

Gluey Love 1461

Chapter 1461

Victor looked at him and said nothing.

Eden looked at Ricky as well. It was naturally a good thing that he had a kind heart.

"Ricky, we can't help her in this way. We can give her a chance, but she needs to fight for the endorsement on her own. We're going to choose a spokesperson, and you can let her go to Alwynn Group for audition. The threshold for Alwynn Group is high. Giving her a chance has helped her a lot."

"Ah..." Henrick was a little worried, "Mom, Alma is not very outgoing. She is shy."

Eden smiled, "Ricky, you are wrong. Some people will work harder when they are given a chance."

Henrick frowned and said gloomily, "You're right, mom. Alma is not someone who gets nervous while doing something and boasts after doing it."

If she was such a person, they wouldn't become friends.

Eden looked at him, "Ricky, then we'll give her a chance. As long as she is not lazy and idle, she can succeed."

"Ha-ha..." Hearing this, Henrick smiled happily, "Mom, Alma won't let you down. Her grades are pretty good, and she studies very hard."

"Mm! Only by working hard can people achieve their dreams. By the way, are you still in touch with Alice?" Eden really liked that straightforward little girl.

"Mom, she's really my devoted fan. She greets me every morning and every night, and she sends me messages and asks about my life in details all day long. I am so annoyed by her."

"What are you talking about? If it weren't for these loyal fans, how could you become so famous?" Jaida looked at him grumpily.

"Grandma, you're not me, so you don't know how miserable I am. She is too clingy." He was very upset.

If he did not reply to her, she would keep asking him what he was doing.

She wouldn't be satisfied and send him a smiling emoji until he replied to her.

Was there anyone who was more thick-skinned than her?

"That's because she thinks highly of you. Don't be arrogant." Jaida warned him.

"Grandma, I know. I only complain in front of you. How dare I speak to her harshly?"

His big eyes looked somewhat cunning.

Jaida still said in a warning tone, "Ricky, as the saying goes, everything's hard in the beginning. Think about how tired you were back then. You can't give up halfway."

"Grandma, I know this."

"Yo! Why haven't you slept tonight?" Zaiden walked in with a smile.

"Grandpa." Henrick called him happily.

"Yep!" Zaiden grinned and changed his shoes at the door.

"Dad, have you solved the problem in the company?" Eden got up and poured a glass of warm water for Zaiden.

Zaiden came in, took the glass from her hand and sat down beside Jaida. He smiled dotingly, "Eden, don't worry. It's just a small matter. I've dealt with it."

Eden was relieved when she heard that.

Victor chatted with Zaiden for a while and then went back to the room with Eden.

Victor had given Alma a chance, so Henrick went back to his room with satisfaction.

Jaida looked at the time and asked with concern, "Zaiden, did anything bad happen?"

Zaiden shook his head with a smile. Looking at her worried face, he said tenderly, "Jaida, they're just some ridiculous people. You don't have to worry. I will deal with my work well. I want to remove all the obstacles now. In the future, Eden will work at ease when she takes over my company."

"Okay! I'm relieved to hear you say so. Drink some water, and I'll get you some bath water. Have a rest first."

"Alright!"

After Jaida got up and left, Zaiden's phone rang.

It was from Dawson.

With a slightly serious expression, he answered the phone.

"Chairman Calder, I've found it. It's our opposite company, Lucian Group in Gate City. His eldest son, Charles Lucian, is in River City. He has been looking for Miss Calder's whereabouts. Not only Charles, but Irving, who has just started his business in River City, is also looking for Miss Calder. The people from other companies try their best to know Miss Calder's identity as well. They aimed at our company because they wanted to force Miss Calder to show up."

A hint of viciousness flashed across Zaiden's eyes as he said, "Protect Miss Calder and buy several new cars. Drive different cars every day. Arrange bodyguards around my house and monitor everything all day long. If you find a suspicious person, immediately investigate his identity. You must not let Miss Calder be found out before we find out all the spies in our company."

The situation in River City became more and more complicated.

River City was big and there were many people here, so a lot of ambitious people started their business here.

"Chairman Calder, I see. I've already arranged everything and covered for Miss Calder. They can't find her easily."

"Okay! Keep an eye on the new companies that have been established in River City. You must know when Barrett will come back in advance." Zaiden said.

He couldn't let Eden and Victor pay the price for what Phillip had done back then.

"No problem, Chairman Calder."

Zaiden hung up the phone with his eyes squinted. His gentle face became cold and malicious.

The Simpson family was considered one of the four noblest families in A Country.

Over the years, under Victor's management, Alwynn Group was about to surpass the four families in A Country.

They had sensed that they might be in a crisis.

River City became the hottest place in an instant.

Over the years, the Simpson family had been the richest among the four families.

Among them, the fourth richest was the Woods family, but the income of Alwynn Group was close to that of the Woods family last year.

The reason why the four families had become the world-famous was that they had connections in both of the police and the gang.

Alwynn Group was developing fast. Victor was not only the richest man in River City, and he was about to become the richest man in A Country.

How could the Simpson family be willing to accept it?

Besides, most of the credit went to Eden.

He could imagine how dangerous Eden would be.

Zaiden was very worried. Although Victor was powerful, he couldn't protect Eden in every aspect.

He had to think of a way to prevent Eden from getting hurt again.

"Zaiden, the bath water is ready." Jaida's voice sounded, and Zaiden's cold eyes suddenly softened.

"Jaida, I'm coming." Zaiden got up and went back to his room to take a bath.

In the villa, Irving flew into a rage after receiving a phone call from Dahlia.

He pulled his luxurious tie hard and said angrily, "D*mn Dahlia! She can't deal with anything well."

Aidan looked at him aside, "Mr. Matthews, logically speaking, Dahlia is more familiar with River City, but she has provoked Victor."

"Victor! It's Victor again! How f*cking capable is he?" Irving was so mad that his face turned red.

He looked out of the window at the night scene. In winter, this city was still so beautiful under the neon lights.

But he was not in the mood to appreciate it.

Chapter 1462

Seeing that Irving was angry again, Aidan felt a little uncomfortable.

Irving rarely got mad. He had always been gentle, but Victor made him suffer setbacks again and again.

After all, Victor was a very respectable opponent.

When Irving was aboard, he always lived a smooth life with Chairman Matthews's help.

"Mr. Matthews, I'm going to find out why it happened. At first, we have to get Dulcie out of the police station. You spent a lot of effort to hire her. I didn't expect such a thing to happen the second day she is here."

"Do you need to investigate it? Call Dahlia directly and ask her!" Irving's tone was extremely irritated.

He was so exasperated that he wanted to kill Dahlia.

Aidan shook his head and said, "Mr. Matthews, I am afraid that Dahlia will not tell the truth."

Irving narrowed his eyes slightly. That was right. Dahlia only wanted to take revenge, so she might hide something from him.

"Bail Miss Scott out first, and then investigate what has happened."

"Okay, Mr. Matthews."

Just as Aidan was about to turn around, Irving asked, "What's more, how is the preparation of the underground bank going?"

Aidan said, "Most of the casinos in the luxury cruise ships are owned by Victor. There are a lot of beautiful women and good wine in the casinos, and many people indulge in a wanton life there."

