

Gluey Love 1771

Chapter 1771

Although thinking so, she still looked at these documents very carefully. She was just the nominal president of Symantec Group now, and everything was managed by Dawson.

She actually wanted to make some achievements to convince people, and did not want to just be a kid who relied on her father to pull some strings.

Moreover, she didn't want to let her father down.

At this time, someone suddenly called her on the video phone, "Ricky, what's wrong?" Eden smiled at her son and could tell he wasn't in the best of spirits.

Henrick lay in bed and looked unhappy. "Mom, I'm sick."

Eden looked worriedly at her weak son, and her voice became more and more gentle, "Ricky, did you go to the hospital?"

"Yes! Grandma took me there this morning. I had a cold and my throat was very uncomfortable. I took the medicine and now I want to lie down for a while. Mother, when can we go home?"

Eden was suddenly a little sad. She looked down slightly to hide her emotions, then continued to smile at her son, "Ricky, Mom heard from your grandmother that you're settling in and getting the hang of the school curriculum, right?"

She avoided the subject.

"Yeah, school's almost over. Mom, I miss you. Let me come back during the holidays, okay?" Henrick looked at his mother with anticipation and the missing in his eyes was heartbreaking even through the screen.

Eden also missed her children, but more than that, she didn't want to put them in danger.

"Ricky..."

"Well, mom, you don't have to say anything. Actually, I'm asking you this on purpose. We're fine over here. We're good learners and can fit in anywhere. I'm just afraid you'll miss me too much." Henrick saw his mom's hesitation and knew there was still danger. He also knew that his mom would be more upset if she rejected him.

Eden knew that her son was sensible, but his sensibleness made her feel more distressed.

"Ricky, you can go home soon. I promise you." She didn't know approximately when this matter would be resolved. With her little idea, it was impossible to solve the problem with the Simpson family. It was still up to Victor.

She often felt that she was pretty useless.

"Ricky, mom loves you." Eden smiled and didn't know what to say.

"Mom, I love you too! Mom, goodbye!" Henrick hung up the video call quickly. But eden could hear his sobbing voice.

She stared blankly at her phone, which had gone black, and now she could only miss her children in this way.

Eden instantly didn't want to continue reading the paper. She walked to the floor-to-ceiling window and looked at the view of River City in a terrible mood.

To keep Eden from worrying, Victor and Dean go out to deal with Adrienne's matter. He didn't let Eden know about this matter from the beginning to the end.

They met at a fancy restaurant.

In the private room, Adrienne's face was no longer red and swollen after a night of ice packs.

Morgan accompanied her to meet Victor.

"Mr. Alwynn, I've heard so much about you!" Morgan was polite; after all, Victor had helped them. If it wasn't for him, they would still be bullied in the Simpson family as before.

"Thank you for your help, Mr. Alwynn!"

Victor looked at him, and his expression was as indifferent as ever. "I'm not helping you guys for nothing. I want to live in peace with the Simpson family in the future." He helped Adrienne because he didn't want his wife to worry about Delmont.

"Of course. I hope we work well together in the future." Morgan had already learned the truth through his sister.

Victor leaned slightly against the chair with a cold and distant look. Looking at Morgan, he smiled slightly. "Now, can the two of you hold on to the Simpson Group? At least River City's Simpson Group is law-abiding. As for your father's part of the Simpson Group, I think Mr. Simpson knows better than anyone what your father secretly does."

Thinking of his father's despicable tactics, Morgan nodded somewhat embarrassedly, "Mr. Alwynn, I actually don't know exactly how much my father's assets are?"

"So, as long as there is your father alive, you so far have no way to guard the current company. Your father owns lucrative properties, especially the secret assets, and your father is actually raising money to launder it, right?" Victor had found out all about it long ago.

Adrienne asked in shock, "Mr. Alwynn, so what should we do next?"

Victor was right. Her father would use every means to destroy her current company.

Victor frowned slightly. If this matter could be solved so easily, he would not have delayed it until now.

"How is your father now?" Victor asked calmly, which made people feel at ease.

At this moment, Morgan was completely convinced. "The housekeeper will take the blame for him. I'm afraid that he and Dahlia will be released in the afternoon. By the way, Dahlia is my father's lover."

Victor felt disgusted.

Dean was speechless at this shameless woman.

Victor had already guessed the result.

"By the way, do you have money now?"

Adrienne shook her head. "We don't have many assets. My dad has controlled our finances all these years."

Morgan clenched his fists. He hated his father to the core but he could do nothing.

He wasn't Stephen, who would do anything for money.

"That's going to be tough." Victor pursed his lips slightly and closed his eyes thoughtfully.

Adrienne also lowered her head and did not say anything. She knew what Victor meant. He wanted them to pay for shares to make the company independent. This was a very good idea, but unfortunately she had no way to achieve it.

Dean has been silent and always felt that his president was planning something.

Otherwise, he would not have avoided Mrs. Alwynn to meet here.

Victor suggested, "Miss Simpson, since you can't hold on your company, why don't you sell it to me? You are going to marry Delmont later. How about running a good supermarket business with Delmont? I'll give you the site to build the supermarket. What do you think?"

Dean finally found out what he was up to. This was the style of their president, profit first.

"Well..." Adrienne glanced at her brother. All they wanted was to take back the assets that belonged to their mother.

Now that they had finally taken it back, they couldn't hold on to the company.

In that case, why not sell it? Then she and her brother can live a carefree life in the future.

"Morgan, what do you think?" Adrienne looked at her brother. In fact, her brother was more hesitant than her.

Morgan thought about it and said, "Adrienne, it's up to you. If you really can't maintain the company, it is better to sell it. You can make other investments when you have the money. Although new energy technology is in high demand, it's not your strong point after all."

Chapter 1772

Adrienne cautiously thought about these words. She actually liked the new energy project with a promising future, but unfortunately, she didn't have much time or opportunity.

"Mr. Alwynn, is there any other way apart from this?" Adrienne wanted to guard the company and let the people of the Simpson family see her ability. She was actually confident.

She had done a lot of preparation over the years.

Victor knew that part of the company belonged to her mother. Adrienne was a workaholic, so she wouldn't give up the company easily.

Victor nodded gently.

Adrienne looked at him blankly, waiting for Victor's next words.

Morgan also looked at him hopefully.

Dean was a little confused as to what his president was trying to do.

Victor squinted at Dean. "This guy is smart."

Dean was surprised that his president actually complimented him on his intelligence.

Their president finally saw his remarkable ability.

"When I invest in a project, he also invests a little secretly and ends up making a lot of money."

Dean didn't understand how his secret was discovered.

Dean laughed embarrassed, "Mr..."

"You are very smart. In this way, you can earn money without any risk."

Dean scratched his head in embarrassment. "Mr. Alwynn, I just want to go through thick and thin with the company. Of course, Alwynn Group is always profitable.

I just started working not long ago, so I thought I'd learn more from you to better enrich myself and not waste every day."

Victor was speechless at his words.

After all, he was the investment decision maker of the company, so of course he would not let the company lose money.

"Mr. Alwynn, you mean to become a shareholder of the Simpson Group." Adrienne instantly understood what Victor meant.

She thought it was a good idea. In this way, her company wouldn't go bankrupt and Barrett wouldn't have a chance to take it back.

Victor nodded. He had always been like this in everything he did. He either did it himself or it became his own.

