

Gluey Love 1731

Chapter 1731

She knew that she had said something improper.

However, it was better to let Victor explain it. Eden trusted him more.

She smiled and said, "Eden, don't sit for too long, and go to bed early."

Eden looked at them. How could she not know what was going on?

Victor had lied to her.

"Abby, I will have a good rest. Don't worry."

"Uh-huh, I'll go back and take a bath for Ayman. Thanks to you, now he can sleep soundly at night."

Abigail got up quickly, and the three of them left.

Before Anson left, he looked at Victor with sympathy.

Victor acted as if he didn't see him and picked up a pear to peel it.

Eden looked at him quietly and did not speak, waiting for him to speak first.

Being stared at by her, Victor just peeled the pear calmly.

Eden looked at him and frowned. Her face was very unhappy, and there was a hint of anger in her eyes.

Just as Eden was about to lose her temper, Victor said slowly, "Eden, have a pear first."

Eden was stunned. Was she in the mood to eat at this time? She did not reach out to take it.

"What on earth did you do to Paula? Did you catch her?" Eden's tone was very calm. She knew that it was not worthwhile to quarrel with Victor because of Paula.

"Yeah!" Victor admitted it frankly.

"Then why did you tell me that she had been sent to prison?" She did not like to be cheated by him.

Victor turned his head slowly to look at her, "I caught her to make sure whether you were kidnapped by Leilani or not. After finding you, I sent her to the police station. Abigail doesn't know about this."

Victor lied calmly.

He hadn't had time to deal with Paula, but he wouldn't let her go because she had hurt Eden again and again.

"Is that so?" Eden looked at him in disbelief.

"Why should I lie to you?" Victor looked at her quietly, and his honest eyes were very calm.

It was already dark. Under the crystal lamp, his attractive figure was as tall and straight. There was a gentle expression on his well-defined face, and he was smiling faintly at her.

Eden was amazed by his charm, and she was rendered speechless. He was right. Why should he lie to her?

He caught Paula in order to save her. At that moment, if he didn't come to her in time, she would have been raped by Stephen. After all, she had no strength to escape.

Without him, she might be living a life worse than death at this time. Perhaps she might have committed suicide.

"Eden, you don't believe me." Victor was a little depressed. He slightly narrowed his eyes and his long eyelash fluttered. He looked extremely aggrieved.

Eden's heart softened instantly. Her beautiful eyes blinked as she said softly, "I... trust you, but I just don't want you to lie to me. I don't want you to do anything bad because of me. It's said that you are cruel and merciless. But only I know how gentle and considerate you are."

Victor knew that she had almost trusted him, and this was enough.

He knew what he was doing very well, and he would not ruin his life because of an irrelevant woman.

He would only be ruthless to those who didn't know what was good for them.

He was a mortal, and he would have a burden in heart once he did something against his conscience. But some vicious people should be taught a lesson!

He gently pulled Eden's hand, held it tightly and said softly, "Fool, I always have a sense of propriety when I do things. I don't care what others say, and I only care about you. As long as you love me the most."

Eden understood, and she no longer cared about Paula's affairs.

She had experienced several horrible accidents. No one knew better than her that it was important to be with her beloved ones.

"Alright, I won't think about it again." Eden compromised, "I'm... tired." She was a little tired and wanted to go to bed.

"Okay, I'll take you to rest." Victor got up. The white pajamas were casual and elegant. He bent down, carried her in his arms carefully and walked to the bedroom.

He put her on the soft bed and lay down with her.

Eden could not lie on her side. Her back ached a little when she laid down.

She looked at the ceiling. It suddenly occurred to her that she hadn't known the result of the investigation of the copies.

"Victor, has Mr. Klein found out who copied our products?"

Victor looked at her side face with his eyes were full of pity. Her eyes were bright as the clear spring. When she looked at him, she could rescue and redeem him from despair. He said, "Yes."

"Who did it?" Eden was a little angry.

"A subsidiary company covered by Simpson Group. Mr. Klein has been dealing with it." As for Tiana, she disassociated herself from this matter.

But he was not in a hurry. Since she was a member of the Clothing Association, he could teach her a lesson sooner or later. He just needed a right opportunity.

The relationship between Tiana and the Simpson family was unusual, which was why she was so close to Paulina.

"Ah..." Eden was a little surprised.

Seeing that she was shocked, Victor chuckled, "Eden, did you think it was Irving or Paulina?"

"Yeah! After all, Irving has always wanted to ruin Alwynn Group. The first person I suspected was him." Eden did not hide her thoughts. Irving had told her personally that he would not give up.

However, he used despicable and shameless methods, and she looked down on him.

Victor was a little surprised, "He was not involved in this matter."

Eden nodded, "Let's sleep."

After that, she closed her eyes.

"H'm." Victor nodded and turned off all the lights except for the dim bedside lamp.

Under the warm light, Eden gradually fell asleep.

Victor had been watching her. He had slept for a few hours during the day, and he was not drowsy at all.

He took the phone on the bedside table lightly and sent a message to Brian.

"Take away Paula."

"Don't you want to do anything to her?"

Victor frowned and typed quickly, "I ask you to take her away. Can't you understand me?"

Brian was stunned. He really couldn't understand.

Did Victor want to release Paula or take her to the police station? Or did he want to send her to another place?

He asked directly, "Where should I take her?"

"Somewhere Eden will not go."

Brian understood immediately.

"What did you say to Eden?"

Victor told Brian the whole story.

At this moment, Brian was accompanying Aurora to have midnight snacks. For him, work was important, but marriage was more important. He was already in his thirties. Even a divorced woman didn't want to be with him. How could he not be worried?

He said, "I hope Eden will never know about this. Otherwise, I will suffer together with you."

"How dare you say this to me?"

"Anyway, I'm about to have a girlfriend, so don't contact me at night anymore. I want to get married and have a child. I've been single these years because you all used to be single."

Victor was speechless. He put the phone on the bedside table and closed his eyes to sleep. How could Brian blame him for this?

Chapter 1732

Brian failed to win women's hearts all the time, didn't he? How could he blame others for this?

How could it be his fault? Oh no, he was different from Brian. After all, he had children in his twenties.

The more Victor thought about it, the more wronged he felt.

He wanted to reason with Brian, but it seemed to be a little childish to do so.

That was right! He wouldn't argue with Brian.

Victor finally figured it out. He picked up his phone and started a conversation in the group chat of him and the children, "Babies, come out."

Henrick was the first one to reply to him, "Dad, you are not busy at all."

Victor was stunned. Did he mean that he was boring?

Henrick always pissed him off.

"Ricky, don't mock me like this. Don't you miss me?"

"If you let me go back, I'll love you so much. I miss my mom."

"Don't miss me?"

"We are both men. Why should I miss you?"

Victor's heart ached severely.

Giada said, "Dad, I miss you."

Victor smiled dotingly. Sure enough, his daughter was the most considerate.

"Gia, I miss you, too."

Henrick typed, "Giada, you traitor! We agreed that we would fight for the chance to go home."

"Your life here is funnier than that in River City. Are you sure you want to go back?"

"Don't you miss mom?"

"Yes, but I won't talk about it all day long just like you. When I miss mom, I'll have a video call with her. We have to live independently sooner or later. We can take the chance to train ourselves now."

"Humph! Who hid in the quilt in the middle of the night and called mom with tears secretly?"

"Aren't you ashamed to say this? You cry the most frequently, don't you?"

"You're really something."