Moreover, Victor has two capable assistants who are good at gambling. The business has been going well."

"Most of the people who stay in the cruise ships are rich young men and young ladies, and many people don't know that it was Victor's property."

"These are just casinos. Victor didn't do anything illegal, and we can't find any clue. It's a bit dangerous for us to set up the underground casino, but the day-to day account is so important to us."

Hearing this, Irving nodded. A person who had no weaknesses was the hardest to control.

Was Victor really so upright?

He narrowed his eyes and did not believe it.

"Well done. Whitewash the money abroad for me. No accident can happen."

"Mr. Matthews, everything is ready." Aidan said with confident eyes.

Irving felt much better.

He nodded, "Transfer Caroline here and let her work with you. Dahlia is a good-for-nothing and I can't trust her." This woman was changeable. He had never regarded her as his fiancée.

He trained Caroline and Aidan in person, and he trusted them.

"Mr. Matthews, Caroline will come here. She will arrive at the airport at four o'clock tomorrow afternoon. I will pick them up."

"Okay!"

Only then did Aidan leave.

Irving walked back to the sofa and sat down, and his gentle eyes were full of fury.

In less than twenty minutes, Aidan came in again.

"Mr. Matthews, Dulcie offended Eden. Victor has known that she works in our company. He won't release Dulcie unless you apologize to Eden in person. Now, he is indeed the most powerful in River City."

Irving's expression turned stiff when he heard this. Did Victor ask him to apologize to Eden?

"Why did Dulcie offend Eden?" Irving narrowed her eyes and asked.

Aidan replied, "This matter is very strange. They were eating in a hotpot restaurant, and Deigo took liberties with Eden. Diego was lascivious and had been pestering her, but Dulcie thought that Eden was seducing Diego. That was why she misunderstood Eden."

Dulcie was so stupid. Eden had evidence, but she insisted that Eden was shameless.

She asked for it, didn't she?

The terrible thing was not being cruel, but being silly.

"D*mn it!" Irving cursed angrily, "Since she is so stubborn, let her stay in the police station for a night."

"We'll go to Alwynn Group and apologize to Eden tomorrow morning."

He smiled playfully. Since Victor created an opportunity for him to meet Eden, he was naturally glad.

Early the next morning, when Victor and Eden came out of the reference room, Paula walked to Eden.

Paula's face had been pale these days. She lowered her head and said, "Director Bleu, Mr. Matthews is here. He said that he came to apologize to you."

Hearing this, Victor sneered teasingly, "He really came here. It seems that he attaches great importance to Dulcie. Let him come upstairs."

"Okay, Mr. Alwynn." Paula turned around to inform the receptionist.

Eden said, "Why did you ask him to come here?"

Victor smiled playfully and said casually, "I want him to apologize to you personally."

Eden was speechless.

There was no need for him to do this. She didn't want to see Irving.

A few minutes later, Paula took Irving to the reception room.

Irving wore a dark striped suit. His long hair had been cut slightly, which made his facial features look more handsome.

Seeing him, Paula didn't talk much. She was afraid that Irving ask her who she was and whether they knew each other. In that case, she would be very embarrassed.

However, Irving's memory wasn't that bad. The only reason why he said such words back then was that Paula was of bad character.

"Paula, I'm really sorry that I failed to recognize you last time." Looking at Paula who was walking in front and didn't speak, Irving said with a gentle smile.

Hearing these words, Paula felt so excited.

He actually apologized to her.

That was right. He was a busy man, and they hadn't met each other for many years. It was understandable that he couldn't recognize her.

"Irving, I won't be angry with you just because of your apology. It has been many years, and I can understand that you didn't recognize me last time."

"Thank you, Paula. How about us exchanging our phone numbers so that we can contact each other in the future?" Irving took out his phone and waited for Paula to speak.

He had forgotten that he could make use of Paula.

Obviously, Paula was a bad woman. When he studied in high school, he could tell that she was a vain creature.

As long as he gave her money, she could do anything.

This was exactly what Paula wanted. She immediately took out her phone and told him her phone number.

When they arrived at the reception room, Paula knocked on the door and led Irving in.

"Mr. Alwynn, Director Bleu, Irving is here."

Paula turned around and smiled at Irving. After pouring him a cup of coffee, she turned around and left.

Irving looked at Eden with a smile and then said hello to Victor.

"Mr. Alwynn, how have you been since I saw you last?" He grinned and sat opposite Victor.

Victor reached out and held Eden in his arms.

Only then did he reply with a smile, "I trust you've been in good health since we last met."

Eden was stunned. Such a meaningless conversation was really suitable for the two boring and childish men.

Irving said with a fake smile, "Congratulations, Mr. Alwynn, your company has become more famous all over the world."

Then he looked at Eden and smiled gently, "Congratulations, Eden."

"Thank you!" Eden's expression was natural, and she was not emotional.

"Eden, why don't you celebrate it? Such a good thing is worth celebrating." Irving glanced at Victor. If he was Victor, he would let the whole world know how excellent Eden was.

Unfortunately, he might never have such a chance.

Chapter 1463

Eden smiled and said unconcernedly, "It's just a small achievement, and there's no need to celebrate."

"Eden, you're too modest." He looked at her quietly. She had always been like this, and she never wanted to attract people's attention.

She was the most wonderful when she was quiet.

Looking at her, he was in a peaceful state of mind.

"I'm not being modest. It is really unnecessary to celebrate it." Eden replied to him perfunctorily.

Victor looked at Irving's gentle eyes, feeling that he was too impulsive just now. He shouldn't have asked Irving to come up and apologize to Eden.

He had created an opportunity for Irving, hadn't he?

Victor was furious in heart.

Dealing with Irving was not as simple as dealing with other men. He knew when to eat humble pie and when to hold his head high. The most important thing was that he was good-tempered, scheming and stubborn. He was outwardly kind but inwardly cruel, so Victor didn't know how to deal with him.

Even if he wanted to deal with him at the risk of everything, it was useless.

At the thought of this, Victor's eyes turned cold instantly, and they were filled with intense aloofness.

"Mr. Matthews, the new designer of your company has prejudice against my wife. You spent so much effort before hiring her, but she is of bad character." Victor said in mocking tone and smiled teasingly.

Everyone knew that Irving wanted to dominate River City.

Irving's face darkened. Dulcie was just an idiot. He didn't understand what she was thinking.

She was totally a silly woman.

"Eden, I'm sorry. She has just come to River City, so she doesn't know much about the situation here, and I don't know her well. But don't worry. Such a thing won't happen again." He apologized to Eden sincerely.

He was willing to apologize to her. Moreover, he would ask Dulcie to come over and apologize to her as well.

Eden glanced at him indifferently, "Irving, I was actually very angry yesterday, but I didn't know she was a member of your company. If I knew it, I would slap her face hard."

Anyway, they would become enemies in the future. It was better to take some advantages to make herself feel comfortable first.

Irving knew what she meant.

He smiled bitterly, "Eden, do you hate me so much?"

Eden sneered, "Why should I hate you? I want to slap her because she said something she shouldn't say. You don't have to think too much. I don't hate you." Her attitude towards him could only be indifferent.

Irving took an affectionate look at her and said nothing.

He looked at Victor and said in a deep and cold voice, "Mr. Alwynn, I have apologized. Could you let Dulcie go how?"

