

Gluey Love 1631

Chapter 1631

Nash said next to them, "Mrs. Weaving, it can't be wrong. We had the DNA test twice. They're father and daughter."

Another man smiled and congratulated Angela, "Congratulations, Mrs. Weaving. You finally found your granddaughter. Your wish has always been my father's wish."

"Yeah, two generations in your families have been trying to find my granddaughter." Angela looked at them gratefully. Thanks to their unremitting efforts, she had a chance to see her granddaughter again.

"Mrs. Weaving, you've never given up, and your sincerity is finally rewarded." Nash was so happy. Angela was very kind. In order to find her granddaughter, she had been doing charity work and doing good deeds. She wanted to find her granddaughter for her dead family's sake.

She had been looking for her for more than twenty years.

"That;s right. Thank you." Angela looked grateful. At this moment, her heart, which had been uneasy for decades, was finally relived.

"In fact, I was not sure if my granddaughter was still alive. My husband, my son and my daughter-in-law all died in the car accident, and my granddaughter disappeared."

"In the surveillance video, we did see someone approach the car, but only half of his body was shot. That was the driver. He committed suicide because he was afraid of being imprisoned, so we didn't know where my granddaughter was. I've never given up. Now I finally get what I want."

Hearing such a story, everyone felt extremely sombre in heart.

Especially Lucian, he lowered his head, and his long eyelashes cast a thick shadow under his eyes. His face was full of intense pain. His chest ached and he felt a dull pain in heart. Amelia's innocent and shy smiling face flashed through his mind.

He remembered that the reason why he wanted to help Amelia find her family was to give her a warm home. Seeing that she lived such a hard life in that family, he felt sorry for her. He couldn't give her a warm home, but at least her family could make her feel warm.

He loved her, but he lost her. If they really couldn't be together again, he would protect her forever!

However, things didn't work out. Her biological parents had passed away.

Lucian's eyes were filled with grief and melancholy.

The atmosphere in the conference room was so oppressive that they felt suffocated.

Angela wiped her tears and glanced at everyone. Then she said with a bitter smile, "Thank you all. No matter how painful the past is, now I can start a new life because I've found my granddaughter."

Everyone nodded.

Nash and the other man said goodbye to Angela and left after completing the task.

Only then did Angela look at Lucian with an amiable smile. She seemed to be several years younger after finding her granddaughter.

"Since you are my granddaughter's boyfriend, I won't stand on ceremony. I'll just call you by your name, just like Eden."

Lucian nodded.

"Lucian, where is my granddaughter now? Can I see her?"

Lucian looked at Angela and raised his eyebrows slightly. A trace of sorrow flashed through his eyes. He opened his mouth but said nothing.

Seeing him like this, Eden knew that it was hard for him to tell Angela the truth. No matter who said this, Angela's heart would be hurt.

She took out her phone and helped Angela sit on the stool.

"Grandma Weaving, sit down first. I'll show you photos of Amelia. She was my assistant when she worked in Alwynn Group. She has outstanding working abilities, and she's a computer expert!"

Angela smiled happily and thought of the past, "Really? She's as talented as her father. Her father liked computers very much when he was alive."

"Yes! These are photos of me and Amelia." Eden clicked on the photos of her and Amelia and showed them to Angela. These photos were taken when they went to parties and stayed in the company in M Country.

Angela looked at each photo carefully with a smile, and her eyes were extremely loving.

"She looks like her mother. Her mother was very beautiful when she was young. Amelia's mother and father were deep in love. They got married after starting their business successfully. At that time, they had known each other for five years."

"Do you know Eliseo Technologies? It's the first technology company her father established in River City. Now the company still exists. I hired a professional manager to manage this company."

Victor and Lucian glanced at each other quickly.

Lucian felt that genes were amazing. Amelia studied the computer technology by reading books on her own.

Victor looked at Angela in surprise, "Mrs. Weaving, we know it. Eliseo Group was once very famous, and it was on the rich list."

"That's right. My husband's surname is Weaving. In fact, Eliseo is the name of my son. At that time, my son put his heart and soul into starting his own business. Where there's a will, there's a way. In the end, he finally succeeded. He made a lot of money and had a high status. What a pity..." Angela didn't finish her words. They knew that a car accident had happened to Amelia's parents.

In order to keep the fruit of painstaking labour of Eliseo's whole lifetime, she had a tired life these years. She traveled back and forth at home and abroad.

"But I've found Amelia now, and I can hand over the company to her. A few days ago, someone from the Simpson family found me and wanted to buy the company, including our technology. But I asked the bodyguards to drive them out."

"No one is a computer expert in the Simpson family. It's impossible for them to get my son's company."

Victor and Lucian looked at each other again.

It seemed that the Simpson family would not let go of any company in order to win Alwynn Group.

Lucian took a step forward, lowered his head and said in a low and deep voice, "Grandma Weaving, I'm sorry. I lost Amelia. Now we have no news about her."

Angela was taken aback and asked in panic, "What do you mean by that?"

Lucian told Angela about what had happened between him and Amelia.

After hearing that, Angela felt a little relaxed.

She thought too much before hearing his explanation.

"Alas! It's not your fault. Amelia has her own ideas. She doesn't want to be a burden to you. She loves you and wants you to live a better life." Angela sighed. She was very disappointed because she could not see her granddaughter.

Amelia was so considerate that she gave up her love, which made her feel very distressed.

However, as long as Amelia still lived safely in this world, she had a way to find her.

"I will find her." Lucian said with determination.

Angela looked at him with satisfaction. What he had done for Amelia was commendable. "Lucian, I'm very grateful that you want to find her. What's more, I have to thank you because you looked for her family for her after she left. Thank you. It's because of you that I can see her photos and hear about her tonight."

Lucian glanced at Angela. He was inarticulate, and he still did not say anything.

After chatting for a while, Lucian sent Angela back.

Victor and Eden went straight home.

Chapter 1632

After Eden returned home, she had been thinking about Amelia.

Where on earth was Amelia? No one had news about her.

After taking a bath and lying on the bed, Eden was still wondering where Amelia was.

"Alas!" She turned over. Fate was really something wonderful.

Victor held her in his arms and rubbed his forehead against hers, "What are you thinking about?"

Eden opened her eyes wide and looked at him. Her big eyes were very bright and starry, "I wonder where Amelia is."

Victor frowned. He could see his own face in her bright and clear eyes, "If it's so easy to find her, Lucian would have found her a long time ago."

Eden blinked her beautiful eyes, looking very lovely. Victor suddenly held her more tightly.

Eden pursed her lips slightly and rubbed against his arms. She thought of a possibility, "Would Amelia live in this city with another identity? Think about it. Lucian is so powerful, and Brian has spies all over the country. Why is there no news about her?"

Victor pinched her nose and said in a low and hoarse voice, "Fool, you once said that if someone tried to hide from you deliberately, you would never find him."

Eden felt that these words were open to different interpretations. It was a kind of fate that she met Angela.

"Sometimes it may not be like this! For example, you and I..."

"For example, it was fate that brought you and me together. In the past, both of us lived in River City, but I didn't find you though I searched the whole country. You were just by my side, but I didn't recognize you." Victor continued with her words.

They had lived in the same city for so many years, but he didn't find her.

That year, they met and slept for one night, but neither of them recognized each other. Fate teased them, and he had missed a lot.

Eden smiled faintly, reached out and caressed Victor's handsome face with her slender fingers, "This should be the golden rule in fate! The more you are afraid of making mistakes, the more you'll make mistakes. You don't want to make trouble, but you're always in trouble."

