

Gluey Love 1661

Chapter 1661

Paula felt that she was only being kind, but it seemed that Thalia was such a fool.

Thalia felt there was no point to argue with such a person anymore, so she just closed her eyes and tried to relax.

Two hours later, the three of them landed at Lemmon City airport.

The driver had already arrived.

As soon as they got in the car, the driver took them straight to the exhibition. Lemmon City was hosting the exhibition for the spring season this time. There were 21 countries that participated in this exhibition, and it would be a great chance for Alwynn Group to spread out its name.

When Eden arrived, she first went to the exhibition area and exchanged a few words with the head of the exhibition. Then, she went to their booth and checked everything. She designed the entire decoration of the booth, and it looked very fashionable and pretty. There were already a lot of people gathered in front of their booth.

Looking at this, Eden smiled brightly.

After arranged everything, Eden went to watch the fashion show with Thalia and Paula.

All the models on the stage wore the latest designed clothes, trying to deliver the different design ideas of each designer to the audience.

Under the beautiful lights, and with the music from different countries, the models moved their bodies charmingly on the stage.

Eden used her camera and took pictures of every clothes she liked.

She felt she always could have a lot of inspiration from fashion shows.

It was not until five in the afternoon that Eden finally was ready to leave.

She was very tired and wanted to go back to rest.

The organizer of the fashion show had already arranged the hotel for her, but Victor asked her to stay at the hotel of Alwynn Group. She preferred to go to the places arranged by Victor because he always got the best for her.

When they arrived at the hotel, Eden checked in the exclusive presidential suite which Victor usually stayed at.

As soon as she entered the door, Victor video called her as if he knew she was back.

Eden smiled and sat slowly on the tatami, slowly answered the phone after she took a sip of the fruit juice on the table.

"Why are you taking so long?" Victor didn't seem to be happy.

However, seeing his unhappy face, Eden felt a little more relieved.

"I just got in my room. You need to give me time to sit down first. I've been busy all day today, and I'm so tired now."

"I knew you would be tired, so I've arranged dinner for you. You can rest early after you finish eating." Seeing that she was lying on the tatami tiredly, Victor really wished that he could give her a big kiss.

He really missed her and her soft lips.

She was wearing the lipsticks that Jasper gave her before, which made her lips look even more tender.

Jasper always knew what would be the best for her.

"Thank you, honey! This place is very good. I like it. There is everything I want, and I really feel like home."

Eden said with a smile. She felt her mood was much better as the environment changed.

"Whatever. You should rest early tonight." Eden could tell from his face that he missed her very much.

"Eden, you just left for a few hours, but I already miss you so much. What should I do?"

Eden smiled charmingly. She tugged her hair behind her ear and said intimately, "Honey, I miss you too."

Her words melt Victor's heart. He knew she did it on purpose.

She knew he couldn't do anything anyway as he was so far away.

"Are you trying to tease me? Do you believe that I will get there right now? I will make sure you get what you want."

Eden stopped smiling straight away because she knew there was nothing that he couldn't do.

And she believed that he really could stand in front of her in three hours if he wanted to.

Hmph!

But why she was still threatened by him even though she wasn't with him?

"If you dare to come, I will make sure that you wouldn't be able to relax at all. Humph!" Eden tried to threaten him back, which made her look very cute in Victor's eyes.

"Haha..." Victor laughed out loud, "Honey, I can't ask more!"

Eden rolled her eyes at him. "Is there anything else that you need to say? If not, I'll hang up. I have to rest now. I need to go to the exhibition tomorrow."

"Yes. You can't leave after you turned me on." Victor stared at her and said with a cheeky smile.

Eden felt she was hungry now, so she said impatiently, "What do you want me to do?"

He smiled again and said, "Help me put out the fire in my body."

Eden thought for a while and said, "You should go for a swim in the lake."

Victor was totally speechless.

"You should go to have your dinner now. If I can finish my work early, I will go to pick you up these days."

Hearing this, Eden was even more sure that she would never get away from him anymore. She was only on a business trip, but he still wanted to come to pick her up.

"Victor, you are crazy."

"I'm not crazy. I'm just worried about you. I will be there soon." He said with his soft voice and charming smile, which made Eden's heart instantly melted.

She didn't know why she always fell into his trap, so she hung up the phone immediately with an angry face.

She knew she would never win him because he knew her too well.

After two minutes, dinner arrived. Eden called Paula and Thalia to come over to have dinner with her.

Both of them were staying next to her.

"Wow!" This was Paula's first time staying in such a luxurious hotel. She looked excitedly at everything in the presidential suite. Although she was staying next door, she still felt that she was full of luxury.

"Eden, it's so good to be rich." Looking at the sumptuous dinner, Paula couldn't help but exclaim.

Everything was like a dream to her.

Every time she thought of her own life, she always felt a little depressed. But fortunately, after she joined Alwynn Group, she no longer had to live a hard life.

Eden didn't say anything. She took her chopsticks and slowly picked up a piece of ribs and put it in her bowl. "Let's eat now. You two must be tired too."

"Sure." Paula sat down quickly and began to eat.

She loved sweet food, so she quickly finished several pieces of cake.

At the same time, Thalia was eating quietly without saying anything.

Eden looked at her phone whilst eating, found that Derick's news was still trending online.

Chapter 1662

Eden looked at the comments and found there were many paid posters that were trying to throw mud on Alwynn Group, however, their own posters seemed to have done nothing about it.

She saw it went down last weekend when Lucian started intervening, but it seemed to be back to the trending list again today.

Just as she was reading all the comments, a notification popped out. Irving and her own names in the headline drew her attention.

She frowned and quickly clicked the news. The red headline said: Eden Blew, Irving Matthews's new lover.

The picture underneath was the moment when she was pushed into Irving's arms that day.

Irving looked at her affectionately and worriedly in the photo, and she looked at him with an upset face.

There were many people who commented on it already. Some people were calling her names, whilst some others were feeling sorry for Dahlia.

Eden sighed slightly. She had already thought that there would definitely be someone who would make a fuss about this.

It seemed that they didn't post it on the weekend on purpose. They wanted to make sure that Derick's news would go viral first, and then they posted this news again for more attention.

"Madam, is everything alright? You don't look well," Thalia asked when she realized that Eden's face changed slightly.

She had been staring at her phone for a while, haven't even eaten anything yet.

Eden shook her head and said, "Nothing. Everything is fine."

These things would not affect her too much. After all, it was not the first time that she saw rumors about her online.

She knew she hadn't done anything, so she wasn't afraid of them at all.

Paula looked at her nervously, trying to figure out what exactly happened.

"Eden, you should rest in the hotel after dinner. Don't go out." Paula already realized how evil Leilani was, so she did not want anything bad to happen. She had finally started her good life, surely she didn't want to have it ruined so soon.

"Yes." Eden looked at her and then lowered her head to eat.

She understood that everyone had their own desires, and so had Paula.

At this time, Thalia's phone screen lit up. She clicked on the notification, and she instantly understood everything.

The rumor between Irving and Eden was pushed to the top trending news again by the public.

After dinner, Eden took a bath. After she dried her hair and ate an ice cream cake, she finally went to bed.

She sent Victor a few messages with some sweet words, and Victor didn't seem to be bothered with the news either, only asked her to rest early.