Victor touched his forehead with a headache. Henrick and Giada always quarrelled in the group chat.

He didn't even have a chance to speak.

Kenny would never chat in the group chat. When he encountered something, he called him directly.

"Good Night, my dear babies!" Victor sent this and immediately put down the phone.

Thinking that Gia missed Eden so much that she cried under the quilt secretly, he felt very distressed.

Compared with Gia, he knew that Ricky cried more often.

Victor's nose twitched, and his throat tightened. In fact, Eden was the saddest one.

Victor's heart ached for Eden once again.

Eden just rarely expressed her longing for the children in front of him.

Under the warm light, Victor gritted his teeth with great strength, and there was a painful expression on his handsome face.

He turned over slightly and gently held Eden in his arms. Then he lowered his head and looked at her pretty sleepy face, saying in a mellow and gentle voice, "Eden, I'm sorry. Please give me some more time."

His low and mellow voice echoed in the night.

In the summer night, the starry sky was beautiful.

Two strong men in black took away Paula from Windsor Villa. With a rag in her mouth, she had lost the strength to struggle. Her eyes were glassy and she didn't even resist.

In fact, when she was locked these days, she had known what would happen to her.

No one would save her, and she could only wait for the unknown future.

When she was taken away in the middle of the night, she was overwhelmed by fear.

She was unable to fight against Victor, the extremely powerful man.

A black car drove away in the dark night. When it passed by Victor's house, the driver tooted twice. Victor was still awake. A trace of malice flashed through his eyes, but he felt much more relieved.

The day after Paula was taken away from Windsor Villa, she saw Victor.

She was taken to a big warehouse.

The warehouse door was opened, and a man walked in against the sunlight. Under the sunlight, he was tall, domineering and imposing. But she could see his expression clearly.

Paula felt that she was doomed the moment she met with Victor's eyes.

Two bodyguards and Dean came in with Victor.

Paula was in an awkward state. Her hair was disheveled and her face was dirty. Her clothes were stained. However, they didn't sympathize with her at all. Instead, they were a little disgusted.

Dean moved a stool for Victor, and Victor sat one meter away from Paula.

He sat down elegantly and crossed his long legs slowly as he looked down at Paula intensely.

Paula was scared to extreme at this moment.

"Mr. Alwynn, please let me go. I'm so sorry. I will not go against Eden anymore!" Her hoarse voice was unpleasant to hear.

She felt like she was living in hell these days. If it weren't for the fact that it was summer, she would have died.

Victor sat there coldly, as if he didn't hear what she said.

Bars of sunlight slanted down from the windows on the wall. The dust was rising in clouds, and the awful smell in the warehouse made them feel difficult to breathe.

Looking at Victor's indifferent face, Paula gradually became desperate.

"Mr. Alwynn..." Paula choked with sobs, "I... really know that I was wrong. I'm just too greedy for money. Please let me go this time. I will be your servant in the future to repay your kindness." Paula did not give up begging for mercy, and her dejected eyes were scarlet.

Victor sat there and looked at her calmly, which meant that Eden was fine.

If anything bad happened to Eden, Victor would have killed her.

She admired Myra very much when she was a child, because Myra was rich and could spend money at will. At the same time, she liked to bully Eden who came from the same family with Myra.

Eden was also a daughter of the Gienger family, but she was not as rich as Myra. She could have a sense of superiority when she bullied Eden.

As time went by, she formed a habit.

Many years later, when she met Eden again, she found that Eden was no longer at the same level as her. She was Mrs. Alwynn and the design director of Alwynn Group, and lots of women envied her.

She had a nice job, great family background and even a wealthy husband.

She was jealous of Eden, too.

After that, Eden tried to stop her from making money again and again, so she wanted to hurt Eden. She even wanted Eden to die. These vicious ideas had been torturing her heart all the time.

In short, it was all because of jealousy.

Victor was unmoved by Paula's pleading words. He lowered his eyes slightly and said sarcastically, "Are you qualified to be my servant? The reason why I came here today is simple. Tell me about Danielle."

Paula was stunned, but she reacted quickly. Could she use this matter as a bargaining chip and ask Victor to let her off?

There was a glimmer of hope in her desperate eyes. She said excitedly, "Mr. Alwynn, as long as you let me go, I will tell you about Danielle."

But she underestimated Victor. Her words had exposed her relationship with Danielle. Since she had been caught, Victor could investigate Danielle.

Danielle was a spy arranged by the Simpson family, too.

As long as he followed up the clues, he could find some more spies.

Chapter 1733

"Mr. Alwynn, I will tell you everything about Danielle. Please let me go." Paula took the opportunity to make an offer.

Then she looked at Victor nervously, hoping to see a glimmer of hope in Victor's eyes.

Unfortunately... Victor only sneered.

"Ha-ha..."

"Are you negotiating with me?" Victor put down his crossed legs.

His leisurely expression was very charming.

Paula was in a trance for a moment. Victor had unworldly and appealing charm.

However, she looked a little ferocious because she had lost two teeth.

"Mr. Alwynn, I know that the people in the Simpson family want to kill Eden, especially Leilani. Eden plotted against... no, sent her daughter to jail, so she wants to kill Eden all the time..." Paula said everything she knew in one breath.

Victor sneered, "Only stupid people show their bargaining chips so quickly."

Paula was stunned. She had told the truth, but why didn't Victor show her any mercy?

She... said everything because she wanted Victor to let her go.

Dean was speechless. Before Victor taught Paula a lesson, she had confessed everything.

"Mr. Alwynn... I..."

"Dean, I've known what I want to know. Do unto her what she did to Mrs. Alwynn. Then contact the lawyer and send her to the police station. The lawyer has prepared all the evidence."

"Ah..." Paula screamed in despair.

"Victor, you can't do this to me! Let me see Eden. I know she is kindhearted, and she won't treat me like this." She knew what would happen if she went to the police station.

Her life would be ruined.

Victor stood up slowly, and his face suddenly turned furious, "How dare you mention my wife?" Hearing his threatening and cold voice, Paula was startled.

Why couldn't she mention Eden? Eden was her last hope.

She raised her head, and her face was miserable and desperate. Like a dying fish, she choked and said, "Mr. Alwynn... just let me see her. We are classmates. I want to apologize to her. I've done a lot of wrong things..."

"Shut up! She doesn't need your disgusting apology!" Victor took a step back in displeasure, "Should my wife be bullied by you just because she's kindhearted? Think about what you have done to her! Even if she forgives you, I won't let you go. I do my best to protect her, but how dare you play tricks behind her back?"

"When you wanted her to die, why didn't you think that you would get your retribution one day?"

"I..." Paula was completely speechless.

Victor was like God. He knew everything.

"Humph! I knew what you've done a long time ago, but my wife always wanted to keep you in the company and see what you could do. Her purpose was very simple. Even if you were kicked out of the company, the Simpson family would send another spy to monitor her, so it was better to use someone she knew better."

"That's why you can live until now. If I wanted to give you a lesson, I could send you to prison when you hurt Delmont and my wife."

"In this world, as long as Eden is happy, I can indulge her in anything." His words couldn't be more doting.

Paula was madly jealous. They were both women, but why was Eden so lucky? She was the apple of Victor's eye.

"Victor, what's so good about Eden? She is self-abased, pitiful, weak and not worth mentioning. Do you know what kind of life she lived in the Gienger family? She could only eat their leftovers!"

