk about this when we get home."

"Oh!" Victor said with grievances.

Everyone was dumbfounded. Was he really the overbearing president?

Was he really Victor?

Eden looked at Dean, "Ask the manager to come here. Then get me the surveillance video of a customer kneeling down to apologize to Mrs. King a few days ago, as well as today's surveillance video. We must find out the person who complained about our products as soon as possible."

"Okay, Mrs. Alwynn, I'll find the manager personally and come back soon." Dean grinned and glanced at Victor gloatingly before leaving.

Victor looked at Mrs. King's pale face, "Now, do you still want my wife to kneel down in front of you?"

Being looked at by Victor's terrifying eyes, Mrs. King couldn't help shuddering, "Mr. Alwynn, it was Mrs. Alwynn who crashed into me."

Seeing that she insisted, Eden only smiled calmly, "Mrs. King, you will know the truth when you see the surveillance video. I am an upright person, and I like to speak with facts. If it was me who bumped against you, I will definitely take all the responsibilities. But the fact is not the case. Even if you are an honored guest of Alwynn Group, I won't wrong myself."

People like Mrs. King were very arrogant in front of humble and poor people.

But she could never gain any advantage in front of her husband. For men, fame and money always ranked first.

Victor controlled the lifeblood of the business world in River City, and he was the most powerful one.

Mrs. King's face froze. Would they tell her husband about this matter? In that case, her husband would definitely give her a lesson.

Eden looked at Abigail and took a chair for her. Then she helped her sit down and said, "Abby, sit here for a while. If you like any cosmetics, take them back directly. I will give them to you as gifts. No, I will afford all your cosmetics in the future."

"Really?" Abigail looked at Eden whom she had doted on for ten years and smiled happily. Eden was really worth of her love.

"How can it be false? Have I ever cheated you?"

"You've never lied to me indeed." Abigail grinned from ear to ear.

Victor asked, "Abigail, are you short of money?"

Abigail said, "Yeah, I have to raise my son."

Victor was speechless. How could the Joye family be short of money? What a joke.

He took a chair and placed it behind Eden, "Honey, sit down as well. It's tiring to stand."

Chapter 1439

Eden did not say anything and sat on the chair.

Victor squatted beside her, held her hand and said with a distressed face, "Didn't I tell you last time? If you want to beat someone, let me do it for you. Don't hurt your own hand."

Her fingers were slender, soft and beautiful, and it was comfortable to hold her hand.

Eden glared at him, "I would have been knocked down if I waited for you."

"Honey..."

"Hey! Victor, pay attention to what you're doing in public. Showing off your love like this will be punished by God." Abigail couldn't stand it anymore.

Victor looked at her angrily, "If you're not happy, ask Anson to come here, too."

"Bah! How childish you are. Anson works for you, and he is not as idle as you." Abigail glanced at him coldly.

Dean, who had just walked in, agreed with Abigail's words very much. Victor was really childish, wasn't he?

He couldn't be more childish in front of Eden.

Moreover, he was annoying.

As long as he thought that he might lose the chances to go on three blind dates, he was so sad and dejected.

His friend chose those girls for him carefully.

"Mrs. Alwynn, I've got the surveillance videos, and Manager Purcell is here." Dean said loudly in case that Victor would still look at Eden with infatuation.

He had observed Eden's face carefully. Her features were so delicate, and she was the kind of woman who was always easy on the eyes. It was understandable that men would get obsessed with her.

She was extremely charming.

Victor glanced at him and stood up, looking so cruel and cold-blooded again.

The slightly fat manager looked at Victor and bowed to greet him immediately.

"Mr. Alwynn, I'm sorry for not welcoming you in time, and I'm sorry for what happened today."

Victor looked at him. Manager Purcell had been working in Alwynn Group for several years. He was serious about his work and did not make any big mistake.

"Mm!" He nodded.

"Dean, show the video to everyone."

"Okay, Mr. Alwynn."

"Mr. Alwynn, it's unfair!" Mrs. King looked at Victor in panic.

"Whether it's fair or not, the truth has the final say. I never wrong my wife. Play the video." His cold tone was commanding.

"Well..." Mrs. King glanced at Eden. She had been acting in a tyrannous manner in River City for so many years. Would she be taught a lesson by a young woman that day?

No, she could not to let her husband know about this.

"Mr. Alwynn, you don't have to play the video. I'm in the wrong, and I'll apologize to Mrs. Alwynn." She knew how brutal her husband was. If he knew this matter, he would not only slap her in the face, but also abandon her.

He had a lot of mistresses outside.

"Apologize? Don't you want my wife to kneel down?" Victor looked at her apathetically.

He had to make her unable to bully others once and for all.

"No, Mr. Alwynn, I'm so sorry. I've really realized my mistake. I shouldn't have said that to Mrs. Alwynn." She was no longer as arrogant as just now.