The Simpson Group developed new energy technology and real estate projects so he could work with Angela.

He not only wanted to become the most powerful man in River City, but also to gradually develop in other cities. He wanted his Eden to live her whole life with his protection.

No matter where she wanted to go, he can let her have fun without any fear.

He was going to make his Eden the happiest woman in the world.

"Okay, I agree." This was the best solution. "But my father's shares..."

"He will sell it." Victor interrupted her with full confidence.

Barrett was too proud and arrogant. He would not work with him in the same company.

Besides, after he became the top shareholder, he would fire Barrett immediately.

"Okay, I'll immediately transfer the shares in my name to you, and I'll keep only a portion."

"OK, I'll find other shareholders to buy the rest at a high price." Although it would lose a little, that was well worth to piss Barrett off.

After this incident, Barrett's methods would become more and more cruel. He would like to see how many people Barrett has arranged around him.

When they reached an agreement, they began to take action.

Dean felt he had learned a lot more, and he gave Victor back a secret thumbs up.

He had been an economics student and had done very well, but his poor family background had limited his development.

So, it matters what kind of people you are with.

Victor was busy for two or three days. It took until the day of Ayman's hundred-day party to get everything done.

Adrienne could finally be together with Delmont aboveboard.

Without the company's burden, she was no longer nervous every day, and she even slept very well at night.

"Mr. Alwynn, the company is counting on you from now on." Adrienne looked at Victor.

Victor nodded and noticed that Adrienne looked much better, "Now you can sleep in peace."

Adrienne smiled, "From the night before, I slept very well."

"Wish I could have been at your wedding to Delmont sooner."

"I can concentrate on being in love now." Adrienne said sheepishly.

"Well, I have something to do tonight, so I have to go first." Victor said, then turned and left with Dean.

"Adrienne, you can lead a good life from now on." Morgan looked at his sister and patted her gently on the shoulder.

"What are you going to do?" She was a little worried about her brother.

On Morgan's well-defined and handsome face, his eyes were shining. "Now that you have found the person you like, I don't worry about you anymore. You know that I like foreign languages very much. I'm going to the university of River City to apply for a job as a language teacher. I've already submitted my resume and received the offer this morning."

"Congratulations!" She knew that her brother liked a quiet life.

"Adrienne, why don't you ask Delmont out and we'll have dinner." It was time for him to officially meet Delmont.

Adrienne nodded happily. "Okay, I'll call him now. He must be very happy."

She couldn't help but think of how interesting the financial news must be tomorrow morning.

"Let's go!" Adrienne smiled knowingly.

Morgan smiled as well. He looked at his sister's relaxed smile and knew that he had made the right decision.

Victor and Dean got on the car and went directly to the River City Grand.

"Mr. Alwynn, do you have your gift ready?" Dean asked with a smile.

"Yes. Eden bought it. And you?"

"I don't know what to buy. It's a little more practical to buy a red packet."

"That's great." Victor said and took out his mobile phone to call Eden.

"Eden, where are you?"

"I just finished my work and will arrive at the River City Grand soon."

"Me too. I'll be there soon."

"Okay, see you then." Eden arrived at the entrance of the River City Grand. She asked Anthony to park the car and walked inside with Thalia.

As soon as they entered the gate, Eden was stopped by someone.

"Stop!" Maisy looked at Eden coldly.

She had been looking for this woman these days. What a coincidence, she met her here today. If it weren't for her, she would still be an employee of Alwynn Group.

She looked at Eden who wore a pink suit, a white shirt, and a pair of white leather shoes. Her hair just reached her shoulders and curled up slightly. Her diamond earrings were shining. Her makeup was so exquisite that she looked elegant and capable.

Maisy was slightly stunned. She hadn't realized that day that she was such a beautiful woman.

Eden glanced at Maisy without saying anything.

Chapter 1773

She finally ran into this woman today, she must teach her a lesson.

"Is this a place that you can afford?" Maisy looked at Eden sarcastically.

Seeing that the clothes on her body were not from any famous brand, her gaze became more and more mocking.

The two women following behind her were also looking at Eden mockingly.

Eden smiled. "As you can see, I'm already here."

"Anyone can come in. I'm afraid that a bumpkin like you can't even afford to have a meal here." Maisy's voice was very loud, which attracted the attention of the people around her.

Eden remained calm and didn't say anything. Seeing her standing there calmly, Maisy felt like a clown instead, and this made her even more angry.

"What? Is there nothing to say?" Maisy raised her head proudly.

Thalia wondered why she was talking nonsense so confidently.

Mrs. Alwynn can't afford a meal?

Mrs. Alwynn's money for one meal was estimated to be worth her salary for a year.

"Are you dumb?" Maisy looked around at the growing number of people, and felt very superior.

"You're the one who's dumb." Thalia stepped forward, and Eden stopped her, gesturing for her to take it easy.

"What, do you want to hit me?" Looking at Thalia's aggressive look, Maisy stepped forward and tilted her head. She couldn't wait for Thalia to hit her a few times, so she could take advantage of the opportunity to ask Eden for compensation.

"Mrs. Alwynn." Thalia frowned. She was in a very unpleasant mood by this shameless woman.

"I'm fine." Eden looked at Maisy. "You're such a drama queen."

"You..." Maisy snorted, "You caused me to lose my job last time. How can there be such a vicious woman like you in the world." The arrogant Maisy instantly lowered her head pitifully, as if she was being bullied.

Eden looked at Maisy's disgusting expression and suddenly felt that she was too kind.

Eden sneered and raised her voice slightly. "Why don't we discuss why you lost your job? Is it because of yourself or because of me?"

Maisy was completely irritated by her words. "If it wasn't for that phone call from you, how could I have been fired?"

Maisy looked at the people around and said in a much lower voice. She even suspected that it was this woman who called Victor and let her be seen by Victor at the most embarrassing time.

She wanted to pretend to be pitiful. Only then did she remember that Eden knew what she had done.

"It's because you're too bullying. You framed me in secret..."

"Did I set you up to steal something?" Eden interrupted her with a smirk.

Maisy's body trembled, and her face suddenly turned pale.

Her two companions suddenly looked at her with strange eyes.

People around also felt that this scene was getting funny.

"Don't accuse me. You are the one who stole." Maisy retorted. This woman was not present at that time, if she had been, she would have gotten this woman fired.

"Do you mean that Mrs. Alwynn stole things from her own company?" Thalia's words flustered Maisy.

"What do you mean? What Mrs. Alwynn?" Maisy looked at Eden with suspicion.

Was she...

She was speculating in her mind when she heard Eden say, "Miss Dean, let me introduce myself. My name is Eden."

Maisy's face turned pale and felt a sense of inferiority she had never felt before.

Yes, inferiority!

She felt ashamed in front of the Eden who smiled beautifully.

It turned out that she was Victor's wife.

She was not willing that such an innocent woman could be Victor's wife. She was more beautiful than this woman, but she couldn't attract Victor's attention.

She was beautiful and sexy. Men would drool whenever they saw her. Why would she be no match for such a woman?

"Now, do we still have to talk about why you were fired?" Eden looked at her with a smile. The white shirt peeking out from her rolled up sleeves made her look purer.

Maisy snorted and left hurriedly.

The people around were all rich and noble. They all left as well when they saw it was over.

"Let's go." Eden went forward after saying that.

Abigail has been here for a long time. The people attending the party were all celebrities and she didn't want to make a mistake.