"Therefore, this matter is the same. The more we want to find Amelia, the more we will fail. When we decide to give up, perhaps we'll meet her! Or maybe we'll meet her by accident."

"Mm!" Victor nodded slightly and suddenly asked with a charming smile in his eyes, "Honey, can't you fall asleep?"

Eden did not know what he was thinking and nodded. What had happened that night had a great impact on her.

She thought that she used to live the hardest life, but in this world, there were many people who had the same fate as her.

Being estranged from family was the saddest thing. In that case, people couldn't bear to take a step back, but they had no way to take a step forward.

"Honey, let me help you, and you will soon fall asleep." After Victor said that, he kissed Eden before she could react.

Eden was stunned. It seemed that a man's warm embrace was a gentle trap.

The next day, as soon as Paula saw Eden, she shrunk her neck and did not dare to look at her.

To her surprise, Eden really called the police last night.

Eden asked Dean to go to the police station and get the surveillance video.

In the video, after Paula got off the car, Angela walked to her. All of a sudden, a motorbike rushed over. Two men who wore helmets and masks on the motorbike snatched everything from Paula's hands in an instant.

Everything was flawless, and it really looked like an accident.

There was no number plate on the motorbike, and they left through the way where there was no security camera. It seemed that the robbers were familiar with the roads around.

Paula knew that she couldn't be responsible for this matter. She thought about it and only felt scared for a moment. Then She looked up at Eden confidently.

Eden crossed her arms and looked at Paula seriously, trying to get something from Paula's expression.

"Eden, why do you look at me like this?" Paula was angry, "As for the accident last night, I've made it clear to you."

Eden nodded, "I've known the whole story. If the robbers knew that the dress was designed by me, they could make three hundred thousand dollars by selling it."

Paula was startled. Why did Eden know everything?

"So?" Paula glared at her. Five hundred thousand dollars was nothing to Eden. Why did she have to get to the bottom of it?

"So, I have to get to the bottom." Eden gritted her teeth and looked straight at her guilty face.

Paula was speechless. As a rich person, Eden should just forget about it, shouldn't she?

"Eden, you even want to get such a little money back. Aren't you afraid that others will laugh at you? Your family is the richest in River City!" Paula said in a mocking tone. If Eden wanted to investigate it, she would definitely find out the truth. She schemed the robbery because she was too poor.

Three hundred thousand dollars was enough for her to maintain her life for four months. Only when she went through this difficult period could she have a chance to make money.

Eden raised her eyebrows and looked at her with a playful smile, "Paula, it seems that you don't want me to investigate it."

"Ha-ha..." Paula sneered, "Since you've called the police, just get to the bottom of it."

Eden narrowed her eyes and looked at her inquiringly. She got suspicious because of Paula's abnormal attitude.

"Paula, nothing is absolute. I can definitely find out the truth." After saying that, Eden turned back to the desk and sat on the swivel chair, looking at Paula with a weird smile.

Paula's face was darkened to the extreme. D*mn Eden! How petty she was!

"Go out to work." Eden's expression was indifferent.

Paula turned around and left silently. After all, she had a guilty conscience, so she could say nothing to refute. She was so unlucky because Eden wanted to get to the bottom.

A sudden gust of cold wind made Paula shiver. She took a glance outside the window. Seeing the foggy and gloomy sky, she was in a worse mood.

After Paula left for a while, Thalia walked in.

When she was at work, she was always dressed in a black professional suit. Her tight-fitting dress flattered her sexy figure and made her look neat.

"Mrs. Alwynn, today Karlee will have an abortion in the hospital owned by Alwynn Group."

"Oh!" Eden frowned. Indeed, since Stephen was such a jerk, Karlee wouldn't want this child.

Eden clenched her fists. Karlee was not going to keep the child. What should she do?

She couldn't bear to use such an innocent woman.

Thalia saw through Eden's mind, "Mrs. Alwynn, Stephen is not a good man. After he broke up with Karlee, he has changed several girlfriends. He will not care about the child in Karlee's belly, nor will he care about their safety."

"Such a scum should be taught a good lesson. Otherwise, he'll hurt more girls in the future."

Chapter 1633

Through what had happened to Chelsea, Thalia roughly understood what Eden wanted to do.

She might as well speak her mind for her.

Moreover, Stephen planned to find a breakthrough from Eden to deal with Victor.

Eden bit the corner of her mouth. She said, "The simplest way is to let her parents know about this."

"Okay! I know what to do." Thalia turned around and was about to leave.

Eden suddenly stopped her, "Thalia, as for Victor..." She wanted to say something but stopped on second thought. Thalia knew what she meant.

She promised Victor that she would stop carrying out her plan, but this matter had happened a long time ago.

Thalia nodded with understanding, "Don't worry, Mrs. Alwynn. I won't let Mr. Alwynn know about this."

Thalia smiled and left.

Eden pursed her lips slightly. No matter what, Thalia was trained by Victor. It was not good to put her in a dilemma.

Eden got up, walked to the French window and looked at the foggy sky. It had been sunny for a few days, but it was going to rain again.

Did she become softhearted? However, when she thought of her parents and children aboard, her heart turned ruthless and indifferent again.

"Oh, my!" Eden remembered Ayman all of a sudden and got startled. She immediately turned back to her desk, picked up her phone and dialed Abigail's number.

"Hello?" A sleepy voice came from the phone.

"Abby, did I disturb your sleep?"

"Eden, aren't you ashamed to say this? You know what? I waited for you for a long time last night. Ayman didn't sleep until three o'clock in the morning, and I fell asleep at five o'clock. Now I am sleeping." Abigail's voice sounded very sleepy.

Eden looked apologetic. Something happened all of a sudden yesterday. She went home late, so she didn't go to Abigail's house.

Eden told Abigail what had happened last night and explained to her.

"Oh my God! Amelia actually has such a miserable fate! She has really suffered a lot, and she even met such a jerk like Lucian."

Eden was speechless.

Anson was about to pick up the child, and he was stunned when he heard that. Would Lucian feel guilty if he heard that?

"Eden, now we don't know where Amelia is. Her grandmother has looked for her for so many years, and she finally found her. If Amelia knows that she has a grandma, she must be very happy." Abigail was no longer drowsy, and she immediately got excited and gossipy.

"But we can't find Amelia. She hides from Lucian on purpose." Eden was quite helpless.

"Alas! She is so good at computers, and this is a information age. She should know that Lucian has solved the problems in his family long ago. Since Lucian has solved the problems, why hasn't she come back?"

"The reason why she left Lucian was that she didn't want to make things difficult for him, and she didn't want to put him in danger. It has been a long time, and she should have come back. Why doesn't she want to come back?"

Eden walked to the window again, playing with the leaves with her fingers casually.

"What's the reason? Based on my understanding of her, since she has given up on her own, she won't come back again."

Abigail said without thinking, "Women are indeed the most heartless!"

Eden was taken aback. Why were these words so familiar?

Anson, who was walking back and forth with Ayman in his arms, nodded in agreement.

"Abby, I will get off work and come back early. I'll go to see Candace and buy her something. She has been busy taking care of Adonis in the hospital, and she is not familiar with the surroundings."

"I see. Say hello to her on my behalf. I hope that Adonis will wake up soon. Eden, although you are busy, you should pay attention to your health." Abigail reminded her.

Eden smiled warmly. After chatting with Abigail for a while, she hung up the phone.

She picked up her bag and went out with Paula. Then they went to the supermarket to buy some daily necessities and snacks for pregnant women and went to the hospital.