But neither of them mentioned the news at all.

Eden knew that Victor would not let this matter continue to develop. When she woke up the next morning, the news would be removed.

For Victor, money could settle everything.

She pulled the quilt over her body, then she heard the message notification.

She clicked on the message with her sleepy eyes and thought it was Victor, however, she was shocked when she saw Irving's name.

"Eden, don't worry about the news. I will take care of it."

Eden was surprised that Irving would actually say such words to her.

After thinking for a while, she replied, "Thank you!"

When Irving saw the two words, and his hand tightened slightly. It seemed that she was still trying to distance him.

He was very secretive about his feelings to her, but all sorts of feelings would well up in his heart as soon as she said something to him.

Even though he still had feelings for her, he knew that it was impossible for them to be together, and the more he insisted on it, the more she would get hurt.

The last thing he wanted was to hurt her.

Just like now, he felt his heart ached so much when he knew that he brought her so much trouble.

However, he just couldn't let her go.

For so many years, he had never been able to give it up.

Every time when he thought of her, he felt as if there was a sharp knife that was piercing his heart.

"You're welcome. Get some rest now." He also sent a smiley face with it.

Eden was surprised again. She frowned slightly when she thought of what she said to Irving that day. Had he finally figured it out?

Was he really letting her go?

She tilted her head slightly and gently tugged the hair behind her ears. The loose pink pajama on her body made her look really young.

"It is good that he has thought it through anyway," she smiled and said to herself.

"Good night," she quickly sent.

After putting her phone on charge, she turned around and closed her eyes.

On the other side, Irving smiled gently.

"Is it that nice to chat with her?" Dahlia's sarcastic and jealous voice rang behind Irving.

Irving did not go home. He was sitting on the sofa in his office at the moment. He was so focused on his phone, did not even notice that Dahlia came in.

Dahlia felt so upset, knowing that he was willing to spend so much money to remove the news of him and Eden online.

But she was his fiancée.

Irving glanced at her coldly and said, "Why are you here?"

Dahlia looked at his indifferent face, feeling that she had lost all the hope in her heart. "The Chairman called me and said that they couldn't get in touch with you."

That was why she came to his office to look for him. However, she saw him chatting with Eden.

When she came in, he was sitting there quietly in his black shirt. His back was slim and straight, and his short hair made him look more dashing. The sleeves of his shirt were rolled up, and his arms were exposed, looking really sexy.

She had always dreamed of dating such a man.

Irving had been so perfect for her, and she tried so hard to keep him with her. However, the harder she tried, it seemed like the further she pushed him away.

"I see. You can go out now." He had seen the missed call from his father. He just didn't want to talk to him at the moment.

He knew what his father was going to say. He didn't want to do it anymore.

He wanted to keep the purest and most beautiful memories in his heart.

Dahlia's whole body trembled with anger. He still didn't even look at her for once.

"Irving, your father wants us to get married. This year, my design is well received by everyone, so is Dulcie's. Although we are still not as good as Alwynn Group, it will not be a loss for us this year." She felt confident about this.

She did not dare to do anything to Alwynn Group. Victor and Eden were not someone she could offend.

However, she thought of a way to kick Eden out of the design world forever, which was this year's International Designer Competition.

Irving sneered, "Do you think you can make up for the loss we suffered before?"

"I..."

"Get out. I won't marry you. Even if you take my father out, I still won't marry you." His tone was ruthless and firm, making Dahlia's heart tremble.

She looked at him with a sad face and said, "Irving, I really love you." Then, tears streamed down her cheeks.

But Irving did not say anything, as if he hadn't heard anything at all.

.....

Eden got up early the next day. After breakfast, she asked the driver to send them to the exhibition center.

She chatted with the driver along the way.

The weather in Lemmon City got hot very early, so it already felt like summer here whilst River City was still very cold.

Chapter 1663

Eden had only come to Lemmon City once. The accent in River City was different from that in Lemmon City.

She listened to the driver's introduction of the surroundings carefully.

The driver was in his fifties, and he was talkative. He introduced his family to Eden enthusiastically.

Eden listened patiently and paid attention to the movements behind the car.

In fact, she came to Lemmon City with a purpose. Sometimes, women were more heartless than men. She believed that Leilani would take advantage of this opportunity after failing twice.

But there was nothing unusual behind their car.

They arrived early. There were no traffic jams, and the car didn't drive fast. There was no suspicious car behind them.

She glanced at Paula from the rearview mirror and saw that she was leaning against the seat sleepily. Obviously, she was so excited last night that she didn't fall asleep.

"Bang..." A loud noise came from the windshield as soon as Eden turned around.

"Squeak..." The driver braked suddenly.

"Ah..." Eden was distracted, and she screamed in horror.

"Oh... What's going on? My head hurts." Paula's head hit the front seat severely.

Her face twisted in pain as she looked at the front.

There was a pool of blood on the windshield.

The driver was terrified. He had been working as a driver for decades, but this was the first time he had encountered such a situation.

Eden was very scared when she saw the pool of blood on the windshield. Did the car hit someone?

Thalia reacted quickly and opened the car door to check.

Eden opened the door and saw a dead chicken lying in front of the car. The ground was dyed red.

"Ah..." Eden frowned and looked up at the tall building.

The parasol trees on the side of the road was very tall, and their branches had been trimmed. The green leaves swayed in the breeze, but the leaves were stained with blood.

This chicken was thrown down from the tall building.

"Who threw the chicken from the height? This is immoral!" The driver was exasperated and looked at Eden, "Mrs. Alwynn, are you okay?"

Eden shook her head slowly. When she heard the loud noise, she was indeed frightened. But she had calmed down a lot.

Was it an accident or someone did it deliberately?

Paula was startled when she got off the car to have a look. She glanced at Eden. Was it Leilani's scheme?

No one would do such a boring thing for no reason.

"Eden... are you all right?" Paula glanced at Eden's face secretly. Every time she of the steel bars falling from the sky on the construction site, her blood froze.

Eden shook her head slightly, "I'm fine. Get in the car. We'll go to the exhibition."

Thalia felt that things weren't so simple. Eden's plan was to lure Leilani, but Leilani was not as proud and arrogant as Chelsea, and it wouldn't be easy to deal with her.

She lowered her head, sent a message and then put away her phone. They got on the car and left.

Paula was no longer sleepy, "Eden, let's drive another car next time."

"Why?" Eden's voice was calm.

Hearing this, Paula didn't know what she was thinking. Her tone was calm, and it seemed that she was not scared.

"This matter is weird. Have you forgotten what happened on the construction site? The chicken was thrown down from the height, and this is absurd." Paula had to remind her.

She did not want anything bad to happen.

"If you are afraid, you don't have to take the same car with me." Eden's tone was cold. She would soon know whether it was an accident or not. Thalia came with her just to protect her.

Obviously, the chicken was thrown down after being killed.

Eden frowned slightly. She thought of the dead cat she had received in the company, and she gradually clenched her fists.

Could it be done by the same person? Paulina?

Or Leilani?

No, the two of them clearly colluded with each other.

The car soon arrived at the exhibition. After the driver got out of the car, he apologized to Eden sincerely, "Mrs. Alwynn, I'm sorry. Someone will investigate the accident. Please stay here and visit the exhibition first."