Victor nodded with a friendly face, and then reminded Irving with a smile, "Mr. Matthews, as for the business, I hope that no one will make trouble in my cosmetics counter again. We should be open and aboveboard in business. A businessman who likes to play dirty tricks is doomed to failure."

Irving's face suddenly darkened. Victor had even found this out.

Dahlia was really a clown.

She was unable to accomplish anything, but liable to spoil everything.

She could do nothing well.

He thought that what she had done was flawless, but Victor had known about it.

He looked embarrassed, and his anger gradually overflowed, "Mr. Alwynn, I don't know about this matter. It may be done by my insensible assistants. I will warn them when I go back."

"Humph! Do you think you can deny everything just by saying that?" Victor was not so easy to fool, was he?

Irving immediately narrowed his eyes and looked at him gloomily. The air was filled with hostility and apathy.

Seeing this, Eden felt very helpless.

However, Victor was her husband, and she could not embarrass him.

As for what happened in the cosmetics counter, it was obviously that Irving had ulterior motives.

"What do you want, Mr. Alwynn?" If Victor developed the land that he took away from him, he could earn hundreds of millions of dollars.

It was a pity that Victor had found evidence of his bribe.

Victor sneered, "It's very simple. Stay away from my wife in the future. Casting a greedy eye on someone else's wife is not a good thing."

Irving frowned and didn't know what he meant.

"I will keep your warning in heart."

He got up and arranged his suit gracefully with his slender fingers. Then he looked down at Eden and said, "Eden, I'm leaving."

As for Victor's warning, he could not do it.

"Goodbye, Mr. Matthews!" Eden said indifferently.

Irving nodded with a smile and then turned around to leave.

As soon as the door was closed, Victor quickly lowered his head and kissed her red lips hard, as if he was punishing her.

Eden was speechless. Victor contradicted himself. It was him who asked Irving to come here. Why was he jealous?

Moreover, his way of punishing her made her speechless to the extreme.

"You are not allowed to see him in the future." Victor said with a warning tone.

Eden glanced at him blandly, "It was you who let him come here today. I didn't want to see him."

How could she take the blame?

Victor looked down at her, "Eden, Irving is more complicated than you think."

Eden stared at him, "Why do you say so?"

Victor's eyes suddenly turned cold, "The force that supports Irving is not simple. You have heard that the richest man in A Country, Barrett, will come back in a few days. There is hatred between the Alwynn family and him. Besides, I almost become as rich as Barrett now, and he can't just sit by and watch. After he comes back, he may aim at Alwynn Group."

This was the situation. What Alwynn Group faced was a powerful enemy, not those clowns.

"In addition, the other three families have taken actions as well. They have been the richest families for many years. Of course, they don't want to be surpassed."

Eden smiled, "So, is it wrong for you to be rich?"

Victor grinned, looked at her with tender eyes and said in a firm tone, "Fool, if we don't want Alwynn Group to be taken over by others, we can only be more excellent. I have made a plan for the next three years. I will discuss it with Lucian in the next few days. After three years, I will give you a better chance to develop."

Eden was deeply moved.

Victor did everything for her.

"Victor, you don't have to do this. Don't always live for me. Do something for yourself, okay?"

"Dummy, you're my whole world. Only when you're happy can I feel satisfied. You're my lifetime dream." He said with a smiling face. Looking at the happiness and gentleness in her eyes, he felt that everything he did was worth it.

Half an hour after Irving returned to the villa, Diego and Dulcie went out of the police station.

Dahlia drove to pick up Dulcie in person.

Diego stopped a taxi and went back on his own.

Dahlia looked at her with a guilty face, "Miss Scott, I'm so sorry. Victor used his connections to make you suffer a bit."

Chapter 1464

Dulcie, who had stayed at the police station for a whole night, did not look well. Her face was pale and haggard.

She pursed her red lips angrily, "Does Victor really have such a great ability to act like a tyrant?"

Last night, no matter how she made a fuss or tried to reason with the police, they didn't let her go.

She had never suffered so much since she was a child.

Dahlia sneered, "Victor's biggest weakness is his wife, Eden. As long as someone hurts Eden, he will lose his mind instantly. In short, Eden is Victor's bottom line."

"Oh! Then, why is he willing to be a cuckold? Eden and that man looked very close to each other. Isn't he jealous?"

Eden had no advantage, but Victor was actually so obsessed with her. It was weird.

Seeing that Dulcie hated Victor and Eden so much, Dahlia was satisfied. That was her purpose.

She could not defeat Eden, but she could make more people hate Eden.

She failed to use the Parma family, but it did not mean that she would fail to make use of others.

"Eden is not simple. Victor is very obedient to her."

"Humph! I hate such a man the most. He has no masculinity." Dulcie gritted her teeth with hatred. She had been humiliated for one day and one night, and she would definitely let Eden pay the price.

Getting the result she wanted, Dahlia said with a smile, "Miss Scott, don't be angry. I'll take you back to your apartment first, and you can have a rest. Irving will give a dinner to welcome you tonight."

"Okay, it's nice of Mr. Matthews." Dulcie felt a little better. Irving spent a lot of effort before hiring her and letting her come back from aboard.

Her position was even higher than Dahlia, the design director, which made her very satisfied.

River City was very big, and it was not bad to develop her career here.

Only by coming back here could she prove her strength better.

Irving had a wide range of contacts. He could make her know some rich young men.

Soon, the Simpson family would come back here. She always wanted to be with the second son of the Simpson family.

She learned that Irving had something to do with the Simpson family.

She had plenty of chances.

When the time was ripe, she would definitely give Victor and Eden a fatal blow.

How could the richest man in River City compete with the richest man in a country?

At dinner time, Victor and his friends gathered in River City Restaurant.

They would gather here to exchange information every few days.

Lucian, Anson, Brian, Sean, Eden and Victor were all here.

Anson asked, "How's Adonis now?"

Lucian said in a deep voice, "He's in a good condition. Anton and Dr. Conley are trying to make a treatment plan. There will be a result soon."

"Okay!" Anson nodded. Not long before Adonis had an accident, he had wished him good luck in love. Unfortunately, things went contrary to his wishes.

Brian sneered, "Lucian, Benson kidnapped your mother and tried to kill Lucian. He will stay in prison for a long time, right?" However, Lucian's father would not let Benson be imprisoned for too long.

Lucian had won, but his father was very unhappy.

"Yes! Even if my father wants to use his connections to help him, it depends on my attitude." Lucian's eyes turned vicious. Benson would never be released before Adonis woke up.

Lucian's face darkened to the extreme. Adonis could even risk his life to save him. He wouldn't let him suffer in vain.

Brian threw a stack of documents on the table and looked at Eden with a smile, "Eden, what's the relationship between Delmont and Adrienne? They seem to be very close to each other."

With a faint smile, Brian looked at Eden curiously.

The expression in Eden's eyes changed. Looking at Brian's curious eyes, she smiled and said, "Brian, does it have anything to do with the future of Alwynn Group?"

"Yes! To be frank, the Simpson family comes back just to aim at the Alwynn family. Adrienne is a very capable woman, and she is the eldest daughter of the Simpson family. Barrett thinks highly of her." After saying this, Brian stopped.

