

Gluey Love 1441

Chapter 1441

Aurora's hand, which had been stroking the cat, paused slightly. Eden's attention was actually on her cat.

The cat was extremely important to her.

She smiled blandly and said, "Its name is Esme, and it's my family."

Eden noticed the changes in her eyes. Her eyes had been bland, but her expression became very tender when the cat was mentioned.

Eden could almost be sure that Aurora had no friend, and she was lonely.

That day, she went to the shopping mall alone.

Usually, many girls would go shopping with their friends.

"What a lovely name. I like cats, too, but I have three children, so I don't have chance to raise one. But I plant some flowers and plants. Cats are smart, and they treat people sincerely. They're like our family and friends."

"Yeah, you have three children, so it's really inconvenient to raise a cat. Brushing its teeth everyday is troublesome. If you can't take good care of it, it's better not to raise it."

Eden smiled and said, "I think so, too."

Eden suddenly saw drafts of wedding dress on the tea table. They were all drawn by Aurora. The first one was a tube wedding dress. The style was exquisite, and the details of the dress were delicate. As a designer, Eden knew that designers had deep feelings for their drafts.

"Miss Parma, are you also a designer?"

Hearing Eden's question, Aurora was stunned. She immediately remembered that Eden was the Design Director of Alwynn Group, and she nodded unnaturally. She was a wedding dress designer, but few companies would like to hire her because she was reclusive and unsociable. She could only draw pictures to kill time at home.

She was the only one who appreciated her design.

Eden asked for her permission, "Miss Parma, may I have a look?"

"Sure." Aurora looked at her clear eyes, feeling a little nervous.

Eden once made a wedding dress for a superstar. The dress was unique and attracted so many people's attention. She liked Eden's design styles. Most of her clothes were designed by Eden, and they were very suitable for her.

Eden put the drafts on her knees and read them through together with Victor .

However, they became more and more surprised as they looked over the drafts. Aurora was very gifted in design, and she dealt with the details just like an experienced designer.

Victor asked, "Miss Parma, which company do you work in?"

Aurora smiled bitterly, "Mr. Alwynn, I don't have a job, and my design is not good enough. I applied for jobs with my design, but I was refused most of the time."

"How could it be? Your design is very unique and fashionable. It seems that you draw your inspiration from various of things. Women only wear wedding dresses once in their lives."

"It is the most beautiful dress in a woman's life, so every woman hopes that her wedding dress could be the most gorgeous, the most unique, and the most irreplaceable. The beautiful wedding dress can make the bride happy and romantic, creating not only the sweet romance of the bride, but also the most wonderful memory in her life."

Hearing her words, Aurora was pleasantly surprised and excited. Eden was the first one who said that her design was unique.

She said with a bitter smile, "I think so, too, but no one appreciates my design. I once applied for the job in your company, but I never succeeded."

Victor asked, "When?"

"Last year, I guess." Aurora couldn't remember it clearly. Anyway, she applied for the job but was eliminated in the end.

Victor said, "Miss Parma, I will personally hire you as the design director of my wedding dress department. I don't know if you are willing to work in my company. My wife is in charge of all the clothing design now, and she's tired. We have not found a suitable wedding dress designer."

Aurora was dumbfounded. She didn't expect herself to be so lucky.

Her family was quite rich, but she was the daughter of her father and his mistress. After her mother passed away, Mrs. Parma did not admit her identity, so she could only live outside alone. Although her father treated her well, she was not happy at all, because she had no friend or relative as an illegitimate daughter. Only Esme accompanied her.

She always wanted to get a job to prove her ability, and she wanted to prove that she could live a good life without her father. In that case, Mrs. Parma wouldn't scold her for being idle anymore.

However, what had happened in the mall a few days ago made her hate Alwynn Group to the extreme.

Mrs. Parma once slapped her in the face as well. That day, she bore all the humiliation in order to go home earlier to take care of Esme.

When she received the phone call and learned that Victor and Eden would come to apologize to her, she was actually quite shocked.

Victor was in a high status, and Eden was a famous designer. She didn't think that they came here to apologize sincerely, but just to avoid troubles.

But thinking about it, she found that this matter had not been exposed by the media.

Eden knew why she was hesitating and said apologetically, "Miss Parma, I'm sorry for what happened in the mall a few days ago. It was our negligence. I didn't know about this matter until I went there today. I'm very guilty for making you suffer such humiliation. I hope you won't take it to heart."

"Although you may think it's my excuse, the shop assistant was bought off and made things difficult for you deliberately. She even colluded with another person and caused the customer to complain about our products, so I investigated it thoroughly."

Aurora said, "Although I was very angry and I was insulted, I didn't call to make complaints. I know how humble I am, and I don't want to challenge anyone. I endure all the hardships just because I want to live a peaceful life."

However, why did the shop assistant make things difficult for her on purpose?

Was it because she was humble and weak?

Eden did not expect to hear her say so, "Miss Parma, I am really sorry. We will definitely investigate this matter and give you an explanation. But could you please think about my husband's proposal?

Recently, we bought a company, and we're going to make wedding dresses and gowns in this company."

Aurora could feel their sincerity, but she still could not believe that she could be so lucky. She did not need to work hard and became the design director directly.

She felt that it was an unreal dream.

"Director Bleu, do you really think I'm capable enough to be the design director?"

She was very nervous, and she was afraid of being framed.

Mrs. Parma often schemed against her and embarrassed her. She was really afraid of vicious people.

Eden glanced at the design drafts on her hand and said with a smile, "Miss Parma, this is your bargaining chip. Don't you have confidence in yourself?"

Aurora shook her head. Looking at Eden's sincere eyes, she was moved, "I have confidence in myself, but I don't have confidence in people's conscience."

Chapter 1442

The human heart was sinister. As the daughter of a mistress, she had suffered too much. In order to maintain the harmony of his family, her father was blind to those evil things Mrs. Parma had done to her.

She understood him, but she hated him at the same time.

Since he couldn't give her a complete home, why did he let her come to this world?

She was longing to have a home, but she had no home.

Eden had learned about her background before she came here. Aurora's mother was a mistress, and she passed away five years ago. Her father treated her well, but her stepmother always teased and framed her, which made her feel painful and be on guard against others.

"Miss Parma, trust me once." Eden did not say much, but looked at Aurora with serious eyes.

She could not only see Aurora's talent in her design, but also her colorful inner world.

Aurora was definitely a good designer.

Aurora saw a sincere invitation in Eden's clear eyes.

She had come into contact with all kinds of people in recent years, but most of them treated her with prejudice.

Under Eden's sincere gaze, Aurora nodded unconsciously.

If she gave herself a chance, she might have a different life.

However, over the years, no one was willing to give her such an opportunity except for Eden. Her sincere and peaceful tone made her feel that she had been respected for the first time.

Eden smiled gently and handed her card to Aurora, "Thank you for trusting me, Miss Parma. This is my card. You can sort out these design drafts and take them to the head office of Alwynn Group to find me on the 25th floor tomorrow morning."

"Thank you. I will work hard." Aurora said with a smile. Although she had not completely let down her guard, her smile was much more relaxed than before.

Victor and Eden chatted with her for a while. After persuading her to accept the gifts, they left her house.