When they arrived at the hospital, Eden asked Paula to wait for her in the car, while she went to see Candace.

Candace's belly was big. She had gained some weight, and her face became rounder. Dressed in a pink maternity dress, she looked gentler and prettier.

She smiled very happily when she saw Eden.

"Eden, thank you. You come to see me every few days."

"Anyway, I have nothing to do. How do you feel these days? Is the baby obedient?" Eden helped her sit on the chair.

Candace looked down at her swollen belly, looking like an amiable mother.

"It always kicks me at night, and it sleeps a lot during the day."

As Candace said this, she glanced at Adonis and said excitedly, "Eden, Adonis gradually gets better and better these days. Dr. Conley said that he is about to wake up." Candace's big bright eyes were full of expectation. If Adonis knew that she was pregnant, he would definitely be ecstatic.

"Every time I tell him about the child, he moves his fingers. Dr. Conley said that he is recovering consciousness. When Lucian came to see him yesterday, he moved his fingers as well."

"We finally see hope. Candace, Adonis will definitely be able to witness the birth of your child." Eden held her hand. Seeing Candace's hopeful eyes, she was so delighted.

They were all waiting for Adonis to wake up. Adonis was a famous talent in real estate business, and he was very familiar with the design and materials of buildings.

After he was sent to the hospital, Victor had been in charge of the real estate business in person.

He went to inspect the construction site that day.

More importantly, if Adonis woke up, he could live a happy life with Candace.

Lucian, Victor and Adonis grew up together. They all wanted each other to get their happiness.

Eden chatted with Candace for a long while before leaving.

When she walked out of the hospital, she looked back at the hospital building with complicated emotions in her eyes.

In fact, she came here just to meet Candace, and it was not because Karlee would have an abortion here. Since she had asked Thalia to deal with this, she should believe in Thalia's ability.

"Mrs. Alwynn, my boss wants to meet you!" Suddenly, a middle-aged man with a pair of glasses walked to Eden. His hair was slicked back, and it was so greasy that Eden felt a bit disgusted.

Eden looked at him doubtfully with a stern face, "Who is your boss?"

Eden looked in the direction of the parking lot. In fact, she came here to test the relationship between Paula and the Simpson family.

The middle-aged man narrowed his eyes and smiled, "Chairman Simpson."

Barrett actually wanted to meet her.

It was not surprising. When she was in the company, he did not have a chance to see her. It seemed that someone had leaked her whereabouts, or perhaps she had been followed by someone.

Eden followed the middle-aged man to the street behind the hospital.

There was a well-decorated and classic tea house on the street. The middle-aged man brought Eden in. In the tea house, Barrett was sitting there and making tea.

On the electric pottery stove, the water in the crystal teapot was boiling.

Seeing Eden come in, Barrett picked up the pottery pot and poured hot water into the white jade porcelain bowl. In an instant, the fragrance of tea filled the air.

Dressed in tunic and trousers, he looked elegant and noble. He was not as gloomy as he was when Eden saw him for the first time, and he didn't look aggressive at all.

Barrett looked at Eden and smiled, "Mrs. Alwynn, please sit down!"

Chapter 1634

Eden didn't stand on ceremony and sat opposite Barrett. The tea smelled so good that she even felt a bit thirsty.

She didn't know tea, but Zaiden liked to drink tea. When Jaida cooked, he made tea and watched financial news on the balcony. She often drank Zaiden's tea. The taste was bitter, and there were some other tastes she couldn't describe. But she liked Pu'er tea very much. When Zaiden made Pu'er tea, she would drink some.

She didn't sip and taste tea, but drank it in one gulp. After drinking it, she felt that her mouth was fill with fragrance, and it was very comfortable.

Zaiden always said that she should sip the tea slowly, and she wouldn't know how it tasted if she gulped it down.

At this time, she would say with a smile, "Dad, I don't understand."

Zaiden wouldn't say anything else and would pour her another cup of tea.

Eden's eyes gradually turned cold as she recalled their happy life in the past and looked at Barrett in front of her.

"Chairman Simpson, why do you ask me to come here?" Eden went straight to the point.

Barrett looked at her with a smile, and there was no emotion in his sharp and shrewd eyes. He pointed at the tea and introduced it to her, "Mrs. Alwynn, please have a taste of the white tea. It's good for your skin and health. Besides, it can relieve internal heat and help you lose weight. This is very healthy tea."

Eden once heard about white tea. It was a kind of new fashion.

The extract of white tea was very popular, especially the cosmetics that was made from it.

A lot of creams, toothpastes, face washes and toners were made from the extract of white tea.

Eden was not afraid that he would drug the tea. She picked it up elegantly and took a sip. She looked like an experienced tea taster, but she really didn't know how to sip and taste tea.

Barrett picked up the white jade teacup, took a sip and squinted his eyes in enjoyment.

When he opened his eyes and looked at Eden, he smiled and said, "Mrs. Alwynn, the white tea is good for health, and it's of great medicinal value. It tastes nice, right?"

Eden smiled faintly and said in a bland tone, "Chairman Simpson, I don't know tea. Please get straight to the point."

"Well! After living overseas for so many years, I feel that the life here is the most suitable for me, and the tea here is the best. I like to learn from young people. This is a fashionable style of drinking tea." Barrett ignored her words and smiled even more meaningfully.

Eden did not say anything and just sat there quietly.

They sat by the window, and a pot of daffodils were in full bloom. There were two golden fishes in the porcelain flower pot, and they were swimming leisurely at this time.

Seeing that Eden didn't speak, Barrett didn't say a word, nor did he get angry. He took a sip of tea as usual. However, he no longer drank the white tea, but another expensive and nice tea.

He drank the tea lazily. It seemed that he had something on his mind.

Eden didn't say anything, and Barrett didn't think the atmosphere was weird. He talked and Eden listened to her, but he talked about tea all the time.

Eden didn't know tea, so she didn't intend to show off her incompetence.

After another ten minutes, Barrett looked at Eden with a pair of crafty and shrewd eyes and said calmly, "Mrs. Alwynn, you're really calm. No wonder you could send my worthless daughter to jail."

Eden narrowed her eyes. It seemed that he had known everything.

However...

"Chairman Simpson, I don't understand what you're talking about."

"I know you understand." Barrett maintained his polite smile. Speaking of Chelsea, he acted as if nothing had happened, nor did he lose his temper as Chelsea's father.

Eden knew that he was a wicked person with a hypocritical smile.

"Chairman Simpson, if you have nothing else to say, I'll leave first." Eden thought that it was the time for the Woods family to contact Barrett.

As soon as this idea flashed through her mind, she saw the middle-aged man walk in in a hurry.

"Chairman Simpson..." He wanted to speak but stopped, and then looked at Eden.

Eden knew what he meant very well.

She stood up, nodded at Barrett slightly and turned to leave.

Barrett frowned and said with sharp eyes, "What's the matter?"

"Chairman Simpson, bad news! Miss Woods is pregnant, but Stephen doesn't care about her. Miss Woods went to the hospital for an abortion today. Mr. Woods and Mrs. Woods have arrived there. The Woods family is very angry, and they want to reason with Stephen."

"B*stard!" Barrett smashed the white jade teacup furiously.

"I have told him that he should treat Karlee well and marry her. If they could get married, no one would be more powerful than me in River City!"

"But he has made such a big trouble! How can I face the Woods family in the future?"

"Oh! How about my grandson? Is he all right?" Barrett finally realized that Karlee was pregnant with the child of the Simpson family.