Eden sensed his implication and asked directly, "What does this have to do with Delmont?"

Although she also felt that the relationship between Delmont and Adrienne was not simple, things would be troublesome if it was related to the future of Alwynn Group.

Brian smiled and showed Eden a few pictures. They were pictures of Delmont taking a walk with Adrienne who sat on a wheelchair.

"Eden, the relationship between her and Delmont is not ordinary. When she lived in the hospital, Delmont had been taking care of her secretly. After she was discharged from the hospital, it was Delmont who sent her back to Hartker Villa. She had bought the villa before she came back, and the villa was developed by Alwynn Group. Its location and scenery are outstanding. But the best location is the first area of Hartker Villa which is being constructed by Mr. Calder. The area is very large and the appearance of the villa is very magnificent. I heard that Mr. Calder will give it to her daughter as a gift. That is a valuable place. Many powerful and rich people like that place, but Mr. Calder bought it first."

"What's more, something happened the day before yesterday. Someone sent dead cats and dogs there in order to bring back luck to the land."

"The villa has been developed for nearly four years, but now it has just been built. I heard that it has cost hundreds of millions dollars."

"Oh!" Eden frowned. No wonder Zaiden came back late that night. It turned out that such a thing had happened.

Everyone looked at Eden enviously. They knew who Mr. Calder's daughter was. In fact, keeping such a big secret in heart was stressful everyday.

"Eden, you are such a happy person!" Anson looked at Eden with a smile.

Eden was indeed lucky.

Eden might have a hard time before she was eighteen years old. However, her life had been smooth since she was twenty-five years old.

Eden smiled happily, "I will definitely invite you to my villa in the future."

Anson said, "Eden, I thought you would invite us to live there."

"Of course you can live there. The villa is so big, and you are welcome at any time." Eden said with a smile. She knew that her father built the villa to let them live happily in the future.

"Alright, we can never be as lucky as Eden. At present, Alwynn Group is in a very tense situation. The Meaker family and the Kline family have cooperated with Irving. These days, they have been arrogant. The Parma family will be aimed at by them. I think it's necessary for us to help the Parma family when they're in trouble."

"Diego and Dahlia know each other. Obviously, Dahlia has used Deigo in the hot pot restaurant." Brian said casually. Too many things had happened recently, and he was very busy.

Irving was determined to aim at Victor. He did a lot of things behind their back and took every chance to play dirty tricks.

Victor had been feeding Eden. He didn't speak until she was full.

"The Parma family has been cooperating with us. Let them win the bidding of the land we got from Irving. In this way, they can make money and we can set their minds at ease."

Lucian nodded and said, "I will deal with this matter."

Brian looked at Lucian and asked with a smile, "Lucian, why did you only stay at Love Sea for one day?"

Lucian shot him a glance blandly, "I came back after finishing my work. Should I stay there and celebrate the Spring Festival?"

Brian smiled and said in a low voice, "When you are on a business trip, you will always stay to look for Amelia. But you only spent one day in Love Sea. It's really strange."

Anson said, "Brian, what's the point of talking about this? You're touching Lucian on his most sensitive spot, aren't you?"

"Yeah, Brian, why do you become more and more inconsiderate?" Sean teased him as well.

Brian didn't care about their ridicule and said with a smile, "There is every sign that Amelia may be near Love Sea."

Lucian's expression turned serious and he asked anxiously, "What did you say?"

Brian spoke his mind, "When you went to Love Sea, I found that you could go there by boat, but it would take more time. Amelia had no traffic records. The only possibility is that she left by boat with someone she knew. It's very possible that she has gone to Love Sea." But Love Sea was very big, and it was difficult to find her there.

"Think about it, Lucian. She loves you so much. How could she stay far away from you?"

Everyone thought that his words made sense and nodded.

Lucian sat there indifferently, but he was a maelstrom of churning emotions inside.

So what if she was in Love Sea? As long as she wanted to hide from him, he would not be able to see her even if they were just separated by a wall.

Amelia was quiet but very clever.

Looking at Lucian's calm face, Brian smiled bitterly. Among them, he was the only single one.

"Alright, don't wander from the subject. Eden, you'd better talk about Delmont and Adrienne." They had to figure out the truth as soon as possible.

"Moreover, I suspect that everything that happened before was related to the Simpson family. It started from Victor's car accident."

Eden was stunned when she heard that, "Is that so?"

Brian smiled and said, "Eden, many people play dirty tricks secretly."

"I'm afraid that Alwynn Group has been targeted since Haven plotted against Alwynn Group. I don't want to make things so complicated, but the signs suggest that it might be a big conspiracy."

Everyone was stunned and looked at Victor.

Victor sat casually as usual. With Eden by his side, he didn't look aloof and brutal at all.

Victor sneered, "Why are you looking at me? I am confused. I know nothing about the grudge between the Simpson family and my father. He has never mentioned it in front of me."

Brian said, "You're too careless. I've told you about it, but you don't take it to heart."

Victor sat up straight slightly, looking domineering and commanding, "I could take it to heart, but it's not necessary. The Simpson family came back to take revenge. Even if I knew what had happened, I couldn't stop them from doing anything."

"It's better to give them a severe blow before they have a firm foothold here than to waste time on investigating such a thing. Am I right?"

Victor looked arrogant. He hadn't met a real opponent in the past years.

He hoped that Barrett would not disappoint him.

If what happened before had something to do with Barrett, he would not show him any mercy and let him pay the price.

He didn't mind using this chance to rope in every of the enemy.

His eyes were as arrogant and confident as ever.

Since someone dared to hurt him and make Eden cry for a few months, he would get it back.

Moreover, he understood the position of the Simpson family. If they didn't hate the Alwynn family to the extreme, they wouldn't come back here to suppress the Alwynn family without hesitation.

Brian said, "Seeing that you are so confident, I am so excited. I will figure out all the relationships as soon as possible and try to let us control the situation. We can't be as passive as before. But before that, you have to lend me your son. Kenny is a great hacker, and he has surpassed Lucian and me. When Kenny is on winter holiday, let him work in the company."

Hearing this, Victor was in a dilemma, "Don't talk to me about this. He won't work in the company. You can talk to him."

Victor was not afraid of anything except for his wife and children.

Everyone was dumbfounded.

Brian was helpless, "Victor, this is the most important thing."

Victor said, "No matter what, I have to way to persuade him."

He had instigated Kenny to work in the company many times, but he never succeeded. Moreover, he would be despised disdained by Kenny.

Every time, he was brokenhearted.

Brian was surprised. Was Kenny really Victor's son?

Victor sneered, "Barrett's reputation has been good. If he isn't afraid of being gossiped about, he can play dirty tricks behind our back. Why should we be scared?" His imposing tone shocked everyone.

People like Barrett paid more attention to his reputation in his later years. If something he did secretly was exposed, he would be condemned by the public, and his reputation would be ruined.

The business of his family would be affected as well.

Brian thought for a moment and looked at Eden's innocent face for help.

Kenny did not listen to Victor, but it did not mean that he wouldn't listen to Eden.

If he begged Kenny, Kenny wouldn't even look at him.

This little guy looked down his nose at everyone.

He was even prouder and more indifferent than Victor.

The only one who could move his heart was Eden.