Jasper came over early in the morning to help.

A very pure girl was beside him. She was beautiful, especially her eyes, which looked very pretty and attractive.

When Eden arrived, she saw Jasper chatting with the girl beside him occasionally and lowering his head to give a few instructions to the waiter.

"Hey, Eden!"

Abigail looked at Eden excitedly. She hadn't seen Eden for days after they had moved away.

Now that her brother was spending time with his girlfriend, she could happily have fun with Eden.

"Abby." Eden walked over.

Jasper looked at her and smiled gently. "Eden, how are you doing?"

"Very well, thanks." Eden glanced at the little beauty beside him and Jasper introduced, "Eden, this beautiful woman was the researcher on the sunscreen you used last time, Eloise Dawson."

"Eloise, this is Eden, my younger sister." Jasper introduced Eden very naturally. No one could see the thoughts from his narrowed eyes. His smile was warm and warm as ever.

Only Abigail knew the torment inside her brother's heart.

He said Eden was his sister because he didn't want Eden to blame herself and feel guilty.

Love is always like this. The one who fall in love with first is always badly hurt.

Eden looked at Eloise who was innocent and shy and said, "Miss Dawson, I've heard a lot about you. Thank you for your sunscreen. It's really amazing."

She and Jasper were a perfect match.

Eloise smiled like a little fairy, "You are welcome. If you like it, I'll ask Jasper to bring it to you next time. The formula is now waterproof after improvement, so you don't have to worry about sweating or anything."

She was very confident in her products.

"Really? I like it. It smells so good. Jasper, don't forget to bring it to me next time."

Eloise looked at Eden strangely. Why did she feel such intimacy between them? Wasn't she his sister?

Eden was stunned as she smiled and explained, "It's just our usual way of getting along. You don't think much of it."

Jasper also nodded and didn't care what Eloise thought.

"I see." Eloise didn't think too much.

Abigail took Eden to see Ayman, leaving Jasper and Eloise alone for a while.

Eden walked some distance before asking, "Abby, is Jasper serious this time?"

"Yes!" Abigail nodded. "Eloise has liked Jasper for a long time. Jasper said that she is a good girl. Eden, let's just wish him happiness."

Chapter 1774

"Well, Abby, I'm relieved when Jasper find his own happiness."

Eden smiled. Her only hope all along was that he would find his own happiness.

Only when he was happy, could she be happy!

Abigail nodded. "Ayman is with his grandparents. He can laugh out loud these days and often amuses his grandparents."

"That's right. It would be a lively house with a child in it." Eden glanced at Abigail, who was wearing a gorgeous red dress, and noticed that she was smiling happily the whole time.

She had always wanted to have another child, but unfortunately did not get pregnant again.

She heard the pleasant laughter of the baby and the old man just as she reached the door, making people feel joyful and happy.

"Hey, little Ayman, why are you laughing so happily." Abigail entered and looked at her son.

Eden said hello to Anson's parents. Anson was here, as well as a few Skye family relatives that Eden didn't know, and she smiled and nodded in greeting.

She took Ayman in her arms and kissed him on the forehead.

"Ayman, do you miss me?" Eden shook his little hand.

There was a big smile on Ayman's chubby little face. He obviously liked Eden very much.

Victor saw this when he came in and thought it was a beautiful scene of Eden smiling and holding the baby!

"Victor is coming!" Anson saw Victor first.

Victor nodded and said hello to everyone.

Aro came in with a gift.

Anson glanced at it. "What did you buy for our son?"

His son was so happy today because he earned the title of the third rich generation.

Eden squeezed Ayman's chubby little hand and laughed, "With your family's assets, Ayman doesn't lack anything. But I still made some small clothes by hand, and a pair of custom-made bracelets, and also prepared some lucky money."

"Great." Abigail smiled brilliantly and charmingly as she leaned into Anson's embrace.

"That's for sure!" Victor glanced at Abigail.

Then he looked intently at Eden again, who was holding the baby, and leaned down slightly to whisper in her ear, "Honey, you look so beautiful holding the baby!"

"Really?" Eden's face turned red.

"Eden, you're quite early." Hearing Amelia's voice, Eden looked up. She found that Amelia had gained a lot of weight, but she was not that fat and her chubby face glowed.

"Hello, Amelia, Lucian," she said with a smile.

Lucian nodded and handed a red packet to Abigail.

Abigail said politely, "Lucian, Amelia, I'm glad you're here. You don't have to bring presents."

Lucian joked, "Then I'll take it back."

Abigail quickly hid the red packet and looked at Lucian, "Sorry, I'm just being polite."

"Haha..."

Everyone was amused by her exaggerated expression.

Then, Brian, Sean and Melissa also arrived.

Even though Adonis had not woken up yet, Azariah had also come over to congratulate the birth of the baby. Because she had to take care of Candace, she didn't stay long. She quickly left after saying a few words to Anson's mother.

Eden's mom and dad also arrived. When the party started, Eden sat at a table with her mom and dad and had a good time talking about interesting things that had happened recently.

Looking at Victor, Aisling felt lucky that she did not buy stocks after hearing his words.

She had several friends who lost all their money, and a few of them had even disappeared.

She sighed slightly. The stock market in River City had changed unpredictably. It was really not for the ordinary people.

Eden looked at her mother and smiled, whispering, "Mom, don't be anxious. I'll tell you to invest more in good projects in the future."

"Okay, my daughter is the best." Aisling pinched her daughter's face lovingly. Her skin was as fair as hers.

Eden smiled lightly and said nothing.

In a high-end restaurant, light music made people feel very comfortable.

Adrienne and Morgan sat by the window, waiting for Delmont.

Delmont was already downstairs. He was dressed formally because he was going to meet Adrienne's brother.

When he arrived at the restaurant, he glanced at the door of the restaurant and felt very nervous.

He didn't want to make the slightest mistake for fear that her brother might not like him.

Meeting Adrienne's brother was like meeting her parents. He was just afraid that he might do something wrong.

"Delmont. Go for it! Go for it!"

Delmont said to himself several times in his heart, but he still stood still.

He was about to cry.

How could he be so timid at such a critical moment?

Delmont took out his phone and called Eden.

Eden was eating at this time. When she received a call from her brother, she went out to answer the phone.

"Hello?"

"Eden. I'm so nervous."

Eden was a little confused.

"What are you nervous about?"

"Eden, I'm going to see Adrienne's brother now, but I'm a little nervous if I go alone."

Eden could not help but laugh when she heard that.

"Delmont, don't you want to marry the beauty?"

"Eden, don't make jokes about me. I'm really nervous." Delmont tugged at his tie and glanced at the second floor of the restaurant again.

"Don't be nervous. Go upstairs quickly. Don't keep Adrienne waiting. For your future with her, you shouldn't shy away from it. Think about the fact that you're the one who was kicked out by our grandmother now, and you can't go back until after you get married."

Delmont nodded nonstop, "Eden, I have the courage to do so again. I'm going up now. Brother Zhu will pass the examination successfully tonight."

"Of course you will, my brother is the best." Eden made a gesture of cheering which made her very cute. Victor, who followed her, couldn't help but smile when he saw her like this.

After hanging up the phone, the smile on Eden's face was still there. Victor embraced her and asked, "Delmont?"

Eden smiled and nodded. "He's very nervous to see Morgan."

"So he hasn't won Adrienne's love until now. Unlike me..."