"Okay!" Eden nodded slowly, "Jake, be more careful."

Jake said with a sincere smile, "Don't worry, Mrs. Alwynn. I have worked for Mr. Alwynn for many years. I know what to do. You can rest assured."

Eden was stunned. Had Victor spilled the beans? Even the driver was not simple.

Eden was even more relieved. She brought Paula and Thalia to the exhibition.

Yesterday, she was in a hurry to watch the show. When she passed by the men's wear, she saw a set of stylish suit. She wanted to go to see it again today and buy it for Victor.

Paula followed Eden all the way and saw Eden stop in the men's clothing area.

When she saw the price, she was shocked, "Eden, do you want to buy it?"

These clothes were worth tens of thousands of dollars. Some of them were even worth hundreds of thousands dollars.

"Yes!" Eden nodded slightly. A shop assistant immediately came over to greet her.

"Miss, what can I help you?" The shop assistant looked at Eden with a smile.

Seeing that Eden was dressed elegantly and fashionably, she smiled more and more brightly.

Eden looked at the dark suit she saw yesterday. It was the color that Victor liked, and the style was casual. The material was very light, and it wouldn't crease easily. It could be seen that the designer paid much attention to the fabric and style.

Moreover, she noticed that the style of the women's wear was similar to her spring collection. They only modified the style slightly. The clothes she designed were more lightweight and beautiful. They were not so formal and looked more fashionable, optimizing the proportion of the customer's figure.

Eden looked at the shop assistant with a smile, "Please show me this suit."

"Okay, please wait a minute!" The waiter let the three of them sit down. She quickly took the suit and introduced it to Eden.

"Miss, the suit was stitched by hand, and the silk is smooth and glossy. Besides, the color is very popular, and it's exclusive. This is the suit recommended by our designer this year."

Eden nodded with satisfaction. The suit was high-end and noble. She just took a quick look yesterday, but she liked it very much.

"Package it for me." Eden smiled and took out the black card given by Victor. She finally had a chance to use the card.

The shop assistant took the card with joy. Paula looked at the price and was shocked, "One hundred and fifty thousand dollars! Eden, you are crazy."

Seeing how shocked she was, Thalia sneered.

"What does it have to do with you? What's there to be surprised at?" She felt ashamed for her.

"It's none of your business! I'm not talking about you. You can't afford it."

Thalia was speechless. How could she sit at the same table with such a woman?

Thalia stopped talking and didn't say anything else.

Another shop assistant came over and packaged the suit.

Eden smiled. This was a suit she liked very much.

Chapter 1664

Thalia took the box and Eden took the black card. After leaving the counter, Eden looked at Paula and said, "Paula, you have such a bad temper. Doesn't Terry think you're annoying?"

Paula's heart skipped a beat and she looked at Eden nervously. There were many people around them, and those were all rich young men and young ladies. She didn't dare to lose her temper, so she suppressed the anger in her heart, approached Eden and asked in a low voice, "Eden, did you investigate me again?"

Eden didn't even look at her, "Do I need to investigate it? You two always go out together openly. But I have to remind you that his wife is a very powerful person. If you're found out one day, you'd better not fight with her in the company and disgrace our company." She didn't want to say such words, but Paula was so rude to Thalia just now.

Aro got these information while investigating Paula.

Thalia was much luckier than Paula. She knew that Victor's subordinates were all capable. They would not be short of money.

"What nonsense are you talking about?" Paula was too embarrassed, and she had a guilty conscience. It turned out that Eden had known about these things. She had no secret before Eden.

Looking at her awkward face, Eden didn't say anything else. This was Paula's own life. She said this just because she was mad.

Thalia looked at Paula with disdain, "I thought you were rich and aloof, but you're just an Apple of Sodom."

"Shut up! You're not qualified to judge me!" Paula was hurt by Thalia's scornful eyes.

If she was rich, she didn't need to be a mistress.

Her family lived a good life in her hometown, but they couldn't even afford to buy a toilet in this prosperous city.

Eden spent the whole day visiting the exhibition and shopping, and she spent millions of dollars that day. Paula felt distressed but very envious.

However, she sold the dress Eden designed for Angela and earned three hundred and fifty thousand dollars. The money was enough for her to use for a period of time.

Eden didn't mention this matter again, so she was not worried.

At five o'clock in the afternoon, Victor called Eden and asked her to go back to rest.

Eden was quite tired. She had achieved her purpose of coming here.

After she hung up the phone, Victor sent her a message.

"You finally used the money I gave you...." Eden could even feel how delighted Victor was through the phone screen.

Eden was waiting for the car with Paula and Thalia at the side of the road. She lowered her head and replied to Victor with a smile, "You make me feel that you have endless money."

"I'm very good at making money. Even if you spend money like this every day, I can support you."

Eden felt warm in heart. She knew that Victor must be smiling proudly at this time.

However, Eden, who had her head lowered, did not notice that danger was slowly approaching her.

A black car drove fast toward her.

An incident had happened in the morning, so Thalia had been very alert and nervous. The incident was just a warning to them. What would happen later would be more horrible.

With sharp eyes, she saw the black car that was speeding towards them.

Then she looked at the opposite side. The driver in the opposite car nodded at her slightly. The people in the car were all from Chaosfield Society, and they were specially responsible for protecting Eden.

She heaved a sigh of relief and approached Eden slowly.

"Bang..." Eden, who was reading the news with her head down, was startled by the loud crash.

When she looked up, she saw that two black cars collided with each other one meter away, making a loud crash.

"Mrs. Alwynn, Jake is here. Let's get in the car first." Thalia glanced at the two middle-aged men in the opposite car, only to see that they were looking at Eden.

Thalia gave them a weird smile, turned around and helped Eden get in the car.

Looking at Thalia's weird smile, the two middle-aged men were so angry that they kicked the car hard.

Eden did not take what had happened seriously, and she only thought it was an accident.

After returning to the hotel and resting for a while, she called Victor leisurely.

Victor had known what happened to her in the afternoon. He was relieved when he heard that she had returned to the hotel safely.

"Eden, are you tired?" Victor clicked the video call.

Eden shook her head slightly, "I'm not very tired." Just now, she found that the hot topic about her and Irving online had been suppressed.

"I'm not very tired." Eden leaned against the sofa, looking like a lovely lazy cat.

"Buy more things you like." Victor looked at her with his eyes full of tenderness. He missed her.

Eden admired Victor's handsome face. He was always easy on the eyes, and he even looked so charming on the phone screen.

"Okay! I bought a lot."

"Oh!" Victor said, not knowing if she had bought something for him.

He liked everything she gave him.

Victor suddenly thought of the doll. The more he looked at it, the more he liked it.

"Have you had dinner?" Eden asked.

"No." Victor shook his head, "I have no appetite without you by my side."

Eden was speechless. Did he mean that he wouldn't eat until she went back?

"I'll accompany you. Hurry up and eat something." Eden ordered him.

When she was not home, he didn't take good care of himself.

"Okay!" Victor smiled gently, got up and went to the kitchen.

He intended to eat some dumplings.

Watching him cooking dumplings, Eden was very glad that she had made a lot of dumplings for him before she came to Lemmon City. Otherwise, he would really starve.

"Do you want to eat dumplings for every meal these days?" Eden looked at him angrily.