Eden noticed Brian's gaze and smiled brightly, "Brian, why do I feel that you have something to ask for my help?"

Brian was instantly discouraged, "Eden, I really want to ask for your help. Just let Kenny work in my company for a month. I will pay him. I just want to compete with him about the computer skills."

Eden smiled when she heard that, "Brian, do you know how expensive it is to hire Kenny? He can easily make hundreds of thousands of dollars. How much do you think you should pay him?"

Brian opened his mouth wide in shock and then laughed, "Eden, he is your son, and I'm trying solve the problem in your family. How much do you think I should pay? Shouldn't you ask me how much I want?"

Brian was glad that he had reacted quickly. Otherwise, he would have fallen into their trap.

Eden was taken aback. Brian's words seemed to be right.

"Brian, although Kenny is my son and you're solving the problem in my family, you want to learn from him." Eden looked at him and blinked her innocent big eyes.

Brian was about to cry, "Eden, you've been led astray by Victor."

Chapter 1466

Victor smiled proudly, "Of course my wife is like me."

Everyone was speechless. They all glared at him and rolled their eyes at him.

Victor accepted it happily and even kissed Eden's face shamelessly.

They glared at him again fiercely.

Eden smiled and said, "Brian, I will go back and discuss with Kenny. You don't have to worry. Kenny will help."

Although she teased Brian, she would help him.

Kenny always knew what was more important to him.

"Ha-ha..." Brian smiled and looked at Eden gratefully. It would be great if Kenny was his son.

"Eden, thank you. You've always been our lucky star!"

Eden smiled and said nothing.

She got up and went to the bathroom, leaving them to chat with each other.

After coming out, Eden felt that the air was much fresher.

Fortunately, they did not smoke, and they were all tidy. The air in the private box was very nice.

They were the tidiest men she had ever met.

Eden lowered her head and arranged her clothes. She took two steps forward, but someone bumped against her forcefully.

She staggered back a few steps and almost fell to the ground.

After keeping her balance, Eden raised her head, only to see Dulcie and another woman she didn't know. The woman looked ordinary but not ugly. She was dressed in luxurious white mink, looking elegant and noble, just like a nouveau riche.

It was this woman who had bumped against her.

The woman looked at her furiously and said with her face full of disdain, "Watch your feet! Can you afford to dirty my mink which is worth hundreds of thousands of dollars?"

The woman looked at Eden snootily.

Eden looked at the mink and found that it was designed by her.

Moreover, it was exclusive this year, and the price was really not affordable for ordinary people.

Meanwhile, Dulcie looked at Eden gloatingly.

Her friend was famous for being difficult to deal with. Eden was going to suffer.

Even Victor could not afford to offend her friend.

Eden was not in a hurry to speak. Instead, she arranged her clothes casually.

She moved her somewhat uncomfortable feet.

Her leg had been injured, so she had some sequelae. If she used too much strength, she would feel a little uncomfortable, and it would ache in rainy days.

"What's wrong? Are you dumb? Why don't you answer my words? Or are you blind?" The woman crossed her arms, looking more impudent than just now.

Eden's face was still calm. She looked at the woman, "What are you talking about?"

The woman didn't expect Eden to be so calm and looked very awkward.

She wondered if Eden was more powerful than her.

Eden said with sharp eyes, "It seems that you are really blind. It was you who bumped against me, but you blame me. I think your heart is disgusting as well."

Sure enough, things of one kind came together.

Dulcie was unreasonable, so was her friend.

"Humph! How dare you! Do you know who I am? Since you dare to challenge me, I'll make you lose everything in River City. Do you believe me?"

The woman looked overweening, as if River City belonged to her.

"Since you want to challenge me, I will make you regret being born in this world." The woman added proudly.

Eden sneered, "Well, you're quite arrogant. Is your father the mayor of this city?"

The woman smiled proudly and announced smugly, "You are right. My father is the mayor of River City."

The woman looked at Eden. She wore a pink coat that was very popular this season. Her hair was coiled, and her makeup was pretty and delicate. She looked like a fairy who had accidentally entered the mortal world.

Eden was so beautiful!

She did not find Eden attractive at first, but over time she realized that Eden was the kind of woman who was always easy on the eyes. Her features were good-looking and attractive.

Her eyes were filled with jealousy. She hated women who were prettier than her the most.

Eden smiled and nodded, "You do have the strength to be arrogant, but it's really surprising. I heard that the mayor's daughter is a famous real lady. It turns out that you're a shrew. I'm so surprised."

She was not afraid of people who had great influence, nor did she want to wrong herself because of a powerful person.

So what if her father was the mayor of River City? She didn't break the law.

"You..." The woman's face suddenly became extremely embarrassed.

Eden was really reckless. She was still so snooty after knowing her identity.

Dulcie did not expect Eden to be so bold.

Even Irving should be polite to the mayor. If Victor didn't want his business to be affected, he had to flatter the mayor. Eden was really arrogant!

"Mrs. Alwynn, you'd better be smart and apologize to Carlotta. This is good for all of us." At this time, Dulcie said with a smile.

But she looked at Eden gloatingly.

She knew that Eden was here, so she brought Carlotta Yates with her deliberately.

Carlotta was much nobler than Eden.

She could definitely give Eden a lesson and make her unable to act arrogantly.

"Humph! In addition to apologizing, you have to compensate for my mink. You bumped against me, so the mink has become disgusting and I won't wear it again.

Eden smiled and said, "Then you can take it off. It is designed by me. Don't you feel uncomfortable to wear it?"

"Is it designed by you? You are Victor's wife, Eden!" Carlotta was shocked. Why did Eden look more beautiful than on TV?

Every time she saw Eden on TV, she was very angry. Eden's skin was really fair and fine. But when she saw Eden in person, she found that her skin was more perfect.

"Humph! Even Victor has to be polite to my father. You rude woman! Do you want your husband to do everything in vain?" The most important reason why she was jealous of Eden was that Eden was Victor's wife.

She liked Victor, but unfortunately, Victor didn't like her at all.

Eden smiled unconcernedly, "He should be polite to your father, not you."

The mayor renewed his term of office for five years, and it was the last year.

"Ha-ha..." Carlotta was so angry but she laughed. She looked at Eden with disdain and said mockingly, "Do you believe that my father will give you a lesson as long as I talk to him?"

Eden looked at her with a smile. There was unprecedented confidence in her eyes, "I really don't believe it. Your father still wants to renew his term of office this year, doesn't he? I can let my husband decide which candidate to support. Don't forget that my husband donates more than a billion dollars to River City every year for public benefit activities. Even half of the free toilets were built by him."

Victor was rich, but he had no real power in River City. However, he definitely had a voice in this circle.

Carlotta's face instantly turned pale. Her father could not renew his term of office without the support of the rich.

However, she hated to see Eden's proud face.

Eden was just a good-for-nothing, but she dared to threaten her.

Chapter 1467

Dulcie frowned because she didn't expect Eden to defuse the crisis with a few words.

As soon as she saw Carlotta's expression, Dulcie knew that Eden had solved this trouble.

Irving gave her a future. For Irving's future, she invited Carlotta.

Although Carlotta was not the most favored daughter, she possessed a noble status.

In their social circle, everyone was making use of each other and helping each other.