Eden was Victor's sweetheart, but she didn't recognize her.

This time, she came to grief.

Eden looked at her. She was no longer snooty, but looked so timid and cowardly.

Victor stood quietly and did not say anything.

Mrs. King seemed to know what Victor was thinking.

She walked to Eden and knelt down all of a sudden.

Everyone was taken aback.

She looked at Eden and said regretfully, "Mrs. Alwynn, I'm so sorry. I shouldn't have treated you like that. Please forgive me. We're both women. If you make a big thing out of it, I'll get into trouble."

Eden looked at her. She seemed to know who Mrs. King was.

She roughly knew the rich people in River City, and Mrs. King's husband had a lot of cooperation with Alwynn Group.

She knew who Jax was, and his family was quite powerful in River City.

Jax used to be a nouveau riche. He was straightforward and didn't play dirty tricks in the business world, but he had a lot of mistresses. However, he showed Mrs. King respect and let her live a rich life. In fact, Mrs. King was a poor woman.

In front of her husband, she was humble, and she could only bully others to gratify her vanity.

Since Mrs. King had knelt down, she should forgive her, or she would be too unreasonable.

She didn't have to push things to the extreme and become enemy with Mrs. King.

"Mrs. King, you said that we are all women. Why would a woman make things difficult for the other? You asked that lady to kneel down in front of you, and this matter will cast a shadow on her heart forever."

Mrs. King nodded and looked guilty, "You're right. I was too proud at that time. Hearing the shop assistant's flattering words, I felt myself more and more superior. You know that people are all vainglorious."

Eden glared at the shop assistant, "You're like a dog threatening people on the strength of its master! I should have slapped you more times. What right do you have to insult others? Now you are forced to kneel on the ground. How do you feel?"

The shop assistant was scared and begged for mercy, "Mrs. Alwynn, I'm sorry. Please let me go."

Eden sneered, "I will not let you go."

She helped Mrs. King up and said with a smile, "Mrs. King, let's forget it. Pick a set of products here if you like, and I'll give it to you as a gift. If you like our brand, I welcome you to come here, and I will offer you a 20% discount forever."

"Oh, Mrs. Alwynn, how generous you are! Thank you so much! Just rest assured. I will go shopping here with my friends more often. I know a lot of rich ladies, and you are such a kind person. I will definitely make NF Brand famous!" Mrs. King was really grateful. If she had provoked a lady from another rich family, she would have suffered.

"Thank you, Mrs. King!" Eden said with a bright smile. She knew how influential these noble ladies were. She helped Mrs. King up and picked a set of cosmetics for her personally. Mrs. King knew that she shouldn't stay there anymore. After thanking Eden many times, she left with another rich lady.

The shop assistant, who was left alone, went deathly pale in an instant.

Victor looked at Eden. As long as she was happy, he would let her do whatever she wanted, and he doted on her unconditionally.

Eden looked at the shop assistant and said angrily, "Dean, show me the surveillance video a few days ago."

Dean had uploaded the video onto his phone.

He handed it over with a smile.

Eden took a close look. That day, the lady suffered the same humiliation.

However, she was unluckier than her.

The shop assistant not only asked her to kneel down, but also slapped her twice in the face.

Eden was so angry that she wanted to kill her.

"Dean, find this lady as soon as possible. I will apologize to her personally."

Dean understood what Eden meant and nodded.

Looking at the manager, he asked, "Manager Purcell, check if this lady has purchase history here."

"Okay, I'll reply to you in ten minutes." Manager Purcell immediately went back to the office to check it.

Chapter 1440

Eden said, "Expel the three shop assistants, and Alwynn Group will never hire them again. In the future, every new employee should undergo an intense training programme before beginning work. I don't want such a thing to happen again."

"Okay, Mrs. Alwynn." Dean wrote down what she said.

The three shop assistants were dumbfounded.

It was very difficult to enter Alwynn Group, and they came here to work for the salary. They looked down their noses at others just because the high-end atmosphere had changed their states of mind.

One of the shop assistants couldn't accept the fact, "Mrs. Alwynn, she did this, and it has nothing to do with me. Mrs. Alwynn, I have to support my family, and I can't lose this job. Please give us a chance."

Eden looked at her without any sympathy. Just now, she looked at her and Abigail gloatingly as well. "Since you know that it's not easy to get this job, why don't you cherish it? Every brand covered by Alwynn Group is the fruit of painstaking labour of many people's hard work. You're high paid every year, but you are proud, conceited and arrogant, so you should have thought about such a result."

"I..." The shop assistant was rendered speechless.

Eden knew that the woman who knelt on the ground couldn't be simple.

She looked at Dean, "Find out who she is and investigate her relationships."