"Like you're cheeky and bossy." Eden smiled and answered him.

Victor suddenly thought of what someone had said.

He was a little depressed. "Am I cheeky and bossy?" After thinking for a while, he added, "I am only cheeky and bossy to you and I wouldn't even look at anyone else." His sappy tone didn't quite match his aloof temperament.

Eden tiptoed and kissed him on the face. "I see, my husband loves me most."

A smile appeared on Victor's handsome face.

"Of course, I love you most. Let's go back and continue enjoying the food. After dinner, let's go home." Victor took Eden's hand and walked to the banquet hall.

At the same time, Delmont arrived at the second floor of the restaurant. From a distance, he could see Adrienne talking and laughing with her brother.

Chapter 1775

He looked down at his clothes. After making sure that he was dressed decently, he composed his thoughts and walked over.

With a faint smile, he walked steadily, like an overbearing and stable president.

"Adrienne, Morgan, sorry I'm late." He smiled as he sat beside Adrienne. Recently, he had been too busy dealing with the affairs in the company.

Adrienne knew him very well. Seeing that he was nervous, she held his hand gently and gave him an encouraging look.

It was the first time that Morgan had taken such a close look at Delmont. He knew that the man Adrienne loved would not be bad. Sure enough, Delmont was handsome and tall, and his family background was great.

"Hi, I'm Adrienne's elder brother, Morgan." Morgan was very satisfied. Delmont was a good match for Adrienne.

Hearing his kind and pleasant voice, Delmont relaxed a little, "Nice to meet you, Morgan. I am Delmont."

"Yep!" Morgan smiled and nodded. Delmont was quite adorable, and he was even shy.

Adrienne called the waiter over to take the order.

After the waiter left, Morgan said, "Adrienne, order another bottle of wine."

Adrienne glanced at Delmont and said with a frown, "Morgan, Delmont can't drink."

"Why?" Morgan was somewhat puzzled. He just wanted to drink with his future brother-in-law.

Adrienne took a meaningful look at Delmont. Her eyes were filled with grief as she said, "He once had a liver transplant surgery."

Hearing this, Delmont was stunned. He lowered his head and did not dare to look at Adrienne.

Hearing this, Morgan said, "Oh, okay."

Delmont still kept his head down. Seeing him like this, Adrienne sighed slightly, took his hand and said what she didn't tell him before, "Delmont, there is another reason why I left you that year. After you transplanted your liver to me, you didn't tell me. If it weren't for the fact that I accidentally saw you in the hospital when I went there for a check, I wouldn't have known it was you. The doctor said it inadvertently."

"I know you didn't want me to feel guilty. However, the better you treated me, the guiltier I became, and I had no way to face you."

Back then, Delmont was immature. At this time, he had been working in the business world for a long time, and he was a mature and charming man.

Morgan looked at Adrienne in surprise, "Adrienne, when did you have a liver transplantation?"

Adrienne smiled, "Morgan, it has been several years. I was really shocked that his liver matched mine very well. Maybe this is the destiny."

Morgan's eyes were filled with guilt. When Adrienne needed him the most, he was not by her side. He didn't even know that she used to be sick.

"Delmont, thank you!" Morgan looked at Delmont very gratefully. He truly loved Adrienne, so he could transplant his liver to her.

Listening to Adrienne's words, he knew that Delmont probably did not want her to know about this matter.

Only then did Delmont raise his head slowly to look at Adrienne. He smiled self-mockingly. Originally, he thought that he had concealed it well, but Adrienne had known about it a long time ago.

At that time, he did not even know why he was so brave. He actually dared to do such a thing without telling his family.

He did not dare let Adrienne know it, nor did he dare to tell his mother about it. He was very clear about Aisling's character. If she were to know this matter, she would never allow Adrienne to marry into the Clement family.

At that time, all he wanted was that Adrienne could marry him.

Therefore, only he knew that keeping it a secret was the best choice.

After she left, he didn't tell anyone about it.

She left, but he had never blamed her. He just thought that the reason why she left was that he was not good enough.

If he could be a little more selfish and told her the truth before she left, maybe she would not leave, and they might not miss each other for many years. He thought like this, but Adrienne had known about it.

"Delmont, thank you. I wasn't sensible back then, which caused us to miss each other for so many years. I won't leave you again." Adrienne held his hand tightly. His palm was wide, thick and slightly rough. Stroking it gently caused her fingers to itch slightly.

Delmont looked at her quietly and did not speak. He was so excited by what she said just now, and he didn't know what to do. She said that she would never leave him again.

So, had she become his girlfriend?

"Adrienne, really? You won't leave me again?" His hoarse voice sounded very excited. He held her soft hand tightly, but he was afraid of hurting her, so he relaxed his grip a bit.

"Yes!" Adrienne nodded vigorously. Her big eyes were brimming with tears, and she was about to cry.

"Adrienne." Delmont's voice was very tender. He slowly moved his head closer to her. He was so happy that he forgot that Morgan was still here and they were still in the restaurant.

Looking at them like this, Morgan smiled helplessly.

"Alright. Adrienne, you can't be so willful in the future." Morgan knew that it was Adrienne's fault, and he could only remind her.

He couldn't be more satisfied with Delmont.

"I see, Morgan." Adrienne looked up. Only then did she realize that they were with such a third wheel.

She smiled charmingly. There seemed to be starlight in her eyes, and she looked very attractive. Delmont was amazed by how pretty she was.

If he didn't hear Morgan's voice, he would have kissed her unconsciously.

After the dishes were served, they ate and chatted.

The banquet was not over yet.

Eden finished her meal and went to the bathroom. She was actually in a good mood. After Delmont called her, she had been worried about him.

After coming out of the bathroom, she met Eloise.

Eloise saw her first.

"Miss Bleu."

When Eden heard her voice, she looked back at Eloise.

"Miss Dawson." She smiled slightly.

Eloise looked Eden up and down carefully. Eden was not the kind of woman who looked attractive on first sight. She looked very gentle and feminine, and men liked such a woman very much. Especially when she smiled, her big eyes were starry and bright. This kind of woman was indeed the type that many men liked.

She was neither coquettish nor flamboyant. She was easy on the eye, and her charm was durable.

The expression in Eloise's eyes was strange, so Eden's smile faded a little.

"Miss Bleu, you must be the girl that Jasper likes. You're already married, so you shouldn't appear in front of Jasper and affect his mood, should you?" Eloise looked at her with a smile. Her big eyes were full of innocence.

She was very confident in her own appearance. Jasper would definitely be with her, no matter who he loved in heart.

Eden looked at her and did not speak. In fact, she was the most afraid that Jasper's girlfriend would care about this. She rarely met Jasper except when there was really something important.

Chapter 1776

However, Eden felt that she was warning and provoking her. True love was innocent. Jasper was not wrong, neither was she. The only wrong thing was that they were not fated.

Eden smiled and said, "Miss Dawson, it seems that you're very confident. Since you are determined to get him, why do you have to mind my existence?"

It was impossible for her and Jasper to become strangers. Firstly, she and Abby were best friends. Secondly, she was indebted to Jasper. She wouldn't stay away from Jasper unless he did not want to see her.

Hearing this, Eloise was stunned.

She was very confident, but the premise was that Eden wouldn't appear in front of Jasper.

"Miss Bleu, in fact, I mind your existence very much. Jasper is perfect in my heart. I hope that he will have a happy future."