"A woman who grew up in such an environment is selfish and self-centred. I am her classmate, and I work in your company. I could have made more money, but she stopped me again and again. I could have done live stream, but she didn't give me any chance."

"Does such a woman deserve your love? She doesn't have any ordinary human feelings." Paula didn't give up. Even if she was doomed, she wouldn't let Eden live a good life.

Such a noble man like Victor couldn't tolerate a woman who had a black mark, could he?

In the Gienger family, Eden's life was even worse than that of a servant. If this matter was spread, it would definitely affect the reputation of the Alwynn family. These noble families cared about their reputations the most.

After hearing Paula's words, Victor's expression became more ruthless and colder, and his eyes turned blood-shot.

Dean knew that Paula's words wouldn't make Victor dislike Eden. Instead, her words would make herself suffer more.

No matter what kind of life Eden used to live, she was the best in Victor's heart.

Such a nice man like Victor was rare. He even wanted to share his office with his wife.

Victor looked at her calmly and said sarcastically, "Don't think that you're a great person. In my eyes, you are not even comparable to an ant. For money, you directed a robbery case, and you earned three hundred thousand dollars by selling the dress. Your retribution is inevitable."

"Eden is my treasure. No matter what kind of life she used to have, she is my favorite."

"I want to give her all the best things in the world, but despicable people like you hurt her again and again."

"How could I endure it?"

He quickly turned around to look at Dean, "Take actions now."

Dean immediately nodded and asked the two bodyguards to lift up Paula who froze on the ground.

Victor turned around and left.

Paula didn't expect that Victor had known everything she did.

Only then did Dean look at Paula sympathetically. She was so greedy that she became silly, and her desire ruined her.

"Ah... Woo-woo..." Paula choked for a long while before she burst into tears painfully.

Her thoughts were too simple and naive. Victor wasn't moved by her words at all.

"Paula, I told you that you couldn't afford to bear the consequences." Dean's words made Paula even more desperate.

"Shut up! Such a lackey like you will come to no good end." Paula cursed excitedly.

Dean just sneered and said, "I'm not as greedy as you. You can't see what will happen to me, but I know clearly what will happen to you."

"Life is short. Why do you have to ruin yourself for money? On the first day you entered the company, Mrs. Alwynn's mood had changed. Mr. Alwynn knows everything, and someone has been keeping an eye on you in secret. Do you think everything you have done is flawless?"

Paula looked at Dean in shock. Therefore, was this Victor's trap?

"So, you've been waiting for me to fall into the trap so that you can give me a lesson? You vicious b*stards! God will punish you one day!"

"Ha-ha..." Dean laughed as if he had just heard a joke.

Dean looked at her and said in an indifferent tone, "Paula, we set up the trap, but you jumped into it on your own. You can't blame anyone. Take her away!"

The two bodyguards took her out with no expression on their faces.

Chapter 1734

An hour later, Paula was dying. She had suffered a lot and couldn't even speak.

Victor returned to the villa he used to live. They had moved in yesterday. A nanny often came to clean the house, and they could live here at any time.

On his way back, he went to the supermarket to buy some food ingredients.

Eden did not bring anything with her, because Victor had prepared everything for her.

She only brought her phone and the pajamas she liked.

Seeing Victor come back, she asked, "Victor, where did you go?"

Eden sat in the yard, basking in the sun. When Victor woke up early in the morning, he said he had something to do and left for several hours.

She had been here once, and she liked this place very much.

Victor raised the food ingredients in his hand.

"I went to the supermarket, and I'll cook delicious food for you later."

"Ha-ha..." Eden laughed happily. Her eyes were starry and bright. He was carrying vegetables and environmentally friendly bags in his hands. However, the scene was amazingly harmonious. He was no longer commanding and looked very warm.

"Have you been fascinated with cooking these days?" Recently, she lived a comfortable life. He cooked for her, looked after her and even washed her feet for her.

Victor walked to her, bowed his head and looked at her tenderly, "I've been watching the live stream of a food blogger these days. He's a gentleman, and he's good at cooking, so I've been learning from him. You enjoy the food quite much, don't you? I'm interested in it and I want you to gain more weight. In that case, your face will be even prettier."

Eden glared at him with annoyance.

"Victor, you know what? I can gain weight easily in a few days, but losing weight will take a long time."

Victor laughed dotingly, "You won't look fat even if you gain ten pounds."

"Let's go back. I'll make you lunch."

Eden got up slowly. The pain on her back had been relieved a lot. However, the wound on her back was still red and swollen.

"All right. Our chef is so good at cooking these days, and I eat happily every day. But you don't go to the company, and Lucian hasn't come back. Can Dean handle all the affairs alone?" Eden was a little worried.

Victor knew that she was worried again, so he let her go into the house before saying, "Even if I don't go to the company for a year, the company will not go bankrupt. Now the most important task is to let you get better as soon as possible. Nothing is more important than you in my heart."

Eden was completely touched by his words. Recently, he talked sweet nothings every day, and she often wanted to cry.

She said softly, "Honey, you are the most important in my heart, too."

Victor paused. If it weren't for the fact that he was carrying vegetables in his hand, he would definitely kiss her hard.

He looked back at her starry eyes and said tenderly, "Sit down and rest. The lunch will be ready soon."

Eden sat on the sofa and waited obediently.

Victor was amused. It would be great if she was always so obedient.

Dean had been very busy these days. Victor was not in the company, and Lucian hadn't come back. He was even working when he was in the toilet, but he still felt he didn't have enough time.

That day, he had an appointment in the club, and he met Irving by accident.

Irving was holding a beautiful woman in his arms, but it was not Dahlia.

Dean and Irving came face to face with each other. They stopped and glanced at each other.

Irving smiled and asked, "Dean, why are you here alone? Where is Mr. Alwynn?" He smiled meaningfully.

Outsiders did not know that Eden had an accident, but Irving did.

He was close to the Simpson family, and he was the first one to know that Stephen was imprisoned.

It was him who instigated Stephen to kidnap Eden. Leilani's attitude was just a flashpoint.

Therefore, Eden was injured.

But he could only watch her far away.

Victor's ability was just so-so! He failed to protect Eden every time.

Dean said with a fake smile, "Mr. Matthews, Mr. Alwynn is quite busy these days, and he doesn't come to the company. I'm in charge of all the affairs."

Anyway, there was no cooperation between them, and he would not talk about anything to Irving, so Irving would not have much doubts.

"Ha-ha..." Irving sneered, "What can Victor be busy with? Isn't it said that he is very capable? He even let his wife get hurt. It seems that he is not as perfect and capable as the rumors say. It really disappoints me."

Dean was speechless. Why should Irving be disappointed?

Victor had nothing to do with Irving. What was the point of being disappointed?

However...

Dean smiled and said, "Mr. Matthews, I don't quite understand what you mean."

Irving laughed, "You understand what I mean, but you're just acting dumb."

Saying this, Irving left leisurely with the beautiful woman in his arms.

It was said that in the world, the most painful thing was not being able to be with the one he love. What was more painful was that the person he loved did not love him at all.

However, in love, no one could control his own feelings. He wanted to get Eden out of his head so much. However, he couldn't do it.

It was said that first love was the hardest to forget, and it was exactly right.

No matter how stubborn he was, he couldn't change the ending.

He used to think that she was the only special one in this world, so he didn't want to be with someone he didn't like. No matter how many years it would take, he wanted to be with her.

None of the women who approached him could attract him or move his heart.

In this life, his love was destined to be unrequited.