"So what? I like dumplings made by you. You should make more after you come back." Victor filled the pot with water and stood aside.

Eden appreciated his attractive figure. No matter what he did, he looked eye-catching.

But she would never say it, or he would be proud.

"Eden, it was Irving who suppressed the hot topic online." Victor's face suddenly darkened. He was about to take actions, but Irving was faster than him.

"Oh!" Eden thought of the message Irving sent her. He said that he would handle it, and he did keep his promise.

"You and he..."

"Stop. I have nothing to do with Irving. Don't think too much." Eden knew what he wanted to say.

"Oh!" Victor said sulkily.

"Don't you need to attend any social activity these days?"

"No, Lucian will attend the activities on my behalf. If I go there, people will be in awe of me. They're very afraid of me."

"That's right. You should learn from Lucian. After all, this is your own company." He could not let Lucian attend the social activities all the time for him.

"It's okay. Lucian will arrange these things. In a few years, Kenny will grow up and take over the company." Victor had made a plan.

"Kenny will definitely be very sad if he knows what you think." Eden pouted slightly. He always wanted Kenny to take over the company. She could imagine how tired Kenny would be in the future.

Chapter 1665

"He is my son, and he has no choice. I will give him enough time to go out to see the world, but he has to inherit the company before he is twenty-eight years old." He had a deep understanding of this. When he was young, he was rebellious and didn't want to inherit the family business. He didn't want to be regarded as a rich second generation, so he tried his best to start his own business. Kenny was his son, and he was like him. He was not interested in Alwynn Group and wanted to start a business on his own.

Sometimes he was very depressed. For Kenny, developing Alwynn Group better was as meaningful as starting his own business.

"That's good. It seems that you're not totally authoritarian." Eden changed a position. She hadn't seen the children for few months, and they must have grown taller.

Victor smiled meaningfully, "I love you, and I love our children. I know that you feel distressed for Kenny. How could I upset you?"

Eden did not expect him to think like this. She smiled softly and pointed behind him, "The water is boiling."

Victor turned around and poured the dumplings into the pot, stirring them with the chopsticks.

The dumplings rolled in the boiling water and looked delicious. Victor smiled at Eden and said, "Eden, you can eat lobsters tonight. It's warm in Lemmon City these days, and the lobsters are of great quality."

"Wow!" Eden swallowed, "Thank you!"

"What should you call me?" Victor looked at her with a frown.

"Victor." Eden blinked her beautiful eyes.

Victor looked at her leisurely, "Say it again. What should you call me?"

"Victor."

"Call me honey." Victor's eyes were cold.

Eden narrowed her eyes slightly. He was tricking her again.

Would he feel that happy if she called him honey?

"Don't be so childish, okay?" Eden adjusted her sitting posture again.

"No." Victor did not compromise.

Eden smiled helplessly, "I'll call you like that when I come back. You can eat the dumplings now. I'm going out for a walk after dinner."

Victor looked at her. Thinking of what had happened that day, he didn't want her to go out, but he couldn't make her suspicious.

When he thought that she had encountered two dangerous things in a day, his heart was in his throat.

Victor thought for a moment and said, "Okay, but you should be careful."

"Alright!" Eden was very expectant. The night market in Lemmon City should be very nice. She wanted to go to the snack street to eat delicious food.

"I'm going to eat hamburgers."

Victor was stunned.

"You're not allowed to eat that!"

"No, I want to eat it." Eden thought for a while. She hadn't eaten it for a long time.

"Fine, just do what you like." Victor immediately compromised when she became angry.

"Mm!" Eden smiled and nodded.

Eden accompanied Victor to eat dumplings before hanging up and having dinner.

She ate very little in the hotel, because she wanted to eat more in the night market.

This time, she didn't bring anyone and went out alone.

Thalia went to the basement with ease.

It was empty, and even a light sound could be heard.

In the TV on the wall, Victor looked at the two men who were thrown on the ground with a gloomy face. They were the men who wanted to hit Eden with the car.

Next to the men stood two bodyguards in black suits.

"Mr. Alwynn."

Thalia walked over and greeted Victor respectfully.

Victor nodded slightly.

Thalia walked towards the men who had their hands and feet tied and kicked them hard.

"Ouch... "

"It hurts..." The two men screamed in pain, bending over and trembling.

Victor sat lazily on the sofa with dark and brooding eyes, and there was an apathetic and brutal smile on his face.

The two men wanted to hit Eden that day. Eden was the apple of his eye, and she was as important as his life.

How dare they...

Victor tried hard to suppress the anger in his heart.

"Thalia, beat them until they confess who the mastermind is. If they don't say it, throw them into the sea so that no one can find them again." His cold tone made the two men be in unprecedented fear.

They knew that few people dared to offend Victor.

The slightly fat men loved money, but he didn't want to be killed.

"Mr. Alwynn, please... don't... throw us into the sea. We don't know who ordered us do that. Someone transferred a sum of money to us, called us and showed us the photo of Mrs. Alwynn."

"Since Mrs. Alwynn came here, we had been keeping an eye on her. We didn't want to kill her. Please let us go!"

"Beat them!" Victor had lingering fear. He actually said that he didn't want to kill Eden...

Victor didn't dare to think further.

As soon as Victor finished his words, Thalia kicked the two men in their bellies with great strength.

The two men did not expect that Victor would not let them go though they had confessed everything.

Although Thalia was thin, she once did judo, so her strength was stronger than that of ordinary men. Being kicked by her, the two men were in severe pain.

"Stop it... Mr. Alwynn, please stop! We've confessed what we know. The one who called us is a man. We did things for him after receiving his money. We don't know who he is, and we didn't know that we were going to hurt Mrs. Alwynn."

If they knew that was Victor's wife, he would not dare to do that no matter how bold they were.

"Thalia."

Victor said blandly.

Thalia stopped immediately.

"Take down the phone number."

"Okay, Mr. Alwynn." Thalia took out her mobile phone and looked at the two men.

The slightly fat man said the phone number quickly.

Thalia went to the laptop, checked the phone number and frowned. As expected, it was a number that had not been registered with an ID card.

"Mr. Alwynn, the number has not been registered."

"I see! Throw them out. Listen, I don't want see you two again. If you mend your ways earlier, you'll be able to survive!" Victor said casually. He was not as brutal as he was a few years ago. After all, he had three children and a wife.

"Okay! Mr. Alwynn, I promise you will never see us again." He was not bold enough to offend Victor.

Who the hell asked them to do this? He was almost killed that day.

They would check it out after they got back, and they couldn't let themselves suffer in vain.

The person behind the scene just wanted to watch a good show,

But they almost died, and they were beaten by a woman, which was a great shame.

Thalia ordered the two bodyguards to throw them out. Then she stood in front of the TV and waited for Victor's order.

"Thalia, Eden went out alone. Go find her. I will arrive there at about three o'clock in the morning. Don't tell her. I want to give her a surprise."

Victor rubbed his chin and said with a smile.

Thalia was speechless. What was wrong with Victor? Eden had just left for two days, but he was so eager to see her.

Chapter 1666

"Okay, Mr. Alwynn." Thalia replied and turned off the TV.

After putting away the computer, she left the basement and went straight to find Eden.

There were all kinds of special snacks in the brightly lit night market.