At the same time, when Carlotta interacted with a rich CEO like Irving, she could gain more attention from her father.

Knowing more people meant having more connections.

To have a more promising career future, one must value these win-win relationships.

"Dulcie, let's go." This year was vital for Dad's development afterwards, and nothing could go wrong. When dad was re-elected, she would then teach this woman a lesson.

The most important thing at the moment was to get the attention of his father, who was highly respected and had a lot of contacts in River City.

She had always been surpassed by her sister and never been valued by her father. If she could make friends with people like Irving, her father would regard her differently.

As for Victor, she did not want to waste her time on him.

Victor was not a person who would be at the mercy of others easily. She had tried to contact him before and he was a stubborn guy.

But as for the election, he did have the right to have a say.

His father had dealt with him for many years, and he only maintained the relationship with his father and did not care about anyone else.

Dulcie looked at Eden with dissatisfaction and then walked out with Carlotta.

Eden took a step forward to stop them with a sullen face. "It's fine if you want to leave. But you have to apologize for bumping into me."

She was not narrow-minded, but there was no need to be polite to people who were destined to be rivals, and there was no need to be so aggrieved.

If she was weak, she would be easily bullied by these people.

Carlotta's face was full of anger. "Eden, don't go that far!"

Just now, she had give her an out, but she didn't let it go.

If Victor knew about this, she knew he would not let her off easily.

It was said that Victor spoiled his wife to the extreme, and his wife was always right in his mind.

Eden sneered, "Do you also know what it means to go too far? You're the one who bumped into me. You think you're a princess so you don't apologize?"

"What a stupid and arrogant woman." Dulcie sneered.

This Eden was really ungrateful.

Carlotta had let her go, but she still wanted Carlotta to apologize to her. What did she think she was?

"Eden, you'd better be quiet. For my sake, Carlotta won't embarrass you."

Eden said sarcastically, "For your sake? You mean nothing to me."

Eden glanced at her and smiled meaningfully. "It doesn't look like a night in detention taught you a lesson. You're still using your high-ranking friend to teach me a lesson. I'm just not sure how Miss Yates, the woman you used, would feel about that."

"Eden, you shameless woman. What are you babbling about?" Dulcie looked at Carlotta nervously.

She had indeed come here with such an intention to use Carlotta to deal with Eden.

The cold wind was howling in the corridor, and the coldness was overwhelming.

Dulcie was so cold that her body trembled slightly. She looked sideways and met Carlotta's suspicious gaze.

She was even more nervous. Could Carlotta believe Eden?

Carlotta glanced at Dulcie and asked, "Do you know her?"

"I don't know her, Carlotta. She's ruining our friendship."

Eden said with a sneer, "Miss Scott, you have forgotten what happened last night so quickly. You are really forgetful."

"What happened last night?" Although they were friends, Carlotta wouldn't allow herself to be used by others.

Eden looked at Dulcie and said, "You should ask Miss Scott."

"Dulcie, are you hiding something from me?"

"No." Dulcie answered firmly and looked at Eden with warning eyes. She was Carlotta's friend. How dare Eden try to sow discord between them?

"Eden, you should not be too arrogant." Dulcie warned with a sneer.

Eden replied coldly, "This is also what I have to say to the two of you."

"Eden, don't think you can become this rampant just because you have Victor. Standing in front of you is the princess of River City. Even if Carlotta bumped into you, you should give in no matter how angry you are." Dulcie warned Eden again.

Eden sneered, "I won't let myself be wronged because of anyone." She had lived a condescending life enough for the past 18 years.

Now her transformation was not because of Victor, but because she didn't want to live like she used to.

If she did so, even she herself would look down on her.

She was trying so hard to live, not to make herself feel wronged and let others bully her.

Dulcie snorted, "It's just that Miss Yates accidentally bumped into you. Why are you so aggrieved?"

"I bumped into you guys and you want to kill me. You guys bumped into me and want me to forget about it. Is there such a good thing in the world?"

Eden raised the mobile phone in her hand and smiled wickedly. "I have recorded everything just now. If this recording appears on the Internet, I don't think Mr. Yates has any chance in this year's election."

Carlotta's expression became tense as she panicked.

"Eden, you are mean and shameless." Dulcie roared in surprise. Her whole body trembled slightly because of anger, as if she wanted to tear Eden apart immediately.

However, the next moment, Carlotta suddenly apologized, "Mrs. Alwynn, I was too rash just now. I'm sorry!"

"Carlotta!" Dulcie looked at her in surprise. Why did she really apologize to Eden?

"Eden is just bluffing. Don't be fooled by her."

"Shut up!" Carlotta glared at Dulcie. She couldn't afford the consequences of this matter, and her father would kill her.

Eden watched her apologize. Although she was not sincere, it was enough.

She reminded, "Miss Yates, let me remind you that a fake friend tends to be toxic."

After Eden finished, she walked to the bathroom elegantly.

She couldn't help but wonder how it was that every time she went to the bathroom, something happened.

This matter did not leave much of an impression on Eden.

Victor hadn't seen Eden come back for a long time.

So he went out to look for Eden but did not find her. And she heard two women arguing in a low voice in the corridor.

"Carlotta, I can guarantee that Eden is bluffing. There's no way she has a recording."

Chapter 1468

"I can't bet on whether she has a recording or not. Victor has a lot to offer to my father's election. The four families of River City are all under his control. The consequences of hurting his wife are not something I can't afford. Even my father respects him.

I'm not willing to let her go like this, but I could do nothing to her tonight."

"As for you, are you sure you don't know Eden? Dulcie, don't let me know that you're using me. Otherwise, you know what I'll do, right?" Carlotta looked at her sharply.

She hated betrayal the most.

Her sister was hypocritical. When they made mistakes together, she was often the one who took the blame.

Dulcie panicked a little inwardly, but it was quickly covered up by her smile.

"Carlotta, Eden has been trying to sow discord between us. Don't trust her words."

"Carlotta, we've been friends for more than ten years."

Carlotta laughed coldly with an unpleasant expression. "Dulcie. I hope you won't make use of me like an idiot. Otherwise, you'll be screwed."

Dulcie felt a bit nervous.

She was furious. She had planned to disgrace Eden tonight but in the end she almost lost Carlotta as a friend.

She comforted Carlotta with a smile. "Carlotta, you are thinking too much. I will send you down first. We'll have plenty of opportunities to target Eden later."

"Okay." Carlotta gave her a deep look. After all, they had been friends for many years, so she chose to believe Dulcie and hate that arrogant Eden.

They took a few steps forward.

They suddenly saw a man standing in the corner.

It was a man who looked so indifferent that the air around him suddenly turned cold.

They did not see clearly that the man was Victor until he took a few steps forward to stand in the light.

They were so frightened that their pupils contracted.

Why was Victor here?

They had the same question in their minds.

Victor looked at Dulcie's pale face with an icy gaze, "It seems that last night didn't teach you enough that you forgot it in one day. Did I not warn you not to mess with my wife again?"

The two women heard his words clearly and felt his fearful hostility and rage.

Dulcie's earlier domineering appearance disappeared instantly, for she had experienced his cruel means last night.

He was powerful in this city.

It didn't mean that she would be afraid, but at this moment, she was really a little scared.

She lowered her head and bit her lips without saying a word.