After getting on the car, Victor looked at the time. It was time to get off work, so he said, "Eden, let's get off work now."

"Okay! The durian should be delivered."

Victor was speechless. How could she bear to let him kneel down?

"Honey, I'm sorry." Victor immediately lowered his head and apologized.

Eden looked at his obedient face and smiled, "What did you do wrong?"

Victor also wanted to know what he had done wrong.

Obviously, Dean said those words. It had nothing to do with him.

He was very wronged.

"I shouldn't have said that."

"Ha-ha..." Seeing how aggrieved and upset he was, Eden could not help but laugh.

"Alright, you've made up for it. Today, you accompanied me here and we met such a good designer. My work will be much easier in the future."

Victor looked at her smiling face and didn't expect that she could forgive him so easily.

"But Eden, why did you let Mrs. King go today? She is not easy to deal with."

He had met Mrs. King a few times. She looked down her nose at others, and poor people were just like ants in her eyes.

Eden smiled and said, "I didn't mean to let her go. A wicked person will be harassed by another of like ilk. Mrs. King went too far indeed, but Baldrick was more malicious. People like Mrs. King give themselves airs just because they want to show off their power."

"Besides, the cooperation between us and her family is very important. There is no need to embarrass her to the extreme. On the contrary, we forgave her, and she will be useful to us when we expand our business the next year. We don't have to render matters irretrievable. Just wait and see. The sales of NF Brand will definitely increase."

Women knew women best. Although Mrs. King was impudent, she was absolutely influential among rich ladies.

Victor started the car and left. A hint of shrewdness flashed through his eyes as he said, "Who is it?"

Eden knew what he meant.

"As long as we find that man, we will know the fact. Why did they want to make things difficult for Aurora?" She was extremely curious about this.

Victor's deep eyes were filled with confusion, "Aurora is not favored in the Parma family. It's useless to make things difficult for her."

Eden nodded.

Victor suddenly thought of something.

He put on the Bluetooth headset and called Brian.

"Brian, who have Irving met recently?"

"Victor, I was just about to call you. In the past few days, he met the Meaker family, the Lee family and the Kline family. The Meaker family and the Kline family have agreed to cooperate with him, but the Lee family refused."

"Okay, I see." A trace of viciousness flashed through Victor's eyes. He had figured out what was going on.

Victor hung up the phone and glanced at Eden with his face full of fury, "It seems that your classmate has never given up. He did a lot of things these days. He often comes into contact with several rich businessmen. Moreover, his assistants have been looking for Mr. Calder's daughter." Victor said every word fiercely.

Eden glared at him. What was the point of being so angry?

"He did a lot of things, but you can do more. Aren't you the most powerful man in River City?"

Victor said, "I've been doing something in secret."

"Despicable."

Victor was stunned.

"What?"

Eden gave him a disdainful smile, but it matched her pretty face well. Even the curve of her lips was so perfect. Victor was obsessed with such a smile and couldn't get it out of his head. Eden asked, "Why don't you do it openly?"

Victor sneered, "Does he deserve me to deal with him openly?"

He always did unto others what they had done to him.

"Everyone knows what he wants to do. As long as he doesn't want to give up, he will fight with you to the end."

Victor's eyes darkened, "You're quite familiar with him."

Eden smiled, "I don't know much about him. I once talked to him, so I know what he is thinking."

Victor kept silent, but he gritted his teeth and had cursed Irving many times in heart.

When they got home, the three children had come back from school.

Mary was cooking. Jaida and Zaiden had returned to Gate City to deal with something.

The three children had grown up, and they were all well-behaved.

As soon as Victor entered the house, Giada said gloatingly, "Dad, someone delivered a durian here just now."

Hearing this, Victor looked at her teasing eyes and almost knelt on the ground.

It was too shameful.

Victor glanced at Kenny and Ricky, only to find that they were looking at him gloatingly as well.

Henrick walked to Victor with a smile, "Dad, Mary use the durian flesh to make pancakes, and I've put the shell in your room. Your knees are hard, and I think you can kneel on it for about one or two hours."

Victor's lips twitched hard. He looked at the three children with brooding eyes. With depression, he walked to the bedroom coldly and gloomily.

Abigail was a bad woman. In the future, he wouldn't allow her to come to his house.

Chapter 1443

Eden looked at his depressed back and did not say anything.

Then she looked at the three children, "Babes, have you finished your homework?"

"Mom, have we ever made you worry about our homework?"

Gia made a face at Eden.

Eden smiled. She had never worried their homework indeed.

"Continue to do homework. I'll go to see your father."

Kenny looked at Eden with a strange smile, "Mom, will you really let dad kneel on the durian? Can you bear to do that?"

Eden smiled wickedly and did not answer his question, "Come and call us when the dinner is ready."

After that, she walked to her room.

Ricky smiled and asked, "Mom, dad spoils you so much that you even dare to let him kneel on the durian. If he gets something on you, he won't let you go."

Eden looked at him angrily, "Humph! It seems that you've been spoiled, too. You don't love me anymore."

After saying that, Eden turned around and walked to the room.

Henrick looked at her back and shook his head, "It's hard to figure out what a woman is thinking. Women are really changeable."

Kenneth said, "You're naughtier and naughtier. Sooner or later, you will be taught a lesson!"

Henrick squinted at him, "Kenny, what do you mean?"

Kenneth glared at him, "I mean, do you dare to challenge me?"

Imagining such a scene, Henrick said playfully, "Kenny, when did you learn to tell lame jokes?"

Kenneth said indifferently, "I've always been like this."

"Ha-ha..." Henrick desperately fought the urge to giggle but laughed in his throat.

"Kenny, you finally look easy-going in this way. Don't keep silent and be in a world of your own all day long. Look at how carefree and delighted I am. My pure little heart is very happy every day." Henrick said smugly, and his handsome face looked so glad.

Hearing this, Giada snorted, "Did you say that you're pure? Look at your scheming eyes! Your cunning exterior hides a very twisted heart."

Henrick was speechless. He really didn't want to speak, because he was afraid that he would curse uncontrollably.

He might really scold Gia who liked to find trouble with him.

He still remembered that she demanded one million and eight hundred thousand dollars blackmail from him.

What a miser!

"Gia, are you out of your head? Why do you have to speak so mockingly?"

"Humph!" Giada snorted coldly, "You sanctimonious little hypocrite! Anyone who is not stupid can tell how sanctimonious you are."

"Dad and mom know you as well. You're selfish and snooty. Besides, you have no self-knowledge and put on sanctified airs."

"Giada, do you have to mock me everyday?" Kenneth didn't like Gia when she made sarcastic comment on him.

Giada raised her eyebrows and smiled, "You will be doomed by your personality one day. When you grow up, you will definitely be a scum among men."

"Giada, you..."

Henrick ran towards Eden's room in a fit of anger.

"Bang..." Eden had just changed her clothes when she heard someone thumping on the door.

She looked at Victor and signaled him to open the door.

Victor looked at her, "Honey, I seem to hear them quarreling just now."

Eden felt helpless in an instant.

"Bang..."

Eden had no choice but to open the door.

As soon as the door was opened, they saw Henrick who was very annoyed. Eden blinked her big watery eyes and looked at him with a smile, saying in a doting tone, "Ricky, who made you angry?"