Eden smiled when she heard that. When she met Eloise for the first time, she thought that Eloise was quite simple. But it seemed that she was not so pure and naive.

"You are not like this in front of Jasper." Eden smiled, and her eyes became sharper.

"Yes, I love him, so I'm very gentle in front of him." Eloise admitted it very frankly.

Eden sighed deeply. Jasper was not stupid. Since she could sense this, Jasper would know it as well. "I have something to do, so I have to leave first."

As soon as Eden turned around, she heard Eloise's voice again, "Miss Bleu, I hope you can remember what I said just now."

Eden paused slightly and returned to the banquet quickly without replying to her.

Eloise sighed with depression. When she was about to leave, she saw Jasper standing not far away and looking at her. She looked at him nervously. When did he come? Did he hear what she said just now?

Jasper glanced at her with some disappointment, turned around and left.

Eloise looked at his back uneasily and fearfully. He really heard it.

"Jasper." Eloise ran towards him.

Jasper did not stop walking. He went straight to the hall and didn't give Eloise any chance to speak. Then he sat at a table with Eden and started to eat happily.

Eloise stood in the distance, not daring to go over.

"Alas!" She sighed deeply and sat aside quietly.

In fact, when Eden returned to the hall, she was in a bad mood. Seeing that everyone was glad, she could only force a smile.

She couldn't feel better because her existence was despised by someone.

She hoped that Jasper would be happy as well. Why was it so difficult?

At past ten o'clock at night, the banquet was over. Eden and Victor helped Anson and Abigail see off the guests.

Amelia and Lucian needed to go back to look after the children, so they left first.

It was already twelve o'clock by the time they returned home after seeing off the guests.

As soon as Eden entered the house, she sat down on the sofa, looking very tired.

Victor put down his coat and car key before sitting beside her and massaging her shoulders. In fact, he knew that she was unhappy at the banquet, but he did not know who had offended her.

"Eden, are you tired?" His voice was hoarse but very doting. It was very sexy.

Eden leaned against his arms and said, "Yeah."

"Then take a bath and go to bed." Victor carried her in his arms and walked to the second floor.

Eden nestled in his embrace quietly and hugged his neck with both hands.

Thinking about Eloise's words, she had complicated emotions in heart again.

Looking down at her, Victor frowned and asked softly, "What's wrong? You looked very unhappy at the party."

"I'm fine." Eden looked at him and smiled. She did not tell Victor about what had happened that night.

Victor's knitted brows didn't become smooth. He knew that something must have happened at the party. Although she didn't say it, he could find it out.

Eden didn't have much strength. When she was bathing, she was sleepy.

When she got on the soft bed, Victor suddenly pinned her down. She opened her eyes slowly and looked at his handsome face in a daze, saying in an extremely gentle voice, "Victor, I miss you."

Victor looked at her affectionate eyes. He thought she would say that she was tired and refuse him. After all, he had drunk some wine, and it was inevitable for him to be sexually aroused.

While helping her take a bath, he had been horny. However, before he could say anything, she said that she missed him.

"Ha-ha..." Victor's low and pleasant laughter was very bewitching, and Eden's randy eyes seemed to be full of smiles.

She looked even more appealing in this way. Victor couldn't help kissing her red lips.

The moon cast a bright light over the room.

This night, Eden was very active. Victor thought that his waist was very strong and he was energetic. But that night, he almost felt exhausted. He had a sense of crisis for the first time.

Eden did not fall asleep until the small hours. Victor was very tired these days because he was busy purchasing Simpson Group.

The next day, both of them didn't go to work.

They were completely unaware of the shock caused by the financial news the next morning.

The news that Alwynn Group purchased Simpson Group made the investors very excited. People in River City all knew how powerful Victor was. The news surprised many people.

Victor was indeed the most capable man in the business world. He purchased Simpson Group without attracting notice, which came as a complete shock for everyone.

"Barrett, bad news!" Leilani knocked on Barrett's door in panic.

Barrett was sick from anger after going to police station. He had been lying on bed since he came back.

The butler was his right-hand man, but he had been imprisoned. On the first day the butler left him, he felt that his life was very inconvenient. It would take him one or two years to cultivate another capable man like the butler. Thinking like this made him even angrier.

He suffered from hypertension because he was old. He was mad, so he got sick with high blood pressure and had been lying on bed for one day and one night.

Hearing Leilani's scream, he was so furious that he trembled all over.

Leilani knocked on the door a few times. Barrett didn't reply to her, so she immediately opened the door and went in.

Ignoring the fact that Barrett was sick, she cried, "Barrett, bad news! That little b*tch has sold the company to Victor." That was her future, and her son would get the company, but Adrienne sold it to Victor all of a sudden. How could she stay calm?

"What did you say? Huh?" Barrett opened his sharp eyes wide. He was so shocked that he couldn't see Leilani clearly.

No, it must be his illusion. How could Adrienne dare to do such a thing?

"No, it couldn't be. She doesn't dare to do so." Although Barrett said so, he had got up from bed and staggered out.

When he arrived at the living room, he picked up the remote control and turned on the TV. There was no need to change to the financial channel, because all the major media was reporting that Alwynn Group had purchased Simpson Group.

"Ah..." Even though he did not believe it, he had to believe it when he saw the news. Adrienne had really sold the company to Victor.

Chapter 1777

Victor was the one he wanted to kill, but Adrienne dared to do such a thing!

"How dare she! Get someone to ask her to come back right now!" Barrett was so angry that his face twisted. He leaned on the sofa weakly and his breath was unsteady. It seemed that he would faint at any time.

This sudden blow was unbearable for him.

Leilani's eyes were red and swollen as she said, "She has moved out. Where can I find her?"

"Ask Sophie to look for her. She has come back, hasn't she? She's not on good terms with Adrienne, and she will definitely have a way to find her." Barrett closed his eyes tightly and felt dizzy. At that moment, he had to admit that he was old.

"What's wrong?" Dahlia had seen the news and came here to see if it was true. Seeing this, she was shocked and frowned slightly. Adrienne had really sold the company to Victor.

How horrible Victor was! He could even afford to buy Simpson Group which was worth tens of billions of dollars!

Leilani did not know about the relationship between Dahlia and Barrett. Only the butler and Adrienne knew about it. Adrienne knew about it because she had installed a security camera secretly. She saw the surveillance video that Dahlia stayed in Barrett's room for a night and overheard the conversation between Barrett and the housekeeper. She also knew that Barrett had given Dahlia a villa and the shares the company. Only then did she really realize how hateful and disgusting Barrett was.

"Dahlia, you're here. Hurry up and think of a way. Adrienne, that b*tch, has sold the company to Victor. That's our foundation in River City!"

Dahlia stepped back in surprise. When she saw it with her own eyes and heard it with her own ears, she was even more shocked.

She had never felt that she was so unlucky. She had owned the shares of Simpson Group, and she had only been happy for a few days, but such a thing happened all of a sudden. She always felt that fate was against her.

No, Victor was against her.

"Chairman Simpson, you have to cheer up. You have the shares of Simpson Group. As long as you show up, Victor will not dare to do anything." Dahlia looked at Barrett. If they could take away the company from Victor's hands, she could look at Victor as a winner.

In the end, Dahlia and Sophie went to Adrienne angrily to ask for an explanation.

Eden slowly woke up at noon. She looked at the alarm clock on the bedside table in a daze. Then she laid down comfortably again and felt extremely relaxed.