There was such night markets in every city, and people all over the country could feel the convenience brought by the strong economy.

Eden was wearing a white casual sportswear. She walked while looking around and buying snakes she liked to eat. After eating a pancake, she smiled with satisfaction. What kind of life could be more relaxing and pleasant than the life here?

She liked such a lively place.

After she came out, she paid attention to the surroundings, but no one followed her, which made her a little confused.

The reason why she didn't bring Thalia and Paula with her was that she wanted to lure Leilani.

However, Leilani didn't take any actions.

Did she give up?

Eden didn't believe it and continued to wander in the busy night market.

She had been stuffed to the gills, but she did not meet anyone suspicious.

"Alas!" Eden touched her round belly, and there were two mutton kebabs on her hand. She was too full to eat.

She walked forward with mutton kebabs. There were many people gathered on the square not far away. Hearing the mellow and pleasant singing, Eden trotted over. A wandering singer was singing over there.

She pushed her way through the crowd. The singer who was surrounded by people was very young. He had long soft hair, but he was not feminine at all. Instead, the long hair flattered his handsome features. He was tall and strong. At this time, he was playing the guitar and singing a love song affectionately.

"Hiding from the rain and snow."

"Trying to forget but I won't let go."

His singing brought different happiness and joy to people.

Eden's heart was touched by his pleasant singing. She understood that listening to a beautiful song could make her completely relax and enjoy this wonderful life.

Many girls could not help screaming when they saw such a tall and handsome wandering singer singing affectionately.

"He's Quincy Bradshaw! I haven't seen him for a long time."

"Yeah, it has been half a year since he last came here."

"That's right. It seemed to be half a year ago. He sings so well..."

"He is really kindhearted. Every time he gets money, he uses it to help those children in need."

The girls around Eden were discussing about the handsome man. Eden did not expect that he sang to help the children who were in trouble.

After he sang a passionate love song, there was a great round of applause.

"Quincy..."

The girls called his name tacitly, and their enthusiasm was inspiring.

Many girls went forward and threw cash in his black bag.

Eden suddenly found that this wandering singer was more popular than any other wandering singer she had met.

Quincy bowed deeply to the people around him and then smiled at them.

In the face of so many people, he seemed to be a little shy, and his smile was reserved. He was not as confident as he was while singing.

Eden took out five hundred dollars and put the money in his big black bag. Then she nodded at Quincy slightly.

Seeing Eden's actions, Quincy smiled gratefully. He really looked handsome and charismatic. Eden smiled as well and turned around to leave.

She was relaxed, wandering around the bustling crowd lazily and leisurely.

"Clam noodles! Delicious clam noodles!" A middle-aged woman peddled loudly to attract customers.

Eden swallowed when she heard that. She wanted to eat clam noodles.

She came here for strong-smelling preserved bean curd, but she didn't see any vendor who sold it.

However, when she saw her round belly, she immediately gave up this idea.

She would feel uncomfortable if she ate too much at night.

It was almost eleven o'clock at night. She only felt that time passed very quickly.

She had only visited half of the night market, but she could not go back too late.

She'd better come for clam noodles tomorrow night.

Thinking like this, Eden decided to go back to rest. She was very tired after visiting the exhibition all day long.

She turned around, but she bumped against someone and took a few steps back in a daze.

"Ouch..." She felt a dull pain in her forehead.

But she knew that she had crashed into someone.

Before she raised her head, she apologized in a hurry.

"Sorry, I didn't see you just now."

"It's okay!" A pleasant and mellow voice sounded.

Eden was a bit familiar with the voice. She suddenly raised her head, only to see Quincy.

"It's you, Mr. Bradshaw. " Eden's eyes lit up. She looked at Quincy and smiled brightly.

Quincy looked at her starry eyes in a daze. Everything around him seemed to have disappeared, and he was only obsessed with her amazing beauty.

"Nice to... meet you!" Looking at her pretty face, Quincy couldn't even speak fluently.

"I'm sorry. I turned around in a hurry just now, and I did not pay attention to my back." Eden apologized again, covering her forehead with her slender fingers.

"Sorry, I hurt you." Quincy apologized as well, and the expression on his face was a bit shy.

Eden was stunned. They were very close to each other, and she found that he was really easy on the eyes.

Among the men she had ever seen, he had unique charm.

He was good-looking but not feminine. When he smiled, he looked very eye-catching. The expression in his eyes was somewhat shy, but it didn't effect his charm at all. Instead, he was so pleasing to the eye.

What did people think of rose? Rose looked delicate and gorgeous at first glance, and his lips were as red as roses.

"It's okay. I was careless just now." Eden waved her hand hurriedly.

"Are you leaving? There are so many people in the night market. You can sing for some more time." His singing was very pleasant, and he sang better than those famous singers.

Quincy nodded with a smile. Looking at Eden, he realized that one could really be infatuated with such bright and starry eyes.

"I come here every two weeks, and I only sing two songs. Then I'll donate the money I earn to the orphanage. I've sung two songs tonight." Quincy explained.

"Oh!" Eden nodded with understanding.

"Then... I'll leave first." Quincy pointed to the front. He seemed to be in a hurry.

Eden nodded, "I should go back, too."

"Goodbye!" Quincy smiled and waved his hand.

"Bye!" Eden turned around and walked away first.

Quincy looked at her beautiful back, smiled and then trotted away.

Eden took a taxi back to the hotel, and she was still confused. Things were out of her expectation.

Leilani's informers must be around, but why didn't they show up?

Chapter 1667

She didn't know that the reason why Victor didn't say anything last time was that he wanted to cooperate with her. He wanted to lure Leilani in the way she wanted without letting her know.

"Mrs. Alwynn!" Thalia looked very anxious when she saw Eden. She had called Eden several times, but she couldn't get through.

Eden looked at Thalia in surprise, "Thalia, why haven't you slept yet? It's almost one a.m."

Thalia was helpless. She also knew it was late, but she was worried about her.

"Mrs. Alwynn, I am very worried about you because you went out alone. I have called you several times, but you didn't answer the phone."

Seeing her safe and sound, Thalia was finally relieved.

Thinking that Victor would come here overnight, she was worried about him. After all, Eden came here for relaxation.

Eden smiled apologetically and took out her phone to have a look. There were quite a few missed calls, and they were all made by Thalia.

"Thalia, I'm sorry. There were too many people in the night market, and I didn't hear the phone ring."

"As long as you're fine." She came over to protect Eden.

"Mm! Let's go up and sleep first."

"Okay!" Thalia went forward and pressed the elevator button, wondering what Eden would look like when she saw Victor in the middle of the night.

As soon as they entered the elevator, Quincy got off the car at the entrance of the hotel.

Seeing Eden's back, he was slightly stunned. However, he felt that he had thought too much as he watched the elevator door close. How could it be so coincidental?

He shook his head, laughed and then went to the hotel.

.....

In the middle of the night, Eden was sleeping soundly in the dark room. All of a sudden, she felt that someone was next to her.

She was stunned and sensed a familiar and pleasant smell. Reaching out, she touched a familiar figure and opened her eyes wide. She didn't think that she was dreaming, and Victor was really by her side.

Victor was sexually aroused when Eden touched his waist with her tender palm.

"Honey..." His deep and affectionate voice was seductive.