Henrick's eyes misted with tears as he said with annoyance, "Watch your daughter! She said that I was a scum and I was sanctimonious!"

Eden was stunned. Ricky might not be a scum, but he was indeed sanctimonious.

But she couldn't say this to him.

Victor came over and looked at him, "Ricky, I am loyal in love, and you're my son. How could you be a scum?"

"So, you have to discipline your daughter. Don't think she can go too far just because she's a girl!" After saying that, Henrick puckered his mouth and left angrily. It could be seen how exasperated he was.

Eden shook her head, "They are really enemies."

Victor looked at Ricky's angry back. He could not afford to offend any of his children, could he?

"Victor, I'm going out to see the children."

Victor pulled her and said with a pitiful face, "You promised me that you wouldn't let me kneel on the durian."

Eden gave him a reassuring smile, "Honey, I can't bear to punish you like that. Change your clothes and go talk to Ricky. I'll talk to Gia and tell her not to mock Ricky."

Victor felt much better in an instant, "I see, honey."

Eden went out and saw Ricky walking upstairs madly with his schoolbag.

"Henrick, I even flatter you by saying that you're sanctimonious, but you actually complained to mom and dad. Are you a real man?"

Henrick stood on the stairs and looked at her apathetically, "Why don't you flatter yourself by saying that? Since you said I was a jerk, I'll show you how despicable I am."

It seemed that he would act recklessly.

Giada was dumbfounded. Why couldn't Ricky take a joke?

She was just kidding, but he got so irritated that his face turned red.

Watching them aside, Eden shook her head.

"Gia, don't always mock Ricky. He wants to be respected. If you keep saying such words, he will be unhappy."

"Mom, I always joke with him in this way. Why is he so mad today?" Giada was depressed, "Alas, it seems that he will have no appetite when he sees me tonight. I'll go find Boris and tutor his English at night. That brat didn't listen to the teacher carefully on class, and he is simply a hopeless student. After school, he pestered me to teach him. Now he has two younger brothers, and he finally understands how tired aunt is."

Eden nodded, "Go there and teach Boris. Remember to be careful on the way, and don't always skip down the road. What's more, put on your down jacket before leaving."

"Okay! Mom, I see. I've grown up, and I can take care of myself now. Don't nagger all day long. Just take care of dad and yourself. Grandma said that you and dad are going to live together for the rest of your life, so dad loves you and spoils you so much." Giada carried her schoolbag on her back and left with a smile.

Eden looked at her happy smile and couldn't help but grin.

"Mom, don't worry. Ricky is in a bad mood today."

Eden was a little curious. Ricky was rarely in a bad mood.

"Kenny, why is he in a bad mood?"

Kenneth smiled and said, "Because of something in the school. It's not a big deal, and he can solve it by himself."

Eden glanced at Kenny. Didn't he want to tell her about it?

That was right. The children had grown up, and they had their own secrets.

Since they didn't want to say it and it was not a big deal, there was no need for her to get to the bottom of it.

Chapter 1444

"Kenny, go for a walk with me later. Let's go to see your godmother."

"Okay, mom. Let's go out after dinner." Kenneth said with a smile.

"Alright!"

After dinner, Eden brought Kenneth to Abigail's house, while Victor went out for a walk with Ricky.

They stayed with the children separately. Accompanying the children was very important, and they would play with the children as long as they had time.

"Ricky, go to practice piano this weekend. I will go with you." It seemed that he had never accompanied Ricky to a piano class.

Henrick still looked unhappy, but he was very pleased in heart and asked in disbelief, "Dad, will you have time to accompany me? By the way, maybe I won't have time to advertise children's wear of your company this year. Choose another spokesperson."

Victor smiled and rubbed his head, "Are you still angry with Gia?"

Henrick whispered, "Being angry with her makes myself suffer. She has never talked to me politely. I am mad with myself, not her."

"Have you encountered something unhappy?"

"Yeah!" Henrick nodded sullenly.

"Tell me what has happened. Our famous child star rarely has troubles."

Victor took Henrick's hand and sat down on the bench by the lake.

He reached out one hand and held Henrick in his arms.

Henrick glanced at him. It was shameful to tell Victor what had happened, but his movement was so warm.

He was Victor's son, but he actually lost in a fight.

Moreover...

Alas!

Perhaps it was because he was too excellent. He was a top student, so that guy was jealous of him.

He said dejectedly, "There's a little bully in our class. His grades are worse than Boris's, and he bullies others all day long. Today, I held his abominable behaviour in detestation and fought with him, but I lost."

"His attitude was rude and his tone was aggressive. Every word he said made me so unhappy."

The most important thing was that he bullied Alma.

Alma was nice to Henrick.

"Dad, think about it. I'm your son, but I lost. What a shame!" He had been thinking about this all day.

The bully's words were too annoying. He had a foul mouth on him, and he was not polite at all.

Victor nodded seriously, "As my son, you're indeed disgraced because you lost. However, you practice Taekwondo together with your mother, don't you? What's more, you practice it on time. Why did you lose?"

"Alas! It's a long story. We never interfered with each other before. Today, he offended my classmate. I couldn't stand it, so I quarreled with him. Most importantly, he said that he was from the Meaker family and you couldn't afford to provoke his father."

"Dad, you're the most powerful man in River City. When did his father become more powerful than you? Besides, he didn't dare to provoke me before. I don't know why, but he always makes troubles for me, Gia and Kenny these days."

"Oh!" Victor's eyes turned vicious.

He remembered what Brian had told him on the phone. The Meaker family and the Kline family had reached an agreement with Irving. But he did not expect that this matter would affect his children.

"Ricky, if he bullies you again tomorrow, beat him fiercely. But you must protect yourself and don't get hurt." Obviously, that guy tried to find some excuse to start a quarrel.

Victor was thinking about making things difficult for the two families. They not only schemed against him, but also bullied his son.

He had never been easy to bully.

Coincidentally, Mr. Meaker's son was Ricky's classmate.

It was a shame that he didn't know the parents of Ricky's classmates.

Moreover, he was absent from the parents' meeting several times.

Thinking of this, Victor felt very sorry for the three children.

"Ha-ha..." Kenneth smiled proudly, "Dad, I feel much better after talking to you. In fact, I always think that he dislikes me because my grades are better than his and he's jealous of me."

"My Ricky is the best!" Victor took his hand with a smile and stood up, "Let's go to Boris's house and pick up Gia. We can see Boris and your aunt by the way."

Kenneth was a little unhappy, "Giada was obviously born together with me. Why can't we get along well with each other?"

Victor never answered such a question.

After all, he couldn't outargue any of the children.

He was just a coward in front of Eden and the three children.

Early the next morning, Aurora went to Alwynn Group.

At half past nine, she arrived at Eden's office on time.

Paula happened to come over to remind Eden of the meeting.

After the new collection was released, it went straight to Number One in the charts, and it was very popular on the market.

Eden read the daily sales report every day.

As soon as Paula arrived at the door, she met Aurora who dressed in a white suit. The suit suited her perfectly, making her look charming, noble and commanding.

Paula knew that the suit was a limited edition, and it was very expensive.

A trace of jealousy flashed across her eyes. In addition, Delmont didn't talk to her these few days. He only sent a message to apologize to her. Then he seemed to have disappeared in her world.