Looking at the white ceiling, she suddenly felt that it was so good to live an idle life.

She wanted to live idly once again. What should she do?

She tossed and turned and could not fall asleep anymore. Besides, she was so hungry, so she got up lazily and went to wash up.

While she was sleeping, Victor called Thalia and learned that she had met Maisy. However, he knew that it was not the reason why Eden was unhappy.

The thing that could make Eden unhappy at Ayman's birthday party must have something to do with people she cared about. He called the manager of River City Restaurant and asked him to send the surveillance video to him.

Victor looked at it carefully and found that Eden met a woman when she went to the bathroom. He did not know Eloise. After watching the video several times, he found that the woman had been following Jasper.

Not far from the bathroom, the woman stopped Eden and said some words to Eden in a proud manner. Then Eden's face suddenly darkened.

He glanced at the time in the video. At that time, Eden returned to the hall and looked upset.

Victor took a screenshot and sent it to Brian.

"Find out who this woman is."

"I'm at the company. You and Eden didn't come to work. Don't you know what is happening downstairs the company?"

"What's going on?"

"You've purchased Simpson Group, so many reporters block the gate of the company."

"Don't care about it. I had a wonderful night, and I won't come to the company today."

Through the screen, Brian knew that Victor was showing off.

"Oh, Victor, you're so bad. I'm going to tell my mother about it. You know that I'm single, but you show off before me all day long. I'm pure and upright, but you led me astray."

Victor was speechless.

Thinking of the hot temper of Brian's mother, he immediately threw his phone aside and ignored him.

When he heard the sound upstairs, his eyes softened. He got up and went to the kitchen.

Eden was unhappy, so he should naturally stay at home and coax her.

Eden went downstairs and saw Victor coming out of the kitchen with dishes. Thinking that Ricky was ill, she was in a bad mood again.

"Eden, come and eat." Watching her go downstairs weakly, Victor frowned slightly. She was still in a bad mood. What did that woman say to Eden?

In fact, Eden didn't care about Eloise's words anymore. As a mother, how could she ease and play at ease when her son was sick?

Victor pulled the chair for her to sit down, filled a bowl of rice and put it in front of her.

"Eden, taste the steamed perch I cooked." Victor smiled and put a piece of meat in her bowl.

Eden nodded, "Now you know how to cook more and more dishes."

After she finished speaking, she lowered her head to eat. Although she was very tired and hungry, she had no appetite.

Victor knew that she was dejected, so he didn't force her.

"Eden, let's go to the amusement park after lunch."

"Okay!" Eden looked at him in surprise, "Why do you want to go to the amusement park?" He did not look like someone who liked to go to the amusement park.

Victor reached out and rubbed her hair. Her hair was soft, because she took good care of it in ordinary times.

"I want to take you to play. We haven't gone to the amusement park together."

He wanted to have a ride on a Ferris wheel with her.

When he was surfing on the Internet, he accidentally saw a story that a couple went to ride the Ferris wheel, and the man kissed the woman at the highest point. Then they grew old and grey together.

Although it was a little exaggerated, everyone wanted to do something meaningful and wonderful no matter it was true or not.

"Alright, let's skip work today. Anyway, the autumn exhibition goes on smoothly. We can have a rest and relax ourselves."

After lunch, they went out.

After getting on the car, Eden habitually turned on her phone. When she saw the news that Alwynn Group had purchased Simpson Group, she looked at Victor with her eyes wide open.

Under the sun, his side face looked very handsome and charming, but she had no time to appreciate it. She was shocked by the news.

"Victor, when did you acquire Simpson Group?" Her voice trembled uncontrollably.

She had a terrible idea that she wouldn't even know it when Victor sold her. After all, he was more capable than she thought.

"Yesterday." Victor replied to her calmly.

"Yesterday." Eden swallowed, "Why didn't I know about this? Why didn't you tell me?"

Chapter 1778

Victor knew what she was thinking, "Eden, I was afraid that you would be worried, so I didn't tell you. Barrett is very despicable. He took advantage of Adrienne. When Simpson Group was in trouble, Adrienne was taken away by the police. Delmont came to me, and I helped Adrienne, but she couldn't fight against the Simpson family. I discussed with her and decided to purchase Simpson Group so that she and Delmont could be together at ease."

Victor thought that she would be touched. He did all these to make her happy.

Victor turned his head to look at Eden from time to time, but she didn't look touched at all, and he felt a little disappointed.

Eden felt as if she had heard a myth. He had acquired Simpson Group in just a few days, and she didn't know about it at all.

Eden asked in a low voice, "Honey, how rich is our family?"

"Ha-ha..." Victor laughed. He drove the car smoothly and stopped when the red lights were on. Then he looked at Eden with his head tilted, "Honey, you finally think about this. I am a good husband." Victor took the opportunity to show off himself. She had never asked him this question.

Eden blushed. She roughly knew that Victor owned countless of real estates, but she had never asked how much money he had. After all, she was easy to be satisfied. As long as she could live a comfortable life, she would have no burden in heart.

"Victor, I'm not a qualified wife, right?" Eden was a bit guilty.

Victor held the steering wheel and said, "Fool, you're a great wife, especially..." Victor tilted his head slightly and whispered in her ear, "Especially last night. I like you so much when you're very enthusiastic." His voice was so tender that it made Eden's heart beat faster.

Eden blushed scarlet. She immediately clenched her fists and punched his chest, "You're so bad."

However, she continued the conversation just now, "Honey, you said that I was a great wife, but why didn't you tell me about this? Only an incompetent wife would be isolated from her husband's world."

Hearing this, Victor didn't know how to answer her.

He rubbed his chin. He actually gave her such an illusion.

"What nonsense are you thinking about?" Victor drove away when the lights turned green, and he didn't dare to say more. The more he talked, the more mistakes he would make. He knew this very well.

Eden looked at his side face and blinked.

Sensing that she was looking at him, Victor remained silent.

"Honey, if you're tired, just take a rest. I'll wake you up when we arrive."

Eden pouted slightly. He gave tacit consent to her words.

Humph...

She wouldn't talk to him anymore!

Eden really closed her eyes to sleep. She was somewhat crazy last night, but she enjoyed it very much. After all, he was her husband, and he was super handsome.

Soon, Victor heard her even breathing.

Victor tilted his head slightly to look at her. Her long and curly eyelashes drooped, and her delicate and pale face was pretty. Her red lips looked very attractive.

It was very quiet in the car. Victor smiled with joy.

When Adrienne woke up again, her waist was sore and her back ached. Especially her waist, it was so painful that she felt uncomfortable. She could hear someone's even breathing.

A hint of doubt flashed across her eyes. Where was she?

What happened last night suddenly occurred to her.

She and Delmont came back together, and Delmont was very happy all the way.

When they opened the door and came in, she turned around and bumped against his arms. Then he held her tightly and didn't let go of her.

They looked at each other. His eyes were full of affection, and the atmosphere was so ambiguous that she blushed and her heart beat faster.

They became horny. He lowered his head and kissed her, and she did not dodge. They couldn't control themselves and then had sex. At this time, she was still lying in his arms.

They hadn't been together for many years. Last night was crazy.

Turning her head slightly, she saw that Delmont was still asleep, and his handsome features were very pleasing to the eye.

She reached out her slender fingers and gently stroked his good-looking facial features. She once dreamed of his handsome face many times.