"What right do you have to investigate me?" At this time, this matter had come to a decision, and she was no longer afraid of Eden.

Seeing that she suddenly became so ferocious, Eden smiled and said, "If you are innocent, you don't need to be afraid of being found out."

"Mrs. Alwynn, I know that I'm not as rich as Mrs. King, and I can't bring more benefits to the company. So, should people like me be bullied by you? What qualifications do you have to investigate me?"

"You are wrong. It's not because Mrs. King can bring me benefits that I do this to you. At least, her heart is not so vicious, but you're really malicious underneath, and you're too disgusted. You've insulted the customer of Alwynn Group. How could our brand become popular in this way?"

"Besides, the reason why I came here today is that someone made complaints about the shop assistants here, saying that you got too big for your boots and had a bad attitude. What's more, I suspect that you have something to do with the people who made complaints about our products."

The shop assistant felt nervous and defended herself in a hurry, "Mrs. Alwynn, you're slandering me! Do you have any evidence?"

"Getting the evidence is very simple. Nothing can't be found out by Alwynn Group." Eden was proud of this.

Ten minutes later, Manager Purcell ran over breathlessly.

"Mr. Alwynn, Mrs. Alwynn, I've found it out. The lady is from the Parma family. I know her and she is not very favored at home, so she could only be bullied that day. The person who's in charge of the monitoring room has a love affair with Baldrick, so he didn't report this matter to me. This is my negligence. Please rest assured that such a thing will not happen again."

Baldrick's heart skipped a beat when she heard that, "Manager Purcell, how can you say this? I have nothing to do with him, okay?"

Manager Purcell looked at her with a cold expression. He had worked in Alwynn Group for several years, so he knew very well that Victor hated betrayal the most.

"We'll know the truth after investigation. He has admitted it."

Then, he handed his phone to Victor, "Mr. Alwynn, there is another video. In a corner, Baldrick received the money from a man, and their behaviors were weird. That day, Baldrick slapped Miss Parma in the face, and someone called to make complaints about our products that night. Then the department concerned was asked to investigate our company."

Victor was unfamiliar with the man in the video, but they must have done something evil.

He stared at Baldrick with sharp and aloof eyes, "Do you want to confess what you've done on your own or wait to be exposed by that man? I'll find him soon."

Baldrick was so scared that she lowered her head immediately, not daring to look at Victor's horrible eyes.

If she continued to hide it, she would really be thrown out of here.

"I... don't know who he is. He gave me a sum of money and asked me to make things difficult for Miss Parma who came to the mall that day. Mrs. King happened to be here that day, so I made a fuss over a trifling matter and slapped her in the face, and I instigated Mrs. King to embarrass her. I really don't know who the man is."

Victor said, "Dean, let the police take her away and find the man."

"Okay, Mr. Alwynn." Dean was efficient. He immediately took out his phone and called the police.

Baldrick went deathly pale. She was greedy for money, so she lost the greater for the less and even sent herself to jail.

After dealing with this matter, Manager Purcell found out where Miss Parma lived.

Eden asked Victor to send Abigail back, while she went to apologize to Miss Parma with the products of NF Brand.

Victor was worried about her, and he insisted on following her.

He let Dean send Abigail back.

Eden had no choice but to let him follow her.

Half an hour later, Victor parked his car in front of a two-story villa.

Dean had contacted Miss Parma in advance. After getting out of the car with gifts, Eden rang the doorbell.

The door was soon opened by a very pretty girl who wore her hair down around her shoulders. Her oval face was fair and flawless, and her cheeks were slightly pink, but there was a hint of melancholy in her clear and bright eyes.

Dressed in a wool coat, she looked fashionable and mature. Eden recognized that it was the new coat she had designed this year, and it was very suitable for her.

Eden smiled at her kindly, "Hello, Miss Parma. I am Eden. This is my husband, Victor."

Aurora Parma glanced at them indifferently and nodded, "Please come in!"

There was no emotion in her indifferent and distant tone.

Eden looked at her back. She looked very lonely and dejected, and it seemed that she had experienced a lot.

Aurora brought them to the living room and sat on the sofa casually. She lowered her head and did not look at Victor and Eden.

A white Persian cat curled up on the sofa, and it was particularly beautiful and lovely.

"I have nothing to entertain you here. Since you are here to apologize, please leave after saying sorry."

Victor frowned but did not say anything.

However, Eden smiled and looked around Aurora's house. The decoration made people feel warm.

Every corner was clean and tidy.

Even the cat on her knees was clean and lovely.

"Miss Parma, your cat is so adorable." Eden said sincerely. It was rare to see such a cute cat.

She knew that there were many kinds of Persian cats, and the head of this cat was light orange, and its tail was orange as well. Its gem-like big eyes were particularly bright. She couldn't take her eyes off the cat.