"Who are you looking for?" She asked coldly.

Hearing her arrogant voice, Aurora felt a little displeased in heart. However, she had met all kinds of people, and she did not take it to heart.

"Hello, I am Aurora, the new design director. Director Bleu asked me to her office to meet her." Her tone was polite. After all, they would work in the same company, so it was better to get along well with each other.

When Paula heard this, she asked in disbelief, "How could it be? Recently, Alwynn Group needs a design director who is responsible for wedding dress design. Why haven't I received the news that we have a new design director?"

Paula looked Aurora up and down with suspicion.

Looking at Aurora carefully, she found that Aurora was pretty, and she was definitely outstanding among beautiful women.

She studied design as well, but she could only work as an assistant, so she was more or less unwilling to accept the fact.

Aurora said, "Mr. Alwynn engaged me in person yesterday."

Hearing this, Paula smiled disdainfully, and her mocking voice sounded a bit harsh, "Are you kidding? Every company has its own system. Everyone knows that it's hard to enter Alwynn Group, and no one has ever got a job here by the back door. You said that Mr. Alwynn hired you personally. Why didn't I get the news?"

Aurora frowned. Eden told her to meet her on the 25th floor.

Moreover, after she told the receptionist her name, the receptionist took her to the elevator with a gentle smile.

"Humph! If you have nothing to say, leave here quickly and don't disturb my work."

After speaking proudly, Paula even pushed Aurora before opening the office door arrogantly.

Chapter 1445

However, Eden pulled open the door before she touched the door handle.

Seeing Paula, Eden asked expressionlessly, "What are you arguing about?"

With her face full of anger, Paula glanced at Eden and said reluctantly, "A fake designer went to the 25th floor and I reprimanded her. What's wrong? Couldn't I?"

"Could a fake designer come to the 25th floor? Paula, are you out of your mind?" Eden looked at Paula's unpleasant face. Was she working in a bad mood?

Paula said very unhappily, "Director Bleu, it's okay that you've ruined my love. But do you want to ruin my image now?"

Eden sneered and asked in reply, "Are you sure you were in love with Delmont?"

"I..."

"Stop talking. You're at work now." Eden did not look at her. Instead, she looked at Aurora and said apologetically, "Miss Parma, I'm sorry. She is my assistant. I sent her a message yesterday, but she did not see it and didn't know that you would come here."

Aurora did not mind it, "Director Bleu, it's okay!"

Paula took out her phone to have a look. Yesterday, Eden really sent her a message and told her that a new designer would come here.

She drank too much last night, so she didn't see it.

"I'm... sorry. I didn't see the message." Paula's expression was somewhat unnatural.

Eden glanced at her, "I sent you a message around eight o'clock last night. With my understanding of you, it seems that you were drinking at that time."

Paula was speechless. It was because of Eden that she was in a bad mood.

"Even if I was drinking, so what? Couldn't I do as I wish outside working hours?" Paula was extremely angry.

If it weren't for the fact that Eden spoke ill of her in front of Delmont, Delmont would have replied to her messages and answered her phone calls.

"Eden, let's talk during lunch hour." Whether a person would succeed or not, it depended on if he had self-esteem and self-confidence.

She was sure that she could be with Delmont.

Eden knew that Paula wouldn't give up if she didn't make it clear to her.

"Okay, let's have lunch outside together. Prepare for the morning meeting now."

After saying that, Eden looked at Aurora, smiled and turned to walk into the office.

Aurora's work was recognized by everyone at the meeting.

As for Aurora, she had made full preparations last night.

She collected all the design drafts that she was satisfied with.

Because she wanted to be approved by everyone.

She knew very well that she was the most qualified to judge herself. Therefore, she should draw more excellent design drafts and showed them to others. In this way, she could find a new orientation in life.

After the meeting, Aurora temporarily stayed at the head office for training. She was very grateful that Eden thought highly of her design, and she would work hard to integrate into Alwynn Group.

After the meeting was over, she greeted everyone with a smile.

She was of an uncommunicative and eccentric disposition. In the past, she always ran into snags, and many people treated her with prejudice, so she was not very enthusiastic to others.

Although she entered Alwynn Group by the back door, her design spoke for her.

But in Alwynn Group, everyone looked at her with admiration and envy because Eden approved her ability. She seemed to have become confident in an instant. It was the first time she had smiled at people like this.

Eden walked over with Paula, "Director Parma, congratulations."

"I should thank you!" Aurora's eyes were filled with tears. It turned out that being recognized by others was so happy.

Thinking of all the disappointment she suffered before, she was on cloud nine at this moment.

Eden smiled and said, "Next, we will train you. Just be at ease. This year is coming to an end, and our wedding dress business is very good every year. With you by my side, I hope we can make a great breakthrough."

"I will try my best." Aurora nodded confidently.

Eden said with a smile, "It's never too late to start a new life, and your success is up to your attitude. I believe that your effort and hard work will definitely be rewarded."

As long as some people were give a chance, they could show extraordinary talents.

"Director Bleu, you are right. You think highly of me and give me a chance to develop, so I will not let you down." She was very confident that she could become a well-known wedding dress designer.

"Paula, send Director Parma to the training department."

"Alright!" Paula nodded, and the smile on her face was a little stiff. She didn't expect that Aurora's design to be so awesome.

Her life was very hopeful because she had been approved by Eden and Victor.

After they left, Eden returned to the office.

Victor and Dean went out to deal with something.

As soon as she sat on the sofa and picked up her phone, she saw the message sent by Abigail.

"Eden, I waited for your video until twelve o'clock last night."

Eden was speechless. She went to Abigail's house last night, so she thought Abigail knew that she didn't punish Victor.

No, it was because she didn't do anything that Abigail asked her that way.

"I'm sorry, Abby. That's my husband, and I couldn't bear to punish him."

"I knew it would be like this. Do you know what he said to me this morning?"

"He told you triumphantly that our plan had failed, right?"

"No! You're wrong. He said that you had been led astray by me and asked me not to contact you if I had nothing to do! This b*stard actually tried to sow discord between us. He thinks too much of himself and even put on sanctified airs! How shameless he is!"

Eden smiled. Would Victor do such a childish thing?

She really couldn't believe it.

"Abby, when he comes back, I'll talk to him. Don't take his words seriously."

"Eden, I won't take his words to heart! We're the best and closest friends. We won't be separated from each other just because of his words!"

After comforting Abigail, Eden started to work.

Victor didn't come back at lunch time, so she and Paula went to the restaurant nearby.

They went into the private box. Along the way, Paula kept a straight face and didn't say a word to Eden.

Eden didn't care. After all, this was just the way Paula was.

After sitting down, Eden glanced at the QR code on the table and ordered four dishes and one soup.

After the waiter served the tea and left, Paula asked unhappily, "Eden, did you tell Delmont about my past? You've affected my future. Can you take the responsibility?"

Eden was so angry but she laughed, "Paula, why should I be responsible for your future?"

Chapter 1446

Paula glared at her. Seeing Eden's peaceful and calm face, she was envious and jealous.

Not everyone could be as successful as Eden.

"Eden, I really like Delmont." Paula looked at her sincerely.

Eden found that she was too stubborn. Perhaps, Delmont had become her prey.