Although he had many children, none of them had got married or had children.

"The baby is fine. When Miss Woods was about to go into the operation room, Mr. Woods and Mrs. Woods arrived, and she failed to have the abortion. We almost lost the child." Ryker bent over and looked worried.

"Chairman Simpson, we have to find Stephen and ask him to here. Mr. Woods and Mrs. Woods are waiting for him in the hospital."

"Ryker, call him and ask him where he is." Barrett touched his forehead helplessly. He was really worried about his children all day long.

None of them had made him feel at ease.

Ryker said, "Stephen went to Telepathy last night, and he hasn't come home yet."

"Go and tie him up. No matter what, he must marry Karlee!" Barrett said with apathy in eyes. No one could ruin his plan, including his own son.

Eden walked back to the parking lot.

Paula got off the car and waited for Eden. At this time, she was walking back and forth beside the car out of boredom.

Seeing Eden, she complained, "Eden, why have you been away for so long? My back and waist ache a lot. The weather is cold. If I catch a cold, I can't have paid vacation days."

Eden looked at her in a commanding and overbearing manner.

"My phone is dead. Lend me your phone."

"Well..." Paula was stunned. After she reacted, the expression in her eyes changed.

"My phone is running out of battery. Why don't you go back to the hospital to charge it?" Why did Eden suddenly want to use her phone?

Eden looked at her, and her clear eyes were full of aloofness, "I met Chairman Simpson just now."

Paula's heart skipped a beat. She forced a smile and said, "Why do you tell me this? It has nothing to do with me."

Eden suddenly approached her and smiled very weirdly, "I asked him why he knew I was here. Guess what he said."

Paula immediately took a step back, "How... could I know what he said?"

"Are you very nervous?" Eden's smile was even weirder than just now.

"No!"

Eden's tone suddenly turned cold, "He said you were the one who told him that I was here."

Hearing this, Paula was very mad and uneasy. Her mind went blank, and she blurted out angrily without thinking, "What? That old b*stard actually betrayed me!"

Eden was surprised. She didn't expect to fish for information so easily.

Chapter 1635

Paula immediately covered her mouth. Looking at Eden's wicked smile with her eyes widened, she instantly understood that she had been tricked.

"Eden, you..." She was very angry. Eden bluffed her into giving information, and she had been tricked stupidly.

Eden's eyes were gloomy, and her expression suddenly turned cold, "Paula, is it fun to betray me?"

Paula looked at her indifferent eyes and stepped back in fear, waving her hands and explaining, "Eden, listen to me. I really didn't mean it. Someone asked me to do this, and it has nothing to do with me."

"Is that so?" Eden stared at her coldly, "Who asked you to do this?"

"I..." Paula swallowed and did not know how to reply. She could only blame herself for being too silly and timid. Eden knew her so well.

Eden was too crafty. How did she know it?

She didn't betray herself all the way here.

Why did Eden suspect her?

She did tell Barrett about Eden's whereabouts, and she got a rich reward.

Barrett gave her enough money, so she betrayed Eden without hesitation.

"Say it!" Eden suddenly raised her voice.

Paula was shocked. Her face was pale and embarrassed.

She looked at Eden's angry expression. Eden had never been so furious before.

"Ha-ha... Eden, calm down. I only did it for money, and I didn't do anything else harmful to you. You know that I love money very much! As long as you give me money, I can even call you father. If you were a man, I could also have sex with you." Paula blurted out timidly.

Eden was dumbfounded. Paula couldn't be more depraved.

"Even if I were a man, I would not be interested in such a malicious woman like you."

"Paula, if you dare to betray me again, go to jail and accompany Chelsea."

After saying that, Eden turned around and got on the car.

Paula patted her chest in lingering fear. Had Eden forgiven her?

She smiled proudly. Anyway, she knew Eden very well. Earning money was the best thing.

She turned around happily. Just as she reached out to the door, Eden drove off at a furious pace.

Paula went berserk, "Eden! I haven't even gotten on the car yet!"

Eden glanced at Paula who was stamping her feet from the rearview mirror, and she sneered wickedly.

She felt that she was more and more patient, and she actually endured what Paula did again and again.

Paula straightened up her neck and cursed, "Eden, you are such a narrow-minded and bad woman! How can you do this to me? I just told others that you were in the hospital, didn't I?"

"You are fine now, aren't you? How can you leave me here... Can't others meet you?"

Eden drove all the way back to the company. After entering the office madly, she took off her coat and threw her bag on the sofa.

Suddenly, she sensed the familiar and pleasant smell. Eden turned around and saw Victor looking at her curiously.

Victor hugged her and looked at her angry face. She did not see him in the office.

"Eden, what happened? Who bullied you?"

Eden smiled and shook her head quickly, "No, I ran too fast just now. Why are you here? I thought you would stay there for a whole afternoon."

Victor frowned and glanced at her smiling face lazily. When she was lying, she didn't dare to look into his eyes.

He sat on the sofa with her and combed the hair by her ear gently, "I went there with Lucian, and we solved it very quickly."

"Oh!" Eden nodded. She lowered her head, so she did not notice Victor's strange expression.

Victor crossed his long legs leisurely. In an imposing manner, he stared at Eden. It seemed that he had seen her through.

Eden felt guilty when she looked into his eyes. She seemed to have done something wrong.

However, Thalia would not betray her.

"Why do you look at me like this? Is there anything dirty on my face?" Eden smiled and took the initiative to lean against his arms.

Seeing this, Victor smiled with satisfaction.

Even if she didn't say it, he would find it out.

"Where did you go today?"

Eden was slightly stunned. She looked up at him and then lowered her head lazily, "I went to the hospital to see Candace, and Barrett."

Victor's face darkened as he looked down at her, "Did he meet you alone?"

"Yes!" Eden told him what had happened in the tea house. He would investigate it even if she didn't say it. He cared about her safety very much.

"What an old fox! What does he want to do?" Victor narrowed his hostile and cold-blooded eyes.

Barrett had taken actions, but he and Lucian wouldn't just sit by and watch.

Eliseo Group was one of the biggest international companies in River City. If the Simpson family could not take it over, it would be completely defeated.

"He wanted to deal me a head-on blow at the first encounter." Eden thought of Barrett's words. He talked about life with tea all the time.

The expression on Victor's cold and handsome face was hard to understand. He reached out to rub Eden's head, "Don't meet him alone in the future. He's very dangerous."

Eden was stunned. Why did she feel that he was the most dangerous?

Why did he keep rubbing her head?

"I don't want to meet him, but I can't hide like this forever."

Victor nodded, "It won't be long. I will solve this problem as soon as possible."

"Okay!" Eden nodded. He was making arrangements in secret, and she did not have to worry too much.

When Paula returned to her office, she had wanted to get even with Eden. However, she gave up when she thought of Barrett.

She couldn't go against Eden in an ordinary way. Eden was very smart and shrewd, and she knew everything she did.

Eden was so horrible. She had done so many bad things. If Eden knew it, she would really go to jail.

Eden said that she would send her to jail if she dared to betray her again. Thinking of this, Paula ran into her office in panic.

"Paula, what's wrong with you? Why are you so flustered?" Dean held the documents and looked at Paula inquiringly.

It seemed that Paula had done something wrong again.

"Don't talk nonsense!" Paula glared at him. Why was he everywhere? He was so annoying!

Dean walked to her, "You're in such panic. Did you do something bad?"

Paula was speechless. Was it so obvious?

"Do you think so just because I look flustered? Moreover, I'm not flustered at all!" Paula gave him a vicious look before turning around and entering her office.