Eden turned on the bedside lamp. Looking at his handsome face, she was dumbfounded.

"Why... are you here?" Eden was so surprised that she could not speak fluently.

In the evening, they had a video call and he had dumplings at home, but he had come to her in just a few hours.

Victor grabbed her fair fingers and kissed them.

His voice was low and mellow, "I miss you, so I come here."

"Victor, can you be normal? Aren't you tired? I will go back the day after tomorrow." Eden admitted that she was used to staying with him, and she indeed felt a little uncomfortable without him by her side, but she could endure it.

Although she was mad, Victor smiled very happily. He just missed her and wanted to be with her. Only by hugging her like this and smelling the faint fragrance on her body could he fall asleep.

"I'm not tired. As long as I can hold you like this, I feel so good no matter how weary I am." Victor held her and kept kissing her face.

Eden avoided him while pushing him.

"Do you have nothing to do? Why do you come here in the middle of the night?"

"I'm free now. Everything is settled." Victor caressed her body, and his intention was obvious.

"Don't touch me. Make it clear to me first."

Victor really stopped. Then he pulled her into his arms and looked at her with grievances, "Honey, I have made it very clear."

"I miss you."

Eden was stunned. She was actually touched by his words.

Eden glared at him with hatred.

Victor looked at her and smiled shamelessly. The atmosphere in the room was ambiguous,

"Victor..."

"Eden, be obedient..." Victor did not give her the chance to speak and coaxed her. Eden gave up struggling and allowed him to do what he wanted. She only felt that she was so weak-minded.

The winter night was long, but it was hot and romantic in the room...

When Eden woke up, it was twelve o'clock at noon.

"Woo-woo..." Eden punched the quilt and wanted to beat herself. Why did she enjoy their bedtime so much?

Her waist was sore, and her back ached a lot.

Victor was having a video conference at the desk in front of the French window.

When he heard Eden crying, he immediately looked back at Eden on the bed.

The other managers were surprised.

Did they hear a woman crying?

Lucian frowned slightly and glanced at Victor.

Victor looked back and glanced at them in the video, "The meeting is over."

Everyone was shocked. The meeting had just started, hadn't it?

Before they could think further, Victor had turned off his computer.

He quickly got up and walked towards Eden.

Eden covered herself with the quilt.

"Eden, what's wrong? Are you not feeling well?" Victor gently pulled away the quilt, only to see her clench her fists tightly with an annoyed face.

Eden tilted her head and looked at him angrily, "My back hurts!"

Hearing this, Victor knew what was going on. He smiled wickedly, "I'll give you a massage."

He looked at the time, "Eden, are you hungry?"

"I've been hungry for a long time, but I'm so tired." Eden lay on the bed lazily.

Victor massaged her waist gently. She relaxed her body comfortably and lounged on the bed, enjoying Victor's service.

"Victor, I'm not going to the exhibition today. I'll be there tomorrow. Let's go to the shop that grandma gave me." Grandma Clement had apportioned her property among her, Buddy and Delmont. The three of them had houses and shops in Lemmon City, and they had rented the houses and shops.

"Okay, you can go wherever you want."

"Mm! I'll go buy some snacks later. Clam noodles are available in the opposite hotel. I want to eat that." Eden smelled the aroma of clam noodles when came back last night.

However, at that time, she was too full to eat anything.

She didn't know if she could go to the night market at night, so she'd better eat what she liked first.

Victor massaged her shoulders gently.

"I'll go out together with you later."

"Okay! I am going to take a bath." Eden got up to wash up.

Victor looked at her back and felt a little distressed. It seemed that he had to restrain himself in the future.

After Eden came out, she changed into a pink hoodie and a pair of white culottes, looking pure and pretty.

Victor was amazed by her beauty. Her plain face was really beautiful.

"Victor, let's go down to buy it first. We can ask them to serve us lunch when we get back."

Eden walked over and held his hand with a bright smile.

"Let's go." Victor didn't do anything. He liked her when she took the initiative to hold his hand.

"Eden, do you like noodles that much?" He suddenly remembered that Anson once had an accident on the way to buy noodles for Abigail.

Eden nodded in a hurry, "Yeah, I think girls all like noodles."

"Alright, as long as you like it." Victor said dotingly, and they entered the elevator.

Chapter 1668

"Victor, look at my clothes. I bought them in the exhibition. The trousers are very comfortable." Eden looked down at her white culottes. She liked wide short trousers.

Victor had noticed it as soon as she changed her clothes.

He gently rubbed her head and looked her up and down. The clothes made her look young, and she was so lovely and pretty. "You look beautiful no matter what you wear. You're a natural beauty, and all kinds of clothes are suitable for you."

"Ha-ha..." Eden smiled happily. She was an ordinary woman, and she liked to be praised.

"I bought a set of clothes for Abby as well. She can wear them when she's on holiday."

Victor was jealous.

Why didn't she buy something for him?

As his wife, the first person she thought of was actually her best friend, not him.

"Eden, you have to remember that I am your husband." When she left, he wanted to do a lot of things with her. But after seeing her, he only wanted to make love with her and let her feel his passion.

"So?" Eden looked at him quietly with her big bright eyes. Was he reminding her?

Was he jealous?

Moreover, he was jealous of Abby.

Victor smiled, "I just want you to keep me in your heart and think of me at any time. No matter where I am, you must remember that I am your husband. You should regard me as the most important person in your life."

"Ha-ha..." Eden couldn't help smiling. She reached out and punched his chest, "Do you think you're not the most important to me?"

"Let me check." Victor suddenly leaned sideways and held her in his arms. He pretended to be serious and looked at her bright eyes which reflected his handsome face.

"You're not lying." He chuckled and lowered his head to kiss her eyebrows.

Her skin was fair and well-maintained. It was so tender that he wanted to take a bite.

She wore no makeup on holidays. Every time he looked at her, he was infatuated.

As time went by, he loved her more and more deeply.

She was like a treasure. As he knew more about her, he found that she was more and more charming and attractive.

"Alright, stop it. We're almost on the first floor." Eden stopped smiling and arranged his suit for him.

"So what?" Victor looked at her gloomily.

Eden was stunned. It seemed that his heart had been hurt by her.

She had to explain, "No matter what, you are the president of Alwynn Group. You can be casual in front of me, but do you want your employees to see you like this? Don't forget how people think of you. Do you want to ruin your image?"

If the employees who knew him saw him like this, they would be very surprised.

Only then did Victor feel a little better.

Sure enough, it was easy to get hurt when he loved someone so much. He cared about every word she said and every expression in her eyes.

"It's all right. After you came back to me, I have changed a lot. They have been used to my change." Victor reached out to hold her waist and walked out of the elevator.

Eden did not say anything. Anyway, it was not something shameful. She had no choice but to show off their love in public.

As long as he thought that his image wouldn't be affected, she was unconcerned, and she wouldn't have any objection.

They soon walked to the opposite side of the road. Victor was holding her hand, so she could lower her head and send messages at ease.

Eden was asking Thalia and Paula if they wanted to eat clam noodles.

Paula replied, "I don't want to eat that! I prefer the food in the high-end hotel."

Eden was speechless.

Thalia said, "Mrs. Alwynn, I don't want chili in my noodles."