"Paula, I've told you that you can't be my sister-in-law. What's more, I didn't speak ill of you in front of him." She was willing to admit everything she had done, but she really didn't mention Paula's past to Delmont.

The reason why she followed them that night was to confirm Delmont's intention.

"But why doesn't he answer my phone calls and doesn't reply to my messages?" Paula still didn't believe Eden's words.

"How would I know? But after hearing what you said, I feel strange, too. Delmont used to send me a message every day to make me happy, but he didn't contact me these days." Being reminded by Paula, Eden felt that Delmont was a bit strange.

"Eden, don't act dumb. A few days ago, Delmont chatted with me every day and always answered my phone calls immediately. He even sent me home late at night. But since I met you that night, he has never answered my phone calls. Do you dare to say that it has nothing to do with you?"

Life was short, and she did not want to live such a humble life forever.

"It doesn't matter. I told you that I didn't speak ill of you in front of him. You know your own past." Eden was sure that Paula didn't like Delmont sincerely.

"Eden, what's wrong with my past? I just bullied you for three years, didn't I? You said that you didn't care about this matter. But why do you always mention it?" She believed that Eden was playing tricks behind her back.

"Ha-ha..." Seeing that she was pretending to be innocent, Eden was really amused.

She looked at Paula seriously, "Paula, don't get lost to your daydream, because you are living an ordinary life."

"Your life is not ordinary, so you will not understand how miserable my life is. Don't meddle in the relationship between me and Delmont anymore." Delmont was well disposed towards her, and she wouldn't give up.

"I'm sorry. I don't think you can be my sister-in-law. Delmont has a beloved woman, but it is not you. You look like that woman and he misses her. This was why he kept in touch with you."

"But Paula, don't blame me for not reminding you. How did you make Delmont notice you? Your house is very far away from where he attends social activities, and you went those places on purpose. Now you understand what I mean, don't you?"

Paula's expression became unnatural, "You investigated me."

She felt nervous for no reason. Had Eden known about her terrible past?

Eden said in a deep voice, "Even if I didn't investigate you, I know what kind of person you are. Do you remember what happened when we studied in high school? I happened to work in the hotel where you and your boyfriend often went. That man was married. One day, his wife beat you in the hotel room, and I saw it clearly. These years, you seduced many men in the same way just to live a rich life, but you failed every time."

"You don't want to give up because you think Delmont is straightforward and innocent, and he is easy to cheat. Am I right?"

Paula's body trembled when she heard Eden's words, and she was greatly humiliated.

It turned out that Eden knew how ridiculous she was.

"Eden, you..." She said with panic in eyes.

Eden said, "I just wanted to know why you wanted to be with Delmont, so I got someone to investigate your past. I was not curious about your past, and I only needed to know what you wanted to do to Delmont."

"Humph! Eden, don't make an excuse for yourself, and don't regard yourself as a saint. Bad people are not horrible, but hypocrites are the most hateful. You pretend to be upright in front of me, but you investigated my past behind my back..."

"Paula." Eden interrupted her in a deep voice.

"The best shortcut to success is hard work, but you only want to live a better life by seducing rich men. It's really impossible for you and Delmont to be together. Even if I didn't investigate you, my mother would investigate you, and you couldn't marry into the Clement family even if you became his girlfriend. I have told you everything I can say. As for what Delmont has done, I will let him apologize to you."

After Eden finished speaking, she got up and was about to leave.

She was not in the mood to eat after arguing with Paula.

She glanced at Paula, picked up her bag and walked out.

"Bang..." Paula pounded the table with great strength and clenched her fists tightly. Her eyes were filled with hatred.

"Eden, how dare you investigate my past! Do you know how I went through all these years? I hate myself because I am a good-for-nothing and I live humbly in the upper class, but I will not be defeated by you so easily."

Paula didn't give up. She took out her phone and called Delmont.

If she was afraid of difficulties, her life would be meaningless.

What surprised her was that Delmont actually answered the phone call.

She smiled gently, "Delmont, are you very busy these days? Why didn't you answer my phone calls? I've been worried about you."

Delmont was still at the entrance of the hospital.

After dealing with the affairs in the company, he would drive here alone. Every day, he bought delicious food for Adrienne and send it to her in the name of Eden.

Just now, he was taking a nap, and his phone rang, so he answered the phone call habitually without looking at the caller ID.

He didn't react until he heard Paula's voice.

"Miss Koch, I'm sorry. I've been very busy recently."

The way he addressed her was cold and distant.

Paula's heart suddenly skipped a beat, "Delmont, don't you always call me by my name? Delmont, you know that I love you very much. After meeting you a few times, I feel that we are very suitable for each other."

Hearing this, Delmont frowned and pinched the place between his eyebrows tiredly. Sure enough, Eden's worry was not unnecessary.

In fact, he couldn't understand why he could meet Paula when he went out to socialize.

"I'm sorry, Miss Koch. It's my fault. I have a beloved woman. I sent you home late at night because you used to be Eden's classmate, and I met you by accident most of the time. I'm sorry that I have troubled you. Please accept my sincere apology!"

"Delmont, I don't want your apology. I only want you." Paula's tone was gentle. She believed that Delmont would be attracted by her beauty.

Chapter 1447

Hearing this, Delmont felt a little impatient, "Miss Koch, it seems that we're not even friends. Please don't say such words. I'm sorry. There's no need for us to meet again."

After saying that, Delmont hung up without hesitation.

Paula's face darkened to the extreme when she heard the beeping sound on the phone.

She had planned to marry into the Clement family and live a rich life with the help of them.

After all, the Clement family was the second richest family in River City. As long as the Clement family could do her a favor, her family could live a good life.

But why did she miss such a great chance?

Paula regretted what she had done.

She shouldn't have showed off to Eden at the party, but should show off after sleeping with Delmont.

But it was too late for her to regret it.

"D*mn Eden! It's all your fault!" She cursed in heart.

Although Paula was very angry, she had lunch alone and went back to the company.

In a high-end restaurant, the environment was comfortable, and the fashionable decoration was very pleasant to the eye.

Dahlia and Irving were having lunch, while Aidan reported his work beside them.

"Mr. Matthews, now the Meaker family and the Kline family have the intention to cooperate with us, but the Parma family hasn't agreed because they know Victor's style of doing things. We didn't succeed in aiming at Miss Parma. Victor and Eden apologized to her in person. Miss Parma not only forgave them, but also agreed to work in Alwynn Group."

"Now she works as the designer director who is responsible for the wedding dresses, which means that what we not only didn't give Victor a blow, but also gave him a chance to hire an excellent designer."

Irving lost his appetite instantly. He put down the chopsticks and asked indifferently, "What about the sales of their wedding dresses?"

Aidan said in a serious tone, "A few years ago, the wedding dresses designed by Alwynn Group were not famous at all. But since Director Bleu entered the company, their wedding dress design has become one of the top ten famous wedding dress design in the world, and it is number seven in the lists."

The wedding dress Eden designed for Summer made Alwynn Group well-known in the world.

He added, "Many brides are attracted by Eden's design and want her to make wedding dresses for them. Eden's design is romantic, fantastic, exquisite and noble, and it is to countless women's liking."

Irving smiled and said, "She has always been a very talented designer."

Seeing Irving's expression, Aidan felt sad for him for no reason.