Dean rubbed his nose. Paula came back from outside. What did she do?

Dean was confused, but he didn't think too much because nothing happened. He carried the documents and went to Victor's office.

Chapter 1636

After Eden and Victor got off work, they went straight to Abigail's house to see Ayman.

As soon as they entered the house, they saw Anson and Abigail sitting on the sofa sleepily. Anson was holding Ayman in his arms with drowsiness. Sometimes, he woke up with a start.

Eden was stunned. Didn't they sleep last night?

Victor was surprised. Was it so tiring to look after a baby?

Anson was taking a nap. If he knew what Victor was thinking, he would refute him with disdain.

"Abby, Anson, you..." Eden wanted to say something but stopped on second thought. She knew that if the child cried and didn't sleep at night, they would all be very sleepy.

Seeing Eden, Abigail acted as if she had seen her lifesaver, "Eden, take care of Ayman for me tonight. I really can't stand it anymore. He cries and doesn't sleep these nights. Anson and I have never slept well."

"Mom came here at noon, and then Anson sent her back. Two hours ago, a maternity matron came here and looked after Ayman for two hours, but Ayman still didn't sleep. We asked a doctor to come over and have a check-up for him. The doctor said that he was healthy. The maternity matron thought that it was tiring to take care of Ayman, so she made an excuse and left."

"I won't hire a maternity matron anymore. You have to help me. Every child likes you, and Ayman likes you, too."

Abigail wished that she could get rid of Ayman as soon as possible. After taking care of Ayman for a few days, she no longer had the joy of being a mother.

Eden walked to Anson and took over Ayman who was in light sleep.

She nodded, "Anyway, Ayman drinks powdered milk. I'll bring him back to my house tonight. You two can have a good rest."

"Oh... Eden, you are so sweet!" Abigail wanted to throw herself into Eden's arms and cry to her heart's content.

Eden looked at her childish expression and couldn't help smiling.

Every mother had a hard process. Ayman was very small, and they had to pay attention to him all the time.

She and Jaida used to take care of three children at the same time. They couldn't sleep at night because the children were too naughty.

Anson did not say anything. He looked at Victor silently and raised his eyebrows slightly. Victor would experience the bad feeling at night.

Although being a father was a happy thing, taking care of a child was really challenging.

Eden cooked dinner. The four of them had dinner together. Then Eden brought Ayman and his daily essentials home after asking Anson and Abigail to go to bed early.

Victor did not say a word on the way back.

Looking at Ayman who was babbling in Eden's arms, he felt as if Eden had been stolen.

"Eden, how can we sleep since you bring him back?"

"I'll take the child to sleep in another room. We won't disturb you."

As soon as Eden said this, Victor's face darkened.

He was not used to sleeping alone, okay?

"You won't bother me." Victor said with depression.

Eden glanced at him silently and did not say anything.

When they returned home, Ayman was still babbling and refused to sleep. Eden carried him in her arms with baby sling, put down his daily essentials and walked out.

She filled the kettle with hot water so that she could make milk for him at any time.

Victor followed her. Watching her prepare everything in perfect order, he had complicated feelings.

Was it really so troublesome to look after a child?

"Woo-woo..." Ayman suddenly cried.

Seeing this, Victor had a headache, "Can't he just be quiet?"

Eden put down Ayman, "He has been accustomed to being held by adults. As soon as he is put down, he cries. We have to correct his habit slowly."

"Victor, take the basin to get some water. It's almost nine o'clock at night. Let's take a bath for Ayman first."

Victor silently picked up the children's basin that he took back from Abigail's house and went to the bathroom to fetch water.

After fetching the water, he stood aside and watched silently. Eden opened Ayman's diaper. He had pooped, and it seemed that he had a bad digestion.

After taking a bath for Ayman, Eden smoothed her hands with baby lotion and massaged him.

He massaged his navel clockwise for fifteen times.

Then she pulled his calves and let him exercise it for a long while.

Eden did not stop until Ayman farted.

Victor watched her soft movements. After Ayman farted, he lay there comfortably, looked around curiously with his big eyes and kept moving his hands.

"Oh, Ayman, do you feel much better?" Eden kissed him on the forehead happily.

Victor was overwhelmed by jealousy, and he looked at Ayman with envious eyes.

"Eden, won't he cry at night just because of what you did?"

"I'm not sure. Although he's delighted now, he might cry later."

"It's nine o'clock at night. We'll feed him milk in half an hour. If he can fall asleep at eleven o'clock, that will be very good."

Seeing that Ayman did not cry, Eden didn't hold him after changing his clothes and let him play on his own.

"Victor, you go to bed first. You have something to do tomorrow."

Victor nodded silently. He couldn't help her much except for handing her something.

Ayman was too small, so he didn't dare to hold him.

However, he thought too much. Ayman didn't want to sleep after drinking the milk. He cried as soon as he was put down. Victor couldn't fall asleep at all. Moreover, Eden had been walking around with Ayman in her arms.

He looked at the time. It was three o'clock in the morning, but Eden was still walking in the room with Ayman in her arms.

"Eden..."

"Hush... Don't speak." Eden lowered her voice and looked at Ayman. He was about to fall asleep.

Victor was stunned. He finally understood why Anson looked at him with sympathy.

Eden held Ayman and walked back. Seeing that he was asleep, she breathed a sigh of relief.

She slept at three o'clock in the morning, while Abby usually slept at four o'clock when she took care of Ayman.

It was a little difficult to change Ayman's habit all of a sudden, and she had to hold on for a few days.

She gently placed Ayman on the big bed. Then she went to bed cautiously and immediately breathed a sigh of relief. She said in a low voice, "Victor, just sleep!"

Victor suddenly hugged her and said with distress, "It's even so hard to look after one child. I can't imagine how tired you were when you took care of the three children." At that time, she was not rich and brought the children by herself.

Eden smiled and knew that he was sad, "No matter how difficult something is, we can get used to doing it. As long as I'm willing to do one thing, I won't feel tired."

"Besides, the three children gave me hope to survive. I am very grateful to them."

"Alright, don't think about the past anymore. It will be dawn soon. Just sleep." Her arms were very sour, but what she did for Abby was far less than what Abby had done for her.

If it weren't for Abby's help at that time, she and the children would have starved to death on the street.

"Okay! Let's sleep." Victor looked at Ayman whose sleeping face was so lovely. This time, he didn't feel annoyed and smiled at Ayman for the first time.

Chapter 1637

At six o'clock in the morning, Ayman woke up, and Eden got up to feed him milk. This time, Ayman fell asleep very soon. He slept until 12 o'clock at noon.

After he drank milk, he fell asleep again. If he slept like this, he wouldn't fall asleep at night. Eden planned to use a few days to change his sleeping time, so she didn't go to work these days.

Victor thought that Ayman would leave after living there for two or three days. Unexpectedly, it took them eight days to change Ayman's sleeping habit.

The ninth day was the weekend. It was sunny, and the sun was warm.

After Eden fell asleep, Victor couldn't stand it anymore. With dark eye circles on his face, he packed up Ayman's things and went out with Ayman in his arms.

"Rat-a-tat..."

Victor knocked hard on the door. These days, Anson and Abigail finally had good sleeps.

Hearing someone knocking on the door angrily, Anson knew it was without thinking.

He opened the door in high spirits and saw Victor who had dark eye circles on his haggard face.

He wanted to laugh, but he did not dare. He hadn't seen Victor's haggard appearance for several years.

But his son was in Victor's arms, and he didn't dare to laugh.