"Okay." Eden smiled faintly and replied. Then they ordered three bowls of clam noodles and took them to go.

After waiting for a few minutes, Eden carried the wrapped noodles, and they were going back to the hotel.

Victor's phone suddenly rang. He glanced at the phone number and said, "Eden, wait for me here. I'll be right back."

"Alright!" Eden nodded.

Victor took his phone and walked away before answering the phone.

Eden looked down at her phone with her head lowered.

"Nice to meet you!"

Hearing the familiar voice, Eden looked up at the handsome man and smiled, "Hi! I didn't expect to meet you here."

Quincy nodded with a shy smile. He saw her back by accident last night, and he thought that his eyes deceived him, but it was really her.

"Do you live in the hotel opposite?" Quincy pointed to the hotel and asked.

Eden nodded, "Yes!"

"I live here as well, but I have to leave in a few days. I'll go to River City." Quincy's eyes flashed. He seemed to be a bit disappointed.

"Oh!" Eden said in surprise.

"What a coincidence! I come from River City, and I'll go back the day after tomorrow."

"Really? I'll leave the day after tomorrow, too. My name is Johnny Bean. Quincy is my stage name. This is my card." Johnny immediately handed his card to Eden, and his smiling eyes were filled with excitement.

Eden took his card with a grin and had a look. It turned out that Johnny was a singer who had just signed a contract with SH Entertainment Company.

"I'm a new singer signed by SH Entertainment Company. I'll be there the day after tomorrow." Johnny explained with a smile. He lowered her head slightly, and his long hair covered half of his face lightly.

Eden nodded. Coincidentally, SH Entertainment Company was the enemy of Mirth Company.

"SH Entertainment Company is a powerful company. I believe that you will have a bright future."

"Do you know SH Entertainment Company as well?" Johnny asked excitedly.

"Yep!" Eden nodded slightly. SH Entertainment Company was Anson's enemy.

However, SH Entertainment Company was not as powerful as Talbot Group. Over the years, Talbot Group developed better and better in the entertainment circle.

Victor was talking to Anson on the phone. When he turned around, he saw Eden chatting happily with a handsome young man.

He was overwhelmed by jealousy in an instant.

"Anson, that's it. As for the wandering singer you mentioned, find him on your own. I don't have enough time to help you find him."

"Victor, are you helping me? I do this to help you! The company belongs to you. I'll send you a video later. Find him. I want Mirth Company to surpass SH Entertainment Company!" Anson shouted angrily on the phone.

Eden was still chatting happily with Johnny.

"Although the company is mine, you are a shareholder. Do as you see fit." Victor hung up after saying that.

He walked towards Eden with annoyance.

However, Eden had said goodbye to Johnny.

The handsome young man had left with a smile.

Chapter 1669

Eden wanted to see if Victor had hung up the phone. She raised her head, only to see that Victor was looking at her angrily. If he could kill people with his emotionless eyes, she would have been a corpse.

Only then did Eden realize that he was jealous because he saw Johnny.

"Eden, who is he?" Victor suppressed his anger and pointed at Johnny's back not far away.

His face darkened to the extreme!

"A friend I knew yesterday. Do you have any objections?" Eden narrowed her eyes and looked at him unhappily.

Didn't he even want her to make a friend? However, she really liked Johnny's songs. They had exchanged their phone numbers just now. When Johnny held a concert, she would attend it.

Victor was depressed. He did have great objections!

Victor wanted to warn Eden to stay away from the young man.

But Irving's words suddenly came to his mind. "Since you're so bossy, Eden will leave you sooner or later."

"No, calm down! Victor, you can't be angry. If you quarrel with Eden, not only Irving, but also the young man will take advantage of it."

"Why take it so seriously?" He said to himself in heart.

"No, I have no objection." Victor said in a stiff and cold tone very reluctantly. He kept shaking his head, but the expression on his face was upset.

Eden was surprised. Was he really Victor?

If it was in the past, he would have been angry.

"Let's go back. I'm hungry." Eden walked forward thoughtfully.

Victor immediately caught up with her and took her hand in an overbearing way.

He looked at the direction where Johnny left. Who was that man? Couldn't he tell that Eden was married and she was a mother of three children?

Victor was exasperated, but he didn't dare to lose his temper before her.

Victor asked the stuff to send food to his room, while Thalia and Paula ate in the hall outside.

Watching Thalia eating the clam noodles with her head lowered, Paula said with disgust on her face, "There are many kinds of noodles in River City. Why do you have to eat noodles here? Won't you get tired of noodles?"

"Only people who get skimpy pay eat such cheap noodles."

"Eden was too poor in the past. She didn't even eat noodles, and she only ate steamed buns, because steamed buns are stodgy."

Thalia looked up at her casually, "What a pity. You ate better than Mrs. Alwynn, but now her life is better than yours."

"You..." Thalia's words touched Paula's sore spot. She glared at Thalia coldly.

"Humph! Thalia, you are an orphan that no one wants, right? You may never forget the feelings of being abandoned in the rest of your life, right?" Paula looked at her with a sneer.

Thalia's face suddenly changed, and his eyes gradually turned indifferent.

As an orphan, this was indeed her most sensitive spot. She would never forget the pain of being abandoned by her parents.

She could not get the love of her parents. Whenever she saw children who stayed with their parents, she was very envious.

That was the greatest pain in her heart.

Before she was taken to Chaosfield Society by Victor, she felt that her life was dark and hopeless, and she didn't know what her future would be like.

However, her sadness only lasted only for a moment.

Thalia knew that Paula angered her deliberately.

She tried her best to make advances, and she learned to face difficulties, changes and what might happen at any time.

Only those who had persisted understood that everyone had his own shining points, but it depended on whether he had a chance to give full play to his talent.

Looking at her pale face, Paula finally felt that she had turned it around.

"Paula, although I'm an orphan, I live a chaste life and I'm not like you." Thalia said with a smile. Seeing Paula suddenly stop eating, she smiled with satisfaction and went back to her room with the clam noodles.

Paula's words were hurtful, but what Thalia said broke Paula's heart directly.

It seemed that the bloody wound in Paula's heart could never be healed.

It would remain an indelible stain on her life. In the eyes of other women, she was so disgusting.

However, she had to pretend to live a rich life on the surface.

Looking at the delicious food in front of her, she took a deep breath.

It was good that Thalia had left. She could enjoy the big meal alone.

Paula took a look at the closed door of Eden's room. After Victor came, Eden was spoiled like a princess.

She lowered her head to eat delicious food silently, took photos of herself and shared them online.

She came up with a way to make money, which was to do live stream and sell products online.

But she didn't know if Eden would help her.

In the room, Victor and Eden had finished the noodles. Eden was eating shrimps. The shrimp was very fresh and tender, and she liked it so much.

Victor knew she liked it, so he kept shelling shrimps for her.

When Eden was eating the shrimps with her head lowered, he glanced at her fair neck meaningfully. Then he lowered his head slightly and left a love bite on her neck.

Eden looked at him silently. He had done such a thing so many times. She would rather that he said he was jealous directly.

Eden knew his character and allowed him to do whatever he wanted. If they didn't care what each other did, that would be horrible.

Eden stopped after eating a whole plate of shrimps.

She took the wet tissue, wiped her hands and touched her full belly, wanting to go out for a walk.