Irving came to this city and started his business only for Eden, but Eden was not grateful at all. Every day, she threw the beautiful roses bought by Irving in the trash can. Aidan was distressed about money.

Irving even spoke for Eden at this time. He really suspected that there was something wrong with Irving's head.

He was too obsessed with Eden.

Meanwhile, Dahlia's face was full of jealousy as she asked, "Irving, do you know her very well?" She asked sourly on purpose.

Irving looked at her and saw the jealousy on her face, but there was no mood swing in his eyes, "Don't be jealous all the time. You are the design director of our company. Now we have postpone the release of our new products. I hope you won't let me down in the next season." Irving's tone was indifferent. He didn't need eye candy.

After that, he added, "The new company has just been established, and we need to set up a united and capable designer team. When you have time, try to poach all the famous designers in River City these days."

"As far as I'm concerned, you're not capable enough to release the new products alone."

Hearing his words, Dahlia clearly feel that he did not trust her.

She was very angry in heart, but she smiled at him tenderly, "I see. I won't let you down." He didn't trust her, but he asked her to do this, so she wouldn't let him down.

"Okay!" Irving responded apathetically, lowered his head and continued to eat.

After coming out of the restaurant, Eden was somewhat hungry.

She walked on the road. There were parasol trees on both sides of the road. The cold wind whispered through the leaves and tore them off trees.

She glanced at the high-end restaurant in the front. She had been to this restaurant, and the noodles here were delicious.

She remembered the nice taste of the noodles.

Eden went up to the second floor and sat by the window.

A waiter wearing a black uniform sent her the menu. She ordered tomato and egg noodles and a pair of chicken wings. Then she sat by the window in a daze.

When Irving walked over with Dahlia and Aidan, he raised his head and saw Eden who was sitting by the window.

She wore a white coat, and her beautiful hair was tied severely in a bun, revealing her delicate and pretty facial features. At this time, she was looking out of the window in a daze. She looked very charming when she didn't speak, and she could maintain a peaceful and calm heart.

Being quiet was a kind of temperament and self-cultivation. At this moment, in Irving's eyes, she was like a fairy who was far away from the turmoil of the world. He could disencumber his mind from cares just by looking at her quietly.

Seeing Eden, Aidan felt sad for Irving in heart.

How could it be so coincidental? They ran into Eden again.

Irving was very loyal in love. He didn't get close to any woman these years.

However, he fell in love with a married woman.

Looking at Eden's beautiful face, Dahlia couldn't be more jealous.

Just as she was about to ask Irving to leave, Irving said.

"You two go back first."

Rage bubbled just below the surface of Dahlia's mind when she heard this, "Irving, you have to attend a very important meeting later..."

"It doesn't matter. You leave first." His tone was cold and aggressive.

Aidan said, "Dahlia, let's go."

Dahlia had no choice but to leave with Aidan reluctantly.

At this time, the food Eden ordered had been served. She ate the chicken wing first.

The roast chicken wing was yummy, and she ate it occasionally.

She ate with her lowered down, so she did not notice Irving approaching her.

Irving sat across from Eden slowly and gracefully.

Feeling that someone was in front of her and smelling the faint smell of tobacco, Eden raised her head. When she saw Irving looking at her tenderly, she was stunned.

"Irving, did you come here for lunch as well?" Irving did not speak, and she asked casually. After asking, she lowered her head and continued to eat.

She acted as if Irving didn't exist.

Since they met in River City last time, Eden had been treating him as a stranger.

If she paid attention to Irving, what he did would affect her, but she wouldn't care what he did if she didn't take him seriously.

Irving nodded, "Are you here alone?"

"Yes!" After eating the two chicken wings, Eden stirred the noodles with chopsticks and lowered her head to eat them. She was not reserved at all and ate her food gracefully.

Seeing her like this, Irving smiled, "I remember that you like to eat beef noodles. Why did you order tomato and egg noodles today?"

Eden smiled and said, "Although I like it, I can't eat the same food all the time. Sometimes I want to eat something else."

"I like tomato and egg noodles." Irving said with a smile.

"Really? I remember when you were in high school, you liked boiled fish with pickled cabbage and chili." She remembered that he often ate this, and she could smell the pickled cabbage when she walked past him.

She gradually remembered something in the past.

But this dish was very suitable for him, because he was sour most of the time.

"Ha-ha... Eden, I didn't expect you to remember these trivial things." Irving was very happy. He thought that she didn't remember those trivial things.

During the lunch time, he would wait for her in the canteen and they could almost meet each other everyday, but he only nodded and smiled at her.

She rarely spoke.

It was not because she did not like to speak, but because she wouldn't provoke others as long as she didn't speak.

Eden looked at him casually, "I didn't remember it studiously. You know that people are just like this. When they meet someone, they will remember something by coincidence."

Hearing this, Irving was a little disappointed, but he was excited as well, because she remembered some of their past.

But he remembered bits and pieces of their past.

Eden asked, "Didn't your family live in River City before? Why did you suddenly go abroad?"

Irving said, "River City is very big, but it had been dominated by the Alwynn family and the Clement family many years ago. My father thought that we would develop very slowly here, so we moved aboard and started our business after I graduated. Indeed, we developed our business faster aboard." Although their means were not so open and aboveboard.

But this was the way to develop their business fast and have a firm foothold in the market.

However, his father was nostalgic, and he wanted to have their own business in their hometown. Moreover, Eden was here, so Irving came back.

"That's right! Your family developed very fast indeed." Eden replied casually again.

The Matthews family developed in leaps and bounds by despicable means indeed, but this way had its advantages and disadvantages.

Perhaps they kept many spies in other companies.

Irving took the opportunity to say, "Eden, I wonder if Alwynn Group is willing to cooperate with my company?"

Eden refused without thinking, "We are not qualified to cooperate with an evil and mean businessman."

She put down the chopsticks. She could have eaten up the noodles, but she lost her appetite in an instant.

"Eden, what do you mean?" Irving's face darkened a little.

Eden got up and smiled brightly, "What else could I mean? I mean that it's impossible for us to cooperate with each other."

"You..." Irving vaguely felt that she knew something.

Eden looked down at him with a hint of harshness in her eyes, "Irving, something happened in our cosmetics counter two days ago. You should know about it."

Irving nodded.

The expression in Eden's eyes changed slightly, "The media didn't report this matter. How did you know about it?"

Irving was shocked. She was actually fishing for information.

He explained elegantly, "The media didn't report it, but as a businessman in this circle, of course I know about it."

Eden sneered, "That person plots against Alwynn Group. Since you know about this, it seems that your power can't be underestimated. I'm leaving."

Eden picked up her bag and walked out.

"Eden, I said I wouldn't hurt you." Irving sat on the stool and said with a straight face.

Eden paused, "I believe that you will not hurt me, but you will definitely hurt the people around me."

After Eden finished her words, she left directly.

Irving sat by the window quietly. After a while, he saw Eden downstairs.

Even her back looked so confident. She was powerful enough to be arrogant in River City.

Irving had been staring at Eden, and he didn't blink until she disappeared at the end of the street.

He looked down at the left tomato and egg noodles in the bowl.

His heart was filled with bitterness.

He had really missed the chance to be with her.

They were not fated, and he could never go back to the past.