Victor glared at Anson's proud face.

"Should I raise your son for you all the time?" Victor said very madly.

Abigail rushed over. Seeing that Victor came here alone, she frowned and asked slowly, "What a stingy man. Isn't it Eden who has been taking care of Ayman? Does she know that you've sent Ayman back?"

Victor was stunned. Eden didn't know about it. If she knew it, she wouldn't allow him to send Ayman back. She had regarded Ayman as her own son.

The three children were not at home, so she was very concerned about Ayman. Even if she did not sleep all night, she took care of Ayman in good spirits the next day.

But she turned a blind eye to him.

"Tut-tut. It seems that Eden doesn't know this." Abigail looked down on Ayman. His face had become fairer and chubbier. Eden really took great care of him. Originally, she wanted to feed Ayman with breast milk, but she didn't have enough breast milk, so she gave up completely.

"Come in first." Anson said with a smile. It was better to trick Victor into coming in first.

Victor stood at the door, motionlessly. He put Ayman in Anson's arms angrily, turned around and went home, ignoring the things on the ground.

Anson was speechless.

"Victor, my son is just your son!" Eden was Ayman's godmother.

Victor was shocked and almost fell to the ground. If Ayman stayed in his house for longer, he would really be his son.

It would be great if Ayman was a girl. He was glad to raise his future daughter-in-law.

However, Ayman was a boy, and he knew how naughty and inconsiderate boys were.

Watching Victor leave without looking back, Anson shook his head, "He's so heartless. Am I right? Ayman."

Anson looked at Ayman's chubby face and felt overjoyed.

Abigail pinched Ayman's small face and said happily, "He's more and more adorable."

"Because you're very beautiful! He looks like you." Anson kissed Abigail's face with joy.

Abigail was touched by his sweet words and felt so warm.

Eden had not slept well for several days. That day, she slept until afternoon.

When she opened her eyes, she saw Victor lying beside her.

Eden seemed to realize something and immediately looked aside, "Where is Ayman?"

She woke up, so did Victor. He held her in his arms, "I've sent him back. Just sleep."

Eden was stunned. When did it happen? Why didn't she know about it?

"Did you send him back?" Eden was a little annoyed.

Victor admitted it generously. He was worried that she would be too tired. She was not in good health, and she would feel uncomfortable if she didn't have enough sleep. "Do you want to raise him forever? Look at how much weight you have lost in the past few days. He can fall asleep at night now. I sent him back early in the morning."

"But..."

"Don't worry. Anson and Abigail won't be angry. I'm the one who should be mad." Victor's handsome face darkened a little. He didn't want them to be disturbed by anyone.

Eden looked at him and knew what he was thinking about.

She turned over slowly, and her waist and back ached. She had not looked after a child for a long time, and her arms were a little sore. However, since Ayman could fall asleep at night, she was very happy, and Abby could sleep well at night.

Victor whispered, "Sleep with me for longer."

"Okay!" Ayman went back, and she had nothing to do.

However, there was still no news about Stephen.

After resting at home for two days, Eden once again devoted herself to work.

She had a meeting in the morning. After Victor went out, Thalia came in.

Eden was about to call her.

"Mrs. Alwynn."

Eden nodded, "How's Karlee now?"

Thalia lowered her head slightly and said, "She failed to have an abortion. The Simpson family wants Stephen to marry Karlee. But Karlee is a real personality. She knows that Stephen is a jerk, so she wants to break up with him completely and doesn't want the child. Now the two families are in a stalemate."

"Although the Simpson family gives Stephen much pressure, he doesn't repent at all. He still goes to Telepathy. Last night, we lured Karlee there. She saw what Stephen was doing with her own eyes and caught him in bed."

"Karlee should give up now."

Eden shook her head slightly, "That's not for sure. Such a thing only happened between the two of them. Even if Karlee really wants to break up, their families won't agree. But Karlee is independent, and she does things her own way. I think she can change her parents' mind."

Love was just like this, and love was very important. Stephen came from a good family, and he was quite handsome. If he was a devoted man, he would be very suitable for Karlee.

Thalia thought for a moment and said, "Karlee's mother is a nice person. She knows Stephen's character, so she can't bear to let Karlee marry him. She doesn't want Karlee to marry into the Simpson family all the time."

"I see! I hope that Karlee could be with a better man. We'd better wait and see."

"Okay!" Thalia nodded and turned to go out.

Eden leaned against the swivel chair and looked out of the window thoughtfully.

After sitting quietly for a while, she looked at the bright sunshine outside the window. With the coming of spring, everything was fresh again. She became busy.

The spring collection had been designed before the new year, and the clothes were produced in large quantities. She had been busy these days. The spring fashion show was coming, and they had received countless of orders this year. She had sensed keenly that the spring collection would be more popular than ever. She liked the style quite much.

But she didn't know about the new product of R. K Group this year. They had been keeping it a secret.

Chapter 1638

Eden did not think much and continued to work.

"Rat-a-tat..."

"Come in."

Seth pushed open the door and came in.

"Mrs. Alwynn, the cooperation with another company goes on smoothly, but Irving is here. He has always wanted to cooperate with you. Now he is waiting for you in the conference room."

"He's here again." Eden looked at Seth helplessly.

"Seth, just let him go. Tell him that I won't cooperate with him." She didn't even want to see Irving, let alone cooperate with him.

Seth said helplessly, "Mrs. Alwynn, I've made it clear to him, but he doesn't want to leave. He said that he won't leave until he sees you."

Eden was speechless.

Why couldn't she spend every day smoothly?

Victor was depressed all day long because they couldn't hold a wedding. Every day, he stared at the diamond ring in a daze, which made her feel distressed.

For Victor, holding a wedding was a kind of compensation for her.

He became a successful businessman at such a young age, and he was on top of the whole industry.

However, he always felt guilty to her.

"Mrs. Alwynn, just meet him. Irving will not give up unless he sees you." After Seth conveyed Irving's intentions, she smiled and turned around to leave.

Eden looked at the time. Then she got up and walked to the reception room.

After Seth was transferred to work here, they cleared a room on the first floor and used it as a reception room.

Eden took the exclusive elevator and went directly to the conference room.

Irving and Aidan were both there.

Irving was dressed in a purple suit. The color was very nice, and the suit was very suitable for him. Compared with his usual elegant appearance, he looked much more charming at this time.

"Nice to meet you, Miss Bleu!" After greeting Eden, Aidan took the initiative to leave.

Eden sat opposite Irving.

Irving looked at her with a gentle smile. She wore a gray-framed dress, looking capable and neat. "Eden, it's really hard to see you."

Eden looked at him and felt that he was annoying. Everything he did was unpleasant to her, because she disliked him.

"Irving, I have asked my assistant to tell you that I have no intention of cooperating with your company."

"Ha-ha..." Irving chuckled and stared at her. Seeing that she was in a hurry to disassociate herself from him, he was a bit sad in heart.

"Eden, do you hate to cooperate with me that much? In this world, I will deceive anyone, but not you."

"I am very grateful for this. You are right. I don't want to cooperate with you on any project." Eden wanted to make it clear at one go so that they didn't have to meet again.

"Eden, we've known each other for many years. You know what kind of person I am." Irving didn't give up. This was just the excuse he used to meet her.

He was unwilling to give up.

Although he knew that she didn't love him, he didn't want to give up his love.

Eden looked at him blandly. Thinking of his cooperation with Barrett, she felt even more uncomfortable.