Hearing his words, Dean immediately understood that he had known everything.

"Alas!" Dean shook his head, "You two are indeed rivals in love. You know what happened to each other very clearly."

Dean left while muttering to himself. At this time, Dahlia and Dulcie came out from the corner.

Dahlia's face was full of anger, "Irving is such an a*shole! He goes too far!" In the past, although he did not admit that she was his fiancée, at least he would not be with other women.

But at this time, he could hold another woman and walk past her in public.

Dulcie said, "Irving seems to be on guard against you all the time. Think about other ways. As long as you become his woman, you can trap his heart."

They failed last time, but it didn't mean that they would fail again.

Dahlia did not say anything. She only looked at the direction in which Dean left with cold eyes, "Eden is actually safe. What a pity."

Dulcie was taken aback. They were talking about something completely different.

"Dahlia..."

Dahlia looked at her and her eyes flashed, "I don't want to talk about this now. Let's meet Mrs. Simpson first."

Dulcie frowned slightly, "She has been in a bad mood these days. Are we really going to meet her?"

Her son and daughter had been sent to jail. How could she be in a good mood?

They were so careless that Victor found the evidence.

But Dahlia was so sly. She could disassociate herself from Eden's accidents every time.

Chapter 1735

Dahlia said, "If you are afraid of seeing her, wait for me here. I will go inside first." It was better to hide something from Dulcie.

"Alright." Dulcie didn't want to go in at all.

Dahlia walked to the appointed room.

This club was heavily guarded, but no one knew that it belonged to Victor.

Dahlia entered the room which was filled with the aroma of coffee.

There was a bouquet of lilies on the fashion-style glass round table not far away, and there was a delicate smell of lilies.

Dressed in a rosy and elegant suit, Leilani no longer looked as noble and graceful as usual. Instead, she was listless. At this moment, she was a fragile mother who had lost her children. As soon as her children were mentioned, she would immediately go crazy.

Looking at Leilani like this, Dahlia walked over and sat opposite her with distress.

"Mrs. Simpson." She said softly.

Leilani came to sense slightly, and the expression on her strongly defined face changed.

"You're here."

Dahlia nodded, "Stephen has been sent to prison. Mrs. Simpson, don't be so sad and think more positively." Things had happened, and they were all caught off guard.

The Simpson family and she didn't expect such a thing to happen. Victor found Eden too quickly.

Leilani looked at her with a sneer, "The lives of my son and daughter have been ruined by Victor and his wife, but you ask me to be more optimistic. Dahlia, are you kidding?"

Her hoarse voice was full of intense pain.

In the Simpson family, children were very important.

Both of her son and daughter had been sent to jail. What could she do at this time? Chelsea and Stephen were her pride. They were the reasons why she could be arrogant in the Simpson family and why Barrett trusted and doted on her.

But they were imprisoned, and her status was in great peril.

Marcia was ready to take action.

Adrienne, that b*tch, had been waiting for this day.

In the past few days, every time she saw Adrienne, Adrienne looked snooty, which made her very annoyed. However, Adrienne deliberately wandered in front of her.

Dahlia knew how she felt. As a mother, how could she watch her children be imprisoned and do nothing?

"Mrs. Simpson, taking care of your health is the most important thing. Stephen and Chelsea will be released in a few years, but if you get sick, they will have no hope after they come out of the prison. The affairs in your family are very complicated, and now you're the most powerful in your family, so you can't let down your guard."

After being reminded by Dahlia, Leilani was enlightened. An idea flashed through her mind and she instantly understood a lot of things.

"Dahlia, with you by my side, I can rest assured. I almost go crazy because Stephen and Chelsea these days." Leilani wiped her tears and said in a trembling voice. At the thought of her two children, she burst into tears uncontrollably.

She came back here to enjoy her life, but she had no way to accept the fact.

Dahlia asked the waiter to serve her a cup of coffee. The coffee here tasted great. She was addicted to it after drinking it once, and she would come over to drink it occasionally.

The annual membership fee of this club was shockingly high, but many people spent money here.

Leilani liked the coffee here as well and often came here. After drinking coffee for a while, they began to talk about other things.

Leilani wanted to continue to deal with Victor and Eden.

Dahlia did not object. The reason why she returned to River City again was that she wanted to take revenge.

Victor and Eden had hurt her a lot, and she could not forgive them.

She was still living in hell. How could Eden live so happily?

"Mrs. Simpson, we should give this matter further thought, and we can't be anxious to accomplish our purpose. Otherwise, we will fail again." Dahlia said in an angry tone. She had used many people who had a high status, but she had not ruined Eden.

She once lost everything and suffered a lot, so she wanted Eden to make up for it and pay the price.

Leilani nodded and agreed with her.

"Dahlia, do you have any ideas?" Leilani looked at her. In the past, they looked down upon Victor and Eden because they were rich and had a high social status.

But the result was contrary to what they had expected. These days, she reflected on herself. The Alwynn family had a deep foundation in River City, and they couldn't defeat Victor just by some small tricks. It was a long-range plan.

Dahlia said, "Mrs. Simpson, now the Simpson family has been dealt a great blow. Why don't we make further plans after Simpson Group is floated on the stock market? It is the critical moment, and nothing bad can happen again." The outstanding people in the Simpson family had been in trouble, and Barrett seemed to have figured it out at once.

That was why he asked her to persuade Leilani not to act rashly.

Leilani had been making a scene at home these days. Barrett called her, asked her to invite Leilani here and persuade her.

She sympathized with what Leilani had encountered, but she could not ruin their plans.

Barrett had been planning everything since a few years ago. Unfortunately, Victor did not die in the car accident and they did not drag the Craig family into the mire. Instead, Victor occupied the market in M Country.

They spent a lot of money and material resources at that time.

Therefore, they had to be very careful at this time.

It only took Victor a few days or a few months to ruin an enterprise.

Although the Simpson family was rich, it was really too difficult for them to ruin Alwynn Group. It had been almost two years, but the adverse effect they had on Alwynn Group was superficial.

Dahlia was surprised by how powerful Alwynn Group was, and she wanted to be with Victor very much. Unfortunately, Victor would not even look at her.

"Dahlia, you are right. I was thoughtless. After Simpson Group is floated on the stock market, let's sit down and talk about how to deal with Alwynn Group." Leilani thought for a moment and added,

"Dahlia, as long as you can make things difficult for Eden, just do as you wish. I will still pay you the money. My family is the least short of money."

Dahlia's eyes suddenly lit up when she heard this. She made friends with the Simpson family just for money.

Only when she had money could she be powerful.

Barrett introduced many people to her, including Irving's father. If it weren't for Barrett, she wouldn't have had the chance to know Irving.

She smiled and said, "You're too polite, Mrs. Simpson. She is our common enemy."

They were birds of the same feather, and they talked quite happily.

Eden stayed at home for a long time. The Dragon Boat Festival was coming.

Eden's injuries were healed, and she wanted to go back to work after the Dragon Boat Festival.

Although she didn't go to work, Seth did a good job. Alyssa had been promoted to be her assistant. She had been working in the company for two years and was familiar with the workflow, so Eden was not worried.

In order to accompany her, Victor rarely went to the company. Since Lucian was not here, Dean had to go on business trips often.

Victor accompanied Eden at home at ease. He would not go back to the company unless there were important meetings.

That day, Eden sat alone in the yard and looked at the calendar on her phone in a daze.

When Victor walked to her with a glass of juice, he saw her in a daze.