All her arguments to Carlotta just now were in vain.

Carlotta swallowed a mouthful of saliva. Why was she so unlucky tonight?

She never bothered with Victor's business in River City for years, simply because she knew that going against Victor would inevitably lead to his crueler revenge.

This man was by no means a "good person".

He had always been a fearful person in River City.

"Mr. Alwynn, what do you mean?" She looked sideways at Dulcie again.

Victor sneered, "What do I mean? Why don't you ask your good friend about it? Even if you were used by her, you Yates family is going to pay for messing with my wife."

After finishing his words, Victor left with an elegant and domineering pace.

Even the sight of his back made people feel incomparably cold and arrogant.

And Carlotta froze in place, seemingly still thinking about Victor's words.

However, Dulcie, who was full of confidence just now, instantly and completely collapsed.

Carlotta slapped Dulcie hard on her face.

Dulcie was shocked and looked at her incredulously. "Carlotta?"

"Dulcie, how dare you fool me. Don't contact me anymore."

After warning her, Carlotta left.

However, she was now much more relieved than before.

In the future, when she saw Eden, she would make a detour.

Dulcie stood on the same spot with an aggrieved expression. She was so angry that she hated Eden to the core.

Victor waited for Eden to come out of the bathroom and looked at her with a smile. "Eden, are you constipated?"

Eden glared at him. "Eww. Don't be so disgusting."

She shook the water off her hands and headed out the door.

Victor followed her and looked at her without saying anything. Was she not going to share what she had just encountered with him?

What he just said would make Carlotta not trust Dulcie anymore.

That was a woman who hated betrayal.

"Eden, we won't go back. We'll go home ourselves."

"Okay." Eden turned around and walked to the elevator.

Victor saw her calm face without any reluctance and was relieved. It seemed that the two women just now did not succeed in bullying her.

Otherwise this little girl would be very upset.

Victor didn't ask her again about what she had just done.

They went home together.

Eden did not care about what happened tonight.

The next day at noon, after finishing her work, Eden planned to visit her eldest brother to ask about him and Adrienne.

After all, this matter was related to the Parma family. Because of the relationship between the Clement family and the Alwynn family, the Parma family would definitely oppose this matter.

As soon as she arrived downstairs, she heard arguments.

It was the girl who had sent out flyers here a few days ago.

And the woman who was arguing with her was Paula, who had been very hostile to her these days.

Paula vented her anger on her because of her brother's matter.

"Are you blind? Why do you always bump into me? I'm really unlucky to be bumped into by you, a bumpkin. You're just a bad luck, anyone who meets you will be unlucky." Paula was in a bad mood these days, and when she ran into this girl who was handing out leaflets, she thought of what happened that night, and instantly vented all the grievances on this girl.

"I'm sorry, this lady. This time it wasn't me who bumped into you either, but you just had a heavy mind so you bumped into me." The girl was calm and not as coy as before.

She was wearing thin clothes, so her face and hands were frozen red and her teeth were trembling with cold.

Eden walked over and heard Paula's words. She said coldly, "Paula, can you be more shameless?"

Paula felt really unlucky to be seen like this by Eden again.

"Eden, please, it's none of your business"

"But I can't stand you bullying the weak. She has already said that you bumped into her. Do you want me to show you the surveillance video?" Eden looked at her with icy eyes and a sneer.

Chapter 1469

Leopard can't change its spots.

She's always bullying the weak.

Paula was dumbfounded. She was less close to Eden than a girl who handed out flyers.

Eden must have gone mad.

"Eden, do you have to treat me like this? You broke up me and your brother. And now you want to intervene even if I teach a hillbilly a lesson?" Paula looked at Eden helplessly.

"A hillbilly?" Eden's gaze was extremely sarcastic. "Paula, if you say that she is a hillbilly, are you a noble lady?"

"Am I not? You broke up your brother and me. I would have been a respectable lady after I married him." Paula took it for granted. She had always held a grudge against Eden for breaking up her and Delmont.

Eden was speechless. This woman would really do whatever she can to marry into a rich family.

"Paula, I'm telling you again. I didn't separate you and my brother. Delmont also explained that he sent you home late at night because you were my classmate. How can you take advantage of his kindness to marry him? You are so shameless." Eden really wanted to hit this woman in the head and wake her up.

But she knew that a person who pretended to be asleep would never wake up.

"It's obviously your fault. Eden, you despise me, right? You think my family is not good enough for the Clement family." Paula hated Eden to the core because of Delmont.

Eden could see the hatred in her eyes. Of course, she knew that an ungrateful person would always be blaming someone else.

Eden did not want to argue with her anymore. She turned around to look at the girl.

"Are you alright?"

The girl shook her head and smiled to her. "Thank you. You helped me twice. I'm fine."

Eden looked at the thin clothes on her and frowned. "Did you graduate?"

The girl nodded, "I graduated this year and have started my internship, but I always get sidelined at the company I'm interning at because I don't have a background. So I now work part-time to make ends meet."

She looked a little embarrassed, but this was also her current situation.

Eden asked, "What do you major in?"

The girl replied, "Fashion design."

When Paula heard the words, she sneered, "Eden, do you want to take in a beggar again? I think she came here on purpose to give out leaflets to get your attention and sympathy."

When the girl heard this, she looked angrily at Paula, "How can you say that? The flyers were sent out by area. I was assigned to this area each time to hand out. How can you say that I did it on purpose?"

"Isn't it? Do you know who she is?" Paula sneered and pointed at Eden.

Eden frowned and did not say anything.

The girl glanced at Eden and lowered her head in dismay. "I didn't know for the first time. But later, I saw the electronic screen of Alwynn Group. She is the president's wife of Alwynn Group and also the designer I admire the most. She is also my future goal and idol."

Her set of private custom-made clothes can afford an ordinary person's lifetime spending.

She also wanted to have such opportunities through her own efforts so that she could reach such achievements.

Eden looked at her. "Well, you can send a copy of your resume and your design to the Alwynn Group, and I'll take a look at it first."

Paula sneered, "I knew it would be like this." Eden could be kind to others, but never to her.

Hearing this, the girl nodded excitedly. "Director Bleu, thank you. I will prepare well for that." She had always liked her design style, but her design was exactly the opposite of hers.

Eden's design was quiet and gentle, but her design was unrestrained and bold.

"Hmph! Nowadays, young people are really opportunistic and don't work hard at all. Standing in the doorway to hand out a leaflet can have such a good opportunity..." Paula then looked at Eden, "You are as gullible as ever."

"I didn't." The girl argued.

"I don't know if you did or not, just behave yourselves." Paula turned around and walked away arrogantly.

Eden looked at arrogant her and shook her head slightly.

She looked up at the foggy sky. It was only going to snow heavily during the night.

"Mrs. Alwynn, thank you. I will sort out the materials tonight." For her, Working at Alwynn Group was her dream. If she could work in Alwynn Group, she would have a better future. After all, Alwynn Group was a fair place.

It was not like other companies, where people were all related and were all arrogant and difficult to get along with.

Good design had no place to show its value.

Eden saw that she worked hard, and after meeting her several times, she felt that there was a destiny, so she gave this offer, but in the end, she still has to rely on her own ability.