"Irving, since you say so, let me make it clearer to you. You cooperate with Barrett because you want to ruin the branches of Alwynn Group aboard. You want to trap Victor in River City and let him become your target."

"Irving, no matter how eagerly I long for success, I won't cooperate with someone who wants to kill my husband." She said every word clearly.

Irving was dumbfounded. How did she know about this?

How did Victor know about this? Victor was really well-informed.

"Eden, you misunderstand me."

"No." Eden answered with certainty and looked at him coldly.

Being looked at by her, Irving felt a little guilty. He had cooperated with Barrett indeed, and he wanted to ruin the branches of Alwynn Group.

This was his plan.

But he did not want Eden to know it.

At the same time, he had known her decision.

"If you don't want to, I won't force you." Irving's tone was disappointed and dejected. He looked at her plain and beautiful face quietly. He would never feel sick of her.

"Thank you!" Eden expressed her gratitude sincerely. Sometimes, it was better to make things clear.

"Irving, it's not easy to get money, a high status and social connections. You are successful now. Don't ruin everything of you just because you want to beat someone."

"I believe that before you cooperated with the Simpson family, you had known their situation. Cherish everything you have."

"Eden, are you worrying about me? Or do you think that I am no match for Victor?" Irving looked at her leisurely.

Eden's eyes were indifferent. Irving understood what she meant very well.

He acted dumb all the time.

His desire to beat Victor had never disappeared.

Eden lowered her head slightly and blinked her eyes. There were some things that she didn't want to say. But since Irving liked her, she'd better say it.

"In the business world, business deals should always be completely kosher. No matter you win or lose, you should be honest and aboveboard."

"If you play dirty tricks, you're not respectable even if you win."

"So, do you think I'll lose?" Irving wanted to know if Victor was more capable than him in her heart.

"You... will lose." It was not because Victor was her husband that she said so, but because she knew how capable Victor was.

Anson, Lucian, Adonis, Brian and Sean were all extraordinary talents.

No one could find out how powerful Victor was. Even she didn't know about it.

Irving's expression suddenly changed. He lowered his head, and his expression was hard to understand.

Eden said slowly, "In fact, you know it very well, but you just don't want to give up."

"Eden, you know me very well." When Irving looked at her, he still smiled faintly. Eden's words did not make him angry.

However...

The contests between men were aboveboard and straightforward. If he couldn't fight to the end, he wouldn't have the qualification to challenge Victor.

"I don't know you. I'm just telling the truth."

"Ha-ha..." Irving smiled charmingly, "Eden, I know what you mean." Irving looked at her gratefully. He remembered her advice.

Just as she said, he knew it very well, but he was not willing to accept it.

Eden nodded calmly. It would be great if he understood.

"Well..." Eden stood up, "Goodbye!"

"Eden." Irving suddenly stopped her.

Eden looked down at him.

He got up, and his tall and straight figure looked so commanding, showing the charm of a mature man.

"I've remembered your words."

Eden nodded lightly. It did not matter whether he had remembered her words or not. The important thing was that they were destined to be strangers.

"However, I have started, so I will not give up." There was still a smile on his face. He stared at Eden with meaningful and brooding eyes.

Eden was stunned, "I take back my words."

"No, I've remembered what you said." Irving smiled.

"If you compare yourself with others all the time, you'll drive yourself into a dead end." Eden said and left without looking back.

Chapter 1639

Irving smiled bitterly, "Eden, I can't get you out of my head. More than ten years have passed."

He had to way to give up, and he couldn't bear to give up.

He only regretted that he had missed her for too long.

If he could spend the rest of his wife with her, he would have nothing to be afraid of!

Just as Irving was about to leave, the atmosphere suddenly became oppressive. Victor's tall figure appeared at the door. He was looking at Irving gloomily and coldly.

Irving looked over with a serious expression. When their treacherous and deep eyes met, the air was filled with hostility and malice.

"You are so fast!" Irving sat back slowly with a provocative smile in his eyes.

Victor walked in elegantly and glanced at him, "Didn't I warn you before? You're not allowed to look for my wife."

Irving turned a deaf ear to his warning, "Since you're so bossy, she will leave you sooner or later."

"But you'll never have a chance to be with her." There was an evil smile on Victor's handsome face. His eyes were full of disdain, and he really looked down on Irving.

But Irving's words made him reflect on himself.

"That's not for sure. My love is sincere. As long as Eden's heart is not cold and tough, one day she will be touched by me." Irving smiled confidently. He was sure that he could touch Eden one day.

"It's good that you're so confident." Victor didn't say more. He got up and left gracefully.

Irving slightly pursed his lips and did not look at Victor.

He sat there quietly for a while and didn't leave until Aidan came in to call him.

Not long after Eden returned to the office, Victor came back.

She was somewhat surprised, "You come back so soon."

Victor nodded slightly, "It's just a formality."

"Oh!" Eden nodded enviously. He was indeed a relaxed president.

He was not someone who was particularly eager for money. He was unimpressed by money or power, but he was very lucky.

Victor approached her slowly. Seeing that she was working with her head lowered, he wanted to ask her about Irving.

Irving's words echoed in his ears, "Since you're so bossy, she will leave you sooner or later."

He suddenly smiled meaningfully. He actually minded Irving's words.

"Eden, do you think I'm overbearing?" Abigail once said that only Eden could accept his temper.

Anson loved Abigail very much, and his love for Abigail was also overbearing.

He felt that it was normal, but he cared about Eden's feelings at this time.

Eden didn't understand why he suddenly asked like this. It seemed that he wanted to know the answer very much, and she smiled, "I like you when you're overbearing."

Victor was stunned. So, was he really overbearing?

Immediately afterwards, he smiled happily. As long as Eden liked him, why should he care about other people's thoughts?

Why should he keep Irving's words in mind and torture himself?

"Victor, why did you ask such a question? What happened?" Seeing that he was silent, Eden asked again.

Victor shook his head slowly and smiled pleasantly, "No. But sometimes, I'm afraid that I'll lose you."

What he meant was obvious. He was uneasy because he had a rival in love.

Jasper had let go of his affection towards Eden, but Irving came here, which made him so annoyed.

"Ha-ha..." Eden couldn't help laughing. She stopped working and looked at him, "Did you get stimulated when you went out?"

Victor was taken aback. He was indeed stimulated.

He didn't say anything and sat on the sofa quietly.

"Did Irving come to you?"

Eden instantly understood why he was so abnormal.

"Since you've known it, why do you ask me?"

"What did he say to you?" He didn't want to ask, but he couldn't help asking.

"Something about cooperation. I have refused him." Eden answered slowly.

Victor knew about this matter as well. Irving wanted to cooperate with Eden just because he wanted to get closer to her.

"Okay! In the future, you should refuse him like this every time." Victor grinned unconsciously.

Seeing him like this, Eden suddenly understood that he had also met Irving. Otherwise, he would not say these words.

"I see. You don't have to worry about this matter. I will not abandon you." A crafty look came to Eden eyes. How could she not know what he was thinking?

Having been seen through, Victor was speechless. He was too diffident, wasn't he?

Just as Victor was about to speak, Eden's phone rang.

"Eden, are you busy?" Delmont's doting voice from the phone.

"Delmont, I'm not busy. What's the matter?" Eden asked with a smile. It seemed that Delmont was in a good mood.

"Eden, I asked my assistant to send you a cake, and I have something to ask you."

Eden smiled happily, "Thank you, Delmont. Just say it."

Delmont said, "How's the investigation of the car accident going on? Now my legs are almost healed. However, I can only walk, and I can't run."

Eden was very gratified to hear that.