"Eden, what's wrong?" He sat beside her, held her in his arms and fed her the juice cautiously.

Eden lowered her head and took a sip of it before she looked at him and said gloomily, "Candace is about to give birth to the baby soon."

Chapter 1736

Victor's hand, which was holding the juice, paused slightly. He put it on the table slowly and looked at the clear sky in the distance, "We haven't seen Adonis for a month."

Eden nodded. Adonis had been like a thorn in their heart. "This year, let's celebrate the Dragon Boat Festival together with Candace and Adonis in the hospital."

Originally, she wanted to go back to the Clement family, but Candace would be lonely. She had no relatives here.

Lucian was in Love Sea, and Anson had to take care of Abby and Ayman. Only she and Victor had free time.

She heard that Brian was in a relationship, so he didn't have time to visit Adonis.

"Okay!" Victor nodded in agreement.

Eden said, "Let's buy some bamboo leaves tomorrow morning and make more rice dumplings. We can send some to dad, mom, Kenny's grandpa and Abby. Then let's take the rest to the hospital."

Victor looked at her with a frown. He didn't want her to be so tired.

"Eden, you will get tired if you make so many rice dumplings alone. Let's buy some in the supermarket."

"No, I like to make rice dumplings. You'll help me, won't you? You just need to wash the bamboo leaves for me, and I'll do the rest of things." She smiled beautifully. She would put various of stuffings in the rice dumplings and make them very delicious.

"Alright." Seeing that she was in a good mood, Victor did not say anything. As long as she liked it and it was not something dangerous, he would have no objection.

"Okay, we'll go buy food ingredients tomorrow morning." Eden was a little excited. She smiled slightly, looking rather attractive.

However, she was a little sad at the same time. Another year had passed, and the children had been away from her for a long time, but she didn't go to see them once.

Victor couldn't help but lower his head and kiss her on her lips.

"Ah..." Eden immediately shrank back and glared at Victor coquettishly, "Victor, what are you doing?"

Victor looked at her with a faint smile, "Eden, what do you think I'm doing?"

"The people in the opposite house will see it. Consider where you are when you do things, okay?" Eden was a little helpless. He was always like this.

Victor still looked at her with a faint smile, "We are husband and wife. You don't have to mind what others think."

Eden was speechless. When she was in a daze, Victor kissed her again.

Eden could not break free and could only allow him to kiss her.

Victor didn't let go of her until the phone on the table rang.

Eden panted rapidly and glared at him before getting up and going back.

Victor laughed wickedly. Her red face was particularly attractive. Seeing that it was Lucian calling him, he got up reluctantly and went to the yard to answer it.

"Hello?"

"We'll be back tomorrow." A cold voice came from the phone.

Hearing the word "we", Victor knew that Amelia and the children would come back with him.

"The children are small. Can you take them back?" Victor was a little worried. It was tiring to take care of two children all the way.

"Yeah, the two babies are very obedient, especially my daughter. She likes me very much." Lucian replied proudly.

No words could describe Victor's mood at this time.

So what if Lucian had a daughter? He also had a daughter. Furthermore, his daughter was excellent.

Victor was not jealous at all.

"Is it because of Adonis that you want to come back?" Victor asked.

"Yeah. However, Simpson Group will be floated on the stock market soon. Are you sure you and Brian can handle it?" Lucian asked in a slightly lofty tone.

Victor was stunned. He was really quite busy.

"Alright, Eden and I have decided to celebrate the Dragon Boat Festival together with Candace and Adonis in the hospital."

Lucian said, "I'll go there with you."

Victor knew what he meant, and he didn't say much. They chatted for a while before hanging up.

Victor went home. As soon as he came in, he saw Eden sitting on the sofa and having a video call with Jaida.

He walked over and held her in his arms.

"Mom." Seeing Zaiden, he greeted him as well.

"Victor, Eden is so thin. Don't you take good care of her?" Jaida frowned and looked at Victor with an unhappy face.

Eden looked sideways at Victor, lowered her head and smiled, not saying anything.

Every time she got injured, she would not tell Jaida and Zaiden about it, because she did not want them to worry.

Victor felt wronged, "Mom, I think she has lost a lot of weight, too. I'm trying to help her gain weight now."

Eden was stunned. What a hypocrite.

If he could have sex with her less often, she would not have lost so much weight.

Zaiden smiled lovingly, "Eden, take care of yourself. The three children and I are living well here. Don't worry. We want to travel on the Dragon Boat Festival."

Hearing this, Victor became displeased in an instant, "Dad, how biased you are. You don't even care about me."

"Ha-ha..." Zaiden burst into laughter, "Victor, take good care of yourself as well." Zaiden's eyes flashed and he did not mention the Simpson family. Although he was abroad, he knew everything that had happened in the country, including what Victor had done and Eden's injury.

Looking at Eden's thin face, he was very distressed. He asked Aro and Anthony to protect her when she left, but she still got hurt.

They chatted for a long time before they hung up, and they were quite delighted.

The Dragon Boat Festival was coming, and Jaida and Zaiden missed Eden and Victor. Since they couldn't meet or have a meal together, they could only see each other through the phone.

Looking at Eden's thinner face, Victor frowned and pinched her fair cheeks, "Eden, tell me. How can I make you gain weight?" He made all kinds of tonic soup for her every day.

Eden took away his hand, "I'm not a child." However, she was in a good mood, because his love was always sweet.

"Yeah, you are not a child." Victor echoed, but looked at her with his intense eyes quietly.

Just now, he couldn't kiss her at will outside. Since they were back at home, he could do whatever he wanted.

The wounds on her body had been cured in the past few days, so he could flirt with her recklessly.

As he thought so, he lowered his head and kissed her red lips. The reason why he moved here from Windsor Villa was that no one would disturb them here, and he could do what he wanted at any time.

Eden was helpless. He liked to kiss her all day long.

When Eden woke up again, it was already evening. Victor was no longer by her side.

She turned her head and looked at the French window. The setting sun shone in and the whole room was warm.

Eden smiled. Such a life was really relaxing and comfortable.

After getting up and taking a bath, she lay on the bed for a while.

She was lost in thought for a few minutes. During this period of time, she really had an easy life.

After a while, she felt much better, so she got up again and went to the studio next door. Turning on the computer, she began to design the autumn collection. After making sure that there was no problem, she saved the draft and started to draw another one.

Chapter 1737

During the days at home, she had designed the autumn collection. These days, she had nothing to do, so she drew a lot of stickers which only belonged to her and Victor. She drew a fish and a dolphin. The fish was on the top of the dolphin, and they were swimming in the sea freely, just like how Victor protected her.

The dolphin and the fish had various expressions on their faces, looking cute and lovely.

"Honey, give me a hug."

"Honey, kiss me."

"Honey, I love you."

She had made eight stickers.

She was also very interested in comics. Unfortunately, she did not have much time to draw comics.

After cooking dinner, Victor went upstairs to ask Eden to eat.

When he entered the bedroom, he did not see Eden. With confusion, he turned to the next room.

Pushing the door open gently, he saw her sitting in front of the computer desk. The sunset coming through the window shed a soft glow on her body, making her look tender and charming.

He walked in quietly.

Eden seemed to be focused on drawing. She didn't notice it when Victor came in, and she was absorbed.

Victor walked behind her and looked down. His eyes trembled slightly, and he was very excited.

"Honey, give me a hug."

"Honey, kiss me."

"Honey, I love you."