In his heart, Eden was the most attractive when she sat in the corner quietly and read books indifferently without saying a word.

He got up and looked at the misty sky above the city with mixed feelings.

Frowning, he walked out with his face darkened.

After Victor and Dean finished their work, they came to meet Brian on purpose.

They arranged to meet each other in a cafe.

Brian came with documents he had prepared.

He was dressed in a suit and didn't wear a thick overcoat. Obviously, he was freezing.

Sitting in front of Victor, he immediately picked up the coffee and took a sip, "It's so cold!"

He shivered.

Victor frowned, and a trace of displeasure flashed through his brooding eyes, "Can't you wear more clothes in such a cold day?"

Brian looked at him helplessly, "Do you think I'm as free as you? I am always on the move because I have to find out the information you want. I rushed here and forgot to take my overcoat."

Dean asked with concern, "Do you want me to go downstairs and buy you a overcoat?"

Brian smiled and said, "Dean, forget it. I don't want you trouble you. I will get off work after talking to you. It's not so cold sitting in the car."

After that, Brian took out the documents he had sorted out.

"This is the information about Melissa. She has two phones, and one of them is only used to contact one person. This number was not registered with an ID card, so I can't find out that person's information. However, they have a close relationship. I've checked their call records and found that these call records are all aimed at you and Eden."

"Now, we can be sure that the one who fabricated the rumours was either Melissa or the one she contacted."

Victor nodded, "How should we deal with her now?"

Brian said, "Do you still remember the suspect we found after Eden had an accident? He died, didn't he?"

Victor nodded blandly.

"That suspect took drugs, but he died immediately after he was found out. The police see Melissa as the prime suspect, and she is under investigation now."

"Carney has come to River City. Now he is looking for the best lawyer for Melissa. Originally, those things are not a big deal, but Melissa is charged with the murder now. Carney knows that there is no chance of success, and he has given up the idea of pursuing the lawsuit with Alwynn Group."

"Humph! Could he defeat me? When I left back then, I warned him that I wouldn't show them any mercy if Melissa were to hurt Eden again."

Brian nodded, "These things are not very important to you. I found out that the man who gave Baldrick the money was the driver of Irving's assistant. Therefore, it was Irving who aimed at the cosmetics counter. You and Eden solved this matter in time, so you didn't suffer more losses."

"But now I'm going to tell you something more important."

Chapter 1449

Seeing that he looked serious, Victor asked cautiously, "What's the matter?"

Brian sighed, "This is a tragedy."

Victor frowned again, "Stop kidding and get down to the business."

Brian snickered, "I'm not kidding."

However, Dean cocked his ears to listen. He was sure that Brian would tell them a piece of shocking news.

He liked the shocking news in rich and powerful families.

Brian smiled and then his face became solemn. He didn't mean to joke at all, "Victor, Barrett bears grudges against your father, and they hated each other when they were young. Barrett wants to live out his life in retirement in River City, but he also wants to ruin the Alwynn family. You have to be careful."

Victor said casually, "How did you get these news?"

Brian said with a smug face, "Your son told me."

Victor frowned. How did Kenny know about it?

"Then why do you look so proud? My son found it out." Victor's tone was much prouder than Brian's.

Brian suddenly looked at him jealously, "I wanted to convince Kenny to join my company, but he looked down on my company. He even said that my company was outdated and it didn't compare with his company. It is so annoying, isn't it?"

Victor raised his eyebrows and said in smug satisfaction, "Kenny is smart and amazing. He doesn't even want to work in Alwynn Group, let alone your company. He is much more outstanding than us."

When Victor thought of Kenny's disdainful eyes, he was speechless as well.

"Ha-ha..." Brian laughed teasingly, "Victor, everyone in River City follow your lead, but I didn't expect you to be looked down upon by your son. It serves you right."

Victor glanced at him, "Don't talk nonsense and get to the point."

He really didn't know what had happened between Barrett and the Alwynn family.

He knew about the Simpson family, but he didn't know that Barrett hated his father.

Although Phillip had retired, he had to clean up the mess for him.

The only thing that made him relieved was that Phillip didn't disturb Jaida's life.

Speaking of this, Brian stopped joking, "As far as I know, Barrett and your father were college classmates. Both of them were top-notch in the business world, and they were matched rivals. They were decisive and exceptionally vigorous in work. However, your father played a trick and the Simpson family suffered losses because of a very important project. Only your father knows the details."

"The Simpson family was dealt a blow, so they left River City and moved abroad. Since then, the Alwynn family has been the most powerful."

"Later, the Alwynn family fell into a crisis, but your father married your mother and survived the crisis with her help. You know what happened after that."

Victor squinted at him, "Have you got to the point?"

Brian nodded, "These are all I know. You'd better go back and ask your father. After all, he definitely played some dirty tricks back then. Otherwise, why should Barrett hate him for so many years? There must be a reason."

Victor asked expressionlessly, "When will Barrett come back?"

Brian shook his head, "I don't know his specific schedule."

Victor said with a gloomy smile, "His daughter has come back, and Eden happened to save her. She told Eden that we have been aimed at by head-hunting companies."

Brian nodded, "That's right! I investigated a few head-hunting companies, and I've been paying attention to them. Don't worry."

"What's more, you have an omnipotent son who will help you all the time. This is your greatest advantage."

Brian looked at him enviously.

Victor was as proud as ever.

He sorted out all the things in his mind and then ordered Brian to find out the truth. He could only resolve his doubts by figuring out the truth step by step.

Since Barrett was well-prepared, he might not stand up to his varied tactics.

Moreover, Barrett would use some people around him.

Those who dared to plot against him were all in prison. In this civilized world, he could only use such means to deal with Barrett.

However, he wouldn't be so open and aboveboard in the future.

Eden did not return to the company. When she came out, she had almost finished her work.

She went to the hospital to see Candace again. Candace had no friend here. She was introverted and lived a lonely life every day. The only thing that made her feel happy was that she could accompany Adonis.

However, Eden still worried about her. Candace was sad everyday, and it was better to accompany her more.

She got off the taxi at the hospital gate. As soon as she took a few steps, she saw a familiar figure.

It was Delmont.

He handed several lunch boxes to a nurse, and then the nurse nodded and left with a smile.

Delmont turned around and walked out with a smile.

Eden hid behind a car. After a while, she saw Delmont get in the car and start to eat his meal.

Eden was confused. Was Delmont's friend in the hospital?

She followed the nurse.

The nurse went to the eighth floor. Another elevator happened to arrive, and Eden immediately followed her up.

There were not many people in this high-end hospital owned by Alwynn Group. When Eden walked out of the elevator, she saw the nurse at a glance.

The nurse walked to a ward and knocked on the door gently. Eden was stunned. This was Adrienne's ward.

Oh god!

Delmont actually bought lunch for Adrienne.

Eden could not help but think of the conversation she had with Delmont that night.

"Her family background is much better than ours, and she was my junior in college. We fell in love with each other when we were in college. Later, something happened, so we had to break up."

Was Adrienne Delmont's beloved woman?

Adrienne was Barrett's daughter, and her family was indeed richer than the Clement family.

She walked over quietly and listened to the conversation inside, "Miss Simpson, this is the lunch Mrs. Alwynn prepared for you."