As soon as she got up, Victor followed her, "Where are we going?" His low and mellow voice made Eden stunned.

"You're so boring. If you're jealous, just show it. Don't you know how annoying your weird behavior is?" Eden didn't want to talk to him. She simply walked around the room.

"I'm not jealous." Victor refused to admit it. His wish was simple. She could only smile at him, and she couldn't treat other men so enthusiastically.

But he knew that something like this would happen again in the future.

Looking at her slender back, he thought gloomily, "Because she's so beautiful."

Other men could see how charming she was as well.

"Do you still want to visit the shops?" Victor compromised, and his tone softened unconsciously.

"Yeah, I will exercise for a while." Eden continued to walk around.

Victor had come here, and she failed to carry out her plan.

While eating the noodles, she received a message from Aro and was told that Victor had caught two men in the basement. She immediately understood everything.

Victor did everything without telling her.

Fortunately, Zaiden asked Aro and Anthony to help her when he left. Otherwise, she would not know what Victor had done.

After Eden had a rest, they went to the bustling downtown area. Eden owned three shops in the prime location. Grandma Clement felt distressed for her, and the shops she gave her were all valuable.

At four o'clock in the afternoon, Victor said, "Eden, I have an appointment with Mr. Klein later. Just go with me."

Chapter 1670

Speaking of Mr. Klein, Eden thought of Alice, the little girl who wanted to be her daughter-in-law. She couldn't help laughing. How adorable and lovely Alice was!

She had the same personality as Gia, but she was much gentler than Gia.

Gia was too careless and casual.

"Could I see Alice?" Eden asked.

She heard that Ricky's classmate Alma was a sensible and cute girl, and she performed well in Alwynn Group.

Ricky reminded her to pay more attention to Alma frequently.

"Yeah. Mr. Klein is well-informed. He knows that I am in Lemmon City and wants to invite us to dinner. I have promised him. He will come with his wife and daughter."

"Oh, then let's have dinner together. I haven't seen Alice for a long time, and I miss her. She must have grown much taller." Eden was looking forward to meeting the adorable little girl.

"Let's go." Victor took her across the road. This was the downtown area. The restaurant Bert booked was not far from there, and they had enough time to go there by foot.

At half past five, Bert arrived with Alice and his wife, Aubri Jones.

"Auntie Eden!" As soon as Alice saw Eden, she ran to her excitedly.

"Alice." Eden looked at Alice who was running towards her. Alice was much taller, and she was even slimmer than before. Her features were strongly defined and she looked so beautiful.

Alice threw herself into Eden's arms and said in a choked voice, "Auntie Eden, I miss you so much. I always want to visit you."

She raised her head and looked at Eden with tears in her big eyes.

Eden smiled and rubbed her head, "If you miss me in the future, you can make a video call to me."

"But dad said that you are very busy and I will affect your work." Alice looked at Bert with complaint.

"You won't." Eden smiled and nodded at Aubri and Bert.

Bert was still wearing a dark suit. He looked as commanding as Victor.

His wife was very pretty. She had her curly hair cut to her ears and wore exquisite makeup. Compared to Eden who wore casual clothes, she looked nobler.

Bert looked at Alice rather helplessly, "Alice, you don't want to stay at home all day long."

"Humph! That's not right!" Alice snorted and retorted.

"However, Auntie Eden, is Hendrick very busy? He doesn't reply to my messages." Originally, Alice was happy, but she suddenly became sombre and mirthless when she mentioned Hendrick.

Eden knew that Ricky ignored Alice because he thought she was annoying.

It was his luck to know such a kind girl like Alice, but he actually disliked her.

"Alice, Ricky is abroad now, and he is getting used to studying and living there. He's quite busy." No matter what, Ricky was her son, so she wanted Alice to have a good impression on Ricky.

"But Gia chats with me every day. She said that they're not busy at all." The more Alice said, the sadder she became. Her eyes were brimming with tears.

Eden was stunned. She got a slap in the face. She just wanted to improve Alice's favourable opinion of Ricky.

She must teach Ricky a lesson.

"Alice, are you hungry?" Eden changed the topic.

He glanced at Victor who was chatting with Bert and Aubri.

"Yeah. I've been excited because I want to meet you."

After all, Alice was still a child. Once her attention was diverted, she instantly forgot the unhappy things.

"Mrs. Alwynn, please have a seat!" Aubri pulled Alice back to her side. She was a little jealous when she saw how clingy Alice was to Eden. Alice never treated her like this.

Alice was her only daughter, but she was sometimes happy and sometimes sad because of Henrick. She didn't even know what to do.

Henrick went abroad to study and no longer acted in new movies. She thought that Alice wouldn't be so crazy anymore, but she got more obsessed with Henrick and contacted him every day.

Of course, there were pros and cons. In order to make herself more outstanding, Alice learned lyre-playing, chess, calligraphy and painting.

Moreover, her grades were excellent, which made her feel relieved.

After all, Alice had been making herself better for Henrick.

The dishes were soon served, and the atmosphere in the private box became livelier and livelier because of Alice.

Eden and Aubri had a lot to talk. After all, they were both mothers, and they could talk a lot about the children.

Victor and Bert talked about business. Chatting happily, Victor couldn't help but drink a few more glasses of wine.

When he returned to the hotel, Victor was so drunk that he almost fell asleep.

However, he was clear-headed. He did whatever Eden told him, like an obedient child.

Eden finally helped Victor to sit on the sofa. Then she wanted to cook soup for him so that he could sober up.

As soon as she got up, Victor pulled her back and held her tightly in his arms, "Honey, I love you! I love you so much." His low and mellow voice was slightly drunk, but it was surprisingly charming.

His words left a glow in Eden's heart. She looked up at his handsome face. He was drunk, so his face was slightly red, but he looked even more appealing.

There was a faint scent of alcohol on his body, and Eden did not hate it.

"Alright, Victor, I know you love me, and I love you very much, too. Now you are drunk. Lie down, and I will make some soup for you." In her memory, although Victor drank wine, he didn't drink in social activities. He drank with his friends occasionally, but he had never been so drunk.

Perhaps he was somewhat depressed because he saw her meet Johnny that day.

Victor leaned against her shoulder. When she said that she loved him, all his unhappiness faded away.

Eden loved him so much.

Lucian said that he was in his thirties, and he would feel anxious about his age.

Indeed, Eden was a few years younger than him, and he filled his mind with nonsense sometimes.

He wouldn't feel better unless she comforted him.

Eden helped him lean against the sofa, "Victor, lie down. I'll make soup for you. After you drink it, you'll sober up a bit, or you'll feel uncomfortable tonight."

"No, I don't want you to leave me. I'm not uncomfortable. As long as you stay with me, I feel good." Victor held her tightly, not wanting her to leave. Holding her like this made him feel at ease. He didn't need any soup.

Eden smiled helplessly. Her heart ached when she saw how lonely he looked.

He was always so uneasy, and he had no sense of security after getting drunk.

"Alright, I won't leave you. Lie on the bed first." If he fell asleep, she was not strong enough to carry him to bed.

"Okay, I'll listen to whatever you say." After drinking, Victor's lips were red and seductive. His smile was attractive.

If he had known that Eden would tolerate him like this, he should have gotten drunk a few more times.