The fish and dolphin had different expressions in every sticker. They were very cute, and he liked such stickers so much.

Victor's heart melted. Did Eden draw these specially for him?

She had excellent painting skills. No matter what she painted, it was lifelike and vivid.

Gia inherited her skills and was good at painting.

"Honey, they are so adorable." He said softly.

Only then did Eden realize that he was behind her.

Eden looked up at him and smiled, "Do you like these? I'll only send these stickers to you."

Victor lowered his head and kissed the top of her head. His voice was mellow and pleasant, "I like them very much. But what about the stickers I can send to you?"

Eden smiled and said, "I haven't finished them yet. I've just drawn eight ones, and I'll draw the other stickers slowly. These are our exclusive stickers. I'm free during this period of time, aren't I? So I've been drawing these."

"They're very beautiful. My Eden is always the best." Victor was telling the truth. When Eden was young, she dreamed of becoming a designer, and her dream had finally come true.

He would create the best chance for her and let her fulfill her dream. In that case, she would have no regrets in life.

"Eden, let's go down to eat first. The dishes will get cold soon. We will go out for a walk after dinner."

"Okay!" Eden saved the pictures and went downstairs to eat with him.

After dinner, they took a walk in the garden hand in hand.

Eden shook his hand and looked at him with a smile, "Honey, if I feel tired one day, I'll come back and live an idle life. You'll have to raise me."

"Sure, I will build the most gorgeous castle for you." He always hoped that she could work less and accompany him more.

Although they stayed together every day, he wanted more.

"Thank you!" Eden tiptoed to kiss him on his handsome face.

Victor was somewhat dissatisfied and looked down at her discontentedly, "Honey, you are not sincere at all."

Eden was stunned. He was too greedy, wasn't he?

"Stop it. We are outside now. Let's talk about it when we go back."

Her ambiguous words made Victor ecstatic.

After walking around the garden, he took Eden back without hesitation.

The next day, Eden got up late.

They had agreed to go to the supermarket early in the morning.

"Ah..." Eden wanted to cry. What was Victor beyond imagination on bed?

"Ah... I really want to run away from home."

Victor heard these words as soon as he walked to the door. He was so flustered that he stopped, turned around and left silently.

When he got downstairs, he let out a sigh of depression and stood there casually.

Looking at the breakfast on the table, he felt more and more dejected. Didn't he do it well? Why did Eden want to run away from home?

Eden just said it casually, and she didn't expect that these words would shock Victor that much.

When she went downstairs, she saw Victor stand by the window alone and look outside. It seemed that he was lost in thought.

"Victor." Eden said.

Victor turned around quickly and looked at her. Seeing that she was in a good mood, he felt much better.

"You're awake." He walked over, held her in his arms and ran his fingers through her hair.

"Yeah, I'm hungry!" Eden acted like a spoiled child in his arms. Her sweet voice ended all the depression in Victor's heart.

Victor took her to the table, "The breakfast is ready. Come here and eat. Then we'll go to the supermarket."

"Okay! We said that we would go there this morning, didn't we? Why didn't you wake me up?" Eden sat down and ate the porridge.

"You were sleeping soundly, so I didn't wake you up. Anyway, we have lots of time. Let's go there after breakfast." What she had said on bed still echoed in Victor's ears.

"Eden, have you encountered anything unpleasant?" Victor looked at her cautiously.

"No." Eden looked at him with puzzlement, "With you by my side, I am very happy every day. Why do you say so?"

Victor was confused. So why did she say that she wanted to run away from home?

"What's wrong?" Eden found that his expression was a bit strange.

Victor smiled and shook his head, "It's okay. I'm just afraid that you would be unhappy at home."

"I won't. You know that I like a quiet life. I don't have much time to spend alone with you like this, do I? We have been very busy over the past few years, and we can seldom live so easily. I like such carefree days quite much." Eden said honestly. The money they could make was endless, and being happy was the most important thing.

Victor could finally have breakfast at ease.

At noon, they went to the supermarket to buy a lot of glutinous rice and bamboo leaves, as well as the ingredients needed for rice dumplings.

Eden liked to tie rice dumplings with thick threads. She had bought thick threads online in advance.

She bought five kilograms of glutinous rice and a large bundle of bamboo leaves. As soon as she came back, she couldn't wait to soak the glutinous rice and make stuffings.

She looked at food ingredients and smiled. In this case, all her relatives and friends could eat the rice dumplings made by her.

Victor was surprised when she bought the food ingredients, "Eden, do you really want to make so much rice dumplings?"

Eden nodded firmly, "Yes, I was too busy in the past, and I didn't have time to make rice dumplings on my own. Mom would make them for me. This year, mom isn't at home, so I'll do it on behalf of her. We have so many relatives and friends, and we can share the rice dumplings with them. The rice dumplings made by me are very delicious."

Eden smiled as she tidied up the food ingredients. Time passed by quickly as she did this.

Chapter 1738

Seeing how delighted she was, Victor did not say much.

"By the way, Victor, Lucian and Amelia will come back tonight. Let's go to Windsor Villa to see Cecil and Cecilla later."

"Okay!" Victor nodded, soaked the glutinous rice for her and went to wash the bamboo leaves.

Eden found that he could do these things very smoothly, and he was a real house-husband.

She looked at his back and giggled for a while. She watched him wash the glutinous rice three times and then soak it in the clear water again.

She really lived a happy life every day.

The two of them had been busy in the kitchen. They didn't go to Windsor Villa until four o'clock in the afternoon.

Lucian, Amelia, Anegla and the two children all came back.

Renata went there after hearing the news and met Eden and Victor at the door.

"Hello, Aunt Renata." Victor and Eden greeted her.

"Victor, Eden, nice to see you here." As soon as Renata finished her words, Edith went forward.

"Miss Olsen." Eden was a little surprised. Why did... Edith come here?

Edith was wearing a fashionable and sexy red dress. With curly hair and delicate make-up, she looked very gorgeous.

She looked at Eden's pretty face and said with a smile, "Eden, you seem to be very surprised to see me."

Eden was slightly stunned. She was indeed very surprised, because Edith liked Lucian.

However, Lucian and Amelia...

Renata explained next to them, "Eden, I asked Edith to send me here."

Eden looked at her, "Aunt Renata, let's go in."

Eden didn't know why Renata did this. She just didn't want Amelia to get hurt and feel uneasy again.

"Okay!" Renata nodded a little unnaturally.

In fact, she was a bit afraid to face Amelia. After all, it was her who asked Amelia to leave.

She didn't expect Amelia to be pregnant with Lucian's children.

They went in together. In the hall on the first floor, Lucian was packing up things. Although he had asked Victor and Eden to prepare some things for him in advance, he had to pack up after he came back.

Amelia's body had recovered, but Lucian did not want her to hold the children for too long, for fearing that she would be weak. He had hired two maternity matrons in advance. At this time, Amelia was chatting with Angela.

Hearing the doorbell ringing, Lucian went to open the door.

Seeing Victor and Eden, he was somewhat surprised and said to Victor, "Why didn't you call me?"

Victor said, "Because I want to give you a surprise."

Lucian raised his head and then saw his mother and Edith. What kind of surprise was this?

"Come in." Saying this, he turned around and walked inside.

He looked at Amelia with his gentle eyes. When Amelia saw Renata, she was stunned for a moment. There were complicated emotions in her eyes, including fear and worry.

Lucian's heart ached severely. If his mother didn't talk to Amelia that day, Amelia would not have suffered so much, and she wouldn't have worked in the noodle restaurant on the day of her delivery.