Eden widened her eyes when she heard that. Was the lunch prepared by her?

She was totally shocked. Delmont actually bought meals for Adrienne in the name of her!

"Thank you! Please ask Mrs. Alwynn why she knows what I like to eat." Adrienne gritted her teeth and said.

She even emphasized the words "Mrs. Alwynn".

Eden shivered. She felt that Adrienne was angry.

The nurse said, "Miss Simpson, Mrs. Alwynn is a very considerate person. Eat while it's hot. You can leave the hospital in three days."

After that, she didn't say anything else and left.

Eden immediately entered the ward next door.

She opened her mouth slightly in surprise. She thought that Delmont liked fashionable and pure girls, but his beloved woman was actually Adrienne who was elegant , noble and easy-going.

This matter came as a complete shock for her.

Adrienne looked gentle when she was quiet. When she spoke, she was mature and self-confident.

She could be either tender or commanding.

Eden composed her emotions before walking out of the ward slowly.

She looked back and saw that there were no patient in the ward. Then she walked out with ease.

Chapter 1450

Standing in the corridor, Eden smiled silently. Delmont was more affectionate than she thought.

But he had to work eleven hours a day and six days a week, so it was really hard for him to come here everyday.

Moreover, he managed the supermarkets alone.

Buddy managed the clothing company and other companies, but Wyatt would help him.

Delmont had become steadier these years, so Wyatt let him develop his business on his own.

He and Adrienne were too sweet.

Eden didn't disturb Adrienne and went straight to see Candace.

When she entered the ward, she didn't see Candace. Adonis was still lying on the hospital bed quietly, and he looked much better.

"Ugh..." All of a sudden, the sound of vomiting came from the bathroom.

Eden walked over quickly and saw Candace vomiting beside the toilet.

She was shocked and asked worriedly, "Candace, what's wrong with you?"

"Ugh..." Before Candace could answer her, she lowered her head and vomited again, but she did not spit anything out.

Eden walked in and patted her on the back.

Candace retched for a while and then sat on the ground feebly. Her face was pale and ashen.

Seeing her like this, Eden was confused.

She went out and poured a glass of water for Candace.

"Thank you!" Candace looked at her and smiled weakly.

She took a sip of the water and felt much better after rinsing her mouth.

Eden helped her stand up, "Candace, what's wrong?"

Candace shook her head weakly, "I don't know what's wrong with me these days. I always feel weak and want to vomit, and I have no appetite."

Eden's heart skipped a beat. She looked down at Candace and swallowed.

"Candace, Adonis has been living in the hospital for one month, right?" She remembered that Candace and Adonis slept in Marriott Hotel a month ago.

"Yes!" Candace nodded and looked very grieved.

Time went by quickly. It had been one month since Adonis had an accident.

Eden helped her to her feet and walked out. She didn't speak until Candace sat on the sofa, "Candace, why don't you have a check-up? You might be pregnant."

"What?" Justin looked at Eden with her eyes wide open.

Was she pregnant?

That was reasonable. She had no strength during this period of time and wanted to vomit. Besides, she did not like to eat meat.

She wanted to throw up when she smelled fishy smell.

Brenda heard Eden's words when she came in.

The fruit in her hand fell to the ground, and the apples rolled all over the floor. She looked at Candace in shock.

Eden glanced at Brenda, "Aunt Church, you are here."

"Eden, you said that Adalynn is pregnant. Well..." Brenda looked at Candace's pale face, feeling pleasantly surprised and sad at the same time.

She was happy because she might have a grandchild, but she felt sad because Adonis might never wake up, and she didn't want to affect Candace's future.

Eden smiled and said, "Auntie, we are not sure now. Pregnant women have no strength and often vomit, and Candace was with Adonis a month ago. Why don't I take Candace to have a check-up? We will know the result after the check-up."

"Oh, Candace, your health is the most important. Go and have a checkup first. You've been taking care of Adonis during this period of time, and you're too tired." Brenda was very grateful because Candace stayed with Adonis all the time.

If other girls saw Adonis in a vegetative state, they would leave him a long time ago.

Candace had been staying by Adonis's side, and she would thank her for the rest of her life.

If Candace could marry into the Church family one day, she would definitely treat her as her biological daughter.

"Mrs. Church, I'm fine." Candace looked down at her flat belly.

She knew that she might really be pregnant.

She had been busy writing and taking care of Adonis, so she didn't pay attention to her body.

Eden said, "Candace, take a rest. We'll go for a check-up when you feel better."

"Okay!" Candace looked at her and smiled gratefully. Thanks to Eden coming to talk to her every day, she felt that the days were not so difficult.

After Candace got better, Eden took her to the department of gynaecology for a check-up. As Eden expected, Candace was really pregnant. She had been pregnant for more than four weeks. Although they didn't see the fetal heart, the doctor said they the baby was healthy and they didn't have to worry. They could see the appearance of the baby a few days later.

Candace got the report and looked at the shape of the baby on it. She couldn't help but feel so excited.

She covered her mouth and sobbed, "Eden, this is the child of Adonis and me." She looked at Eden with joy.

Eden walked over and hugged her. She might be stronger after having a baby.

However...

"Candace... As for this child..." She wondered if Candace wanted to keep this baby.

"Eden, I want to give birth to the child. Adonis once said that he liked children." Candace said excitedly in a choked voice, rubbing her face against Eden's arms.

She knew that Eden gave birth to the three children when she did not know who their father was.

She was pregnant with Adonis's child, and they loved each other, so she must give birth to the child.

Eden patted her on the back, "Candace, we respect your decision. We are by your side, and you will not be alone."

"Mm!" Candace nodded happily.

When Eden helped Candace return to the ward, they happened to meet Lucian. His friend was a doctor, and he took him here to diagnose Adonis.

They met each other at the door.

"Eden, you're here." Lucian looked at Eden. During this period of time, she almost came to accompany Candace everyday.

"Yeah!" Eden looked at him and smiled. These days, Lucian was in a nice state.

Candace smiled excitedly, "Lucian, I'm pregnant with Lucian's child!"

Brenda was waiting nervously for Candace and Eden to come back. When she heard these words at the door, her disturbed heart was relieved.

Lucian was stunned. Looking at Candace's innocent and pure face, he smiled. Adonis was lucky to meet her.

He could even hear such good news when he was in a vegetative state.

"Candace, congratulations. Adonis will be happy to know this news." He looked at Candace with a grateful smile. He really thanked her because she could accompany Adonis like this.

"Candace." Brenda came out with tears and took Candace's hand. When she looked at Candace's flat belly, she was so excited that tears ran down her face.

"Mrs. Church, this is Adonis's child. I want to give birth to it." Candace knew that Brenda always wanted to have a grandchild. She decided to keep this child not because of Brenda, but because of Adonis.

Tears kept streaming down Brenda's face as she said excitedly, "Candace, I want to thank you on behalf of Adonis. Thank you for being willing to give birth to the child."

Candace burst into tears and didn't speak.

Lucian introduced to them, "Aunt Church, this is my friend Anton West, a genius neurosurgeon and brain doctor. I took him here to diagnose Adonis."

Brenda looked at Anton. He was young and promising. Wearing a pair of golden-framed eyes, he looked gentle and handsome.

"Thank you, Doctor West! Please help Adonis."