"Delmont, although you can walk now, you should have a good rest. You don't have to worry about this matter. I will deal with it."

Delmont said doubtfully, "Eden, many things happened before, and I did not have time to talk to you about it. I always feel that the car accident happened too suddenly. After I think about it carefully, I feel that someone arranged the car accident on purpose."

Eden didn't speak. This car accident was indeed arranged by Paula.

Her purpose was very simple. She wanted to save Delmont so that Delmont would sympathize with her and be with her. However, she did not expect that Wyatt would walk in front of them.

At that time, the moment she saw Paula, she had such an idea. That was why she pushed away Wyatt without hesitation.

She knew Paula very well.

Delmont got injured in order to save her.

"Delmont, give me some time. I'll give you an answer in a few days."

She had something to do to Paula.

"Alright. Eden, don't be too tired."

"I see." Eden smiled and hung up the phone.

Hearing about the car accident, Victor was very confused, "Eden, what are you planning in your heart?"

Eden was helpless. He was suspicious of everything.

"Nothing. You're with me everyday. What could I plan?" She looked down and did not look at Victor's inquiring eyes.

Victor's eyes flashed, and he did not speak.

His phone vibrated. He looked down and saw the message sent by Lucian.

"Victor, Barrett has taken actions. The leader of Flying wolf Alliance and Stephen went to the cruise ship. Barrett suspects that the cruise ship is yours."

Victor put away his phone slowly and looked at Eden, "I'm going out. Then I'll pick you up and we'll go home together."

Chapter 1640

Eden did not doubt anything. They had been very busy recently.

"Go and do your work. We won't go home for dinner tonight. I want to have hot pot." Eden looked at him. It was still cold, so eating hot pot was more suitable.

"Okay!" Victor was so happy. He got up immediately and left.

Since Barrett and Irving wanted to destroy his power in River City, he would shatter their dreams first.

He would break Barrett's wish into pieces and ruin his hope.

As Victor turned around, his black eyes were full of hostility and apathy.

When he went out, Lucian had been waiting for him at the door.

They looked at each other and walked toward the elevator without saying anything.

Paula hid in her office. Watching them leave, she immediately sent a message to Barrett.

"Chairman Simpson, Victor and Lucian suddenly left the office."

Only two minutes after she sent the message, Barrett transferred her a huge sum of money.

Paula smiled with joy. It was so easy to make money by helping the rich.

"Thank you, Chairman Simpson!" She replied to Barrett quickly.

"Miss Koch, please pay more attention to Victor in the future. I'll give you a rich reward."

"Chairman Simpson, you're too polite. If you need anything, don't hesitate to tell me."

If she could make money at such a speed, it would not take long before she could pay the loans and live the life she wanted.

Everyone said that Victor was horrible, but she stayed with him everyday and found that he was not so scary.

Paula held her phone excitedly and walked back and forth in the office, unable to suppress the happiness in her heart.

When Victor and Lucian arrived at the underground parking lot, Dean was waiting for them at the elevator.

The two of them got in the car. Lucian took out his laptop and connected to the monitoring system on the cruise ship.

After watching for a while, he said blandly, "Brian is on the way there with his assistants."

Victor said, "Ask him not to show up. Let Chaosfield Society take actions. Knock down those who are on the cruise ship and throw them into the sea. The sea is ice old on such a day."

Dean was stunned. He was afraid that those people would die if they were thrown into the sea.

"Alright!" Lucian sent a message to tell Brian about it.

After Brian received the message, he pursed his lips. Since they didn't want him to show up, why should he come here?

Looking at the fierce scene in front of him, he didn't even have a place to stand.

In the car, Lucian explained the reason slowly, "Stephen went to the casino on the cruise ship with the members of Flying wolf Alliance. He said that the banker tricked him and he lost a lot of money.

He's smashing the casino with them."

"His new girlfriend went with him, saying that she was sexually harassed by our staff."

"One of his friends said that he lost something on the ship. Now he's making a scene over there."

Victor sneered, and his eyes became more indifferent, "He is trying to make a big thing out of it so that the owner of the ship will show up. What a clown!"

Lucian looked at him and asked, "Then why did you come out with me?"

Victor glanced at him and smiled wickedly, "I want to see what will happen to Stephen, of course."

Lucian was stunned. Sure enough, no one could bear to offend Victor. He was very vindictive and heartless.

If he remembered correctly, Stephen once attacked Eden. How could Victor let him off so easily?

Although Victor was warm in Eden's eyes, he was actually very vindictive and scheming.

.....

Irving did not return to the company after he left Alwynn Group. Instead, he went straight to Barrett.

Barrett was looking for him as well.

In the reception room in the Simpson family.

Barrett looked at Irving calmly and smiled cunningly, "Mr. Matthews, thanks to you, I finally knew that the cruise ship belongs to Victor."

"It's no bother."

Irving shot a glance at Barrett's crafty face. When dealing with ordinary people, Barrett was indeed an old fox. However, to deal with Victor, Barrett was not cunning and smart enough.

It was impossible for Stephen to force Victor to show up.

He didn't know about the relationship between Barrett and his father until last night.

That explained why Dahlia knew Chelsea.

He was introduced to Barrett by Dahlia.

The reason was simple. His father wanted him to think highly of Dahlia.

If a woman had such connections and relationships, a man would think that she was awesome, and it was reasonable for him to think highly of her.

The fact that the Simpson family was the richest in A Country raised Dahlia's status.

Over these years, he did not have any women by his side, and he did not even have a girlfriend. His father wanted to have a grandchild. That was why he valued Dahlia so much.

But he had been looking down upon Dahlia since he met her. He agreed to his father's request just because he wanted to know what his father was going to do.

At this time, everything was clear.

His father wanted to get a piece of the pie in this contest.

In other words, his father knew what Barrett wanted to do, and he wanted to profit at Barrett's expense.

"Mr. Matthews, now they're making a scene on the ship. If someone is killed, Victor will have to show up. As long as we get the evidence, we'll have a plan to carry out."

Eden's way reminded him that although Victor had never done anything illegal, he could frame him.

Irving did not speak. Barrett did not know that Victor could bully him by intimidation and force as well.

Irving met Eden that day, and he had been absent-minded because of what Eden had said.

Barrett was waiting for good news. He was so excited that he did not notice the strange expression on Irving's face.

At the same time, Victor had reached the beach. The car was stopped at the edge of the cliff on the beach, and they could clearly see the situation on the cruise ship.

Victor wore sunglasses and held a telescope in his hand. He stood in the wind and observed the cruise ship.

At this time, the situation on the ship was very chaotic. The bodyguards on the ship were all from Chaosfield Society. they were all good at martial arts. They kicked those wanted to make trouble. Those people fell into the sea and thrashed around in the water.

Perhaps it was because they had lived a peaceful life for a long time, every member of Chaosfield Society chased the enemies like crazy. They were like leopards, catching their preys and not letting them go. Their movements were quite agile and deft.

Through the telescope, Victor could see those people who wore black suits clearly. Their cuffs were embroidered with patterns of wolves. This detail was hard to be found out. But people who knew the gang could see it easily.

As the sea breeze roared past Victor's ears, Victor hair flew back in the wind, making him look handsome and appealing.

He saw a familiar figure. Stephen's fine suit had been torn into pieces. "Bang..." He was thrown into the sea, and he was shouting for help in horror.

Victor smiled with satisfaction, slowly put down the telescope and turned back to the car.

Lucian watched the video on the computer and glanced at him blandly, "Are you satisfied now?"