In the past, she thought that they could never be together again because she had left him. She had really regretted it. But fortunately, it was not too late to change her mind.

She caressed his sexy but dry lips and paused for a while. Thinking of his passionate kiss last night, she smiled.

Just as she was about to move away her fingers, Delmont suddenly woke up. Before she could withdraw her hand, he suddenly grabbed her fingers and bit them tenderly.

Adrienne trembled and widened her eyes all of a sudden.

"Ha-ha..." Delmont chuckled, "Adrienne, your reaction is still so violent."

Adrienne's face turned red instantly. This was her instinctive reaction, but he actually laughed at her.

Adrienne was annoyed. She pulled his finger and bit it all of a sudden. Delmont's body tensed up, and his eyes turned brooding as he looked at her.

"Bad girl, you make me sexually aroused early in the morning. Believe it or not..."

"Yes, I believe." Adrienne gave in instantly.

She knew that Delmont was very strong and energetic.

"I'm hungry."

Delmont took a glance at the time. It was almost noon.

"Just lie on the bed. I'll cook for you." His voice was hoarse and melodious, which made Adrienne feel very pleasant.

"I want to eat the tomato and egg noodles cooked by you."

"Alright. I'll cook it for you right now." Delmont lowered his head and kissed her forehead before getting up.

He felt comfortable all over. After weathering the storm, he was finally with her.

Delmont washed up as fast as he could and then went to the kitchen to cook noodles.

Only then did Adrienne take the phone on the bedside table and turn it on. There were hundreds of missed calls.

She knew the result would be like this, so she turned off the phone yesterday.

She glanced at the financial news. As she expected, everyone was shocked.

She sneered. It was too late for the Simpson family to be anxious.

After putting away her phone, she laid comfortably on the bed. She was in a really good mood. It had been a long time since she felt so relaxed last time.

In the future, she could be with Delmont and live the life she wanted.

She wondered what she was going to do with Delmont that day.

Thinking like this, she got up quickly, put on the loose pajamas and went to the open kitchen.

Seeing that Delmont was busy cooking, she leaned against the wall and looked at him with a smile.

"Delmont, what are we going to do today?"

Delmont looked back at her. Seeing the love bites on her fair collarbone, he smiled and said, "Go home with me to see my grandmother. I was driven out by her. She won't let me go home unless I have a girlfriend."

"Ha-ha..." Adrienne couldn't help but laugh, "Grandma is so cute."

"Yeah, my grandmother is a very nice person. When she was young, she always argued with my mother, but now she is particularly dependent on my mother." Thinking of Grandma Clement's character, Delmont smiled helplessly.

Chapter 1779

Adrienne thought for a while and said, "We're not free today. The next three days can only belong to us. Let's go out to play." She had been under pressure and had not enjoyed herself for many years. Since she had free time, she wanted to relax.

"Okay, it's up to you." Delmont smiled dotingly and looked at her affectionately for a while. Then, he turned around and cooked noodles. The waiter was boiled.

Adrienne smiled and went to the bathroom to take a shower. She was thinking about going to the amusement park that day.

Before she left, she turned to look at Delmont, "Let's go to the amusement park today. Back then, you said that you would bring me there, but we didn't go there."

"Okay, let's go to the amusement park." Delmont turned around and smiled at her. As long as they were together, he would be happy wherever he was. They could travel abroad, as long as she was delighted.

Adrienne hummed a song happily and no longer looked so proud. In front of Delmont, she was very coquettish and feminine.

They went directly to the amusement park after having noodles.

Sophie and Dahlia spent a lot of effort to find Adrienne's apartment, but Adrienne was not at home.

Adrienne could see the surveillance video on the phone. While Delmont was not paying attention, she checked it and saw them knocking on the door for a long time before leaving.

"Adrienne, the amusement park is in the front. I'll park the car first. Wait for me here." Delmont looked at Adrienne and smiled gently.

Adrienne nodded with a smile. His smile was very touching, just like the warm spring.

After getting off the car, Adrienne stood at the gate of the amusement park and waited for Delmont.

At this time, Victor and Eden had sat on the Ferris wheel.

Eden was somewhat scared of heights. She held Victor's arm tightly and didn't dare to look down. She felt her body was limp and numb, and her heart was in her mouth.

Victor hugged her with a smile. She was so adorable when she leaned against his arms.

Arriving at the highest point, Victor suddenly said affectionately, "Honey, I love you!"

Eden was stunned.

She raised her head. Victor said that he loved her at this time, which made her quite surprised.

Then Victor kissed her cold lips affectionately. His kiss was very passionate, and he soon infected Eden with his enthusiasm .

Victor was very delighted. He once saw such a sentence online.

"If you kiss your beloved woman when the Ferris wheel reaches the highest, you can be together with her and live a happy life with her forever."

It was better to believe it. Even if it was a legend, it was so beautiful, so he believed that their love would be blessed by God.

He knew that his idea was childish, but he wanted to do so.

The power of love had nothing to do with age.

After a long while, Victor let go of her reluctantly.

Eden's face turned red. She could feel the unforgettable love in Victor's affectionate kiss.

She suddenly remembered what the kiss in a Ferris wheel meant.

Although Victor didn't make it clear, Eden's heart was filled with sweetness.

She finally understood why he wanted to go to the amusement park.

Victor looked at her lovely face and couldn't help but rub her nose, "What are you thinking about?"

Eden looked at him and said, "Nothing."

She leaned against his arms, "I just feel very happy now."

"Ha-ha..." Victor chuckled. Warm sunshine covered the two of them, and it was as gentle and sweet as their love.

They got off the Ferris wheel. Eden was a little thirsty, so Victor went to buy fruit juice for her.

There were lots of people around them, and many of them were adults who brought their children here to play. There were many couples, too.

She sat on the stool, waiting for Victor.

All of a sudden, she saw Delmont and Adrienne walking over hand in hand.

They bought the ticket to the Ferris wheel and walked there while laughing and talking. When she and Victor got off the Ferris wheel, there were some other empty seats, so they got on the Ferris wheel without waiting.

Delmont helped Adrienne sit down carefully before getting on the Ferris wheel.

To Eden's surprise, Adrienne, who had been arrogant, was very tender before Delmont. She leaned against Delmont's arms and smiled.

Eden couldn't help but think of Eloise.

In front of Jasper, Eloise was so obedient, lovely and pure. However, Eloise was mean to her.

Did Eloise really love Jasper? Was she just pretending in front of him?

Eden was confused.

"Eden, what are you doing?" Victor handed the juice to Eden.

Eden glanced at him and then looked at the Ferris wheel, "Delmont and Adrienne are on the Ferris wheel."

Victor was dumbfounded. Did Delmont have the same dream as him?

Why did they come to the amusement park as well?

"It seems that Delmont is a romantic man. He was single just because he didn't like other women." Victor sat beside her and looked up. The Ferris wheel began to rotate.

Victor took a sip of the bubble tea. It was plain and a little bitter. He didn't like this taste.

After taking a sip, he didn't drink it anymore.

"Shall we meet Delmont and Adrienne?" Eden was afraid that Delmont would be embarrassed, but she was curious to know if they were in a relationship.

"Okay, we can wait for them here." Victor raised his head and looked at the highest point of the Ferris Wheel. Although he didn't know where Delmont and Adrienne were, he knew that they came here for the beautiful legend.