Angela noticed Amelia's expression. She knew why Amelia left back then.

Before they came back, Amelia didn't want to live with Lucian and wanted to go back to the Weaving family with Angela. After all, they hadn't got married. But Lucian insisted on bringing her and the children back here, so she had to come back with him.

Anegla looked at Renata with unfriendly eyes.

"Amelia, Grandma Weaving." Eden smiled as she walked to them.

"Eden, hurry up and sit down." Angela smiled lovingly and pulled her to sit down.

"Eden, you look much thinner." Angela looked at her with distress. Eden was kindhearted, and she liked Eden very much. Moreover, Eden and Amelia were good friends, so she treated Eden as her own granddaughter.

Eden smiled helplessly. This was the love of the elders. She did not lose much weight, but in their eyes, she was much thinner.

"Grandma Weaving, I'm not thinner. I just don't wear much in summer." Eden smiled and held her arm.

At this time, Amelia stood up and looked at Renata, "Nice to meet you, Mrs. Ronen."

Lucian walked to her and held her in his arms.

Edith looked at Amelia jealously. Why could she easily win the love of Lucian and even give birth to children for him?

How could she be so lucky?

She had an impulse to take away everything from Amelia.

"Amelia, it's good that you are back!" Renata said apologetically. Looking at Lucian's actions, she knew that he would never give up Amelia in his life. Originally, she liked Edith and wanted her to be her daughter-in-law.

But things went contrary to her wishes. Lucian didn't even look at Edith, which made her somewhat helpless. It was good for Lucian to marry a girl more his equal, but he was obsessed with Amelia.

With her head lowered, Amelia pursed her lips slightly and leaned against Lucian's arms, not saying a word. She did not want to part with Lucian, and she didn't want to leave him anymore.

Lucian introduced, "This is Amelia's grandmother." Lucian did not say that Angela was the president of Eliseo Technologies, nor did he tell Renata about Amelia's family background. The reason why he treated Renata neither warmly nor coldly was simple. Renata had forced Amelia to leave him.

Renata turned to look at Angela. Angela was dressed in elegantly and expensive clothes, and her noble temperament was not set off by her clothes. She was noble and graceful by nature. Her instincts told her that Angela was no ordinary person.

"Nice to meet you!" Renata said with a smile.

Angela nodded slightly. Her expression wasn't very friendly. When she saw Edith who was standing behind Renata, her face darkened more.

When she asked a private detective to investigate Lucian, she knew that there was a woman who loved him very much. She had seen the photos and knew that it was Edith.

That day, the reason why Renata brought Edith here was obvious.

Renata was confused and asked, "Amelia, don't you only have your mother and a brother? Your grandma..."

Before she finished her words, Amelia had understood what she meant.

Amelia looked at Angela's loving face and said in a happy tone, "She is not my biological mother. This is my grandmother. Not long ago, she found me and I knew about my family background."

Renata looked at Amelia in surprise. She couldn't believe that Amelia had such a story.

Moreover, her grandma was so noble that she didn't dare to look down on her.

"I see." Renata glanced at Lucian. He didn't even tell her these things.

"Congratulations, Amelia. You've found your family." Renata said with a smile.

Lucian did not trust her, and she could do nothing about it. Lucian was aloof by nature, which made her very helpless.

"Thank you, Mrs. Ronen!" Amelia had been polite all the time.

"Auntie, since Lucian is back, shouldn't you arrange for us to get married? I will raise his two children well." Edith suddenly said. Her words stunned all the people present.

Chapter 1739

Renata looked at Edith in shock. She knew the situation clearly, didn't she? How could she say that?

"Lucian, what's going on? Why should I let her raise my children?" Amelia looked at him with tears. What happened between Lucian and Edith after she left?

Amelia didn't dare to think too much.

She knew Edith, and she once met her at a banquet. She knew that Edith was very beautiful and she came back from studying abroad. When she left, she wondered if Lucian would marry Edith. After all, Edith's family was very rich, and they were equal in social status. Marrying her was Lucian's best choice.

Lucian lowered his head and looked at her with a gentle expression, "Don't worry. With me by your side, no one can take away anything that belongs to you."

Hearing his words, Amelia suddenly felt much more at ease.

Yeah, as long as Lucian cared about her.

After meeting him again, she cherished this relationship very much.

No one would understand her helplessness and pain at that time. She was forced to be separated from her beloved man. That feeling was worse than death. Every cell in her body seemed to have suffered tremendous pain.

"Lucian, auntie said that we would get married as long as you came back. Do you want to go against her will?" Edith was jealous, because Lucian protected Amelia so well.

He was even more jealous that she could give birth to children for Lucian.

"What's so good about this woman? When you needed her the most, she left you. Now you are already the president of Ronen Group, but she came back shamelessly..."

Her words hurt Amelia's heart.

"Edith, watch your mouth!" Eden interrupted her angrily and then looked at Angela with concern.

If Angela got excited, she might suffer an epileptic fit.

"Eden, mind your own business. This has nothing to do with you and Victor!" Edith suddenly aimed at Eden.

If Amelia didn't become Eden's assistant, how could she have a chance to meet Lucian?

Victor went berserk and said with gloomy eyes, "Get out! Don't behave like a mad dog here."

Edith looked at Victor with a sneer, "Victor, can you afford to bear the consequence if you ruin my marriage?"

Eden felt that Edith was too unreasonable. When she pestered Lucian before, she was fearless. At this time, Lucian had become a father, but she still couldn't accept the fact.

Victor mocked her, "Why should I be responsible for your marriage?"

"Because now you're stopping me from being with Lucian!" Edith looked at him furiously.

Others were afraid of Victor, but she was not.

"Don't offend my wife again, or don't blame me for being rude." Victor's voice was cold and sharp, and his commanding and aggressive temperament threatened Edith.

Edith was dumbfounded for a moment.

"Am I making things difficult for her? She shouldn't have meddled in my affairs!" Edith was furious to the extreme.

Lucian's mother did not say anything, so she knew that she wouldn't keep her promise.

After Renata quarrelled with Lucian, it was her who accompanied Renata, comforted her and took care of her. Renata promised her that as long as Amelia did not come back, she would be her daughter-in-law forever.

However, Amelia not only came back, but also gave birth to a daughter and a son for Lucian. She knew it might be impossible for her to be with Lucian.

"Get out!" Lucian's indifferent voice was filled with rage.

"Woo-woo..." Two nannies were coaxing the children to sleep. His voice was so loud that Cecilla woke up with a start.

Lucian was livid and walk toward Cecilla.

He took Cecilla from the nanny's hands and coaxed her in a low voice, "Cecilla, don't cry. Daddy is here." As he said this, he bowed his head and kissed Cecilla's forehead, looking totally differently from just now.

Eden was taken aback. Lucian really loved Cecilla so much.

Cecil was crying as well, but Lucian only coaxed Cecilla.

Hearing the children crying, Renata instantly came to sense.

Lucian was so gentle when he comforted the child, and she had never seen him so tender before.

Her heart ached in an instant. Lucian had been very apathetic since childhood, and he rarely smiled at her.

It was all because he was born in the Ronen family. As soon as he returned home, his elder brother mocked him. Gradually, he became an aloof person.

But at this time, he was so gentle when he held his child.

Moreover, he was affectionate and tender when he held Amelia in his arms.

Renata's heart was filled with jealousy. Her own son was not close to her, but he treated other so nicely. How could she feel good?