"I'm just giving you a chance, not an offer. Whether you can work at Alwynn Group or not depends on yourself. Alwynn Group does not need useless people, and everything depends on the ability."

As long as her work was excellent, she could have a fair competition.

"I know. Thank you for this opportunity. I will not let you down." The girl looked at Eden gratefully.

Eden nodded, "What's your name?"

"Ma'am, my name is Danielle Tennat."

"Good! Prepare your resume and your work well. I have something else to do and I have to go out." Eden smiled and walked towards her car.

Looking at Eden, Danielle showed an innocent smile. "What a nice person. Beautiful and kind."

A glimmer of hope suddenly lit up in the bottom of her eyes.

After Eden got in the car, she called Delmont.

"Delmont, where are you?"

"Eden, I'm with Dad. Come on over. The River City Grand."

"Okay, I haven't had dinner with you and dad for a long time."

Eden hung up the phone with a smile and drove to the River City Grand.

Just as her car left, a taxi followed her.

Half an hour later, Eden arrived at the private room.

"Dad. Delmont." She called out happily.

Wyatt looked at his daughter and smiled happily. "Eden, come here. It's been a long time since you've had dinner with me."

He had not seen his daughter for a long time.

Eden smiled. "Dad, I'm sorry. I was too busy some time ago."

Wyatt said kindly, "Your efforts will be rewarded. You don't even know how popular your mother is in high society. All those noblewomen are wearing limited edition dresses designed by you. Every time your mother met one, she proudly said it was designed by my daughter. Your mother was so complimented by those noblewomen that she was almost dizzy."

Chapter 1470

"Mom doesn't really care about the company anymore. She takes my sister-in-law and Glenn out every day, and they are becoming socialites."

Delmont also complained, "Yes. Mom would scold me every day when she came home because another one of her friend's sons got married. And she wants me to go on a blind date with a single lady."

Delmont smiled helplessly and took a sip of the tea on the table.

Eden noticed that he was a little despondent, and she was worried about him.

Delmont was really in love with Adrienne.

Now that Adrienne had been discharged from the hospital, Eden had not contacted her.

She didn't tell Brian what he wanted to know that night. After all, she didn't know what was going on either.

Wyatt also criticized him. "You don't want to go on a blind date yet? Do you think you're still young? Look how old your brother and your sister's kids are."

Eden couldn't help but laugh at the helpless Delmont. The day of being rushed to get married must not be easy for him.

Delmont jokingly said, "Dad, I'm still young. Why do you rush me to get married? Do you know what the most painful thing in this world is? I haven't even arrived home yet but your messages pushing me to get married are already in my mail."

Dad, you don't have to worry about my marriage. Just worry about how to cultivate Glenn into the future successor of the Clement family."

He didn't want to be urged by his parents and by his younger sister and younger brother. In a few years, Glenn would even urge him.

His marriage might not be that easy.

Eden glanced at him and didn't say anything.

Since her father was present today, she shouldn't ask more in case his father would worry about Delmont.

In fact, she also understood Delmont's mind. Every person who was full of longing for love hoped that one day when the sun was there, the beauty was there, and he was there.

Seeing the always cynical Delmont suddenly get serious, she suddenly remembered that saying that the best way to make a person strong is to have someone who is worthy of his protection and love.

After serving the dishes, Eden and her father started to make small talk.

Her father was very concerned about her health and asked about it in detail.

"Eden, Mr. Calder seems to be very busy in recent days. He also has social meals here today. When I came over, I saw him walking ahead, but his expression was not very good. Is there something wrong with the company?"

Wyatt was a little worried. Zaiden saw Eden as his own daughter, and Eden was the heir to Symantec Group. He was grateful that Zaiden loved his daughter so much.

But at the same time, Eden had also become dangerous.

Eden slightly frowned and nodded, "Dad Zaiden has encountered some things recently. There are many people secretly asking about his daughter. For my safety, he went home late these days."

Wyatt was also worried about this. After all, business was like a battlefield. Zaiden possessed over tens of billions of dollars in assets, and his real estate spanned across the country.

"Eden, for your safety, I think it's necessary for you to live apart for a while. This matter may not be that simple. After your dad Zaiden's rivals know that he has a daughter and this daughter will be the heir of hundreds of billions of assets in the future, how will they tolerate you living in this world?" After sorting out the truth of this matter, he was shocked out of a cold sweat.

Hearing Delmont say that he had an appointment with Eden today, he followed him over to see Eden.

He had finally found his daughter and couldn't lose her just because of this.

Eden shook her head slightly and smiled, "Dad Zaiden always wanted a warm and happy home, which was his lifelong hope. He will not give up his home easily. I believe that he can protect me, and I will not let him down, and I will not let you down. You don't have to be worried. There are many people around the villa who are monitoring it twenty hours a day."

Hearing this, Wyatt nodded his head. He only hoped that his daughter would not run into any more dangerous situations.

After dinner, Eden sent Wyatt to the car, but did not meet Zaiden.

As they were crossing the road, a black car suddenly started up and sped by. Even though there were people in front of them, it didn't slow down at all.

Eden and Delmont did not expect such an incident. Both of their eyes narrowed. Their pupils both shrank in fear.

Both of them looked nervously at Delmont, who was walking in front of them.

"Dad..." Eden turned pale with fright.

She looked up to find Paula across the road, who also gave her a frightened look and ran towards her dad.

Eden froze, puzzled, pondering why Paula was here.

Seeing that the car was getting closer and closer to her father, Paula seemed to want to save Wyatt regardless of anything.

Eden immediately made the decision to drop what she was holding and gave a violent push towards the back of Wyatt.

Wyatt lost his balance and threw himself at Paula so they fell to the ground.

Wyatt reacted as quickly as he could and rolled two rounds with Paula in order to avoid the speeding car.

"Eden!" Delmont screamed heartbreakingly and held her sister to his arms at the fastest speed.

However, they were still scraped by the car.

The wheels directly rolled over Delmont's legs.

Delmont yelped in pain. Eden's heart poked like a knife when she heard the sound of broken bones.

"Delmont..." She cried out and used all her strength to help Delmont's legs curl back and avoid a second run over.

The ear-piercing sound of brakes caused a crowd of people to gather around. With a burnt smell, white smoke rose from the wheels of the emergency brakes.

"Eden! Delmont!" Wyatt ignored Paula and rushed to his son and daughter, disregarding all the abrasions on his body.

Paula looked at Delmont, who had fallen to the ground and was unable to get up, wondering how things could be like this.

"Delmont, are you alright?" Eden looked at the painful and sweaty big brother with great concern.

If it wasn't for her brother protecting her, the person who was knocked away would have been her.

"Why are you so stupid?"

Delmont looked at her anxious sister, tears welling up in her eyes. "You silly twerp! Every time I see you injured, my heart feels like it was being cut by a knife. How could I see you injured in front of me? Don't be afraid. I'm fine."

His legs hurt, but he was happy to protect his sister.

Tears streamed down Eden's face. Delmont looked worriedly at the scrape on her forehead.

"Eden, Delmont, how are you guys doing?" Wyatt's leg was spilling blood from the massive abrasion.

"Dad, I'm fine. My brother's leg is injured." After Eden remembered the license plate number of that car, she picked up the cell phone on the ground and called Alwynn Group's special emergency number.