After they waited for more than ten minutes, Delmont and Adrienne got off the Ferris wheel. Adrienne's red face looked so shy.

Eden was stunned. Just now, they kissed...

Ha-ha... Delmont finally had a girlfriend.

"Delmont." Eden called his name loudly.

When Delmont heard Eden's voice, he thought that it was his hallucination. When he turned around, he saw Eden looking at him with a smile. She took the juice in her hand and took a sip.

Delmont's eyes were full of affection, "Eden, Victor, why are you guys here?"

Eden gave Delmont a meaningful look, "Delmont, of course we came here to have fun."

Saying this, she glanced at Adrienne and smiled at her.

Delmont took Adrienne's hand, walked to them and introduced her, "Eden, this is your future elder sister-in-law. You should know her. Her name is Adrienne."

"Adrienne, this is my younger sister, Eden. You can just call her by her name. The man next to her is Victor. You know him." Delmont introduced her gracefully.

He didn't dare to introduce Adrienne to his family in the past, because he was afraid that they couldn't get married. At this time, they were determined to be together, and he could introduce her to his family generously.

"Nice to meet you, Adrienne!" Eden knew that they would definitely get married.

"Hello, Eden!" Adrienne smiled and then nodded to Victor slightly.

She didn't expect to meet them here.

Victor must be very busy, but he had time to play with Eden. He really loved Eden.

"Delmont, what else do you want to play?" She wanted to play with them.

Chapter 1780

"Eden, what else do you want to play?" Delmont looked at her. He rarely had time to play with her. Since they met that day, he might as well accompany her.

In this way, Adrienne would have a companion.

Eden looked around. There were many people, and the atmosphere was very lively. When she brought the children to the amusement park before, she only watched them aside and seldom played.

"Delmont, I want to try all the rides, and I want to go to Dinosaur Valley." When she entered the amusement park just now, she saw that there seemed to be a man-made Dinosaur Valley on the left side. Dinosaur's roar could be heard from time to time.

At the entrance of the Dinosaur Valley, there was a rock garden. On the top of it, there was a big Dinosaur moving up and down. It would occasionally let out a cry. Below it was a man-made waterfall. It was quite beautiful.

"What are we waiting for? Let's go there now." Delmont looked at Adrienne. Adrienne nodded. She wanted to go there as well.

It was an accident to meet Victor and Eden, but she liked such an accident.

She liked Eden very much. Eden was simple-minded, and it was comfortable to get along with her.

After Victor bought the tickets, they left together.

When they arrived at Dinosaur Valley, Delmont and Eden went to the bathroom.

Adrienne took the opportunity to ask, "Brother-in-law, aren't you busy?"

Victor glanced at her, "You haven't met my mother-in-law yet. Isn't it too early to call me brother-in-law?"

Adrienne smiled and did not feel embarrassed at all, "It's not early. Delmont and I will get the marriage certificate in three days. Then we'll tell his family about it."

In fact, she just said it casually. She wanted to get everyone's blessing. Of course, what she meant was the Clement family, not the Simpson family.

Victor nodded, "Don't talk about the affairs in the company later. Let Eden have a good day."

"I see." Adrienne smiled and knew that Victor took Eden out to make her happy.

"Be careful. Barrett may not let you go." Victor reminded her.

They didn't know what Barrett would do to them.

After all, Adrienne was extremely rich.

"Don't worry. I'm not afraid of him anymore." Yes, she was not afraid. She had transferred a part of the money to her mother and split the rest of money with Morgan. With the money, she could live a comfortable life without working.

Victor sighed deeply, "I'm afraid that he'll do something horrible in desperation."

Adrienne's eyes flashed, and she did not say anything.

She went against Barrett openly, so she had nothing to fear.

Dahlia and Sophie did not find Adrienne. They could only go back in anger.

Barrett had been waiting for news at home. He kept calling Adrienne, but failed to get through to her.

Seeing Dahlia and Sophie come back, he knew that they had not found her.

He had a nervous breakdown, but he behaved calmly on the surface.

It never occurred to him that he would be tricked by his daughter one day.

"Dad, we can't find Adrienne anywhere. Could she be hiding? Or is she abroad now?" Sophie gritted her teeth with rage. Their company was sold just like that. No one expected Adrienne to do such a smart thing.

Everyone was caught off guard!

"No, I've sent someone to check the airport. She didn't go to the airport." Barrett was exasperated.

He wished he could kill Adrienne in person!

"Where's Morgan? Have you found him?"

Hearing this, Sophie went berserk, "He applied to study overseas, and he had left by plane this morning. He'll be back in a month."

"Did he go to study without my permission? He doesn't respect me at all!" Barrett's face turned red with fury.

In fact, he had an idea in his heart that the two children had isolated him from their world.

They had restrained themselves for so many years just to get back what belonged to their mother.

"Dad, what should we do now?" Sophie was very unlucky. As soon as she came back here, she was sent to prison. Moreover, the entertainment company she ran was facing a financial crisis. If Barrett knew this, he would not spare her.

"What else can we do? We can only catch her and let her hand over the money!" Barrett gritted his teeth. He had been a despicable man. Those belonged to him could never be taken away without his permission.

It was impossible for his children to take away so much money without his consent.

"But where are we going to find her? I'm sure she knows that you will not spare her. That's why she's hiding." Sophie clenched her fists tightly. She wanted to get the money so much.

As long as she could get one hundred million dollars, she would be satisfied.

Dahlia said, "Is she with the eldest son of the Clement family? They have been close to each other during this period of time."

Her words enlightened Barrett. Barrett looked at her and smiled, "Dahlia, why didn't you say it earlier? I almost forgot about the existence of this man."

Dahlia said, "Then send someone to the Clement family to look for her."

She was afraid that Adrienne would transfer the property very soon.

One day was enough to do a lot of things.

Delmont, Adrienne, Eden and Victor had a good time. They were tired, so they sat on the square and ate. Eden and Adrienne had a lot to talk about.

Delmont suddenly received a phone call from Aisling.

"Mom." Delmont felt a little bitter. Since he was driven out by Grandma Clement, Aisling had never called him.

"Delmont, do you know Miss Simpson? Her family came to our house and said that you two were in love. Is it true?" Aisling said in a serious tone.

Her voice was a little loud. Victor, Eden and Adrienne heard her clearly.

Delmont admitted it generously, "Mom, I'm in a relationship with Adrienne indeed." He thought about it and added, "No, we're getting married soon."

Aisling was dumbfounded. She had never heard about this before.

"Delmont, they came here with bad intentions. Are you sure that the girl you're talking about is the eldest daughter of the Simpson family, Adrienne?"

"Yeah! Mom, I'm very sure. We're together now." Delmont looked at Adrienne. This time, he must take the initiative, and he couldn't miss her again.

"No way! The Simpson family is the enemy of the Alwynn family. Could we live in peace if you marry her? Stephen almost killed Eden!"

Delmont was stunned. Why didn't he know about this?

Hearing this, Eden asked Delmont to give her the phone. She knew Aisling's temper. If there was a misunderstanding, she would never allow Delmont to marry Adrienne.

She could not let Delmont give up Adrienne because of this matter.

"Mom, this is me."

"Eden, it turns out that you are together." Hearing Eden's voice, Aisling instantly became much more amiable.

Delmont was stunned. Aisling treated Eden too differently.

"Yeah, mom, this is a long story. Why don't we go home for dinner later? We can sit down and have a talk."