Edith looked at Lucian's gentle face as if she had got a shock.

So, it was not that he was not gentle, but that he was only gentle to the people he loved.

"Auntie, just say something!" Seeing that Renata was staring at the child, Edith suddenly had a bad feeling.

Renata glanced at her in a dilemma. If Amelia didn't give birth to the children, she could make a fuss and ask Amelia to leave Lucian forever. After all, she had left Lucian once.

But at this time, for the sake of the children, she could not say such words. Moreover, she promised Lucian that as long as he could find Amelia, she would definitely let them be together. However, she forgot what she said and made another promise to Edith.

She was conflicted, and she didn't know what to do.

"Auntie!" Edith looked at Renata with tears running down her face.

Just as Renata was about to speak, Angela said in an irritated voice, "Lucian, since you haven't solved the problem here, we won't bother you. I'll take Amelia and the children back first. My granddaughter and great-grandchildren can not suffer such grievances." Angela's tone was full of dignity.

Lucian immediately walked over with Cecilla and looked at Angela.

"Grandma, there's nothing to be solved. I have never made any promise to this woman. The person I love has always been Amelia. I will not let them leave me again, nor will I let you live alone. Amelia and I will take care of you in the future."

Angela had to admit that she was touched when she heard this. She was old, and she didn't know how long she could live in this world. She just wanted to spend the rest of her life with Amelia.

After she had two great-grandchildren, she was very glad every day, and she had never suffered an epileptic fit again.

She even had a much better memory. This was all because she had found her granddaughter.

"Lucian..." Amelia looked at him and smiled gently. Just now, he said that the person he loved had always been her.

"Don't cry. It's not good for your eyes." Lucian put his Cecilla in her arms.

He looked up at Renata and said, "I don't know what you have promised her, but you should be responsible for your promise. I will only marry Amelia. If you and dad stop me, I will leave the Ronen family." He did not have much feelings for the Ronen family.

In the family, his only concern was Renata.

Chapter 1740

"What? You want to leave the Ronen family?" Hearing this, Renata was anxious. Lucian had been estranged from her. He only stayed home for one or two hours on the Spring Festival. She was old, and Lucian was her only support. "Lucian, I... said that to Edith because I thought Amelia would never come back..."

"Auntie, so why did you ask me to send you here today? Isn't it because you want to deal her a head-on blow at the first encounter?" Edith went ballistic. If Renata didn't promise her, she would not have the courage to make a scene here. Her confidence came from her promise.

"Edith, I..."

"Stop!" Lucian lowered his voice and growled, "Now, both of you get the hell out of here!"

"Lucian, I am your mother!" Renata looked at Lucian in disbelief and took a few steps back, staggering.

Lucian looked at her coldly as though she was a stranger, and he replied without hesitation, "If you were my mother, you would not have forced my beloved woman to leave me. If you were my mother, you would not have brought this woman to my children. She actually wants to raise my children! Who gave her the courage to say such shameless words?"

"Lucian, I can do it. Why don't you give me a chance? I was born in a famous family, and I have great achievements in study. Am I inferior to Amelia?" Edith did not give up and burst into tears.

She loved him sincerely, but he was ruthless.

She was very sad and dejected.

Lucian said firmly, "In my heart, no woman can be compared to her."

Edith seemed to have suffered a great blow. She staggered, took a few steps back and opened her eyes wide.

She looked at Amelia coldly and gloomily for a while before looking at Lucian.

"Lucian, you will regret it." After that, she turned around and left.

Eden was too familiar with the expression in her eyes.

She hoped that Edith wouldn't go to extreme.

Renata didn't expect things to become like this, either.

The reason why she asked Edith to come with her was to let her accept the fact.

After all, Amelia had come back with her grandson and granddaughter. She could not fulfill her promise, and she could only let Edith know the fact.

"Alas!" Renata sighed, "Lucian, Amelia, I'm sorry. This is my fault. Edith has known the fact clearly, and she won't pester Lucian anymore. You can live a good life in the future. I won't have any objection."

"Your father has been very happy for you since he knew that you had a daughter and son. He is on a business trip now. After he comes back, we will discuss it with Amelia's grandmother and let you get married on a lucky day. You two should get married first so that the children and Amelia can live with you legally."

Amelia did not expect that she would say this.

Lucian's mother suddenly agreed to let her and Lucian get married.

Angela felt somewhat relieved. She asked in a serious tone, "Mrs. Ronen, do you really want Amelia to marry into your family?"

Renata said, "Yes. I know Amelia is a good girl. At that time, I forced her to leave because I was afraid that she would get hurt if she stayed with Lucian."

"There is no danger now. Amelia has come back, and she has given birth to two children for our family. I'm sincere." She did not want to be estranged from Lucian anymore. Lucian had never felt happy in the Ronen family, had he?

He was happy because of Amelia. How could she bear to separate them?

"Thank you for so much for changing your mind. Amelia is a very kind girl. As her grandma, I hope that she will be happy for the rest of her life. As long as you treat Amelia sincerely, I will be grateful to your family."

"I will." Renata looked at Amelia and smiled.

Amelia did not expect that happiness would come so soon. She froze on the spot, tears streaming down her face.

Lucian looked at Renata with a gentler expression.

He had wanted to ease their relationship for a long time.

"Mom, thank you!" For the first time, Lucian felt that Renata had done something right.

Hearing this, Renata melted into tears.

They were too stubborn. If they could let go of all the personal considerations in their hearts earlier, they wouldn't have been like this. They would eat and chat together when they were free, just like ordinary mother and son. She would enjoy the care and the filial piety of him.

"Amelia, let me see the children."

Renata wiped her tears secretly and put her bag on the sofa.

Amelia grinned and said, "This is Cecilla. She's younger. Cecil was elder."

Renata burst into tears again when she saw Cecilla's pink face.

How silly she was! If she could accept Amelia earlier, she could have held her granddaughter earlier.

"Cecilla, let granny hug you." At this moment, Renata had disentangle herself from the past.

In the future, her friends would be envious of her because she had a granddaughter and a grandson.

Renata put the children together, took a picture of them and sent it to Lucian's father. After that, she played with them.

Angela glanced at Amelia and felt sorry for her, but she didn't say anything. The most important thing was that Lucian loved Amelia.

Eden and Victor did not stay there for long. Eden chatted with Amelia for a while, and Lucian and Victor went to the study and talked about the work. Then they left Lucian's house.

Eden wanted to see Ayman, so she called Abigail. But they were not at home, so she and Victor had to go back.

When they got home, it was already dark.

Victor took the bag from Eden's hand and put it on the sofa, "Eden, I'll make dinner. Sit down and rest for a while."

Eden shook her head slightly, "No, I'm not tired. I'll help you. We can cook together."

"Okay." Victor walked to the refrigerator and took out the food ingredients. He was better and better at cooking.

They made three dishes and a pot of soup together, all of which were Eden's favorite dishes. After dinner, they went for a walk as usual.

After walking back, they went back to the bedroom, lay on the bed and watched a movie together.

It was a movie about love and hatred.

Victor sat with Eden in his arms. Seeing the romantic scenes in the movie, he couldn't help but caress Eden's body. Sometimes he kissed her, and sometimes he pinched her, which made Eden very angry and glare at him.

She thought that Victor would be scared by her. However, she was so cute in Victor's eyes.

Victor was so shameless in front of her. The movie was over, but Eden didn't see much of it, because Victor had been flirting with her.
